

48 Cane

Angelica

A^o

1884

Cracovia

Liber: 18^o

Liber 18^o

48 Claves, Angelicæ,

A. 1584 :

Cracovia, ab Aprilis 13, ad Julij 13^m, (inversis temporibus) Receptæ:

ex mera Dei nostri

Misericordia.

Cui soli, ois

Laus, Honor, et Gloria,

Amen.

Δ

f rayng over you sayeth the god of justice in power exalted Ol sonf vorfa, goho lad balt langb above the firmaments of wrath: in whose hands the sword is as calz vonpho, Sobra z-of ror i ta a sword, and be Moned as a strong thrusting whos meafurets Nazpsad Graa ta Malprg. Ds hol q your garments in the midst of my victory, and trusted you to gather Qaa nothoa zimz od commab as the palms of my hands: whose seeds f germined.
 ta noblos Zien: Soba this gnomp with the fire of gathering, and bewitched your garments w admiration prge alai Ds Vrbs oboles grsam:
 To whom f made a lad to govern Be holy ones and delivered you Casarm ohorela taba pir Ds Zonrensq, a rod with the ark of knowledge Moreover you lifted up your voices cab erm fadnab: Pilab farzm and share
 u Znrza adna gono ladpil Ds whose beginning is not, nor end hom tos Soba lpam lu can not be which sayeth as a flame in the midst lpamis Ds losolo vep zomd of your palace and rayneth amongst you as the balance Poamal od bogpa nai ta piap of righteousness, and truth: Moue therefore, piamol od vooan ZACAR e ca
 and shew yo selves: open the Mystries of your Creation:
 od ZAMRAN oho cicle Qaa
 Be friendly unto me: for I am the servant of the same yo God
 Zorge, Lap Zindo Noco MAD
 the true worshipper of the Highest.
 Hoats faina

abedect and faith to him
 Bas laet's and triumphs

Can the kings of the world understand the voices of thunder
 Adgt vpa ab Zoracm fa a ip sal
 & you the second of the first, Whome the burning flames have framed vi iv L Sobam lall prq lra zar
 Within the depth of my faith Whome I have prepared as Cupps pi adph Cas arma abramg ta talbo for a wedding or as the flowers in their beauty paracle da Q ta lora l q turbs for the Chamber of righteousness Stranger are your feet ooge Baktob Giui chis Lujd then the barren stone: And mightier are your voices then the manifold winds orri Od micalp chis bin ozongon
 For you are become a building such as is not but in the mynde Lap noan trof cors tage o q manin of the all painfull Arrise sayth the First Move therefore ja i don Torzu gosel ZACAR ca Unto his Servants: Shew your selues in plore And C no god ZAMRAN micalzo on make me a strong See thing: for I am of him that liueth for euer ozarm vrelp Lap zir loiad

Behold sayeth your god, I am a Circle on whose hands Micma gobo Peachir Com jeth a rien stand 12 Kingdoms Six are the seats biab Os Lon doh Norz chis othul of living breath: the rest are as sharp sickles: or the horns Gigipab vnd L chis ta puim Q mos plet of death Wherein the creatures of earth are to and not teloch Qui in toltorg chis i chis ge Except myne don hand which slepe and shall rise
 Im ozien Ast brgda od torzul
 In the first I made you Stuards and placed you in seats 12
 i li E ol balzarg od aala Thun os of government giving vnto euery one of you plore ne tn ab aluga vomjarg lonja successuely ouer 456 the true eyes of Eyme
 Cap mi ali vors cla homil cocasb to the intent that from y highest vessels and the corners of fa fen izizop od mi inoag de your governments you might work my plore: plore me de vne que taub Vaun na nae el panpir the fies of life and encirp continually on the earth that you are become the skirts Malpirgi cao/g Pild noan vnalab of justice and Truth In the Name of the same your god
 balt od vooan do o i ap MAD
 Lift vp I say your selues Behold his mercies Coholor gobus amiran Micma Iebusoz flourish and Name is become mighty ca ca com od do o a in noar mi ca olz amongst vs In Whome we say I Moue a ai om Ca sarmg gobia ZACAR zool a am Descend and apply ym seluy vnto vs as vnto v nig lag od Im ua mar pugo
 the partakers of the secret wisdom of your Creation pla pli ana na el Qa an

I have set my feet in the south, and have looked about me; saying, are not Othil lasdi babage og dorpba Gohol Gchis ge the Thunders of increase numbre 33, which rayne in the second Angle anuauago Cormp pa dsonf vi v di v
 Under Whome I have placed 9639 Whome None hath yet numbre Casarmi Oali Map m Sobam ag Cormpo but one in Whome the second beginning of things are and Max strong C rpl Casarmig cro od zi chis od vge which also successively are the number of time and their patures Ist capi mali chis Capi mion od Loussin are as the first 456 Arrise you Sonns of pleasure, and chis ta lo Cla Torgu Nor quasabi od riset the earth: for I am the Lord & God which is, and liues
 F cao/ga Bagle zirenaiad nsi od Apila
 In the name of the Creator Mode, and show your selues
 Dooaip Qaal ZACAR od ZAMRAN
 as pleasant delucters That you may praise him amongst the Sonnes of men Obelifong rest d aaf Nor mo lap are dormid with continuall burning 6963

 4. hubar, 16. a burning lamp

The mighty Idols have entred in 2nd Angle and are become as clues in y olue mdant looking in gladnes
 Sapab zimii duib od noas taqueanis adroch ilorpbal
 Upon the earth and dwelling in the brightnes of the Sunnes as continuall unto Whome I fastned
 Ca osg od faonts peripsol tablior Casarm amipzi pillars of gladnes 19 and gave them vessels to water the earth to their creatures nazarts af od dlugar zizop zashia caosgi toltorgi and they are the brothers of the first and second and the beginning of their dunsela od zchis esiasb L ta ren od iaod thild which 69636 whose numbers are as the first the endes as hubar Pe'at vobn cormfa chis ta la vs and I contents of hime Therefore come you and obey y^e creation vset is in peace od Qco'ca/b Ca niis od Darbs Qa as Feth arzi and comfort Conclude vs as receiues of y^e mystries: for why? Our Lord and M^r od bliora inial elnas cicles Bagle Geiad is all One
 i L

The spirits of 4 Angls are Nine, Mighty in the firmament of ^{of seaters} Whome Gab s diu chis em micazo pizin sobam the first hath planted a torment to the wicked and a garland to the righteous
 El harg mire babalon od obloc samvelg
 Dmg into them fyre darts to damne the darts and 7699
 Alugar malprg arcaofgi od Acam continuall workmen whose courses viset with comfort the darts Canal so bol zar tbiard caofgi and are in government and continuance as the second od chif anetab od miam ta vid and the third Wherefore harken unto my voyce I have talked of you od d Darsar sol peth bi en Brita and I move you in power and presence whose works I shalbe od Zacam g micazo sob ha als trian a song of honor and the praise of your God in your Creation Lu in he odecrin MAD Q a a on

The East is a house of virgins singing praises amongst Ra as isalman paradizod oecrimi aao the flames of first glory wherein the Lord hath opened his mouth: and they be become ial purgas qui m enay butmon od in oas
 28. Living dwellings in Whome the strength of man reioyseth in paradisi Casaring vgear Chirlan and they are appaialed to ornaments such as work wonders od zonac Luciflian Cors ta vaul jirn on all creatures Whose Kingdoms and continuance are as the first and fourth tol ha mi Soba sonlob od miam chis tad o des strong towers and places of comfort the seats of mercy and continuance Vmadea od pibliar Otsil rit od miam
 O you servants of mercy, Move, Appare, sing praises
 C no quol Rit ZACAR, AMRAN oecrimi unto the Father: And be mighty amongst us For Qada od omicaol aaiom Bagle to this remembrance is given power and our strength papnor idlugam son/si od vimplif mayest strong in our comfort vgegi Biglian

The Middy the first is as the third heaben made of thiacynth pillars
 Bazmelo ita pi ripjon oln Nazavabb
 26 in whom the Elders are become strong & have prepared Ox casarmg Vran chis vgeg dsa brama for my own righteousness sayeth the Lord whose long continuance shall be baltoha goho i ad solamian trian as bucklers to the stamping Dragon and like unto the harvest ta sol cus Abai uo nin oh ariagier of a wyddw. How many are there which remain in the glorie rior Irgil chis da ds pa a ox busa of the earth which are and shall not see death untill Caosgo as chis ohi puran teloas ca erga
 this house fall and the Dragon synck
 O isalman loncho od Vouina car bas
 Come away for the Thunders have spoken: Come away Niiso Bagle nuauago gobon Niiso for the Crowns of the Temple and the coat bagle momao si dion od mabza of him that is, was, and shall be crowned, are decided Iad o i ds mo mar poisp
 Appear to the terror of the earth and ZAMRAN C i a o fi Caosgo od to our comfort and of such as are prepared bliors od cor si ta a bra mig

A mighty garde of fire in two edged swords flaming
 Mi caoli bransg prgel naptai al por (which have) Violes: 8 of wrath for two tymes and ds brin efafafe P vonpbo o l a ni od a half: whose wings are of wormwood, and obza sobca vpaas chis tatan od of the marrow of salt, have settled their feet in the west, tranan balye alar lufda so boln and are measured with their Ministres 9990 od chis solq C no quo di cial
 These gather up the mofs of the earth as vnal aldon mom caosgo ta the rich man doth his breaker: curled as they Las ollor gnay simlal Amma chis whose iniquities they are in their eyes are milstones Sobca madrid chis o o a no an chis auiny greater then the earth And from their mothers hand dril pi Caosgin, od but moni parm set of blood: Their heads are covered Zum bi C nila Daris e tham with Diamond: and upon their heads are marble a chidao od mire ozol chis pidi a slaves: Happie is he, on whom they tread not Collal, Vici nin a sobam v cim
 For why? The God of righteousness, rejoys in them.
 Bagle Iad baltoh chir lan par
 Come away and not your Violes For Niiso od ip ofafafe Bagle
 the tyme is such as requireth Comfort a coasb i cor sca v nig blior

The Benders of Judgment and Duns are numbered and Coraxo chis cormp od and habordwell in the North in the likeness of an oke whose blans Lucal ariāzor paeb Soba branches are nests 22: of lamentation and Lilōnon chis virg op cōphan od weeping Land up for the earth which burn raclir maāsi bagle Caosgi ds ialpon might and lay and vomit out the beds of scorpions dosig od basgim od ox ex dazis siātris and like sulphur mingled with rayon These be od salbrox cynxir faboan Vnal chis
 The Benders that 5678: tyme in y 24th part Const ds dāox co casg ol of a moment rone
 Oānio yor vob im ol 24 gūyax od eors cocasg
 as many surges which rest not neyther plo si molui ds pagēip larag know any Om droln e matorb cocasb here one rock brings forth 1000 emna L patrālx yolci matb cuen ay the hart of man dots his tēdlyght no mig monons olōra gnay angelard wo wo wo wo wo wo
 Ohio Ohio Ohio Ohio Ohio Ohio
 yea wo be to the earth For her iniquities no ib Ohio Caosgon Bagle madrid is way and shall be great Come away
 i zirop chiso drilpa Niiſo but not your noyſe
 Crip ip mādali

with a hundred might, earthly and a thū (2) tyme
 as many

The mighty seat groaned and they were 5: Benders
 Ox i ay al holdo od zirom O Corūxo which flew into the East and the Eagle spake ds zildar raāsy od vab zir camliax and cryed wth a loud voice Come away the hōr od ba sal Niiſo + Sal man of death of whom telocb Caſar man it is measured and it is ay they are whose hol q od ti ta zchis Soba number y: 31: Come away For I prepared cormf i ga Niiſa Bagle abramg for you Moud therefore and shew your ſclay
 Noncp ZACAR e Ca od ZAMRAN open the Myſteries of your Creation Be friendly for I am odo cicle qāa Zorge Lap zirdo the ſervant of I ſame y^e god the true nūſhipper of the Higheſt I Noco Mail Hoats Iaida

him
 last and they gather from place to place
 and bid him

* pma cy pma

O you that say in the schools and are 28.
 Nonci dsonf Babage od chis ob
 the lanterns of sorrow brade up yō girdles and vset by hubaio tibibp allar atrāas od ef
 Bring down your trays 3003 that the Lord dix fafen Mian ar Enay may be magnified whose name amongst you is wrats ovof Soba dooain aai iVONPH
 Moue, I say, and shew yō selues open yō mystenes of yō Creation
 ZACAR gohus od ZAMRAN, odo cicle qaa be friendly for I am the servant of the same yō god. the true worshipper of the Highest.
 Zorge, Lap zirdo NOCO MAD, Hoats Iaida

O you snivels of the schools which have 42 eyes Napēai Babāgen dsbrin vx oonōna to stir up the wrats of synn making men
 I ring vonph doālim colis ollog drunken which are empty Behold the promises orsba dschis affa Micma isro of God and / his picture which is called MAD od Lonshi tox ds idma amongst you A bitter sting Moue and shew yō selues
 aai GROSB ZACAR od ZAMRAN
 Open the mystery of yō Creation be friendly for I am the servant
 odo cicle qaa Zorge, Lap zirdo NOCO of yō same yō god the true worshipper of the Highest MAD, Hoats Iaida

O you sons of fury the daughters of the just which sit Noromi bagie pasbs oiaa ds trint upon 24 seats vexing all creature of the earth with age mme of thil shods tosham Caosgo tto min which have under you 1636 Behold the voice of God ds brin oroch Quar Micma bial oiaa the promys of him which is called amongst you Furve, or Extreme Justice a yro tox dsi om aai Baltim
 Moue and shew y^e selues open the mysteries of y^e Creation
 ZACAR od ZAMRAN odo cicle Qaa
 Be friendly for I am the servant of the same the true of the Highest unto me your God worshippis
 Zorge, lap Zirho NOCO MAD, hoats laida

O thou the governor of the first flame under whose wings are
 Its tabaan Lialprt casarman vpa a bi chis 6739 which weare the earth with drynes which knowest sharg dso aho caosgi orscor ds omax the great name Righteousnes and the scales of Honor monasci Baeouib od emetgis iaiaidix
 Moue and shew y^e selues open the mysteries of y^e Creation
 ZACAR od ZAMRAN, odo cicle Qaa
 Be friendly for I am the servant of the same the true of the Highest unto me your God worshippis
 Zorge, lap Zirho NOCO MAD, hoats laida

O Boro second flame the bōle of justice which hath thy beginning
 Its viuiāspirt salman balt its acroōdzi in glory: and shalt comfort the west: which walketh busd od bliōrax balt dsin si on the east with feet: 8763 that understand and Caosj Lusdan Emod dsom od separate creatures: great art Boro in the God of stretch forth tliob drilpa ges yls Madzilodarp and Conquer
 Moue and shew yo selues Open the mystery of yo creation
 ZACAR od ZAMRAN Odo cicle Qaa
 Be friendly for I am the servant of the same Be true of the Highest unto me zorge Lap zirdo Noco Mad hoats Iaida

O Boro Bird flame whose wings are thorns
 Its dialprt scha vpiāb lū narba to stir up vexation: and haft 7336 Lamps lining zix lay dod sis od brint Fuxs hubāro gomy before Be whose god is wrāt m Angre tastax ylsi sobaiad I vōn pōvnpb Gyrd vp By toynes and harken Moue and Afdon dāx il od toātur: ZACAR od
 Beu yo play Open the mystery of yo Creation Be friendly
 ZAMRAN Odo cicle Qaa zorge
 for I am the servant of the same Be true of the Highest Lap zirdo Noco Mad hoats Iaida

O thou mighty
His Michael
which openest the glory
as oho Bwaw
In whom the secrets of truth
Ca farma Laiaa which is called in thy Kingdom
as i vna a q lo
not to be measured Be thou ma of fas Belp
Moue and ZACAR od
of your Creation Be friendly
naa to me
Be fine Zorge
Months of Be Highst
Iaiaa +

light and burning flame of comfort Olpirt ial prg Bliors of god to the center of the earth
oiaa ouoars caofgo 6332 have been abiding eran brints cafafam
LOYE and MOZ od
a wyndow of comfort into me
Comobliert pambt
Show your place Open the myskies ZAMRAN odo circle for I am Be Servant your god lap zudo NOCO MAD

8

3

2

Lil
Arn
Rom
Par
Lit
Mar
Deo
Zid
Zip
Zax
Ich
Loe
Zim
Vta
Oxo
Lea
Tan
Zen
Pop
Chr
Asp
Lin
Tor
Nia
Vti
Des Zan
Bag
Rii
Tex

O you heuens Madriax
in the partz of the Erth,
Saamir
Caosgo
to you it is sayd, nonca gobulim the begyming of comfort;
faod bliorb of the heuens:
which provided peripsol ds abraafsa
of the Erth,
and her Caosgi
od tilb
you.
as a power understanding,
noncf gmi calzoma
according to the providence marb yarry and rose vp in the begyming, od torzulp ia o haf
let her be gouerned
by her parts tabaord saamir
in her,
that the glory of hir
tiobl Busdw tilb and vexed drummi in it self:
od doarmm
Zyna
as a handmaid
let her serue them:
peripsax
od ta
One season.
Let it confound
L nib m ol cho no Creature
vppen, or within her,
the same:
All
Ag tol torn mirc
Q tiobl
Let there be her members
Let them differ
in their qualities:
And
Let there be paombd dilzmo aspian,
Od
Christeos
no one Creature
aqual
as
an other:
The reasonable Creatures of the Earth: & Men Ag L tor torn parac
a symp
And Let them vex and weede out one an other:
And
dod pal od fifalz
ls mnad,
od
the dwelling places
Let them forget their names:
The work of man,
fargt bams omaors, Conisbra
and
his pomp,
Let them be defaced:
His buyldings
od nauuox tonug,
Ors cat bl

Let them become noafmi her understanding omp tilb
I made Man.
ol cord zir
a stranger:
goaa
and the dwelling place od fargt
the lower heuens
Oadriax
those priaz
Bring furth
Yol cam
No place
Ripir
Vntill
cacrz
and APPERE
od ZAMRAN
he bats dworne Surzas
of your Creation:
Qaa
cades tages, with darknes
ors.
Bagle
One while
L ca pima o
By cause
Biafen
of him that is fals:
teloc vo yim
Under neath you,
Let them serue you:
Gouern
aboapri
Tabi ori
Cast down such as fall:
A dr pan
corsta
dobix that encrease:
And destroy
the rotten:
ar coazior
Od quab
qting
Ad
and Vm l od
prdzar be numbred:
ARRISE, MOVE,
Aoi de a e cormpt
TORV
ZACAR
before the Couenant of his moeth, which sibsi but mona ds
in his justice:
OPEN
the Mysteries tia baltan:
Odo
cicle
And Make vs partakers of undefiled knowledge
od
Orazma plapli fadnamad

ENOCHIAN INITIATION

A Thelemite's Magical Journey into the Ultimate Transcendence

Frater W.I.T.

Outskirts Press, Inc.
Denver, Colorado

The opinions expressed in this manuscript are solely the opinions of the author and do not represent the opinions or thoughts of the publisher. The author represents and warrants that s/he either owns or has the legal right to publish all material in this book. If you believe this to be incorrect, contact the publisher through its website at www.outskirtspress.com.

ENOCHIAN INITIATION
A Thelemite's Magical Journey into the Ultimate Transcendence
All Rights Reserved
Copyright © 2006 Frater W.I.T.

This book may not be reproduced, transmitted, or stored in whole or in part by any means, including graphic, electronic, or mechanical without the express written consent of the publisher except in the case of brief quotations embodied in critical articles and reviews.

Outskirts Press
<http://www.outskirtspress.com>

ISBN-10: 1-59800-372-0
ISBN-13: 978-1-59000-372-7

Outskirts Press and the “OP” logo are trademarks belonging to Outskirts Press, Inc.

Printed in the United States of America

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Introduction	i
I. A Note on Occult Practice	1
II. What is Initiation?	7
III. Earth Tablet Visions – First Round	13
IV. Air Tablet Visions – First Round	23
V. Water Tablet Visions – First Round	45
VI. Fire Tablet Visions – First Round	77
VII. Tablet of Union Visions – First Round	97
VIII. Earth Tablet Visions – Second Round	109
IX. Air Tablet Visions – Second Round	113
X. Water Tablet Visions – Second Round	147
XI. Fire Tablet Visions – Second Round	179
XII. Tablet of Union Visions – Second Round	208
XIII. In Conclusion	223
A. The Enochian Alphabet	227
B. The Four Great Watchtowers	228
C. Divisions and Color Schemes of the Enochian Tablets	233
D. Description of the Angelic Names of the Watchtowers	235

E.	Placement of the Seniors and the King on the Watchtowers	238
F.	Enochian Temple Setup and Evocation Ceremony	240
G.	The Lesser Rituals of the Pentagram and Hexagram.	256
H.	Thelemic Keyword Analysis and Commentary	264
I.	Enochian Evocation Ritual – Short Form	271
J.	Enochian Form of the Bornless Ritual	273
	Bibliography	293
	Notes	295

INTRODUCTION

The system of angelic evocation developed by the Elizabethan magician, Dr. John Dee, is the single most powerful magical system in western occultism and perhaps all occultism. Dr. Dee named the various methods he came up with to derive angelic names after the Biblical patriarch, Enoch, who supposedly talked with God's angels and ascended into heaven while still living.

Enoch was a great inspiration to many magicians of the deeply religious Elizabethan culture, but it is John Dee's work that has been most remembered to modern day and for good reason. The angelic language and alphabet channeled by Dee and his seer, Edward Kelly, is remarkably effective in opening up the imagination to currents of intelligence far beyond the human norm. This is still the case more than four centuries after its reception. Whether one believes in the literal existence of angelic beings living in a heavenly world or consider such visions as nothing more than products of the human mind, there is no denying the intensity and transcendent nature of the energy generated by even a casual working involving Dee's angelic magick.

Of the many arrangements of Enochian letters Dee created to derive the names of angelic contacts, the two best known systems are the four elemental Watchtower tablets and the thirty aethyrs that surround them like layers of an onion. These constructs were popularized by the nineteenth century magical group called The Hermetic Order of the Golden Dawn, the primary source for most of modern magick, and its most famous member, Aleister Crowley. The tablets were prominent features of the Golden Dawn's system of elemental initiation and provided a significant portion of their power. The thirty aethyrs, aires or planes, are best known from Crowley's record of his initiatory visions therein as published in "The Vision and the Voice." A great deal of personal as well as group magical work may be drawn from these challenging evocatory systems.

The true power of Enochian magick comes from the angelic language, the evocative shapes of the letters as well as the pronunciation of the words they spell. Medieval ceremonial magick is replete with different magical alphabets and languages but Dee's angelic tongue is uniquely efficacious in drawing upon the deepest levels of human consciousness. The resulting fusion of this atavistic psychic energy with the functions of waking awareness generates transcendental wonders of vision and spiritual contact. A direct access to a universal source of intelligence becomes available for the magician who is able to advance along this rigorous path of superconscious development.

The way is dangerous, however, due to the torrent of unconscious contents that flood into self-awareness through the effect of Enochian usage. Some magical teachers of repute have recommended that aspirants to this mighty art undergo preliminary training and initiation into instituted schools of the mysteries before daring even the most preliminary practices of Enochian magick. Others have suggested a thorough course of psychoanalysis beforehand. There are also those who condemn Dee's inspirations as hopelessly destructive and unfit for use in any way. My view is that the individual operator may choose what training seems best for him or her, no one way being right for everyone. I will say that my ten years of training in two mystery schools, in addition to personal work and study with the traditional western magical system, was invaluable in helping me to deal with my adventures through the Enochian Watchtowers. As the records of my visions will show, some of the energies I encountered were overwhelming and initially harmful to an extent. My earlier preparations enabled me to adjust and eventually utilize the newly discovered currents of psychic power.

A survey of the history of this uniquely powerful and wondrous magical system provides some insights into how magicians like myself have used it and what effects we've achieved as a result. John Dee developed his angelic evocation methods from the teachings of angels he'd contacted through traditional western ceremonial techniques, such as those of the Solomonic texts. He wanted to talk to God's good angels as did Enoch before him. His extant diaries show many conversations he and his seer, Edward Kelly, had through the latter's visions. They sought knowledge on more effective magick, alchemy, and even political information from other countries in order to serve their queen, Elizabeth I. The magick of the thirty aethyrs was specifically designed to wield control over lands all over the world through the agency of angelic spirits thought to preside over those areas. Their success with political magick was limited by all accounts but the work they did in assembling the Enochian systems of angelic evocation continue to inspire many magicians centuries later.

Dee's voluminous journals and diagrams were mostly lost after his death. Remnants passed into the hands of antiquaries until finally, three hundred years later, the men who formed the Hermetic Order of the Golden Dawn rediscovered them. The Watchtower tablets were adapted to this order's initiation ceremonies and inner order magick. Innovations were made to develop a full syncretistic system of meditation around each square on each tablet, complicating Dee's original design far beyond its intended use. The system of thirty aethyrs with their ninety-one governors was less frequently worked by Golden Dawn adepti but this lore was included in the order's teachings. In this way, reformed Hermetic magick and initiation were carried into the twentieth century, helping many magicians to grow toward union with God.

The most famous and flamboyant member of the original Golden Dawn was the renowned prophet, magician, mountaineer, big game hunter, world traveler, and English spy, named Edward Alexander Crowley, better known as Aleister Crowley. His magical exploits and experiments may be read in his many books on the subject. One of his most notable workings was his scrying of the thirty aethyrs, done during a walk across the Algerian desert, accompanied by his scribe, Victor Neuberg. This record eventually became "The Vision and the Voice," a book still available today. Quite unexpectedly, Crowley found himself initiated by the angels of the aethyrs into the magical grade called Master of the Temple. This very much surprised Crowley, since his Golden Dawn mentors had taught that no one still living could possibly attain to this grade. Only the Secret Chiefs of the order, the Ascendant Masters who guide humanity along its collective spiritual path to enlightenment, could hold this office. The quality of Crowley's record speaks for itself as to his magical attainment and the relevance of his expression of the new age in which humanity currently finds itself, the Aeon of Horus, the Crowned and Conquering Child.

Fortunately for humanity, there were others to carry on Crowley's legacy of new aeon magick and religion after his death. I first encountered Thelemic philosophy through his books and by practicing the ceremonies therein. It changed my entire worldview forever. Magical fantasy and science fiction stories had always fascinated me throughout my childhood. From my earliest years, it had been immediately evident that a new age was upon the world. The latest innovations of science, technology, religion, and philosophy clearly showed that a whole new consciousness of self and reality had dawned on humanity. Never before in history had it been more worthwhile to doubt and reassess the ancient traditions and attitudes held so dear and sacred by so many people. It was also evident to me that different people were at different stages of acceptance or rejection of the new mind. My parents, teachers, and most of my friends were, for the most part, oblivious to it. However, dim memories of the revolutions of the 1960s, the Flower Children and the anti war movement in particular, were still echoed in the media and by certain spokespeople who still believed. This inspired me in my quest for a new way of life and consciousness throughout my childhood but the inevitable sense of alienation from family and society was ever present as well. Sometimes, I wondered if I was the last new age radical left in suburban America.

Eventually, the time came to go to college, which meant adulthood and freedom from the yoke of childhood regimentation and manipulation. A friend and I decided to come to Los Angeles and seek the new way in the land of the Flower Children, the peace and love generation. This turned out to be the best decision of my life. My new age spiritual transcendence began as soon as I stepped off the plane. A spontaneous psychic vision unfolded at that precise moment when a bright, beautiful angel appeared to me with outstretched arms, welcoming me to my new life. There were no words spoken. Only a sense of unconditional acceptance and love pervaded my psyche. It felt like I truly, finally, had come home.

Within two weeks of my arrival, I'd discovered my first real occult bookstore in West Hollywood. Suddenly, all my wonderful experiences of fantasy reading and many hours of playing Dungeons and Dragons leaped to mind as I entered the premises, hoping to learn how to throw fireballs and lightning bolts. This began a long journey that led through many other bookstores and two magical orders. There were no instructions on how to throw fireballs and lightning bolts but there was Thelema.

I discovered the core-defining document of Crowley's religious philosophy, called "The Book of the Law," otherwise known as "Liber Al vel Legis," in a bookstore in Santa Monica. A casual reading of chapter one launched a revolution in my life that proved far more fulfilling than any of my childhood dreams. Verse three said, 'Every man and every woman is a star.' Suddenly, a brilliant light turned on in my psyche that has stayed with me every single moment of my life since then and has only increased in power with my subsequent magical experiences. Nothing in my life previous to that moment could have prepared me for this revelation but from then on, everything made sense. Reading the whole book removed every last feeling of alienation and weirdness. Every last belief and attitude I'd ever held about family, religion, and society was vindicated. It was as if the universe had created a religion tailor made just for me.

It was soon after the revelation of Thelema that I discovered the existence of some of Crowley's old magical orders, continued to modern day by others like myself, who sought the new mind and magick. A whole new way of life and involvement opened up that has brought me untold joy and fulfillment. As it turns out, there are many others like myself who want something else out of life than what the traditions offer, something in accord with the new aeon and the evolution of human consciousness. Further, the magical training, classes, and initiations into the mysteries of alchemy, Thelema, and Hermetic Qabalah offered by these orders have enabled me to realize some of the grand potential that my childhood explorations had indicated. Yes, I really had come home.

My own practices in this revised magical tradition furthered me along the new Path of the Wise. Desire to take my training and experiences further than what had been revealed to me by the instituted mysteries impelled me to form various magical workshops with my colleagues. None went very far until I met up with the magical partner who inspired me to take up the practice of Enochian magick for our work together. We had attempted various forms of magick not covered in the books on Golden Dawn working. The medieval tomes by occultists like Agrippa outlined operations not even hinted at in more modern lore. For instance, invocation of specific stars rather than entire zodiacal signs proved to be quite different than any of the standard systems. Adapting modern methods to these older forms turned out to be quite a challenge but was well worth the effort.

None of it, however, even approached the power and clarity of Enochian magick. What was subtle and hinted at before suddenly became overt and overwhelming. New knowledge and intensity of presence manifested through the use of the Watchtower tablets. Whole new realities and dimensionalities unfolded under the guidance of the Enochian angels. A standard magical temple setup became a reception point for cosmic and supercosmic forces, which yielded mysteries far beyond anything the orders or any of the books taught. Not even my childhood dreams of wizardry and wonder came near to what was slowly revealed by the superpower magical language channeled by John Dee four centuries ago.

What impresses me most about Enochian magick is its adaptability to the needs of the user. Dee designed his angelic evocations with specific applications in mind. Yet, three hundred years later, the Golden Dawn was able to reform his magical methods for quite different purposes. Later still, Aleister Crowley adapted the latter revision for his own purposes, something he never could have suspected but which changed his entire existence permanently. Humanity as a whole will never be the same as a result of his wondrous transformation. Boundaries previously thought to be absolute were transcended so that others could follow and so usher in a new age of human development.

Various practitioners throughout the twentieth century put their own spin on Enochian magick in its various revisions to achieve their own ends. Towards the end of the millennium, I developed my own method of Enochian angelic evocation to further the grand path of initiation begun in the Thelemic magical orders in which it has been my privilege to participate. I hope that at some point, I'll be able to follow Crowley's journey through the thirty aethyrs and so broaden the Path he established.

John Dee's magical system stands out, then, as a particularly effective enabler of the True Will of each individual practitioner, whatever that happens to be. Anyone with the training, the means, and the determination can use this wondrous magical language, channeled straight from the deepest levels of the human collective unconscious, to accelerate their psychic and spiritual evolution far beyond the ordinary pace. All new worlds and mind spaces may be realized if the operator is willing to face their awesome presence.

One may wonder about the objective nature of the entities evoked by such a protean system of magick. Can the angels be real when anyone can get what they're after by their contact? Is there any objective reality to anything in occultism or is this all just mind play? Aleister Crowley is clear on this point in his essay on the astral plane as published in "Magick in Theory and Practice." It doesn't matter one bit whether or not a magician believes in the literal existence of the angels and spirits summoned by the occult art. The method of science was to be adhered to on this question. Certain results follow from certain operations. Nothing more need be considered.

For my part, I don't believe in angels, spirits, and monsters existing in heavenly or hellish worlds, independent of my existence. In all my years of experience in personal and group magick, I have never encountered entities that could be considered objectively real. Whatever is seen or felt by the mind must be processed through the personal functioning of that mind and so becomes colored by that personality. The influence of the ceremony is unmistakable, however. Something definitely develops in the room with the practitioner. My view is that this sense of presence derives from the mind but then takes on an aspect of objectivity when evocation takes place.

Magick, then, may be defined as the process of projecting psychic energy into physical reality where it can then take shape as a spirit. The higher spirits, such as angels, derive from superconsciousness, the oversoul in which the mind exists as a part, whereas the lower spirits, such as demons, derive from subconsciousness, the repressed fears and traumatic experiences of the practitioner. With magick, human consciousness may be expanded and examined more closely than with simple meditation or even psychoanalysis. The great goal of the Flower Children, to achieve expansion of consciousness, may be reached in this way but without the use of drugs. The process is safer and more controlled with the methods of occultism.

I faced a conundrum in approaching the overtly theistic system of Enochian evocation with my rationalistic new aeon mindset, however. How could I call upon angels using conjurations developed in a worldview and religious paradigm centuries out of date? Could I even get a result holding a belief system so different from that of the inventor of this art? If the magick didn't work for me because of these differences, then it was useless, nothing but wish fulfillment from a mad genius who died long ago.

I decided to begin experimentation with Dee's system anyway, considering all the fantastic reports about it. The way to bring this magick into the modern era was to establish a neutral spiritual context in the evocation ceremony. I could promote a nonreligious spirituality in my conjurations while using Hebrew and Enochian divine names, with the understanding that they referred to general metaphysical principles. No historical or cultural associations would intrude in the process of exaltation and evocation. It wasn't necessary to learn the English translations of the Enochian calls since their power lay in the sound of their pronunciation. Whatever entities took form in imagination and reality as a result of my magick could guide further progress along these lines or warn against continued operation.

I was confident that my innovations would yield worthwhile experiences since there are so many different effective magical systems in use around the world. Religious beliefs and cosmogonies appear to be optional. What seems to matter most is the operation of the psyche of the magician.

Magick begins with the mind. Utilizing physical representations of archetypal symbols, like the elemental weapons, can bring up the deepest levels of the unconscious. To hold the magical wand is to literally grasp True Will. To drink from the cup or wield the dagger is to absorb intuition or impose intellectual analysis on any idea or vision. The heights and depths of the psyche may be accessed in this way, leading to the greatest adventure imaginable. The Enochian language accelerates this process a hundredfold.

Occultism may regain its place among the sciences when thought of this way. It used to be considered so, hundreds of years ago. In medieval times, the endeavor to understand nature was not called science, as it is today, but rather natural philosophy. The classical Greek philosophers, who believed that the best way to understand the workings of the world was to think about them, inspired this way of thinking. Pure reason could penetrate any mystery, deriving understanding based on first principles. One of the greatest of the ancient Greek thinkers was Aristotle. His paradigm of natural philosophy, based on the terrestrial elements and the celestial spheres, was supported for over two thousand years. It wasn't until Isaac Newton developed his physics that science became experimentally based and gained independence from spiritual beliefs.

Much of the magick practiced today was developed by the Golden Dawn, who based much of their system on ideas and methods found in remnants of manuscripts left over from medieval and earlier epochs. Natural philosophy, the inquiry into natural forces, had its correlate in occult philosophy, the study of occult or hidden forces. It was believed that every perceptible action had its occult counterpart, from tree spirits and water nymphs all the way to the One God. Magick was the endeavor to know God and all His works rationally. It was an application of the Aristotelian philosophy, the science of that era. With the rise of Newtonian physics and the Scientific Enlightenment, traditional occultism was no longer part of the contemporary intellectual scene. Its use was abandoned and mostly forgotten, except in the dark corners of antiquarian museums.

The founders of the Golden Dawn reached into these mysterious recesses and brought the bits and pieces of what remained of the ancient lore back into the light of day. However, they failed to restore occultism to its once prominent place among the erudite. Not even Crowley succeeded in bringing his revised magical system of scientific illuminism to scientific acceptance. Most people to this day still consider ceremonial magick as superstitious nonsense, if not outright Satanism.

It is my view, however, that the modern understanding of depth psychology and quantum physics can help develop a hard scientific model of consciousness and its emergence out of the electrochemical processes of the brain. Ceremonial magick is the psychic microscope that can aid this research by revealing those functions of the mind that are normally hidden from human perception. The enormous potential of the mind may be tapped and harnessed for fantastic mystical and material effects. A psychomechanical technology may follow from such a science. Machines could one day receive telepathic instructions and power from human users trained to project their psychic energy into physical reality.

It is my earnest hope to promote and facilitate the practice of magick in general and Enochian magick in particular so that the dreams of a futuristic society may come to pass. This path of development can benefit any interested magician eager to explore and develop the profound ancient and modern mysteries of cosmic and supercosmic consciousness. The new potentials of evolution revealed at the outset of this new aeon may fully emerge in human reality by the influence of this time transcending wisdom. If my experiences and realizations can inspire others to this wonderwork then my life will have proven worthwhile.

Frater W.I.T.
(Whatever It Takes)
Los Angeles, CA
2005

CHAPTER I

A NOTE ON OCCULT PRACTICE

A magical ceremony is a series of actions structured around the pattern of a spiritual cosmogony, usually derived from an occult tradition such as the Qabalah. The western magical tradition is centered on a cultural fusion between the Jewish esoteric literature and the ancient Greek Hermetic philosophy. The basis of European magical practice is therefore called Hermetic Qabalah. The primary mandala or cosmic model of this system is called The Tree of Life. It consists of ten numbers and twenty-two letters (which are also numbers) arrayed in a diagram of ten circles with twenty-two connecting lines. The circles are called Sephiroth and the lines are called Paths. The five elements, seven planets, and twelve signs of the zodiac, the powers as understood by Hermetic occult philosophy, are attributed to the various parts of this structure and so are set in certain relationships with each other. Magical ceremonies derived from the Hermetic Qabalistic Tree of Life express subsets of these interconnections. Analyses of the names and other significant words encountered in the visions and communications resulting from such workings may be carried out by spelling those words in Hebrew. The numbers of those letters are then added up to derive the sum. Other Hebrew words with the same total may be compared with the word being analyzed to clarify its meaning. The total may be broken down into factors for further analysis. This branch of Qabalah is called Gematria.

Generally speaking, ceremonies of the western magical tradition build up principles of power, starting from the most general and metaphysical expression and work toward the specific material energies to be generated. It is up to the magician to choose what Hermetic Qabalistic principle will accomplish the desired effect of the ceremony.

Typically, there are two main motivations for practicing this kind of occultism. These are to cause some change to occur in the surrounding world of the operator or to progress on a course of spiritual development that leads the consciousness of the operator to the transcendent source of all being. Although these two endeavors lead in opposite directions, they intertwine and empower each other. Magick can be considered as applied mysticism in this way. An occult ceremony is simply an extraverted meditation wherein the principles of consciousness are expressed in material terms by objects denoting archetypal images. The more powerful and attuned the mind, the more effective the magical ceremony, projecting the potencies of that mind into physical reality. Consciousness is the power of magick.

The path of spiritual transcendence can be mapped on the Tree of Life just as can the progress of an occult ceremony. The mysteries of Merkabah mysticism, the chariot ride up the Tree, charts the development of consciousness expansion from the bottom Sephirah, called Malkuth, which means Kingdom, upward through the other Sephiroth toward the top Sephirah, called Kether, which means Crown. The anatomy of the mind, aura, and body has been mapped onto the Qabalistic mandala to establish further relationships for the mystic to follow. Thus, the Tree of Life is a roadmap to the innermost psyche as well as to the outermost experience of reality. The scope of magical and mystical practice based on this model is virtually unlimited. The interested reader may consult the bibliography of this book for more material on the Hermetic Qabalah.

I have used these principles in the design of my magical temple setup and angelic evocation ceremony, as detailed in an appendix to this book. Many of the Qabalistic analyses of the visions generated by my workings can be found in the endnotes. Elucidating these mysteries with intellectual exploration helps me to broaden the significance of my experiences and relate them to each other in new ways. A greater wholeness emerges out of this process which accelerates my magical and spiritual evolution. Not every aspect of transcendent contact is susceptible to this kind of study but the intellectual growth is part of the overall process. All functions of mind must be engaged in reaching an understanding of magical experiences. The reader may judge of their value. I believe that my occult work has given my life profound and wondrous fulfillment, far beyond anything to be gained from mundane human society. This greatest of endeavors accomplishes the purpose of my existence.

The structure of my evocation ceremony follows the five basic stages of ritual as recognized by the western magical tradition: banishing, purification, consecration, invocation, and evocation. The various rituals to be found in most books on modern magick are pieces to be woven together on this framework to derive complete occult workings. For example, the most common ritual to be found is the Lesser Banishing Ritual of the Pentagram. This is an excellent first training practice in preparation for more complex ritual, but it also begins most major ceremonial work. The choice of which basic formulas to use in the development of a complex working must be decided based on the goal to be achieved and what powers are to be used. I've included ritual elements from the Golden Dawn Neophyte initiation ceremony, modified for Thelemic use in my angelic evocations. Building up a magical ceremony is as much a creative process as opening the mind to receive the results of its performance.

I decided to insert a few preliminary visualizations to prepare for the formal ceremonial operation. The first is an imaginary journey to a cosmic temple set among the stars and galaxies. There is no floor or ceiling in this temple and the walls are formed by a circulating torus. A torus is a circle of circles, a wheel of wheels, like a donut. All my temple equipment is placed in this space, with a central shaft of light flowing down through the altar from the infinite above, an axle of the wheel. The temple is a direct projection of the mind and body of the magician.

Once this visualization is built up in imagination, I charge my aura with a version of the Middle Pillar Ritual. Five orbs are visualized along a central shaft through my body at the top of my head, my neck, my chest, at the base of my torso, and my feet, all connected by a central shaft of white light. The colors are blazing white, grayish white, golden yellow, violet, and olive green, respectively. Divine names of the Hebrew Qabalah are vibrated to build up each orb: AHIH (Ehayay), IHVH ALHIM (Yahweh Elohim), IHVH ALVH VDOT (Yahweh Eloah VaDaat), ShDI AL ChAI (Shaddai El Chai), and ADNI HARTz (Adonai Ha Aretz), respectively. Each is vibrated three times for its corresponding orb and then once in rapid succession to consolidate the entire structure as one whole shining image. Currents of energy are visualized to spread the energy of the central pillar throughout the body and aura and then out to the farthest reaches of space and time.

I project these visualizations onto my physical temple and perform all subsequent operations in this setting. My subsequent visions of the angels are enhanced in this way. After performing the ceremonies of evocation, I sit down in my open temple, close my eyes, relax my body from head to foot, and regularize my breathing. My mind's eyes and ears then open to an inner reality wherein the evoked entity may be seen, heard, and felt. After a certain point, this inner mind space expands into the physical temple where the energies impinge on my aura and nerves, just as if a physical presence was there. The angels bestow blessing and initiation, unfolding a new magical lesson and expanded psychic awareness. The more energy I channel, the more energy I can channel. My consciousness became completely transformed after performing many of these operations. I believe that changes to my cells and nerves have also occurred.

Many of the old Hermetic Qabalistic grimoires recommend the use of a magical mirror or ball to skry evoked spirits. The magician is to gaze deeply into the obsidian depths, passed all reflections, to the spirit's presence. Sometimes, for evocation of the lower spirits, the skrying device is placed within a triangle of art, surrounded by magical names that help control the entity. The magician is kept safe in a protective circle, likewise surrounded by many divine names. Obsession and possession by the spirit is supposed to be prevented by these precautions.

I decided to dispense with these devices in order to more intimately connect with the beautiful angels of the Enochian tablets. I've never needed such things to redirect my attention and allow my imagination to open up to magical energies. My psyche has proven to be the best magical mirror I could hope for. Direct and immediate contact between my self awareness and magically induced superconscious projections has provided the most intense supercharge and clearest visions, as the records of my evocatory experiences show. Enochian magick deserves its reputation for extreme power and effectiveness.

CHAPTER II

WHAT IS INITIATION?

Initiation is the cornerstone of the western magical tradition. This core experience opens the pathways to mystical enlightenment while forging connections to the ultimate source of magical power. A great deal of occult literature is devoted to this subject and nearly all books on magick mention it in some way or other. The initiatory opening of the gates of mystery is usually bestowed on the aspiring candidate by an order or some other spiritual group but, with the advent of mass produced occult books relating many of the details of established ceremonial, the solitary practitioner may aspire to self initiation. Such a person may design and perform a magical ceremony for the purposes of entering upon the inner paths usually reserved for devotees of an authoritative institution but in an independent, detached environment. True freedom may be gained by success in this endeavor but the way is difficult.

An examination of initiation as a general cultural practice will help put its magical expression into better perspective.

Initiation means to begin something, usually a new way of life or a new phase of a journey. In traditional societies, children are typically initiated into adulthood by a rite of passage such as a vision quest, a test of intelligence and survival, or a religious dedication such as the Jewish Bar Mitzvah. In more esoteric religious settings, an aspirant to a holy order or mission would be initiated as a monk by taking holy orders or a solemn oath to adopt the monkish devotional way of life. In a military order, a man became a soldier sworn to fight for the order and its leadership in pursuit of its goals. In any case, a new way of life or spiritual devotion was embarked upon for good and all.

In a magical context such as Freemasonry, the O.T.O., or the Golden Dawn, ceremonial initiation meant the beginning of a new phase of the spiritual journey taught by the order in leading its members to the pinnacles of magical adeptship. This meant a new way of spiritual life and the ability to use occult symbols in a ceremonial way to impose personal will upon impersonal existence. This lengthy path of psychospiritual development and energization had to be broken down into degrees or grades, multiple stages designed to gradually transform an ordinary individual into a powerful and spiritual magician. A more direct introduction to the most sublime magical energies would most likely overcharge the mind and nervous system of the eager candidate, doing great harm and ruining the chances for more gradual growth.

A ceremonial initiation, bestowed under the auspices and rule of a magical order, involves an established temple space, complete with symbolic furniture, emblematic objects, officers that express magical principles by their dress, words, and actions, and other members of the order who witness the raising of a candidate to the next phase of the Work. The first and most important part in the initiation ceremony is the opening. During this operation, the general energies and authority of the order are invoked to form a context in which the specific powers of the degree to be worked are called. Each participant of the ceremony contributes to the overall aura of the temple, the atmosphere or magical energy field that charges the entire space and everything therein. The sum of the experiences of the order, the general tradition of which the order is a part, the officers, and the witnesses already initiated into the degree awaits the candidate to these mysteries.

It is the magical atmosphere more than anything else in the ceremony which initiates the candidate into the new phase of the order's path. This energy inundates the candidate's aura, psyche, and nervous system as soon as he or she enters the temple. Usually, the candidate is blindfolded upon admission. With the primary sense shut down, he or she is in a state of extreme receptivity to the unfamiliar initiatory powers imprinting their mysterious patterns deep into his or her psyche. Eventually, the blindfold is removed and the various symbols represented in the temple are explained in detail. However, all this information simply serves to put a face on the intense quickening received as soon as the candidate first enters the initiatory force field. The ritual actions taken during the ceremony help to further integrate this experience into all the layers of the candidate's consciousness. The closing ceremony which ends the initiation finalizes the incorporation of the candidate as one of the brethren of that degree. This is a powerful metaphor for the process which the new initiate's psyche has just undergone. The personal work he or she does after the initiation clarifies and integrates the energies of the degree into his or her life.

The above analysis shows that the solitary magician who seeks self initiation, is in a quandary. There is no order to draw from, no experienced officers or advanced brethren to create the initiatory atmosphere, and no unpublished secrets to learn. The solitary magician is necessarily intimately familiar with every detail of his or her temple and ritual, having built them up from principles already learned. Nothing would be new or revelatory for the ambitious lone operator.

This was the situation in which Aleister Crowley found himself after having split with his initiatory teacher, S.L. McGregor Mathers. He'd been trained in the magical system and methods of the Golden Dawn but suddenly he found himself without this support. Still eager for further occult knowledge and growth, he traveled the world to study and practice with teachers from a wide variety of traditions. His experiences were eventually incorporated into his reformulation of the Golden Dawn, called A.A. Yet, what ultimately enabled Crowley to surpass his previous initiations to achieve new levels of attainment were his adventures in the Enochian magical system of thirty aethyrs. These experiences are well documented in a book called, "The Vision and the Voice." The angelic forces Crowley encountered initiated him to a higher state of being than was thought possible in the Golden Dawn, a grade known as Master of the Temple. This set the tone for the rest of his magical life.

I found myself in a similar situation when I left the modern Golden Dawn offshoot that had provided me with in depth magical training and initiation for six years. The ensuing period of separation and solitude was emotionally trying. Many hidden conflicts arose from this trauma and had to be dealt with. After a long hiatus from magical practice, I partnered with a novice student of the western mysteries and we experimented with a wide variety of magical techniques found in old occult books.

Eventually, we decided to work with the Enochian elemental tablets, which the Golden Dawn had popularized, and suddenly our magick was awesomely powerful. The results surpassed all expectations, given the amount of time and energy that went into developing the Enochian temple and angelic evocation ceremony. We had stumbled upon a magical system that provided the overwhelming atmosphere which permanently raised our natural level of energy in our auras and nervous systems. The angels that appeared in the visions inspired by the ceremonial evocations taught new and surprising knowledge every bit as profound as anything I'd encountered in my initiations in the Golden Dawn offshoot or O.T.O. Every development I'd undergone in my magical career fell into place and was brought to perfection in my five years of regular practice with the Enochian angels.

All the elements provided by instituted initiation were given by John Dee's old magical system. The four Watchtower tablets, plus the Tablet of Union, established a graded system of development when worked in the Golden Dawn initiatory order of Earth, Air, Water, Fire, and Spirit. The virtue of the written and spoken Enochian angelic language was such that transcendent forces were generated and drawn from the inner mind. These currents were projected throughout the imagination and the surrounding physical space. Higher knowledge was tapped and revealed to everyone present. The innermost source of personal consciousness, became the greatest teacher and initiator. As with Crowley, I was brought far beyond myself.

The several systems of Enochian magick are ideal for the purposes of self initiation. Anyone with the daring and wherewithal to develop a temple and ceremony dedicated to angelic evocation may achieve progress on the magical path. Of course, there are risks. The psychic energies generated by use of the language in the ceremonial context can be overwhelming and possibly damaging to someone not fully prepared to receive this kind of jolt. However, there are times when the only way forward is to perform the operation and then deal with the aftermath, come what may. This is especially likely to happen when moving from one tablet to the next. My experience has shown that the transition from Earth to Air is fairly manageable. However, the move from Air to Water is like going from the sun to Alpha Centauri. The transition from Water to Fire is like going from Alpha Centauri to the Andromeda galaxy. In this case, the only way forward is to set your insides on fire and feel the burn. The stalwart magician will recover eventually, probably. I experienced this transition twice. Fortunately, the move from the Fire tablet to the Tablet of Union for Spirit turned out to be easy. The forces of Spirit tend to be generally integrative and balancing.

In conclusion, Enochian magick is the most powerful and effective occult system to be found. Whatever purposes a magician has in approaching these angels will be served in an extreme and dramatic way. Get ready for the roller coaster ride of your life.

CHAPTER III

VISIONS OF THE GREAT NORTHERN WATCHTOWER OF EARTH

FIRST ROUND

ACZINOR – Jupiter Senior of Earth
Sunday, March 28, 1999

Today's workshop¹ was a smashing success. My magical partner clearly perceived the torrents of energy flowing through the elemental tablets. My impressions were more muted, being so focused on accurate performance of the evocation ceremony. I failed to observe every detail of my ritual plan but practice will make perfect. The ceremony was a success overall.

My experience with the Aczinor was unusual in that there was little in the way of visual sensation. His voice was very deep, booming, and echoing throughout my psychic space. Usually, my magical experiences are primarily visual, with voices heard with some difficulty. This time, the only vision was of my field of inner space, tinged throughout with rose pink (the color of the Sephirah Tiphareth in the King scale²), but vibrating as one object to the boom of the voice. It was like a speaker woofer vibrating to a powerful bass beat.

Aczinor indicated that dispensing with the religious aspects of John Dee's magical system was fine, as long as the entities involved were treated with the same respect as what Dee had. All technical questions of the system should be referred to the Mercury Senior of Air.

Something feels different now as a result of this angelic contact. My psyche has acted as a lens through which higher, superconscious forces focused to communicate ideas to me. I hope this fantastic transcendence of mind strengthens my being to do even greater intensities of magical expression.

In the future, the workshop will deal with the Mercury and Venus Seniors of Earth and after that, Seniors from the other tablets will be evoked. Eventually, the angels of the subelemental quadrants will be called according to John Dee's system as presented in Geoffrey James' book, "The Enochian Magick of Dr. John Dee."

AHMLICV – Mercury Senior of Earth

ALHCTGA – Venus Senior of Earth

LZINOPO – Luna Senior of Earth

Sunday, April 11, 1999

I just completed a fantastic solo temple working. The Mercury, Venus, and Luna Seniors of Earth were evoked to great effect. I used the Greater Ritual of the Hexagram³ to invoke the Mercury Senior but, after banishing him, I tried the Lesser Ritual of the Hexagram for the other two. By using the Lesser Ritual, I didn't have to banish and reinvoke for each new Senior⁴ – a worthwhile shortcut. It may actually not be necessary to use a hexagram ritual at all since the Senior names are coming from the tablet already activated.

The Seniors appeared to me as conventional angelic images, in white robes and with huge wings, in a black, empty space. The vision itself was not so inspiring but the conversation was revelatory.

The Mercury Senior, AHMLICV, told me that I needed to pass three tests before I could evoke the servient and Kerubic angels without belief in the religious paradigm of John Dee. The first test is to find the beauty within myself. The second test is to discover the joy within myself. The third test was to get rid of the trickster that lives around my feet, which works to defeat me at every turn.⁵

Essentially, a magician needs to route out all sources of self doubt and shame that continually warp the mind. In order to face the more primal elemental powers without beliefs in religious ideals and protections, it is necessary to have absolute self confidence and the most sublime self image. The God that the magician inherently is, is all that is needed to command any spirit.

The Venus Senior, ALHCTGA, told me to find my soul mate, my other self, and unite with this to achieve true wholeness. She told me a story about a man who was quite happy living alone, self absorbed, when one day he decided to search for a companion. He searched far and wide but couldn't find anyone who was satisfactory. Finally, he searched within himself in places he never expected to look and found the object of his search (superconsciousness⁶). He became whole.

The Luna Senior, LZINOPO, showed me physical examples of unions of opposites to produce holistic synergy. Chemical reactions and quantum interactions are the inorganic correlates to a human's search for fulfillment in a mate. The soul is one with matter, all deriving from one source and so interconnected. However, the nature of these connections is mysterious. Overall, the union of opposites emulates the interdimensional nature of consciousness and so expands this field to ever greater influence over its surroundings. All is one from a sufficiently transcendent perspective.

This magick is so wonderful. This is how I'll achieve higher initiation, just like Crowley did. At last, I can truly take my destiny into my own hands. Self reliance is the way to go in the Aeon of Horus.

Wednesday, April 14, 1999

I've been carefully contemplating the parable the Venus Senior of Earth told me. The concept of other self, as opposed to not self, is profound and useful in any mystical endeavor. Indeed, there is nothing that is not of Self, merely that which is currently not recognized as such. The key, then, is to continually look in new places for self, to do things different than according to habit, and think in unusual ways.

The most obvious place where consciousness is ignored and affirmed as not self is the physical world. Consciousness is apparently confined to the central nervous system but my experiences with expansion of self awareness have revealed this to be in error. All that is, is consciousness. The nervous system is just a focuser of the omnipresent life principle.

It seems I've already learned this vital lesson to a profound degree, indicating that my best states of awareness I've attained so far correspond in the Enochian system to the Seniors. Putting my mystical threshold into an organized context is of great value. My hypothesis, that magical systems like Dee's open up avenues of superconsciousness rather than calling upon supernatural beings whose existence is entirely independent to that of the magician, has proven to be correct. It makes sense that the planetary natures inherent in material consciousness correspond to my best vision work and mystical realizations. My results have primarily been in Malkuth, the Bride⁷, everything being comprehensible to the intellect. According to the Qabalah, the next step beyond this involves the celestial world, Microprosopus, the realm of the planets and stars, unsullied by material reflection. To realize consciousness in these superlunary vibrations would exalt me to a significantly higher state of self realization than what I currently experience.

LIANSAN – Saturn Senior of Earth
 LAIDROM - Mars Senior of Earth
 Sunday, April 25, 1999

Today's workshop was superb. As it turns out, the hexagram ritual isn't necessary to evoke the Seniors but it does serve as a useful amplifier of the stellar energies inherent in material nature. It's worth doing.

The Saturn Senior of Earth lent a feeling of purity and sanctity. I was reminded of how the nature of Babalon⁸ was a fusion of Saturn, Mars, and Venus. When properly understood, the power of Saturn ceases to be dark and foreboding and can be experienced as a pure but impersonal holy presence. As manifested on the plane of earth, Saturn is the process of focusing the vast potential of the universe to create a personalized, ego-centered reality. A great abyss separates the personal self from the impersonal source and so that which is beyond that self often appears as dark and overwhelming to the beginner in magick. A lot of initiation and transformation enables the more seasoned magician to penetrate that veil and look upon the sanctified inner mystery without fear.

The Mars Senior of Earth claimed to be that force of evolution which drives people to form new societies when existing groups become too old fashioned for the new-oriented citizens. Normally, evolution occurs very slowly over long periods of time. However, as with both physical and psychic evolution, there are short intervals wherein very rapid change occurs. An example is the advent of the Aeon of Horus, which inaugurated the remarkable transformations of society in the 20th century and continue to this day. If humanity can survive the backlash to this extreme evolution, it can become something far beyond anything yet imagined. This intense but unknown potential seems as cataclysmic Saturnian darkness to many. Enochian magick can help us make sense of what is going on and what is to come. In this spirit, LAIDROM quoted an inspirational passage out of "Liber Al vel Legis," Ch. 1, v. 12, "Come forth, oh children, under the stars, & take your fill of love!"⁹ I wonder what amazing evolutionary transformations will be brought about as a result of contacting all six Earth Seniors.

The workshop is now ready to evoke the great King of Earth, the solar being on the Watchtower of the North. After that, we'll evoke the angels of the Air tablet, the great Eastern Quadrangle. Great adventures await!

ICZHIHAL – King of Earth
 Sunday, May 9, 1999

I have evoked the elemental King of Earth and the North, ICZHIHAL. The vision of this great King was awesome! His force filled the entire temple space in a palpable way, stretching to the beyond region, the borderland between mind and matter, and pervading every dimension from one extreme to the other. Through his all encompassing presence, I felt myself expand beyond the confines of space and time. There is much more to physical existence than length, width, depth, and time. He was inside and outside of this reality, truly an interdimensional being. He projected himself smoothly into my mind as easily as someone walking into a room, appearing as an old, bearded man in black robes. His image, however, looked like a carefully detailed pencil drawing. The scene before my mind's eye seemed at once unreal and more real than any experience I ever had to this point. A higher being had extended itself into my psychic domain.

To bestow his blessing, he placed a portion of his being, a great spiral force that flowed through this plane and many others, over my head. I felt immense power flow through my mind and body, one dimensional state to another, and back to its source beyond physical reality. My entire being had been included in a great superdimensional circuit that was everywhere, yet focused in a current I was now a part of. The influences of the Seniors were mere drops in this ocean of cosmic expansion. The great King bestowed on me the ability to command the Powers of Earth.

ICZHIHAL taught me that movement through space and time is an illusion. All that is changing is the way in which the wholeness of reality focuses itself through the domain of the expanding physical universe. That potential from which it expands has many other dimensions and domains of realization. To understand how magical energy cycles through this space-time arena, the entire circuit must be perceived at once. Complete receptivity is needed to appreciate the holistic process of moment-by-moment realization of possibility. The key to influencing this course of creation is to receive it fully and then change the state of self in such a way as to impress a desired change onto the circuit, altering the way it unfolds through space over time. Much magical training is needed to integrate the magician's psyche and nervous system to the point where such a holistic signal can be transmitted.

I closed the temple, giving license to depart to any and all spirits that may have been attracted by my rite of evocation. The forces of the King of Earth were effectively banished and my living room returned to normal. The Enochian system of magick works, not only in summoning but also in banishing tremendous cosmic and psychic energies. In this way, psychedelic experiences can be enjoyed at will, without the use of illegal drugs. The legacy of John Dee and Edward Kelly is a fantastic Path of evolutionary and initiatory acceleration.

LZINOPO – Luna Senior of Earth
ICZHIHAL – King of Earth
Sunday, May 23, 1999

Today's workshop was fantastic. My partner and I have finished evoking the major angels of the Earth tablet, and are ready to move on to the Air tablet next workshop. My partner mentioned during a discussion before the ceremony that her consciousness has been changing in ways similar to my own. Our visionary experiences, had by magick done outside the workshop, were producing similar breakthroughs. We're reaching many of the same philosophical and metaphysical conclusions. Our work together is producing a remarkable synergy.

My vision of the Earth King was purely metaphysical, without voice or person. I inwardly saw a great ring of pure psychic energy expand outward from my head at the level of my eyes. This became a series of concentric rings that clarified into tori. A torus is like a bagel in shape, a circle rotated around a center outside of it, forming a greater circle, a circle of circles.¹⁰ I could feel my expanded psychic energy flowing through each ring and out from my brain to each ring. From the edge of the outermost ring, the current instantly reappeared in my brain as if it moved through some higher dimension. This experience reminded me of the planet Saturn with its concentric rings. This is an important cosmic geometry that directly relates the innermost mind with celestial objects.

The Luna Senior showed me another such geometry, one involving a spherical formation with energy accruing to it like the formation of a planet or a star. This was like a simple gravitational attraction. This was a female formula in comparison to the King's male formula of cosmic geometry. Consciousness is a cosmic force that is focused on and channels through the human mind and nervous system. Every scale of the universe works by the same basic energy structures.

CHAPTER IV

VISIONS OF THE GREAT EASTERN WATCHTOWER OF AIR FIRST ROUND

AAOZAIF – Jupiter Senior of Air
AVTOTAR – Mercury Senior of Air
Sunday, June 27, 1999

I've evoked the Jupiter and Mercury Seniors of Air in due form and have learned much. The powers of Air deal with the realm of universal consciousness and universal intent. This is the cosmic mental counterpart to the Earth perspective. Much that was hidden before became revealed with the Air perspective. Thus, it is true that all that is, is consciousness.

The Jupiter Senior first appeared as emanations of majestic gold sparks and currents, covering the entire vision space. The awesome life of cosmic intention was manifest. Soon, the power focused itself into an ancient male figure, dressed in regal white and gold robes. AAOZAIF bade me to join my consciousness with the myriad little needles of force/form¹ that constitute manifestation and learn to control them to produce magical effects. Universal intent is present everywhere, guiding all actions and determining every destiny. I was awash in the awesome being, its gestalt.

The Mercury Senior of Air, AVTOTAR, first appeared as pure darkness, yet filled with potential power. Much possibility seemed ready to realize itself but nothing happened. Soon, the vision resolved into a gigantic young male figure holding me in the palm of his hand. I expanded myself to dwarf him, and held him in my hand, yet retained the image of being held in his hand.² This double perspective was intriguing. There is much potential but little is realized by nature alone. The power of True Will causes events to occur.

The angel said that the universal intent projects itself through the cosmic mind, causing this infinite instantaneous flow of realization to form a focus of coherence, even in the midst of pure transcendence, pure potential.³ The coherence of light enters physical space as a plane or volume of vast width but very little depth. I've witnessed such projective phenomena during other visions, especially when my brow chakra (Ajna) or my crown chakra (Sahasrara) expands.⁴ This manifestation of pure Will gives rise to the male formula ring structure as seen in many celestial and planetary patterns.

I asked AVTOTAR how best to evoke the Kerubic and servient square angels.⁵ He said to activate each tablet and quarter in turn, unifying all four groups to form the gestalt that would bestow the desired power. I then asked for a boon to better enable me to perform my True Will in the world. He said that I should avail myself of the vast potential energy inherent in every point of space and time. This subtle cosmic background is the raw stuff from which individuated consciousness is made. Existence is whole, forming matter and mind together. These are the parts of the universal mind.

Much of this knowledge was communicated to me by direct understanding rather than by words. Then, I bid the Senior to depart and closed the temple.

Not only do the Seniors correct my pronunciation of their names but they introduce me to new aspects of my personal search for the truth of my being. My magick has produced astounding results, not only regarding the development of my superconsciousness but initiation into transcendent planes of reality. The mysteries of my subconscious have also been revealed. A wondrous conduit to higher wisdom, specifically suited to my purposes, is at my disposal. “There is success.”⁶

AVTOTAR – Mercury Senior of Air
 AHAOZPI – Venus Senior of Air
 Sunday, July 4, 1999

My magical partner and I held another Enochian evocation workshop today. This time, we evoked the Mercury and Venus Seniors of Air. My partner continues to grow along a path similar to my own. We are kindred spirits on a deep philosophical and psychic level, brought into sync by the most powerful magical system known to the Western Mystery Tradition. Our work together will develop wonderful new innovations in magick and metaphysics.

My AVTOTAR vision began as last week’s ended, standing in the angel's gigantic hand. He opened a door in his chest leading to his heart to reveal a golden throne. I sat down on it and suddenly found myself in a golden chariot towing the sun across a gleaming white sky. Eventually, I came upon the Senior sitting at a square table sipping tea. I joined him and sat facing him. The tea had a flavor of cinnamon. (All these symbols correspond to Tiphareth.) He told me that the magical link between mind and matter could not be known but only experienced. It was an extension of being, not a step-by-step process of concentration. The leap of the spark of consciousness across the dimensional arenas was made directly.

In answer to another question, the Heptarchia angels⁷ could be summoned by opening the seven Bonorum tablets in a circle and then calling whatever angel and minions desired. The goal was to bring the tablets together as one and then subdivide, not unlike the process with the Watchtowers.

The Venus Senior of Air, AHAOZPI, also had a dual form. The vision began with a fantastically beautiful woman with long, blonde hair full of soft curls dancing like a ballerina. The golden space was full of twinkles and dreamy ecstasy. The whole exuded an intense eroticism, an effect my magical partner also experienced.

AHAOZPI began multiplying herself, coming to surround me with dancing figures. Then, across the horizon of the vision space, the gigantic face of a woman with straight, dark hair appeared. Her facial features were not quite human but seemed futuristic, a great leap ahead in evolution. Knowing better than to ask questions in such a setting, I opened myself to the erotic and expansive energies of the angelic contact. The huge woman's hands reached out to me and began to fold me up like a paper airplane. The more she folded me, the brighter and more golden I became, thoroughly aroused by the process. Eventually, I became like a statue of a dark brown color. The golden sparkly space gave way to the universe of stars.⁸ After communion with cosmic consciousness, she put me back in my body, just as AVTOTAR did by blowing me out of his hands with a thick, white mist.

The understanding gained in this way became translated into words later as follows. The process of creation of individuality begins as a projective multiplication of the core self which focuses around a particular perspective. A self recursive chain of association develops over time. The relationships among the different projections and with the focus of perspective increase in complexity until the currents of psychic energy become interdimensional. They come to connect the dimensional realms of mind and matter in the body. This folding and refolding process leads to individuated consciousness and the development of an understanding of experience in space and time. Being itself is multiplied until new psychic spaces are created. Experience is a self recursive process. The core self, the True Self, is beyond these conditions, yet, interpenetrates them. The self recursion expands into the central nervous system as the aura, multiplying and extending the projections into the physical world beyond the body. A smooth progression of dimensional expansion is established connecting the inner mind with the realm of matter. The fabled magical powers such as telekinesis, teleportation, telepathy, clairvoyance, healing, longevity, etc. could be achieved by increasing the complexity of the aura enough to link the right dimensions. Very great magical work is required to impose this integration.

AHAZPI – Venus Senior of Air
AHMLICV – Mercury Senior of Earth
Sunday, July 25, 1999

Today's workshop went very well. Two new people showed up ready to do magick. Fortunately, they were both experienced workers of this great art. Their experiences resulting from the evocations were much appreciated.

We evoked the Mercury Senior of Earth and the Venus Senior of Air, chosen as a worthy sample of the workshop's accomplishments to date. As it turned out, however, the new participants had difficulty with the Air vision, the shift in elemental energies proving to be confusing. It is best to work with one element at a time.

My visions, as usual, were revelatory. AHMLICV related that the universe was a tapestry of interwoven spiral patterns of expanding dimensions. The spirals continually unfurl as the universe as a whole expands. These dimensional unfoldments stream into this bubble of spacetime from the background reality common to many universes. In a similar way, energy enters the mind from the surrounding physical and subatomic worlds in spiral patterns, joining the self recursive chains of association. The mind expands with personal experience over time, just like the cosmos. The aura also expands under this complexification of core self expression. Truly, man is a microcosm, a little universe.

The Senior told me to partake of the Communion of Saints⁹ to reach the next level of magical intensity. I was to do this by gathering together a group of people to join with in this communion. Then, a number of people appeared around me in the vision space and we all received a deep sense of union with the transcendent spirit of the angel. The people surrounding me, projections of my psyche, then merged with me to complete the Communion of Saints.

I became like a universe in vision, expressed as a great flower stretching across the dimensions with many petals/projections. I was the central stamen, a vertical shaft of Will intersecting the disk of circulating psychic energy, the axle of the wheel. My entire being was as one holistic eighth chakra, the lotus that contained me, superconsciousness. The Mercurial angel had given me a perspective of my being beyond my personal self. The human personality is but one set of realized possibilities amid a vast potential of consciousness that usually remains dormant, the subconscious. Transcendent magical influences help actualize and integrate this great potential with the existent ego structure, empowering the psyche with far greater than normal energy. The blessing of this communion remains with the personality permanently, even to other lives. Real progress toward higher than human evolution can take place.

Eventually, we gave AHMLICV license to depart and I opened the Air tablet with the third Enochian call. The Venus Senior of Air was next to be summoned.

AHAOZPI is a real angel lover. She showed me the male and female formulas of sex on the psychic plane. The male formula was imagined by my subconscious as a disk with a shaft of energy shooting through the center from above, very like the superchakra from the previous vision. The female formula was shown as a ball of continual attraction, drawing in all the energy around it like the gravity of a planet or star. The phallic image suggested the uplift of the sexual energies while the attractive image showed ever increasing integration with the object of love.¹⁰ The unfoldment of mind and matter establishes the background of life and the charge of life, its impulse to become. The multiplication of the spiral association patterns is one with the general expansion of consciousness, the expansion of the universe.

Evidently, the energies of the Earth angel continued to be felt even after he was given license to depart. At least for me, the Mercurial essence had more meaning. Great care needs to be taken in choosing what combination of angels is evoked during any Temple ceremony.

Saturday, August 7, 1999

My day-to-day experience has been much more charged with transcendent perception than before my achievement of the Communion of Saints during the last AHMLICV vision. There have been times when my entire nervous system has felt supercharged. Holistic psychic and nerve energy patterns are becoming more and more a part of my daily life. My entire body, from my head to my toes, has been integrated in this gestalt of joy.

HIPOTGA – Saturn Senior of Air

HTMORDA – Luna Senior of Air

Sunday, August 8, 1999

I have just taken down the magical workplace after having evoked the Saturn and Luna Seniors of Air, HIPOTGA and HTMORDA. There were few words received, these principles being far removed from an intellectual nature. Now, I remain sexually aroused from the second angelic contact.

I saw no figure of HIPOTGA but rather a dark space, pregnant with potential at every point. It was as if every single point of space in my vision was about to burst into a supernova of brilliance but not quite making it. Enormously powerful energies were waiting to realize themselves but the means to do so were absent.

A male, echoing voice said that I couldn't see the vision of HIPOTGA without dying first. I therefore relaxed and allowed ministering angels enfold me into pieces. They were nothing but white hands carrying me along. The process was at once a collapse and a discorporation. The more pressed together I became, the more pieces of myself fell away, until nothing was left but tiny bits. In this vision, I was to be purely passive in the face of a power completely beyond my consciousness.

After parting finally from the pieces of what was left of my vision body, I floated freely as a small ball of fire, pure mind circulation. The hand angels eventually went away. The Will of the space then hurled me forward along a clockwise spiral path into a universe of dark stars. I then became a complex circulation of consciousness, interconnected with every other star and point of this cosmos, a true wheel of many wheels. Floating in darkness, I enjoyed the expanded being of the Saturnian space. Eventually, I returned back along the spiral path to my corporeal body, feeling more whole than ever before.

The vision of HTMORDA began immediately upon finishing the conjuration. The back of my head emitted a multicolored field of psychic light to my mind's eye and I felt a gentle presence which sexually excited me. Upon entering into trance, I beheld a vast space of grayish white light, punctuated with spangles of many colors. The air seemed drenched with moisture and I flew along as a seagull. There was wind and the sound of other sea birds.

Eventually, a vast, round head formulated out of the general background mist. The mouth was enormous and smiling and the eyes were full of glee. The whole reminded me of various man-in-the-moon images. I was filled with the Senior's joy. I asked HTMORDA to teach me magick. Without a word, I felt my aura receive energy from the surrounding misty space until a coherent circulation of current formed. Becoming a human figure, I raised my vision hands to project energy and the force flowed in the opposite direction to that of my intention. The current flowed over my hands and up my arms to merge with the general circulation of my aura. Only when a sufficiently intense charge passed out of my hands did the spillover erupt from my aura to project in the intended direction. It is the aura as a whole that casts magical energy, not the hands directly.

I asked for a blessing from the Senior to better enable me to carry out my True Will on earth and was filled with the angel's joy.

Then he/she said, "There are three paths to joy. One leads to darkness, another leads to fulfillment, and the other leads to pleasure. Choose a path. Choose all three paths. These three are one."¹¹

I was then returned to the physical world and closed the magical temple in due form.

The darkness of death yields the joy and peace of union with the All. Fulfillment generates ever greater satisfaction which soon becomes joy. Pleasure is a pursuit of self discovery that never ceases to bring joy. These are all expressions of True Will, whose accomplishment is the source of all joy. Life, death, and purpose are Its cornerstone. All the experiences of life are joy when understood to derive from this source of becoming.¹²

HABIORO – Mars Senior of Air
 HIPOTGA – Saturn Senior of Air
 Sunday, August 22, 1999

I have evoked the Mars and Saturn Seniors of Air in full formal temple and achieved both visions to full satisfaction. I am now ready to call the great King of the East for next week's magical workshop.

HABIORO was merry and mighty with his red armor, hair, and beard. He was boisterous and resembled an English actor I've seen on television. The Senior spoke with that actor's voice.

With passionate gesticulations he commanded, "Come forth, oh children, under the stars, and take your fill of love."¹³

He is Love and Will, a pure expression of the spirit of Thelema. He is the passion for life, just as the Saturn Senior is the passion for death. I lacked this passion in my first attempt to evoke HIPOTGA and so failed to achieve his full vision.

This is no longer the case.

Passion is a uniting quality, built up during the Fire phase of an elementally based mystical program of spiritual transcendence. Mars is passion, the Love and Will that motivates life itself. Thus, even the smallness of incarnate life must be passionately embraced as part of the experience of the grand, impersonal Truth of life. All circumstances must be wholeheartedly accepted to realize the wholeness of reality, the source of everything. The most humiliating of ordeals must be understood as part of a seamless continuity of existence to appreciate holistic Truth.

Finally, HABIORO showed me a table of pure white light and said that I must link the forces of my psyche with physical forces in order to impose my Will on that world. There is such a link but it was beyond his understanding how to find and use this link.¹⁴

I then banished this Senior and evoked HIPOTGA. As a tiny ball of burning light, I perceived a dark, stormy sky, a realm I've seen in previous visions from other meditations. It expresses a state of the deep subconscious on the border between life and death. I accepted this forbidding yet thrilling trance with longing and joy. I flew beyond the storm and came at length to clear, blue sky above fluffy, white clouds. Beyond the veil of death is a life free of incarnate attachment.

Then, the Senior appeared as a huge hyperdimensional head composed of white light, both near and far away at the same time, occupying many positions at once. Here in the death state, Saturn is a living force. The angel was ancient, calm, and wise, projecting certitude and infinite transcendence.

Eventually, this form focused to a tall, gray robed figure. He bestowed on me the blessing of death and told me to fear it no more. That which truly lives is the collective consciousness of the species, the source of incarnation, the projector of souls. All minds are one in the state beyond death.¹⁵ Dying is but a gateway to the inner mystery of Saturn. Wisely is this planet attributed to the first Path beyond Malkuth on the Tree of Life. This Path of Tav can lead up to Yesod or down to the Qlipboth, the psychic shells of the dead. Both directions express the mysteries of this often misunderstood planet. Its impersonal nature can either inspire horror or transcendent joy, depending on the spiritual state of the mystic adventurer.

Saturn is that which builds and destroys, two expressions of one nature. The whole course of material events emulates the transcendent nature of the All-source in a lower dimensional state of being.¹⁶ This principle puts limits on the infinite to create spacetime, wherein life and death can occur. Binding and expansion are the twin pillars to the temple of this mystery.

BATAIVAH – King of Air
 AAOZAIF – Jupiter Senior of Air
 Sunday, August 29, 1999

I evoked BATAIVAH, the King of the East, and AAOZAIF, Jupiter Senior of Air, at today's magick workshop. The great King turned out to be far beyond my and my partner's ability to handle, our visions involving only abstract shapes and disembodied voices. Without doubt, the Enochian system of magick has a definite set of influences that can be evoked through its language and symbols. This experience is far more than subjective expectation or idle dreams. Real power focuses on the mind of the magician who uses the Watchtower tablets, producing effects of a particular kind based on the entity conjured. If the old grimoires are at all accurate in their claims of what abilities and talents may be derived by their use, real magical powers may be developed this way, true wizardry like in the old fairy tales. The road to success, however, is a long one.

My vision of the Air King involved flying through long, spiraling tunnels of black and white airy force that seemed to pass through all dimensions and scales of reality, from the smallest atom to the largest galaxy, and everything in between. The differences in size and perspective afforded by these interdimensional whorls were mind boggling and dizzying. The very concept of space as a coherent set of directions became warped into an ever changing vista.

A voice from everywhere and nowhere said that the full vision was beyond my understanding. In order to gain this level of transcendence, I needed to learn to see the gross in the fine, the darkness in the light, and the nature of material objects in the quantum chaos out of which they grow. It was not enough to understand the source of these pairs of opposites. Each extreme had to be conceived as involving its other. This was completely beyond my mind's ability to grasp.

As a blessing and a lesson on how to achieve this malleability of mind, the King yielded to me a vision of a white space wherein the vistas continually moved closer and then farther away from me. The horizon was broken up into segments that moved independently of each other. A very blurry visage of a manly king appeared before me in this confused, yet strangely ordered space.

Eventually, I gave up on reaching further into this bewildering vision and called AAOZAIF, the Jupiter Senior of Air. His vision was naturally far more coherent and comprehensible. The angel held me in his outstretched hands as before, as if creating me by the forces emanating from them. He lifted me up into a brilliant white space and then lowered me into a dark space wherein only vague outlines of shapes were visible.

His message continued that of the King's. A further piece of advice given to me was to make of myself a pure and perfect mirror in order to receive and reflect the truth inherent in all reality, in every aspect thereof.

Such are my assignments to fulfill the curriculum of the Air angels. In a few weeks, I'll begin evoking the angels of the Water tablet. Of course, I'll eventually need to return to those visions not fully received but it is best to move on now. Certain lessons can only be learned from the perspective gained by later stages of the Work. At least for now, the seed of the unknown is planted.¹⁷

This culmination of Air has united the heights and the depths of the group mind of humanity as I experience it. I am humanity itself focused on an individual existence. This explains my continuing sense of being a part of a greater life than that which has developed from my personal experiences. Humanity is one. All of its potential is accessible to whoever can reach it. Once the collective unconscious is brought to self awareness, the whole complex can be developed along new lines of evolution. Ultimately, the original pattern of order that began all coherent existence, including consciousness and life, will be revealed. Any change in reality will then be possible.

Monday, August 30, 1999

In order to perceive the opposite of something within that something, it is first necessary to reach their common source in a transcendent state of being. The unfoldment of the pair of opposites in space and time may then be observed from this metaperspective. This unity must then be taken into both halves of the equation to know the one in the other. Such a state of consciousness is alien to the human norm. The greater whole of which I am a part, my superconsciousness, will have to guide me in this.

A vital clue was given me by the Air King, my greatest superconscious projection to date. The vision of a hyperdimensional space wherein the horizons varied in distance showed me how a partial state of being can exist within a greater holistic context. It's like a three dimensional space within a six dimensional hyperspace. This is a spatial metaphor expressing the relationship between self consciousness and superconsciousness.

In this way, I am to seek the gross in the fine and the darkness in the light. The baser concepts correspond to the nearer horizons, the more familiar tracks, while their opposites refer to the farther off vistas, the less familiar experiences. They exist together as they are and in a greater reality that transcends and creates them. There is a smooth continuum that joins these states of consciousness, in their separateness and their unity, a transdimensional path that leads to the full vision of BATAIVAH. This is how the Earth King was able to reach into my mind from without as if he had walked into another room. This is the metalevel at which the Watchtower Kings operate. I can't even begin to imagine what the Water and Fire Kings can show me but they will likely change my life forever. That's what magick is all about.

BATAIVAH – King of Air

AHAOZPI – Venus Senior of Air

Sunday, September 26, 1999

I've evoked BATAIVAH, King of the East, and AHAOZPI, Venus Senior of Air. My visions were inferior to my usual results. My contacts were weak. Upon calling the King, only darkness and flatness of vision answered. The flatness expressed lifelessness, dullness, and mediocrity. Although the dark space seemed to contain great potential for becoming in every point, even this possibility was weak, of little consequence.

Eventually, a disembodied voice said that I wasn't ready to receive the full vision of BATAIVAH. I called out in my mind, asking how I could become ready. The answer came that I should humbly submit myself to the King. This clearly couldn't be done. I am a human being, a complete microcosm, greater than any elemental no matter how exalted. It is I who must rule the spirits. So, I did the opposite of what was told to me and commanded that this spirit show itself to me.¹⁸ The darkness remained dull and flat for a little while longer. Eventually, a vast scene of clouds emerged that stretched farther than my mind's eye could see. My vision body stood in midair, perfectly still, just as the fluffy white and gray clouds were motionless against a dirty, tawny sky. An enormous figure coalesced from the clouds, forming into an old, white haired and bearded man in a white robe.

He asked by what authority I commanded his appearance. I answered in the name of my Holy Guardian Angel. At that, a great sun of orange brilliance burst forth behind me.¹⁹ I could feel its warmth and healing rays. There was also a throne of gold directly behind me that came into being along with the sun. I sat down on the throne and commanded the King to bestow on me the power to command the spirits of Air. He complied at last. I bade him to declare his nature and mystery. He said that he ruled over the forces of Air and all expansion and contraction. It was clear to me that the vision was not going my way so I gave BATAIVAH license to depart.

Next, I summoned the Venus Senior of Air to ask her what she thought of my plan to form a sexual relationship with her for the purpose of experiencing a more intimate synergy of angel and human.²⁰ She appeared as a vast, white, round face and then as a gorgeous blonde in a sheer, white robe. In answer to my proposition, she said that I wasn't ready for such a relationship and that I should focus on my personal magical path in accordance with my True Will. Satisfied with this, I gave her license to depart and closed the temple.

Interestingly, during the banishing of the magical workplace, I caught a glimpse with my mind's eye of a great hyperdimensional figure with thick, white, curly hair and beard. It was the Air King in full clarity. Some level of contact had definitely been achieved but only a sidewise glance was possible at this point. The image slowly faded from view as I continued the closing.

Looking back on my record, I'm doubtful of the results of today's visions. I was off my game in general and acted foolishly towards these exalted spirits. Their messages seemed contrived, rather than inspired. Issues remain to be dealt with before I can achieve full contact with the ultimate of the Air element but I must soon move on to the Water tablet angels. This may be the only way to fulfill the lessons of the Air angels. Otherwise, I may just have to wait for another round of Watchtower evocations before reaching what is currently beyond me. For now, I'll accept the advice of AHAOZPI and focus on my magick.

It seems to me that my major outstanding issue with the Air King involves my lack of experience with religious exaltation. While I've been able to achieve a good deal of personal spiritual transcendence, exaltation and expansion of consciousness, I don't worship any deity or religious ideal. I prefer to think of the ultimate source of being as who I really, truly am, beyond self identification. My previous attempts to begin straightforward religious practices resulted in physical illness and bouts of high anxiety. For me, religion is self denial and self destructive.²¹ I need to find a way to reconcile my personal spirituality with the impersonal transcendence that constitutes all things. This would also be in line with the Venus Senior's advice.

Later that night: I've just returned from a long, leisurely walk and have been inspired by an intriguing realization regarding the issues raised by today's evocations. Evidently, some religious observance is called for in dealing with the Air King but viewing deity as a principle outside myself is a dreadful mistake for me. Indeed, my spirituality throughout my life has been based on finding transcendence within myself, a purely mystical endeavor. My latest breakthrough in understanding, inspired by today's partial contact with BATAIVAH, is to integrate my personal self with the not self, what appears to be other than self. The Earth angels gave some intimation about this but now the King of the East is demanding it. A new type of religious expression is called for.

An important clue as to the nature of this new spiritual path may be found in the fact that Water is the next phase of the Watchtower magical program. I am reminded of The Hanged Man Tarot card,²² major arcana number twelve (XII), a card that figured significantly in a recent self administered reading. The Hanged Man has transcended all worldly pain and concern to fully focus on the spiritual realm, an inversion of conscious perspective shown by his inverted posture. Such a state of mind results from the union of opposites in the psyche, the ultimate of which is the fusion of self and other.

Aleister Crowley describes this card as a depiction of complete dedication to True Will, which is nothing other than the cosmic force of intention within the psyche. True Will is the supreme creative and deific principle within the mind of every intelligence in the universe. It is the ultimate object of my spiritual search. Clearly, the sense of separation between self and this other is a severe error, the worst restriction. Union with Will must be the central focus of whatever religious expression I use to enhance my magick.

LIANSANSA – Saturn Senior of Earth
HIPOTGA – Saturn Senior of Air
Sunday, October 24, 1999²³

Today's workshop focused on strengthening contact with the Saturn principle inherent in the two elements covered so far. Repeated attempts are needed to achieve complete understanding of this most abstract and impersonal of the planets. Full Saturnian evocation is an effective preparation for the overwhelming impersonal contact with Water. My partner's visions and mine were exact and detailed, opening the way for work with the Watchtower of Water.

In my Earth vision, LIIANSA appeared backlit by a brilliant whirling Fylfot cross which was throwing out projections of itself. White and black swastikas were flying all over the place, spinning in a clockwise direction, the way of the sun and positive growth. The light behind the angel was so bright that he appeared in shadow. Wordless understanding came to me as to the meaning of what I was seeing. Mind and matter are two phases of consciousness, separated from one another by the interaction between the universe and the nervous systems of incarnate life forms. They are two extreme opposites of one spectrum of differentiation of possibility. Still, all that is, is consciousness. Their apparent incompatibility is an illusion based on limited awareness and understanding of both. The truth is that they are emanated from one source, the first swirlings of all existence.²⁴ The very basis of all reality forms the background and determines the interaction between the experiencer and the experienced. All transformations are possible from this underlying perspective. Mind and matter are of one substance.

In my Air vision, HIPOTGA revealed the brilliant light of the Fylfot cross, without any trace of shadow. He told me that I'd gained enough of an understanding of the proper relation between the incarnate psychic states and their transcendent source to perceive the light that exists in all things. The imagination represents aspects of the not self as darkness. Appreciating the not self as other-self has enabled me to experience all psychic states as light. The Great Sea of matter has become enlightened by transcendent consciousness. The devouring nature of Saturn has become understood as the cycling of a great interdimensional circuit of being. The All-Devourer is the All-Begetter.

The preparation is now complete. My magical partner and I are ready to begin performing evocations from the Watchtower of Water together.

CHAPTER V

VISIONS OF THE GREAT WESTERN WATCHTOWER OF WATER FIRST ROUND

SAIINOV – Jupiter Senior of Water
SONIZNT – Mercury Senior of Water
Monday, October 11, 1999

I have evoked the Jupiter and Mercury Seniors of Water, SAIINOV and SONIZNT, in due form. I still feel intense energy coursing throughout my nervous system but the effect is finally tapering off. Wow! What a leap forward in magical power!

The Jupiter vision began with the appearance of a stately ancient male, with long curly hair and beard, looking very much like the Air King. The scene had the same fluffy white and gray clouds against a tawny sky, which appeared in that last vision. The old angel lifted me with giant hands over his head, to the place of his crown chakra, and introduced himself as SAIINOV. He told me that the essence of Water filled the entire universe as the eternal now, the coherence that has enabled the universe to exist and grow. Each moment has three phases, the initial phase of its realization, its full becoming in existence, and its absorption into the universe of time. As he spoke, currents of bubbly water filled the vast sky scene and surrounded me with effervescence. All was contained in the coherent¹ fabric of the light, bubbly currents.

Suddenly, two remarkably realistic hands took hold of me and lifted me off the ancient's head. I was taken up out of the airy/watery space and into a realm of pure, thick darkness. The impression was like newly poured tar in the process of congealing. There, in front of my mind's eye, was the face of a woman with very long, black hair. She was more real and solid and existent than any other vision I've ever had. Everything before this was like a cartoon in comparison. For the first time in my life, I'd encountered something that was truly outside myself. My magick had brought something new into my psyche.

To say that she was huge would be a ridiculous understatement. Her vast face was huge, like an ocean is huge compared to a pond. She filled all the varying dimensions revealed by the Earth and Air angels and introduced something new, an existence of pure reality more solid than any stone, more palpable than my own body. Her hair was larger still, filling the whole vision as one with the velvety, thick, black space. As she spoke, her hair moved about every which way, just as the trees of eternity.²

She was the real SAIINOV, the Jupiter Senior of Water, the first female figure I've seen so far to represent this planetary influence among the elements. The initial personage had acted as a bridge, enabling me to pass from Air to Water, to something beyond my experience. She continued the lesson begun in the prior space. Each direction has a threefold set of currents which constitute its concept, three currents of consciousness which form its differentiation. There is the initial movement, its focus, and its culmination in its incorporation into spacetime.³

The angel told me to feel the coherence of the eternal now, the consciousness of the continuity of existence.⁴ I felt her hair, omnipresent and filling my being every second with love and wholeness and completeness. She enables and supports my existence by her imagining. I was experiencing the crossover from impersonal consciousness to personal, ego-based identification.

The Senior then said that I needed to complete nine tasks before I could go on to achieve the ultimate in spiritual transcendence. I felt dread at the prospect of having to remember so many details, making the record of this magical working more difficult. However, the tasks were not given to me in the obvious way. A list of nine items appeared before me in vision, written in white letters of an unfamiliar alphabet against the black background. The meaning of the words was completely unknown to me but I received the gist of the message. Essentially, I am to come to a coherent understanding of the nine aspects of creation (the emergence of specific events from the vast background of possibility), how moments and settings come into being from pure potential. Here is how Yesod is converted into Malkuth. Coherence is the key to this, as to the nature of Water as well.

I believe my visions have brought me near the threshold between the 10th and 9th Sephiroth. More than this, it seems I've been given a glimpse of the world of Briah as well. The image-making faculty of the mind has been transcended with the vivid experience of the foundation of physicality.

Satisfied and delighted by these amazing, breakthrough results, I gave SAIINOV license to depart and summoned SONIZNT. In the same thick, black space, I entered a tunnel of whirling essence wherein suggestions of white, ever changing geometric shapes moved past me. Inherent in each shape was an eye, an intelligence. Eventually, the tunnel moved passed me and I saw the enormous face of a man with long, black hair and beard which reached through the darkness, just like SAIINOV's hair had done. This angel spoke to me in a great, booming voice that seemed to come from my own voice within me, yet outside myself. At length, I banished and closed the temple, somewhat in a daze. Many of the details of these visions have slipped my mind now but essentially, I am to study how coherent shapes form out of the potential of being.

Later that night:

I just remembered the main thrust of the vision given by the Mercury Senior of Water. He showed me an image of myself as a system of intermingling currents of points of light squeezed into a narrow field of action, like a dark cylindrical bottle. SONIZNT bade me to re-image myself to expand this field, to make it extend into the general field of potential underlying all of physical reality. That way, the range of the light point circulation can extend throughout the space surrounding the bottle, enabling the Will to reach into the world directly. Psychic currents of self recursion can extend beyond the central nervous system, propagating the impulse of True Will into the immediate physical world of ordinary human experience. It all begins with a revisioning of self, forming a new identity as a new being.

SONIZNT – Mercury Senior of Water
 Sunday, November 21, 1999

I held another workshop today. My partner and I evoked the Mercury Senior of Water. So profound and potent was this first Water contact for her that we decided not to summon a second angel. She encountered the same expansion of consciousness experience that I had during my first evocation from this Watchtower. The higher dimension of pure being in which our personal existences were as tiny bubbles was brought to our awareness with the fullest of intensity. She also came to perceive the unitary source of all opposites that I've discovered in angelic vision.

What a marvel is John Dee's Enochian magical system. It introduces a profound and specific reality to any who approach this mystery. There is no subjectivity about it. Dee and Kelly reached into the very basis of the cosmos and derived the keys to its revelation. In the angelic language and tablets lay a direct Path of initiation to the ultimate transcendence.⁵

My experience of the Senior was somewhat less intense than last time, since I'd been able to adjust to this greater contact. He appeared to me clearly, but spread across great distances of space and time, closer to my reality than before.

He transported me to a great blue hyperspace along a golden spiral and there I partook of that state of consciousness beyond the image making faculty. This was the true Water, pure coherence. His teaching was to project myself astrally in order to actualize one of those points of great potential which filled my enhanced vision space.

SLGAIOL – Venus Senior of Water

LSRAHPM – Mars Senior of Water

Saturday, November 27, 1999

I've evoked the Venus and Mars Seniors of Water in full magical temple. Now, my head is almost spinning with the awesome psychic forces drawn forth from the impersonal currents of consciousness from which I'm created. A major revelation has been given to me and it has already begun to transform my soul.

Upon calling SLGAIOL, I saw myriad folds of space, as if I'd projected my consciousness beyond the bounds of space and time to look upon the universe from outside. Each fold seemed like an entire course of cosmic evolution, complete with all the partial evolutions of galaxies, stars, planets, and life forms, falling in toward a common center that was at the same time invested in the flow of possibilities and outside of it. The falling circulations appeared at the edges of the supercosmic system when they neared the paradoxical center. Whole realities were born and died in this way.

A great head appeared in the curving, whirling spacetime flow, reflected in each fold and corner like the reflection on a pool of water into which a stone had been thrown. The effect at this level of being was total confusion, yet, the angel himself was coherent throughout. His existence made sense out of pure chaos. The angel's face was male, with the same black hair and beard as every other Water tablet angel I'd contacted so far. His every movement was carried throughout the spacetime folding circulations, bringing a subtle order to the inherent disorder of the reflecting material.

SLGAIOL told me that the universe was created from a contradiction. Existence is totally impossible, given the transcendent nature of its source. Yet, form took shape and coherent movement became. All that is, is a lie, being a purely arbitrary pattern imposed by currents of individuated, ordered consciousness. There are no limits to existence since all is based on an impossible contradiction, a paradox. I must fully embrace the contradiction of being in order to rise beyond the limitations of my own habituated mind. True magick, realization of the impossible, may only be done from a perspective that transcends reason. Only by operative contradiction of union of opposites may human limitations be overcome.

Overwhelmed by the import of the angel's message and the ultimately expanded state of the vision, I gave SLGAIOL license to depart and pressed on with the evocation of LSRAHPM, Mars Senior of Water. His mighty form, consisting of a fine white mist, arose out of a raging whirlpool of spacetime. This was another geometry of the same supercosmic flow that had been introduced in the last vision. Great bolts of lightning sprang from the maelstrom of focusing possibility, shrouding the Senior in blazing light. The birth of possibility of becoming is brought about by these fiery emanations.

The angel's lesson continued the revelation given by SLGAIOL. There is an unlimited amount of energy available at all times in all places because of the occurrence of impossibility. Anything can occur since no limitations truly exist. The focusing of pure information, relation between different states of being, provides unlimited power. Thus, all is hopeless confusion and yet receptive of any pattern imposed on it. Any creation is possible with the right state of mind. The human world is just one of an infinite variety of potential paradigms.

I may wield such currents of contradiction by merging with the impossibility which creates the cosmic coherence. Sheer nonsense gives rise to all pairs of opposites and their interactions. Any event may be made to occur by influence over the creative power of contradiction in this way.

It makes sense that impersonal consciousness would lead beyond all human reason and even the collective unconscious to encompass all that is unreasonable. Clearly, the universe cares nothing for human ideals. Reason is but one of a myriad of possible patterns that may be projected onto what is a completely protean reality. Realization of the creative contradiction will transcend all limits of reason.

Truly, there is no God to judge humanity, no universal orderer. We are all totally free to impose whatever order onto existence we desire, just as I've always believed. Chaos is not ordered but is orderable. Order can be emerged therein to form the basis of the absurd impossibility which creates all things and circumstances.

As a side note, I became strongly sexually aroused upon evoking the Mars Senior of Water. The feeling was similar to that given me by the Venus Senior of Air but less romantic and more lustful. Indeed, the madness of sexual excitation helps to lift the mind beyond reason to the threshold of impossible contradiction.⁶

LAOAXRP – Luna Senior of Water

LIGDISA – Saturn Senior of Water

Sunday, December 5, 1999

I have evoked the Luna and Saturn Seniors of Water in due form and received their communion and blessing. My state of mind is peaceful and clear, having become acclimatized to the impact of the Water energies. The angelic lessons, however, are no less profound than before.

LAOAXRP appeared to me as a young girl, about seventeen or eighteen, with long, straight, blonde hair and large blue eyes. The surrounding vision space was grayish white rather than the usual black, perhaps reflective of my improved adjustment to her element. She had a mischievous laugh and hugged me affectionately, touching me in various places in a friendly and sometimes sexual manner. I felt stimulation in my Mars chakra, situated a few inches above my genitals, but was not moved emotionally. This new energy was not overwhelming.

She told me that I was nothing, that the oneness which I felt myself to be was a total illusion. All my thoughts and senses and conceptions were nothing except so much smoke on the surface of the ongoing coherence, which is the only reality. Truth may be found only in pure being, revealed when the chaos of the mind is stilled.

Then, she told me to sing. She showed me how by standing behind my vision body, putting her hands on my cheeks, and charging my entire being with glorious white light. Soon, I felt a stirring in my heart chakra, the chakra attributed to the Sun. Then, an essence of song began to emanate from there. I realized that this was how to project energy in a state of transcendence. Receive the ultimate essence of existence and then channel it through the chakra whose nature was to be projected. Such energies could be brought down to the physical level and fixed in a material basis such as a talisman. For instance, the heart chakra sings of love and harmony, imbuing all with a golden perfection and state of peace. Other chakras can produce different effects. The song of the eighth chakra, the integration of all the others with the innermost source of personal creation, projects ultimate transcendence as pure white light.

After a while, my essence song finished and then LAOAXRP told me that I wasn't who I thought I was. My current identity was a mistaken impression. My true name was Ebelijah. The meaning of the name could be found in the enumeration thereof.⁷ I understood that this was a fusion of the names Abel, son of Adam and brother of Cain, and Elijah, a prophet from the Old Testament. This surprised me, not being of a religious persuasion, but I immediately accepted this as my angelic assignation.

I gave LAOAXRP license to depart and evoked LIGDISA, Saturn Senior of Water. There was an immediate sense of hyperspatial immensity, a hallmark of this element. I saw before my mind's eye the Fylfot cross in whirling motion, so fast that it appeared like a solid disk. It became clear to me that this vision would not be the usual face to face encounter, my personal identity having been negated in the previous angelic contact. So, I became the swastika and felt all manner of emanations and motions being thrown out from me. Each projection carried the stamp of my Prime Pattern, the signature of who I really am, the core ideal on which my every mental activity is based. I became aware of a union of expansive darkness and frenetic universal light, a focus of impossibility, the opposites tucked into each other in spiral configurations. This is my pattern, my personal creation, correspondent to how the cosmos came into being.

Eventually, the angel appeared, springing out from my midsection, to reveal himself only from the waist up. He was a young, dark haired and bearded man, with the same puckish grin as had the Luna Senior. His communication was that this was the only reality, expression of pattern imposing itself onto other patterns and their background coherence. All else is an illusion. He also said that I should evoke the Jupiter Senior of Water again, before calling the King of the West.

With that, I gave LIGDISA license to depart and closed the temple by the usual ceremonial. This is Water, the impersonal aspect of consciousness, the true pattern of Self, upon which all the airy noise of the mind is derived. This true identity is of the nature of Briah. The Prime Pattern of Self is all in all, projecting an illusion of a self, operating in a universe of space, time, matter, and energy apparently separate from that self. All is as one is a misinterpretation of experience. All meaning, then, is purely arbitrary and so of limited truth, that is, false. Any further magical development will have to involve this expanded, impersonal state of consciousness. I feel like The Hanged Man of the Tarot, whose perspective is inverted, looking from the outside in.

SLGAIOL – Venus Senior of Water
Sunday, December 19, 1999

I held another workshop today with my magical partner. We evoked the Venus Senior of Water to receive her communion and her wisdom. Once again, my partner and I decided to set our pace at one Water Senior per session, such was the impact of their contact. I explained what I'd been learning from the angels in terms of the overall system and where these visions were leading. The element of Earth deals with coherent personal consciousness, the self consciousness of every day life. The element of Air deals with transcendent personal consciousness, the subconsciousness which underlies the ego. This is the stuff that dreams and hopes as well as nightmares and fears are made of, swirling around on a plane of constant change and mystery. The element of Water deals with coherent impersonal consciousness, the cosmic backdrop and formative principle of the entire personal experience and psychic mechanisms. The self comes together out of this great sea of potential like an iceberg freezing in an ocean. A small percentage of this enormous mass rises into the light of day while the rest of its vast bulk remains continually submerged in the darkness of its source in the watery abyss. Yet, all is Water, in one form or another, one phase or another. The element of Fire, then, deals with transcendent impersonal consciousness, that ultimate source of energy whose tiny pocket of unlikely, impossible darkness forms the basis for all life and mind. However, all energy held within the frozen possibility derives ultimately from the Fire of infinity.

Evocation of the angels of the great Watchtower of Fire would no doubt clarify what this was all about.

I also described my discovery of the core contradiction at the root of my psyche, the Prime Pattern emerging out of an impossible fusion of cosmic currents of opposite natures. All that I am or can become expresses this central truth of the existence which creates me. These explanations helped my partner to make sense of what she was experiencing through the contact with the intense transpersonal energy of Water, making it easier for her to handle its impact. Knowledge and experience are effective tools in empowering the mind to grow under the influence of superconscious projection.

My vision of the Venus Senior of Water was similar to my last contact with him. He taught me a mystery of the polarity between self and other. From the personal perspective, self projects other to produce a spectrum of differentiation between mind and matter. This spectrum encompasses the entire universe, yielding the experience of coherent reality as a collection of specific, ordered events in space and time. Personal reality adheres to exact and far reaching laws of nature and regular patterns by which life experience unfolds to the perceiving (and projecting) intelligence. Yet, this subset of likely occurrence is but a tiny drop in a vast arena of possibility. Much of what the mind creates for itself is based on early childhood imprints and conditioning imposed by family and society. Some of these behavioral patterns of thought and action can be destructive to the health and growth of the psyche, limiting life experience to a narrow, regularized track. Overcoming these poisonous psychic programs can greatly expand the scope of what life can bring to fruition.⁸ Sufficient projective power could alter manifestation significantly. This is the goal of magick.

The impersonal perspective, however, is far beyond any experience-based limitations. The state of self and other differentiation and interaction is only one current of realization in a greater reality of all inclusive possibility. That which is other, is understood to be an aspect of self and so one with it. The core contradiction is equally in the ego and in the non-ego, realizing self-in-other and other-in-self. This kind of paradox reveals the impersonal source as creating and being created by its projections. Time ceases to have meaning and an experience of an eternal, unchanging now results. The attained magician can shift perspective to any object in the surrounding world, making that the center of experience, leaving the original body-attached identity as other. Obsession with personal consciousness is hereby transcended and the entirety of existence can be understood as pure paradoxical contradiction. All is impossible so anything is possible.⁹

During this most enlightening vision, I fell into a hypnagogic state, half asleep and half awake. This had never happened to me before. My dreaming faculty was activated and I experienced a complete dream while my waking vision continued. Neither psychic function was interfered with by the other's progress. Their impressions remained clear and distinct. In my dream, I found myself trapped in a huge, black roasting pot being heated by a flame burning below. I could feel myself inside the pot heating up, but at the same time, I was outside the pot looking at it.¹⁰ I was in two different places in my dream at the same time while also experiencing a magically enhanced waking vision. The sleeping dream expressed what the waking vision was communicating.

Myself inside the pot began banging on the sides, trying to get out, but couldn't. Myself outside the pot could only watch helplessly. The angelic vision continued unaffected by its counterpart situation. The two superphysical communications ended simultaneously, their multifaceted message having been delivered.

My early childhood conditioning continues to isolate me from the true source of my being. Superconsciousness may light the way forward but the subconscious must be transformed in order to accept the transcendent inspiration to the deepest levels. Psychedelic experience is the key to revealing the truth of reality and enabling an expanded psyche to impose its pattern onto the ebb and flow of what can be.

SAIINOV – Jupiter Senior of Water
 RAAGIOSL – King of Water
 Sunday, December 26, 1999

I've evoked SAIINOV, Jupiter Senior of Water, and RAAGIOSL, Great King of the West and Water, to great effect. Ironically, SAIINOV warned me not to proceed with the evocation of the Water King because I wasn't ready. Too many disconcerting events had occurred today before the temple ceremony and so I was too unsettled emotionally to make an effective contact. Interestingly, she appeared in vision with a male counterpart orbiting her like a moon orbits a planet. Her counterpart remained silent throughout the conversation.

Her message sounded absurd to me, perhaps to be taken in a contradictory sense considering her orbiting male compliment. Perhaps this celestial pattern was meant to convey some hidden meaning to an obvious message that couldn't be taken seriously.¹¹ I stated my intention to proceed anyway, so she advised me to receive the King with my entire being. Only that level of wholeness could properly reach him and handle his profound energies.

With that, I banished the Senior and evoked the King. After making my conjuration, I could feel myself being surrounded by white energy which streamed out of the Water tablet. My physical eyes didn't register anything but in my mind, I saw a torrent of white light flowing from the Watchtower before me. The brilliance inundated me inside and out, flooding my every nerve, thought, and atom; every fiber of my physical and psychic being.

Upon sitting down to meditate and open my inner senses more fully to the Great King, I saw a vast head, white haired and bearded, condense out of the flowing light. He was constituted of an essence beyond my imagination but was able to focus his white current into the image of a head, just as the Seniors had done from their fields of black and gray. The King's brilliant energy, however, clearly emanated from a source far beyond that of his ministering angels. If the Seniors of the Watchtowers exist at the level of consciousness called Yetzirah or Briah in the Qabalah, their Kings exist in Atziluth, the worldview beyond the archetypes.

I opened up to him with as much of my being as I could muster, including my aura and senses outside my body. The King's mighty energies were far more intense, had far more impact on my body and mind, than any Senior could ever have, but I withstood the onslaught. With a voice that came from everywhere and nowhere, he told me that in order to understand and manipulate the universal coherence, which is Water, I needed to incorporate the complimentary of my own being. The microcosm exists within the macrocosm, two fields of consciousness with one focused on an incarnate experience and the other an all encompassing potential of experience. Yet, by a certain perspective, the microcosm contains the macrocosm and so the individual pattern is spread throughout the wholeness of things. This cosmic self exists as more than just the presence of the individual in everything that is not that individual. It is everywhere and every when at once, while still expressing a particular person with a particular experience. Thus, self, other self, and cosmic self had to merge to realize transcendental understanding and abilities. Control over the emergence of physical reality is thereby possible.

I asked him for his blessing and permission to command the forces of Water. He bestowed this upon me. The King's blessing yielded an awareness of oneness with all and my complimentary self, omnipresent yet contained in my focused experience. I was a recognized ruler of Water, just as with Earth and Air.

I then gave the Great King license to depart and closed the temple in due form. On the way to a restaurant for dinner, I felt very altered from my usual sense of self. My entire psyche seemed turned inside out, continuing the connection with my cosmic self. All the events in the universe are merely ripples across the surface of an infinite ocean of pure joyous light and peace. Eating a large dinner helped to ground me and now I'm comfortably full and tired. I feel more stabilized and adjusted to the awesome powers and revelations I'd received from the angels. I look forward to evoking the powers of Fire.

Monday, December 27, 1999

Based on my experiences with the elemental angels and the lessons they've taught me, I'm ready to make some speculations on the nature of certain concepts of alchemy. The Medicine of Metals, that which perfects the minerals, is alchemical Water, quickened into life by the impulse of Mercury, the messenger of the Gods. This is an allegory of the human aura becoming quickened by focused, individuated consciousness inspired by superconscious contact. The transcendently connected ego becomes the conveyor of complex patterns of emergent order, communicating profound wisdom to the quantum chaos surrounding the body. The aura becomes a shining mirror of the higher worlds, reflecting Truth into the physical world. Properly manipulated, this emanation can become an effective agent of alchemical transmutation, bringing order and perfection to disordered nature.

On another topic, I've felt a definite intensification of my mental rest state since evoking the Water King. With some concentration, I can activate the higher activity of my mind almost to the point of angelic evocation. With this acceleration, I've achieved a clearer perception of my complimentary self. This is the impression my self consciousness makes in the overall source field of impersonal consciousness, like a handprint in wet cement. My complimentary is a shadow to my personal light. Together, we constitute a complete self. Integrated with other self, we create the universe of experience, a whole cross section of spacetime. The function of creation lies at the core of each consciousness. There is no God but Man. With this growing Self awareness, I'll soon be able to open up my psyche to the highest levels of superconsciousness by Will alone.

LAOAXRP – Luna Senior of Water
 Sunday, February 27, 2000

My magical partner and I evoked LAOAXRP, Luna Senior of Water, during today's workshop. We both perceived action occurring in physical space on an inward level.¹² Clearly, my evocation abilities are improving. Objective perception confirms it. It seems my results are enhanced as I go forward in the Enochian training program, even when returning to a prior element. My progress should be truly dramatic when I undertake Senior evocation again from the beginning.

My partner's result shows that, whether or not any objective physical energy is projected during these ceremonies, the effects of the evocation on the mind are pronounced and undeniable. There is a level of mind that seems to extend into space and can be altered by magical projection, even if this influence is caused by nothing more than a complex set of body language and voice inflections. However, if the enhanced psychic emanation is materially real, great magical effects are possible with its multiplication. If not, even if all these perceptions are nothing more than so much mental masturbation, the revelations of ecstasy and transcendental connection make the effort worthwhile.

In today's vision, I perceived a spiral current emanating from the center of the Water tablet. It was like viscous water, full of bubbles, and it was bright and shiny. Interestingly, my partner described seeing just this substance in her vision, interpenetrating every object in the room as well as her own mind. She had achieved perception of the smooth flow between her mind and the outer world, the in between dimension that I'd discovered. She perceived my magical projection!

The spiral turned out to be a tunnel through which LAOAXRP came to enter our world. Her form was made up of the same bright, bubbly, watery substance as the tunnel but more colored like a human. This manifestation was different from the moonfaced figure I received the last time I evoked this Senior but the demeanor was the same. It seemed my contact with Fire had refined my ability to project any angel.

She led me into the tunnel and through to the in between reality. It was a dark, empty place except for a pedestal on which was a square box, open at the top. Brilliant white light shone from within. The angel told me to place my hands on this table. The light shone from between my fingers as I touched it.

She said that this energy was the potential behind all coherent reality but that I wasn't ready to tap into it because of my conscious focus on myself. I needed to loosen up and extend my sense of self to reach through other self to realize the universal potential energy. All the angels were clear on this point.

So far, my contact with the other self in my mind/aura has only begun to foster a sense of overall unity of perspective. The sense of separateness between self and other remains very strong. Slowly, these barriers are becoming permeable in all my magical work. Greater success will bring greater connection and make of my whole being a conduit for the Light of Life to reach physicality.

My partner's vision remained focused on the shining Water pervading the temple and every object therein. She told me that this connecting principle was the basis for all perception.

This link of transpersonal consciousness enabled the human mind to perceive material objects. Physical signals such as light, pressure waves through the air, etc., were actually incidental, unable of themselves to promote perception. I speculate that if the frequency of an object's consciousness conduction was significantly different from that with which the human mind normally deals, that object would be totally imperceptible by humans on any level. It would be entirely outside their reality. Indeed, all of life is an interchange of circuiting consciousness. Manipulation of that process can yield profound ability to alter personal experience.

Our visions ended with LAOAXRP returning through the Water tunnel. My partner and I then closed the temple in due form. We both marveled at how real and powerful the Enochian entities are. Time after time, participants in these ceremonies report similar phenomena and appearances. The language of the angels channels an objectively real presence, whether it is from an excitation of the collective aura of the evoking magicians or an independent being from beyond the world answers the Call. The force of consciousness is real and can be manipulated at will, the ultimate occult force.

Wednesday, March 1, 2000

I've come to a greater understanding of what LAOAXRP was telling me last Sunday and why the Jupiter Senior of Water told me I wasn't yet ready to evoke the Water King. The expansion of consciousness involved with Water involves far more than simply becoming aware of the vast field of impersonal being from which the personal mind emerges. Remaining centered on ego identity prevents the circulation of psychic relationships from encompassing the entire auric ground. To fully realize the true nature of Water is to shift identity from the personal to the impersonal perspective, from self as locked within a body to the self that freely oscillates between the ego and the non ego. Apparently, the result of this transition is to realize a sense of self that transcends mind and body to experience a cosmic participation and presence. So far, I've only been able to catch flashes of this vast expansion of the conscious circuit. These revelations have been relaxing, releasing, and ecstatic. I need to make many more connections between my personal mind and its auric basis before achieving smooth flow of identity from the one to the other. Then, I'll be ready to take full advantage of contact with the Water King and reach the latent Fire within the other elements.

LSRAHPM – Mars Senior of Water
Sunday, March 26, 2000

Today's workshop went exceptionally well for both my magical partner and I. Group ritual has a charm and an effectiveness that solitary working can't match. Being in a chamber full of magicians performing highly orchestrated magical ritual is an awesome experience that nothing can compare to for sheer power and spiritual transcendence. Even with just one other person, a ceremony is enhanced to a great degree. The benefit to each participant, as well as the development of the involved group mind, is far reaching. This greater psychic acceleration improves solitary working a very great deal.

My transcendent experience began during the purification of the temple as part of the opening ceremony. I suddenly became aware of the underlying cause of my short temper in a vivid way. A vision spontaneously unfolded in my mind as I performed the ritual actions of temple purification, which clearly brought about dramatic personal cleansing. My imagination revealed a scene of raging, hot fire stabbing outward and then retreating. This activity was repeated over and over again, showing an imbalance of expression of Will. I was able to withstand the impact of this personal revelation but almost went deep into trance during the Opening by Watchtower. Fortunately, my years of experience with magically enhanced states of consciousness enabled me to keep my wits about me and finish the preliminary ritual. LSRAHPM was evoked effectively in due form.

My inner vision of physical activity revealed an outpouring of the same bright, bubbly water from the Water tablet as what appeared during the last workshop evocation. This time, instead of a spiral, there were two coherent streams flooding into the temple. One current went clockwise and the other went counterclockwise. The two streams encircled the magical workplace as they crisscrossed each other in complex patterns. These patterns came to cover the whole temple. It seemed as if an object of more than three dimensions had entered physical space. The changes in pattern that occurred over time showed the object's full extent.¹³

With this outer vision going on, I entered into inward trance to see a figure similar to the one from the last time I called the Mars Senior of Water. To my surprise, he called me stupid for summoning him again since I already received his full vision and message. I told him of the necessity for this, to teach my student. He readily agreed with me, changing his harsh tone immediately. This accommodating behavior made me suspect that the being before my mind's eye was not the angel I'd evoked but rather a personal projection. I exited this trance and returned to physical perception. The watery streams continued pouring out of the Western Watchtower to crisscross across my living room. Then the real angel came out of the tablet with the streams and walked to a spot in front of me, just as the Fire angels did. It seems my evocation abilities are improving as I continue this course of magical training.

The angel directed the Water currents to flow through me and I was completely inundated by the force - body, mind, and spirit. This extreme purification enabled me to perceive more clearly than before the source of my short temper as a habit of defective use of my Will, my ability to assert on all levels of consciousness. My Will is my entire being focusing on one point in physical, psychic, or conceptual space and pushing, asserting, emphasizing, and then relaxing. An activation is made and then the Will is withdrawn to allow a chain reaction to continue, resulting in psychic and physical manipulation. This holistic assertion power is what the true self uses to activate the brain cells that control body movements, speech, and memory. The unconscious Will controls the autonomic nervous system with this force. Unbalanced use of the Will causes violent psychic and physical reactions which result in unhealthy behavior, such as short temper. Repeated episodes of these reactions habituate into unconscious complexes and become so regularized as to occur regardless of conscious intention. A great deal of willpower is needed to break up these unpleasant psychic programs.

LSRAHPM and I did our best to wash the fire and inundate the old patterns of unbalanced forcing forward and then relaxing pattern. The flash fires eased somewhat and eventually disappeared from vision. Healed with this blessing, I returned to the physical level of perception.¹⁴

My magical partner's vision was even more intense than mine. Her vision began with a giant snake with a warrior woman carrying a sword riding on its head, between the eyes, appearing before her mind's eye. She told my partner that she was the force that propelled the semen in ejaculation, which forced out the baby during birth, and other such movements that forced matter through the courses of the body. When asked to explain further, the warrior woman grabbed my partner's hair and cut her head off with the sword. Fortunately, my partner was able to control her panic and continue with the vision after that point. Her years of yoga really paid off in this Work.

My partner perceived an enormous gushing of blood through her neck and up to the ceiling, where it disappeared.¹⁵ Then, a stem grew out of her neck and her head became a lotus flower which sprouted from that stem. Her head was the centerpiece of the blossom. In this forceful way, my partner reached impersonal consciousness.

Her vision directly corresponds to certain Kundalini visions I've had, where my entire body became the central stamen of a vast lotus, an eighth chakra, whose myriad interdimensional petals were projections of my aura. Much is shared during group magick. While I'm inducing the nature and intensity of her visions to an extent, it is her mind that is channeling and processing the energy. The lessons she's learning are relevant to her life. She claims to be very happy with her breakthrough and continues to be eager for more. That we'll both get when next time we evoke the Saturn Senior of Water.

SONIZNT – Mercury Senior of Water

SLGAIOIOL – Venus Senior of Water

Sunday, April 16, 2000

I enjoyed excellent communion with the Mercury and Venus Seniors of Water. My hope in evoking more Water Seniors before returning to the Fire tablet is to continue the purification of my Will, begun by the Mars Senior. One of the great satisfactions of solitary work is the ability to chart a course independent of other people's curricula, readjusting the order of operations at will. This should help me channel angelic Fire in a more balanced way in future. As usual, I got more than I bargained for.

The angels appeared in front of me and in my mind. The inner picture of their physical and psychic manifestations was clear and bright. There was no darkness obscuring anything. I could see their entire bodies.

SONIZNT instructed me in the proper use of Will. The three part process to best generate and project Will force is to transcend, receive, and call forth as the All, utilizing the entirety of existence to support the projection. Nothing short of a universal focusing of Will-force is balanced. Thus, any effort by the ego is doomed to failure. Ultimately, it's the entire universe that conjures magick. The human part is just along for the ride.

This angel's blessing consisted of helping to connect my nervous system with the transcendent reality that underlay all existence. He said I was ready to receive the All.

SLGAIOIOL appeared as a voluptuous blonde beauty, not at all the incomprehensible, disembodied face I've perceived in previous visions of her. She entered my body and sexually aroused me every bit as intensely as the Venus Senior of Air had done. She opened up a transcendent space in my mind wherein she appeared set against a hyperintense blue background. White flowers covered the edges of the scene. I perceived myself as the great lotus, the eighth chakra, with my vision body as the stamen in the center. The angel shone life giving rays on me like a sun does on a flower. A great, gorgeous, brilliant sun she was.

The angel told me that love for a woman could reveal that which I couldn't see in myself. A whole new revelation could be realized by such contact. Romance could be a part of the Path every bit as important as the most profound vision. Sex charged with love is a special force that could readily project in the holistic way recommended by SONIZNT. Ultimately, all expressions of Will result from usage of the sex force. This is why it is vital for any magician to properly understand and channel his/her sexuality in a healthy way. To reinforce her message, she bestowed her blessing on me by intensifying her magnificent image. My every nerve and thought were inundated by the ecstasy. This beauteous, beatific vision still comes readily to mind, even after the evocation has ended.¹⁶

LIGDISA – Saturn Senior of Water
 Sunday, April 30, 2000

Today's workshop went very well for both my magical partner and I. We evoked LIGDISA, Saturn Senior of Water. Surprisingly, the contact was loving and gentle, rather than cold and frightening, as one might expect from a Saturnian Water power. However, our visions were awesome in scope. We each received similar teachings from this angel, although they were worded differently to suit the receiver. The message involved the primary mystery of elemental Water, the contradictory nature of the source of consciousness as creator and created in one being. My partner had difficulty grasping this paradox and was given a meditation to help her understand. I was shown a vision of the circuit of consciousness as a progression of concentric metallic cylinders, each taller and wider than the ones it contained. They were concentric vertically as well as horizontally, yielding the impression of a parabolic dish on each side of the construct.

At first, LIGDISA introduced himself as the tendency which focused the patterns of the universe to form me. He was the instigator of my being, all that I know myself to be. A band of metallic light formed around my head at the level of my forehead at the same time the system of cylinders appeared to my mind's eye. I was looking outside and inside of them at the same time. I am the instigator and result of my being, the becoming of my consciousness. The cylinders form an evergrowing system that expands as my life experiences grow and complexifies my mind.

As my appreciation of the meaning and significance of these visions grew, the cylinders increased to enter an in between state, the infinite realm between pure mind and matter. Eventually, the outermost cylinders seemed to enter physical space and hovered above my head like a great helmet. My aura rose to meet them, my headband of metallic light linking with the interdimensional system of psychic projection levels. My inner visual sense became filled with metallic colored energy and a profound sense of oneness with all being, all that was, is and shall be, came over me. The great power of that oneness was palpable to all of my physical and metaphysical senses. By sheer configuration, the synergy of all existence is supremely powerful, paradoxically creating and being created by everything everywhere every when.

With my understanding complete, the transcendent connection withdrew and I returned to my normal state of waking psychic functioning. My partner and I banished and closed the temple in due form. We discussed our experiences in great detail over dinner.

Overall, the intensity of this angel and his message was awesome. However, the supercharge yielded by evocation of the Fire angels was noticeably lacking in this as well as the other Water angel contacts. As complete as the nature of Water is, Fire is its necessary correlate. Water is pure being in its wholeness, diversity, and tendency to form, but Fire is the charge of Will that drives and ensouls the entire process. I now feel ready to return to the Fire tablet and am eager to face the Mars Senior of Fire.

Wednesday, May 3, 2000

The full meaning of last Sunday's evocation has come to me. I am that angel. I am LIGDISA as well as all the other angels I've evoked. I exist both inside and outside my body as well as the states in between. I am the instigator and resultant of my being, the image of myself. I feel the spectrum of existence and becoming, spanning the conditions from inside my mind to outside my body. Each state appears to my mind's eye as a band of force, a projection of Will that manifests some distance away from the point of emanation. The several levels of projection come together as the system of concentric cylinders as revealed during last Sunday's vision. Integration among these bands produces profound synergy and spiritual transcendence, the revelation of new states of being, multi-state experience. Feelings of oneness with all things follow this expansion of consciousness, this psychedelic experience.

My progression through the elements reflects the development of this understanding. Earth showed the material side of my being, my attachments to circumstances and personal psychic programs. The source of material being and evolution was revealed as the interdimensional cosmic spiral. Air revealed the force of my life, the vast spectrum of mental potential from personal attitudes to the human collective consciousness. Fusion of these perspectives enabled a leap in understanding and psychic functioning which revealed a greater wholeness to my existence. All that I know myself to be is but a drop in a vast field of potential for experience, impersonal consciousness, Water. This is the interdimensional field of my aura, the architect of my life and the product of all my incarnate experience. Of course, nothing happens without the impulse of pure Will to quicken the whole construct into activity, the ever flowing rush of Fire. A greater fusion involving all four elements will no doubt yield the transcendent metaconsciousness that is Spirit, the All/Naught which produces and destroys organic existence. The mystery and purpose of life will stand revealed.

RAAGIOSL – King of Water
 Sunday, June 4, 2000

My magical partner and I held another Enochian magical workshop today. We evoked RAAGIOSL, great King of the West and Water. My partner had a dramatic breakthrough in consciousness by her first contact with this truly awesome being. She became aware of herself as a fundamental functioning part of the universe as a whole. I believe this to be Briatic consciousness, transcending any image or concept, completely beyond the earthbound psyche of the ego and its ideals.

For my part, I was told once again that I wasn't ready to achieve the full vision of the great King. Not even my most exalted Briatic states of consciousness were enough to truly represent him in vision. No image could do justice to his majesty and might. I suspect that a whole new faculty of consciousness is needed to efficiently process this tremendous contact. The only clue RAAGIOSL could give me was an experience of my entire being, personal and impersonal, as one coherent whole. There was no vision to this. My interpretation of the King's message is that I must learn to function at the cosmic level as efficiently as what I can now do at the personal level. I have far to go along the Path before I become able to function at such an exalted, superhuman level. The message from my first evocation of this entity has even more import for me now than ever before.

Sunday, July 2, 2000

I've just had my last workshop with my magical partner.

We covered some technical points of the temple ceremonial. She told me she needed a break to fully explore the wonders and revelations of our Water angel evocations as well as to work more indepth with Raja Yoga. Yoga has been her primary path for nine years. If her Work brings her back to this type of magical practice, our workshops can resume. Otherwise, she has some new tools to pursue her own course. In the meantime, I'll continue alone on my way through the magick of John Dee's Enochian system.

CHAPTER VI

VISIONS OF THE GREAT SOUTHERN WATCHTOWER OF FIRE

FIRST ROUND

ANODOIN – Mercury Senior of Fire
Sunday, January 30, 2000

I have evoked ANODOIN, Mercury Senior of Fire, as my first evocation from the great Watchtower of the South, with full temple ceremonial. The energies of this manifestation didn't overwhelm me, as with the first contact with the Water tablet. The impression was quite different. The background Fire element appeared to my inner sense as a fiery red field of light, apparently made up of blocks of gelatinous cubes of red-orange firelight. ANODOIN himself appeared as an interdimensional current of rushing Fire that spiraled into my living room from beyond the confines of space and time. Nothing impinged on my sense of sight but the presence of the angel's movement was very clear to me. My imagination interpreted this otherworldly contact as a spiral of Fire with a face at the tip. The only other times I've achieved such palpable contact with higher dimensions were when I was evoking the elemental Kings. Here was an essence of pure magick, undiluted by worldly conditions, such as formed the other elements. The flow of power was noticeably outside my body, rather than entering physicality through my psyche. The sensations on my skin and aura were more distinct than with any other spiritual contact yet experienced.

ANODOIN taught me that there are three types of Fire: transcendent, internal, and external. These refer to the different dimensional modalities in which the life energy may manifest: the mind, the space surrounding the physical body, and the higher dimensions beyond space and time. Unite all three to evoke magick, that is, bind together the different states of being into one continuous interdimensional flow. Projection of psychic energy into physical reality is the process of evocation, of magick itself.

The angel told me to follow him and he tried to lead me out of my body to go someplace else. Try as I might, I was unable to leave my physical body behind so I prepared a psychic space in my imagination for the spirit to enter me. He took on a more complete form here, although his being remained part of the interdimensional current that spiraled outside my body and beyond the physical. His appearance was that of a conventional angelic figure but consisting totally of flames. His voice was like that of an ordinary human male.

Together, we entered into a deep space scene and from there to a beach of dark sand at night. The black ocean waters spread out to the horizon, purely still and shiny like a mirror. ANODOIN said that there was no Fire here except that everything was made of Fire, even Water. Next, we visited a stormy Air scene, an infinite sky filled with dark clouds. The angel said that Air carries Fire. Make the Air to flow smoothly to allow the Fire to be steady and coherent. We then visited a dark, waterless land. The teaching here was that Fire exists as potential within Earth but Earth was incapable of activating its internal Fire. Outside influence was needed to bring out this hidden principle.¹

The next destination in our whirlwind tour of the elemental planes was the deep space scene where we started our journey. Here in the element Spirit, Fire is everywhere, free flowing and unlimitedly expansive, fully actualized, inherent in every point of space, and shining brightly from every star. The beginning of all things, all elements, was here.

The angel brought me to a great pillar of flaming Fire that reached far above and below me, out of sight. Every spot in this immensity was a flame, yet all the flames were part of one coherent Fire that flowed and yet was perfectly stable in its place. The wonder of this revelation was greater than anything I'd ever experienced before. ANODOIN told me that this pillar upheld the entire universe. All things had their being by its mighty influence.

I realized then that this amazing psychic manifestation was the culmination of the rise of my Kundalini, which had first occurred spontaneously back in 1991.² What had been a tremendous magical part of my being now encompassed and contained me. I was now a part of it, a part of a new level of psyche that reached beyond the limits of the four dimensions of space and time. Connections with the universe as a whole had been forged and made strong in this fiery cosmic pillar of Kundalini. My evocation of this angel of Fire had brought the process of integration of my nervous system, which focused on my spinal column, to a grand new fruition. The alchemical metals, my chakras, had been fused into a philosophical gold that carried me away to a new inner reality, far closer to the cosmos than the human norm. I was now a receiver and transmitter of interdimensional signals that revealed a new plane of existence, stamped with the face of my soul. My consciousness could now expand in this grand new direction, transmuting into an ever more perfect image of the macrocosm.

Filled with this realization, I asked ANODOIN for his blessing and he put his flaming hand over my head, palm down. Flames erupted all over my psychic body, nourishing my every nerve and fiber. A sense of total peace and fulfillment imbued every thought and sensation. In this beatific state, I exited the vision and closed the temple in due form.

So it is revealed that Fire is the primary interdimensional force which constitutes all space, time, matter, energy, and consciousness. The whole of existence is woven from its spiraling patterns. Space itself is a form of subtle energy that can be contacted and manipulated. By the influence of Fire, all incarnate life arises out of the background of matter, an emergence of higher order reflecting the truth of transcendent states of being. Greater assimilation of the Fire principle is the key to all mystical and magical development. So far, I have touched the transcendent and internal fires but the external fire still eludes me. Much greater psychic and auric energization is needed to enable me to contact and utilize this other-self energy. No doubt, I will learn a great deal from the angels of Fire so I'll evoke them one at a time, with great care. The spirits are the best teachers of magick, projections of the magician's own superconsciousness.

AAPDOCE – Venus Senior of Fire
Sunday, February 13, 2000

I've evoked AAPDOCE, Venus Senior of Fire, in due form. Afterwards, I rushed out to a restaurant for dinner, hoping that food would help to ground the enormous magical energy charging my aura. The angel was definitely the most highly energized being I've ever called. The whole experience was sublime and left my aura operating at a higher level of vibration than ever before. Even after eating a solid meal, I can feel the subtle, hot energy flowing through my aura and nervous system. Eating usually does more to ground me than this. I'll have to wait for the effect to dissipate over time.

The vision began during the utterance of the Fire call. My inner spatial sense perceived the letters of the southern Watchtower distort and flow together to form a red, glowing triangular pyramid (a tetrahedron) covering the tablet. Although there was no physically visual change, my sense of the movement around me resolved an image of a vibrant, red, flaming tetrahedron, a true emblem of Fire.

AAPDOCE appeared to my inner sense as soon as I sat down to contact her. She leaped in a stream of vibrant red light from the tablet, as did ANODOIN, but this time the angel appeared as a whole person in my psychic space. She had long, curly, red hair and reddish white skin. Her face was young, beautiful, and mischievous. She wore a red Grecian style gown. She was kind and gentle and instructed me in the mysteries of Fire.

As she began to speak, my inner hearing registered a loud vibration along with her pseudohuman voice. It was androgynous in character and of a pitch higher than my own voice. The physical space surrounding my body, my entire field of inner vision, and the spaces in between, all seemed to vibrate with this extremely reverberated utterance. The angel told me to hear the voice of Fire.

I here note that sound has played little part in most of my visions to date. That inner sense has never before been properly integrated with my mind's eye. Achieving the intensity and clarity of such an unusual audible perception was a great breakthrough. Here was a sound that connected all the dimensions of my personal experience as one space. My superconscious projection was introducing me to a whole new reality, even beyond the one revealed by the Mercury Senior of Fire. It seems these Fire angels would take me much farther into the transcendence than any previous elemental contact.

Eventually, the interdimensional sound stopped. I asked the angel to teach me to project my Will into the world. Her answer was to project in three stages. The first stage is the stage of Salt, the stage of focus. The second stage is of Mercury, of transcendence. The third stage is of Sulfur, of emanation. These three processes must be integrated for successful projection of Will. I must focus my magical attention on the object that is to receive the impress of my Will, whether it is a talisman, a sigil, or some item to be consecrated. Then, I must extend my magically charged aura to encompass and interpenetrate the patient of my operation. Finally, I must project a stream of my will from my innermost core contradiction of self through the myriad partial, fractional dimensions which separate my mind from the physical world. This stream must enter the human scale of physical reality to infuse the object. My aura bridges this multifaceted gulf and opens up paths of potential realization through which my magical projection can flow to reach the recipient of my intention. Its etheric double receives this personal psychic image and is transformed by it, subtly altering the nature of the physical object. Making this interdimensional connection is the key to effectively projecting the Fire of Will. The magical link is hereby established and a cross section of the whole of spacetime comes to be incorporated into the aurically expanded interdimensional gestalt. Mind, matter, and cosmos become more intimately connected, fulfilling the ultimate purpose, the Great Work.

I asked for the angel's blessing and she gently caressed my cheeks, producing no physical sensation but rather a feeling of comfort. A red tinge filled my aura, hot and pulsating, yet stable. My aura soon took on a more coherent and solid form and was thoroughly energized. She kissed me several times but I wasn't sexually aroused by this, being rather a quiet receptacle for the impress of her Will. I was the patient of her magical operation.

The angel said that her function was the force of Fire, whereas the function of the Mercury Senior of Fire was the form of Fire. Indeed, Fire is carried effectively in streams which create fields of Fire, such as auras. These fields in turn project the Fiery streams of which they are constituted, conditioning them and weaving them into higher states of order. The streams are then shot forth to carry more specific images of Will. The field/stream duality corresponds to the complimentary natures of Nuit and Hadit, the purifying and consecrating officers in a Golden Dawn style temple, and especially the ideas conveyed by the Thelemic LVX signs of the Whirling Star and the Rising Serpent.³ These two correlate opposite perspectives of existence are integrated by symbols such as Ra Hoor Khuit and the Sign of the Triumphant One. Real transformative power is applied by the whirlings and rushings of Fire.

ALNDVOD – Luna Senior of Fire
Sunday, March 19, 2000

I've evoked ALNDVOD, Luna Senior of Fire, with somewhat disappointing results. The angel appeared from out of the tetrahedron that formed in and around the Fire tablet at a spot right in front of me, having the same intensity as the other angelic evocations of this element. My auric energy dramatically intensified with this contact.

ALNDVOD was male and spoke in a very deep, raspy voice. He told me to follow the spiral of Fire through all the interdimensional spaces, which I did in my vision. This ultimate creative principle consists everything in existence, from atoms to galaxies. The whole universe on all scales is part of this infinitely complex, ever whirling spiral. Nothing else really exists except the unlimited curling pattern.

The angel then attempted to reveal to me the true appearance of the physical world as made up entirely of the great spiral but all I saw was a black background with tiny red lights shining throughout the vision. He told me that I wasn't ready to achieve this vision because I'm too centered on my ego. My identity must be loosened from my personal experience in the body and reach out to the various other dimensions of reality before I could appreciate the full vision of the great spiral. The concept of the prime pattern was clear to me but direct contact with such transcendent truth was beyond my ability to encompass and imagine. The psychic energy was more than I could withstand, being limited by my self image as within a body. The mental complexity needed to model such metaphysical sensations was lacking.

The Senior said that my expansion beyond self as ego must occur slowly, over a long time. I needed to be patient but it would happen eventually. Until then, my access of consciousness would be limited.

Interestingly, there were several technical and performance problems during the temple opening. The Air and Earth votive candles went out and I was unable to get the Air candle relit. Fumbling with it resulted in my spilling wax all over my altar cloth and carpet. I had difficulty concentrating throughout the ceremony, as if I were in a daze. It was as if I was feeling the effects of the evocation before actually performing it. After banishing the angel and closing the temple, I could feel a fierce fire flowing upward through my aura, a flaming Kundalini unlike anything before experienced. Nothing came close to it for intensity or vibrancy. Eating dinner helped to ease this torrent a bit. The effect wore off in time.

Once again, I've been told by the angels, my greatest superconscious projections, that I'm not ready to penetrate the deepest mysteries of the elements. At this stage of my development, I'm too ego bound to achieve the full vision of transcendent impersonal reality. Several repetitions of this training will likely be needed to reach its full potential. For now, I'll be patient and finish this round of Watchtower evocations, including the five Spirit angels of the Tablet of Union.

Wednesday, March 22, 2000

I continue to feel the torrent of fire in my nervous system, gained during last Sunday's evocation/initiation. The angel actually entered my aura, sitting down inside me to bestow his blessing. I must be careful not to overcharge myself. This element is more powerful than any magick I've ever experienced, including all the ceremonial initiations bestowed by the magical schools with which I've been involved. It'll take some time for the new energy to become fully settled in my aura. Already, it has become fairly well distributed. Complete balance will bring relief from the supercharge.

AAETPIO – Mars Senior of Fire
Sunday, May 14, 2000

I've evoked AAETPIO, Mars Senior of Fire, to excellent effect. The psychic charge was awesome but I handled it well throughout the ceremony and contact. I was able to maintain my concentration and composure by willpower and discipline while the torrent of Fire charged through my mind and aura. My recent meditations on emotion control and stoic acceptance of material circumstance have enabled me to channel energies that are far more intense than I've ever felt before. My angelic magical projection was done at the Netzach level.

The temple opening and conjuration were more intense than usual. Visualization of the inner plane temple, the intercirculating torus of light set in a deep space setting, was remarkably vivid and tangible. The various god forms and magical sigils traced in the air during the opening rite maintained themselves clearly on the astral. The entire temple seemed to buzz with energy.

The Mars Senior of Fire leapt out of the great Southern Quadrangle as soon as I completed my conjuration. The angel's form was a vast, long, red dragon with an entire male human body for a head. This beast of energy followed me to my seat of meditation where I opened myself to the superconscious contact. The dragon's body continued to stream out of the Fire Tablet until it encircled the entire temple space. Unimaginable expanses of this entity remained within the interdimensional vistas beyond the southern watchtower. In this state, our souls touched.

AAETPIO stood over me and said, "The might of Fire is the Name of God." I felt intense torrents of red power coming to me from all outward and inner directions. The very intensity seemed to roar like a lion but there was no impression of sound. Then, the discourse of Fire began as the red energy coalesced into a great transdimensional tetrahedron, inside my mind and outside my body as one object.

The circle of cosmos focuses itself to a point. This point is a core contradiction that formulates a triangle, the projection of the circle. The triangle extends itself into a tetrahedron, passing from spacetime into space and time. This seed casts reflections of itself that form tight spiral patterns which extend throughout the cosmos that formed it. The crisscrossing interconnections and interferences of these projective currents constitute all matter and energy. Everything derives from this tetrahedral seed whose central point is the source of all pattern and possibility. All changes in state, all time, begin here. The instigator of creation is the instigator of incarnate consciousness. The universe and the self is one being in different states of becoming.⁴

I asked for the angel's blessing and his head/human body sat down inside mine. My entire aura shone with intense red light. Even my feet became physically hot; an effect which continued for some time after the Senior left me. I was not overwhelmed, however, but remained relaxed and endured the initiation. I channeled the fiery Mars energy fully. My attunement to angelic Fire is complete.

ADOEOET – Jupiter Senior of Fire
Sunday, May 28, 2000

I've just evoked ADOEOET, Jupiter Senior of Fire, to enlightening effect. He appeared to me as a mighty angel with a mature male face, huge white wings, and a red robe. The whole figure was colored like The Emperor card in Aleister Crowley's Thoth tarot deck. I handled the presence of the angel well and feel calm now. I haven't even gone to dinner yet, so at ease do I feel with the awesome forces of Fire. Grounding with food isn't necessary.

The angel told me that I wasn't yet ready to use the knowledge that he was going to give me but he told me anyway. There is a continuing stress throughout all existence, the result of the balancing between the forces that impel everything to return to the original state of all in all as one and the forces that maintain the current coherent state of separateness. This subtle energy gives rise to the potential of Fire. Its realization in the realms of mind and action is Fire.

I must learn to tap into the source of Fire, feel that ultimately subtle, stabilizing conflict of energies and realize it by an act of Will projection, imposing my own pattern onto the background of my contact with that great potential. Circumstances of the material world conform to such magical projections when they are made with sufficient intensity. The conflicting all-existent potential is the occult force of magick. Its full utilization yields unlimited power. The visions of the spiral/cylinder configurations indicate initial contact with the source of Fire.

Once again, a Jupiter Senior has told me I wasn't yet ready to handle his message and nature. Something of the Jupiter quality must be lacking in my psychic makeup. Greater maturity can only come with time. Auric complexity must develop slowly over the long years of life. For now, I'll learn and grow all I can.

ARINNAP – Saturn Senior of Fire
 Sunday, June 18, 2000

I have evoked ARINNAP, Saturn Senior of Fire, to good effect. Even during the opening, I could sense the building up of extremely intense, white brilliance pervading the magical workplace. Signs and symbols that were drawn in the air took shape in physical space,⁵ my mindspace, and the vision of the far horizon wherein the Cosmic Temple visualization takes place. Profound magical force was called and shaped by my ceremonial.

Upon conjuring ARINNAP, I perceived by inner vision my own face appear within the Fire tablet. It emerged into my space, taking on three dimensions, while streams of red light poured into the subtle dimension of the temple. These currents encircled the workplace as the angel wearing my face followed me to my place of meditation. His body was very like the Jupiter Senior of Fire but without wings. He sat down inside my body and communicated to me by speech and images in my mind.

He told me about Fire as the ultimate source and instigator of all being and experience. There is a constant state of power surge throughout all of space and time, like a perpetual light scintillating everywhere at each point and overall. It is the ultimate on-ness, the oneness of All. This state is the natural correlate to the state of nothingness, no existence or tendency thereto, off-ness. The perpetual flow of ever burning life and light is the source of all substance. It evolves the intelligence which causes the forces of creation to generate that substance. Human consciousness consists of an emanation from this Fire, fixed on a particular experience to produce personal consciousness. Both presences, subject and object, work to formulate the events of space and time.

Each material object depends from the higher reality that produces it by myriad interconnections, those spirals within spirals I've seen in other interdimensional visions. These connections branch to every other object and every other connection, forming a network of links at every level of being. This describes Aleister Crowley's star sponge vision and explains the various phenomena of magick as action at a distance. Healing or cursing by direct influence or transplantation is also explained.

Great sensitivity is needed to be able to chart the courses of these various magical links and to discern how such occult potentials can be harnessed. The tapestry woven by these most subtle webs of relationship is the main subject of ancient thaumaturgy and alchemy. It is the ethereal plane, the Plastic Mediator, the Soul of the World, the life force. Understanding the nature of these flows of pure information is the goal of the magician, the discovery of the signatures and correspondences of nature.

This penetrating perception may be developed over time by following a magical training regimen that reveals the Fire interconnections of the mind and body. As the mind becomes integrated through meditation and ceremonial practice, so the nervous system becomes integrated with the mind. All the cells in the body follow suit, along with the aura as a whole. The myriad circumstances of time and space likewise follow the magical projective efforts of one so attuned to the underlying substrate of nature. The mysteries of mind, matter, and the states in between reveal themselves to the accomplished adept.

As this understanding grew in my psyche, the angel took off my face like a mask to reveal his true appearance. His face was very ugly and demonic but there was no trace of evil or malice. He had taken on my appearance for the sake of my peace of mind but at this point in the evocation, I was ready to face his truth. Saturn is often ugly in its impersonal cosmic nature. It is completely inhuman.

With his message and blessing fully conveyed, I gave the angel license to depart and then closed the temple with all due ceremonial. I felt no particular energization after the evocation, as I sometimes do after a Fire conjuration. However, on my way to dinner, a profound sense of ARINNAP's white fire came over me. It was very subtle but intense, on the verge of becoming overwhelming. The effect wore off over time and was completely gone by the time my dinner was served. There were no further upsurges in energy after that. My attunement to this power is accomplished. I feel ready to call the Fire King.

EDLPRNAA – King of Fire
Sunday, July 9, 2000

On this seventeenth anniversary of my arrival in Los Angeles, CA to start my adult life, I've achieved the evocation of EDLPRNAA, great King of the South, elemental King of Fire, the single most powerful magical experience of my entire life. No other ritual or ceremonial initiation bestowed by any of the magical orders in which I've participated has ever come close to this reality altering revelation. I have successfully taken my magical life into my own hands and surpassed everything that has gone before. This completes the higher track of Enochian angelic evocation of the Watchtower series and establishes me as a master of the elements of the creation of my own being. The next and last step of this regimen is to evoke the five angels of the Tablet of Union, whose names are read from the columns. All the elemental powers are integrated into a cohesive unity of Spirit. Once this long track of thirty-three angelic evocations is complete, an Enochian oriented Bornless Ritual to conjure the Holy Guardian Angel will crown all efforts.

The appearance of the Fire King was truly awesome. He didn't come out of the tablet but rather focused in from every point in the space of my magical workplace. His gigantic face, of the light red color of the Fire angels, took up the entire floor, his body extending far beyond space and time. He reached into my mind's inner perceiver, impressing all within with a mighty presence, and said that in order to wield the powers of Fire, I had to pass three tests. First, I had to be found worthy. To do this, I would have to pass a test of courage, go somewhere and commune with all that was, is, and shall be to show my ability to call upon Fire, and be able to control what I evoke from Fire. The second test was in Will and the third test was in emotional control.

As this was being told to me, I noticed that little fiery spirals began to appear all around me, perceivable by the inner sense of ambience and visual impression. They were like tiny tornadoes of fire, spinning rapidly, the currents of flame whirling in spiral patterns up and down the funnel shapes. When the King's speech was finished, space itself erupted with these elementals. Even the in between space became filled with them. I then realized that the King's tests had begun. The first thing I did was to control my alarm and fear of the sudden torrential manifestation. I embraced their existence and took control of my psychic functioning which was channeling these whirling elementals. This aspect of my mind had been operating unconsciously until this point but was now brought to the fore through contact with the Fire King.

I confidently took control of my ability to call forth these fiery Salamanders. Their realization was an activation of potentials that exist at every point of space and time and beyond. These potentials arise from the connection between each point of existence and the wholeness of all things. The little gates open up to that which is outside of all this, a supercosmos that is the source of True Will and the birthplace of the universe. This greater Truth is the source of transcendent impersonal consciousness.

Once in control of the fiery projection and summoning process, I found myself able to guide the movements of the elementals into recognizable patterns. The flame funnels were all over me and inside me but answered readily to my control. The subtle and constant expansion of the universe produced more of the Fire elementals, generating more potential everywhere every second. They were raw becoming, ever increasing with the cosmic expansion.

This explains why transcendent visions involve the depiction of such huge size. The wholeness of things is realized and portrayed in actualization, a higher dimensional principle squeezed into a vision of three dimensional space. Something completely beyond normal human experience is given a dream image by subconsciousness and then merged with self consciousness to build superconsciousness.

In this way, I passed all the tests of worthiness. I proved my courage in the face of the inundating torrent of the Fire elementals' manifestation in mind and aura. I was able to raise my consciousness to a higher reality, the supercosmos, in gaining control of my psychic faculties which determined how and where the raw powers of Fire were called forth from the all potential. The Salamanders were mine to control as their king.

Upon my realization of the higher reality, home of True Will, EDLPRNAA's booming voice came into my mind and said that Fire exists at all points, at all times, and reaches beyond to the next level of existence. I began to feel the boundaries of my being expand to encompass the Fire space and to perceive a vast fire-colored spiral, only one section of which was the universe of space and time that humanity calls home. Curling inward from the Fire was the cosmic coherence of Water, spacetime, which contained all the stars and planets and the personal levels of consciousness. The spiral also extended outward from the physical universe and I could feel my consciousness being carried along its supercosmic track. Every curl of this megacreative principle contained another universe of possible experience. Here was an ever moving spiral of Fire, in contradistinction to stable, spherical Water. It flowed against a background of the pure darkness of nonexistence, pure nonpotential, lack of tendency towards any state. However, off in the far distance, there seemed to be tiny dots of light, like stars. Perhaps they were all-creative spirals like the one creating and expanding me, but I couldn't tell for sure. After all, the potential for becoming is unlimited in scope. My Will and emotional impulses expanded in scope as I whirled up the interdimensional creative spiral, level by level. I had passed the test of Will.

I noticed that the impulse to create which propagated along the Fire spiral was similar in pattern to emotional impulses but operating on a much larger scale. Indeed, animal consciousness is the first manifestation of cosmic consciousness at the level of life on earth. Savage it is, born of the core contradiction which drives spacetime creation. Thus, emotional control may be expanded to control of the cosmic creative tendency, the cosmic connection of the Nephesh.

Animals are more in touch with natural forces and their own collectives than are humans. A well formed ego tends to be cut off from its cosmic source by its extreme focus on its personal experiences. Intellect is fostered by this state of mind but so is existential alienation, leading to disdain for the natural world, a true self denial. Rejoining the sense of self to the natural ground of subconsciousness, linking intellect to the dream faculty which enables spiritual vision, creates transcendent superconsciousness, which is the inherent psychic functioning of the new aeon. By using my Will to unfold megacreation intelligently, I passed the test of emotional control. I had proven myself to the great King of Fire.

The scene changed as my whole being made a quantum leap in expansion. I found myself in a reality of brilliant blue, where dancing flames of blue, red, and yellow moved all around me. Here was a purity of life I'd never experienced before. All trace of coherence was lost as the ecstasy of pure transcendence registered on every subtle sense. Here was the source of all consciousness, life in its proper setting, free of all conflict and contradiction, beyond all the illusion produced by contact with the world of matter. I joined myself to this pure energy and danced with the flames.

With this profound blessing fully received from the Fire King, I could feel that the time had come to return. I made my way back to the megaspiral and then to my personal section of it. Returning to the physical world, I banished the Fire elementals and their King and then closed the temple in due form. There was no residual sense of overcharge or uncontrolled torrents of energy afterwards. I had effectively channeled, controlled, and banished the Fire energy in its most intense and powerful form. The Spirit angels are next to be called.

CHAPTER VII

VISIONS OF THE GREAT TABLET OF UNION

FIRST ROUND

RMTO – Earth of Spirit
XCAI – Air of Spirit
Sunday, September 3, 2000

I've evoked RMTO, Earth of Spirit angel, and XCAI, Air of Spirit angel, from the Tablet of Union. There was no sense of anything new, any new energy or state of mind. It was as if the angels spoke from all previously discovered states at once, an integration of what already existed. Naturally, everything was dwarfed by the Fire state but all qualities were present. In truth, All is One is all.

At the very first, today's magick was more intense than usual. While waiting for the charcoal in the censor to heat up, I sat in the prepared temple and rehearsed the second Enochian call. An almost overwhelming sense of power developed which disturbed my concentration. I finished with difficulty and then went into another room of my apartment to try again. No unusual power was generated there. When the time came to begin my ceremony, I neglected to take the astral journey to my inner plane cosmic temple or perform the Middle Pillar Exercise, so disconcerted was I at so early a manifestation of magical energy.¹

I began with the LBRP² and my first Qabalistic Cross brought on an intense increase in the Kundalini flow up my back, a potent counterpoise to the downward flow of energy from the Cross.³ My aura expanded into the transcendent dimension far more effectively than any Middle Pillar Exercise had ever enabled. Without trying, I was transported to my inner plane cosmic temple, complete with all interdimensional connections. In this state, I completed the rest of the temple opening rituals and was able to call the angels from every level between mind and matter.

The angels appeared to me in all dimensional levels, from within my mind to outside my body and out to the cosmos, as classic angelic male figures, showing only their heads, upper torsos, arms, and wings. They seemed to have been made of pure starlight and passed through several states of absorption into and emanation from the background outer space. All is One is all.

RMTO told me that he was that which caused things to be and to disappear. He upheld the being of all that is and caused their obscuration. He revealed and hid all things in due course. Indeed, all manifestation contains a purely occult aspect, being but a projection of a higher dimensional reality. The manifest world and the occult world produced by the transdimensional projection exist side by side and are interrelated on a deep level. The world of sense cannot be understood without its occult counterpart. Matter and aethyr are mirror images, two sides of the same coin.

This evocation didn't tire me or stress me in any way so I proceeded with the next angel in the series, the Air of Spirit angel named XCAI. He expressed the mirror world of manifestation as mentioned by RMTO. The background outer space of my inner plane cosmic temple reversed color. Space became white and the stars shown black radiance. The angel was the dark star, shining in the uncomprehending darkness with the darkness that is light in its way. He was a true correlate to RMTO.

Both angels told me that they had been formed by the impress of my mind onto the transcendent light, the first time any of my projections recognized and announced themselves thus. They were cooperative and spoke as other angels have to me. Tablet of Union angel evocation is truly metalevel work.

I feel calm and relaxed now, after having banished and closed the temple. My nervous system withstood the angelic force perfectly. I haven't been brought to a new level of psychic intensity but rather achieved the integration of what has gone before. I am at the level of a Golden Dawn Portal initiate. Next time, I'll be ready for the Water and Fire of Spirit angels and maybe even complete this round of Watchtower evocations with the Spirit of Spirit angel. For now, I may contemplate the mysteries of the occult aspect of manifestation.

AONT – Water of Spirit
Sunday, September 24, 2000

I've evoked AONT, Water of Spirit angel of the Tablet of Union. The nature of this being/projection is so far beyond my consciousness that I failed to achieve full contact. In fact, as I sat down to commune with AONT, a voice in my head said that I'd failed to evoke the angel. My vision space opened to reveal coruscations of water that eventually formed a tunnel. This led me nowhere. There was nothing except water and darkness.

At length, a voice, different from the earlier one, said that I needed to evoke AONT in the dark of night, when my mind and the psychic space were quieter. Upon asking for a message, I heard that reality arose from pure potential in an on/off fashion. There is a phase of activity, where there is existence, and a phase of nothingness, where there is silence.⁴ I was reminded of a light bulb flashing on and off so quickly that it gives the illusion of continuous illumination. A face on the stream of water came from off in the distance and told me to try again later.

So, here is yet another duality the Spirit angels have introduced me to. To really understand human reality, one must understand the intermingling of being and nonbeing. In a psychic physics context, the flow of time moves through states of existence in a universe of order and physicality to states of nothingness as pure potential. Total oblivion awaits everything between one tick of the clock and the next. Underlying the web of conscious reality lay an infinity of a pregnant naught.

In order to understand the nature of AONT, I must be able to include the state of nonbeing, the off phase of consciousness, in my sense of self. So many of my magical and mystical operations are focused on exciting my consciousness in some way, using its functions at ever greater levels of intensity. The Water of Spirit angel is of the nature of silence. Active mind cannot experience pure silence, true Water. I must learn to be sensitive to the periods of silence inherent in existence. Action is useless for this as all action is merely noise. I need to evoke AONT in silence and be silent, whatever that entails. I'll try this in an informal ceremony later tonight with just the Tablet of Union and a candle as equipment.

I feel unsettled now. Even during the closing and dismantling of the temple, I had trouble concentrating. It feels like my inner center has dissolved and I've lost my psychic footing. It seems my illusion of the continuity of reality has been shattered. A more whole consciousness is resulting, one I'm not yet fully used to. Indeed, transformation is the name of the game of magick.

Later that night:

I've undergone a transformation as a result of today's evocation but the nature of this change has not yet been revealed to me. Such things usually become clear only over time. I may not have directly reached AONT but some result has certainly been achieved. The Work is no failure.

It's interesting that I had this kind of trouble during my evocations of the Water Seniors and King. There's something about this element, this level of psychic operation, that remains beyond me. My mind is still too concrete and chaotic to achieve true silence, one of the four powers of the Sphinx. Clearly, the Tablet of Union angels operate at a level comparable to the elemental Kings.

Later still:

I've evoked AONT again with a simplified ceremony. I just set up the Tablet of Union in the east with a candle, performed the LBRP and intoned the second Enochian call, and then conjured the Water of Spirit angel. A sense of imminent potential, ready to burst forth into actualization, came into my mind but all was dark and absolutely silent. I quieted my mind as much as possible and communed with this state of imminence, verging on becoming but not quite yet. Visions of black and white color began to splash before my mind's eye. Eventually, a pillar-like black and white conduit of flowing force appeared in the mind space in front of me. I could feel intelligence and intent in the being of the darkness taking shape in reality through the action of the tubule but only pure stillness could properly express such holistic ideas. It felt like any moment of this flowering understanding would require thousands of words to effectively express. I didn't receive any other kind of signals. After communing for as long as possible in my hot apartment, I banished and closed my ceremony. Now, I feel calm and well adjusted to the energies running through my psyche and aura.

It seems to me that Water of Spirit communicates directly with the subconscious, both being of silent natures. Perhaps in time to come, positive ideas will arise from the silent meaning. At this point, there is no way to know for sure.

Monday, September 25, 2000

It feels like new spaces have opened up deep within my psyche, causing my personal center to shift. I am but a column of energy, one of many in the overall being of which I am but a projection, focused on a dark, hidden potential. I, the synergy of all this potential, project my Will onto this potential to actualize and integrate its currents of possibility to produce spacetime images before my psychic perception. This is the operation of imagination. Yet, my creation is not continuous but consists of quickly oscillating on/off states that yield the illusion of coherent activity. This is the operation of the mind.

Yoga practices suppress this activity, promoting a continuous off state and so allowing the source of consciousness, the imminent potential, to be experienced. A positive supercharging of mental activity has the same result, fusing all phases of conscious operation. Now, the imminent potential itself seems to have more presence, more intent, than ever before. A greater being than I is coming closer to awakening.

PAAM – Fire of Spirit
 Sunday, October 15, 2000

I've evoked PAAM, Fire of Spirit Angel of the Tablet of Union, to excellent effect. Even during the Opening by Watchtower segment of the temple preparation, I achieved superconscious sky visions reflecting the nature of each element of the tablet.

At first, PAAM appeared before my mind's eye as a drawing in white lines on the pitch black background I encountered during evocation of the Water of Spirit angel. A greatly expanded image of my physical body rose up through the floor of the temple, seen in my imagination, like a higher dimensional object floating through a lower dimensional plane. After this self image passed through my physical surroundings and disappeared, the angel spoke to me. He said he was that which alights and flies away, he who is here and far off. He is the light in the darkness and the beyond in the light.⁵

I experienced a tremendous Kundalini rise of black fire reaching all the way to my head and beyond. A rise up my front also occurred but was stopped at my neck due to blockage of my aura at that point. I felt the tingling and tightening of muscles that typify an auric short circuit. PAAM told me that I needed to wait until my flame was lit and my consciousness reached to the transcendence before my aura could achieve complete efficiency in conducting Kundalini. I believe this means that my sense of self identification is still too focused on my personal experience to be able to accept the purely impersonal energies represented by the Tablet of Union angels. Only by surrendering my ego to the higher dimensional reality of superconsciousness can I fulfill the highest initiations the Enochian angels have bestowed on me.

Now, my mind and body remain filled with the Fire so bright it appears as dirty black darkness. I can channel this energy only to a point. My aura still has not achieved complete integration of its circuits. More time is needed to fulfill this natural process. In the meantime, I will complete this set of Enochian operations with the evocation of EHNB, the Spirit of Spirit angel, the thirty-third and last being of this long magical track.

Later that night:

Usually, eating a heavy meal grounds me after an intense magical ritual. This even worked for my Fire tablet evocations. It didn't work tonight. I came out of the restaurant feeling full and inwardly on fire. The effect has eased up at this point but my general level of vitality is significantly increased from the norm.

I love it! I've had trouble in the past with this kind of auric supercharge but this time I'm taking it in stride. It feels great, smooth. I feel alive, not cooked. This is what magical adventure is really all about, testing personal limits and feeling completely new sensations. Oh yes, this is new. I'm ready for more.

It occurs to me that the colors of Spirit are black and white. All of my Tablet of Union visions have been black, white, or both. Now, the black is in great motion, like a fiery, dark earth. I haven't been able to achieve the white yet. The contrast should prove interesting.

Monday, October 16, 2000

The Tablet of Union angels yield an intensity of psychic energy on par with that of the elemental Kings but the feeling is qualitatively slightly different. It's more refined, smoother. This energy really is the most spiritual expression of the element.

My Kundalini flow is increasing under the influence of the new channels of auric energy I'm tapping into with my evocations. The stream of lightning up the spine has become a thick column of light. A new stream now flows up the center of my body, more in tune with the chakras at the front of my body. Resistance at the neck still exists for this forward flow. I'm confident that in time my aura will polarize and the flow will clarify into a united torrent through my body and beyond to the other dimensions of reality.

Tuesday, October 17, 2000

I felt the dark, blissful silence of Water of Spirit in a peak experience had during meditation earlier tonight. As my psyche expanded, outside and inside my body, I pondered how to release my focus on self and transcend to the beyond of my psychic projection. In focusing on self and other as one, One, I attained that state of fusion and then, Silence, that deafening roar of totality. Even now after the peak experience is passed, I can recall this state clearly.

EHNB – Spirit of Spirit
Sunday, November 5, 2000

I have evoked EHNB, Spirit of Spirit angel of the Tablet of Union, thirty-third and last evocation in this elemental series, the pinnacle of the Enochian Watchtower system. The vision was more essence than form, a ubiquitous white light filling my being with ecstasy from every point in the space of my magical workplace. A booming voice told me to be receptive to the essence of all the elements. My spine tingled under the intensity of the Kundalini field extending from the base of my spine to the base of my skull.

A transdimensional space opened up before my mind's eye which was filled with cubes in every dimension and between them. Each cube contained an elemental, either a flame, a willowy light, a current of water, or an orange space. These were elementals of Fire, Air, Water, and Earth, respectively.

I understood then that Spirit is the pure essence of the mind, the potential for personal experience. Its manifestations are the four elements which are formed out of its three phases or modifications: dimensional unfoldment as space and matter, the flow of energy and change through that arena of realization as time, and the focus of thought on specific items of matter and energy in space and time. These are the three alchemical elements of Mercury, Sulfur, and Salt, respectively. The four and the three are produced by the interaction of mind with the universe it projects and which creates it. A unique, relative perspective develops from the continuing evolution of this cocreative process.

The booming voice proclaimed me for having completed the system as King of the elementals and bade me command them as my Will inspired. I addressed the elemental essences arrayed before me and pronounced us all as devoted to the transcendent Will that brings about all states of being and nonbeing and is the core of my True Will. The influence from the ubiquitous white essence became even more intense after my decree, causing my entire body to tingle and shiver. I inwardly gazed at the elementals I'd be conjuring upon calling the angels of the Kerubic and servient squares of the four Watchtowers. At this, the booming voice began to conjure me, the conjurer, just like I conjure the angels; the same words were used. I found myself drawn more deeply into the vision space, becoming even more imbued with the white essence.

Suddenly, an angelic form appeared before my mind's eye, a delicate, effeminate male dressed in blue and gold, with blonde hair and blue eyes. He had no wings but wore golden slipper-like shoes with curled-up toe. EHNB told me to abide at rest in this nexus of all elements, all qualities, the balance point from which all energies emanate. Here was the state of encompassing dimensionality, energy flow, and focus of thought. This is the mystery of the center of the tripleteau and the upright point of the pentagram. I could feel the potential of all qualities present in this state of being, ready to emanate into actuality at the behest of Will.

Then, the angel said, "In the name of Ralpern, I constitute you ruler of the elements." I spent some time meditating in this state, the sense of power flow through my aura ever increasing. Finally, the intensity reached a peak and the angel told me to return to the world. I closed the temple in due form and then went to dinner, very hungry.

There was no sense of residual energy after the closing, as there usually is with such a powerful conjuration. The energy was pure and clean and banished completely. I now feel very good and peaceful.⁶

Later that night

It occurs to me that the state of the secret spirit center applies to Tiphareth on the Tree of Life as well as the top point of the pentagram and the center of the tripleteau. Sephirah six is the center of the Tree and from that focus of being all potential and all manifestation emanate. It causes its cause and is an effect of its effect, pure cocreative paradox.

CHAPTER VIII

VISIONS OF THE GREAT NORTHERN WATCHTOWER OF EARTH SECOND ROUND

Explanatory Note:

A short time after completing my whirlwind tour of the Enochian elemental tablet angels, I suffered what can only be described as a short circuit of my aura and nervous system. The occasional bouts of anxiety I've had since childhood suddenly became much worse, especially at night. Over the next several months, insomnia became a real problem. Also, I suffered from muscle spasms, particularly around the eyes. All of these symptoms derived from an overplus of subconscious psychic energy pouring into my personal awareness and through to my peripheral nervous system. Psychologists would call this an uncontrolled rise of unconscious contents. It became clear to me that the magical circuit I'd just completed was too much for me to handle. I pushed through the Enochian magical system, heedless of the warnings given me by those angels/projections which I charged to instruct and initiate me. I'd come too far, too fast.

It was my initial intension to repeat some of the Water, Fire, and Spirit angel evocations which had given me trouble the first time around and then move on to some self initiatory ceremonies. However, after my symptoms worsened, I knew this course of action was impossible. A prolonged break from any magick was needed to properly integrate the overplus of new energies flooding into my personal being. My state of mental and physical health would indicate how to proceed after that.

Eventually, my nerve shock symptoms subsided to normal and I felt ready to return to magical operation. The best course of action at this point was clearly to repeat the entire round from the beginning. To return to evocation of such powerful entities/thought forms as the Water, Fire, and Spirit angels without the gradual buildup provided by the more personal elements of consciousness would only lead me back to more auric and nervous overload. Repeating what I'd already mastered would serve to reinforce the more stable aspects of my psyche and so better enable me to withstand the tidal wave of more intense, impersonal forces. This round, however, I would strictly adhere to every warning given me and call only one angel at a time. Every aspect of the Enochian reality had to be fully understood before moving on, no matter how many times a particular angel needed to be called to be mastered. Lust of result, finishing the Watchtower course, would have to be put aside. As my subsequent results show, this was a wise policy to follow.

Looking back on my ordeals, I regret none of it and am even grateful for the extreme tests of Will and perseverance afforded by the backlash of too much magick. One of the greatest values of the magical path is the testing of personal mettle. Smashing into them head on may reveal personal limitations. The system of magical contacts pioneered by John Dee and Edward Kelly over four centuries ago remains the most powerful course of occult practice in the western world. Only the intrepid and devoted practitioner can succeed on this journey to the farthest reaches of the mind and soul. Here is what happened next.

ACZINOR – Jupiter Senior of Earth

ICZHIHAL – King of Earth

Sunday, January 21, 2001

I've decided to collect the results of my Enochian evocations for this round in a journal separate from my main magical record in order to facilitate perusal of past ceremonial results. It's difficult to search through months and years of copious diary just to find the records of particular events and operations. Everything will be ready to hand this time around.

It's been a long time since I last performed a formal temple working. I made several dumb mistakes, such as using the banishing forms of the spirit pentagrams during the Opening of the Temple by Watchtower and forgetting some of the customary speeches. I also forgot a word in the elemental call. Nonetheless, my result was successful and clear in meaning. Form is less important than effectiveness of contact and efficient usage of the essential powers of the psyche.

I first evoked ACZINOR, Jupiter Senior of Earth. As little vision was revealed this time as in my previous Earth Senior evocations. The angel appeared to my inner sense only, as a white outline against a black background. He told me that I'd fulfilled this stage of work and that I was ready to take the next step. He actually seemed annoyed that I'd gone back to Earth in the first place. I banished him in due form.

Delighted at my progress, I decided to call ICZHIHAL, the Earth King and ultimate angel of the Northern Watchtower, to confirm my fulfillment of his element. He appeared in my mind and in my aura in vastness and majesty. The very solidity of the floor of my apartment seemed to ripple with the awesome force of him. He took shape in my imagination and told me that my previous work with the Earth tablet was enough to fulfill what I could accomplish here and that I was ready to move on to the Air tablet. He went on to say that Earth is the foundation of all action, the unchanging basis that supports all changes in form and motion. It is stability in the midst of change.

My plan for next time is to evoke the Jupiter Senior of Air in order to see if I need to spend more time with that element. The Air King will be next if all is achieved there, like with Earth. Water will be next after that and if all goes well, I'll return to the powers of Fire in no time. If this round turns out to be very quick, I'll be ready to dare performance of an Enochian style "Liber Samekh" working. This will fully prepare me for work with the Kerubic and servient angels of the Watchtowers.

CHAPTER IX

VISIONS OF THE GREAT EASTERN WATCHTOWER OF AIR SECOND ROUND

AAOZAIF – Jupiter Senior of Air
Sunday, February 4, 2001

I've evoked AAOZAIF, Jupiter Senior of Air, to good effect. He appeared before me as a general presence with a yellow tinge and then projected into my mind as a bearded man in a white robe. The scene was pure whiteness with golden spangles. He told me that Air was not about the motions of objects through space or thought through the mind but rather the action of nonlocality in coherent reality.¹ The pattern of chaotic induction that leads to emergent order involves a radical expansion of energy when the underlying potential builds up to a bursting point, manifesting in actuality all at once.² The movements of objects follow these information patterns.

AAOZAIF put his hands over my eyes in vision and showed me a deep space scene wherein I could feel the quantum buildup of complex information patterns and their eruption in physical space and time, evolving emergent order. This is Air. I observed the process several times under the angel's guidance.

I asked the angel if I should evoke the Air King next and then move on to Water or evoke the other Air Seniors first. AAOZAIF said that it was my choice. I'd already achieved great understanding of Air at the angelic level but I could refine my experience if I so chose. With that, I gave the angel license to depart and then closed the magical workplace. My decision is to evoke the other Air Seniors, one at a time, before the great King. This element feels so good and natural to me. There is much more I can learn. No need to rush.

HTMORDA – Luna Senior of Air
Sunday, February 11, 2001

I've evoked HTMORDA, Luna Senior of Air, in due form. The same full moonlike face with the grin all across appeared before me. She immediately began to kiss and caress me in a highly sexual way. I still feel aroused by the experience. The angel told me to realize sexual energy as a projection of the Phallus, source pattern of all creation and creativity. I was also to call her name for spirit sex as outlined in various books on sexual magick. There will be time for this later on. Indeed, the function of sex is the primary example of the pattern of creative ebb and flow, a building up of tension within the nervous system until a radical explosion of ejaculation occurs in a fountain like pattern, and then a relaxation back to normal.³ There is a mystery here beyond the obvious physiological energy patterns, likely relating to the general process of creation.

My Kundalini rose up my spine under the influence of the angel's passion. It grew in visualization until it turned into a great white penis flowing out of my back and head. HTMORDA encompassed my entire body with her giant mouth in order to give head to this member of Fire. She soon withdrew from this and told me to close the temple. More would be revealed during the upcoming sexual tryst with her. I gave her license to depart and closed the temple in due form.

Later...

I lay down in my bed in the nude and called HTMORDA with my mind's voice. She appeared to me and hovered over my body. The white Kundalini/phallus vision returned and she again gave pleasure to it as before. Pressure began to build throughout my nervous system, causing a specific flow of energy to rise from my Svadisthana (Mars) chakra to my Anahatta (Sun) chakra, which then charged outward from my body like a gushing fountain. Other flows of energy took shape in and around my aura with amazing complexity. Eventually, I brought myself to ejaculation under the angel's influence. The phallus image suddenly appeared to mind's eye like a shining sun. It multiplied itself until my entire vision space was filled with solar phalluses, as if the entire universe rose in response to my personal orgasm. Suddenly, the whole scene changed to small children playing in a playground. No further changes occurred after this and my aura cooled down to normal. I banished the angel and exited the vision.

Sex is a particular example of a projective process that works nonlocally to spawn offspring as a result of a cosmic response mechanism. The universe as a single whole comes to participate in a localized system and so spreads its patterns throughout existence all at once. It is a quantum leap of state on a cosmic scale. This type of nonlocal action is the magical principle of sympathy. The whole universe as one living mind is sensitive to certain archetypal patterns and propagates them throughout its vast expanse of space and time. The scale of the ultra small, the human, median scale, and the cosmic scale all come to share the same pattern set, a condition which mathematicians call self similarity. This is the hallmark of a fractal, a fractionally dimensional construct, created on a computer by plotting points based on the iteration of a simple seed equation very many times over. Mathematicians call this process self recursion. The development of consciousness, as well as all other patterns of growth, organic and inorganic, may be modeled this way. All is One in all. Chains of being carry natural signatures everywhere when the planes come into alignment. Universal sympathy is the source of procreation.

AHAOZPI – Venus Senior of Air
Sunday, February 18, 2001

I've evoked AHAOZPI, Venus Senior of Air, effectively. She stepped right out of the Air tablet upon being called and bade me open my mind to her as I entered into trance. I immediately got the sense that spirit sex was inappropriate here. Venus represents a more transcendent aspect of the feminine principle than does Luna and so attitudes of reverence and respect were called for. Also, a deliberate act of Will was required to allow the angel to enter my mind to engender a vision because of my innate prejudice toward the principle of the virgin. This narrow mindedness had developed over a lifetime because she had been given connotations of helplessness and ignorance by the patristic society in which I was raised. I'm happy to report that this prejudice has been dissolved.

AHAOZPI appeared to my mind's eye as the same gorgeous blonde as seen from previous visions of this angel. She showed me a doorway and said that this led to the Palace of the Queen of Air. In order to gain entrance, I had to answer three questions. The first was who are you, to which I said that I am a dimensional unfoldment seeking fullest possible expansion to gain fullest possible understanding and knowledge. The second was why have you come, to which I declared that I was seeking truth to understand my own nature and achieve the greatest possible becoming. The third was what do I hope to gain from the Queen, to which I replied that I was seeking her knowledge and blessing.

The thick, golden double doors opened to reveal a long hall with tables lining the walls on either side. Sitting at the tables were throngs of angels dressed in gossamer white robes, talking together in a festive atmosphere. A long red carpet led to a great golden throne on which an enormous brazier was burning, emitting thick, black billows of smoke. Many more angels surrounded the throne in attitudes of worship and devotion. The Venus Senior of Air walked with me to this throne.

A grand, regal, matronly voice came from the brazier, asking me what I hoped to gain from an audience with the Queen of Air. I declared a desire to learn her mystery. She told me that none could reach the King of Air except through her. I'd have to be prepared in order to pass through.

Several angels stripped me of my magick robe, poured three cups of water over me, and dressed me in the same type of garment all the angels were wearing. Then, the Queen stepped forth from the smoke of the brazier, a towering figure who picked me up in her titan hand. I couldn't see much of her except the myriad folds of her long motley colored dress. She set me in her enormous crown in a jewel setting surrounded by purple stones in other settings. I gazed out from my place, far above the floor of the palace. Angels came to me and laid me flat on a table there in the jewel setting. They called up fire from the surrounding air which burned me to nothing. I felt no pain but found myself carried by the smoke from the fire all around the palace as it diffused through the air.

The message in all this was that the focus of mind is one with its transcendent source and that I needed to realize the ever present reality of consciousness. Then, the palace was swallowed up by thick, white mist and I found myself in a limitless space, still in a diffused state. The King of Air appeared, truly gigantic like his mate. I hovered near his face as he declared that I would soon evoke him directly and he would come to me then, as now.

AHAOZPI came to me then and I coalesced back to my focused form, magick robe and all. She guided me back to my body and told me to call her again. I left the vision, banished the angel, and closed in due form.

The mystery of the Virgin is one of purity.⁴ Will overcoming animal desire is the way to enter that state of mind needed to understand this mystery. Such action hurts with a mindset developed in a sexually obsessive, yet repressive society but certain mysteries call for the state of purity. Only the pure in mind and body can contact the Queen of Air. She expresses the fullness of my personal subconscious, impossible for a synergistic focus of ego to grasp fully but which has its place among many other life currents therein. The source and wholeness of all personal being is the Truth that fully comprehends incarnated consciousness. A state of purity is needed to connect with this transcendent principle, the metalevel of transcendent personal consciousness. I am humbled yet elevated and blessed by contact with this totality of my being.

Now, I feel slightly buzzed from my Air contacts, with a sense of the diffused perspective gained, after being sacrificed in the crown of the Queen. It seems to me that I should call AHAZPI for spirit sex like I did with HTMORDA, Luna Senior of Air. Certain mysteries cannot be apprehended by direct observation and contemplation but only in silence so that the fullness of being may act unhindered. I must cultivate this type of operation of greater conscious action.
Monday, February 19, 2001

It occurred to me that I confine myself to the use of the angelic calls and tablets only in the context of a formal open temple, whereas Dee and Kelly simply sat at a table furnished with various talismans and conjured the angels. No record of any organized ceremonial has ever been found, to my knowledge. Even the old grimoires are sketchy regarding ceremonial operation, although perhaps, they were meant only for people taught in particular schools of magick who would know the details of ritual omitted in the published material.

So, to experiment, I stared off in a random direction, pronounced the Air call, and summoned AHAOZPI as she requested yesterday. I lay on my bed naked and received her vision and contact with no more formality than what Dee and Kelly did centuries ago.

The vision began with the beautiful angel lying on top of me but there was no initial sexual stimulation by the palpable pressure caused by this psychic projection. I achieved an inner vision of being held by the Senior as an infant held by its mother. My penis began to throb with excitation after awhile but then my neck tightened up with muscle spasms.⁵ She began to kiss me while I did what I could to relax the muscular tension and surrender to her.

Gradually, a dark current ran all through my body from my feet to the top of my head. It completely absorbed and encompassed me and split into two halves, between which emerged a shaft of white light. The Mother is all and I am but a ray of light in her void. I brought myself to orgasm under the loving and encompassing influence of this dark Mother and then left the vision without banishing of any kind. The angel projection was a convenient device to open my awareness to the presence of the Mother archetype within me, the vast unconscious potential from which I, the ego, was born. This needn't be confused with the mother that gave me physical birth. I love them both.

Later...

My neck tension has continued since today's impromptu AHAOZPI evocation. I ritually gave the angel license to depart and then performed a Lesser Banishing Pentagram Ritual. This helped somewhat but not completely. Yes, formal temple ceremonial definitely helps handle the intense energies of magical evocation. Perhaps, I need a break from this Work for a while.⁶

AHAOZPI – Venus Senior of Air
 Sunday, April 1, 2001

Having fully recovered from my ill conceived sex magick experiment, I've again evoked AHAOZPI, Venus Senior of Air, with great effect. At the beginning of my performance of the temple opening, long before any angelic conjuration, I felt an enormous sense of power which made me giddy, a sure sign of Air influence. Here is another example of the effect of a ceremony reaching into its own past, before it is even performed. A vast hyperdimensional head of a distinguished old, bearded man moved through the temple, seen with my inner sense of the physical world around me. It was in constant motion, yet remained absolutely still, truly a projection from higher dimensions through the three dimensional space of my magical workplace, or at least my mental picture of it. This awesome impression persisted throughout the opening ceremony but faded away upon the final declaration of temple readiness. It seemed strange to me that such a masculine presence should have manifested so early in an evocation of a decidedly feminine spirit but I forged ahead with the conjuration of AHAOZPI.

She appeared readily to my inner sight, looking very much like the Luna Senior of Air, with round head and huge mouth.⁷ She said that I wasn't ready for the next step in my initiation and that I should return immediately. I told her of my difficulties regarding certain traumatic childhood experiences that continued to haunt me and asked for her help and advice on how to heal these emotional complexes.

Suddenly, a male voice from above said in a deep, echoing voice that he would help me. He told AHAOZPI to lead me to the Gate of Light and there I would learn the answers to my personal problems. Only the great King of Air could command an angel this way. The Senior seemed apprehensive but obeyed the authoritative voice. After walking a short way through the vision space, we came to a golden double gate, behind which was a set of eight stairs leading up to a vast blue sky. The disembodied voice told me to pass through the gate and climb the stairs if I wanted to learn the answers to my personal problems. I immediately went to the top of the stairs and looked out at the sky to see a vast hyperdimensional image of my own head. The King's voice said that I was not yet ready to receive a complete vision of him but that my answers lay ahead of me.

I was then told that I had to understand myself completely as the focus of a greater consciousness. I needed to achieve the perspective of superconsciousness and effectively impose my Will on those aspects of my psyche I wanted to change. To Will on the superconscious level is to Will with wholeness, to reach into the system from without and so have control over any part thereof. This metalevel of operation is what John Lilly referred to as the metaprogrammer.

I translated myself from my individual perspective, standing at the top of the stairs, to the hyperdimensional self image looking at the stairs and myself.⁸ The space surrounding the stairs was black. After awhile, the Air King told me to return and so I did. I closed and banished in due form.⁹

I'm very intrigued to have had the Air King intercede on my behalf. AHAOZPI couldn't give me guidance but her ruler did. My superconscious powers are working from outside my personal psyche to bestow greater health on me. My magick has become versatile enough to yield the type of projection needed to achieve my purpose, even if the particular evocation is off the mark. Ultimately, all the spirits are one, my own projections.¹⁰

The eight stairs represent Hod, the first step to superconsciousness, the level beyond the personal. The Air King told me that I'd never be able to pass on to Water without first achieving the metaprogramming level since that element is pure superconsciousness, completely impersonal.

I believe the hyperdimensional image of the old man that appeared to my mind's eye at the beginning of today's ceremony was a shadow of the Air King, a foreshadow of the vision to come. His projection into the past was sustainable to me, although direct contact was not. The transtime nature of magically enhanced psychic energy projection could be harnessed for the development of ESP abilities such as prescience and clairvoyance.

AHAOZPI – Venus Senior of Air
 Sunday, April 15, 2001

I have evoked AHAOZPI, Venus Senior of Air, for the third and last time on this round, having completed my Air

Queen initiation. At the start, the angel appeared before me and kissed me warmly. She told me that I was ready to complete my initiation and led me into vision.

I was once again seated as a jewel in the crown of the Air Queen, just where I left off. A booming female voice said that I was ready to see her, the Air Queen. She introduced herself as MARDALA (seven letters like all the other Senior names). She was hyperdimensionally, interdimensionally vast, with only the top half of her projected into the palace. She had long, curly, black hair, big lips and teeth, and was regal and matronly. It was as if the entirety of reality focused itself to form her body in the palace.

She then lifted me up with her titan hands beyond the palace, beyond normal space, to set me in a chariot with two great wheels. Only the inherent force of the cosmos drove this great seat as it transcended into the infinite starry space of holistic existence. MARDALA took me to a place among the stars, one star in the company of stars, all the while intoning litanies to Nuit based on passages out of chapter one of “Liber Legis.” I took my fill of love under the stars, a true child of Nuit.

Inspiration came to me to realize that love is the essential mystery of MARDALA, the ultimate truth of being and projection. All phenomena are understood to be expressions of universal love from the transcendent perspective. A great feeling of love and joy filled my whole being as starlight filled me all the way through, causing me to shine as a star.

I rose above my vision body as a glowing point of pure light, radiating to all points of space and united with them. I achieved a state of pure paradox in, among, and in between all dimensional states, yet transcendent to all conditions, truly as Hadit. I am the Father, eternal consort to Nuit in all her forms and expressions.

The ecstasy was indescribably sweet but I noticed that its scope was limited to the subtler levels of my psyche. Seeking integration with all states of my coherent personal consciousness, I reunited with my vision body and shed my serpentine light to all the mansions and hollows of my psyche and aura, even to the quietest motivation. My entire material being was infused with light, love, ecstasy, and paradox, in every fiber and all at once. The parts and the whole became one.

This intensity quickly built to an overwhelming crescendo and I experienced a moment of auric supercharge that sent astral fire to every nerve ending in my physical body, so startling that it almost threw me out of my trance. I resisted the energy and pulled back from the ecstasy. It was just too much to handle. The effect was gone in an instant but the awesome memory of it lingers still. Only repeated experiences of such overwhelm can enable me to withstand this kind of intensity for long. Channeling such power as magical projection will surely enhance my abilities.

Hadit is all states, all conditions, and makes connections among them in any and every combination possible. He is the projector (and projection) of Nuit, spacetime focusing possibilities out of itself from higher to lower dimensional states. These superpose to form all energy and the matter derived therefrom. Thus is universal consciousness.

At one point in my ecstasy, the voice of the great King of Air came to me and proclaimed that I'd fulfilled the initiation of love and that I was ready to move on with my evocations. I would explore light, even though some of its aspects would cause me distress. All must be persevered through because every aspect was necessary to the whole. All motivation must be experienced from the standpoint of universal love such as had been given to me in vision. Only this perspective enables understanding and unity, the ultimate superconsciousness.

HABIORO – Mars Senior of Air
Sunday, April 22, 2001

I've evoked HABIORO, Mars Senior of Air. He came out of the tablet and pushed his face into mine to commune with my psyche. He said that I was ready for the next initiation and that I should go to the skies now. The infinite sky space of previous visions opened before my mind's eye so I went into it.

The angel assumed vast, interdimensional, pandimensional proportions in my vision and told me to take my place here as the emanator and source of being. I shifted my state and became the Senior, a great field of being whose focuses of consciousness were everywhere within, unlimited potentialities of emergence of individualized perspectives. HABIORO's disembodied voice said that I needed to take my place as a god to assert control over the forces of nature. Only a god, who encompassed all the elements and so stood outside them, could command them effectively. Then, he told me to call forth the lightning and I did so. The whole sky space was shot through with mighty bolts of white lightning, blindingly brilliant. They became steady streams of forking energy, columns of pure power.

I communed with this energy and asserted my Will as a god of being, a primary principle of creation.¹¹ After a short time, HABIORO appeared before me in the sky and led me into a hallway that I was inspired to create as a psychic projection (a projection within a projection). We came to an altar on which was a great golden chalice. He told me to drink from the cup and undergo initiation. I drank of the black fluid and my projected vision body was swallowed up in darkness. It instantly dissolved, freeing my consciousness to attain the field perspective once more in the infinite sky.¹² Then, the angel told me that it was time for him to leave so I gave him license to depart. I returned to my physical senses and closed the temple in due form.

I here note that a number of fantasy movie themes appeared in today's vision. Death by drinking poison from a golden chalice and calling the lightning were events I've recently seen in films depicting magical stories. The former dealt with the Holy Grail and the latter depicted a powerful wizard at the point where he could have been corrupted by temptation. These issues are compelling for a magician who is told to assert his innate godhead. Delusion and egotism are pitfalls for a wizard who loses the understanding that everything that lives, is a god in truth. To be a god is simply to channel the wholeness of being. This is the challenge I've been given in this vision, to rule completely over the elements of my consciousness while living in a world full of others like myself.

“Every man and every woman is a star.”

AAOZAIF – Jupiter Senior of Air¹³

Monday, May 14, 2001

I've evoked AAOZAIF, Jupiter Senior of Air, to fantastic effect. He delivered by far the most intense magical charge of any Air angel to date, including the Air King and Queen. The vision did not deal with the usual series of psychological issues but rather began a new phase of development completely transcendent to anything to do with my personality or past experience. I've been initiated into a whole new way to exist.

AAOZAIF stepped out of the Eastern Quadrangle as I meditated after his conjuration. Instead of entering my mind or talking to me from the other set of dimensions contiguous with the familiar space and time, he took me by the astral hand and led me to a far away dark space. I found myself in a dual state, partly inside my body and part outside it. Before us was a certain symbol of utmost secret nature floating several feet above the floor. The angel said that here was the mystery of the celestial nature. If I was ready to receive this mystery and join the Order of those who likewise keep it, I must take an oath. I readily agreed and felt an auspicious sense of occasion.

I, Frater W.I.T., swore that I would keep secret the mystery of the secret symbol from everyone who was not worthy to receive it. There was no penalty clause to this oath. The responsibility belonged to those who took it, a rare selection among humanity.

Upon completing the oath, the symbol leaped onto me and imprinted itself deeply into my aura, from my head to my perineum, from my Sahasrara to my Muladhara. The rush of energy and sense of presence was so intense that I almost collapsed and lost the vision. This was a supercharge that rivaled the flaming Kundalini experienced with the Fire tablet angels. No doubt, the symbol is a permanent addition to my aura.

AAOZAIF delivered a lecture on the nature of the celestial level of existence. It was beyond the elemental world in every way. The mode of thought was different, not being based on manipulation of the elements of personality and personal experience. A truly higher state of being was called on to express consciousness. Magical technique had to be different because of this. The basis was no longer the simplicity of four but rather the complexity of seven. A whole new magical reality had been formulated.

After this, the angel led me to his throne, a basic affair, gold but unadorned. He said that the Mars angel had bidden me to sit on that throne. To do so, I needed to take the transcendent perspective, the true Thelemic perspective. Only then could I rise above the pain of the roiling of the elements. He told me to sit at his right hand so I sat down next to his throne on the floor of the dark space.

Soon after, I took my leave of the angel and gave him license to depart. I performed the temple closing ceremony in a fog, still feeling the charge of the imprinted auric symbol. I went to dinner after this to help ground myself. If I'm now part of another Order, it's not an organized body but rather a shared level of consciousness, a true and invisible Order.

AVTOTAR – Mercury Senior of Air

Sunday, May 27, 2001

I have evoked AVTOTAR, Mercury Senior of Air, in due form. Surprisingly little has happened since the glorious initiation bestowed on me by AAOZAIF, Jupiter Senior of Air, so I thought that a piece of this puzzle of Air initiations was missing, that is, Mercury. Today's vision proved I was wrong about this.

The vision began with the angel appearing to my mind's eye as an enormous interdimensional man with the typical Air moonhead. He held a throne in his hands and set me down on it. He raised me high over his head into a dark space and a great feeling of upward motion shot through me. Upon extending his arms fully over his head, AVTOTAR sent bursts of energy through me but with each jolt, I could feel myself offer resistance to the current. The message was clear that my aura was not yet a fully efficient channeler of cosmic energy.

Then the angel told me that I was not yet ready for this evocation. I had not yet finished assimilating the initiatory symbol given me by the Jupiter Senior of Air. Mercury was not a missing piece of the puzzle presented to me by the Jupiter initiation but rather a new step in the process in its own right. The angel showed me the symbol of most secret nature and said that every part therein had to be fully worked into my being before the process was complete. Furthermore, adjustment had to be made by those aspects of being beyond my mind that dwelt with me. I needed to meditate on the symbol of most secret nature in order to further this process of initiation.

With that, I gave the angel license to depart and closed the temple. However, during those ceremonies, a strange energy began to flow through my mind and aura, hampering my concentration. I've experienced this effect following other evocations where dramatic breakthroughs had occurred.

A small voice inside my mind said, "Ha ha! I fooled you. The initiation took place."

I still feel affected but less than before. Looking back on this experience, I think that I had a reaction to the presence of AVTOTAR. Due to the fact that I wasn't yet ready for his Work, a lying spirit/projection arose from my subconscious to taunt me. Indeed, an aspect of Mercury is the trickster. Such is the ape of Thoth.

At any rate, my time wasn't wasted.¹⁴ I know now that no pieces of the picture are missing and that my proper Work must deal with the symbol of most secret nature. I'll evoke AVTOTAR again when fully integrated with the energies of my initiation and can channel energy more efficiently through my magically enhanced auric system.

AVTOTAR – Mercury Senior of Air
Sunday, August 5, 2001

I've successfully evoked AVTOTAR, Mercury Senior of Air. He stepped out of the eastern quadrangle and entered my mind to reveal a brightly lit idyllic scene of countryside, almost cartoon like in its beauty.

The angel said, "Come and learn the mystery not yet revealed.”¹⁵

We walked up a large hill and at the top I saw the brilliant sun right in front of me, shining yellow and orange.¹⁶ I greatly wondered at this magnificent revelation and was absorbed by the celestial orb come down to earth.

AVTOTAR remained by my side, on the right, and told me to behold my source. The source is the One and every part of all and the All. Every piece of existence is the All-One in a particular function. Here is the source of the Light of which I am the genius, I beyond all I am, the core essence of all phenomena and the tendency to unfold as such.

The glorious light of this daystar filled not only my psyche but also my nervous system and aura, too, from head to toe. The whole vision was taken up by brilliant orange-yellow light but suddenly a darker space opened up before me, like a chamber, to reveal four tablets of orange-yellow stone shaped like steles. They were arrayed in pairs, two on my left, one behind the other, and two on my right, one behind the other. Inscribed on them were letters of an alphabet of which I’m not familiar, definitely not Enochian, but somewhat like the Sanskrit alphabet.¹⁷

AVTOTAR told me to take the tablets and then led me out of the sun over to a clearing in the natural setting. We came upon a table on which was a clear glass bowl full of silvery water. The angel said that here was a mystery of Mercury and that I should meditate on this symbol. I could also return to this place whenever I wanted. Then, AVTOTAR told me it was time to leave so I exited the vision and gave the angel license to depart.

I felt strangely unaffected by the vision after leaving it but during the closing, the tremendous energy I absorbed made itself felt.¹⁸ The orange-yellow energy rose Kundalini-like from my feet to my head, encompassing my whole body and permeating every cell and space therein. Concentration was difficult at times while in this state of supercharge but I managed to close the magical workplace in due form and put away my equipment. I now feel well adjusted to this airy, mercurial force of source, having been well prepared for this ordeal by the Jupiter Senior of Air initiation. I was truly ready for contact with the Mercury Senior of Air.

So, I've reached to the mysteries of the One that is All and in all, the only truly existing entity in its myriads of functions in the universe. Totality exists at every point, every bit of matter and energy, every thought and concept on all planes and scales, and encompasses all as a continuous holomovement.¹⁹ Each projection is truly its own source but acting in a particular function, one ray of a vast star shine. It may appear as an entity in its own right to a terrestrial sensorium but the clear sighted may recognize the One therein. The ultimate reality is the realm of commonality of all concepts and states of being and so patterns from any plane or space may be connected at that level. New realities may be developed from the ground up. Terrestrial/futique fusions of any sort may be developed at the root level.

Monday, August 6, 2001

I forgot a subtle detail about yesterday's vision but was reminded tonight by some haunting psychedelic rock music. This detail of the magical landscape was so subtle and so far in the background, underlying the more obvious images, that I mistook it for interference and so ignored it. Tonight's music stirred my emotions in exactly the same way the subtle darkness and mystery behind all the light did yesterday. It was like how the voluptuous night sky is overwhelmed by the light of day but remains nonetheless. Images such as a storm over green hills and a dark purple sky on a brisk autumn night with a cool wind blowing by, carrying the possibility of a coming rain, come to my mind under this influence. The lesson is that Mercury is a dual natured energy at every level of its expression. It is the essence of duality from the most sublime to the most dense. Suggested here is the mystery of the upward flowing versus the downward flowing Kundalini, the dove and the serpent. AVTOTAR has brought me an expansion of consciousness that stands in clear counterpoint to the four previous, strongly gendered visions.

HIPOTGA – Saturn Senior of Air
Sunday, August 12, 2001

I've evoked HIPOTGA, Saturn Senior of Air, in due form. At first, I saw nothing but a red-violet space. Red-violet is the color of the zodiacal sign Pisces, the last in the series of twelve. Then, the angel appeared with skin the color of indigo, blue-violet, the color of Saturn.²⁰ He had the same moon shaped head as most of the other Air angels. His light cast many indigo shadows against the background red-violet space which at times obscured his face. After a time of silence, the angel's head became the shape of a human's.

HIPOTGA reached his indigo arm straight into my chest to touch my heart. This produced no sensation except a feeling of weight on my chest. Suddenly, my vision body cracked open like an egg. The inside was all indigo. The angel reached into my open frame and pulled out an indigo baby who was very happy and smiling broadly.²¹ The angel carefully set the baby on my head²² and then closed up my vision body but with all the cracks intact.

Then he told me, “Behold the baby of HIPOTGA. Let him be your guide.” He stepped away from me as the baby began climbing up and down my body, to the left and right. He finally settled in my heart chakra, his little feet reaching down to touch my Svadisthana chakra, a little below my navel.²³

I asked the angel if I’d be ready to evoke the Air King when I felt ready. He said I’d be ready and to be guided by the baby. Then, he told me to return from the vision so I gave him license to depart and closed the magical workplace in due form.

I feel that making this psychic baby is the reason for my human incarnation and that it was for him that I must live and preserve my Work and myself. My life’s focus now seems shifted to the baby, a clear symbol for my Dwarf Self, my True Ultimate Self.

The color of Pisces seems to indicate an ending of an era, a cycle of life. Out of the death of my old sense of self, my old psychic reality, a new self is born. This identity relates to many similar symbols in popular media, such as, 2001, A Space Odyssey, as well as the counterpart of Ra Hoor Khuit, the babe in the egg called Hoor Paar Kraat. He is Harpocrates, symbolic of pure innocence and pure protection. Aleister Crowley associated this Thelemic deity with The Fool of the Tarot, Trump 0. The Babe is the source of all and its truth throughout. As Freud said, the child is the father to the man. Here is a foreshadowing of what human evolution has in store in this new aeon. My epiphany is at hand.

BATAIVAH – King of Air

Sunday, September 2, 2001

I've evoked BATAIVAH, great King of the East and Air, to only partial effect. The opening lacked the usual flashes of transcendent vision and the overall sense of power was low. There was no sign of paradoxical transcendent energy reaching back from the future evocation. Upon conjuring the King, I felt him behind and below me, his body reaching downward far below the floor of my apartment. He cupped me in his gigantic hands as I entered vision.

A long corridor stretched out before me, like in some great underground network or mountain retreat.²⁴ The walls were smooth and well hewn from the rock. Torches lined each wall to light the way. I moved myself rapidly through the hallway, the torches appearing as lines of blur on each side of me. After many curves, turns, and straight passages, I came to a huge set of wooden double doors on which was carved no less a symbol than that given me by the Jupiter Senior of Air, impressed on my aura. Here was a chamber of profound initiation.

I knocked on the door six times, as befitting Tiphareth, the state of celestial initiation. A voice on the other side of the door asked, "Who goes there?"

I introduced myself as Frater W.I.T., a seeker of wisdom and initiation.

The doors opened to reveal a vast, dark room. I could only see a few feet ahead. Energies similar to those received in my most intense Order-bestowed initiatory ceremonies charged my aura as hooded figures approached and blindfolded me. Although my mind's eye was covered, I could feel my surroundings slightly. An old, male voice greeted me and led me to an altar on which was a large, thin tome bound in brown leather. This was placed in my hand. I then took an oath to persevere through the ordeal of the initiation and to keep secret the mysteries revealed to me herein.

There followed a lecture from the western officer, who said that the great King of Air could not be fully reached by man but those who were ready could gain a clear glimpse. Consciousness arises from pure darkness and so is incapable of reaching back to its transcendent source by its own action. A guide is needed to draw that little self beyond itself.²⁵

My blindfold was then removed and I could see the eastern officer. He was a very old man, dressed in a white robe and holding a wooden staff. This Hierophant bestowed upon me the Sash of Light, a plain red ribbon draped over my right shoulder. Next was the Medallion of Truth, a silver disk on a silver chain, but I couldn't make out what was engraved thereon. Finally, I was given the Scepter of Light and was led to the east of the initiatory temple.

The old Hierophant told me that he was not the Air King but merely an angel guarding the entrance to his throne. The realization of such a grand nature would have to build slowly, growing like a flower in my heart of hearts. I was to leave the vision and close the magical workplace but without banishing the King I'd conjured. At some future time, I could redo the evocation and see what more I could learn of the King's nature.

All the while, I could feel the King cupping me in his hands while holding me over his head. He held onto my feet during the closing and so was not banished back to pure potential. Towards the end of these ceremonies, he sat me down on top of his head like a crown, just as the indigo baby from the Saturn Senior of Air vision sat on my head. A three level projection system had been set up: the source field, myself as the projecting projection, and the focus of my projection, my source projected as my image.

As the three of us came into vibrational harmony, we merged into the form of a vast hawk of electric blue fire, with a dragon's tail that extended down into the abyss of depth. I'd seen this image before, long ago, in a spontaneous vision that occurred on my way home from work. This was before any of my magical initiations and training, although I'd read a number of books on occultism by this time. Still, this vision of a far away reality seemed to beckon me forward. Now, the far flung vision was right up close and I was a direct part in it. The transdimensional connection only lasted a few seconds but the sweet memory remains with me still. Having experiences like this is the reason for my existence.

I can still feel his presence, a personification of the Kundalini currents which flow through my inner and outer reality, creating my every experience. If the ultimate of Earth is the wholeness in which life takes place, the ultimate of Air is that life actually taking place, constantly emerging from pure potential and cycling back to its higher source dimensions. It is the arena of life and its focus on itself to produce that life, the cause of its own cause and the effect of its own effect.

It seems to me now that my next attempt to evoke BATAIVAH must be done in an Adept style temple, with a white altar cloth and red and white tapers, instead of black and white tapers.²⁶ I used this temple setup long ago to initiate myself to develop new mysteries as my inspiration guided me. It's the kind of thing one does after resigning from a magical order. The first round of my Enochian Watchtower evocations completed the Work I'd left unfinished in my former involvement. This second round is taking me a huge step further into a new reality, introduced to me by the very heart of initiatory magick, initiated by my own effort. This is what Aleister Crowley did after his departure from the Golden Dawn. His is an inspiring example.

BATAIVAH – King of Air
 Sunday, November 11, 2001

I have successfully evoked BATAIVAH, King of the East and Air.²⁷ The way stands open to proceed with the subtler elements as the failure from the first round of Watchtower evocations is now corrected. I've achieved the inner connections missing from my first attempt and now a close relationship with BATAIVAH is established.

As with my previous attempt to commune with the Air King, the vision took the form of an initiation, only this time the title of Hierophant was bestowed on me. I was as a little child as giant, gentle hands purified me by bathing, consecrating me by holding me in a column of smoke from a giant censor, and constituting me as a Hierophant by setting another copy of the symbol of most secret nature in my aura, just as the Jupiter Senior of Air had done. This all took place in a completely dark space; the initiating hands themselves were barely more than an outline.

After being prepared in this way, I was handed to the King of Air and he set me in his heart center as a lamén, just as the Hierophant in Aleister Crowley's Thoth tarot deck has in him. I could feel the force lines of the pentagram around me as the power of the Air King flowed through my every nerve and thought. My nervous system scintillated with ecstatic golden light. Then, I felt my own indigo child projection at my heart center glowing as well. The magical alignment that had occurred in the last vision had been reestablished but without the fiery blue hawk image. We were bathed in and penetrated by the golden brilliance.

BATAIVAH then lifted me to sit on the top of his head as a crown and I did the same with my child. The King of Air proclaimed me as a Hierophant of the new aeon, to rule over my own reality that was my life in the Aeon of Horus.²⁸ All the Air spirits were commanded to obey me. I was told that the sacred sanctuary that I was now able to enter was the great city of the Watchtowers. The word of entry was love, which is its nature. A secret word was given to me to control my way in the sanctuary/city. Study of its numerical and Qabalistic correspondences would help me understand its significance.

The city suddenly surrounded me, a hyperdimensional place far beyond anything I'd ever seen before. The most complex and bewildering drawings of M. C. Escher were simplistic by comparison. Everything was golden yellow. The walls, stairs, and terraces were all self luminous and in continual movement. The dimensionalities were so complex as to appear continually falling into and through each other. Only this movement could properly express the transcendent nature of the space and time of the city. The scene was like a flower with an unlimited number of petals, constantly blossoming and circulating back to an unseen center. Particular buildings and streets defined whole dimensions. Yet, underlying all the frenetic unfoldment was a complete stability, an enduring nature that surpassed the shifting dimensional circulations. All the movement and the root unity thereof were as one simple, perfect harmony. The whole city seemed to sing pure, holistic, complex love.

I called MARDALA, Queen of Air, to witness my invitation to this new level of transcendence and she immediately appeared by my side. She towered over me while radiating a surpassing love that echoed that of the Air city. We stood together and were one with the awe inspiring scene.

I absorbed all I could from this state of being and becoming. My entire nervous system and aura buzzed in sympathy with the awesome vision. Eventually I gave all of the Air spirits license to depart and closed the magical workplace in due form in a state of complete dazzlement. I went to dinner afterwards to ground myself. The food helped a lot. My physical senses returned to normal as well.

So, now I'm a Hierophant of the new aeon, of my own psychic order. Of course, what is significant here are the circumstances of this initiation. My personal magick is now fully established as independent of any manifest order. My initiation is now fulfilled in a way not achieved in any established group of which I've been a member. This pinnacle of spiritual transcendence as well as the path to it is an essential aspect of BATAIVAH's true nature. He is the embodiment of the metalevel of all mind and projection.

Monday, November 12, 2001

The full effect of my Air King initiation is beginning to be felt. The power of my inner and outer visions has increased dramatically. My trances are considerably deeper than before. I understand that power is a dream symbol for complexity of dimension, of psychic relationships used to model the surrounding physical world and the internal worlds of mood and emotion. It is clear to me that the breakthrough contact with the great King of the East has established a new internal dimensionality, a new set of complexities that extend beyond any previous state of consciousness. The self recursive flow of the gestalt of my mentality has expanded to encompass a metalevel of understanding, of meaning, of vision.

Thinking back to the dream symbol of the new mind, the hyperdimensional city of the Watchtowers, I remember sensing a threshold to another mode of consciousness underlying the ecstatic power and golden brightness that surrounded me on more sides than could be counted. It was the boundary between personal and impersonal consciousness, between Air and Water. The ultimate of transcendent personal consciousness merges with impersonal consciousness, the microcosmic wholeness whose synergy is the personal focus of incarnate psyche. I failed to fully grasp this lesson of the Air King during my last round of Watchtower evocations, which is why my first Water angel evocation caused me such a shock. This time, properly prepared, I'll be more ready.

The personal psychic gestalt makes an impression in its source field of impersonal consciousness, the aura. This impression is an emulation of personal psychic patterns but in purely impersonal terms. The similarity of information yields sympathy between the two life fields, enabling communication between them. It is hereby possible to shift personal awareness to the impersonal level through this interface. To the mind's eye, this interconnection appears like the fires of consciousness arising out of pure darkness. This auric impression of personal emulation can be called a verge field, with mind being seen to verge into becoming from pure potential. This creation is two-way, the psyche making its impression in the aura while the aura focuses itself into a mold from which the psyche takes its shape.

The first emergence of personal consciousness out of the darkness of verging, focusing potential can be seen by the mind's eye as spiral energy unfolding from a state of pure wholeness. The spirals are unfolding dimensions drawn directly out of the ocean of undifferentiated being. All the complexities of material and psychic sensation are woven from these curling threads of pure expansion. The self is an image of the Self, which is an image of the universe. BATAIVAH, my baby projection, and myself are as one complex unfoldment of possibility, one coherent reality.

All this has great significance for the practice of magick. Herein is a detailed explanation of how magical influence operates. The mind is mystically supercharged by an attuned aura sending its cosmic impressions, holosignals, through the interface of the verge field. Ceremonial activities manipulate the archetypes by which the mind builds its conceptions of reality and thereby a seed intention is imposed on the transcendental level. This conditioned, magically charged psychic energy is then projected back to the aura through the same inspiring interface between personal and impersonal consciousness. The aura then projects its supercharged, imprinted holosignals in natural, material terms to the cosmos focused upon it. In the holomovement plane of existence, the seed intention is propagated throughout all of space and time, subtly altering the way in which events unfold. The cosmic response is most pronounced in the vicinity and life of the magician but the whole of the universe is affected to some extent. The subtlest of forces is expanded and intensified to macrocosmic proportions.²⁹ Every willed act has its effect on some plane or other. Thus, the purpose of life is to bring order to the universe rather than to bring about more chaos. Magick is the highest order.

Sunday, November 18, 2001

Today, I underwent a remarkable transition of consciousness, of personal identification. This personal transformation echoed far into my deep subconscious and throughout the planes of the impersonal. The perception was a slight touch of an indescribably powerful presence. Simply put, I was inspired to surrender my sense of self identification and self worth to the impersonal beyond, the ocean of wholeness of which I am but a pin drop of synergy. All that I am and all that I do is devoted to and justified by this higher power of my life. No matter what happens to me in my material life, all value is derived by the impersonal contact of destiny. The temporal events of the world, of human society, are merely so many ripples on the surface of an ocean of wholeness and bliss far beyond imagination. Physicality is mere illusion but the Truth is the wholeness of all things.

BATAIVAH – King of Air
 Sunday, December 9, 2001

I've evoked BATAIVAH, King of the East and Air, for the third and last time on this round of Watchtower evocations. It seemed best to make a third contact with this ultimate principle of consciousness after having gone through the radical transformation of several weeks ago. I wanted to experience BATAIVAH from the Hanged Man³⁰ perspective. There was little in the way of a sensation of charge during the opening and the vision began equally placid. I wondered if I'd failed to evoke the great angel, even though his vast hands cupped me like in previous evocations.

BATAIVAH's booming, omnipresent voice told me that I was ready to move on to Water and lifted me up to view the infinite sea, a vast, dark expanse that had appeared during my previous Water angel evocations. This was the Watery equivalent to the limitless sky vision of Air. With a great thrust, he tossed me into the dark sea and I felt its awesome infinity. My entire nervous system polarized in response to this transpersonal field of consciousness, attaining full field consciousness. The King told me to 'reach thou forth,' as if to suggest that I evoke myself. This actually makes sense from the impersonal point of view. In a situation where a transpersonal expression is evoked, who is evoking whom? Being evoked by what I evoke would be true paradox, the telltale sign of magical influence.

I remained in this beatific state for a time, my aura reorienting to the higher intensity of conscious unfoldment and process. Suddenly, the six Water Seniors appeared surrounding me. They were only outlines of white against the black background, shadows of light in the ocean of darkness, but they were as I remembered them from my first round of Watchtower evocations. I was the center, as if I was their King, RAAGIOSL. I was the concentration of impersonal consciousness, the face of the sea.

I communed with the great sea and the Water Seniors until a current of unfoldment energy manifested which returned me to physical consciousness with a hyperdimensional flip.³¹ I closed in due form but my concentration was afflicted by the overwhelming energies absorbed in vision. Performing my Keyword Analysis during the banishing hexagram ritual opened my heart chakra wide as never before. Now, I feel as if my entire being has been rearranged, perspectives and identifications switched. More of me is now invested in archetypal consciousness.

CHAPTER X

VISIONS OF THE GREAT WESTERN WATCHTOWER OF WATER SECOND ROUND

LAOAXRP – Luna Senior of Water
Sunday, December 23, 2001

I have evoked LAOAXRP, Luna Senior of Water, to excellent effect. A truly higher level of reality has been revealed to me. That aspect of consciousness which was missing during my first round of the Watchtowers but has since been discovered came to full clarity during the opening and enabled me to channel the force of angelic Water comfortably. Instead of being overwhelmed, I felt and continue to feel a gentle blessedness, a happy love and peace that yield joy.

LAOAXRP appeared in a vast, dark space with a full moon shaped head very like the Air Seniors. She wore a dark robe and was of vast and transcendent dimensions, just like that greater consciousness revealed by my city of the Watchtowers vision. Now, I have realized myself as the principle that encompasses and interpenetrates my microcosm, the core contradiction that can project itself as any mental image or sensation. The evoked gestalt of angelic transcendence hovering before my mind's eye was just such a holistic extension of my self/other circuiting.

She cupped my self image, my microcosmic identity, my point of view, in her hands and told me to come forth as I'd told her during the conjuration. At this, my self and my holistic superconscious projection linked more intimately and a continuous cocreation across many dimensions was realized. The flow of impression and sense of self was expanded very far beyond the norm.

I looked out into the dark void and it clarified into an infinity of states of being¹ with an infinite number of connections between each and every in an infinite number of combinations. The Senior said that there are infinite series of spacetime events, each path of evolution through time existing in its own domain in which they are realized. Physical manifestation occurs by the interaction of different conscious perspectives with each other and with the unlimited potential of what may unfold from the wholeness of things. Magick, then, is simply a matter of linking to the potential domain wherein the desired effects occur. Projection of the magician's whole self through such possibility streams enables experience. Superconsciousness manipulates these domains, realizing and releasing potentials of experience at will. The self must link to its transcendent source sufficiently to gain the ability to move among the enfolded potentials at will.

Few words brought all this understanding of impersonal consciousness and I could feel my own limitation of reality unfoldment ability in the midst of this grandeur. I am deliberately holding myself back from dissolving into cosmic consciousness in order to live a relatively normal life as a human being here on earth. Only in this way could I learn in concrete terms the operations of existence. The limited human perspective allows for certain realizations about the unfolding universe not possible in any other way.

Upon accepting my limitations as a consciously Willed condition, the dark space burst forth in profound radiance, each series of unfolding possibilities shining like a bolt of lightning. The infinity of detail was illuminated in every aspect. Still, underlying the wonder of this creation and the nobility of my True Will was plain, cold fear. Fear of death and fear of change were holding me back from becoming a more evolved being able to more effectively channel this superconsciousness into physical manifestation.

I projected this nameless, deep seated fear into the plenum of potential before me in the hope that the form it took would give me some clue as to how to banish it permanently. The brilliant vision space turned pitch black and then a distance woman's voice said, "Take your will and fill of love under the stars."

I knew instantly that this was the voice of Nuit, the goddess of infinite space and the infinite stars thereof. A panoply of bright points lightened the darkness before my mind's eye and the starry universe was revealed. Nuit told me that She, the wholeness of All, is the only darkness. All forms of consciousness, even the lowest of spirits, the most animal of psychic urges, are beings of light to a greater or lesser brightness. Every partial existence is light in its way. Certain things appear as darkness or fearsomeness because of the masks projected onto them by partial consciousnesses. There is no real evil, only choice of perception.

Then, I realized that my fear of becoming a truly transcendent being and reaching so far beyond the human norm was a manifestation of light and an expression of my True Will. The time had not yet come for complete success on the Path, coming into my full power. There was still much to learn from the human perspective. Only by choosing to cooperate with my True Will could my fears be overcome.

The brilliance of the revealed plenum of potential returned with its infinite series upon series of multicolored ribbons. I communed with my macrocosmic Self and channeled the presence throughout my mind and body. There was then nothing left to realize in the vision so I released, banished, and closed the workplace in due form.

Macrocosmic awareness is the wholeness of impersonal consciousness, that ultimate source of self and other. The wholeness of Self projects itself throughout its source field to create the gestalt of mind. This is the kind of self recursion that creates ego identification based on the totality of life experience but in a higher dimension. The higher and the lower minds are now open to me.

SONIZNT – Mercury Senior of Water
Monday, December 31, 2001

My first attempt to evoke SONIZNT, Mercury Senior of Water, has failed. This is the worst result I've ever gotten working with the Watchtower system. Absolutely nothing answered my call. I felt nothing unusual during the opening and this situation didn't change after making my conjuration. I didn't make any technical mistakes but that wasn't enough to ensure success.

Upon entering vision I saw a great old style sailing ship carried by a wave of light blue water. The captain hailed me aboard and we went sailing into deep space, a scene relevant to Earth, not Water. He told me to control the course of my being and set course by the light of the sun. A white star appeared before us and the ship sailed towards it.

Then I thought, the sun is a symbol relevant to Air. It became obvious to me that this vision was a product of my own personal imagination and the captain was certainly not SONIZNT. I became inspired to take the higher perspective and expanded my consciousness to encompass the entire scene, a shift to field consciousness. This was the perspective relevant to a Water angel. I felt the ship sailing inside me. Energy washed over me to charge my entire nervous system but then it tapered off. My nervous system felt integrated but the angel never came. Taking on various perspectives and projections and calling to SONIZNT didn't help. Discouraged, I banished and closed. Afterwards, I felt normal, unchanged by the vision.

I must meditate on why my evocation failed. Was it just a matter of failure to generate the requisite intensity of psychic energy or was it because today is the last day of the year or did some force interfere? Perhaps, I just wasn't ready.

Later...

Detailed Tarot and contemplative analysis has shown that the reason I failed to contact the Mercury Senior of Water today is that I failed to generate the necessary conscious force to project it on this higher level of being. The next step is Water but I'm still at the Air stage. All my best magical faculties are hindrances to achieving operation on this higher plane of impersonal consciousness; true Water consciousness. In the Qabalah, this element is attributed to the World of Briah, wherein are pure archetypes beyond any specific image. The Air level is Yetzirah, the plane of the multiplicity of images.² All that I know how to do, to think, to expand, is useless in the face of this dark mystery.

Water in Yetzirah was difficult to deal with during the last round of my Watchtower evocations but now the density of this element has become a wall in Briah. Whatever transformations I need to undergo in order to reach this higher level will not be brought about by reasoned, organized action. I may still have some work to do in Air, although the Air King literally pushed me into Water. If so, the angels can't help me here. My own personality patterns are now forming barriers to further experience.

Thus, it seems my vision of the Luna Senior of Water was actually of an Airy nature. There were a lot of Air symbols in it. No wonder the angel appeared like the Air angels and gave so much information. It was clearly Water from an Air perspective. There may be a clue in those ideas as to how to proceed. In any case, I'll have to repeat the LAOAXRP evocation when I'm better prepared.

Later...

After reading over my records of evocations of the Air King and the Luna Senior of Water, I realize that impersonal consciousness is an aspect of Air, not Water, in Briah. It seems that all my work in the subtler elements during the last round of Watchtower evocations involved different aspects of Air and Yetzirah. I need to understand the impersonal perspective of Air in the higher world before I can access Water consciousness. I can explore the Holy City of Love revealed to me by the Air King. The three aspects of my psychic projection stream, represented in vision as the Air King, the projected indigo baby, and myself, must become more fully integrated. The various magical formulae built into the Thelemic keyword analysis may also provide clues as to how to transcend attachment to the personal identity.

Wednesday, January 2, 2002

It occurred to me that my vision of the Luna Senior of Water was actually a completion of the last Air King vision. The primary theme has been about perspective, the scope of the circuit of consciousness through mind and space. Water in Briah may deal with a reality beyond perspective. The shift indicated by The Hanged Man Tarot card seems to involve transcending individuality in order to dissolve in the beloved. Water is the ultimate solvent.

LAOAXRP – Luna Senior of Water
Sunday, March 24, 2002

I've evoked LAOAXRP, Luna Senior of Water. Wow. WOW! Once again, Water proves to be a fantastic leap ahead from anything that has gone before. A new and higher level of personal unfoldment has been realized. Even during the setup of the magical temple, I could feel an imminence of a marvelous revelation to come. The magical energy that was later generated reached farther back in time than usual to bring about its own creation. During the opening, I achieved a clearer sense of the multidimensionality of the temple being built up by the ritual actions. The physical manifestation of the workplace was directly seen as the lower dimensional projection of the Cosmic Temple in deep space, visualized and connected to just before the opening ceremonies are done. Each glyph and image drawn in the air had a palpable presence in the transcendence as well as in physical space, a transdimensional principle that was near and far at the same time.

Evocation of LAOAXRP revealed the hyperdimensional, transdimensional nature of consciousness more clearly and intensely than ever before. The awesome influx of psychic energy as dimensional unfoldment was like the first time I evoked Water during the last round of Watchtower evocations, only this time I was able to handle it well. All the preparation I'd done over the past three months, the exploration of the formulae expressed and implied by my Thelemic Keyword analysis, utilizing the magical reversal trance implied in the Tarot trump XII, The Hanged Man, and connecting with the collective consciousness of the cells of my body, had effectively brought me to a state of being where I could reach the true nature of Water consciousness.

The image was of an expanding, emerging multifaceted jewel, one of whose focuses was a stable cube. The magical temple was in that cube but I was lifted out of there and into the higher space. I could feel myself expanding with the surrounding unfoldment. The intensity of this transcendent state was constantly increasing but without becoming overwhelming. I called on the Luna Senior of Water to appear and a booming voice said, "Come thou forth!"

Reaching to field consciousness in the ever expanding hyperdimensional geometry, I focused my Will and projected an image of the angel. He resembled me to an extent but wore an indigo robe with white star shaped studs lining the hem and cuffs, a very different design than that of my magical robe. Clearly, this image was a mere convenience for the purposes of conversation. The real angel was the unfolding jewel.

The angelic image spoke of the emergence of reality at every moment. The core source created and was created by the expansion of reality and consciousness. This paradox was an emergent process unfolding from holistic existence, the holomovement, space and time continually projecting out of spacetime as transdimensional flow. The ultimate source reality of enfolded potential can only appear as nothingness to the normal human perspective. Only with transcendent field perspective may the plenum of interconnection potential be understood and perceived as full of streams of brilliance.

I realized that all physical objects at all scales of size unfolded from a relatively few basic pattern potentials, sometimes referred to as archetypes. More than just overarching patterns of consciousness, these pre-forms/unfoldment potentials determine the patterns of everything in existence. No matter how different in appearance objects may be, they are connected through the holomovement by the archetypes. The archetypes are tendencies to verge and emerge as certain basic unfoldment patterns. Repeated millions and billions and trillions of times over, they evolve all manifest reality. Expansion and stability are the two modes of their action. Expanding personal consciousness enough to connect with these impersonal pattern potentials in the holomovement can reveal the interconnections consisting all events in time and space.^{3 4}

Now, I feel exalted in a peculiar way as never before experienced. I have achieved a greater state of complexity of consciousness, personal and impersonal. A wider field of commonality of transcendence, mind, and the material world has been developed. I will seek further interconnection and the becoming that derives there from.

Monday, March 25, 2002

I have reached a point in my superconscious projecting ability where images can no longer convey the reality of the complexification of psyche generated by my magically enhanced trances. The realm of the source of all emergences is beyond the capacity of the personally identified mind to model with concepts derived from its limited existence. A more complete and integrated mentation is needed to effectively convey the grand scope of such holistic existence.

The shift to the level of understanding archetypes, emergence tendencies, has brought me to the state of impersonal consciousness. I must evoke myself from the angel's point of view after I evoke the angel from my point of view. The fusion of fields and focuses of consciousness produces the paradox and the breaking of personal boundaries necessary to evolve the Briatic holoprojection, while maintaining a link to personal awareness and memory. I am now the great angel that must evoke my lesser self to achieve an experience at all levels of being.

SONIZNT – Mercury Senior of Water
 Sunday, April 14, 2002

I've evoked SONIZNT, Mercury Senior of Water, in due form, this time with success. To say that the revelation was incredible would be insufficient to express the nature of the experience. I found that the only procedure that worked for communing with the angel was to call it forth and then have it evoke me to lift me to the higher level of Water consciousness. My projection/creation became my source/creator as both perspectives merged to a degree. Thereby, I willed myself to emerge far more complexly than ever before. With this evocation, I've made another quantum leap in order of complexity, surpassing the previous evocation. The energy was so intense that I nearly fainted. I became weary and yearned to leave the vision. All my strength of Will was required to stay awake and delve further into the greater emergence of consciousness.

The vision began as a blue hole, complete with accretion disk, in the midst of a dark, starless space. The energy sucking hole itself was bright blue whirling color, a hallmark of my

Water visions. A voice that seemed to come from the black space as a whole told me that the blue hole was a reflection of me, a focus of self that crystallizes light from pure darkness and then eats it. This is the nature of incarnation.

As the intensity of energy in the vision grew, a face began to emerge from the darkness. I felt myself to be one with my blue hole projection, being both self and that other, each projecting and being projected by the other. The fusion of the two perspectives produced a dramatic expansion of being, a greater level of complexity where the source – emanation – manifestation process of creation was as one as a perpetual running and returning of the seat of consciousness.⁵ Self, other, and the wholeness in which each exists were realized and experienced as one interactive, interdimensional reality.

The face of the angel emerged more fully out of the darkness (field), then up out of me (focus), and then from myself and the blue hole (flow) at once from a higher dimension (transcendence).⁶ It was a male face, serene and with black hair. I then gained a sense of something building up in the potential of my mind, something awesome that promised to be overwhelming...something new. Even the echo of its possibility threatened to be more than I could deal with. I felt myself begin to swoon, to yearn for release, to shut down the vision. It became clear to me that I needed to surrender myself completely to the higher potential about to emerge, to face the oncoming transcendent breakthrough resolutely, whatever the cost.

Some time passed as my deep subconscious worked its secret (alchemical) processes. Finally, the revelation came and I opened myself as much as possible to the new extreme of complexity of consciousness. A greater realization of being than I've ever experienced before filled my mind, aura, and nervous system and even the hyperdimensional space of my inner vision. It felt like every cell of my brain was glowing with brilliant golden light. I could see this as if standing behind my body and looking through my skin and skull. Every neural cell was lit up like a golden star, glowing in perfect harmony and unity with all others as one continuous whole. The blue hole vision was swallowed up in golden ecstasy as a projection even more complex than the hyperdimensional flooded my every sense, thought, and feeling, carrying with it a truly new order of becoming. A current from beyond consciousness, beyond the universe, had touched me to initiate me into a whole new concept and experience of reality. Hyperdimensionality was but one level of a greater field of being in which every point, every partial and whole dimension, every field of action, was as one interconnected whole in an even greater realm of total possibility. A superholomovement, a source field of the entire cosmos, was revealed. Words don't exist that can describe this meta-metalevel of infinite, unlimited dimensionality. It is utterly beyond.

I spent a long time in this state of beatitude, overwhelmed yet channeling the awesome fantastic WOW as much as possible. There was a long break in concentration when a fantasy took over. I forget the details of what happened. Eventually, the condition regularized and I felt satisfied that the angel's initiation was complete. I banished and closed the magical temple in due form in a dazed state.

Evidently, from here on out each evocation I perform will involve a dramatic increase in the order of complexity of my consciousness than the previous breakthrough. What before took an entire series of magical workings to achieve will now occur with each individual operation at this profound level of Water work. For today's vision, the theme was complexity of unfoldment of consciousness and the reality in which it is realized. The complexity unfolded beyond, within, and about me to greater and greater degrees as the ecstasy, intensity, and expansion increased. The power and transcendence reached a maximum as whole universes seemed to be birthed from each curl in the folds of the projection creating me. Complex. Incredible!

Tuesday, April 16, 2002

The wondrous complexity with which I created and unfolded myself during Sunday's evocation resulted from an integration of the individual auras of the cells of my brain and nervous system to a greater degree of completeness than ever before achieved. Each little aura glowed with golden glory as quantum potentials far beyond the normal range of organic improbability came to realization through the life processes of my neural cells. It took all my strength of Will to emerge myself to that intense an integration and complexity of quantum unfoldment. I nearly collapsed under the strain of ecstasy and energy flood but managed to maintain the revelation for a long time. The initiation is fulfilled. The first impressions of a new reality are mine to explore.

As much as the quantum integration of auras created the supercomplex unfoldment, the unfoldment process created the state of integration. Cause and effect were definitely in paradox as both states emerged together from pure potential. At the meta-metalevel, time has no meaning. All possibilities exist together in one whole state. Direct experience of that reality so supercharges the mind and nervous system as to generate the most profound and intense ecstasy. Life takes on new meaning and wonder.

SLGAIOL – Venus Senior of Water

Sunday, June 2, 2002

I have evoked SLGAIOL, Venus Senior of Water, in due form. Extreme magick! It feels like my psyche has been operated on, although I'm not consciously overwhelmed, like with my evocation of the Mercury Senior of Water. New functions and a greater level of completeness have been realized.

The vision began with my calling forth the angel and he doing the same to me. I achieved a clear image of the angel as a male with dark hair and beard, in a pitch black space, like in many other Water angel visions. A column of bluish-quicksilvery fluid rose through my physical and vision bodies, shooting through my vision space as well. Pathways linking my inner psychic world with the material objective world unfolded through my aura, enabling clear channels for supercharged mental energy to project out to my surroundings. My auric field scintillated with the subtle, transdimensional flow.

SLGAIOL told me to see all reality as one continuous whole without perspective. Taking on points of view causes the illusion of difference to appear, skewing all perception to a self/other schism. Much information is lost in that state of mind since one part is isolated from everything else. Only the holistic state can comprehend all.

The angel then reached toward me and opened up my vision body at the torso, like a cabinet with doors swinging outward. He began fingering my insides as if working the controls of a machine. I was facing him and so couldn't see what he was doing, but it seemed as if he was manipulating buttons, switches, and levers. A sense of strangeness and alteration on a fundamental level of my being came over me and built up to a great intensity as the angel worked on my inner machine. It felt like a psychic operation on the deepest strata of my consciousness. Eventually, SLGAIOL finished his reprogramming of my subconscious but left the doors open. The pathways connecting inner and outer reality were now hardwired into my being, altering my psychic and genetic makeup to channel this intensity of transdimensional unfoldment. My innermost self is now open and connected to the outermost material surroundings.

I'm reminded of my vision of the Saturn Senior of Air. In that vision, I was opened up like an egg to birth my primary holoprojection as the indigo baby. In this vision, the opening was of a mechanical device and the holoprojection was that overriding universal principle from which human consciousness and the material world it experiences unfold. The former was personal and organic, a projection of the ego integrated with its subconscious ground. The latter was impersonal and mechanical, a field conscious projection that integrated the entirety of my being with its cosmic ground. The evolutions of becoming engendered by these angelic contacts are realizing ever deeper, more fundamental layers of source – paradox unfoldments. I am titillated to be aware on such transcendent planes of being.

I then began to rise in vision and soon found myself passing through various classical astral planes. At one point, an alchemical plane came into view, complete with the various characters, plants, animals, and symbols shown in many alchemical paintings. This was likely inspired by my recent readings in a book on alchemy, a translation of “Splendor Solis,” done by Joscelyn Godwin.⁷ Various elemental and planetary scenes were passed through as well. Eventually, I transcended my sense of self separate from other as SLGAIOL’s program was completed.

Suddenly, dream images began to intrude on my transcendent experience. I saw a light skinned version of myself running away in terror from a dark skinned version of myself, who was psychotically furious. This theme had been the subject of many of my dreams in one motif or another. How strange that my angelic contact should have taken me from a profound level of transpersonal integration to the most primitive of dream expressions. The psyche is more interconnected than I’d ever suspected.

I discarded the dream images as more and more of my nerves became incorporated into the magical projection. The apparent barrier between worlds seemed to be becoming thinner, more transparent. Suddenly, my Svadisthana (Mars) chakra began to project a beam of quicksilver light and a new vision space opened up before me. The scene was a mist shrouded rose pink room of hyperdimensional complexity, very dreamlike, yet pulsing with pure intensity. Its very stability expressed enormous power. The walls were at once solid and insubstantial, varying in position, yet displaying an overall sense of presence. My dreams and my visions had fused in this Martial gestalt.

Soon, all of my chakras became integrated in the focused projection of this supervision, each shining its own color of light into the magical space. The room unfolded into a long, dark hallway lined with doors on either side leading off into the distance. I was the rose pink hyperdimensional room and the dark hall, unfolding new potentials of my growing Will. Almost every nerve in my body fed into this image. I realized myself to be the whole world, consisting of the objective and the subjective. Integration of self consciousness and subconsciousness yielded a transcendence of the personal to reveal holistic field consciousness, creating self and other as expressions of itself in space and time. From this wholeness unfolds entire realities of experience and evolution.

The integration reached a completion and I knew the hallway to be never ending. The vision was done, so I withdrew and closed the magical temple in due form. It seemed strange that a Venus natured contact should have produced so much Martial content. It occurred to me, however, that the subconscious faculty that reverses symbolic meaning probably entered into the gestalt of the vision. These two planetary natures form the two sides of one scale and so are truly one. This is the lesson all of these Enochian angelic visions have taught.

LSRAHPM – Mars Senior of Water
Sunday, June 23, 2002

I've evoked LSRAHPM, Mars Senior of Water, in due form. The deepening of vision during the temple opening continues. The transcendent reality created by my ceremonies is taking on ever more concrete and detailed form. The purification and consecration hexagrams were palpable presences on all planes and their influence was more keenly felt than ever before. Connection between my cosmic space temple, its astral imprint, and my physical temple space continues to grow stronger with each performance of this ritual.

I felt the presence of the angel during my declaration of purpose, which completes the opening, as soon as I mentioned her name. An extreme ecstasy took hold of me at this initial contact, almost causing me to fall to the floor. It took me several minutes to recover myself enough to regain my poise and continue with the evocation effectively.

Upon entering vision, a vast hyperdimensional space of white brilliance flecked with black stars appeared, similar to my Air of Spirit vision from the last round of Watchtower evocations. The angel popped up in front of me, her long, curly, black hair spreading over her black robe. She hugged and kissed me deeply and then danced around the transcendent space with joy, calling me forth several times. I felt a growing energization of my entire nervous system, causing me to shiver with tingles all over my body. The raw ecstatic energy rose up through my frame but inherent resistance knocked it down and back to its source. The pleasure was just too much for me to handle. LSRAHPM told me to come forth over the mountain but didn't explain what she meant. Perhaps, the mountain represented my resistance to pleasure.

The space began to turn darker, several shades of black and brown while the stars turned white and red and blue. The vision continued like this for some time as wave after wave of ecstasy ran through me, blocked and knocked down each time after a certain point along its course. The angel assured me that I was ready for this initiation, despite the emotional blocks. I dedicated my entire life to the magical path, whatever it may involve and wherever it may lead, in my attempts to overcome my internal resistance. This didn't help. However, each upward flood purified my system to a degree.

Eventually, the angel told me that the vision was over with and I gave her license to depart. I banished and closed the temple in due form, with a subtle exaltation and an awareness of a newly expanded dimension in my mind. Much psychic energy is required to clarify this new revelation, rising along with the level of ecstasy.

Now, I feel renewed, as if forged in a fire. All the elements of vision and psyche seem merged into one homogeneous substance, like quicksilver, fluidic yet viscous, of one continuous nature. If I can use this holistic power to break through my internal resistance to pleasure, I can achieve extreme energization and reach a higher level of being. Even now, I can feel the echo of this promising revelation in potential, a nuclear explosion of the mind. It's so close, yet I dare not realize it now. This is surely the eagle aspect of Mars, most sublime and ecstatic, an excellent lead into Jupiter.⁸

SAIINOV – Jupiter Senior of Water
Sunday, July 28, 2002

I've evoked SAIINOV, Jupiter Senior of Water, successfully. I still have a sense of intense power but the angelic contact wasn't overwhelming, like the first time I called this entity during my last round of Watchtower evocations. A great deal of superconscious energy began flowing through the depths of my consciousness during the temple setup, slightly at first, but the buildup accelerated to an extreme by the time I began the opening ceremony. I bore this charge well and was able to maintain concentration throughout these rituals and the evocation. This type of paradox is increasing with each magical working.

Upon entering vision, the angel appeared clearly in my mind against the dark field as well as in front of me, physically. His presence in space was as palpable to me as any person's could be. He was older than before and had white hair with big curls like an old style British magistrate. He showed me a bowl of water wherein was reflected a golden star with seven points, but not like the usual heptagram. The reflection of the unseen object didn't have the even spacing of the points of a planetary heptagram. There were three points to the left and right, with a single point in the middle, below them. The top pair of points stuck out farther from the central line of symmetry than the pair below it and the middle pair stuck out farther than the lowest pair. Connecting the points together on either side would have made a wide 'V.'

I marveled at this most strange figure, especially its quality of motion. The angles seemed to be moving downward through the figure from the top, widest pair to the single point downward. A new pair of angles would appear at the top of the figure as the former top pair moved downward. The lowest pair of angles would converge at the single point and disappear. The overall form of the star was kept stable but the motion was smooth and continuous, producing a flow of patterns that seemed to make the star buzz with energy. A vibrant projection emanated from the center of the figure, like the planetary symbols for Mars and Mercury superimposed.

The base circle had the arrow pointing upward and to the right while the Mercury symbol rose upwards to the left, opposite the arrow. This mysterious symbol fusion apparently held the key to the meaning of the star but I couldn't understand what that was.

SAIINOV said, "Behold an image reflected. Where is the original?"

Then he moved underneath me and became a vast body whose head was my entire body. His/my legs extended downwards out of inner sight and I could feel my whole person complete as the head. The star reflection rose out of the bowl as a concrete object and attached itself to the angel/self amalgam we'd become, growing to cover the entire body. A huge flood of Kundalini shot up from the unseen depths to flow through me, the head, to gush upward like a vast fountain far above. It was as if the energies of the whole of existence were concentrated and made fluid to flow through my Sushumna channel, the culmination of a great chain of being.

I was united with my source consciousness and achieved complete wholeness, a sense of unlimited expansion, with each point therein connected to every other point in ever increasing patterns of complexity. Each thought, feeling, and self expression was perfectly compensated for by its correlate opposite, maintaining perfect balance in the midst of continuously intensifying power. Through all this, I wasn't overwhelmed like the last time I conjured this spirit. There were enough connections established within my psyche to safely channel this mighty angel's true nature as a supreme projection of superconsciousness. No wonder our first contact so overwhelmed me.

The voice of the angel came to me from all directions to say, "The hour is passing."

I was reminded of similar lines from the closing ceremonies of many Masonic rituals. I could feel the passage of time, one instant after another, one erg of power flow after another, one cosmic evolution after another. The vibrations of untold myriads of atoms and quantum particles were passing through the chain of dimensional expansions and collapses. The illusion of time was produced by each projection as it unfolded in space and time and then passed beyond to more complex states of being. The continuous flow of all quantum states through the physical universe determines the apparent flow of time and entropy. This flow was quite complexified in my vicinity, evoking many streams of evolution and causing matter and energy to become more ordered and complex. In this state of emergent order, the differences between dimensional unfoldments and scales of size decreased to bring the vast range of reality into focused integration. The consciousness inherent in every point of space and time became concentrated and ordered enough to evolve sentience, cosmic awareness and intelligence. The eternity beyond and in between each instant of time was revealed. A profound sense of holiness took hold of me and for the first time in my life, I felt religious awe. This was a state of pure beatitude.

As I communed more fully with the holy presence, SAIINOV said, "Remember that time always flows. Remember the flow."

With that, the vision and the spirit retracted back into unconsciousness and I returned to my normal state of awareness. I banished the angel and closed the temple in a somewhat dazed state, still feeling the contact with the divine presence.

Now, another Jupiter Senior has impressed a magical sigil onto my aura, opening yet more channels to the ultimate transcendence. The symbol of most secret nature initiated me into the profound mysteries of Tiphareth and Thelema. The sevenfold star of this vision has initiated me into the mysteries of time and eternity, providing me a glimpse of a divine nature that underlies all reality. This could be considered an entry into Geburah. These angels of initiation are taking me on a journey of transcendent unfoldment as fast as I dare travel. There are truly no limits.

LIGDISA – Saturn Senior of Water
Sunday, September 8, 2002

LIGDISA, Saturn Senior of Water, has been evoked in due form. I am fundamentally altered as a result, to the innermost depths of my being, even to the quantum level. This kind of transformation is what magick is really all about. It's so thrilling that my personal magical ceremonies can initiate such radical transformations throughout my consciousness, even to the most impersonal of functions. Magick is life fulfilled.

The vision began with the appearance of the angel, an old man with very curly white hair and beard, like an ancient Greek sage, against the usual black background, calling me forth as I called him. He told me to remember that the universe is one.⁹ All the myriad appearances of nature are so much froth on a calm sea of one fluid. The universe is in every part of itself and is every part. There is only one amidst all the complexity. The quantum physicists of my world have it wrong. Ultimately, there are an unlimited number of subatomic particles that can be discovered, being a product of human science and its macrocosmic counterpart in the collective human consciousness. The phenomena of the universe are best understood from the holistic perspective.

The angel moved behind me, grew to enormous size, and held me up like a baby. I was then immersed in a bath of silky, pearly white fluid and felt a profound energy course through me. I surrendered to it completely, allowing this field of nurturing milky energy to envelope every aspect and function of my being. This was existence as it truly is in its holistic unity, a sea of pearly white potential, complete in itself. LIGDISA told me to behold myself emerging from this reality and I felt myself rising out of the silky white goo, like a fountain of concretizing potential, bubbling up from the depths. My personal being is the froth on the calm sea of my whole Self. Yet, I felt myself to be all the fluid, the one fluid. Visions of strings of impossibly large pearls surrounded me. All dimensional possibilities derive from the Great Sea. I remained in the oceanic bath for some time and then gave the angel license to depart. I closed the temple in due form, naturally with difficulty concentrating.

So, I am the child projection of my whole being, as seen in a vision corresponding to the nature of the Sephirah Binah. The energies of Water have fused with my psyche to such an extent as to transform me into a homogeneous fluid of pure emergent consciousness, reflective of the holographic nature of the cosmos. My aura is now made up of this superquicksilvery essence. I can now channel the power that so overwhelmed me in previous Water angel contacts. My attunement is complete.

Tuesday, September 24, 2002

I've suffered muscle spasms in my head, neck, and chest since the evocation, although these symptoms have been easing recently. I seem to be repressing some aspect of the silky, milky white energy I absorbed so much of during last Sunday's vision. Despite all the clarity, the detailed nature of the vision, and the coherent appearance of the Senior, I seemed to have missed some aspect of meaning of the angelic communication. My whole being received it all but my self consciousness continues to deny it by using muscular tensions and psychic short circuits to help repress it. My meditations have been much less effective due to this internal conflict. I've come too far, too fast. Perhaps, the missing piece will be revealed as I heal from the shock of the Watery power and adjust to the new quickening of consciousness. I'll face it when ready. There is no other choice. It's with me now, somewhere in my subconscious.

RAAGIOSL – King of Water

Monday, November 5, 2002

At long last, RAAGIOSL, great King of the West and Water, has been successfully evoked in due form. It has been a difficult adjustment over the last two months, as my muscular disequilibrium warded off the ultimate truth that the cosmos and I are one. Accepting that Self awareness has been a frightful process,¹⁰ losing the illusion that I am separate from the rest of existence. Now, the King has bestowed full consciousness of the universal Oneness flowing through all of spacetime to focus on this microcosm and then projecting back to the macrocosm, carrying with it the impress of my personal order. I've never been more established on the inner planes. My personal complex pattern gestalt has made a clear imprint on the plane of pure information, the quantum basis underlying all physical existence. Even my magical workplace has focused an impression in the transcendence, an impersonal template with which I connect through my cosmic temple, built up in meditation before my ceremonies. Connecting this inner plane establishment with my physical temple space has never been easier or more effective. I felt myself to be present on both planes at once during my operations with field as well as focused consciousness. The universe and I are one.

The vision began with the King evoking me. A new reality of self immediately presented itself to me. A torus made up of elliptical rings instead of perfect circles surrounded me. It had very high, narrow sides. This type of torus is called a dimpled sphere. A twisting ribbon of my personal self threaded the tiny central hole, at once the focus of all the energy flowing around the torus and the projector of all that Will power. Field consciousness revealed this focus and this flow as part of one encompassing hyperdimensional reality, source and effect of every Self/self gestalt. I exist as the two impossibly fused fields that produce the core contradiction, the center of the torus. This center is a nexus of all scales and dimensions where every unfoldment, may be linked with any other in any combination. The potential for the evolution of consciousness arising out of this all-worlds point is unlimited. Field, flow, and focused perspectives come together at this absurd nexus. At the center of the mind lay the entire universe and its source.

The microcosm is a little universe, complete with enfolded potential and unfolded actualization. It is complete within itself, yet intimately entangled with the macrocosmic source.

The process of continuing unfoldment, which produces ego consciousness, mirrors the objective world process of maintaining matter and energy through time. Image and object are constantly interconnected through similarity of pattern. Only the strict focus of attention on personal processes yields the illusion of separateness from the impersonal. Surrendering the false sense of self can open the mind to the greater reality of wholeness. This is a far better state of being than the isolated blindness, fulfilling all emptiness and reconnecting self with cosmic nature. The intellectual journey through darkness, begun during the last aeon of human consciousness, has reached an end in Thelema. "Do what thou wilt shall be the whole of the law."

As the significance of what I'd become set in, I began to see details of this awesome vision. The central twisting thread was black while the torus itself was white. The transcendent background, however, was sheer brilliance reaching far beyond the three dimensions of normal space. This was the great King RAAGIOSL. His omnipresent voice welcomed me to my true estate as a being of transcendence. He proclaimed me as a Lord of all the lower realms and told me to fully realize myself in all states of being. I am to be the All in all, the full holographic image at all scales. Linking the All with the specific opens up a passageway through all scales to expand quantum indeterminacy to the size of human experience. Transcendence is made focused and enduring in physical reality as the coherence of the material world becomes motile and interactive.¹¹ The level of order and complexity increases with time instead of decreasing, as cosmic consciousness becomes focused on a particular perspective. Thus is the process of incarnation and its inherent connection with the universe, containing that which contains it. Projecting this paradoxical complexity to the surrounding world is magick.

After a while in this communion, I left the vision, banished, and closed the temple. The experience had been ultimately fulfilling but overwhelming, which affected my concentration during the closing ceremonies. However, there were no muscle spasms as I was able to handle the profound angelic energies to some degree. Nothing was being warded off or denied. I made some mistakes but nothing of any consequence. The feeling of overwhelm grew less as my contact with the inner planes eased in intensity. I'm confident that I'll soon be ready for the Fire angels. What that will entail, I can't hazard a guess. Greater initiation is coming my way. I must take my time with it. The divine presence that has entered me will guide me through. The angels really want me to succeed in their Path.

LSRAHPM – Mars Senior of Water
 Sunday, February 9, 2003

LSRAHPM, Mars Senior of Water, has been evoked efficiently and completely. All energies were manageable, without overwhelm like the last time. I figured that my attunement to this energy needed to be perfected since my previous attempt met with such difficulty. A complete initiation into all the mysteries of Water is needed to properly prepare for the awesome forces of angelic Fire. Now, I have truly mastered this element and feel ready to begin with Fire tablet evocations next time.

I called forth and was called forth by the angel and was brought to an earthy scene at twilight. The Senior appeared as male this time but was definitely the same essence as encountered in previous evocations. This suggested that a more masculine, even intellectual expression of this spirit was to be conveyed.

LSRAHPM explained that I was to be introduced to a special mystery of Water involved with Earth. We came to a large patch of wet ground and then to a pool of black pitch. It was shiny and I could see my reflection in the obsidian darkness. LSRAHPM said that this was the basis of all matter and energy, their source. This was that foam I'd seen in other Water angel visions.

Then I realized that the watery essence of materiality was the zero point energy, the continuous vacuum fluctuations of quanta that exist throughout spacetime. I've just begun reading a book on harnessing this most subtle basis of the material world, its effect on matter and on consciousness. Interestingly, this hidden nature is referred to as quantum foam. It is purely random and not reachable by the usual means of working with subatomic particles. However, under the right influence, random systems may become self organizing and emerge higher levels of order. Consciousness is an extremely complex example of this phenomenon. The principle of order out of chaos could be used to harness the zero point energy technologically.

Chaos theory describes this type of process, understanding that order eventually emerges from chaos when certain corresponding patterns become established on all scales of size. This polarization of energy flow across the quantum, macroscopic (human), and macrocosmic levels, is called self similarity in mathematics. All the potential for the emergence of order in these realms superpose together to focus a more complete level of organization in chaotic systems. Cells of self similar, self organized order come forth temporarily. The flow of time is altered locally as the tendency for energy to become reduced to its lowest possible state, called entropy in physics, is reversed. Eventually, the source chaos reasserts itself in these systems and the higher order is disbursed. All life, consciousness, and evolution derive from these basic processes.

With all this lore in mind, I projected myself into the pool of dark, viscous liquid and emerged myself therefrom as a powerful whirlwind. Such manifestations of weather are examples of emergent order in the atmosphere. After a time, I withdrew myself from the funnel of dark energy potential and then it ceased to whirl.

Here was Earth, Air, and Water, but no Fire. The heavy Earth could be lightened by certain natural processes to focus energy into highly ordered patterns that could evolve over time, in a continuous cycle of birth and death. These ordered patterns are never destroyed with their disbursal on the physical level. They're preserved in the potential state and can reemerge in ever more complex forms as evolution unfolds. The collective unconscious of species is an example of such transcendent memory. I asked the Senior where the missing Fire was but he said that this was not the tablet to answer such a question. The Fire Tablet angels could answer me.

The message was given and the vision was done so I gave the angel license to depart and closed the temple. Ironically, it was during the closing ceremonies that I felt the orgasmic intensity of power that had overwhelmed me during my previous evocation of LSRAHPM. This time, however, I endured the sensations calmly and maintained poise throughout the experience. I am ready for Fire intensity and mystery.

CHAPTER XI

VISIONS OF THE GREAT SOUTHERN WATCHTOWER OF FIRE SECOND ROUND

ALNDVOD – Luna Senior of Fire
Monday, February 17, 2003

I've evoked ALNDVOD, Luna Senior of Fire, to partial success. A whole new level of transcendent space and psychic functioning has begun to open for me. It is difficult to find words to express the unusual character of the contact, so removed from normal human experience as it is. When transcendent impersonal consciousness first makes itself felt in waking awareness, it initiates new sensations, new visions, new understandings, and a contact with an encompassing field of life that has no correspondence to earthly experience. The energy is sharper, brighter, and causes a response from the totality of individual being that is as holistic as it is ecstatic. Where Water was dark and heavy, Fire is brilliant and hyperdimensionally energetic. All of incarnate life is as a tiny flame in the vast conflagration of angelic Fire.

The vision began as a scene of infinite sky, like that of Air, but with every point therein bursting forth with the essence of joy and song, although there was perfect silence throughout. Sudden bursts of fiery conflagration occurred frequently but then were reabsorbed into the sky field just as suddenly.¹ The blue of the sky was tinged with orange and yellow but these colors were far brighter and more intense than anything the physical eye could register. I call these hypercolors, showing not only the hue but also the essence of the idea of color bursting out at every point.

I was able to maintain this extremely transcendent vision only for brief periods. Each time, the energy became too much for me and my mind's eye fell into total darkness and nullity. I recovered myself and built up the psychic intensity again to achieve another brief glimpse but then fell back to darkness, overwhelmed. More experience with this new level of transcendence and further transformations are needed to channel this most profound energy effectively.

I called upon ALNDVOD while in one of the energized periods of vision. This effort resulted in my Ajna chakra, at the brow, radiating a ring of psychic projection around my physical head. It formed a few inches away from me and then promptly burst into curling blue and yellow flames, seen with the mind's eye's rendering of the space around me. My outer and inner vision spaces coexisted as one harmonious, continuous reality, with each field registering its action independent of the other. My whole nervous system surged with power as I caught glimpses of this great angel in the winking sky of Fire. He showed himself as a great head of pure glory, androgynous and wearing a garland of fluffy white cloud. His facial expression exhibited great thrill and ecstasy.

I got a clear sense of the Senior as myself projected more clearly than with any other angelic projection. I could feel myself there, being the angel in that divine setting as well as my terrestrial self. Yet, the fiction of separation was useful, just as the inner/outer vision space separation was useful, to lift myself from the mundane level to a state of uttermost transcendence. I withdrew my sense of identification with the angel and opened up to receive from that most extreme holoprojection.

ALNDVOD said that I wasn't yet ready to receive the full vision, now only glimpsed before being psychically exhausted by it. The key was to receive more completely than at any previous level of intensity. I perceived very clearly the heaviness and inertness of so much of my nervous system. Somehow, all this had to be volatilized to achieve the full vision of this angel and angelic Fire in general. This evocation was but the first step in my latest initiation. I'll call ALNDVOD again when I'm more prepared. Even now, this angel's first blessing is transmuting my psyche and nervous system, bringing more light to the darkness. I banished and closed the temple feeling cooked to the core.

ALNDVOD – Luna Senior of Fire
Monday, March 21, 2003

I've evoked ALNDVOD, Luna Senior of Fire, for the second time and with much greater success than before.

However, I am dazed by the contact. The energy absorbed is so transcendent and so intense that my center of thought and concentration has become loosened, generalized, less focused. My psychic functioning is fuzzy, diffused. A new kind of consciousness is needed to maintain coherent action while I'm absorbed by the unearthly energies of angelic Fire. A global fusion of field consciousness must be established in order to bring coherence to pure transcendence.

I discovered that the new style of evocation to be adopted for spirits of this caliber is to become the angel called forth and then project my entire enhanced nature onto my visionary/auric sphere of sensation. In doing this, my inner temple visualization became intimately connected to my innermost psyche and my physical temple space. Every object seemed imbued with its astral counterpart, making the very air seem to scintillate with activity. Every point of my vision space burst with fiery conflagration, which immediately canceled itself out. This added remarkable complexity and enhanced dimensionality to every scene and idea. This ubiquitous supercharge is the supreme manifestation of Will, the ultimate angelic Fire. In its myriad activity, all was one force, a transdimensional projection from beyond the confines of spacetime to the most specific coherent point.

The world of Fire, the zero point energy flow, the state of pure Will to emerge into physicality from pure potential, opened up to absorb me. Great rolls and rivulets of brilliant white circulating flame surrounded me on all sides, like the great Watchtower city of the King of Air, but of pure fiery flow. This is the impulse that could focus the forces of nature into a state where time and entropy reverse and higher order evolves. This is the source of True Will that can alter the cosmos in such a way as to emerge events according to individual intention, the process of magick.

I called for a voice to give me a teaching and then heard out of the Fire, "...Will is pure..." Two other attributes to Will were given but the words were garbled in the rush and crash of the coiling energy. Immense power built up in my nervous system at the reception of the voice, like during my last evocation of this angel. It reached a point where I shuddered from head to toe. This muscular action released some of the tension but the supercharge remained, intense yet subtle. There is still some short circuit in my psyche/aura that is disabling my efficient channeling of the raw force of Fire.

The deep, sonorous voice said that the vision was complete and about to end. The Fire dimension folded up all around me, returning to pure potential beyond the universe, and I was again in my physical temple. I banished and closed but with great difficulty concentrating and visualizing. I feel renewed, recreated, reemerged by this profound vision of another reality, the source of the source, having fulfilled the initiation of the Luna Senior of Fire. Evocation of the Mercury Senior of Fire is next.

ANODOIN – Mercury Senior of Fire
Sunday, April 20, 2003

I've evoked ANODOIN, Mercury Senior of Fire, in due form. My astral temple fit perfectly within my physical workspace, adding imminence to every object therein and a sense of energy flow throughout. The physical reached smoothly into the transcendent reality of my inner establishment. The various sigils and grams traced during the opening appeared clearly in the starry space of my torus temple, lighting up the scene with their inherent glow; reds, blues, and gold against the background of the consciousness of the continuity of cosmic existence. This is the magical auric holoprojection field in which I conjure my angels.

Upon calling ANODOIN and entering vision, I immediately saw the angel projected throughout the infinite Fire sky, as encountered in my first evocation of ALNDVOD. The whole scene turned brilliant, billowy white. He called me forth and I was uplifted into the great supersky. His form was of an old man with long white hair and beard, much like clouds. There was no water anywhere, however. Every particle of white essence was zero point energy.

I asked him the mystery of Fire and he told me that it was the gateway to all the worlds. All is connected by Fire. This reminded me of a contemplation I had way back in 1987, when I first began practicing ceremonial magick. It occurred to me that the flames of the candles at the four quarters formed gates through which the elemental energies could flood into physicality and through which I could skry into the spirit realm. I am now convinced that my old speculations are true, based on what the angels have taught me regarding the way psychic energy flows interdimensionally into the surrounding physical world and my own studies of the physics of chaos theory and emergent order. Burning wax is matter undergoing a phase transition, being reduced to smoke and various residual traces and with so much chemical energy being released.

Other phase transitions occur, such as when ice melts into water and when water boils into vapor. Such activity is occurring every second amid the myriad electrochemical interactions of the human brain, yielding many layers of complexity that build up into mind. The focal points of phase transitions open up the worlds of the various scales of size, such as the tiny subatomic realm, the world which is normally understood by human awareness, and the huge celestial level. Patterns at each level align to form transscale, self similar interconnections. These evolve emergent systems of all sizes as well as mental phenomena, such as evocation of spirits and expansion of consciousness.

Emergent order, consciousness included, expands in such fractal (fractional) dimensional patterns. These fall in between the normally understood three spatial dimensions of length, width, and breadth.² The process of expansion into normal space and time makes them spiral through the myriad possibilities of unfoldment potential to weave the complex structures of living systems.

The fractal unfoldment of emergent order follows the organizing principle that takes shape from the aligned transscale patterns. The transdimensional interconnection and the hyperdimensional field resulting from this principle are woven into the underlying fabric of reality to guide matter and energy into complex structures. I speculate that the preceding description answers to what quantum physicists call a quantum coherence field.³

A magical auric holoprojection can interact with this phenomenon to alter its underlying pattern. The Will of the magician is hereby imposed on the emergent system to transmute it into a higher level of order. This is the magick of the Fire philosophers. Elemental Fire is the zero point energy falling into the self similar transcale patterns of emergent order.

The angel went on to say that diversity was the unity of existence. The multiplication was its source. Reality is One. This is what underlies the myriad emergences that create all things. All is evoked by the interaction of the spirals, the interference of the waves of pure Fire. The chaos is the order. There is no meaningful distinction. Reality is a seamless, undivided wholeness.

At that point, an enormous interdimensional spiral of reddish orange Fire erupted all around my vision body and spread throughout my outer vision space as well. My entire reality was taken up by whirling, spiraling flame, the distinction between inside my mind and outside my body dissolved in continuous energetic unfoldment.

The torrent of Fire fusion eventually faded into the background of my psychic scene, giving my nervous system a much needed rest. The ecstasy and the understanding had been extreme but now my enhanced reality was cooling off. The Fire sky scene changed color under the influence of the residual transdimensional circulating current, now with hyperbrilliant reds, oranges, yellows, and amber. They were all interwoven in perpetual movement. These colors were carried by the frequent eruptions of sky Fire in continuing vibrancy, causing my nervous system to excite in sympathy. Happily, I was able to handle this spiking intensity with just a few slight bodily shudders.

Overall, I was comfortable with this level of Fire. My preparation in passing from the Water tablet to the Fire tablet, as well as all my previous training and experience, had really come to fruition in this most potent Work of my life. My efforts to pursue this round of Watchtower evocations correctly and effectively had proven successful in opening up and strengthening the subtle channels of my consciousness and aura. Even after this peak working, the residual energy was evenly distributed throughout my psyche and aura. My Kundalini was enhanced instead of becoming a pillar of blasting Fire which painfully raged up my spine, like during last round. This capability of maintaining the most powerful magical energies in balance will enable greater intensities of supercharge to be channeled. More was certain to come.

ANODOIN told me further that Fire is an infinite focus, continuing with the all-worlds gateway idea. This element focuses the whole of the universe onto specific points, states of becoming something different than before. It is the core of life and mind, connecting all states to all states, self and other. Existence is nothing but the interference of the Fiery spiral wave focusing and refocusing on itself repeatedly, under the guidance of the wholeness of the cosmos which draws it into activity from pure potential. Thus is the stamp of pure Will made manifest.

The fiery scene that surrounded and interpenetrated me reminded me of the Prince of Wands card from the Thoth Tarot deck. This card depicts the human figure driving a chariot drawn by a lion. The lion is an ancient symbol of Fire and an the emblem of the zodiacal sign, Leo. Sure enough, a lion of similar coloring appeared out of the flames and stared at me. I began talking to it but the voice of the angel told me to be silent and receive the lion's subtle, wordless message. After awhile, the lion disappeared back into the coruscating flames and I communed with the transdimensionally circulating flow of mighty force. No new messages, realizations, or power spikes occurred, so I exited the vision and closed the temple in due form. So far, nothing has consciously registered from the lion's communication. Perhaps, it was purely subconscious in nature, never meant to register to self awareness. At any rate, I feel as if I've achieved an understanding of Babalon and the Beast whereon she rides, the ubiquitous spiral connectedness and the cosmic totality.

AAPDOCE – Venus Senior of Fire
Sunday, May 11, 2003

AAPDOCE, Venus Senior of Fire, has been evoked in due form. Words cannot express the glory and wonder of the vision. At best, I can describe the images and shapes of things and simply record that they were wondrous. This is ever the limitation of language when applied to things metaphysical.

The angel appeared as enormous and hyperdimensional, coming to me from the myriad directions of enhanced inner vision, as well as below the floor of my magical temple. My astral temple was also filled with the angel's radiance. She had fiery red hair and a matronly face, somewhat like MARDALA, the great Queen of Air. AAPDOCE called me forth and told me to behold the vision not yet seen. My inner, outer, and astral spaces became one as the blazing infinite sky I beheld towards the end of my last Fire angel vision, with passionately flashing reds, oranges, yellows, and everything in between. The color bursts were there as well, giving a frenetic quality to every point of the sky. Soon the integrated space calmed down to a continuous orange background and a dull yellow tetrahedron, a triangular pyramid, appeared before me. Its six edges were sharply defined and its four points were very pointy. This object began to bounce and whirl about with great energy and speed.

The angel said, “Behold the core of it all.”

The tetrahedron began to expand and unfold, throwing out innumerable projections of triangles and copies of itself in red, orange, and yellow profusions. The swarm of multicolored geometric progressions and flowerings increased to a degree of complexity and dimensional alteration that boggled my mind. Space itself was expanding under the operations of the core structure. Through it all, I noticed that the source of all the action remained unaffected by its activities, no matter how much it unfolded and intermingled with its projections. The projections also intermingled with each other in splashes of color and complex patterning, building the pathways for matter and energy to follow to emerge higher order in normal space. The whole vision was hypnotic and truly wondrous. This order out of chaos is the core phenomenon by which all life and mind evolve.

AAPDOCE told me to approach the temple of the core and see the shrine within. Drawing nearer to the active yet stable tetrahedron, I saw at its center a shining steel sphere with a black equal armed cross jutting out from the top. My intuition understood this emblem to represent the initial emission of equal but opposite quantum particles from the vacuum of pure nothingness, the vacuum fluctuation out of which our universe was born. Each fusion of opposite projections brings those first two primal principles closer to mutual annihilation and return to the nothingness that is their source and destiny. The continuous emergence and instantaneous annihilation of this zero point energy goes on all around us while our source splitting-of-zero-into-two remains eternally separate, eternally poised for reconnection, ever reaching out towards itself in a grand dance of projective interaction. When there is enough emergent order in the cosmos, enough development of consciousness, the first two will finally come together to fulfill each other as well as the destinies of countless intelligences birthed by their mutual passion. The cross is the positive side, expansive and emanating all brilliance, while the sphere is contractive and indrawing, swallowing all light and life. Their mutual interaction has caused the exchange between the metallic brightness of the cross and the darkness of the sphere. They become each other as evolution progresses. Maybe all the zero point energy pairs create universes as they reach toward ecstatic annihilation.

The angel, with a huge arm, took the center device and placed it on my head like a crown. It was inside my crown chakra. I find it interesting that in my MARDALA vision, the Queen of Air placed me in her crown while in this vision, a profound alchemical device was placed in mine. Once again, I've experienced a trade in relationship with the angels, becoming ever more like them as their initiations take full effect.

The Senior told me to wear the crown as a king of Fire, wielding power over all emergence. To control this ultimate alchemical process is to control everything that results from it, including all life and all consciousness. The sphere-cross is truly the crown of all crowns. Intriguingly, it is also an inverted Venus symbol. The Great Mother is the flip side of pure nothingness, the root of all alchemical mystery.

I asked the angel about the nature of the ultimate nothingness out of which the cosmos-creating opposite-pair-split arose. She said that this nullity pervades all emergent order and its products. It lay at the core of each fusion/annihilation pair, which lay at the core of every system of emergent order. At the core of the core of the core of all reality is pure nothingness; nothingness to the sphere-cross to the tetrahedron to life and mind.

I remained for a time beholding the chains of being, feeling the bliss and wonder of the myriad processes going on around me. The angel's final message to me was to be the King of Fire and wield these powers to accomplish my True Will. Eventually, I gave her license to depart and closed the magical temple.

So, it seems I've been made the King of Fire and the Sphere of Fire long before having evoked this ultimate angel of the southern tablet. Is this another time paradox, feeling the effect of a powerful ceremony long before actually doing it? It may be that the seventh Sephirah of Netzach is intended here, the sphere of Fire and Venus, or perhaps the fourth Sephirah of Chesed, to which the "Sepher Yetzirah" attributes Fire. To stand outside of and rule over the magical creative force of all things would constitute me an Exempt Adept, a grade in the Golden Dawn and A.A.⁴ systems of initiation which is attributed to Chesed. This will be something to explore as AAPDOCE's initiation takes full effect. At any rate, my astral crown has been bestowed upon me and remains with me even now.

AAETPIO – Mars Senior of Fire
Sunday, August 10, 2003

AAETPIO, Mars Senior of Fire, has been evoked to fantastic effect. I have been initiated into the next Hall of Fire⁵, a higher state of emergent order than I've ever before experienced. The subtle power that underlies all of space is more awesome than can be described in words. It is overwhelming and of such a high vibration that it feels like extreme holiness. No wonder that whole religions have developed from this reality.

Usually, the Mars Senior of a given tablet initiates the evocator into a mystery involving control and mastery, in preparation for the onramp to the ultimate revelation of the element of that Watchtower. The Jupiter and Saturn Seniors gradually open the inner senses and connections so that they can receive the great power and blessing of the transcendent level, represented by the King. This time, however, there were no control issues dealt with. The whole vision was a grand introduction to a new level of being and becoming, that fused the intellectual enlightenment so many of these angels have bestowed on me with the most exalted connection to pure holiness. This begins my preparation for the grand initiation to come, the ultimate evocation of the Watchtower system.

The vision began with the appearance of AAETPIO as a transdimensional curl of reddish gold light, coming from beyond the cosmos, flowing through all the dimensions of space and mind, and twisting/expanding into my field of inner sight. Each curve of his inconceivably long body passed through a set of partially realized dimensions, spaces implicit within spaces, like an ever unfolding flower. Perhaps, these spatial modalities were created out of normal space by the spiraling effusion of the angel's body instead of them being independently existing backgrounds through which he passed.⁶ Each twist was also an expansion, coming from the infinitesimal that is the immensity of the whole universe⁷ to my incarnate psychic imagination. His serene face was at the end of the curl. Thus, my mind was connected to a pathway through myriad worlds of possibility, out to a state beyond anything I ever before conceived. The Senior told me to prepare myself for something completely new and then hurled me with his Will in the transdimensional direction of his sinuous body of light, out to his source beyond comprehensible reality.

What next struck my whole being is almost impossible to describe, at least in sensible terms. Here is my attempt. The revelation of this newly emerged state of consciousness showed itself as a brilliant white space, wherein every point shimmered and radiated gleaming white, curling snakes of flame. This great vista seemed solid with concentrated shooting, whirling bursts of pure essence of Fire, a cosmic crystal of hard flame filling all of empty space. The character as well as the intensity of this projection/contact was fundamentally different than any Fire scene I'd encountered before this. The only way to describe the impression is ever greater integration of lesser states of Fire to the point of saturation, concentrating power and activity until every spot of my vision space burst into overwhelming intensity and speed. All this was expressing my hyperactivated superconsciousness; a more complete and transcendent holoprojection than I was ever capable of emanating before. It occurred to me that each seraphic point in this vision was a sphere-cross/core zero point energy particle pair, but more energetic in emergence than those that normally extend into physical space. Here were true Hadit-father seeds reaching out from the Nuit-star mother. The psyche is a realm wherein potentials not normally realizable in physicality can emerge and be experienced by incarnate consciousness. Once the revelation is had, all that exists is forever changed.

I lost sight of AAETPIO at this point and remained in that ultimate transcendence for a while. Eventually, I entered more fully into the Fiery space and suddenly the coruscations of energy turned into thick, gray mist. There was no hint of moisture in this mysterious fog. It was perfectly dry and cool to the touch. The angel's booming voice came to me from everywhere and said that I had to pass a test to prove my worthiness to receive the Superlative. Not knowing what to do then, I waited where I was to allow the powers of the vision to guide me. After a short time, I found myself surrounded by a network of fine, white lines that appeared against the gray mist. A bright, white ball of light marked every intersection of two lines. I felt myself begin to distort and then unravel in a complex way, falling apart in myriad directions at once. My vision body was split down the middle, from head to foot, and then each half was reduced to gray mist. I found myself floating bodiless, completely formless, mist lost in mist. Time passed. Then, all of a sudden, I was whole again, in my vision body, remade from the mist that filled all of my inner space.⁸

So initiated and transformed to the core of my being (again), I moved forward through the mist and soon came to what seemed to be the wall of a large castle. However, the wall itself was only a thickening of the all pervasive gray mist. Eventually, the obscurity cleared up in my vicinity and I could see an entryway into a dark hall. The hall turned out to be a passage through the mist but at the end, there was just more fog. I tried to walk out the other end of the hall but some unseen barrier prevented me from doing so. Perplexed, I walked out the way I'd come and reentered the obscuring grayness. A feeling of blindness and helplessness came over me.

Suddenly, a brilliant golden key appeared floating in the mist before me. It was about half my size and glowed with warmth and life. It consisted of thick, golden lines that bent into two rounded rectangles, touching each other. One end was flat and the other bent into the classical shape of an ancient key.

A new bodiless voice came echoing through the mist and said, "Can you answer the mystery of the Superlative?"

Immediately, the key and I were moved into a long, dark hallway, different from the one before. At its end, there was a room that opened off to the right. Therein, I found an old man with a very long white beard and hair, wearing flowing white robes. He was in every way a classical wizard figure. I found him sitting on the floor of the empty room, in a meditative posture, facing a screen from which shown soft, white light.

The wizard opened his eyes, looked up at me, and asked, "What is this key used for?"

I thought for a minute in bewilderment and then was inspired to answer, "It unlocks the Superlative."

At that, he stood up, smiling broadly, and impressed the key onto my aura in the same way that the Jupiter Senior of Air had done with that symbol of utmost secret nature. These are permanent fixtures in my energy body, radiating their meaning to me always. My set of astral accoutrements was expanding.

At this point, I felt a rise of anxiety in the pit of my stomach but there was no discernable cause. A rush of supercharge began to spread throughout my nervous system that caused me much stress. Something was happening in my subconsciousness that was being covered by the ornate vision. Also, it was very hot in my apartment and my physical body was sweating profusely. I hoped that something in my inner experience would indicate what was happening.

The old wizard beckoned toward the screen. Therein, I saw a whirlwind of might and energy, which had appeared in several of my dreams. It was like a nuclear blast, which had so overwhelmed me that I was immediately awakened by its force. Now, here it was on the screen, although somewhat muted as a two dimensional figure. It wasn't as bright as it appeared in my dreams. I could face it fully, without panic. Here was a force beyond anything in my waking experience, magical or otherwise. It was pure, raw force but unusable and destructive.⁹

The wizard told me that this was the power of the Superlative and that I should strive to overcome it and use it. I gazed at the nuclear blast whirlwind of such awesome power and knew that this was the source of my rising anxiety. It also came to me that the unusual shape of the golden key modeled the dimensional twists I'd experienced during the discorporation of my vision body earlier on. The feelings of anxiety and nerve supercharge were becoming intense by this time, so the wizard told me to return to the world. Before exiting my trance, I asked the old man who he was. He said he was the Wizard Ebelijah. That's my magical name! Here is a strong metaphor for self initiation. Could it be that a future self had reached back to his past to help initiate his former self? Now there's time paradox!

I returned to the world and closed the magical temple in due form but even in the aftermath of the superconscious contact, I felt as if I'd just been through a hellish experience. Deep down in my psyche, I really must have been overwhelmed by the revealed energies. Something about that nuclear blast intensity whirlwind devastates me to a great degree. Eating dinner has helped to balance me in mind and body. The analysis of today's contact should reveal remarkable truths in the coming days. I hope that this vision will set me on the road to being able to not only conquer my fear of this profound Superlative force but also to learn how to harness it for my Will and my magick.

ADOEOET – Jupiter Senior of Fire
 Sunday, August 31, 2003

ADOEOET, Jupiter Senior of Fire, has been successfully evoked in due form. I have experienced another revolution of consciousness, another complete transformation of being both internal and external. It used to be that an entire tablet of initiatory angels had to be evoked fully, culminating in the revelation of the King, to achieve this complete a leap in transcendence. Now, with Fire, every angel has yielded a remarkable, earth shattering, life altering initiation, beyond imagination and perhaps, beyond the universe. Such is the exploration of cosmic transcendence, transcendent impersonal consciousness.

The new perfection was felt at the very outset of this working. I achieved a profound degree of clarity and intensity with all the visualizations involved in the opening ceremonies. All of my prior efforts in projecting hyperdimensional and transdimensional magical images and opening up inner plane spaces to hold them had reached an ideal issue. The composite red and blue hexagrams drawn during purification and consecration emanated the energy of the Golden Dawn tradition, filling my magical workspace with an atmosphere of holiness which could only have come from the egregore of the True and Invisible Order. I hadn't felt this type of beatitude since my days in a Thelemic oriented Golden Dawn style order. For the first time, my personal magick had matched the power and glory of that magnificent group establishment. I had created a true temple of Golden Dawn style magick as an emissary of the True and Invisible Order. My Work has been truly blessed and justified in perfection.

The Jupiter Senior of Fire emerged at every point of my vision space, the surrounding physical space, my innermost being, and the outermost extent of my holoprojections, complete at each spot and yet one continuous hyperdimensional, all encompassing person throughout. The angel appeared as an enormous, stately, old man with long, white, curly hair and beard. He called me forth by my magical name, Ebelijah, and told me to learn the mystery not yet revealed. All along, this mystery had been implied in all that had gone before but never overtly shown. Now, it was to be revealed at last.

The angel led me forward into vision with a gentle impetus from all around me and beneath me. His titan hand gestured toward an object floating in space that turned out to be a golden rose of many petals. It shown with brilliance like the sun, so that I could barely look at it.¹⁰

ADOEOET said in a thunderous voice, “Behold the great mystery that has now been revealed. It is the Rose of Gold, the transcendence beyond the ultimate transcendence. Come and take up this Rose and fulfill the destiny of humanity.”

I took the Rose in my hand and instinctively placed it on my forehead, in my brow chakra. My entire aura became supercharged with solar golden radiance but I was not overwhelmed by the energy. My inner and outer spaces became suffused with this glow, interpenetrating the interdimensional plenum that was the Senior’s presence. I felt/saw a great golden ring expand outward from my forehead to an extreme distance, both in vision space and out from my physical body, as well as all the dimensions in between. This hyperdimensional, transdimensional band carried along my sense of self as it reached through the barriers that hold existence together. By a consciously chosen act, I had taken another auric symbol unto myself and been transformed into a direct channel of the force that descends into the realm of normal space and time from the ultimate transcendence to constitute all mind, matter, and experience. The great solar golden Rose was blooming into wondrous life upon my crosslike body to lighten all the worlds of verging potential.¹¹

Then, the scene grew very dim and even the space surrounding my body relaxed in intensity. I found myself in a dull, grayish black area pervaded by a sense of imminent potential emergence. Once again, a thick, dark veil was covering me after a transcendent revelation of brilliant light. All went quiet for a while as I floated bodiless in a null space.

Then, a circle of light appeared before my mind's eye. A long series of rapidly shifting images were flashing from inside it, including the Sun-Rose glow I just saw.

The booming voice of ADOEOET came to me from all directions and said, "Behold how anything perceived is necessarily within oneself. All experience is an internal dialog but the self is always beyond it, encompassing it. There is no way to reach outside oneself since one is always beyond the perception of events. Be one, then, with that which brings perception to the mind. Merge with vergence."

I then understood that the vision space around me was the vergence field, that cosmic focusing of potential from which all actuality directly emerges. I knew myself to be the connection between vergence and emergence, the cosmic - holistic principle that is omnipresent in all experience and phenomena. All the whirls and rushing of the mind were just so much chaos before my true being, not of me at all. I am entirely beyond all such operations, aloof, alone. I am the core of the Solar-Phallus, the secret of all human life, yet, outside it, containing it. I was contained by what I contain, outside and inside at once. This was a completely new mode of consciousness, different than any mere expansion of awareness, a fusion of vergence and emergence, potential and actuality. I was one with the cosmic inspirer.

Several jolts of anxiety shot through my body as I maintained this new state of being.¹² I asked ADOEOET to show me the cause of the fear. The new sense of inside – outside wonder became clearer to me and I asserted this as my true and proper state of being. All fear dissolved at once. Such was the angel's wordless answer. I remained in this cosmic, transcendent unity for some time longer but nothing new occurred, so I exited the vision and closed the magical temple.

It is the destiny of all humanity to realize their true natures as cosmic principles of emerging life potentials, outside the world and beyond the experience of sense perceptions and mental processes. I have realized this step forward, which will make it easier for others to do the same. The circle of light wherein all my incarnate experiences continually flash in confusion is the Wheel of Samsara. The true nature of consciousness is ultimately independent of such chaos. The roar of the mind, which I noticed for the first time, having finally reached beyond it, is merely so much material energetic complexity. The source of life's becoming belongs to a different realm. Life and death are simply turns in the wheel of material emergence of biological processes, the wheel of the Gunas.¹³ Body consciousness wants to maintain the psyche's attachment to it. Rising beyond this limited state of attachment to foreign processes can be frightening at first. It scared me. However, acceptance of the truth yields liberation from all fears and their causes, realizing a state of pure ease. Only the wholeness of what is, is real, the ocean of pure being.

ARINNAP – Saturn Senior of Fire
 Sunday, September 28, 2003

ARINNAP, Saturn Senior of Fire, has been evoked in due form. The temple setup and opening were even more powerful and clear than before, the inner plane temple setting unfolding with more complex dimensionality than ever. This particular expression of my deep psyche is becoming ever more integrated with my magically enhanced vision reality. The sense of holiness and transcendence were immediate and effective in providing a fitting backdrop for my ceremonial evocations.

Upon entering vision, I perceived my inner plane identity as the Wizard Ebelijah surrounding me in the form of the eighth chakra, the great lotus wherein I exist as the stamen of the flower. The ancient face and body of the great wizard appeared on each petal while simultaneously encompassing the whole lotus as one continuous being. This was my whole Self complex, projected from that great source being whose head was constituted by my entire vision body. The angel ARINNAP appeared before the three expressions of me, MegaSelf, self, and projection, as a young man with thick, black, curly hair and beard. The Senior called me forth by my incarnate name and my inner plane name, summoning the fully unfolded three-in-one self complex to his reality. We stood together in the infinite starry space of Nuit and partook of the consciousness of the continuity of existence, all space and time and experience, as never ending flow and field.¹⁴ The ecstasy came from all the elements of vision at once, with myself as a small part in the overall joy.

“Come to the distant star.” said the great angel, pointing out to the myriads of stars that surrounded us, splashes from the milk of the paps of Nuit and the spate of ejaculation from the great Serpent Hadit.

I tried to move toward the star pointed to, instantly feeling a deep affinity for the distant glittering point, but it moved farther away the more I strove to reach it. The angel said that the distant star is who I truly am, the one star of all the stars from which I emerge. I relaxed and allowed my sense of unity with the special star to grow and suddenly, it rushed up and collided with me with enormous force. All the spaces and images and dimensions around me erupted with brilliant white fire, every spot a blazing sun. I felt my field of self blown all over the universe to join in every part of the body of Nuit in even greater wholeness and ecstasy than before. My psyche emerged in every twinkle and shine of every star, every expanse of dark emptiness, every moment and event.

The angel waved his hand and a great throne appeared in the midst of the stellar intensity. I sat down on this throne and ARINNAP placed a dark blue circlet on my head. The golden rose that I'd placed on my forehead in the previous vision moved on top of the circlet and affixed itself in place, still shining as before. The Senior said that this throne was at once made of gold and brass.¹⁵ Then, a small serpent head emerged from the center of the golden rose to complete an Egyptian style crown. The priest of the Gnostic Catholic Church wears this crown during Mass. The heart girt with the serpent and the egg surrounded by a serpent were ideas that relate to this symbolism.¹⁶

I remained like this for some time, feeling that my whole self was undergoing truly amazing transformations but I could only perceive their dimmest echoes. Eventually, ARINNAP told me to return to the world so I exited the trance and closed the magical temple in due form. My every action and word seemed clothed with holiness.

Thus, I've now been confirmed in a high celestial office, at one with the most transcendent natures and the earthiest experience. A Priest/Wizard crown has been bestowed on me in preparation for the coming apex of this Enochian operation, the evocation of the great King of Fire. I still feel the reverberations of that stellar impact. The Path of Thelema leads truly to beyond the beyond.

Later that night...

I've become aware of my whole Self more clearly than ever before. The stars in my visions are simply so many focuses of Self's attention. I no longer perceive myself to be the center of things but rather one among many intelligences projected by this master of being. This source of consciousness is pure impersonal being, the inspirer of emergence, truly Saturnian in nature. This state of impersonality is what the Fire King tried to introduce me to during my first evocation of him but wasn't quite able to succeed. This time, he'll be free to take me further.

All is brilliant light in the mind of the Whole. It appears as darkness to a point consciousness still obsessed with its own centrality. Embracing its relative and common nature allows a clearer perception of the impersonal being as pure light, of a nature so far beyond the little point projection. The broader context yields understanding of True Will.

EDLPRNAA – King of Fire
Friday, November 28, 2003

EDLPRNAA, Great King of the South and Fire, has been evoked in due form. This was by far my greatest magical working and, happily, I am not overwhelmed by the most extreme energies generated by this most wondrous experience.

I am completely transformed by the grand initiation, not only in psychic functioning but also in outlook and understanding. With this ultimate connection, my vision transcended time itself.¹⁷ I now feel true peace, having achieved such power, love, and wisdom.

Upon entering vision I saw a field of red tetrahedral flames emerging smoothly out of a black background of space. Then, I heard a high pitched roar and saw steadily flowing streams of particulate energy explode everywhere in a great whirlwind of power. The torrent soon quickened to an extreme degree, changing color from red to the brilliant blue of the hottest possible fire. The roar sounded continuously as these flames engulfed me, sending an extreme rush through every nerve in my body. My mind and aura were supercharged as never before, surpassing even the Superlative in intensity. I was able to withstand the onslaught of this psychic nuclear blast as it enveloped every fiber and energy of my being at all levels. The angels had trained me well for this supreme ordeal of quickening.

The inner and outer blazing blue flames resolved themselves before my dazzled mind's eye into none other than the Nighthawk, first seen in a profound and mysterious spontaneous vision I had in 1986, seventeen years before, and hinted at during my evocation of the Air King.¹⁸ He was hyperdimensionally huge, filling every partial and completely unfolded space, from inside the deepest recesses of my mind, out to the world around me, and beyond to the farthest horizon. His outstretched wings extended toward me and away from me at the same time, both near and far. This creature of pure Fire was exactly that which had shown itself to me seventeen years ago but was now close and in full communion with me¹⁹. His roaring caw had a much lower pitch than before, commensurate with his expanded size. This was EDLPRNAA, the greatest King of the Southern Watchtower and the element of Fire.

In a booming voice that sounded above the continuous hawk roar, the King told me to be a master of destiny, to own and affirm my life in all its circumstances. Every event must be thought of as an act of True Will and not as an unavoidable occurrence. I am never to think of myself as a helpless victim of the world around me, a slave to the appearances of life on earth. To be a real magician, I must affirm even the greatest trials and dangers as completely in accord with my True Will and not disasters tragically suffered in a harsh, unfair reality. I and the universe of space and time, events and experiences, are one.

He told me to look outward in my mind and I saw the tetrahedral red flame currents in the black space that appeared at the beginning of this vision. Beyond this, I beheld my own face, interpenetrating everything and the nothing out of which it emerges. I am one in All-in-all, the master of every inner becoming and life circumstance. I am the ubiquitous principle of all emergence patterns, the stable archetype by which all multiplicity derives. I am the All-State in which every cell, thought, feeling, and energy projection is connected.²⁰ I am one with that wholeness out of which all matter, energy, and consciousness emerge. All as each and every am I, whole and part, a true holographic existence. I am truly a focus of cosmic attention and supercosmic intent, center of the intersection of the life wave and the destiny wave which crisscross the fractal web of spacetime, its vergence field, and its null basis. I am the strange attractor and its emergent order.²¹

I remained in this superconnected and holistic beatitude, a master of destiny, for a long time but then the King told me that the vision was finished. I returned to the world of discrete events and closed the magical temple in due form. Now, I feel refreshed, remade, at ease, and fulfilled completely, without any ill aftereffects.

Thus, I've produced the paradox of my own magical becoming, unexpectedly called to the Great Work that night long ago, before ever practicing any form of occultism but having read about it for a few years. Now, I called forth what called me forth, then and now, uniting the paradoxical impulse of destiny with today's climactic revelation. This time warping influence was so powerful that two moments, seventeen years apart, were brought together. I live in time paradox, a future past of wonder in the mundane, workaday world of twenty-first century America. The new ultimate transcendence will now unfold in my life and mind as I work my job each day during the week. Magick and normality coexist in an experience where the subtlest potential and motivation are firmly united with the most overt and predictable circumstance. Fusion of opposites reveals beyond the beyond.

CHAPTER XII

VISIONS OF THE GREAT TABLET OF UNION

SECOND ROUND

RMTO – Earth of Spirit
Sunday, February 15, 2004

RMTO, Earth of Spirit angel of the Tablet of Union, has been evoked in due form. I decided to continue to employ the hexagram ritual in preparation to evoke these angels of the Tablet of Union in order to provide a sense of continuity of practice and to maintain the level of intensity developed with it. My conjurations are more closely linked in this way.

I was hit with a sudden intense burst of ecstasy just before setting up the magical temple, an immediate paradoxical future-connect to the evocation to come. These time shifts are bound to occur more frequently and powerfully now that the great King of Fire has uplifted me to the metatime state. I was able to recover from this episode of ecstatic paradox and assembled the magical temple with the usual detail.

The actual contact with this angel turned out to be gentler than the initial time shifted burst. Perhaps, the ecstasy was more than my consciousness could register, causing me to filter the intensity to a more muted level. In any case, my vision unfolded before me as the vast cosmic space with every scale of size and every partial dimension expressed with crystal clarity. Every point therein was luminous with all the most brilliant colors imaginable. Spiral patterns surrounded and flowed through each, layer upon layer of focus and flow in a ubiquitous self referential process. Here was physical space represented in its totality, one in All as One, an interconnected holographic plenum. The global connectedness in this trance was similar to that experienced during that greatest of visions with the King of Fire but the flow of becoming lacked that scintillating quality of the most active of elements. Earth of Spirit had a stable quality in the midst of its continuous functioning, a true metalevel of physicality.

Out of this ecstatic, holistic joy unfolded a giant head bathed in yellow light, whose facial expression was one of purest ecstasy. The head was of an old man with the usual long, white, curly hair and beard of an angel, very neatly quaffed and symmetrical. RMTO told me that there is perfect connection in the universe. A change to the whole system is instantly reflected in every point therein, all microcosms in and of themselves, and any change to any point is immediately emulated by every other, as well as the whole field.¹

I partook of the joy of this perfect integration on all scales of size and sets of dimensions and gazed at the yellow lighted head of RMTO.² I holoprojected my Will into the plenum and emerged wispy streams of yellow intelligence that joined in the continuous tapestry of interconnection.

RMTO bestowed his blessing and initiation on me then. I felt my entire being open in a more complete way than ever before. The receiving was so total that there was nothing left of me but a bubble of concentrated becoming, in which the whole of the universe of Spirit focused itself. Every nerve and spark of individual consciousness was open to this transcendence and so transformed thereby into another kind of life, another kind of being. I abode in this pure, ecstatic beatitude for some time as a new species of consciousness. Giving the angel license to depart, I closed the temple with the same old body but controlled by a new mind. Every thought seemed like a new universe. Every feeling was a novel creation. Every second of perceived time was a revelation of wonder. Eventually, a shadow of normalcy took hold of my concrete mind so that I could continue my mundane existence, but the overall transformation was permanent.

The lessons of this profound initiation manifested all at once as complete chains of ideas and understanding in my mind. To transform personal consciousness is to change the entirety of existence, if that change is complete enough. Magick demands that the entire psyche be wielded as one complete whole, not the slightest trace of psychic energy left out. Only this can make a holoprojection powerful enough to emerge a highly unlikely order in the surrounding world of chaos and entropy. The element of Spirit is the quintessential holistic integration that makes magick possible. My improved understanding, developed during this second round of Watchtower evocations, will help me to realize this metalevel of Spirit more completely than before. I will be able to understand the Tablet of Union angels far better this way and finally complete this system of initiation in perfection. Practical material magical work may follow.

XCAI – Air of Spirit
 Sunday, March 28, 2004

XCAI, Air of Spirit angel of the Tablet of Union, has been evoked in due form. He appeared as a swirl of fiery white light and evoked me as well. We then united to achieve a full circuit of interdimensional paradoxical consciousness. My first clear vision was of the anticosmos of white space and black stars, just as in my first evocation of XCAI. Soon, the black suns that were submergences³ in this reality dissolved into the background whiteness. Tremendous surges of brilliant white energy then began coursing through this antispacetime. White flames erupted from the power flow, causing infinite movement throughout. The whole of this universe had become alive.⁴

A great angel head unfolded within the brilliant white cosmic scale conflagration, a truly transscale and hyperdimensional manifestation. His was the classic appearance, with white hair and beard, perhaps the same angel as RMT0 but with a slightly different aspect. The nature of Spirit is unity and the Tablet of Union lacks the clear differentiation of the Watchtowers. This uniformity is bound to be reflected in the angels of this tablet.

XCAI told me to partake of the mystery of joy, the mystery beyond the universe. I felt myself unfolding continually along with the Spirit angel as one comprehensive becoming. My aura opened under the influence of the vision. Especially my heart chakra expanded beyond the confines of my physical body. The other auric lotus wheels expanded as well but to a lesser extent, all except my crown center. This grandest of power processes hadn't reached full development yet. Transdimensional curls of white fire, the zero point energy seen in my vision of the Luna Senior of Fire, poured through the open portal of my psychic/auric unfoldment to surround my body and flood the magical temple. I'd become a source/focus of supercosmic emergent unfoldment.

I asked XCAI about the crossover point between the two universes, where submergence meets emergence. All the brilliance and fiery flow of my anticosmic vision darkened into a dim, twilit scene. Every point therein was charged with extreme power but was not luminous. The energy therein was potential but closer to actualization than in normal space, a more direct vergence. All the while, the zero point energy whirls continued to flow through the wide open gate of my aura and nervous system into the magical temple.

I came to realize that union with my metalevel angelic holoprojection had completed my metapsychic circuit. XCAI had raised me to the state of supercosmic transcendence, the true source of Will. The whole spectrum of purpose, from cosmic intent to the individual True Will of every living system, derives from this ultimate beyond, creating and created by all manifestation. All the myriads of relationships which bind together matter and energy into bodies and intelligences are united here. Transcendence is the source of coherence. The novel states of complexity which develop out of the background possibility of the cosmos shape this All-State by bringing it into greater connectedness with the physical world.

The holomovement is quickened into more intense life.

This was the full unfoldment of transcendent impersonal consciousness that had eluded me during my first round of Enochian Watchtower evocations. I'd finally gained sufficient initiation and magical contact with the subtler states of being to become open enough to reach the source of sources, the inspirer of all action and purpose. My psyche and aura had become complex and connected enough to channel the All-State directly. The universe of my existence had been transformed into something new.

With this grand realization, I exited vision, banished, and closed in due form. I remain as an open gate, although the zero point energy is no longer flowing through me. The interdimensional lotus wheel of my being has flowered to receive inspiration from a new level of life under the blessing and initiation of XCAI.

Later that night...

It struck me as strange that the evocation of the Air of Spirit angel revealed such a fiery and Will oriented vision. After much contemplation, I realized that the element of Active Spirit is a highly energetic principle, just as Passive Spirit is stable in its holistic connectedness, a truth revealed by the Earth of Spirit angel. It is with great insight that the elements of Fire and Spirit are attributed to the same Path of Shin on the Tree of Life. The fires in today's vision were expressions of the hyperdimensional motion of a supercosmic principle that creates and sustains everything in existence. This reality could only appear as brilliant white flowing flames. The far reaching opening of my psyche and aura to the cosmic transcendence, especially at my heart center, is a trance of Tiphareth and corresponds to the nature of Air of Spirit. No doubt, what lay ahead with the higher elemental aspects of Spirit will echo these truths on an even more sublime and profound level.

AONT – Water of Spirit
Sunday, June 13, 2004

AONT, Water of Spirit angel of the Tablet of Union, has been evoked to wondrous effect. I now feel overwhelmed with a sense of joy and expansion which I've never known before. The Enochian system of magick never fails to yield ever greater peak experiences, ever more wondrous and intense emergences of spiritual transcendence and power. Dee and Kelly were in touch with something far beyond their imaginations, a distant future connect paradox of unlimited initiatory and transformative acceleration. This paradox reached even to today's temple opening. The background space surrounding my inner plane temple was quickened into the white flame cosmos revealed during my last evocation. My ceremonies were able to form a pocket of order and coherence in this blazing maelstrom, a focusing of supercosmic torrent into a sensible projection. It is uttermost wonder how each peak experience serves as the backdrop for the next, each superconscious projection leaping forwards as an entire aeon of cosmic and human unfoldment. As I accelerate evolutionarily, I can accelerate ever faster.

AONT appeared from out of the brilliant white, flooding flames surrounding my temple as a complete male figure of indeterminate age, both young and old, with fluffy white hair and beard, like clouds. He called me forth and I joined him out among the fires of joy. Streams of orange and yellow particles⁵, like tiny confetti, began upwelling in great spirals all around us. In their movements were purest joy and ecstasy. The angel told me to receive from all, yet be one.

Here was the Elixir of Life. Mix gold with gold and silver or electrum magicum and channel this through the processes of emergent order, the totality of the psyche at all levels, to confect the Philosopher's Stone. From this, generate the Elixir of unlimited Life. I felt my nerves open up to receive these streams of orange and yellow life. They were transmuted to purest gold, every last one. Receive from all, yet be one.

A greater sense of wholeness of reality took shape in my mind that remains with me still. A new complexity of totality emerged from my enhanced and transmuted nervous system, exciting me with new sensations of transcendence and interconnectedness. A greater metalevel had been evolved. AONT told me to take this into my heart, into my mind, and into my soul. My ecstasy developed into a sense of supreme religious beatitude and holiness, the likes of which were first revealed to me during my Water angel evocations of this round. Now, however, the energy was purified and rarified and very bright. Here was pure spirituality, devoid of any doctrine or belief, direct connection to that which religion can only hint at. Be all, and yet one emerged pure godhead in heart, mind, and soul.⁶ Emergence and the power behind it are holy and worthy of most heartfelt love.

The vision space became filled with universe bubbles similar to the one I'd become in response to RMTO's blessing. They were each a complete reality, a complete course of evolution of matter and energy in space and time. Yet, each was a part of the Limitless Light of the true source of existence and the potential thereof. These were my coherent holoprojections in this state of ultimate transcendence.

The vision was completed so I gave AONT license to depart, knowing absolutely that I was he and he was I. Mine is the flow of orange and yellow essences that transform me and uplift me to the next beyond. The closing was somewhat difficult, with so much supercharged psychic energy flooding my aura. What a brilliant success in magick this whole course has been. Much more will unfold from me in time to come.

PAAM – Fire of Spirit
Sunday, August 8, 2004

PAAM, Fire of Spirit angel of the Tablet of Union, has been evoked to truly wondrous effect. It's moments like these that make life worthwhile, which make existence justified. Once again, my inner being and the universe in which I live have been transformed.

The vision began in darkness, with a red pentagram far off in the distance. Then, from behind me came a deep, gruff voice that said, "Ha! You have missed the angel. I am Satan and you have got me!"⁷

He popped out from behind me on my left side, all grizzled and black, a bestial human like figure. I instantly recognized him as an aspect of myself, having met this negative projection in other visions.

I said to him, “I know you, Satan, and I’m not afraid.⁸ Come with me and partake with me of the blessing of the angel, PAAM, you, your servitors, and your servitors’ servitors, everyone. Let no one be left behind.”

A great burst of all encompassing, impersonal love entered my heart and I knew then that this test had been passed successfully.

The pentagram in the distance came to me then and entered my vision body, filling every nerve with its glorious supercosmic presence. My limbs were the lines of this great star of five. My entire being had been integrated into perfectly proportional beauty (beatitude). This supreme state of transcendence called an even greater supercosmic response as a milky white ray of pure light entered my head from infinitely high above me. Every atom, every spark, was imbued with pure and perfect love. The ecstasy became overwhelming as this milk from the ultimate transcendence pushed through every resistance to its flow through my every state and focus of consciousness. I withstood the joy and grace and drank in the love as much as possible with my all and each.

A voice of beauty came to me and said, “Accept the Milk of the Stars and shine it to all the worlds.”

I knew then that the Fire of Spirit angel, PAAM, was with me, bestowing on me his blessing and initiation. I bade all the worlds of which I am the nexus to receive the Milk of the Stars and transmit it throughout. I am the Gate connecting many worlds and I weave my consciousness with alternate realities. I am also the Gatekeeper, a personality that guides the workings of the Gate who I am.⁹

Suddenly, a great and thickly cloudy darkness erupted out of me, shooting far above my head. A deep and menacing voice said, "I am the darkness and evil that always accompanies the Light. I am its inescapable correlate. There is no Good where I am not."¹⁰

I accepted and embraced the rising darkness and continued to drink in the descending light. A hexagram formed over me, made up of a white ascending triangle and a black descending triangle. These colors were opposite to the directions of the flow of forces focusing on my vision presence and so indicated a reversal of the original relationship. The highest and the lowest aspects of my psyche had melded to generate a new complexity of holographic connectivity. This new internal reality was expressed by yet another magical figure which had been permanently impressed into my aura, just like the red pentagram described above. I took an oath then to always bring together the worlds, good, evil, or indifferent, in perfect harmony, to bestow the blessing of the Milk of the Stars. Rejection of any kind was now contrary to my spirituality and my magical formula.

The element of Fire has a dark, evil side that cannot be escaped. The principle of subconscious inversion of the meaning of symbols is clearly operative here. So many of the dream symbols reported in the annals of psychology represent the opposite of their obvious meaning. Often, the appearance of a little girl or a small man indicates the presence of the Higher Self. The ultimate truth behind such fusions of opposite meanings is beyond the rational mind and pertains to a metalevel of consciousness. Light and darkness, good and evil, love and hate, are all two sides of the same transcendent coin. This metalevel understanding uplifts one from the obsession with culture and sectarian attachment. Truth may be more directly apprehended. In this way may I, the Gate, project my Will to my surroundings to emerge higher order in accordance therewith.

I remained in this beatific ecstasy for some time, experiencing the fullness of complete being. Then, I called upon PAAM to show himself and he appeared in the center of a giant black hexagram as a black upright tau cross.¹¹ His dark bearded face was on the left side of the vertical bar. His expression was one of pure peace and fulfillment. From this, I understood that the force of creation was the force of evolution and the inspirer of spiritual enlightenment. It is magick in its purest form.

Nothing else was revealed in this vision so I gave the angel license to depart, banished, and closed the magical temple in due form. Underlying all my ritual actions was the certitude that I remain the focus of and emanator to the worlds. Thus is the action of Fire in its most sublime form.

EHNB – Spirit of Spirit
Saturday, October 9, 2004

I have evoked EHNB, Spirit of Spirit angel of the Tablet of Union, to excellent effect, thus completing this second round of elemental Watchtower evocations and crowing five and a half years of Work. Now I have completed and fulfilled what was done only partially during the first round. More than this, all the lessons and processes initiated during my time with the magical orders have reached a climax in this achievement. The Path of the Enochian angels is realized.

The vision began in total darkness, the black of passive Spirit. The bodiless voice of EHNB came rolling through the vision space, calling me forth, and proclaiming me as having fulfilled the evocation of the Watchtowers. He congratulated me for having come this far as I moved further into the vision. I beheld a dim light off in the distance and moved towards it, as it did towards me. It grew brighter as we drew closer and finally resolved into a blazing white rose of forty-nine petals. The angel bade me to sit in the center of it, as on a throne of angelic rulership. I did so and was surrounded by wavy petals that shimmered with the light of the ultimate eighth chakra.

The background space of the vision began to lighten and before me appeared another white rose, but smaller and with fewer petals. It began to fall into and through itself, each white petal rolling along the inside and outside of the flower. Then, the head of the angel EHNB unfurled out of this complex circulation made of pure, white light. He declared that I was a Lord of the Angels of the elemental Watchtowers and so was in full command of all the entities therein, including the four Kings. I felt the power and control bestowed by this coronation. All the magical devices that had been impressed into my aura intensified and resonated in perfect harmony. The Serpent Crown around my head vibrated with this energy. All the powers and contacts that had been developed throughout my Enochian magical Work, especially the nuclear blast intensity Key of the Superlative, came to focus in one all encompassing integration. The entire vision came to shine with brilliant white light.

EHNB's head began to spin, and it unfolded into a ten pointed star. He said, "Behold how the Ten is the entire universe but also merely the pendant and outcome of all before it. So let all be one as a whole and in every part thereof.”¹²

I felt my being expand throughout the inner cosmos of brilliance, as the whole and in every point therein, emerging in every scale of size and form. Angels big and small began appearing all over the place. The entire concourse of the Watchtowers was soon arrayed before me, from the great Kings to the tiniest servients.¹³ I gazed at their amassed wonder as I sat on my rose throne.

“Declare your Word, oh Lord of the Angels, and bring forth your Will through these angels,” said EHNB, now having fully appeared, far larger even than the Kings to express his ultimate transcendent station.

I declared my Word to be “Futiquity,” the simplest of ultimate expressions of what my intensions are in my life, to encourage the realization of the awesome futuristic potential revealed to humanity in this grand new age.

I commanded the angels of my magical projections to unfold this Will in all the worlds of vision, to fulfill the new consciousness of the Aeon of Horus. The angels entered into complex whirling, spiraling movements to emerge my creative impulse in their reality. I felt the power of my authority over this concourse that I’d earned through my many angelic initiations, a vital part of any phenomenological magick. My Word echoed throughout the vision space, carried by my ubiquitous presence in every scale of size and form and yet transcendent to all. This was the metalevel of my magick, a perfect fulfillment of all my personal Work as well as everything achieved through the initiatory orders in which I’d participated. Ever increasing power coursed through my physical body from head to foot, flooding every nerve and cell in a torrent of passion. Kundalini flows downward when used for magical projection.

I easily adjusted to this totality power and knew that I'd come as far in transformation as this regimen of magick could take me. The angelic power and initiation had been mastered. Now, I was at the controlling metalevel as a Lord of the Angels. My aura is fully charged, functioning, and integrated. I am ready to work confidently with the lesser Kerubic and Servient angels of the subquadrants of the elemental Watchtowers. Geoffrey James' book, "The Enochian Magick of Dr. John Dee," has clear instructions on how to do this work.

Fully satisfied with the vision and the level of mastery achieved, I gave the concourse and EHNB license to depart. I closed the magical temple in a state of calm, controlled ecstasy, fully confident as a Lord of the Angels, and looking forward to practicing new Enochian systems of magick.

CHAPTER XIII

IN CONCLUSION

My journey through the Enochian Watchtowers is complete and yet there is so much more to do. The angelic superconscious projections have taken me through the heights and depths of my mind and unveiled the human collective consciousness. It proved to be the source of all human destinies and wisdom as well as the repository of all human experience and knowledge. Even this turned out to be but a gateway to a far greater reality beyond anything recognizable as human. The spiral staircase through the various cosmic states of being led me to what is outside space and time, a megaverse of supercosmic transcendence that is the source of all True Will. Now my psyche stands as a complex hyperdimensional gateway connecting the most impersonal realms to my immediate material awareness of life on earth. I feel the ecstatic infinitude of the continuity of existence every second, although this is usually in the background of my normal waking consciousness. I still feel pain and anguish when troublesome circumstances arise but underlying every emotional state is a background of pure joy, peace profound.

The metalevel of evolution that is the hallmark of the new Aeon of Horus is a constant reality for me.

The future holds much more exploration and realization along the transcendent Path. Thorough practice with the Enochian version of “Liber Samekh” promises to take me farther in psychic and metapsychic integration, extending the reach of my magical holoprojections ever further into the world of matter. Scores of angels in the subquadrants of the Watchtower tablets await summoning to give their particular blessings. The Bonorum Tablets of the Heptarchia promise to reveal the ultimate transcendence on a planetary level, far beyond the terrestrial elements. An even greater Work lay ahead in the thirty aethyrs that brought Aleister Crowley beyond the Abyss to his ultimate destiny. The joy of magick is in its unlimited vistas. Let all who Will engage this Path. It is the birthright of all the new children of the stars.

APPENDICES

THE ENOCHIAN ALPHABET¹

Enochian Letter	Letter Name	English Equivalent
✠	UN	A
V	PE	B
Ⓑ	VEH	C or K
⌘	GAL	D
⌒	GRAPH	E
✠	ORTH	F
⓪	GED	G
Ⓜ	NA-HATH	H
⌒	GON	I, J, Y
Ⓒ	UR	L
Ⓔ	TAL	M
⓪	DRUN	N
⌒	MED	O
Ⓒ	MALS	P
⓪	GER	Q
Ⓔ	DON	R
⓪	FAM	S
⌒	GISA	T
⓪	VAU	U, V, W
⓪	PAL	X
⓪	CEPH	Z

THE FOUR GREAT WATCHTOWERS

AIR

Ɱ	Ⓟ	⌒	Ⓒ	⚡	⚡	⚡	⌒	↘	Ⓒ	Ω	⚡
⚡	Ɱ	Ⓐ	Ⓟ	⚡	⌒	Ⓐ	Ω	⚡	Ⓒ	⚡	Ɱ
Ⓖ	Ⓟ	⌒	Ⓟ	⌒	⚡	Ɱ	⌒	⌒	⚡	Ⓐ	Ⓟ
↘	⌒	⌒	↘	↘	Ⓟ	⌒	Ω	⚡	Ⓖ	⌒	Ⓖ
⌒	⌒	Ⓟ	⚡	⌒	⌒	Ɱ	Ɱ	Ⓟ	Ⓟ	Ⓟ	Ⓟ
⚡	Ɱ	⌒	Ⓟ	Ⓐ	⚡	↘	Ⓐ	⌒	⚡	Ɱ	⌒
⌒	Ɱ	⌒	⌒	Ⓟ	⚡	Ⓟ	⚡	⌒	Ⓟ	Ω	⌒
↘	Ⓟ	⚡	Ⓟ	Ɱ	Ⓐ	⌒	⌒	Ⓟ	⚡	⌒	Ⓐ
⌒	⌒	⌒	⌒	↘	↘	Ω	⚡	Ⓒ	⌒	⚡	⌒
⚡	Ⓟ	⚡	Ɱ	⌒	⌒	⌒	⚡	Ⓖ	Ⓐ	Ⓖ	⚡
Ⓟ	⚡	⌒	Ⓖ	⌒	↘	↘	Ⓟ	Ω	Ɱ	Ⓟ	↘
⌒	Ⓖ	⚡	Ⓟ	Ɱ	⚡	Ⓟ	⌒	↘	Ɱ	⌒	⌒
⌒	Ⓟ	⌒	⚡	Ⓒ	Ɱ	⚡	Ω	Ɱ	Ⓟ	⌒	⌒

FIRE

⌘	⌒	⌚	Ω	✥	↵	⌘	✥	⌚	⌒	✥	✥
⌒	⌘	⌒	✥	⌚	⌒	⌒	⌒	⌚	✥	⌒	✥
⌒	Ω	✥	⌘	⌚	⌒	⌒	⌚	⌘	⌚	⌚	⌘
✥	Ω	⌘	⌒	↵	⌒	⌘	⌒	⌚	✥	⌒	Ω
⌒	⌚	⌘	⌒	⌒	⌒	⌚	✥	⌘	⌘	⌒	⌒
⌒	✥	⌘	⌒	⌚	⌘	⌘	⌚	⌘	⌒	✥	Ω
⌒	⌒	Ω	↵	⌒	✥	✥	Ω	⌘	⌒	⌚	⌒
Ω	⌒	⌒	✥	⌚	⌚	⌘	⌚	⌒	⌘	⌚	✥
⌒	⌒	⌒	⌘	✥	⌒	⌒	⌚	⌘	⌚	⌚	⌘
⌘	✥	⌘	↵	↵	⌘	⌚	✥	⌘	⌒	⌘	⌒
⌘	⌒	⌒	⌒	⌘	⌒	⌚	⌒	⌒	⌒	⌒	Ω
⌒	⌒	⌘	Ω	⌚	⌒	✥	Ω	✥	⌚	⌘	⌒
⌘	⌚	⌒	✥	⌚	⌚	Ω	✥	⌚	⌘	⌘	⌘

WATER

↙	✂	└	✂	⌵	ᵰ	Ω	↙	⌵	ᵰ	└	ε
✂	✂	∇	ℬ	└	└	ε	└	ε	└	∇	∇
↙	└	ᵒ	ℬ	└	ᵰ	Γ	ε	✂	⌵	ᵒ	ε
ᵰ	⊕	└	⌵	⌵	└	✂	⌵	└	✂	└	ℬ
Ω	✂	↙	✂	Γ	└	└	ᵰ	└	Ω	└	ᵰ
└	✂	✂	└	Γ	✂	✂	ε	ᵰ	ε	└	└ ε	Ω	⊕	✂	ε	└	⌵	ᵒ	✂	└	└	⌵
ε	✂	ε	ᵒ	⌵	└	└	ᵰ	⌵	└	ε	Γ
└	⌵	✂	✂	⌵	ᵰ	ᵒ	✂	↙	✂	Ω	✂
Ω	✂	⌵	ℬ	└	└	⌵	Γ	Ω	✂	ℬ	ᵰ
ᵰ	⌵	✂	⊕	ᵰ	⊕	└	ᵰ	✂	✂	└	✂
└	└	⌵	Ω	└	ᵰ	└	⌵	✂	└	Ω	└
Γ	ε	└	ᵰ	⊕	↙	✂	ε	ᵰ	⌵	└	⌵

EARTH

∇	⌒	✂	Ⓟ	✂	⋈	⌒	Ω	Ⓜ	✂	⋈	✂
Ⓐ	☾	☾	✂	Γ	⌒	Ω	⌒	⌒	☾	⌒	☾
✂	⌒	Ⓟ	⋈	✂	☾	⌒	⌒	⋈	✂	Ⓟ	Ⓟ
⌒	⋈	Ω	⋈	☾	⌒	☾	Ⓟ	∇	⌒	✂	⌒
⋈	⌒	⌒	☾	⌒	Ⓟ	⌒	⋈	⌒	⌒	⋈	Ⓐ
⌒	Ⓟ	⌒	☾	⋈	Ⓟ	⌒	✂	⋈	Ⓜ	⌒	⌒
⋈	⋈	∇	⌒	Ⓟ	⋈	Ⓜ	Ⓟ	Ⓟ	⌒	Ⓟ	✂
⌒	Ⓟ	✂	☾	Ⓟ	Ⓜ	⌒	✂	⌒	⌒	⋈	⌒
✂	⋈	∇	⌒	Ⓟ	⋈	⌒	⌒	⌒	Ω	⌒	Ⓟ
⌒	Ω	✂	☾	✂	⌒	✂	⋈	⌒	⋈	✂	Ω
⌒	⌒	⌒	⌒	Ω	⌒	☾	⌒	✂	☾	∇	✂
⋈	Γ	Ω	✂	⌒	Ⓟ	⌒	⌒	Ⓟ	⌒	Γ	Ω
✂	Γ	⌒	⌒	⋈	Ⓐ	✂	⌒	⌒	⋈	⌒	⋈

TABLET OF UNION

Г	Г	⚡	ε	Ω
⊕	⊗	⌒	ε	⚡
⊖	⚡	⊖	⌒	⚡
∇	Г	⌒	⌒	ε

ON THE DIVISIONS AND COLOR SCHEMES OF THE ENOCHIAN TABLETS

Each of the four elemental tablets of the Enochian magical system is divided into four quadrants, representing the subelements. For example, the tablet of elemental Earth is divided into the Earth of Earth quadrant, the Air of Earth quadrant, the Water of Earth quadrant, and the Fire of Earth quadrant. These divisions are separated by a great cross consisting of one row of twelve squares and two columns of thirteen squares each. The angelic names of the six Seniors and the King are taken from this tablet wide cross while names of the various subelemental angels may be found in the four areas bordered by it. Within each quadrant there is a smaller cross of five squares by six. Four squares are to be found above the cross and sixteen below it. Overall, there are 188 angelic powers encoded on the tablets.

The squares of each tablet are colored based on the elemental and subelemental attributions. The central great cross as well as the cross in each quadrant has the spirit colors of black on white. The other squares in the quadrants have the color of the element of the tablet for their background while the letters thereon have the color of the subelement. In those cases where the element of the quadrant is the same as the element of the tablet, the letters have the complimentary color. See the table below for these correspondences.

ELEMENT	COLOR	COMPLIMENTARY COLOR	POSITION ON TABLET
Spirit	White	Black	All Crosses on the Tablets
Fire	Red	Green	Lower Right
Water	Blue	Orange	Upper Right
Air	Yellow	Violet	Upper Left
Earth	Black	White	Lower Left

For example, the squares of the Air of Fire quadrant have a background color of red with yellow letters. The squares of the Water of Water quadrant have a background color of blue with orange letters. This color scheme gives each tablet a vibrant quality that aids in magical exaltation.

The Tablet of Union consists of four rows and five columns and represents the element of Spirit as a whole. Each row has the letters of a name of Spirit that rules over one of the four other elements. Thus, the background color for the entire tablet is white while the letters have the color of the element over which they control. The columns of this tablet spell the names of five angels which take after the five subelements of Spirit. These are listed along with the names of the Seniors and Kings in the appendix on the breakdown of the angelic names on the tablets.

DESCRIPTION OF THE ANGELIC NAMES OF THE FOUR WATCHTOWERS AND THE TABLET TO UNION

Angels of the Great Watchtower of the North and Earth

Angel name in English	Angel name in Enochian	Suggested Phonetic Pronunciation	Dignity of the Angel
LZINOPO	ⲕⲓⲛⲟⲡⲟ	LaZINOPO	Luna Senior
AHMLICV	ⲁⲙⲓⲕⲟⲩⲟⲩⲟⲩ	AHeMLICoV	Mercury Senior
ALHCTGA	ⲁⲕⲏⲧⲉⲕⲁ	ALHecTaGA	Venus Senior
LAIDROM	ⲕⲁⲓⲉⲩⲣⲟⲙ	LAyDROM	Mars Senior
ACZINOR	ⲁⲕⲓⲛⲟⲩⲟⲩ	AksINOR	Jupiter Senor
LIANSAS	ⲕⲓⲛⲁⲛⲱⲩⲁ	LeeANSA	Saturn Senior
ICZHIHAL	ⲓⲕⲙⲁⲕⲉⲕⲁⲕⲁⲕⲁ	IkZaHeeHAL	King of the North and Earth

Angels of the Great Watchtower of the East and Air

Angel name in English	Angel name in Enochian	Suggested Phonetic Pronunciation	Dignity of the Angel
HTMORDA	ⲙⲟⲩⲟⲩⲟⲩⲟⲩ	HeTMORDA	Luna Senior
AVTOTAR	ⲁⲩⲧⲟⲩⲁⲩⲧⲟⲩ	AVTOTAR	Mercury Senior
AHAOZPI	ⲁⲙⲁⲟⲩⲙⲁⲩⲙⲁⲩ	AH(Aou)ZaPI	Venus Senior
HABIORO	ⲙⲁⲕⲁⲕⲁⲕⲁⲕⲁ	HABeeORO	Mars Senior
AAOZAIF	ⲁⲁⲟⲩⲁⲓⲉⲓⲉⲓⲉⲓ	(AOu)Zaheef	Jupiter Senor
HIPOTGA	ⲙⲁⲩⲟⲩⲟⲩⲟⲩ	HIPOTaGA	Saturn Senior
BATAIVAH	ⲕⲓⲛⲁⲩⲟⲩⲟⲩ	BATAheevaH	King of the East and Air

Angels of the Great Watchtower of the West and Water

Angel name in English	Angel name in Enochian	Suggested Phonetic Pronunciation	Dignity of the Angel
LAOAXRP	Ⲙⲟⲁⲭⲣⲡ	L(AOu)AxaRP	Luna Senior
SONIZNT	Ⲛⲟⲛⲓⲛⲧ	SONIZoNT	Mercury Senior
SLGAIOL	Ⲛⲓⲗⲁⲓⲟⲗ	SaLGAheeOL	Venus Senior
LSRAHPM	ⲗⲱⲱⲁⲙⲡ	LaSaRAHPaM	Mars Senior
SAIINOV	ⲱⲁⲓⲓⲛⲟⲱ	SAheeNOV	Jupiter Senor
LIGDISA	ⲗⲓⲗⲉⲓⲁ	LIGDeeSA	Saturn Senior
RAAGIOSL	ⲣⲁⲗⲓⲟⲱⲱⲱⲗ	RaGeeOSL	King of the West and Water

Angels of the Great Watchtower of the South and Fire

Angel name in English	Angel name in Enochian	Suggested Phonetic Pronunciation	Dignity of the Angel
ALNDVOD	ⲁⲗⲛⲉⲱⲟⲟ	ALaNDaVOD	Luna Senior
ANODOIN	ⲁⲛⲟⲟⲓⲛ	ANODOhIN	Mercury Senior
AAPDOCE	ⲁⲁⲡⲉⲟⲕⲉ	AAPeDOhkee	Venus Senior
AAETPIO	ⲁⲁⲉⲧⲡⲓⲟ	AheeTaPIO	Mars Senior
ADOEOET	ⲁⲟⲉⲟⲉⲧ	ADOayOET	Jupiter Senor
ARINNAP	ⲁⲣⲓⲛⲛⲁⲡ	ARINAP	Saturn Senior
EDLPRNAA	ⲉⲁⲗⲡⲣⲛⲁⲁ	EDeLPaRaNA	King of the South and Fire

Angels of the Tablet of Union

Angel name in English	Angel name in Enochian	Suggested Phonetic Pronunciation	Dignity of the Angel
RMTO	ᚱᚱᚱᚱ	ReMaTO	Earth of Spirit
XCAI	ᚱᚱᚱᚱ	Zekahee	Air of Spirit
AONT	ᚱᚱᚱᚱ	(AOu)NT	Water of Spirit
PAAM	ᚱᚱᚱᚱ	PoM	Fire of Spirit
EHNB	ᚱᚱᚱᚱ	EHeNBay	Spirit of Spirit

Note on Pronunciation:

There are two main schools of thought on pronunciation of Enochian names. One is to pronounce them as if they were English words and the other is to vibrate each letter of the names as a whole syllable. John Dee and various magicians such as the author of this book have used the former method, whereas those trained in the Golden Dawn system of magick have used the latter method. The suggested pronunciations given in the above tables use English language rules. Specifically, combinations of ‘A’ and ‘O’ are pronounced like ‘Aou,’ as in house. The ‘AI’ combination is pronounced like ‘Ahee,’ as in by. Generally, follow a consonant with the vowel that makes it sound appealing. The most important consideration is that these magical names flow comfortably and rhythmically for maximum dramatic effect during conjuration. The Enochian language is magical only to the point where it opens the psyche to its source in transcendent reality.

PLACEMENT OF THE SIX PLANETARY
SENIORS AND THE KING

There are six Senior angels for each of the four elemental Watchtower tablets, totaling twenty-four in all. These names may be found on the tablets by tracing seven letters along the central Great Cross, made up of two columns and one row, as indicated in the above diagram. In addition to these angel names, there is the name of an elemental King for each tablet. Tracing a spiral around the central two squares of the Great Cross may derive these eight lettered magical words. Start with the fifth square from the left as the first letter. Trace one row up and one column to the right to get the second letter. Trace one column to the right for the third letter. Trace one row down and one column to the right for the fourth letter. Trace one row down and one column to the left for the fifth letter. Trace one column to the left for the sixth letter. Trace one row up for the seventh letter. Finally, trace one column to the right for the eighth letter. This spiraling motion indicates a force transcendent to the Seniors as well as all the other angels of the tablet. Like many other eight lettered magical words, the angelic names of the Kings of the Watchtowers generate a fundamental force of creation that underlies all elemental and planetary forces. Study the Masonic Royal Arch formula for a clear example of this concept. For the purposes of attributing planets to these angels, use Sol for the Kings.

ENOCHIAN TEMPLE SETUP AND EVOCATION CEREMONY

Preparation:

Set up a double cubed Altar in the middle of a square or rectangular room. Place a pedestal in the center of each wall, marking out the four quarters of existence. Each direction is infinite and reaches into a higher than physical world. The reaches of infinity focus on the central altar from the east, south, west, north, above, and below. Thus, the altar is the center of the universe, the point of balance from which any energy may be launched to cause any effect anywhere.

Each pedestal marks the nature of its quarter, indicating the frequency of magical power emanating from that particular infinity. These four currents are symbolized by the four elements of classical Greek science: Air, Fire, Water, and Earth. Mark the nature of Air in the east by placing an emblem of that which rules the airy nature, such as the Angelic Air Tablet. Place a white votive candle in front of the tablet to light the darkling, mysterious abyss of the east. Place an emblem of the element itself with the candle, such as a hand fan or rose. Place the Angelic Spirit Tablet, called the Tablet of Union, in the far east raised above the other tablets.

In the south, place the symbols of Fire: the Angelic Fire Tablet, a white votive, and a red lamp, red candle, or candle in a red holder. In the west, place the symbols of Water: the Angelic Water Tablet, a white votive, and a cup or bowl of pure water. In the north, place the symbols of Earth: the Angelic Earth Tablet, a white votive, and a plate of salt.

Let the Altar, symbolizing the consciousness of the magician, center of his/her universe, be covered with a black cloth draping down on all sides to touch the floor or painted black. Place the four elemental weapons on top of the Altar, answering to the elemental natures of the quarters. Thus, place the Air Dagger on the eastern side of the altar, place the Fire Wand on the southern side, place the Water Cup on the western side, and place the Earth Pentacle on the northern side. In the center, the center of All, place a flask of fragrant Oil, symbolizing the ubiquitous element of Spirit. Oil of cinnamon or Abramelin oil is appropriate. A favored Holy Book may be placed underneath the flask if desired. In this way, the magician is expressed as a microcosm, an entire universe in miniature, whose several natures correspond to the forces of creation.

Place a Censor on the southern side of the Altar or the southern pedestal as desired, burning frankincense and myrrh or incense of Abramelin. Place the Bell at any convenient spot. Embellish the Altar with crystals, and black, white, or multicolored tapers, etc.

Prepare the water in the Cup on the altar by dropping a few particles of salt into it and say, "May the salt of Earth admonish the Waters to bear the virtue of the Great Sea."

Astral Temple Visualization and Auric Preparation:

Take three deep breaths to calm your mood and focus your attention. Close your eyes and visualize your body of light detach from your physical body. Feel yourself begin to rise upward. Reach the ceiling of your physical temple and then move through this. Continue rising above your building, high into the air at ever increasing speed. See the clouds fly by you as your energy body reaches beyond the earth's atmosphere.

Launch yourself with a great burst of acceleration into outer space, leaving the entire planet earth far behind. The sun becomes just a point of light in the midst of the darkness of the void, one among myriad others. Travel light years in seconds with the speed of thought as you finally reach the cosmic temple, set amidst the vastness of deep space. It is in the shape of a torus, like a huge donut. Each wheel of that greater wheel is a flow of brilliant white light. A current of blue power flows through the middle of all these wheels on the same plane as the torus. All the furniture and implements of the physical temple are placed in the central space, surrounded by the wheel of wheels, with the altar in the center of all. A spike of downward shooting brilliant white light passes through the middle of the altar, an axle of the wheel.

Move your body of light to the west side of the astral altar facing the east of the temple and perform a Middle Pillar Exercise or a Rousing of the Citadels ritual. Visualize a ball of brilliant white light above your head, its bottom point touching the top of your head. Vibrate the divine Name AHIH three times, pronounced as Ehayay.

Send a shaft of brilliant white light downward from the crown sphere, through your head, to your neck. Visualize a grayish white ball of light there and vibrate the divine Name IHVH ALHIM three times, pronounced as Yahweh Elohim.

Continue the shaft of light downward to the center of your chest and visualize a golden yellow ball there. Vibrate the divine Name IHVH ALVH VDOT three times, pronounced as Yahweh Eloah Va Dot.

Continue the shaft of light downward to a point two inches below your navel and visualize a violet ball of light there. Vibrate the divine Name ShDI AL ChAI three times, pronounced as Shaddaiee El Chaiee.

Continue the shaft of light downward to a point between your feet. Visualize an olive green ball there, half above the floor of the temple and half below. Vibrate the divine Name ADNI HARTz three times, pronounced as Adonaiee Ha Aretz.

Reinforce the visualization of all five colored balls with the connecting shaft of light and feel the integration of all the energy in your physical and light bodies. Start a current of energy moving from the top of your head down the front of your body to your feet and then back to the top of your head from behind. Send energy down the right side of your body and then up the left. Raise a stream of energy from your feet up the central shaft of visualization to your head and then out the top in a shower of sparks that fall all around your body. Finally, feel all the energies and currents of your physical and light bodies reach out to the farthest stars to establish a universal connection. You are now ready to do magick as a complete microcosm, a true mirror of all that was, is, and shall be.

Opening:

Stand on the west side of the Altar, facing east. Perform the Lesser Banishing Ritual of the Pentagram or the Star Ruby.

Purify the Temple by taking the Cup, moving to the east wall, raising the Cup on high, and saying, “For pure will, unassuaged of purpose, delivered from the lust of result, is every way perfect.” (“Liber Legis,” Chapter 1, Verse 44)

Bring the Cup to heart level and say, “By the Lustral Waters of the Loud Resounding Sea, I purify this Temple and all objects and persons within.”

Mark the points of an inverse triangle with the Cup, upper left, upper right, and then lower center. Imagine a blue triangle hanging in midair.

Walk deosil to the south quarter and repeat the above paragraph. Repeat for west and north, return to the east, and walk back to the west side of the Altar in a deosil curve.

Consecrate the Temple by taking up the fuming Censor, moving to the east wall, raising the Censor on high, and saying, “So that thy light is in me; and its red flame is as a sword in my hand to push thy order.” (“Liber Legis,” Chapter 3, Verse 38)

Bring the Censor to heart level and say, “With the Sacred Fire which darts and flashes through the hidden depths of the universe, I consecrate this Temple and all objects and persons within.”

Mark the points of an upright triangle by swinging the Censor toward the upper center, lower left, then lower right. Ideally, a puff of smoke should be left when the Censor swings away from the point. Imagine a red triangle superimposed on the blue triangle, making a hexagram.

Walk deosil to the south quarter and repeat the above paragraph. Repeat for west and north, return to the east, and walk back to the west side of the altar in a deosil curve. Replace the Censor and take up the Wand.

Open each of the Angelic Tablets in turn, from east through south, west, and north as follows.

Stand before the eastern tablet with Wand in hand and say, “Let us evoke the Powers of Air with the Great Eastern Quadrangle.”

Draw the invoking active spirit pentagram in black against a white background over the tablet, point to the center, and vibrate AHIH, then EXARP. Draw the invoking Air pentagram in violet against a yellow background, vibrating IHVH. Put down the Wand, take up the Fan, and draw the Kerubic sign of Aquarius in violet within the Air pentagram, creating a wind with the Fan. Vibrate Raphael and visualize Him standing behind the tablet.

Replace the Fan, take up the Wand, and draw a golden cross over the Great Cross of the tablet from top to bottom and then left to right. Draw a deosil golden circle around the cross starting from the top point.

Point to the center of the cross and say, “In the names and letters of the Great Eastern Quadrangle, I call forth the Powers of Air.”

Hold the Wand on high and say, “In the Three Great Secret Names that are borne upon the Banners of the East, (trace the letters of the horizontal line of the Great Cross with the Wand as each Name is vibrated) ORO IBAH AOZPI, I call forth the Powers of Air.”

Hold Wand on high and say, “In the Name of (trace the letters spiraling out from the center) BATAIVAH, great King of the East, I call forth the Powers of Air.” Knock.

Go to the southern tablet with Wand in hand and say, “Let us evoke the Powers of Fire with the Great Southern Quadrangle.”

Draw the invoking active spirit pentagram in black against a white background over the tablet, point to the center, and vibrate AHIH and then BITOM. Draw the invoking Fire pentagram in green against a red background, vibrating ALHIM. Put down the Wand, take up the Red Lamp, and draw the Kerubic sign of Leo in green within the Fire pentagram. Vibrate Michael and visualize Him standing behind the tablet.

Replace the Lamp, take up the Wand, and draw a golden cross over the Great Cross of the tablet from top to bottom and then left to right. Draw a deosil golden circle around the cross. Point to the center of the cross and say, “In the names and letters of the Great Southern Quadrangle, I call forth the Powers of Fire.”

Hold the Wand on high and say, “In the Three Great Secret Names that are borne upon the Banners of the South, (trace the letters of the horizontal line of the Great Cross with the wand as each Name is vibrated) OIP TEAA PDOCE, I call forth the Powers of Fire.”

Hold Wand on high and say, “In the Name of (trace the letters spiraling out from the center) EDLPRNAA, great King of the South, I call forth the Powers of Fire.” Knock.

Go to the western tablet with Wand in hand and say, “Let us evoke the Powers of Water with the Great Western Quadrangle.”

Draw the invoking passive spirit pentagram in white against a black background over the tablet, point to the center, and vibrate Atah Geboor Leolahm Adonai, then HCOMA. Draw the invoking Water pentagram in orange against a blue background, vibrating AL. Put down the wand, take up the cup or bowl, and draw the Kerubic sign of Scorpio in orange within the Water pentagram. Vibrate Gabriel and visualize Him standing behind the tablet.

Replace the Cup, take up the Wand, and draw a golden cross over the Great Cross of the tablet from top to bottom and then left to right. Draw a deosil golden circle around the cross.

Point to the center of the cross and say, “In the names and letters of the Great Western Quadrangle, I call forth the Powers of Water.”

Hold the Wand on high and say, “In the Three Great Secret Names that are borne upon the Banners of the West, (trace the letters of the horizontal line of the Great Cross with the Wand

as each Name is vibrated) MPH ARSL GAIOL, I call forth the Powers of Water.”

Hold Wand on high and say, “In the Name of (trace the letters spiraling out from the center) RAAGIOSL, great King of the West, I call forth the Powers of Water.” Knock.

Go to the northern tablet with Wand in hand and say, “Let us evoke the Powers of Earth with the Great Northern Quadrangle.”

Draw the invoking passive spirit pentagram in white against a black background over the tablet, point to the center, and vibrate Atah Geboor Leolahm Adonai, then NANTA. Draw the invoking Earth pentagram in white against a black background, vibrating ADNI. Put down the wand, take up the plate of salt, and draw the Kerubic sign of Taurus in white within the Earth pentagram. Vibrate Auriel and visualize Him standing behind the tablet.

Replace the plate of salt, take up the wand, and draw a golden cross over the Great Cross of the tablet from top to bottom and then left to right. Draw a deosil golden circle around the cross. Point to the center of the cross and say, “In the names and letters of the Great Northern Quadrangle, I call forth the Powers of Earth.”

Hold the Wand on high and say, “In the Three Great Secret Names that are borne upon the Banners of the North, (trace the letters of the horizontal line of the Great Cross with the wand as each Name is vibrated) MOR DIAL HCTGA, I call forth the Powers of Earth.”

Hold Wand on high and say, “In the Name of (trace the letters spiraling out from the center) ICZHIHAL, great King of the North, I call forth the Powers of Earth.” Knock.

Complete the circle and return to the west side of the Altar, facing east and say, “Let us evoke the Powers of Spirit with the Tablet of Union.”

Draw the invoking passive spirit pentagram in white against a black background over the Tablet of Union, point to the center, and vibrate Atah Geboor Leolahm Adonai. Draw the invoking active spirit pentagram in black against a white background and vibrate AHIH.

Vibrate EXARP HCOMA NANTA BITOM, tracing the letters with the Wand, starting from the upper left letter and moving downward, one line per Name, and say, “In the Names and Letters of the Tablet of Union, I call forth the Powers of Spirit.” Ring 2-1-2 with the Bell.

Intone the first Enochian call: “Ol sonf vorz jee, goho Yad Balt, lonsh kalz vonfo; Sobra zol ror ee ta naz-psad, grah ta mal-perj; dee-es holk kwah no-thoa zimz, od ko-ma ta nob-loh zeen; So-ba theel jeh-nomp perj aldee; Dee-es urbz o-bo-le jee re-sam; Kasarm o-ho-re-la taba Pire; Dee-es zon-renj kab erm yad-na. Pee-la far-zm znurza adna go-no Yad-peel, dee-es hom-to; So-ba eepam, loo eepamis; Dee-es lo-ho-lo vep zomd poamal, od bog-pa a-ee ta pee-ap pee-ah-mol od voh-an. Za-ka-re, ka, od zamran; o-do see-kle kwah; zorj, lap zirido no-ko Mad, ho-ath Yai-da.”

Raise the Wand on high and say, “Ye I evoke, oh Angels of the Celestial Spheres. Ye are the Guardians of the Gates of the Universe and of this Magick Sphere. Be here present to shine your transcendent Light on this Cosmic Temple and all within. Achud Rash Achudotho Rash Yechudotho Temoratho Achud.” Ring 3-1-3 with the Bell.

Go to the east and face south. Perform the Magick Circumambulation by giving the Sign of the Enterer and then walking around the Temple deosil three times, giving the Sign of the Enterer on passing the east each time. Imagine a current of white light passing through you each time this Sign is given. After three complete turns, return to the west side of the Altar in a deosil curve. A continuously flowing cylinder of subtle white force should have developed around the Temple.

Pronounce the Thelemic Declaration to dedicate every erg of magical energy generated in Temple to the Great Work of realizing the highest levels of consciousness in physical incarnation.

“Holy and Blessed art Thou, Oh Heru Ra Ha, Transcendent Glory that surpasses all things. May Your Infinite Love reach down to bless this temple, dedicated to Your service. Enlighten my mind and enliven my soul so that I may be better enabled to carry out Your Will, which is my Will, here on earth.

Thereby, let the Word of the New Law be pronounced once more so that the brilliant stellar consciousness may be further established in the soul of humanity.

Do what thou wilt shall be the whole of the law. I declare that the purposes and operations of this temple are dedicated to spreading the Law of Thelema throughout the world on all planes to further the evolution of life everywhere. Let this new Covenant, the Third Dispensation of humanity's transcendence, the fulfillment of all previous Laws be realized in the Collective Consciousness for the healing of all races. Our individual Paths through infinite space are our personal Covenants with the Divine. So may we all come at length to full Self actualization. Love is the law, love under will."

Complete the opening by ringing a battery of 3-5-3 with the Bell, making eleven rings in total, and then make a statement of intent, declaring the purpose and intention of the Rite.

Evocation:

Perform the Lesser Invoking Ritual of the Hexagram with Thelemic Keyword Analysis in the following way, beginning with the declaration: “Let the energies of the temple be raised to celestial intensity with Ritual of the Hexagram.”

Upon completing the activation of the hexagrams in the four quarters and returning to the East to complete the circle, continue the circumambulation to the tablet from which the Senior or King is to be conjured.

Draw a fifth hexagram over this Watchtower with the wand, point to the center, and intone the sentence from which the notoriqon ARARITA is derived, “Achud Rash. Achudotho Rash. Yechudotho Temorotho Achud.”

Continue the circumambulation back to the East and then return to the west side of the altar facing East. Conclude the ritual with the final Thelemic Keyword Analysis.

Declare, “Let the Great <direction> Watchtower be opened and the great angel, <angel name> be evoked.”

Walk to the East with wand in hand and then proceed to the appropriate tablet. Point with the wand to the center and intone the appropriate Enochian call to open the Watchtower. Consult the bibliography for books on Enochian magick to find the text of these angelic conjurations.

Conjure the angel by pointing with the wand at the first letter of the name and then trace while intoning the name as many times as the number of the Sephirah to which its planet is attributed. For instance, if a Venusian angel is to be evoked, trace while intoning its name seven times, since the planet Venus is attributed to the seventh Sephirah Netzach. A Jupiterian angel would call for four repetitions, since Jupiter is attributed to Chesed. Use Sol for the Kings of the tablets and so six repetitions. Return to the East and complete the circle and then back to the altar when the conjuration is completed. Declare, "I shall now commune with the angel thus evoked."

Sit in a comfortable position, relax the body from head to toe, perform some rhythmic breathing, and then open the mind's eye to receive the vision and the power of the angel conjured. When satisfied with the results of the contact, exit the vision and return to body consciousness. Go to the west side of the altar and face East.

Take up the wand and banish the angel by declaring, "I hereby give <angel name> license to depart. Return unto your habitations and abodes. Let there ever be peace between you and I and be ready to come again when called. For now, depart!" Give one sharp rap on the altar with the wand. Proceed to the closing.

Closing:

Banish by using the banishing forms of whatever rituals were used to invoke. Perform the purification and consecration as in the opening. Close the Angelic Tablets as follows:

Go to the eastern tablet, Wand in hand, and say, “Let us banish the Powers of Air with the Great Eastern Quadrangle.”

Draw the banishing active spirit pentagram in black against a white background over the tablet, point to the center, and vibrate AHIH and EXARP. Draw the banishing Air pentagram in violet against a yellow background and vibrate IHVH. Draw the Kerubic sign of Aquarius with the Wand in violet within the Air pentagram and vibrate Raphael. Draw a golden cross over the Great Cross of the tablet from top to bottom and then left to right. Draw a widdershins golden circle around the cross. Point to the center and say, “In the names and letters of the Great Eastern Quadrangle, I banish the Powers of Air.” Knock once with the Wand.

Repeat appropriate banishing formulas for the other tablets in the south, west, and north. Complete the circle and return to the west side of the Altar, facing east and say, “Let us banish the Powers of Spirit with the Tablet of Union.”

Draw the banishing passive and active spirit pentagrams over the Tablet of Union, using the colors and vibrating the Names as in the opening. Point to the center and say, “In the names and letters of the Tablet of Union, I banish the Powers of Spirit.”

Perform the Magick Reverse Circumambulation by circling the Temple widdershins. Imagine a current of white light passing through you, counteracting the deosil current set up in the opening. After three complete turns, return to the west side of the Altar in a widdershins curve. The cylinder of subtle white force should be gone.

Raise the Wand on high and say, “I hereby give license to depart to any and all spirits that may have been attracted by this rite. Return unto your habitations and abodes, harming none on your way. Let there ever be peace between all of you and I and be ready to come again when called. For now, depart!” Knock forcefully with the wand on the altar. Declare the Temple closed and ring a battery of 3-5-3 with the Bell.

THE LESSER RITUALS OF THE PENTAGRAM AND HEXAGRAM

To perform the lesser ritual of the pentagram:

The Qabalistic Cross

1. Face magical east (whatever direction is convenient). Enter into a relaxed state and take several slow, deep breaths.
2. Stand straight and raise your right index finger above your head. Visualize a beam of white light coming down from the infinite above to meet your fingertip.
3. Draw the light down with your finger and touch your forehead. Intone “Atah” (unto Thee).
4. For the Thelemic version, continue drawing down the white light to the center of your chest and intone “Aiwass” (the name of Aleister Crowley’s Holy Guardian Angel and so the general guardian for the Aeon of Horus) or the name of your own Holy Guardian Angel if you know it. This step is optional.
5. Continue drawing down the white light to the genital region and intone “Malkuth” (the Kingdom). Feel the white light continue downward to the infinite below.
6. Raise your finger to your right shoulder and intone “ve Geburah” (and the Power).
7. Draw a line of white light to the left shoulder and intone “ve Gedulah” (and the Glory).

8. Bring your hands together over your chest in an attitude of reverence and intone “le olam. Amen” (to the ages. Amen). Strongly visualize the cross of white light on and through your body.

Pentagram Projection

1. Face or go to magical east. Draw a large pentagram with your finger or your dagger, visualized as electric blue lines. For the banishing form, start at the lower left point and draw upwards to the top point. Continue to draw the rest of the lines of the pentagram until returning to the lower left point. For the invoking form, start at the top point and draw downwards to the lower left point. Continue to draw the rest of the lines of the pentagram until returning to the top point. Maintain this image hanging in midair throughout the rest of the ritual.
2. Point to the center of the pentagram and vibrate the magical name “IHVH,” pronounced as Yahweh, Jehovah, or the letters Yod, He, Vav, He. Imagine the pentagram grow in power and size, projecting out to an extreme distance while continuing to be in the room with you.
3. Draw and visualize an electric blue line around the room to the south and draw another pentagram there, connected to the eastern star by the line. Vibrate “Adonai.”
4. Continue the process to the west, draw the pentagram as before, and vibrate “AHIH,” pronounced as Ehayay.
5. Continue the process to the north, draw the pentagram as before, and vibrate “Atah gebur le olam Adonai,” pronounced as Atah gayboor lay olam Adonai.

6. Return to the east and so completing your protective circle, all the while maintaining visualization of all magical figures.

Invocation of the Elemental Archangels

1. Hold your arms straight outward so that your body makes the form of a cross.
2. Say, "Before me" and then vibrate the magical name "Raphael," pronounced as Rah-fae-ay-el. Visualize the appearance of a huge archangel wearing a bright yellow robe in front of you and in front of the eastern pentagram.
3. Say, "Behind me" and then vibrate the magical name "Gabriel," pronounced as Gah-bree-ay-el. Visualize the appearance of a huge archangel wearing a dark blue robe behind you.
4. Say, "On my right hand," and then vibrate the magical name, "Michael," pronounced as Mee-kaee-ay-el. Visualize the appearance of a huge archangel wearing a bright red robe on your right.
5. Say, "On my left hand," and then vibrate the magical name, "Auriel," pronounced as Or-ee-ay-el. Visualize the appearance of a huge archangel wearing a black robe on your left.
6. Say, "For about me flames the pentagram and in the column shines the six rayed star."

Repeat the Qabalistic Cross as above described.

To perform the lesser ritual of the hexagram:

The Keyword Analysis

1. Face magical east (whatever direction is convenient).
Enter into a relaxed state and take several slow, deep breaths.
2. Let the left arm hang down at your side and hold your right arm over your chest with fist over your heart.
3. Intone the analysis of the Thelemic Keyword:
“H. E. R. U.
He Yod Resh Vav
The Star - Nuit - Star Mother
The Hermit - Hadit - Seed Father
The Sun - Ra Hoor Khuit - Crowned and Conquering Child
United in The Hierophant, prophet of the New Aeon, To Mega Therion
Nuit - Hadit - Ra Hoor Khuit – ABRAHADABRA”

Hold your arms straight outward so that your body makes the form of a cross and say, “The Sign of the King.” The attitude is one of royalty and perfect self confidence.

Lean toward the left with your head bent toward the left, your left arm bent at the elbow, and your wrist bent so that the back of your left hand is level with the floor. Hold your right arm over your head in the same attitude as your left so that your right hand is level with your face. Bend your left knee and point it toward the left while bending your right knee and pointing it toward the left.

Your whole body should now make the form of the whirling cross, also known as the ancient Hindu sign called the

Swastika and say, “The Sign of the Whirling Star.”

The attitude is one of languid, dreamy ease and joy. Meditate on the Tarot cards the Star and the Universe following the analysis given in the appendix on the Thelemic Keyword Analysis to more fully understand this state of mind.

Stand straight up with your arms above your head spread out at a sixty degree angle, tilt your head upward, and say, “The Sign of the Rising Serpent.”

The attitude is one of wild ecstasy as one experiencing the rise of Kundalini up the spine. Meditate on the Tarot cards the Hermit and the Magus following the analysis given in the appendix on the Thelemic Keyword Analysis to more fully understand this state of mind.

Look straight ahead with your arms crossed over your chest, right over left, and say, “The Sign of the Triumphant One.”

Make the sign of the cross and then return to crossed arms position. The attitude is a fusion of all the previous signs. Meditate on the Tarot cards the Sun and Lust following the analysis given in the appendix on the Thelemic Keyword Analysis to more fully understand this state of mind.

Repeat the Sign of the Whirling Star and say, “L.”

Repeat the Sign of the Rising Serpent and say, “V.”

Repeat the Sign of the Triumphant One, crossed arms only, and say, “X. Lux. The Light of the King.”

Hexagram Projection

1. Face or go to magical east. Visualize this entire direction as a vast field of pure white light. Draw a large hexagram with your finger or your wand in golden yellow lines. For the invoking form, start at the top point of the upright triangle and draw down to the right, over to the left, and back to the top point. Move your finger or wand to a position below the center point of the bottom line of the upright triangle. Draw upward to the left, over to the right, and back down to the bottom point of the reverse triangle so that it overlaps with the upright triangle. For the banishing form, start at the top point of the upright triangle and draw down to the left, over to the right, and back to the top point. Move your finger or wand to a position below the center point of the bottom line of the upright triangle. Draw upward to the right, over to the left, and back down to the bottom point of the reverse triangle so that it overlaps with the upright triangle. The general rule for drawing hexagrams is clockwise to invoke and counterclockwise to banish. Maintain this image hanging in midair throughout the rest of the ritual.

2. Point to the center of the hexagram and vibrate, “ARARITA.” This is a notation for “Achud Rash. Achudotho Rash. Yechudotho Temorotho Achud,” meaning “One is His Beginning. One is His Individuality. His Permutation One.” Imagine the hexagram grow in power and size, projecting out to an extreme distance while continuing to be in the room with you.

3. Draw while visualizing a golden yellow line around to the south and draw another hexagram there, connected to the eastern star by the line. Vibrate “ARARITA.”

4. Repeat this process to the west and north and finish the circle by connecting to the eastern star, all the while maintaining visualization of all magical figures.

Repeat the Keyword Analysis as above described.

THELEMIC KEYWORD ANALYSIS

H E R U

He Yod Resh Vav

The Star - Nuit - Star Mother

The Hermit - Hadit - Seed Father

The Sun - Ra Hoor Khuit - Crowned and Conquering Child

United in The Hierophant, prophet of the New Aeon, To Mega Therion

Nuit - Hadit - Ra Hoor Khuit

ABRAHADABRA

+ - the Sign of the King

L - the Sign of the Whirling Star

V - the Sign of the Rising Serpent

X - the Sign of the Triumphant One

L - V - X -- LVX, the Light of the King

COMMENTARY ON THE THELEMIC KEYWORD ANALYSIS

The Keyword Analysis begins and ends each hexagram ritual as performed in the traditional Golden Dawn style. It is actually the complete formula of initiation into the Greater Mysteries, which involve operations of celestial magick such as hexagram invocations. By contrast, the Lesser Mysteries involve operations of terrestrial magick and are concerned with human personality, the physical mind and body. The Golden Dawn Neophyte Ritual is an example of an initiation into the Lesser Mysteries. Beyond the Greater Mysteries are the Grand Mysteries, which involve supercelestial levels of reality, beyond the stars, planets, and even creation itself. Initiation into the Grand Mysteries involves the crossing of the Abyss on the Tree of Life. The A.: A.: Grade of Master of the Temple is the rank of one who partakes of the Grand Mysteries.

The processes of entry into the Greater Mysteries are typified in the Keyword Analysis by the translation of a special Word, representing the higher nature of human aspiration, into a magical formula which elevates consciousness to that intensity. The letters of the Word are associated with certain cosmic forces according to the system of correspondences used in the Qabalah. These concepts are then related to each letter of the magical formula, thus spelling it out and so declaring the nature of the Work of the Greater Mysteries. In essence, the Keyword Analysis equates one Word with another, to declare the ultimate truth that “Deus est Homo” (God is Man).

The Keyword offered as a departure from the traditional Golden Dawn formula, which is inspired by Christianity, is H.E.R.U. This is the Egyptian name for what the Greeks called, Horus. This Word is appropriate for a Thelemic formula of initiation into the Greater Mysteries, Horus being the primary deity from which the Thelemic dispensation was received. It is hoped that this formula will help aspiring Thelemic magicians achieve the sublime level of Adept of the Mysteries and so become independent from older formulae based on ideals from previous aeons.

The first translation of the formula is into Hebrew, as He-Yod-Resh-Vav. The correspondences given are of the Tarot cards to which these letters are attributed. So, using Aleister Crowley's innovation of reassigning the letters of Trump IV and Trump XVII, The Star card is given to express the nature of He. The initiatory nature of this new Thelemic formula thus begins with Nuit, the Star Mother, the true ground of all existence, the undivided wholeness from which all being arises.

A clarifying symbol may be derived by considering that the zodiacal sign Aquarius is attributed to the Star card. The planet Saturn rules this sign and is attributed to the Tarot card called The Universe. In the Thoth deck of Aleister Crowley, the similarity of attitude and position of the central feminine figure of these trumps is self evident and speaks volumes of the inner meaning behind this first stage of the Thelemic adept initiation formula.

The Hermit card is given for Yod as emblem of Hadit, the Seed Father. Hadit is the natural correlate of Nuit, he being the ultimate infinitesimal to Her infinity. All expressions of existence begin with the first focusing of infinity onto a particular point. This is the seed and root of all phases of manifestation.

A related symbol is the Tarot card called The Magus, to which the planet Mercury is attributed, this ruling the zodiacal sign Virgo, which is attributed to The Hermit card. The Thoth deck version of The Magus depicts the central figure in the state of ecstasy and so is relevant to the E of H.E.R.U. Further, the serpentine nature of Mercury as symbol of Kundalini directly relates to Hadit. Not only is the power of creative visualization indicated but also the very root energies underlying all being and becoming.

The Sun card is given for Resh to express the nature of Ra Hoor Khuit, Crowned and Conquering Child, an active form of Heru. This God is the natural and inevitable product of Nuit and Hadit, just as the Sun is the product of the infinite energy potential of space and the interaction of myriad manifest particles. The Sun has always been a deific emblem, the giver of all life and light, the fit object of aspiration in the Mysteries throughout the world. It is the divine nature in every human psyche.

Working in reverse of the method employed with the previous two cards, it may be understood that the sun is the planet ruling the zodiacal sign Leo, attributed to the Tarot card called Lust. The design of this card in the Thoth deck depicts the Thelemic deities Babalon and the Beast whereon she rides. These are expressions of Nuit and Hadit on a lower plane of existence and their conjoining at this level shows the lion-serpent guided by the feminine wisdom. The whole gestalt relates tellingly to the nature of the Crowned and Conquering Child, Ra Hoor Khuit.

The Hierophant Card is given for Vav as the Prophet of the New Aeon, To Mega Therion. This is the human incarnation of God, Deity and Humanity conjoined. This ultimate magician delivers a message of cosmic import to the world, furthering the process of the deification of the species. The Seed Father, Yod, has extended itself into incarnation as Vav, the Prophet, as indicated by the shape of these letters. Ra Hoor Khuit resides in His rightly fitted temple that is the magician's mind and body, with Hadit hidden in Him under the persona of Hoor Paar Kraat, the Babe in the Egg. See Chapter 2 of "Liber Al vel Legis," verse forty-nine in particular, for more on these themes.

It may be noted that the zodiacal sign Taurus is attributed to The Hierophant, which is ruled by the planet Venus. This, in turn, is attributed to the Tarot card called The Empress. This aspect of the final stage in the formula of Thelemic Adeptship shows a return to the Great Mother, but now pregnant with the seed of the All Father. The perfectly balanced nature of The Hierophant is clearly shown in this symbol. Moreover, verse sixteen of chapter two of "Liber Al vel Legis" declares that Hadit is The Empress and The Hierophant. Along with The Fool, these cards and their associated Hebrew letter/numbers express the mystery of Hadit as being 8 and 11, the serpent and that which lay beyond manifest existence. The Father is identified with the Son hereby.

The whole formula can be seen as the process of incarnation of God in the psyche of the magician, so aptly symbolized by the hexagram of interlocking triangles. The descending triangle of inspiration is firmly united with the ascending triangle of aspiration. The fusion of above and below produces a beautifully symmetric synergy with the power to channel and manipulate the very source of life, star power. Thus, each magician may be their own Prophet, determining their own way through infinite space as the cosmic star that they truly are. No intermediary is needed. The Adept is free from blind adherence to other people's dictates forever more.

The entire formula is then identified with ABRAHADABRA, the initiatory formula given by Crowley for the New Aeon. This is a three part word of eleven letters by which some have crossed the Abyss to enter the Supernal nature beyond the stars. It also aptly expresses the nature of operations of the Greater Mysteries, having five A's or pentagrams among six other letters. The five and the six are conjoined; the human and the divine are integrated. H.E.R.U. is ABRAHADABRA. The process of incarnation of Deity in Humanity in the Aeon of Horus is the discovery of the inmost nature of consciousness as manifest on all levels. The root of consciousness is the heart of all that was, is, and shall be.

For one so realized, the signs of LVX become a declaration of royalty. The signs of the cross become the signs of the King, the true partakers of the spirit of Thelema, Will. The Mother is described as the ecstatic Whirling Star whose sign is the Swastika. The Father is exulted in through His movement as the Rising Serpent. The Child is proclaimed as the Triumphant One, for whom no circumstance can diminish. LVX is the Light of the King, the emanation of the consciousness of the Prophet of His or Her own Aeon, whose movements through the cosmos form a personal covenant with Deity.

H.E.R.U. -> Nuit + Hadit + Ra Hoor Khuit -> ABRAHADABRA. The King is One who has mastered this formula. A comprehensive symbol for this idea is given in Chapter Three of "Liber Legis." It is Heru Ra Ha, Lord of the New Aeon. This transcendent God includes Ra Hoor Kuit and Hoor Paar Kraat as One. The Solar-Serpentine essence is the epitome of Horus Aeon consciousness, encompassing the natures of both parents and their children.

Introduced here is a composite symbol to illustrate this newly realized potential in human destiny. The idea takes after the Sphinx as comprehending the four elemental Kerubic animals in one being. These are the Lion, the Serpent or Man, the Bull, and the Eagle. Rather than land based animals, mythic birds are used for this symbol of the higher level of reality. The Phoenix is the bird of the Sun and Tiphareth, representing the mystical union with the essence of Pure Will. The Hawk is the bird of Mars and Geburah, representing the active fiery nature which is the basis of magical energy. The Eagle is the bird of Jupiter and Chesed as well as the highest expression of Mars. This represents that essence which transcends the duality of matter and mind.

These three symbols may be fused into what is here called The Dragon. The head of the Hawk is united with the body of the Phoenix and the wings of the Eagle. It flies throughout all manifestation and its ground, is the heart of all action and Will, and partakes of the essence of the ultimate transcendence. Thus, each of the Adept grades is comprehended herein. The Solar-Phallic creative energy is united to the highest Father.

ABRA - HAD - ABRA can be identified with the Great Dragon as follows. AB-RA means Father-Sun, the life giving energies which form the basis of the higher enlightenment, hence the Phoenix. HAD is Hadit, whose motion forms the serpent which spirals through all the dimensions of reality to enable Will to take shape in the world of action, hence the Hawk. ABRA = 204 = 34*6. 34 is the fourth great number of Jupiter and so the whole may be interpreted as the eagle conjoined with the sun, which is Lord and Father. Thus, the magician who becomes conformed to the composite nature of the Great Dragon is the Adept whose being reaches to the farthest limits and the nearest confines of existence. Such a King is a Master of magick, mysticism, and divinity.

He Yod Resh Vav adds in Hebrew to 221 = 17*13. The Swastika, whose number is 17 by the Fylfot Cross of Golden Dawn symbolism, is a symbol of Kether and is the Whirling Star. This is the sign used for L in the LVX signs. 13 is the number of love and unity, another number of Kether. The stellar nature which forms all matter and energy is the undivided wholeness which is the basis of all consciousness.

221 = 200+20+1 -> Resh - Kaph - Aleph -> Sun - Jupiter - Air. The shape of Aleph is the Swastika, formed of 17 squares selected from a set of 25 squares which form the square of Mars. 2+2+1 = 5 -> Mars and Geburah and He. These numerical symbols echo the analysis of the Great Dragon.

ENOCHIAN EVOCATION RITUAL – SHORT FORM

This ceremony is a quick and easy method of conjuring the angelic forces of Enochian magick. No temple setup or implements are necessary, although some incense may be burned if desired. This method has been found useful as a general follow up to formal temple generated visions.

1. Perform a general banishing ritual such as the Lesser Banishing Pentagram ritual, the Star Ruby, or this simple method. Face east. Draw a cross of light over your body from head to toe and right shoulder to left shoulder while vibrating the name “Aiwass,” or that of your Holy Guardian Angel if you know it. Point to the ceiling and trace a great circle around yourself, down the right side of your body and up the left. Trace another great circle around yourself from behind to in front. Trace a third great circle around the room while turning your body 360 degrees. All three dimensions of space are covered in this way. Say, “I banish,” while tracing each circle. After this is done, raise your hands in the air and say, “I banish all discordant spirits from this place. I banish the Shells unto their abodes and habitations. This place is clean.” Clap your hands loudly to finish.
2. Perform the Lesser Invoking Pentagram ritual, drawing in as much of this energy as possible.
3. Intone the first Enochian call as specified in the temple ceremony.
4. Perform the Lesser Invoking Hexagram ritual, drawing in as much of this energy as possible.

5. Intone one of the other Enochian calls for whichever elemental angelic energies you wish to experience. See the bibliography for books on Enochian magick to find these other angelic conjurations.
6. Enter into trance and receive the angelic contact.
7. Banish as in step 1 when done.

ENOCHIAN FORM OF THE BORNLESS RITUAL
ADAPTED FROM LIBER SANEKH FULL TEMPLE CEREMONY

Preparation:

Set up a double cubed Altar in the middle of a square or rectangular room. Place a pedestal in the center of each wall, marking out the four quarters of existence. Each direction is infinite and reaches into a higher than physical world. The reaches of infinity focus on the central altar from the east, south, west, north, above, and below. Thus, the altar is the center of the universe, the point of balance from which any energy may be launched to cause any effect anywhere.

Each pedestal marks the nature of its quarter, indicating the frequency of magical power emanating from that particular infinity. These four currents are symbolized by the four elements of classical Greek science: Air, Fire, Water, and Earth. Mark the nature of Air in the east by setting up the Angelic Air Tablet. Place a white votive candle in front of the tablet to light the darkling, mysterious abyss of the east. Place an emblem of the element itself with the candle, such as a hand fan or rose. Place the Angelic Spirit Tablet, called the Tablet of Union, in the far east raised above the other tablets.

In the south, place the symbols of Fire: the Angelic Fire Tablet, a white votive, and a red lamp, red candle, or candle in a red holder. In the west, place the symbols of Water: the Angelic Water Tablet, a white votive, and a cup or bowl of pure water. In the north, place the symbols of Earth: the Angelic Earth Tablet, a white votive, and a plate of salt.

Let the Altar, symbolizing the consciousness of the magician, center of his/her universe, be covered with a black cloth draping down on all sides to touch the floor or painted black. Place the four elemental weapons on top of the Altar, answering to the elemental natures of the quarters. Thus, place the Air Dagger on the eastern side of the altar, place the Fire Wand on the southern side, place the Water Cup on the western side, and place the Earth Pentacle on the northern side. In the center, the center of All, place a flask of fragrant Oil, symbolizing the ubiquitous element of Spirit. Oil of cinnamon or Abramelin oil is appropriate. A favored Holy Book may be placed underneath the flask if desired. In this way, the magician is expressed as a microcosm, an entire universe in miniature, whose several natures correspond to the forces of creation.

Place a Censor on the southern side of the Altar or the southern pedestal as desired, burning frankincense and myrrh or incense of Abramelin. Place the Bell at any convenient spot. Embellish the Altar with crystals, black, white, or multicolored tapers, etc.

Prepare the water in the Cup on the altar by dropping a few particles of salt into it and say, "May the salt of Earth admonish the Waters to bear the virtue of the Great Sea."

Opening:

Stand on the west side of the Altar, facing east. Perform the Lesser Banishing Ritual of the Pentagram or the Star Ruby.

Purify the Temple by taking the Cup, moving to the east wall, raising the Cup on high, and saying, “For pure will, unassuaged of purpose, delivered from the lust of result, is every way perfect.” (“Liber Legis,” Chapter 1, Verse 44)

Bring the Cup to heart level and say, “By the Lustral Water of the Loud Resounding Sea, I purify this Temple and all objects and persons within.”

Mark the points of an inverse triangle with the Cup, upper left, upper right, and then lower center. Imagine a blue triangle hanging in midair. Walk deosil to the south quarter and repeat the above paragraph. Repeat for west and north, return to the east, and walk back to the west side of the Altar in a deosil curve.

Consecrate the Temple by taking up the fuming Censor, moving to the east wall, raising the Censor on high, and saying, “So that thy light is in me; and its red flame is as a sword in my hand to push thy order.” (“Liber Legis,” Chapter 3, Verse 38)

Bring the Censor to heart level and say, “With the Sacred Fire which darts and flashes through the hidden depths of the universe, I consecrate this Temple and all objects and persons within.” Mark the points of an upright triangle by swinging the Censor toward the upper center, lower left, then lower right. Ideally, a puff of smoke should be left when the Censor swings away from the point. Imagine a red triangle superimposed on the blue triangle, making a hexagram.

Walk deosil to the south quarter and repeat the above paragraph. Repeat for west and north, return to the east, and walk back to the west side of the altar in a deosil curve. Replace the Censor and take up the Wand.

Intone the Thelemic Keyword Analysis and perform the Signs of L.V.X.

Go to the east and face south. Perform the Magick Circumambulation by giving the Sign of the Enterer and then walking around the Temple deosil three times, giving the Sign of the Enterer on passing the east each time. Imagine a current of white light passing through you each time this Sign is given. After three turns return to the west side of the Altar in a deosil curve. A continuously flowing cylinder of subtle white force should have developed around the Temple.

Read the Thelemic Declaration to dedicate every erg of magical energy generated in Temple to the Great Work of realizing the highest levels of consciousness in physical incarnation as follows:

“Holy and Blessed art Thou, Oh Heru Ra Ha, Transcendent Glory that surpasses all things. May Your Infinite Love reach down to bless this temple, dedicated to Your service. Enlighten my mind and enliven my soul so that I may be better enabled to carry out Your Will, which is my Will, here on earth.

Thereby, let the Word of the New Law be pronounced once more so that the brilliant stellar consciousness may be further established in the soul of humanity.

Do what thou wilt shall be the whole of the law. I declare that the purposes and operations of this temple are dedicated to spreading the Law of Thelema throughout the world on all planes to further the evolution of life everywhere. Let this new covenant, the third dispensation of humanity's transcendence, the fulfillment of all previous laws, be realized in the collective consciousness for the healing of all races. Our individual Paths through infinite space are our personal Covenants with the Divine. So may we all come at length to full Self actualization. Love is the law, love under will."

Complete the opening by ringing a battery of 3-5-3 with the Bell, making eleven rings in total, and then make a statement of intent, declaring the purpose of the Rite.

Invocation of the Bornless One:

Perform the Door of the Macrocosm:

The outer circle is white or platinum, representing the cosmic component of consciousness.

The vesica points touch the topmost and bottommost points of the circle. It is blue or silver, representing the instinctual/intuitive aspect of consciousness.

The cross points touch the top and bottom of the vesica as well as its widest points. It is red or red gold, representing the intellectual and creative aspects of consciousness.

The inner circle surrounds the center of the cross, which is the center of all, one sixth the size of the outer circle. It is yellow or yellow gold, representing the ego consciousness.

Thus, the solar-phallus is conjoined with the lunar-kteis and all three Rays are shown, encompassed by the circle of eternity.

1. In the center, draw a circle above the head with the wand, widdershins, saying, "Nuit, the Consciousness of the Continuity of Existence."
2. Point to the heart and say, "Hadit, the flame that burns in every heart of man and in the core of every star."
3. Draw a cross from head to toe and then from right shoulder to left shoulder, saying, "Therion, the Stream of Will that darts and flashes throughout the universe."

4. Draw a vesica from top of head to left hip, to feet, to right hip, to top of head, saying, “Babalon, the Flood of Love that encompasses all things.”
5. Clasp hands over heart with wand pointed upward and say, “Let the Door of the Macrocosm be opened to reveal That which is neither the Many nor the All nor the Two nor the One nor the None...ABRAHADABRA

Preliminary Invocation:

Take up the wand and say:

Thee I invoke, the Bornless One.

Thee, that didst create the Earth and the Heavens.

Thee, that didst create the Night and the Day.

Thee, that didst create the darkness and the Light.

Thou art HERU RA HA, whom no man hath seen at any time.

Thou are AIWASS.

Thou art BABALON.

Thou art THERION.

Thou hast distinguished between the Just and the Unjust.

Thou didst make the Female and the Male.

Thou didst produce the Seeds and the Fruit.

Thou didst form Men to love one another, and to hate one another.

I am <your magical motto>, thy Prophet, unto Whom Thou didst commit Thy Mysteries, the ceremonies of Thelema.

Thou didst produce the moist and the dry, and that which nourisheth all created Life.

Hear Thou Me, for I am the Angel of HERU RA HA: this is Thy True Name, handed down to the Prophets of Thelema.

Air:

Go to the eastern tablet with Wand in hand. Take on the magical form of a human with an eagle's head and say, "Let us evoke the Powers of Air with the Great Eastern Quadrangle."

Draw the invoking active spirit pentagram in black against a white background over the tablet, point to the center, and vibrate AHIH and then EXARP. Give the Signs of the Rending and the Closing of the Veil. Draw the invoking Air pentagram in violet against a yellow background, vibrating IHVH. Give the Sign of Air. Put down the Wand, take up the Fan, and draw the Kerubic sign of Aquarius in violet within the Air pentagram, creating a wind with the Fan. Vibrate Raphael and visualize Him standing behind the tablet.

Replace the Fan, take up the Wand, and draw a golden cross over the Great Cross of the tablet from top to bottom and then left to right. Draw a deosil golden circle around the cross starting from the top point. Point to the center of the cross and say, “In the names and letters of the Great Eastern Quadrangle, I call forth the Powers of Air.”

Hold the Wand on high and say, “In the Three Great Secret Names that are borne upon the Banners of the East, (trace the letters of the horizontal line of the Great Cross with the Wand as each Name is vibrated) ORO IBAH AOZPI, I call forth the Powers of Air.”

Hold the Wand on high and say, “In the Name of (trace the letters spiraling out from the center) BATAIVAH, great King of the East, I call forth the Powers of Air.” Knock.

Draw an invoking golden hexagram with a golden letter Vav against a blazing white background on the wall behind the tablet. Point to the center and vibrate, “Aiwass.” Visualize an infinite clear, blue sky with a brilliant orange sun beyond the golden hexagram, tinged with its power. Project the magical space developed on the tablet into the sky, feeling the two sets of images and powers merge. Give the Sign of the Enterer and project your consciousness into the magical space. Incant the Enochian Call for Air, extending yourself ever farther into the astral in the form of a pillar made up of spirals of flowing force. Build up as much energy as possible with the extension and incantation.

At the end of the Call, withdraw all the force back into yourself, exiting the sky space and returning fully to your body. Feel the flood of intensified Air energy purging your being of unbalanced force. Intone:

“Hear me, and make all Spirits subject unto Me; so that every Spirit of the Firmament and of the Ether: upon the Earth and under the Earth, on dry land and in the water; of Whirling Air, and of rushing Fire, and every Spell and Scourge of God may be obedient unto Me.”

Fire:

Go to the southern tablet with Wand in hand. Take on the magical form of a human with a lion's head and say, “Let us evoke the Powers of Fire with the Great Southern Quadrangle.”

Draw the invoking active spirit pentagram in black against a white background over the tablet, point to the center, and vibrate AHIH and then BITOM. Give the Signs of the Rending and the Closing of the Veil. Draw the invoking Fire pentagram in green against a red background, vibrating Elohim. Give the Sign of Fire. Put down the Wand, take up the Red Lamp, and draw the Kerubic sign of Leo in green within the Fire pentagram. Vibrate Michael and visualize Him standing behind the tablet.

Replace the Red Lamp, take up the Wand, and draw a golden cross over the Great Cross of the tablet from top to bottom and then left to right. Draw a deosil golden circle around the cross starting from the top point. Point to the center of the cross and say, “In the names and letters of the Great Southern Quadrangle, I call forth the Powers of Fire.”

Hold the Wand on high and say, “In the Three Great Secret Names that are borne upon the Banners of the South, (trace the letters of the horizontal line of the Great Cross with the Wand as each Name is vibrated) OIP TEAA PDOCE, I call forth the Powers of Fire.”

Hold the Wand on high and say, “In the Name of (trace the letters spiraling out from the center) EDLPRNAA, great King of the South, I call forth the Powers of Fire.” Knock.

Draw an invoking golden hexagram with a golden letter Yod against a blazing white background on the wall behind the tablet. Point to the center and vibrate, “Therion.” Visualize an infinite space of blazing white flames beyond the golden hexagram, tinged with its power. Project the magical space developed on the tablet into the fires, feeling the two sets of images and powers merge. Give the Sign of the Enterer and project your consciousness into the magical space. Incant the Enochian Call for Fire, extending yourself ever farther into the astral in the form of a pillar made up of spirals of flowing force. Build up as much energy as possible with the extension and incantation.

At the end of the Call, withdraw all the force back into yourself, exiting the sky space and returning fully to your body. Feel the flood of intensified Fire energy purging your being of unbalanced force. Intone:

“Hear me, and make all Spirits subject unto Me; so that every Spirit of the Firmament and of the Ether: upon the Earth and under the Earth, on dry land and in the water; of Whirling Air, and of rushing Fire, and every Spell and Scourge of God may be obedient unto Me.”

Water:

Go to the Western tablet with Wand in hand. Take on the magical form of a human with a serpent’s head and say, “Let us evoke the Powers of Water with the Great Western Quadrangle.”

Draw the invoking passive spirit pentagram in white against a black background over the tablet, point to the center, and vibrate Atah Geboor Leolahm Adonai and then HCOMA. Give the Signs of the Rending and the Closing of the Veil. Draw the invoking Water pentagram in orange against a blue background, vibrating AL. Give the Sign of Water. Put down the wand, take up the cup or bowl, and draw the Kerubic sign of Scorpio in orange within the Water pentagram. Vibrate Gabriel and visualize Him standing behind the tablet.

Replace the Cup, take up the Wand, and draw a golden cross over the Great Cross of the tablet from top to bottom and then left to right. Draw a deosil golden circle around the cross starting from the top point. Point to the center of the cross and say, “In the names and letters of the Great Western Quadrangle, I call forth the Powers of Water.”

Hold the Wand on high and say, “In the Three Great Secret Names that are borne upon the Banners of the West, (trace the letters of the horizontal line of the Great Cross with the Wand as each Name is vibrated) MPH ARSL GAIOL, I call forth the Powers of Water.”

Hold Wand on high and say, “In the Name of (trace the letters spiraling out from the center) RAAGIOSL, great King of the West, I call forth the Powers of Water.” Knock.

Draw an invoking golden hexagram with a golden letter He against a blazing white background on the wall behind the tablet. Point to the center and vibrate, “BABALON.” Visualize an infinite ocean of clear blue green water beyond the golden hexagram, tinged with its power. Project the magical space developed on the tablet into the waters, feeling the two sets of images and powers merge. Give the Sign of the Enterer and project your consciousness into the magical space. Incant the Enochian Call for Water, extending yourself ever farther into the astral in the form of a pillar made up of spirals of flowing force. Build up as much energy as possible with the extension and incantation.

At the end of the Call, withdraw all the force back into yourself, exiting the sky space and returning fully to your body. Feel the flood of intensified Water energy purging your being of unbalanced force. Intone:

“Hear me, and make all Spirits subject unto Me; so that every Spirit of the Firmament and of the Ether: upon the Earth and under the Earth, on dry land and in the water; of Whirling Air, and of rushing Fire, and every Spell and Scourge of God may be obedient unto Me.”

Earth:

Go to the Northern tablet with Wand in hand. Take on the magical form of a human with a bull’s head and say, “Let us evoke the Powers of Earth with the Great Northern Quadrangle.”

Draw the invoking passive spirit pentagram in white against a black background over the tablet, point to the center, and vibrate Atah Geboor Leolahm Adonai and then NANTA. Give the Signs of the Rending and the Closing of the Veil. Draw the invoking Earth pentagram in white against a black background, vibrating ADNI. Give the Sign of Earth. Put down the wand, take up the plate of salt, and draw the Kerubic sign of Taurus in white within the Earth pentagram. Vibrate Auriel and visualize Him standing behind the tablet.

Replace the plate of salt, take up the wand, and draw a golden cross over the Great Cross of the tablet from top to bottom and then left to right. Draw a deosil golden circle around the cross starting from the top point. Point to the center of the cross and say, “In the names and letters of the Great Northern Quadrangle, I call forth the Powers of Earth.”

Hold the Wand on high and say, “In the Three Great Secret Names that are borne upon the Banners of the North, (trace the letters of the horizontal line of the Great Cross with the Wand as each Name is vibrated) MOR DIAL HCTGA, I call forth the Powers of Earth.”

Hold the Wand on high and say, “In the Name of (trace the letters spiraling out from the center) ICZHIHAL, great King of the North, I call forth the Powers of Earth.” Knock.

Draw an invoking golden hexagram with a golden letter He against a blazing white background on the wall behind the tablet. Point to the center and vibrate, “Heru Ra Ha.”

Visualize an infinite land of rocky mountains beyond the golden hexagram, tinged with its power. Project the magical space developed on the tablet into the land, feeling the two sets of images and powers merge. Give the Sign of the Enterer and project your consciousness into the magical space. Incant the Enochian Call for Earth, extending yourself ever farther into the astral in the form of a pillar made up of spirals of flowing force. Build up as much energy as possible with the extension and incantation.

At the end of the Call, withdraw all the force back into yourself, exiting the earthy space and returning fully to your body. Feel the flood of intensified Earth energy purging your being of unbalanced force. Intone:

“Hear me, and make all Spirits subject unto Me; so that every Spirit of the Firmament and of the Ether: upon the Earth and under the Earth, on dry land and in the water; of Whirling Air, and of rushing Fire, and every Spell and Scourge of God may be obedient unto Me.”

Spirit:

Complete the circle and return to the west side of the Altar, facing east, and say, “Let us invoke the Powers of Spirit with the Tablet of Union.”

Draw the invoking passive spirit pentagram in white against a black background over the Tablet of Union, point to the center, and vibrate Atah Geboor Leolahm Adonai. Draw the invoking active spirit pentagram in black against a white background and vibrate AHIH. Give the Signs of the Rending and the Closing of the Veil.

Vibrate EXARP HCOMA NANTA BITOM, tracing the letters with the Wand, starting from the upper left letter and moving downward, one line per Name, and say, “In the Names and Letters of the Tablet of Union, I call forth the Powers of Spirit.”

Draw an invoking golden hexagram with a golden letter Shin against a blazing white background on the ceiling above. Point to the center and vibrate, “IHShVH.” Visualize an infinite cosmic space beyond the golden hexagram, tinged with its power. Project the magical space developed on the tablet into the cosmic space, feeling the two sets of images and powers merge. Give the Sign of the Enterer and project your consciousness into the magical space. Incant the first Enochian Call for Spirit, extending yourself ever farther into the astral in the form of a pillar made up of spirals of flowing force. Build up as much energy as possible with the extension and incantation.

After the Call, visualize a crystalline white sphere at the top of the spiral shaft which reflects all five elemental magical spaces. Feel all the power of the ceremony focus on the sphere. Intone:

“This is the Lord of the Gods.
This is the Lord of the Universe.
This is He whom the Winds fear.
This is He, Who having made Voice by His commandment is Lord of all Things; King, Ruler and Helper.”

Transfer your consciousness back to your body while maintaining visualization of the cosmic space penetrated by the spiral pillar topped with the white sphere. Strive against the upward pressure and intone:

“Hear me, and make all Spirits subject unto Me; so that every Spirit of the Firmament and of the Ether: upon the Earth and under the Earth, on dry land and in the water; of Whirling Air, and of rushing Fire, and every Spell and Scourge of God may be obedient unto Me.”

Transcendence:

Intone the Thelemic Keyword Analysis and give the LVX signs. Give the Sign of the Enterer and project your consciousness into and through the hexagram on the ceiling again, like a rocket taking off. Feel tremendous upward pressure as the answer from beyond takes hold of the pillar and incant the second Enochian Call for Spirit, extending yourself ever farther into the astral. Build up as much energy as possible with the extension and incantation.

After intoning the Call, explode the pillar and sphere like a supernova, dissolving consciousness throughout the space. Hear the entire transcendence intone:

“I am He! the Bornless Spirit! Having sight in the feet:
Strong, and the Immortal Fire!

I am He! the Truth!

I am He! Who hate that evil should be wrought in the World!

I am He, that lighteneth and thundereth!

I am He, from whom is the Shower of the Life of Earth!

I am He, whose mouth ever flameth!

I am He, the Begetter and Manifester unto the Light!

I am He, The Grace of the Worlds!

“The Heart Girt with a Serpent” is my name!”

Return to the body as you may and integrate the experience of transcendence with that of the coherence of waking consciousness. Intone:

“Come thou forth, and follow me: and make all Spirits subject unto Me so that every Spirit of the Firmament, and of the Ether, upon the Earth and under the Earth: on dry Land, or in the Water: of Whirling Air or of rushing Fire, and every Spell and scourge of God, may be obedient unto me!”

Vibrate with all levels of being, “IAO SABAO.” Say “Such are the Words.”

Closing:

Perform the pentagram banishing ritual if you haven’t absorbed all the energy generated by the rite. Purify and consecrate as in the opening. Close the Angelic Tablets as follows:

Go to the eastern tablet, Wand in hand, and say, “Let us banish the Powers of Air with the Great Eastern Quadrangle.” Draw the banishing active spirit pentagram in black against a white background over the tablet, point to the center, and vibrate AHIH and EXARP. Draw the banishing Air pentagram in violet against a yellow background and vibrate IHVH. Draw the Kerubic sign of Aquarius with the Wand in violet within the Air pentagram and vibrate Raphael. Draw a golden cross over the Great Cross of the tablet from top to bottom and then left to right. Draw a widdershins golden circle around the cross. Point to the center and say, “In the names and letters of the Great Eastern Quadrangle, I banish the Powers of Air.” Knock once with the Wand.

Repeat appropriate banishing formulas for the other tablets in the south, west, and north. Complete the circle and return to the west side of the Altar, facing east. Say, “Let us banish the Powers of Spirit with the Tablet of Union.” Draw the banishing passive and active spirit pentagrams over the Tablet of Union, using the colors and vibrating the Names as in the opening. Point to the center and say, “In the names and letters of the Tablet of Union, I banish the Powers of Spirit.”

Raise the Wand on high and say, “I hereby give license to depart any and all spirits that may have been attracted by this rite. Let there be peace between you and I and be ready to come when called.” Knock forcefully.

Perform the Magick Reverse Circumambulation by circling the Temple widdershins. Imagine a current of white light passing through you, counteracting the deosil current set up in the opening. After three turns, return to the west side of the Altar in a widdershins curve. The cylinder of subtle white force should be gone.

Declare the Temple closed and ring a battery of 3-5-3 with the Bell.

Tetelestai.

BIBLIOGRAPHY

Abbott, Edwin. Flatland. New York: Dover Publications, 1952.

Avalon, Arthur. The Serpent Power. New York: Dover Publications, 1974.

Bohm, David. Wholeness and the Implicate Order. New York and London: Routledge, 1995.

Crowley, Aleister. 777 and Other Qabalistic Writings of Aleister Crowley. York Beach, ME: Samuel Weiser, 1983.

_____. The Book of Thoth. York Beach, ME: Samuel Weiser, 1984.

_____. "Liber XV: The Gnostic Mass," Magick in Theory and Practice. New York: Dover Publications, 1976.

_____. "Liber Al vel Legis," The Law is For All. Ed. Israel Regardie. Phoenix, AZ: Falcon Press, 1985.

_____. "Liber Chanokh," Gems from the Equinox. Ed. Israel Regardie. Las Vegas, NV: Falcon Press, 1988.

_____. "Liber Samekh," Magick in Theory and Practice. New York: Dover Publications, 1976.

_____. Magick in Theory and Practice. New York: Dover Publications, 1976.

_____. Magick: Liber ABA. York Beach, ME: Samuel Weiser, 1994.

_____. The Holy Books of Thelema. York Beach, ME: Samuel Weiser, 1983.

_____. The Vision and the Voice. Dallas, TX: Sangreal Foundation, 1972.

Fortune, Dion. The Mystical Qabalah. London and Tonbridge: Ernest Benn Limited, 1957.

Herbert, Nick. Quantum Reality. New York: Anchor Books, 1985.

Hofstadter, Douglas. Godel Escher Bach: An Eternal

Golden Braid. New York: Basic Books, 1999.

James, Geoffrey. The Enochian Magick of Dr. John Dee. St. Paul, MN: Llewellyn Publications, 1994.

Peitgen, H.-O. and Richter, P.H. The Beauty of Fractals. Berlin, Heidelberg, New York, Tokyo: Springer-Verlag, 1986.

Penrose, Roger. Shadows of the Mind. New York and Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1994.

Peterson, Ivars. The Mathematical Tourist. New York: Henry Holt and Company, 1998.

Regardie, Israel. The Golden Dawn. St. Paul, MN: Llewellyn Publications, 1987.

Reich, Wilhelm. The Function of the Orgasm. Trans. Vincent R. Carfagno. New York: The Noonday Press, 1973.

Trismosin, Salomon. Splendor Solis. Trans. Joscelyn Godwin. Ed. Adam McLean. Grand Rapids, MI: Phanes Press, 1991.

Zalewski, Pat. Golden Dawn Enochian Magic. St. Paul, MN: Llewellyn Publications, 1994.

_____. Kabbalah of the Golden Dawn. St. Paul, MN: Llewellyn Publications, 1993.

Notes

Earth Tablet – First Round

¹ See the appendix for details on the setup and performance of these angelic evocations.

² See “777 and Other Qabalistic Writings of Aleister Crowley” for the color correspondences of the Sephiroth of the Tree of Life in the four scales. The King scale corresponds to the deific world of Atziluth. Tiphareth is the sixth Sephirah on the Tree of ten numbers, the center and harmony of the whole structure.

³ See “Magick in Theory and Practice” or “Magick: Liber ABA” by Aleister Crowley for details of the pentagram and hexagram rituals.

⁴ The Greater Hexagram Ritual is used to evoke specific planets. Each planet must be invoked and then banished before another planet can be called. Experience has shown that mixing planetary energies tends to cancel them all out most of the time. The Lesser Hexagram Ritual generates general planetary level energy and so is useful in working with several different planets in succession.

⁵ See “The Book of Thoth” by Aleister Crowley for descriptions of the Egyptian god Tahuti, also called Thoth, and the ape which continually twists the words of truth uttered by Him.

⁶ The term superconsciousness is here used to indicate the greater wholeness of which the ego and its personal awareness are but a part. An analogy is an ocean in which are little icebergs, self contained yet part of the greater body of water. An avenue of superconsciousness, then, is an access to this greater wholeness of being independent of bodily existence.

⁷ See “Kabbalah of the Golden Dawn” by Pat Zalewski or “The Mystical Qabalah” by Dion Fortune for information on the five Partzufim and their correspondences to the Tree of Life.

⁸ See “The Vision and the Voice” by Aleister Crowley for information about this Thelemic deity.

⁹ See “The Holy Books of Thelema” by Aleister Crowley to find “Liber Legis” and other of his profoundly inspired and channeled writings.

¹⁰ To make a torus, take a sheet of paper and roll it up into a cylinder. Connect the two ends of the cylinder and you’ve got a torus.

Air Tablet – First Round

¹ These needles correspond to the interdimensional currents revealed by the Earth King. Each element has its own way of looking at how manifestation arises from a general background of pure potential. The angels of these elements have their own lessons to teach about performing magick.

² In the angelically enhanced vision space, it is possible to hold images expressing several different states of consciousness at once. With a little experience with this type of work, it is possible to shift perspective so as to change the apparent size and shape of the vision body. Images are malleable to the Will since they directly express mood, belief, and intent. Metaphysical dynamics can also be embodied, showing a whole new set of dimensions to reality. Different states can interweave and superimpose.

³ The cosmic mind is like a vast ocean of possibility that remains dormant until focused by the impress of a higher Will which flows into, through, and out of the pure potential. This mind is like a bubble of likely possibility floating in an even greater ocean of nullity, where nothing is likely to occur. Anything beyond this bubble of potential is transcendent to it, including the source of the Will current. That which is the synergy of all things is the instigator thereof. The first three Tarot cards of the Major Arcana, The Fool, The Magus, and The High Priestess, reveal this mystery in detail. Consult “The Book of Thoth” by Aleister Crowley for further study.

⁴ See “The Serpent Power” by Arthur Avalon for information about the seven chakras, the special concentrations of psychic and nerve energy that regulate the balances of mind and body.

⁵ See “Liber Chanokh” by Aleister Crowley for information about the breakdown of the Watchtower tablets into sections, each of which has specific types of angels.

⁶ “Liber Al vel Legis” by Aleister Crowley, Ch. 3, v. 69.

⁷ The seven tablets of John Dee's Heptarchia system, also called the tablets of Bonorum, are assigned to the seven planets of the Hermetic Qabalah. See "The Enochian Magick of Dr. John Dee" by Geoffrey James and "Golden Dawn Enochian Magic" by Pat Zalewski for information about this other magical system of Dee's. There are many other systems of Enochian evocation besides the Watchtowers and the Heptarchia as well.

⁸ A magical method of using the sex force to accelerate the process of evolution is suggested by this passage. Many books on sex magick are available.

⁹ See "Liber XV: The Gnostic Mass" by Aleister Crowley for the significance of the Communion of Saints in a Thelemic religious context.

¹⁰ "There is the dove, and there is the serpent. Choose ye well!" "Liber Al vel Legis," Ch. 1, v. 57.

¹¹ Any true act of sex magick involves these three paths.

¹² "existence is pure joy;" "Liber Al vel Legis," Ch. 2, v. 9.

¹³ "Liber Al vel Legis," Ch. 1, v. 12.

¹⁴ The Seniors have very specific functions in initiating the evoking magician. Answers are revealed slowly over time.

¹⁵ See the works of Carl Jung for information about the collective unconscious.

¹⁶ Above the Abyss, contradiction is unity. Below the Abyss, contradiction is conflict.

¹⁷ As will be seen later, this was a mistake. Many subsequent visions were incomplete because I failed to come to understand the nature of the King of the East at this point. No step along the Path of the Wise can be skipped or partially accomplished. It's like trying to build a house on a weak foundation.

¹⁸ This turned out to be one of the worst mistakes of my magical career to this point. Although the King is an angel of an element, he is a direct projection of superconsciousness and so quite beyond anything I can recognize within my personal self. Clearly, ego issues were preventing me from attaining his full contact. This failure would hamper many subsequent visions in this round of Watchtower evocations and necessitate a second attempt at the entire course.

¹⁹ Sol is an image of Tiphareth and spiritual transcendence but it also represents the ego, self absorption. This self reinforcement was almost certainly part of the veil that was blinding my vision from the true King of the East rather than a presentiment of my H.G.A. Issues of authority were also involved in this thick veil, a sensitive ego sore spot. This would be a hard lesson to learn.

²⁰ This idea is not as audacious and absurd as it might first appear. There is a longstanding tradition of spirit sex practice. The goal is to allow greater angelic influence into the soul of humanity and, in certain instances, to actually incarnate an angel in human form. See the works of Ida Craddock for more information on this topic.

²¹ It's absurd that something as basic to human experience as religious worship should affect me so adversely, but this is the way I've always been. Even as a child, I've always understood that humanity is experiencing a new age of reason and personal awareness. The old religious paradigms are no longer considered absolute and so new paths of spirituality can be explored vigorously. I'm so engrossed in the new aeon that any return to old ways is a violence to my personal formula of life. My discovery of Thelema has fully justified every spiritual and sociological sentiment I've ever had.

²² The element of Water and the Hebrew letter Mem are attributed to this card.

²³ This workshop was done after my initial evocations from the Watchtower of Water. So intense was my result that I thought it best to undergo this final preparation before continuing with such greater energy.

²⁴ The Fylfot cross and the First Swirlings are symbols of Kether.

Water Tablet – First Round

¹ The concept of coherence as a holding together of the laws of nature to allow for matter and energy to evolve into living forms is key in all my Water angel visions. A profound understanding of the nature of potential and how it becomes realized in space and time developed through these superconscious contacts.

² In “Liber Al vel Legis,” Ch. 1, v.59, Nuit calls her hair the trees of eternity.

³ Essentially, a process of becoming is being described for both time and space. There is the initial crossover from a state of pure potential to one of actuality. There is the emergence into full, actualized existence, and finally, the integration with the rest of cosmic reality. These concepts will be described in other ways as the Water angel visions progress.

⁴ Here is another reference to “Liber Al vel Legis,” this time from Ch. 1, v. 26. The sign of Nuit’s presence is the conscious of the continuity of existence. This angel was signifying Nuit in a palpable, communicative form.

⁵ It is also possible that I somehow telepathically communicated my transcendent states of consciousness to my magical partner. She could have been sensitive to the magical projections I emanated in performing the evocation ceremony. This suggests that the value of the initiator is far greater than that of any magical system in bestowing new consciousness.

⁶ Mars is connected by Qabalistic attribution to Yesod, the ninth Sephirah, the center of human sexual and hereditary power. The Hebrew letter of Mars is Pe, whose numerical value is 80. Yesod, ISOD, enumerates to 80. It means foundation and also Yod SOD, the secret of the Yod or seed of creation.

⁷ In Hebrew, ABLIH = 48 = 6 * 8. In English, EBELIJAH = 52 = 13 * 4 = 26 * 2. 48 is associated with Mercury and Hod, while 52 is associated with Tiphareth. The hexagram is implied.

⁸ See the works of Dr. John Lilly for more information about the mind as conceived of as a great biocomputer with constructive and destructive psychic behaviors and imprinted programs.

⁹ None of this makes any logical sense, which is appropriate to a state of consciousness that transcends the intellectual faculty. Words must fail to convey the true meaning of what is experienced and understood at this level.

¹⁰ See various alchemical books for images of alchemists being cooked in bottles and other vessels.

¹¹ Once again, I was foolish in ignoring the worthwhile warning given me by an angel. My obstinacy would prove self defeating in the long run. The angels need to be given more respect than this.

¹² This intensity of evocation wasn't realized until I began the Fire angel work. Touching such inspiring and extreme transcendence increased my overall ability to ceremonially project my magical energy, even with the most material of spirits. It is intriguing that my magical partner was able to perceive this same level of intensity, providing her with a real initiation and acceleration of her own Work.

¹³ An example of this kind of phenomenon, but with a sphere moving through a two dimensional flatland, can be read in “Flatland,” by Edwin Abbott.

¹⁴ My short temper remains but at least now I know what’s going on and have a better chance of controlling it. Many such healings are necessary to fully break up an ingrained personality trait like this.

¹⁵ It’s intriguing that her gushing flow of blood was an interdimensional principle like my watery currents. Our parallel experiences speak much about the objective nature of these evocations.

¹⁶ It was difficult for me to listen to this message since I’ve always been pessimistic about romantic relationships. The peace of mind brought me by a life of confirmed bachelorhood has been a boon to my magical career. Fully focused on my life’s Work, I can operate in a direct, uninterrupted manner. I was surprised by the angel’s suggestion that I might be better off involved in a loving romantic relationship. Fortunately for me, these entities give true teachings, unconcerned with the sensibilities of those who evoke them. Superconsciousness derives from the heart of the collective unconscious.

Fire Tablet – First Round

¹ Emergent order results when an interdimensional organizing principle touches and flows through a physical system, activating the potential Fire within. Great transformations may be achieved by this life action, copying the development of life itself.

² This life changing event occurred during a continuous meditation I was doing as part of a training program given by a magical order inspired by the Hermetic Order of the Golden Dawn. Of course, it espoused Thelema rather than Christianity. The object of the meditation was not to raise the Kundalini but to promote a sense of unity among the moment-by-moment sensations and experiences of life. The thought that triggered the lightning bolt that charged up my spine was, “It is good to be human.”

³ See Appendix for the Thelemic Keyword Analysis and LVX Signs to find descriptions and related symbols of these ideas.

⁴ What is being described here is a process of dimensional unfoldment. Space, time, and the matter and energy that exist therein, emerge out of cosmic potential as a process of ever expanding complex relationships. The most basic pattern of this process is the spiral. It weaves the tapestry of reality against which it extends from dimension to dimension. An inversion and a duplication take place with each transition. The universe and individuated consciousness emerge as higher levels of order in this way.

⁵ None of this appeared to my physical sense of sight but rather a sense of tangibility and presence was had, as if a new dimension expanded from nothingness to surround and interpenetrate my mind and body. This added space was right next to me, within me, and reached to the furthest distance. My magical tracings appeared and had presence in this confected fourth dimension.

Tablet of Union – First Round

¹ These preliminaries to my temple ceremonial have proven extremely useful for promoting results. Any great magical effort needs considerable development on the astral and etheric planes. Even if this is merely an ornate mental exercise, it is helpful to have all the levels of being involved in order to channel the innermost psychic power to physical or quasiphysical manifestation.

Consult the works of Israel Regardie for details regarding the Middle Pillar Exercise. Students of Crowley may notice that he never mentioned this useful ritual. This is because Regardie invented the MPE.

² The Lesser Banishing Ritual of the Pentagram is a standard Golden Dawn style space cleansing ritual to start off more complex ceremonial actions. It is also a useful exercise by itself for the beginner in magick.

³ See any book on Golden Dawn or A.A. magick for details on how to perform the LBRP. It consists of four main parts: the Qabalistic Cross, the drawing of pentagrams in the air along with vibration of divine names, a general angelic invocation, and a final Qabalistic Cross.

⁴ This teaching has been repeated over and over again by various Water and Fire angels, giving a consistency to their knowledge. A fundamental metaphysics was being conveyed to me and developed slowly as my progress through the Enochian system continued.

⁵ This angel was representing the presence of higher dimensions in physical space and time, that ubiquitous, connective, transcendent principle that lay at the heart of all life and intelligence.

⁶ In Hebrew Qabalah, Ralpern = RLPRN = $560 = 7 * 8 * 10 = 28 * 20 \Rightarrow$ Netzach and Jupiter; reduces to 2. 560 is the total of a Greek word meaning wizard and Hebrew words meaning sorceress and dragons. Ralpern is clearly a very magical entity whose formula resembles my own. I should conjure him directly.

Air Tablet – Second Round

¹ Nonlocality is a concept from quantum mechanics. Two subatomic particles are said to be in nonlocal contact, entangled, when what happens to one particle instantaneously affects the other particle, no matter how far away it may be. The information travels faster than the speed of light, so the agency of connection must be somehow metaphysical. All changes in the quantum realm are discrete, jumping from one state to another without passing through any in between states. Thus, the appearance of smoothness on the human, macroscopic level of existence is an illusion, an averaging of myriad tiny discrete states. As previous visions have revealed, reality is a web of interaction and not a plenum. It is interesting that what is revealed by one state/element gets changed by another.

² Refer to Wilhelm Reich's description of the function and process of the orgasm for an organic parallel to this idea.

³ See "The Function of the Orgasm," by Wilhelm Reich for a broad discussion of the significance of the function and patterns of sexual activity.

⁴ "Liber Legis" condemns virginity as a lying specter of the ages, dark and poisonous. This is an excellent expression of what happens to the psyche when sexual abstinence is imposed and enforced through fear and intimidation. No purity of mind and soul can come from such tyranny. Quite the reverse happens as obsession with the forbidden subject leads to unhealthy perversions and layer after layer of destructive neuroses. The spiritual transcendence of real purity can only come from a willing participation in abstinence, usually only for a limited period of time. The mind and body have needs which must be fulfilled for the maintenance of their health. Denial of any of these leads to nothing but destruction. The lying specter of the ages is the withered soul devastated by patristic societal cruelty. No holiness can come from such an ideal.

⁵ The throat chakra is considered to be the seat of Venus.

⁶ I consider this experiment in sexual magick to be a failure.

This formula is just not appropriate for this entity. My operation was improperly performed and the results were of a debased nature. Only the innate love of the Venusian nature kept me from descending into a completely perverse state of mind. This contact does not at all qualify as having evoked the Venus Senior of Air again, as instructed. I would need time to recover from this before my next attempt.

⁷ This shift in form might have been a lingering imbalance resulting from my application of the Luna formula to the Venus spirit. My relationship with this principle needed perfecting, as the ensuing visionary experience would show.

⁸ This is an outstanding example of self reference and self recursion, the core pattern that develops complexity and self similarity with the cosmos as a whole.

⁹ The transformation I underwent in shifting to the metalevel image took place primarily on a subconscious level, beyond what words can express. Much time and experience is usually needed to encounter and sort out these types of deep changes. A seed is planted deep within the psyche and then grows in darkness until the flowering reaches the light of day consciousness. For the most part, the ego is just along for the ride.

¹⁰ With this type of overly Yang attitude, it's no wonder I have so much difficulty understanding spirits of Venus. This entire vision is loaded down with testosterone, quite the opposite of this angel's formula. While I gained an invaluable initiation and contact with a transcendent principle, this wasn't my original intent. Once again, I failed to endure the Senior's initiation.

¹¹ See any number of books, including some physics books, to learn about theories of cocreation. The individual is as much a determining factor of how the universe came about as natural forces.

¹² Here is a parable not only of the nature of death in general but of the attainment of immortality through identification with a sun god who is sacrificed.

¹³ I decided to evoke this Senior again, since I'd reached so much higher a level of astral and transcendent contact with the Luna and Venus Seniors of Air. This turned out to be a great idea.

¹⁴ The pace I'd set for these evocations was clearly far too fast for my own good. My zeal for the Work had become overdone. The result of too much magick too soon is uncontrolled rising of unconscious contents. Much stress and anxiety follow until adjustment is made over time. Also, important details get lost in the confusion of so many lessons and energies. Eventually, the necessity of slowing down becomes overwhelming. To ignore the warning signs is to invite disaster.

¹⁵ This is a paraphrase of the first sentence of verse 2 of chapter 2 of "Liber Legis." The vision to come was to involve that aspect of Mercury dealing with the use of language to express high wisdom.

¹⁶ These are the Sephirothic and Planetary colors of the sun, respectively. The interchange of symbolism between Sol and Mercury in its higher sense is prevalent in western occultism. This identification further stresses the nature of Mercury being depicted in vision. The fusion of magick as language manipulation and the core human emanative nature is central to all attempts to master the self and nature through the use of subtle forces.

¹⁷ These tablets suggest that the elements were enlightened and integrated by the All-Source. The allusion to the Enochian tablets, but with Sanskrit-like lettering indicates a magical cultural fusion of east and west, furthering the theme of fusion of opposite natures in the truth of Mercury.

¹⁸ It often takes time for a radical transformation of the whole being to register to self consciousness. The barriers separating self consciousness and the subconscious serve to shield the delicate ego from this kind of extreme upheaval. Eventually, the psychic hyperactivity reaches the little self but somewhat buffered from the raw impact experienced by the wholeness of Self. This is not always enough to avoid being overwhelmed or prevent the fall into obsession. Extensive preliminary training in a magical regimen and/or psychotherapy can be very useful in strengthening the individual to withstand these kinds of subconscious onslaughts.

¹⁹ See “Wholeness and the Implicate Order,” by David Bohm for a detailed explanation of this term.

²⁰ According to the tropical system of astrology, my birth sign is Pisces and Saturn appears there in my birth chart. However, according to the sidereal system of astrology, my birth sign is Aquarius and Saturn is also located there. It is worth noting that indigo is the color of Capricorn, ruled by Saturn, and that both this sign and Pisces border Aquarius in the zodiac. Overall, my nativity is indicated.

²¹ It is ironic that the angel of the planet of death and the ending of things should preside over the birth of my higher self in this manner. An impersonal nature had come about, to be sure, which is in line with Saturn, but the demeanor of the baby was anything but Saturnian. It may be significant here that Jupiter rules Pisces. The antithetical payoff of Saturn and Jupiter played a large part in this vision.

²² In my Sahasrara chakra.

²³ The nature of this baby involves a life/death interchange, being a symbol of new life, and yet a guide into my deep subconscious, very like a guide of the dead. Qabalistically, he connected the chakras representing Kether, Tiphareth, and Yesod, the Middle Pillar of the Tree of Life above Malkuth. This new power was circulated throughout my aura by a method related to the Rousing of the Citadels ritual. My aura had extended to a life within, beyond the death of the body.

²⁴ The literature of occultism from around the world is replete with descriptions of high mountains and deep vaults where the gods live and where those found worthy are taken for initiation into the Mysteries. In the Western Mystery Tradition, the mountain of initiation is called Mount Abiegnus, described as a mountain of caverns. The paradox of being high above the earth and yet underground is significant here, a metaphor for the unconscious and for mystery in general.

²⁵ I believe the psychopompic baby that was hatched out of me by the Saturn Senior of Air is the guide inculcated by this lecture. All along, the Seniors have been preparing me for this grand initiation. As for swearing to keep secret these mysteries, it is the incommunicable secrets bestowed by these officers that are to be kept hidden and not the details of their lectures.

²⁶ See appendix for a description of my temple setup.

²⁷ My temple setup for this evocation was the same as all the others. I forgot to employ the intended changes to more closely simulate an Adept temple. As it turned out, it was just as well. Sometimes, mistakes carry real intention.

²⁸ It is important for the reader to understand that this vision didn't give me authority over any established group or even the authority to found my own order. This initiation was all about establishing certain connections within my own being and with the human collective consciousness, which lay at the heart of everyone's subconscious.

²⁹ Here is chaotic induction at its most profound, developing the greatest emergent order. See "Chaos," by James Gleick for a thorough and readable description of chaotic induction and its significance for natural processes, such as life and consciousness.

³⁰ Atu XII, The Hanged Man, the card of the reflecting waters, is attributed to the Path of Mem on the Tree of Life, which connects the eighth Sephirah, Hod, with the fifth Sephirah, Geburah.

³¹ This movement was more than just a shift of position. I passed through fields of size as well as dimension until I reached the scale of the human incarnate.

Water Tablet – Second Round

¹ These states appeared in vision as geometric shapes of multicolored light extending through the unlimited number of partial dimensions between the familiar three of space. They were like facets of a hyperdimensional jewel with no surface, only internal complexities. The reader may compare this description with Aleister Crowley's starsponge vision.

² The four worlds of the Qabalah are Atziluth, the state of pure Godhead; Briah, the consciousness of pure archetypes; Yetzirah, the world of specific images expressing the archetypes; and Assiah, the material world. Any image can be said to be Yetziratic but it is possible for such visualizations to conduct the consciousness of Briah or even Atziluth, the most transcendent World of Qabalah. A vision of Briah is significantly beyond anything possible in Yetzirah. Such an experience is a true breakthrough beyond the world of mere images, pieces of a greater whole.

³ Consult the works of alchemy to study the doctrine of natural signatures and correspondences in relation to this passage. Also consult popular expositions of modern physics, such as “Quantum Reality” by Nick Herbert, to study the concept of quantum entanglement in this regard. It is compelling to note how the most modern theories of physics explain magical and mystical phenomena so clearly. Somehow, consciousness is a principle that can control quantum randomness and establish entanglement between entities by an act of Will. Archetypes are the conduits through which the mind may project its energies to link disparate events in space and time.

⁴ The tapestry of interconnection between and among all objects in existence can be construed as intrinsic meaning, a meaning apart from any human value. This is the language of the living universe in which all incarnate beings live. See “Godel Escher Bach,” by Douglas Hofstadter for more information.

⁵ Contemplate the triangular geometry of each part of the Tree of Life to study the concept of source (equilibrium), emanation (force), and manifestation (form).

⁶ Consult the Royal Arch formula of Freemasonry for more information regarding the discovery of the hidden fourth transcendent principle within the three.

⁷ This book is part of the “Magnum Opus Hermetic Sourceworks” series by Adam McLean.

⁸ The eagle is the bird of Jupiter as well as the highest of the three animals attributed to Mars. The scorpion, representing the fear of Mars, symbolizes the lowest form. The serpent, representing the severity of Mars, symbolizes the middle nature. The highflying eagle symbolizes the most sublime aspect of Mars, representing divine justice. This merges with the benevolent nature of Jupiter.

⁹ This is the lesson taught in many Water angel visions. The oneness described, however, is not the unity of the One God over everything else but rather the nature of the homogeneous wholeness that is the truth underlying all appearance of multiplicity. The Truth is in wholeness, not in some imagined aloof overlord or a set of mathematical equations that model the apparent movements of things.

¹⁰ Letting go of the personal sense of separation from the rest of the universe involves a surrender of identification with temporal circumstance and attachment. This surrender reaches to the very depths of the psyche. The Path of the Wise is trodden as layer after layer of personal attachment is dissolved in this transmutation. Many initiations are needed to bring this process to the crisis point that can yield real success, if madness is avoided. The feeling of loss and dissolution is worse than any expectated gain. Much of this happens in subconsciousness but the echoes of this turmoil are very much felt by personal awareness. Yet, perseverance is worthwhile since adjustment is eventually achieved and the rewards are wonderful beyond words.

¹¹ According to alchemy, the fixed must be made volatile and the volatile must be made fixed to confect the Philosopher's Stone.

Fire Tablet – Second Round

¹ This scene reminds me of what I’ve read regarding the zero point energy, the underlying activity of the vacuum of the cosmos. Particles and antiparticles are constantly emerging out of nothing and then coming together again to mutually annihilate each other and so return to nothingness. This activity occurs so quickly that it doesn’t directly affect material processes, except on the subatomic level. Modern cosmological theory states that our cosmos began as just such a vacuum fluctuation that grew far beyond its norm. Some believe that consciousness itself derives from this zero point energy.

² See “The Mathematical Tourist,” by Ivars Peterson and “The Beauty of Fractals,” by H. O. Peitgen and P. H. Richter for more information on the mathematical device known as fractals.

³ See “Shadows of the Mind,” by Roger Penrose for more information on quantum coherence fields and their relevance to the phenomenon of consciousness. I speculate that the human aura is a quantum coherence field that emerges not just from the action of the nerves and brain but also from the emergent chemical processes of every cell of the body. Vast is the hierarchy of emergent order that develops human consciousness.

⁴ Aleister Crowley reformulated the Order of the Golden Dawn after it split apart into what he called, The Astrum Argentum or Order of the Silver Star.

⁵ In the initiatory system of the Aurum Solis, an order comparable to the Golden Dawn, the First Hall consists of the grades attributed to introduction, Malkuth, and Yesod. The Second Hall covers the grades of Hod, Netzach, and the Portal just outside Tiphareth. The Third Hall leads to the Adeptship of Tiphareth and beyond. To move from one hall to another is to make a quantum leap forward in consciousness, wisdom, and power. In these initiatory angelic evocations, it sometimes feels like the Luna, Mercury, and Venus angels cover one hall, the Mars, Jupiter, and Saturn angels cover the next hall of the element, and the King reveals the next, ultimate hall of the tablet.

⁶ The question arises as to just how consciousness interacts with physical reality and what enhanced states of mind can do this. Some physicists believe that the touch of human awareness determines the outcome of quantum experiments, called the collapsing of the wave function. Others believe that consciousness itself is an intrinsic part of reality and that the mind and body are conduits through which it flows. The angels of the Watchtowers have taught me about the cocreative nature of the relationship between the human mind and the environment experienced by it. If normal waking awareness can determine at least some aspect of apparently objective reality, it follows that supercharged hypermind can enable radical shifts in the normal course of events. It seems that in this vision, the universe, or some aspect thereof, became much more complex. The possibility of truly magical effects seems justified in this view. If, as Einstein asserted, the fate of the universe depends on its geometry, then the presence of evolved consciousness must have profound implications for the conclusions of cosmology.

⁷ The appearance of contradictory concepts occurs frequently in the more intense trances. Aleister Crowley wrote that in Supernal consciousness, the states of bycoming above the Abyss on the Tree of Life, nothing is true except by virtue of the contradiction included in itself. Timothy Leary's eighth and highest neural circuit in his model of the evolution of consciousness is called quantum-gravitational, suggesting a fusion of the ultra small with the ultra large. Somehow or other, the tiniest known particles are one with waves of cosmic scope. Physicists refer to this property as nonlocality.

⁸ Evidently, I was not yet ready to fully partake of the marvelous source of the Mars Senior of Fire. This whole adventure in the dry mist was a veil thrown up around me to prevent too great a shock from the new emergence of consciousness revealed to me through contact with this great angel. The fairy tale vision to come served to gradually initiate me into the real meaning of the ultimate transcendence of Fire.

⁹ I encountered this supreme expression of primitive libido a few more times in my dreams after this vision. It appeared as a beautiful, young woman in the last one. We spoke for a short time but such was the emanation of raw force from her that I soon fled in terror, awakening after that. My meditations and trances became more effective and intense after that dream, as if this energy had finally been incorporated into my personal consciousness. This nuclear blast energy manifestation never appeared in my dreams again.

¹⁰ The rose is a basic and most significant symbol in Golden Dawn magick as well as all Rosecrucianism. Typically, it is depicted as nailed to a cross but is blooming into life thereon. The cross is of yellow gold and the rose is ruby red, indicating a complete devotion of the passions to achieving the perfection of the alchemical Great Work. In this vision, a union of natures has occurred in the sunny golden rose. The desire nature has been completely subsumed into the radiant spiritual transcendence.

¹¹ Psychologists have written a great deal about the archetypal image known as the solar-phallus. It has been identified with the pure libido as well as the supreme divine creative energy. It expresses a perfected vision of self, even a transcendence of the human condition. The Rosy Cross of the Western Mystery Tradition is a thin veil for this bold image of the truth of sex, human life and death, and spiritual transcendence. The root of all psychic energy and cosmic contact is expressed herein. In becoming a living embodiment of this archetype throughout the in between, partially expanded dimensions, I'd realized the goal of human religious and spiritual aspiration.

¹² In retrospect, I believe that the reason why so much anxiety was generated along with these profound and transcendent states of ecstasy was that my subconsciousness interpreted them as a type of death. The fits of anxiety were brought on by simple fear of death. I am reminded of the frequently mentioned connections between sex, death, and religion in much of the occult literature. Many of the sects of eastern Tantra deal with these archetypes. Some commentators and scholars believe that sex is at the core of the meaning of all religion. If so, then what was sex a veil for? In some cultures, the orgasm is called the little death. What sex, death, and religion have in common is a transcendence of spiritual state. The sense of self is taken away from its normal context and brought to a state of high intensity dimensional connectivity, far beyond the usual context of space and time. The inherent identification of such experiences with death, the final transcendence away from normal body consciousness, yields great fear. It's no wonder that so many people have an instinctual fear of all things occult. As with all fear, the only way to conquer it is to face it.

¹³ According to Hindu lore, there are three Gunas or qualities, tendencies. They are called Tamas or inertia, Rajas or energy, and Sattva or harmony. The corresponding alchemical elements are Salt, Sulfur, and Mercury, respectively. These energy types are said to be constantly revolving in a cycle, one reaching a fullness of expression and then giving way to another. A similar concept in Chinese mysticism is the wheel of Yin and Yang, two elements instead of three. Thus is the continuing emergence of order followed by the dissolution of its material components. Perhaps this cycle is actually a spiral, allowing for new and more complex expressions of emergent order as older ones dissolve and disappear from physicality. This would explain the process of evolution and how the collective consciousness of species develops. It may be that something of our individualities are preserved in the transcendence after death. A cosmic individual existence could develop after enough lives are lived.

¹⁴ In this vision, I played the part of Hadit, the simple, single focus of being, despite the complex unfoldment of my full Self. Nuit knows ever the simple and continuous reality that all things are, no matter how complex and emergent they may be.

¹⁵ Brass has been traditionally associated with copper and so both of these metals are attributed to Venus.

¹⁶ This fusion of symbols of Sol, Venus, and Mars expresses profound teachings of sexual magick. The highpoint of magical sexual union is when the Deity invoked becomes a third partner in the activity. In this vision, I am as Hadit mating with Nuit to project a manifestation of transcendence, our creator and the product of our love.

¹⁷ In the 1940s, the greatest mathematician of our age, Kurt Godel, discovered solutions to the equations of Einstein's General Theory of Relativity which showed that time is not an intrinsic aspect of reality. It is rather a construction of the mind to make sense of the experiences of human perception and interaction in the world of matter and energy. Time is a great psychic projection onto a holographic reality in which all times, places, and possibilities exist together at each point. The point perspective of normal human consciousness determines which of the myriad threads of occurrence are encountered and related to other such experiences. Sufficient transcendence of consciousness will break the barriers of ordinary time limitation imposed by the normal psychic structure. The psyche will reach a state of reality wherein all paths of evolution are interwoven and interconnected. Then, it takes only an act of Will to go from one time and place to another.

¹⁸ This early vision came as a complete surprise to me. I had just left work and was undoing the lock on my bicycle to ride home when suddenly I beheld in my mind a great hawk of brilliant blue fire, impossibly far off. It called to me in an extremely high pitched caw and then disappeared as if it had never been. This was in my college days, before I practiced any magick or been initiated into any order. Nothing I'd read up to that point in my occult books could explain this kind of revelation. For seventeen years, I remained in wonderment as to the nature of this event. Now, in the greatest magical moment of my life, the mystery was revealed. The Nighthawk was the great King of the South and Fire, my single greatest magical projection. It had reached back in time seventeen years to reveal itself and bring about its own revelation in a supreme trance. Indeed, my entire life is involved in a time paradox, inspired from the beginning by some far future emergence of power and transcendence beyond imagination. This may be the moment of my own death.

¹⁹ I still have no idea why this revelation had reached back to that ordinary moment in 1986. Nothing unusual was going on at the time. My only thought on this matter is that I was twenty-one years old at the time. Perhaps, I'd reached a certain psychic and spiritual maturity at that moment which naturally provided a link to another high point in my life, the apex of my Enochian Watchtower evocation working. Much goes on in the unconscious that never reaches waking consciousness. Some future revelation may yet shed light on this matter.

²⁰ I have reason to believe that the aura reaches not only every expression of mind and nerve but also the life of every cell in the body. Every least life process contributes to the overall emergence field that is the aura. Communing with the totality of one's incarnation, a complete microcosm, feels like a uniting with that cosmic transcendence in which every object, energy, and event exists as one, as well as individually, throughout the time of their evolution.

²¹ In becoming one with the totality of my being and becoming, I'd reached to the state where the microcosm unites with the macrocosm in holographic interconnection. This awesome vision gave me profound perception but no power over anything. It was a beatific, transcendental trance but was merely an initiation, an introduction to the metalevel of life in the universe. So much more needs to be done to fulfill the great possibilities suggested by this revelation.

Tablet of Union – Second Round

¹ Readers interested in quantum physics are recommended to study gauge theory in relation to this passage.

² Yellow is the King scale color of the Sephirah Malkuth. This vision depicts the wholeness of Malkuth as well as its various parts from a perspective outside of it, its metalevel. The yellow color at this level indicates the earthy expression of Spirit, the full unfoldment of the core creative pattern in all the scales of physical reality. Everything projects and expands from this prime archetype, which is the synergy of that all. The arrow of thought leads toward matter.

³ Submergences are the correlate opposite to emergences in the spacetime normally experienced by human consciousness. They are like sinkholes where energy is lost, but not due to gravity like in black holes. This anticosmos focuses to a point but then order is lost as is the ubiquitous energy of the background space. Emergence/submergence is the interaction between the two universes.

⁴ Evidently, the process of submergence became reversed and the ubiquitous tendency to energy increase expanded to the point of explosiveness. The fusion of opposites expressed by the union of myself and my projection, this flipside reality, completed a circuit that allowed outflowing light to return. The energy balance of all nature, was radically altered in this way. The whole situation is a wonderful metaphor for transpersonal mutation and is indicative of an integration with a deep level of the unconscious.

⁵ Orange and yellow are the planetary colors of Sol and Mercury, respectively, and indicate expressions of the higher life power that emerges from an attuned psyche.

⁶ God does not exist until you invent Him or Her and bring Him or Her into your life.

⁷ The symbolism of the behind direction indicates the subconscious in a contrarian sense. The deepest parts of my psyche had responded to the supreme light of the Fire of Spirit angel.

⁸ Dark and disturbing images in vision are always expressions of some deepseated fear. Facing the image stalwartly serves to dissolve the fear phantasm and helps to overcome the subconscious fear directly. Doing this with an archetypal image of terror can only help to heal the species of its collective disturbance.

⁹ It is worth noting that the individuality who was expressing his nature in this passage is far beyond my earthly identity, an impersonal Self that serves a cosmic scale function that is only remotely connected with mundane human existence.

¹⁰ As before noted, every light casts a shadow and the brighter the light, the darker the shadow. The ultimate Light of the Milk of the Stars which fills the microcosm in which I exist had provoked this unavoidable response, just as the four Princes of the Evil of the World immediately attend the attainment of the Knowledge and Conversation of the Holy Guardian Angel. The only sane, rational way to deal with this dualistic situation is as recorded in this vision.

¹¹ A tau cross looks like an English capital 'T.' The symbol of the hexagram with a central tau is used in Royal Arch Freemasonry to represent the sudden impulse that created the universe. In the Qabalah, the Lightning Flash that created the Ten Sephiroth of the Tree of Life symbolizes this idea. The great serpent coiling up the Tree from Malkuth to Kether forms the 22 Paths and represents the rising Kundalini which carries the mystic as in a chariot along the Path of Return.

¹² This is a clear reference to the tenth Sephirah, Malkuth, and suggests the sublime mystery, "Kether is in Malkuth and Malkuth is in Kether, but after another manner.”

¹³ See “Golden Dawn Enochian Magic,” by Pat Zalewski for a description of the complex hierarchy of angels of the four elemental Watchtower tablets. The angels of the servient squares are at the bottom of this chain of command.

The Enochian Alphabet

¹ As taken from “The Golden Dawn,” by Israel Regardie

The
ANGELICAL LANGUAGE

VOLUME I

The Complete History and Mythos of the Tongue of Angels

BASED ON THE JOURNALS OF
DR. JOHN DEE AND EDWARD KELLEY

AARON LEITCH

"The Angelical Language is the single most comprehensive text ever written on the subject of the Enochian magical system and language of Elizabethan luminary Dr. John Dee. This two-volume magnum opus demonstrates Aaron Leitch's familiarity with practical magic as well as his skill as a meticulous researcher. A must-have book."

— Chic Cicero and Sandra Tabatha Cicero,
Chief Adepts of the Hermetic Order of the Golden Dawn

THE COMPLETE HISTORY AND MYTHOS OF THE TONGUE OF ANGELS

The Angelical language channeled by alchemist Edward Kelley and recorded by royal astrologer John Dee has mystified magicians, linguists, historians, and cryptographers for generations. It's even rumored that the language may be an encryption method of some kind, unbroken to this day. This fascinating, in-depth analysis reveals the truth behind the saga of two Renaissance wizards who spoke with angels and received instruction in the celestial tongue.

This volume begins with an exploration of the mystical traditions that influenced Dee's work—the fifty Gates of Binah, the legends of Enoch, and the Book of Soyga. It presents an in-depth study of the forty-nine Tables of Loagaeth (Speech From God), the forty-eight Angelical Keys (or Calls), and the drama surrounding them as chronicled in Dee's journals. Special features include an analysis of the English translations of the forty-eight Keys, instructions for the magickal use of Angelical characters, and a complete Angelical Psalter.

Aaron Leitch's long-awaited masterwork reveals in plain language—for the first time ever—how the Angelical language was received, for what it was intended, and how to use it properly, providing a fascinating historical context for its practical application in The Angelical Language, Volume II: An Encyclopedic Lexicon of the Tongue of Angels.

Llewellyn Worldwide

www.llewellyn.com

www.facebook.com/LlewellynBooks

$39.95

$45.95 CA

About the Author

Aaron Leitch has been a scholar and spiritual seeker for over two decades. He is a member of the Hermetic Order of the Golden Dawn, the Ordo Stella Matutina, and the Societas Magica. His writings (both in print and online) cover such varied fields as ancient Middle Eastern religion and mythology, Solomonian mysticism, shamanism, Neoplatonism, Hermeticism and Alchemy, Traditional Wicca and Neopaganism, the Hermetic Order of the Golden Dawn, Thelema, Angelology, Qabalah, Enochiana, African Diaspora religions, Hexcraft and Hoodoo folk traditions, psychology and consciousness expansion, cyberspace and virtual reality, and modern social commentary. He is the author of the book Secrets of the Magickal Grimoires, as well as many essays on various aspects of magick and the Angelical language.

Please visit his website at <http://kheph777.tripod.com/>.

The
ANGELICAL LANGUAGE

VOLUME I

The Complete History and Mythos of the Tongue of Angels

BASED ON THE JOURNALS OF
DR. JOHN DEE AND EDWARD KELLEY

AARON LEITCH

Llewellyn Publications
Woodbury, Minnesota

The Angelical Language, Volume I: The Complete History and Mythos of the Tongue of Angels
© 2010 by Aaron Leitch. All rights reserved. No part of this book may be used or reproduced in any manner whatsoever, including Internet usage, without written permission from Llewellyn Publications, except in the case of brief quotations embodied in critical articles and reviews.

First Edition
First Printing, 2010

Cover art © SuperStock artist unknown
Cover design by Kevin R. Brown
Editing by Brett Fechheimer
Interior illustrations: public domain, provided by the author
Llewellyn is a registered trademark of Llewellyn Worldwide, Ltd.

Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication Data

Leitch, Aaron, 1974–

The angelical language, volume I the complete history and mythos of the tongue of angels / Aaron Leitch. 1st ed.

p. cm.

Includes bibliographical references (vol. 1, p.) and index

ISBN 978-0-7387-1490-5

I. Enochian magic. I. Dee, John, 1527–1608. II. Title.

BF1623.E551 45 2010

130.92—dc22

2009046120

Llewellyn Worldwide does not participate in, endorse, or have any authority or responsibility concerning private business transactions between our authors and the public.

All mail addressed to the author is forwarded but the publisher cannot, unless specifically instructed by the author, give out an address or phone number.

Any Internet references contained in this work are current at publication time, but the publisher cannot guarantee that a specific location will continue to be maintained. Please refer to the publisher's website for links to authors' websites and other sources.

Llewellyn Publications
A Division of Llewellyn Worldwide, Ltd.
2143 Wooddale Drive
Woodbury, Minnesota 55125-2989, U.S.A.
www.llewellyn.com

Printed in the United States of America

Other books by this author

The Angelical Language, Volume II

Both Sides of Heaven (contributing author)

Diabolical (contributing author)

Secrets of the Magickal Grimoires

Contents

Acknowledgments . . . xiii

Introduction to Volume I . . . 1

Chapter One: The Gates of Heaven and the Enochian Tradition . . . 11

The Fifty Gates of Binah . . . 12

The Hermetic Gates of Intelligence . . . 19

The Book of Enoch . . . 24

The Book of Soyga (Aladaraia Sive Soyga Vekar) . . . 30

Chapter Two: John Dee's Book of Enoch (The Book of Loagaeth) . . . 39

The Holy Book of Loagaeth (Speech from God) . . . 43

Three Types of Knowledge . . . 44

The Last Prophecy of the World . . . 46

Let Those That Fear God, and Are Worthy, Read . . . 51

Kelley's First Vision of the Holy Book . . . 51

Kelley's Second Vision of the Holy Book . . . 52

Kelley's Third Vision of the Holy Book . . . 55

From the Right Hand to the Left . . . as in the Hebrew Bible . . . 55

The Reception of the Forty-Nine Tables . . . 57

In Forty Days Must the Book Be Perfected . . . 59

Begin to Practice in August . . . 61

Begin the Book Next Tuesday—the Mother Galvah . . . 63

Every Monday Is the Seventh—the “Enochian Sabbath”? . . . 68

The Forty-Nine Tables of Loagaeth: What We Know . . . 69

Titles of the Tables . . . 70

First Table . . . 74

Second Table . . . 77

Fourth Table . . . 78

Ninth Table . . . 78

Nineteenth (or Eighteenth?) Table . . . 80

Tables 20 to 49 . . . 82

Forty-Ninth Table . . . 84

Be It Unto Thee, as Thou Hast Done—

The Anticlimax of the Loagaeth Saga? . . 92

Chapter Three: The Forty-Eight Angelical Keys (or Calls) . . . 103

The Reception of the Forty-Eight Keys . . 107

Dee Suspected of Cryptography? . . 108

Corpus Omnium: The Round Table of Nalvage . . 115

Vita Suprema (First Life)—Pre-Deluge . . 121

Vita Secunda (Second Life)—Post-Deluge to Christ . . 122

Vita Tertia (Third Life)—Post-Crucifixion to Present . . 123

“Life, but Also Death” (Fourth Life)—Tribulation . . 123

The Corpus Omnium and the Angelical Keys . . 124

The Angelical Keys: What We Know . . 128

Key “Zero” (First Table) . . 128

Key One (Second Table) . . 128

Key Three (Fourth Table) . . 129

Keys Nineteen to Forty-Eight (Twentieth to Forty-Ninth Tables):

The Call of the Aethyrs . . 130

Addendum: The Poetry of the Forty-Eight Calls . . 133

Chapter Four: Gebofal—The Gates of Heaven and Practice of the Holy Book . . 173

Being Called by God, and to a Good Purpose . . 180

All These Things Must Be Used—Gebofal and the Heptarchia . . 184

Gebofal Instruction and Ave’s “Prayer of Enoch” . . 186

Gebofal and the Angelical Keys . . 191

Final Outline for Gebofal . . 191

Chapter Five: The Celestial Speech . . . 197

Angelical Mythos . . . 202

The Angelical Alphabet . . . 207

Addendum: "Before That Which You Call Hebrew"

(Angelical and Agrippa's Occult Philosophy) . . . 214

Of Finding Out the Names of Spirits and Geniuses from the Disposition of Celestial Bodies (Adapted from Agrippa's Third Book, Chapter 26) . . . 215

Of the Calculating Art of Such Names by the Tradition of Qabalists (Adapted from Agrippa's Third Book, Chapter 27) . . . 225

Another Manner of Making Characters Delivered by Qabalists

(Adapted from Agrippa's Third Book, chapter 30) . . . 231

Making Pentacles and Sigils (Adapted from Pseudo-Agrippa's Fourth Book, Of Magical Ceremonies) . . . 232

An Angelical Psalter . . . 237

Pronunciation Key . . . 238

Vowels . . . 238

Consonants . . . 239

"Long Consonants" . . . 240

Digraphs and Diphthongs . . . 241

Accented Syllables . . . 241

Calls in English . . . 242

Angelical Key . . . 243

Further Angelical Phrases . . . 280

An Invitation to Good Angels . . . 281

Bibliography . . . 285

Index . . . 295

Acknowledgments

I wish to acknowledge Mr. Geoffrey James, Joseph Peterson, Donald Tyson, the late Donald Laycock, and the awesome folks at TheMagickal Review.org. Without their work, Dee's original system of mysticism would have lain hidden in the Five Books of the Mysteries and A True and Faithful Relation . . . for God knows how long. Their books and resources were indispensable as reference material in my own studies. (Special thanks must also go to Joseph Peterson and to Ian Rons of The Magickal Review, for granting me permission to use their publications of Dee's journals, and the best Enochian font ever made—the "Kelley Angelic" font.)

In the same spirit, I wish to acknowledge Patricia Shaffer. Her work on gathering Dee's pronunciation notes for the Angelical Keys was an indescribable help to me! Finally, I also thank her for taking the time to work with me, and to answer all of my challenges to her work. I also wish to thank everyone on the Enochian-I e-mail list (at gnostica.net), who collectively make up the very elite of Enochian scholarship.

I would also like to mention Ben Rowe (aka "Josh Norton"), who was one of the brightest minds in Enochian scholarship of the late twentieth and early twenty-first centuries. Like James, Peterson, Laycock, and the others, he was instrumental in the resurrection of Dee's lost system of Angelic Magick. I know you're studying with the Pir now, Mr. Rowe!

A special kind of thanks goes to Robert Heinlein, and his work Stranger in a Strange Land. He told us all about the miracles one could accomplish if one would only take the time to learn a language that transcends human thought.

I wish also to thank those from my personal life who allowed me access to Dee's records (before The Magickal Review gave them to the world!). Thanks to Steve for swelling my head just enough to keep plugging away at this weirdness, as well as for helping me get the images and diagrams in order. Thanks to Austin, without whom I would never have had the computer equipment to get onto the Internet ten years ago, nor to write this material. Of course, thanks must go to Carrie, for enduring ten long years of this project! Thanks also to Jessica for reviewing and editing the chapters of volume I with a fresh eye.

I would also like to show my appreciation for Llewellyn's expert readers. They must have seen much potential in this project, because they sacrificed a lot of their own time to make page-by-page constructive criticisms and editing suggestions. The final project is much better thanks to their efforts.

I also find it most appropriate to give my thanks to the acquisitions, production, and art departments at Llewellyn Worldwide, especially Kevin R. Brown, Donna Burch, Brett Fechheimer, and Elysia Gallo. Each of you has gone above and beyond on every aspect of this project. You took a great book and made it exceptional. Thank you.

I further dedicate this work to the memory of Travis Meeks (aka "Doc Fox"). You helped me much more than you knew. And to A. J. Rose, my first and greatest fan. I love you both!

Introduction to Volume I

The work you are now holding is the end product of an intensive ten-year project. In fact, this undertaking was so massive, I had little choice but to split it between two volumes—the first of which you are currently reading. If you are at all familiar with Dr. John Dee, Sir Edward Kelley, and/or their system of Angelic magick, you may be shocked (and I hope delighted) to discover this is not a typical book about “Enochian” magick. Instead, it is an exhaustive analysis of the Angelical tongue recorded in Dee’s magickal journals—including its history (regarding its reception by Dee), its mythology (as expounded to Dee by the Angels), and (in volume II) its grammar and linguistics. This work does not merely present Angelical, but will actually help the student understand the language.

By the year 1997, I was firmly dedicated to a study of classical Angelic magick—such as we find in the medieval Solomonic cycle, the Sacred Magic of Abramelin the Mage, and of course the “Enochian” magick of Dee and Kelley. Among these often diverse systems of mysticism, I must admit none puzzled and fascinated me more than that preserved in Dr. Dee’s journals.

John Dee (1527–1608) was a world famous mathematician, scholar, and inventor. He was also a mystic and an astrologer, in which capacity he acted as an advisor to Queen Elizabeth I. (It was Dee who, in 1559, cast a horoscope to choose the most fortunate time for Elizabeth's coronation.) There is even a long-standing tradition that Dee was England's first official spy—traveling across Europe on the queen's business, but under the guise of an eccentric old wizard.

Dee was interested in Angelic magick throughout his life, but his real work did not begin until he met one Edward Kelley (introduced to him as Edward Talbot) in the year 1582 CE. Kelley (1555–97) has an uncertain and perhaps dark history, but we can be certain that he was an avid student of alchemy. This was likely what brought him to Dee.

During their very first meeting, Dee learned that Kelley had a knack for mediumship that he himself lacked. Dee performed an invocation to bring Angels into his mystical shewstone, and Kelley was able to see, hear, and speak to the Angels with ease. Thereafter, the two men formed a years-long partnership dedicated to a series of Angelic séances. They began by contacting one of the seven planetary Archangels—Annael, ruler of Venus—who claimed to be the current successive ruler of the cosmos.¹ Annael, then, introduced the men to the four Archangels known as Michael, Gabriel, Raphael, and Uriel. It was these four Angels, and lesser Angels directed by them, who delivered the entirety of Dee's magickal systems. The séances effectively ended by 1587, and the two men went their separate ways by 1589.

Dee recorded his Angelic sessions in several journals, and condensed the main points of the magick into a grimoire. Before he died, he hid a number of his journals and the grimoire in the false bottom of a wooden chest. After his death, the papers remained hidden there for over fifty years. The chest was sold to a confectioner as a gift for his wife, who owned the chest for twenty years before the papers were finally discovered. An illiterate maid used several pages to kindle fires, but the wife eventually discovered this and rescued what remained.

Finally, her second husband sold the papers to Elias Ashmole (1617–92), the famous English Mason, mystic, and scholar. Ashmole discovered that the papers included Dee's journals from December 1581 to May 1583 (comprising the Five Books of the Mysteries, in which we find the bulk of the Heptarchic system and parts of the Loagaeth system), a copy of the Angelical Book of Loagaeth, and Dee's personal grimoire.

These three are preserved today in the British Museum in London as Sloane MSS 3188, 3189, and 3191, respectively.

Apparently, Dee did not hide all of his journals. After his passing, several of them were sold with Dee's library—purchased, along with some of Dee's Angelic magick tools, by the antiquarian Sir Robert Bruce Cotton. These journals pick up where Ashmole's leave off, beginning at May 1583 and ending at April 1587. Cotton passed these journals on to his son Sir Thomas Cotton, and they are preserved today in the British Museum as Cotton appendix 46, parts 1 and 2.

It was in the Cotton library that Meric Casaubon discovered them. Somewhere, Casaubon also obtained journals covering March to September of 1607. He combined these (composed of thirteen individual books) into the compendium entitled A True and Faithful Relation of What Passed for Many Years Between Dr. John Dee [. . .] and Some Spirits. Published in 1659, this work contains the remainder of the Heptarchic system, the bulk of instruction concerning Loagaeth and the Angelical Keys, and Dee's advanced magick involving the Parts of the Earth and the Great Table of the Earth (or Watchtowers). A copy of this book is preserved as Sloane MS 3190.

Although most of Dee's journals were lost for a time, aspects of his Angelical language survived to have a profound influence upon Western esotericism. This was largely through Dee's grimoire (Sloane 3191), which contained a section entitled the 48 Claves Angelicae (48 Angelical Keys),² as well as a section of invocations for the Angels of the four quarters of the Universe.³ The latter section is called the Book of Supplication by modern scholars, because Dee was instructed by the Angels to write supplications to invoke the Angels whose names are contained in the Great Table of the Earth (or the "Watchtowers" of the four quarters).

Unfortunately, instructions for the correct use of these systems were not included in Dee's grimoire (likely because the grimoire was simply his working notes, intended for his personal use.) Therefore, mystics began to adopt Dee's material into the structure of their own systems, and even expanded the material on the same basis. The invocations contained in the Book of Supplication were expanded until the book was ten times its original size, and the 48 Claves Angelicae were applied directly to the four Watchtowers.¹ This “neo-Enochian” system eventually made it into the hands of the esoteric Masons who, in 1888, founded the Hermetic Order known as the Golden Dawn.⁵

The study of Enochian magick through most of the twentieth century descended almost entirely from the Golden Dawn and those who followed (such as Aleister Crowley’s Thelema, the Aurum Solis, and many others). Even when students returned to Dee’s original manuscripts, they merely continued the tradition of adopting into their own systems bits and pieces of what they found. This is no surprise, because Dee’s journals were obscure at best—the handwriting was hard to decipher, the material was scattered throughout the books, and Dee’s English was archaic. In the end, most of Dee’s original material was ignored.

It wasn’t until the later years of the twentieth century that scholars began to take a fresh interest in the Dee journals, and what these journals had to say about the skeletal material found in his grimoire. The first such scholar was Donald Laycock, who published The Complete Enochian Dictionary in 1978. This book was transitional between standard “neo-Enochian” and the newer study of Dee’s original material (which I call “Dee-purist”). While Laycock included all the Angelical words he could find from the systems of the Golden Dawn and Aleister Crowley, Dee’s versions of the words formed the basis of Laycock’s work.⁶ Moreover, Laycock’s preface to his Dictionary was the first to delve deeply into actual journal entries written by Dee and Kelley.

The next groundbreaking work on Dee’s system, Geoffrey James’ The Enochian Evocation of Dr. John Dee, was published just a few years later, in 1984. (In 1994 it was re-published under the title The Enochian Magick of Dr. John Dee.) This book was mostly a presentation of Dee’s grimoire (Sloane 3191), along with a preface, several quotes from Dee’s diary outlining the mythology behind the system, and several appendices that nicely complimented Laycock’s preface. James also created a cross-reference system for the words of the Keys. For example, the seventh word of the first Key would have the cross-reference number “1.7.” These numbers are extremely useful for study purposes, and make the Angelical words of the Keys easy to locate.

I must also mention the publication in 1997 of Donald Tyson's Enochian Magic for Beginners: The Original System of Angel Magic. Although many scholars take issue with Tyson's interpretation of Enochian magick, it cannot be denied that his book was the first to focus upon Dee's journals from start to finish. Therefore, this book stands with Laycock's Dictionary and James' Enochian Evocation as one of the few printed resources available for "Dee-purist" Enochiana.

Finally, by the turn of the twenty-first century, the Internet had revolutionized research and scholarship of all kinds. Enochian studies were no exception, and I eventually joined a mailing list called "Enochian-I"—where I found many of the top minds in this field of study: Ben Rowe, Clay Holden, Patricia Shaffer, Callisto Radiant, Christeos Pir, Dean Hildebrandt, Al Billings, Runar Karlsen . . . and the list could go on! These folks spent hours of their time discussing Dee's system, answering questions, uploading obscure Enochian material to websites, and mailing manuscripts to one another.⁷ Thanks to these wonderful people, Dee-purist Enochian scholarship was no longer open only to those few who could gain reading time at the British Museum.

That is where I found myself in 1997, a member of this new generation of Enochian students. I was certainly interested in all aspects of Dee's system, but it was the Angelical language of the forty-eight Keys that fascinated me the most. I had been learning from the sources mentioned above, but the scholars with whom I communicated pointed out the texts' many shortcomings. (I will cover these in the introduction to volume II.)

In the end, I discovered I had little choice but to start from scratch—going back to Dee's journals and beginning a truly exhaustive page-by-page analysis. This meant sifting through hundreds of entries packed with material both relevant and irrelevant (not to mention judging which was which!). Dee's journals are not mere records of his séances, but include an entire saga of mysticism, political intrigue, personal drama, historical record, Angelic sermons, and so much more!

The Scope of This Work

I initially wrote the two parts of The Angelical Language as a single volume. I had, in fact, intended to provide a brief overview of the history and mythology of the language, then jump right into the linguistics. However, I quickly found my brief overview expanding into several long chapters—all containing information vital to an overall understanding of Angelical. Once it was all done, I realized I had either one very large textbook to publish, or two separate yet interdependent books of smaller size. I opted for the two-volume approach, so as not to frighten potential students with an overwhelming “doorstop” of a book!

This first volume—The Complete History and Mythos of the Tongue of Angels—explores the reception of the language by Dee and Kelley, and the biblical mythology behind the language as related to them by the Angels. This alone is a groundbreaking resource, as the full saga of Dee’s reception of the magick has never before been told in such depth. You will find in these pages detailed and concise descriptions of aspects of Dee’s work that are often ignored or marginalized in other books on “Enochian magick.”

Chapter 1, for example, outlines several of the mystical traditions that influenced Dee’s work. I briefly explain the Qabalistic concept of the “Fifty Gates of Understanding” and a related Jewish observance called “Counting the Omer.” It involved a series of meditations by which the faithful could pass through the fifty Gates of the Tree of Life to gain an ever-increasing understanding of God and the Universe. If you understand this tradition while reading Dee’s journals, there can be little doubt that this practice fascinated him, and played an important role in the mysticism he received from the Angels.

The same chapter then goes on to explain the true Enochian tradition. By this I do not mean Dee’s magick—but rather a centuries-old tradition surrounding the biblical prophet Enoch. I briefly outline the existing Apocryphal Books of Enoch, as well as the mythos contained within them about Enoch’s journeys into the Heavens to meet with God and His Angels, and to record the mysteries he found there. This, too, had a profound impact on Dee. As you shall see in this book, much of Dee’s motivation in talking to the Angels was his hope of recovering the lost wisdom that Enoch himself had once revealed to mankind.

Finally, chapter 1 ends with a short overview of an obscure text called the Book of Soyga. Many have heard mention of this book, but few know very much about it. Yet it was a grimoire that so fascinated Dee that it became absolutely foundational to the magick he received from his Angels. If you want to know why Dee's system is overflowing with large indecipherable letter-Tables and magickal squares, you first have to understand the Tables found in the Book of Soyga. Once you have read the first chapter in this book, you will understand what that little grimoire was all about, and exactly how it influenced Dee.

Chapter 2, then, leads us directly into Dee's own book of indecipherable magickal Tables, called the Book of Loagaeth (the "Book of the Speech from God"). This book is another aspect of Dee's work that is often mentioned by Enochian scholars, but hardly ever explained in any depth. It is either marginalized to the point that students assume it is unimportant to their studies of Dee's magick, or it is presented in a fashion entirely removed from the context of his journals. Yet, in truth, it is the very heart and soul of the entire system of magick Dee received from the Angels—linking together what Enochian scholars often assume are three distinct branches of the system.

The Book of Loagaeth had an even larger scope, besides. It was not presented as a grimoire at all. Instead, it was called the Book of Enoch—not the Apocryphal biblical text, but the actual Celestial Tablets that Enoch was said to have copied during his journeys through the Heavens. It was said to be one and the same with the "Book of Life" or the "Book of the Lamb" described in the Revelation of St. John—sealed with seven seals and opened only by Christ himself during the final Tribulation of the earth.

Now, for the first time ever, I have presented the entire saga of the Book of Loagaeth in every detail—explaining what the book meant to Dee and Kelley, what the Angels had to say about its impact on the world, and (of course) the central role it plays in the entirety of Dee's "Enochian magick."

From there, beginning in chapter 3, I continue to outline and explain the saga of the Angelical language itself. Dee did not merely receive a few magickal orations to use in summoning Angels. In fact, the forty-eight Angelical Keys were presented as the means to "open" and access the mystical knowledge encoded into the Tables of Loagaeth. Besides this, the Angels communicated much information about their language to Dee and Kelley—some of which falls outside the realm of the Keys, and is sadly ignored by (or unknown to) most Enochian students. Therefore, I have explained in this book every scrap of information the Angels shared with Dee about the Keys and the language in which they are written. (I even include a bonus addendum that analyzes the English translations of the Keys given by the Angels—which also sheds much light on the meaning and purpose of both the Keys and the celestial tongue.)

To make this volume complete, I also decided to include a chapter on the instructions given to Dee on how to use the forty-eight Keys with the Book of Loagaeth. Yet even this is not standard “Enochian” magick material! Students have long been confused about the proper application of the forty-eight Keys, and have even argued that they have no relation at all to Loagaeth! In chapter 4, you will find the records set straight, and I am sure you will have little doubt how the Angels intended Dee to use the system!

Finally, in chapter 5, I focus entirely on the Angelical language itself. If you read the first four chapters diligently, then you will—at last!—be able to understand what the Angels had to say about their tongue in its proper context. You will understand the intentions of both Dee and the Angels in relation to such things as the Fifty Gates of Understanding, Counting the Omer, and the Book of Enoch.

I also fully explain how Dee was instructed to use the language beyond the Book of Loagaeth, and why I consider Angelical the true Sacred Language of the West. I have even ended this section with an addendum explaining exactly how to use the language within the scope of Solomonic-style Renaissance occultism: in the generation of Angelic Names, the creation of Sigils, and the making of Magickal Talismans.

Finally, I have decided to end this volume with an Angelical Psalter. This is something of a bridge between this volume and the second volume. It is a presentation of all forty-eight Keys—shown with proper Angelical/English translations and my own pronunciation key—all organized in such a way the practicing student can use the Psalter in practical work (meaning one can hold the Psalter open and read directly from it during ritual or prayer). I do not spend much time explaining the rationale behind my pronunciations or translations, as these will be covered in exhaustive depth in volume II. This first volume is perfect for anyone who wishes to learn about the Angelical tongue, without necessarily wishing to sit down and learn the language.

Whether you are interested in Renaissance Angel magick, or you are simply interested in the study of Angels themselves, I am sure you will find this volume to be an indispensable resource. Few mystics beyond Dee and Kelley have recorded such extensive journals concerning their encounters and interactions with Angelic beings! Yet, so few have truly studied or understood what is found in those journals. Therefore, I hope you will find this text a must-have for your study of Angelology.

Zorge,

Aaron Leitch

March 2009

Endnotes

1. See the Arbatel of Magic (a new translation by Joseph H. Peterson, Arbatel—Concerning the Magic of the Ancients, was published by Ibis Press of Lake Worth, FL in 2009), as well as Trithemius' De Septem Secundeis (for example, online at <http://www.renaissanceastrology.com/heavenlyintelligences.html>), for descriptions of this universal rulership by the Seven Archangels. Dee was familiar with both texts.
2. See James, Geoffrey. The Enochian Magick of Dr. John Dee. St. Paul, MN: Llewellyn, 2002, p. 65.
3. See James, The Enochian Magick of Dr. John Dee, p. 117. There were several other sections in the grimoire, but only the two mentioned thus far are relevant here. The others are the Heptarchia Mystica, and Earthy Knowledge and Victory (i.e., the 91 Parts of the Earth).
4. Though ultimately in error, there was good reason for modern mystics to assume the Keys should apply to the Watchtowers. The final Angelical Key contains an invocation for use with the "91 Parts of the Earth," and the names of those Parts are used to make up the Great Table of the Earth. (Shown in Sloane 3191, in a section entitled "Earthy Knowledge and Victory.") Thus, it seemed natural to assume the first eighteen Keys also applied to the Watchtowers—the first two standing alone as Grand Orations, and the remaining sixteen addressing the sixteen subdivisions of the four Watchtowers.
5. Reference the Golden Dawn's "Book H"—their foundational Enochian document. The entire story leading from Dee's original papers to "Book H" is contained in Stephen Skinner and David Rankine's book, The Practical Angel Magic of Dr. John Dee's Enochian Tables (Singapore: Golden Hoard Press, 2005). That is the only book so far to tackle this important historical thread.

6. Dee's words formed the basic entries for Laycock's dictionary, and the Golden Dawn and Crowley recensions were included for comparison.
- Today the amount of Enochian material available online is enormous including scanned copies of Dee's handwritten journals. See, for example, <http://www.themagickalreview.org/enochian>

Chapter One

The Gates of Heaven and the Enochian Tradition

In order to understand where John Dee and his Angels were going with their magickal system, it is important to understand first where they were coming from. There are several important historical threads to trace from classical European mysticism to their convergence in the scrying sessions of Dee and Kelley. Without taking these foundational influences upon both men into account, their mystical system can often appear an incomprehensible jumble of magickal squares and arcane language.

There are many such threads to trace beneath the whole of Dee's system—such as ancient Gnosticism, the Qabalah, Hermeticism, alchemy, Agrippa's Occult Philosophy, and the Neoplatonic revival of the medieval and Renaissance eras. However, in this text, we are only concerned with the Angelical language and its intended magickal application as revealed by Dee's celestial contacts.

In this vein, it will be necessary to outline some aspects of the Qabalah—particularly the mystical models known as the Tree of Life and the fifty Gates of Binah (Understanding). We will also need to know something about the ancient Book of Enoch, and its effect upon the magickal system received by Dee and Kelley. This Apocryphal biblical text (the oldest known Apocrypha) was not in Dee's possession in the sixteenth century, but the legends based upon it—collectively called “Enochian”—were current and popular in the occult circles of Dee’s time.

Finally, this chapter will cover a subject that just may enjoy the status of “most obscure” when it comes to influences upon Dee’s work: the mysterious Book of Soyga. This text was in Dee’s possession—and the references he makes to Soyga in his journals were for hundreds of years the only hints we had of its existence. Relatively recently, in 1994, two copies of the book (one of which is likely the very copy that belonged to Dee) were finally discovered in England. The text has since been deciphered, and an analysis of the work will be included in this chapter. In this and the following chapter, we will see exactly what relationship this book has to the Qabalah and the Book of Enoch, and the influence it had on the magick Dee and Kelley received from the Angels.

Therefore, we will leave our two Renaissance mages behind for now—and explore these particulars of the occultism that form the foundation of Dee’s Angelical language and the famed Book of Loagaeth.

The Fifty Gates of Binah

The world was created with Fifty Gates of Understanding . . . [Talmud, Rosh haShanah 21b]

In that Temple [of Binah] there are fifty gates, which are supposed to be closed, meaning that they block the flow of Lights. There are forty-nine gates engraved upon the ‘four winds’ of the world. One gate has no direction; it is not known whether it faces up or down. This is how this gate remains closed. Inside the gates is a lock with a tiny and narrow keyhole. This lock is marked and known only by the impression of the key. And no one is to know about this narrow keyhole without having the key [Sepher Zohar, Prologue, “The Locked and the Unlocked,” verses 43–44].¹

The Tree of Life is mentioned in Genesis (2:9) and the Revelation of St. John (2:7, 22:2), and is said to bear the fruits of God’s graces.² As used by mystics (especially in the later Hermetic Qabalah), it has become a stylized diagram of the spheres of Heaven—including the planetary spheres, the fixed stars, and the Divine Source above all. These spheres—each representing one of the divine “fruits”—are called Sephiroth (singular: Sephirah) in Hebrew. One interpretation of this word is “to say”—indicating that each of the Sephiroth upon the Tree is associated with one of the ten creative instances of “God said . . .” in Genesis 1.

Kircher's Tree of Life

In the teachings of the Hebrew Qabalah, there are seven primary Sephiroth (or aspects of God):¹ beginning with Chesed (Mercy), and then Gevurah (Severity), Tiphareth (Majesty), Netzach (Victory), Hod (Splendor), Yesod (Foundation), and Malkuth (Kingdom). These represent the seven principal characteristics of God as illustrated throughout the Torah.

Each Sephirah is further represented in sacred Scripture by one of the Seven Patriarchs (the Ushpizin): Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, Joseph, Moses, Aaron, and David.² Biblical legend depicts these heroes acting on behalf of Yahweh within the context of one or more of the Sephiroth. To note but a few examples: Abraham acts from Chesed (Divine Mercy), because he was allowed to spare his son from sacrifice. Isaac, meanwhile, acts from Gevurah (Divine Severity) because he was, in fact, almost sacrificed in blood. David, the first king of Israel, acts from Malkuth (the Kingdom) because he established God’s Kingdom upon the Earth.

Further, the seven primary Sephiroth correspond to the Seven Days of Creation, the seven days of the week, the seven planets,³ and all related mystical considerations of the number seven. The three Sephiroth above these seven—Kether (Crown), Chockmah (Wisdom), and Binah (Understanding)—are considered “hidden Sephiroth” that are in many ways a separate system unto themselves. The physical man has no part in these transcendent levels of Deity—yet it is toward this Supernal Triad that the devout must aspire. It is the work of a lifetime, and the higher Spheres are gained only upon death and re-union with God.

In this section, we are going to discuss just one Qabalistic mystery based upon the Sephiroth: the Fifty Gates of Understanding, contained within a Jewish custom known as the “Counting of the Omer.” An Omer is simply a generic biblical term for a “unit of measurement,” and in particular a unit (or sheaf) of wheat. Leviticus 23:15–16 instructs:

And ye shall count unto you from the morrow after the Sabbath, from the day that ye brought the sheaf (Omer) of the wave offering; seven Sabbaths shall be complete: Even unto the morrow after the seventh Sabbath shall ye number 50 days; and ye shall offer a new meat offering unto the Lord.

This Torah commandment outlines a specific period of time falling between Passover⁶ and, fifty days later, the observance of Shavu'ot. Primarily, each of these holidays is an agricultural observance: Passover marks the beginning of the harvest season in Israel, and Shavu'ot the end of the season and its first fruits. From the devotional perspective, Passover celebrates the sparing of the Hebrew slaves in Egypt from the Plague of Death, and the commencement of the Exodus. Seven weeks then follow until Shavu'ot, which celebrates the arrival of the Israelites at Mount Sinai and the reception of the Ten Commandments. This period of seven times seven days (seven weeks or forty-nine days) plus the day of the Reception totals the fifty days of the Counting of the Omer as prescribed in Leviticus.

From this point, a mystical interpretation of the Torah must be adopted, similar to that found throughout the Sepher haZohar and other foundational Qabalistic texts. By leaving the civilization of Egypt behind them in favor of the wilderness, the Israelites were both literally and philosophically removing themselves from the World of Man. At the same time, they were journeying toward the Divine Light as symbolized by Mount Sinai and their meeting with God. Therefore, it is necessary for the devout to make this same philosophical journey each year—repenting and leaving behind the worldly sins of humanity, and striving through the emotional wilderness to attain union with God and His Law (Torah).

This is the fifty-day practice of the “Counting of the Omer.” Every night, a blessing is recited, and then the numbering of the day is stated. For instance, twelve days into the process, one would state, “Today is twelve days, which is one week and five days of the Omer.”⁷ It revolves around the concept of Teshuvah (Repentance), and is marked by focus upon Torah study, prayer, and observance of the Commandments. Each day, a sin or other spiritual hindrance that has infected one’s soul throughout the year (by association with the World of Man, or “Egypt”) must be relinquished. This is known as removing oneself from the Fifty Gates of Impurity.

In order to accomplish this, a different “aspect (midot) of God” is singled out every day for devotional contemplation. It is these fifty (really, forty-nine) aspects of God, based upon the seven Sephiroth, that comprise the Nun Sha'arei Binah (Fifty Gates of Understanding). By successfully exiting a Gate of Impurity, one necessarily enters its corresponding Gate of Understanding.

Students of the Qabalah will recognize the Hebrew word for understanding (Binah) as the name of an eighth “hidden” Sephirah—which lies immediately above the abyss that separates the Highest Divinity from the lower seven Sephiroth. It is true that the fifty Gates are related directly to this eighth Sephirah. It is understanding of both God and the self that is sought by the devout during the Counting of the Omer—an attempt to bridge the span of the abyss (that is, to reconcile) between God and mankind. Therefore, Binah—in its entirety—is considered the Fiftieth Gate, thrown open only by opening all the previous forty-nine.

The opening of this final Gate falls on the day of Shavu'ot, and is thus not actually counted among the 7 x 7 preceding days. It corresponds instead to the completion of the work, the reception of Divine revelation, or the reception of the Commandments by the ancient Israelites on the fiftieth day of the Exodus. The previous forty-nine Gates are, in fact, Gates of entrance to the Sephirah Binah—and all forty-nine must be passed before the real Binah can be reached. (Seven is a mystical number of completion—as seen in the Days of Creation: six days of work followed by rest after completion on the seventh. The number 49 is seven successive sevens, and therefore represents the completion of the physical, and entrance into the spiritual realm.)

Reaching this height does not, however, represent passing through the Fiftieth Gate of Binah—which corresponds to the Creator. That final Gate cannot be entered by a living human being—as it technically lies across the abyss in the realm of pure (Supernal) Deity. This Gate is reserved, instead, for the Messiah—who will open the Fiftieth Gate in the “End Times” and bring about the destruction of the World of Man. According to the Talmud, only Moses has passed through this Gate, and then only upon his death. The Jewish mystic passing through the forty-nine Gates would be rewarded with a day of prophetic revelation, and an experience of closeness with the Divine. However, come back to earth he must, until the time of his own passing.

The Fifty Gates shown on the Sephiroth

As can be seen from the diagram on the previous page, each of the seven lower Sephiroth is divided into seven sub-Sephiroth. Thus, within the context of God's Mercy (Chesed), we find the Mercy of Mercy (or pure Chesed), the Severity of Mercy, the Majesty of Mercy, the Victory of Mercy, the Splendor of Mercy, the Foundation of Mercy, and the Kingdom (or application) of Mercy.

During the first week of the Counting of the Omer, Divine Mercy would be the overall focus, along with the lessons taught by the patriarch Abraham. On the first day, the aspirant would invoke the Mercy of God's Mercy, and would apply himself to the virtue of study. On the second day, the aspirant would invoke the Severity of God's Mercy, and practice the virtue of attentive listening. This process continues for seven days—all associated with Chesed—until the Kingdom of Mercy is reached:

Day 1: Chesed of Chesed—Study⁷

Day 2: Gevurah of Chesed—Attentive listening

Day 3: Tiphareth of Chesed—Orderly speech

Day 4: Netzach of Chesed—Understanding

Day 5: Hod of Chesed—Intuitive Insight

Day 6: Yesod of Chesed—Awe

Day 7: Malkuth of Chesed—Reverence

The second week would then focus upon Isaac and Gevurah—beginning with the Mercy of Severity, and continuing to the Kingdom of Severity on the seventh day (the fourteenth of Counting the Omer). The third week highlights the seven subsets of Tiphareth, the fourth week those of Netzach, the fifth those of Hod, the sixth those of Yesod, and the seventh focuses upon Malkuth. All forty-nine days have virtues associated with them for study, meditation, and practice. Finally, Shavu'ot falls on day fifty—when the dedicated aspirant will receive prophetic insight into his own soul, and into the Mind of God.

It might strike some as odd that this list appears to run backward. God exists above the highest Gate, while man resides at the opposite end in Malkuth of Malkuth—the lowest and darkest position in the scheme.

Thus, it might seem logical to assume that one should begin at this lowest point and move upward toward the Divine Source. However, this does not appear to be the traditional practice for the Fifty Gates—nor with many related mystical exercises. Instead, it was common to begin at the highest point, and work backward toward Earth. For instance, the Merkavah mystics—Hebrew shamans from whom much of the Qabalah was drawn after the thirteenth century—were known to achieve the Vision of God through fasting, prayer, and (some believe) sacramental drugs. Then, they would turn back toward Earth and “ride” downward through the Seven Heavenly Palaces.⁶

A similar idea seems to be at work with the Fifty Gates of Understanding. Because prophecy flows from the Divine to the heart of man, it is necessary to invoke the Gates from the highest available to us (Chesed of Chesed) downward toward the physical realm (Malkuth of Malkuth). The impenetrable Fiftieth Gate of Binah itself is actually the first in the list—but it is passed over in silence, and symbolized instead by the final day of Shavu'ot. The revelation that comes through the Fiftieth Gate—since it cannot be attained by human effort alone—is regarded as a gift handed down from God.

The Hermetic Gates of Intelligence

Later Christian mysticism (during and after the Renaissance era) obtained a somewhat different scheme for the Fifty Gates—as we shall see here in the “Hermetic Gates of Intelligence.” Whereas the Jewish mystics were centered upon spiritual devotion, the Hermetic mages were scientists at heart. Their spiritual pursuits were grounded in practices such as alchemy, astronomy/astrology, and mathematics. Therefore, the Fifty Gates became those of “Intelligence” rather than “Understanding,” and were based upon an almost Darwinian progression of evolution.

This scheme was first presented in 1652 CE by Athanasius Kircher, in his *Oedipus Aegyptiacus*⁷—the same text from which the Hermetic Order of the Golden Dawn would later draw their standard version of the Qabalistic Tree of Life. In the late 1800s, one of the founders of the Golden Dawn, W. Wynn Westcott, appended a slightly altered version of the Gates of Intelligence to the Sepher Yetzirah. This is the most popular and readily available version:¹⁰

First Order: Elementary

1. Chaos, Hyle, the first matter
2. Formless, void, lifeless
3. The Abyss
4. Origin of the Elements
5. Earth (no seed germs)
6. Water
7. Air
8. Fire
9. Differentiation of qualities
10. Mixture and combination

Second Order: Decad of Evolution

11. Minerals differentiate
12. Vegetable principles appear
13. Seeds germinate in moisture
14. Herbs and trees
15. Fructification in vegetable life
16. Origin of low forms of animal life
17. Insects and reptiles appear
18. Fishes, vertebrate life in the waters
19. Birds, vertebrate life in the air
20. Quadrupeds, vertebrate earth animals

Third Order: Decad of Humanity

21. Appearance of Man
22. Material human body
23. Human soul conferred
24. Mystery of Adam and Eve
25. Complete Man as the Microcosm
26. Gift of five human faces acting exteriorly
27. Gift of five powers to the Soul

28. Adam Kadmon, the Heavenly Man
29. Angelic beings
30. Man in the image of God

Fourth Order: World of Spheres

31. The Moon
32. Mercury
33. Venus
34. Sol
35. Mars
36. Jupiter
37. Saturn
38. The Firmament
39. The Premium Mobile
40. The Empyrean Heaven

Fifth Order: The Angelic World (modified)¹¹

41. Angels
42. Archangels
43. Principalities
44. Virtues (or Authorities)
45. Powers
46. Dominations
47. Thrones
48. Cherubim
49. Seraphim

Sixth Order: the Archetype

50. God, Ain Soph, He Whom no mortal eye hath seen, and Who has been known to Jesus the Messiah alone.

Westcott prefaces the above list with a note that illustrates the scientific rather than devotional nature of the Fifty Gates of Intelligence:

Attached to some editions of the Sepher Yetzirah is found this scheme of Kabalistic classification of knowledge emanating from the Second Sephira Binah, Understanding, and descending by stages through the angels, Heavens, humanity, animal and vegetable and mineral kingdoms to Hyle and the chaos. The Kabbalists said that one must enter and pass up through the Gates to attain to the Thirty-Two Paths of Wisdom; and that even Moses only passed through the forty-ninth Gate, and never entered the fiftieth.

We can see that the list has been changed from a devotional invocation for a gift from God into a Qabalistic “classification of knowledge.”

Also, we can see that the practice of the Fifty Gates has been reversed in order to follow the more logical “from bottom upward” progression. (Remember, the Qabalists actually said one should enter and pass downward, not upward, through the Gates.) Therefore, the Hermetic system does not begin at the highest Gate, passing silently over the unattainable Gate of Binah. Instead, it begins at the lowest point (chaos, hyle) and progresses upward toward the hidden Fiftieth Gate and the Divine. This ascension is a hallmark of the Hermetic practices (as opposed to the traditional descending practices of Hebrew Qabalists and Merkavah mystics)—and can be seen in the modern Hermetic practice of initiation upon the Tree of Life from Malkuth upward toward Kether.

The Gates of Intelligence, as previously mentioned, incorporate a progression of natural evolution and (subsequent) human spiritual evolution. The Hermetic aspirant was intended to progressively study and experience (i.e., come to understand) each of the elements outlined in the list—meaning that one must engage in alchemy, astrology, ceremonial magick, and more in order to explore and bond with each of these concepts. (This reflects the attitude of the “renaissance man.” We see the attitude at work in men such as John Dee, who felt that acquiring all human—and more than human—knowledge was key to enlightenment.) As the fifty progressive Gates reflect the natural evolutionary advancement of life in the Universe, the individual mage was to follow its pattern for personal evolution.

In Westcott’s prefatory note to this list, Moses seems to have been demoted—gaining credit only for passing through Gate Forty-nine rather than the fiftieth. However, the statement may be a simple reference to the fact that the prophet (according to the Talmud) only obtained forty-nine Gates by his own efforts. The Christian author may or may not have known that Moses was supposed to have passed through the Fiftieth Gate upon his death.

Similarly, the "Sixth Order" includes a note assuring us that no mortal eye has seen the Fiftieth Gate (which matches tradition), and that Jesus alone has passed through it. The latter idea (apparently attributed to Kircher himself) is a Christianized recension of the traditional view that the Gate is reserved for the Messiah. To the Judaic mystic, this means that the Gate is sealed and will remain so until the advent of the final Tribulations and the coming of the Messiah (who is not equated with the prophet Jesus). To the Christian Hermeticist, however, the Messiah has already come and gone—meaning that the Fiftieth Gate was opened during Jesus' translation to Heaven. More than likely, this goes along with the view that the Gate will be opened by Jesus a second time during the Apocalypse.

Note, also, that Westcott's list that equates Gate Fifty with the Ain Soph (Limitless)—the realm of pure Divinity that properly resides above even the highest Sephirah of Kether. However, if these are the Gates of Binah (which resides beneath Kether), this should not be the case at all. It is my own assumption that the three hidden and Supernal Sephiroth are simply being lumped together and equated with the Limitless Divinity within which they reside. Christian Qabalists often associated these with the Trinity: Kether (the Crown) as God, Chockmah (Wisdom) as the Holy Spirit, and Binah (whose Hebrew name contains the root Ben—Son) as the Messiah.

Finally, we can see that this Hermetic list has lost its traditional 7 x 7 categorization. Instead, the Gates of Intelligence are divided into "Orders" of ten—reflecting the Christian Qabalists' obsession with the ten Sephiroth of the Tree of Life. (As we see in the Golden Dawn, nearly everything that can be divided into groupings of ten is presented as such. In this mindset, it is inconceivable to interpret a list of fifty Gates as anything other than a 5 x 10 equation.) Of course, the isolation of the Fiftieth Gate is preserved in the Hermetic system—leaving the "Fifth Order" of Gates with merely nine. This might at first appear to be problematic, but we find the solution by adopting the Pseudo-Dionysus list of Angelic Choirs—containing only nine Orders of Angels (3 x 3) rather than the ten found upon the Tree of Life. This frees up the Fiftieth Gate for its presentation (or occlusion) as hidden and unattainable.

The Book of Enoch

[Uriel] said, "O Enoch, look on the Book which Heaven has gradually distilled; and, reading that which is written within it, understand every part of it." Then I looked on all which was written, and understood all, reading the Book and everything written in it, all the works of man." [1 Enoch, chapter 80, vol. 1–2, Charlesworth]

And Pravuil told me: "All the things that I have told you, we have written. Sit and write all the souls of mankind . . . for all souls are prepared to eternity, before the formation of the world. . . . and I wrote out all things exactly, and wrote three hundred and sixty-six books." [2 Enoch 23:2–3, Charles]

" . . . from my Heavenly vision and from the voice of the holy Angels have I acquired knowledge, and from the Tablet[s]¹² of Heaven have I acquired Understanding." [1 Enoch, chapter 92, vol. 3, Charlesworth]

The patriarch Enoch (Hebrew: Chanock) appears in canonical Scripture in at least three places. The first reference is in Genesis 5:18–24, within a longer list of genealogies.¹³ Enoch is said to have walked this earth for 365 years,¹⁴ during which time he fathered Methuselah. (Methuselah is famous for the grossly extended span of his life—just short of one thousand years!) Methuselah, then, fathered Lamech, who in turn fathered the patriarch Noah. Meanwhile, the saga of Noah's great-grandfather Enoch is summed up cryptically in verses 23–24:

And all the days of Enoch were three hundred and sixty five years: And Enoch walked with God: and he was not; for God took him.

Each and every generation outlined in this section of Genesis contains the birth, years of life, and death of the patriarchs. Enoch alone is given no time of death, and is (apparently) described as having been taken bodily into the Heavens by God. (This honor was shared by only one other human being in the canonical Bible: the prophet Elijah.¹⁵) This quirk in the wording of Genesis has fascinated Judeo-Christian devotees and mystics for thousands of years, and has served as the basis for the later traditions (such as Merkavah) based upon Enoch and his experiences in the Heavens.

The second biblical reference to Enoch is, in fact, a product of these Enochian traditions.¹⁶ It is found in the New Testament, Hebrews 11:5, where we find a solid explanation of what happened to Enoch when “God took him”:

By faith Enoch was translated that he should not see death; and was not found, because God had translated him: for before his translation he had this testimony, that he pleased God.

The use of the word translated here indicates a person who has been taken bodily into Heaven, as opposed to someone who has ascended into the Heavens after death.

The third reference to Enoch in the Bible returns to the cryptic. We also find this one in the New Testament, the Epistle of Jude, verse 14:

And Enoch also, the seventh from Adam, prophesied of these, saying, Behold, the Lord cometh with ten thousands of his saints.

This third reference was something of a problem for later (and many current) Christian authorities. It canonizes the words of Enoch—but there are no writings of the prophet found anywhere in the Bible!

Instead, we have to turn to that huge collection of “unofficial” biblical documents known as the Apocrypha. In most cases, these books have been excluded from the canon—by both Christian and Jewish authorities—because of their mystical (and often very Pagan) nature.

In the early days of Christianity, before the Bible was canonized, there were actually several books attributed to Enoch in use by various churches. Three of them are known to us today. The first Book of Enoch (1 Enoch) is the oldest known Apocrypha—having been composed (most likely) during or directly after the Hebrew captivity in Babylon. (We will return to this subject shortly.) It was known to ancient scholars—such as St. Irenaeus during the early Common Era—but was lost for nearly a thousand years during Roman Catholic world dominance. Then, in 1773, the famous explorer James Bruce discovered three copies of 1 Enoch in Abyssinia. This was later called the “Ethiopic” Book of Enoch—because it was written in Ethiopian. However, the oldest copies were likely written in Aramaic or Hebrew. As it turns out, this is the very same text from which the Epistle of Jude draws its quote. Over the ensuing years, several portions of the same text—in Greek this time—have been found. Finally, in the late 1940s and early 1950s, the famous Dead Sea Scrolls were discovered near Qumran. Among the texts recovered from this library was 1 Enoch (now in Aramaic)—officially making the book part of the Dead Sea collection.

The second Book of Enoch (2 Enoch, or the “Slavonic” Book of Enoch) is actually titled the Book of the Secrets of Enoch. This was discovered in 1886 in the Belgrade public library by a professor Sokolov, although it was not translated for ten more years. It is generally assumed the text was compiled—and perhaps altered—by Christian editors sometime after the dawn of the Common Era, although much of its content is likely much older. (It may be dependent on 1 Enoch itself.)

In 1922, the scholar Hugo Odeberg translated the “Hebrew” Book of Enoch (3 Enoch). This is another principally Merkavah-class text, depicting the heavenly ascensions of the second-century Rabbi Ishmael. It contains legends concerning Enoch’s shamanic translation from mortal man into the fiery Archangel Metatron (the Scribe, and Voice of God—both jobs suited to the role of a prophet-made-celestial). Most significantly, this work had an influence upon the Sepher haZohar—a principal text of the Qabalah written in the thirteenth century.

The legend of Enoch weaves its way back to the Captivity in Babylon (circa 600 BCE). At the time, 1 Enoch was simply a biblical text similar to the Books of Daniel, Isaiah, Ezekiel, or (later) the Revelation of St. John. Like these latter four, the Book of Enoch was an apocalyptic writing—outlining various Divine communications between Enoch and God. It stands out in history as (perhaps) the first biblical text in which the Hebrew God promises retribution against the entire world for mistreatment of the Israelites. It is the source book for all of the above-mentioned biblical Scriptures, and many further besides.¹⁷

This book gave birth to the widespread Judeo-Christian mindset that assumes “God will someday punish and destroy all of our enemies.” It was written by a people who had been defeated and carried into a foreign land against their will. It was written to help alleviate some of the anger and resentment that the Israelite people felt against their Babylonian captors. To this day, Babylon (along with Egypt) remains a biblical symbol of wrongdoing and social degeneration.¹⁸

Nevertheless, the captive Israelites seem to have adopted quite a bit of Babylonian cosmology, along with no small amount of Babylonian mythology. 1 Enoch itself is overflowing with Babylonian astronomy, stories of Angels that mirror older Pagan Mesopotamian tales, and a description of an ascent through the Heavens—a very Chaldean concept.

It is this ascent through the Heavens by Enoch that concerns us the most. 1 Enoch states that the patriarch was lifted into Heaven by Angelic guides. However, there are other legends asserting that Enoch flew into the sky in a chariot of fire.¹⁹ These, of course, are the legends associated with the Merkavah (Chariot) tradition, by Hebrew shamans who desired to follow in Enoch's footsteps. The various books attributed to Enoch, along with such books as Revelation and Ezekiel, are Merkavah texts—in which prophets are taken to the very Throne of God and taught the mysteries of the Universe in Angelic colleges.

Needless to say, the rise of Merkavah mysticism brought along with it an occult fad for Enochian mythos. When the texts were hidden away or destroyed in the first centuries of the Common Era, the legends of Enoch lived on—and perhaps prospered. The fact that the Books of Enoch had become the Lost Books of Enoch merely strengthened their popularity among occultists, adding to the already passionate tales a deep air of mystery and the slight irritation of lost ancient wisdom. The interest in Enoch as a patron of Merkavah riders and Gnostic ascenders was still in vogue in sixteenth-century Europe—paralleled by the similar fad that existed for Solomon and his Keys of magic.

From a practical standpoint, the Mah'aseh Merkavah (Work of the Chariot) generally had three principal goals. The first was the gaining of the vision of the Merkavah itself—the Throne of God in the highest Heaven, uplifted by the mighty Cherubim and surrounded by its Choirs of ministering Angels.²⁰ Secondly, the Merkavah Rider wished to journey through the celestial spheres—passing through the seven Palaces (Hekha- loth) of Heaven by way of various talismans and passwords—a practice not far removed from the entrance of the Fifty Gates of Understanding.

There also existed a third, almost hidden, objective to gaining entrance to the Heavenly Halls. The truly adept, through a lifetime of dedication, might be allowed a glimpse within the Celestial Book of Enoch. Do not confuse this with such human-created works as 1 Enoch, 2 Enoch, or 3 Enoch! Those Apocryphal texts are, in fact, merely legends about the true Book (or Books) of Enoch—written many generations after the patriarch's supposed lifetime. In such literature, the Celestial Book of Enoch is addressed by the terms "Tablets of Heaven" or "Book of Life."

At the beginning of this section, I quoted several instances from Enochian literature wherein the patriarch beholds and then copies the content of the Tablets of Heaven. This is the very same Book that legends such as the Revelation of St. John describe—the seven seals of which only the coming Messiah is worthy to break.²¹ Thus, granting Enoch the privilege to view and copy the Celestial Book of Life was a gift from God much akin to Moses' entrance of the Fiftieth Gate of Understanding. (Except in Enoch's case, God was granting the gift to the entire world, by delivering the contents of the Tablets into human hands.)

The Enochian legends hold (in some cases) that Enoch filled 366 hand-written books before he completed his transcription.²² Then, upon his translation into Heaven, he was transfigured into the Archangel Metatron—appointed to the position of Scribe within God's Court (with full authority to speak for the Creator!), and thereby granted stewardship of the Tablets for eternity. As for the hand-written copies he penned while still in the flesh, they've had a rather turbulent history.

The concept of the Tablets of Heaven is not at all confined to the Merkavah tradition. Stories about it appear again and again throughout history and all over the world. It has various mythologies and various names, but they all boil down to the same basic ideas. Many cultures also have a parallel concept of a Divine Record Keeper, who records every single event that takes place in the world, along with all the secrets of Heaven.

In a similar Judaic legend, the Archangel Raziel (whose name means "Secrets of God") holds the heavenly scribal position. He is said to stand before the Divine Throne, just behind the Veil, writing down everything that occurs in the Royal Court of Elohim (which is the origin of everything that happens in existence). Legend holds that this book (Sepher Raziel)²³ was given to Adam, but it was stolen by jealous Angels and tossed into the sea.²⁴ The book was finally recopied by Enoch, passed through Methuselah and Lamech, and finally to his great-grandson Noah. (It contained the blueprints for the Ark.) At length, it was passed down to Solomon, and granted the king his world-famous wisdom and magickal power. Then, it disappeared yet again when Solomon fell from Yahweh's good graces.

In ancient Egypt, the precursor of the Raziel myth involved Thoth (Djehuti)—the Ibis-headed God who invented writing and words. In Pagan Egypt, Djehuti represented what the later Gnostics would call the Logos (Word).²⁵ The Logos is the creative principle of the Divine—the Word of Creation used by God (or, in Egypt, Ra) to fashion the world. Thoth was the God of all language and communication, and (like Raziel) was a keeper of the Divine Secrets of the Heavens. The Book of Thoth appears in Egyptian legend in the same manner as the Sepher Raziel—as a much-sought-after but ever-elusive tome of ultimate knowledge.²⁶

There are other examples of this Book in world history—such as the Eastern concept of the "Akashic Records," or the ancient Babylonian "Tablet of Destinies"—stolen from the Father God and gifted to humanity by the goddess Ishtar. In all cases, we have references to an astral compendium of all knowledge and wisdom, which can be accessed only by adepts who learn how to gain entrance to the record itself.

There have been various attempts to actually write this great Book here in the physical. The medieval grimoire entitled Sepher Raziel is one example. The deck of Tarot cards is another. (This is likely why Aleister Crowley named his own Tarot deck the Book of Thoth.) Even the Torah is described by medieval Jewish mystics as a mere earthly reflection of the real Torah in Heaven.²⁷ Another, more obscure, example is found in the little-known Book of Sevgi.

The Book of Soyga (Aldaraia Sive Soyga Vocor)

Dee: Is my Book of Soyga of any excellency?

Uriel: That book was revealed unto Adam in Paradise by God's good angels.

Dee: [. . .] Oh my great and long desire hath been to be able to read those Tables of Soyga. [Five Books of Mystery, March 10, 1582]

For centuries, all that was known about the mysterious medieval grimoire called the Book of Soyga (or Aldaraia) came from a few scattered references in Dr. John Dee's journals, and from reproductions of eight of Soyga's Tables appended to the back of Dee's own Book of Loagaeth.²⁸

Dee obviously held the Book of Soyga in high regard. His inclusion of some of its Tables with, and similarity to, his Tables of Loagaeth have always hinted at a connection between Soyga and Dee's Angelic magick. However, with such a small amount of information on the Book of Soyga available, there was no hope of tracing a historical thread.

This finally changed in 1994, when scholar Deborah Harkness discovered two copies of the text: one in the Bodleian Library (Bodley MS 908) and the other at the British Library (Sloane MS 8—which may have been Dee's copy). Each of them had been cataloged under the alternate title Aldaraia—thereby misleading generations of Dee scholars who had been seeking a book entitled Soyga. Unfortunately, since the rediscovery there has been little written about the Book of Soyga, and no copy of the book itself has yet been offered for publication.

The conversation quoted at the head of this section took place between Dee and the Archangel Uriel in March of 1582. In response to Dee's questions about Soyga, Uriel suggested that only the Archangel Michael could reveal the mysteries of the Tables. However, as far as we know, Dee never asked Michael to explain them.

At some point during the next year, Dee appears to have misplaced his copy of the Book of Soyga. In April of 1583, Dee asked the Angel Illemese²⁹ for information about his lost "Arabic book of Tables and numbers."³⁰ Unfortunately, Illemese did not regard the Book of Soyga with the same esteem as Uriel—instead calling it a work of false witchcrafts. After some discussion on the matter, Dee finally changed the subject to the (also lost) Book of Enoch, which Illemese promises to deliver.¹¹

Meanwhile, let us explore this obscure Book of Soyga. The Soyga Tables are large magickal squares (36 x 36 cells) filled with letters generated by a keyword (one associated with each Table) via some unknown cipher algorithm. The cipher was so complicated that even the genius of Dee couldn't break it—hence his “great and long desire” to finally read the text!

The best study of the text to date is John Dee and the Magic Tables in the Book of Soyga, by Jim Reeds.¹² His interest in Soyga arises from the encrypted Tables, and he has actually succeeded in deciphering them where Dee failed. However, it is not necessary to go into detail on his cryptographic work here. Nothing mystical was revealed by finding the method used to generate the Tables (i.e., they did not produce a readable scripture; instead, the letters represent a mathematical algorithm). The magick is likely inherent in the keyword upon which each Table is based, but there has been no work yet toward exploring the linguistic origins of the keywords.¹³

Of more interest to us here, Reeds also offers a (relatively) detailed description of the entire Book of Soyga—which he took from microfilm copies of the manuscripts. He assigns it roughly to the late medieval period, and the texts he studied (the Sloane and Bodley manuscripts) are both of the sixteenth century. It is the Sloane version of the manuscript that also bears the title Aldaraia sive Soyga vocor, although both copies were cataloged under that title. The same copy also identifies the text as an astrological mystery—Tractatus Astrologico Magicus—which is hardly uncommon for a text of its period. (At the time, astrology was in the mainstream of medical practice.)

Soyga is principally divided into three parts, called respectively Liber Aldaraia, Liber Radium, and Liber Decimus Septimus. There also follow several unnamed additions to the text, ending with the thirty-six Magickal Tables that so fascinated and inspired the heart of John Dee.

The full Latin text actually begins as a rather typical medieval grimoire. If one has seen a copy of the Key of Solomon the King, one has seen an example of this kind of literature. There are lists of demonologies, and conjurations full of classic (probably Gnostic-descended) barbarous invocations:

Adracty, Adaci, Adai, Terocot, Terocot, Tercot, Herm, Hermzm, Hermzisco, Cotzi, Cotzizi, Cotzizizin, Zinzicon, Ginzecohon, Ginchecon, Saradon, Sardon, Sardeon, Belzebuc, Belzscup, Belcupe, Saraduc, Sar-cud, Carc, Sathanas, Satnas, Sacsan, Contion, Conoi, Conoison, Satnei, Sapnn, Sappi, Danarcas, Dancas, Dancasnar [Aldaraia, Bodley MS 908, folio 51]

Both copies of the grimoire also refer to Adam (to whom, Uriel told Dee, this book was given in Paradise) by the mystical name of “Zadzaczadlin.” As we progress in our study of Dee’s Angelic magick, we shall see how similar his work is to this material.

Again, like the Key of Solomon, it is both astrology and alchemy that form the heart of Soyga’s magickal spells—classical aspects of medieval Christian proto-Hermetic mysticism. This gives us some major clues into the core philosophy behind the mysteries transmitted to Dee and Kelley—which are also overflowing with alchemical and astrological references.

Reeds points out that Soyga is somewhat unique in the fact that it does not claim any mythological authority. It is not written by any pseudo-Enoch or pseudo-Solomon, and even the claim of ownership by Adam in Paradise comes from Uriel speaking through Edward Kelley rather than from the text itself. This suggests to me that the book was a practicing mage’s workbook, rather than something written exclusively for publication.

On the other hand, it does make reference to several medieval medical treatises—mysterious books called Liber E and Liber Os. This is perhaps less significant to Dee’s Angelic magick than it is to the later Rosicrucian movement. There is some evidence to suggest Dee’s involvement in (or influence upon) the founding of the movement in early Renaissance Germany.¹⁴ The foundational document of that movement—the Fama Fraternitatus, published by physicians in the mid-1600s (after Dee’s death)—contains many obscure references to texts such as Liber M, Liber I, and Liber T.

More relevant to Dee's Enochian system is the stress upon mystical writing in the Book of Soyga—especially the practice of writing backwards (mimicking the right-to-left nature of Hebrew). Words such as Sipal (Lapis), Munob (Bonum—Latin for Good), and Retap Retson (Pater Noster) are used throughout the text, and even the title of the book is a reversal of the Greek word Agyos, meaning "Holy."

Reeds describes an abundance of the same kind of gematria and word-play as found in Book II of Agrippa's Occult Philosophy. Letters are assigned numerical values (again like Hebrew) as well as occult correspondences, and are then recombined and permuted in various fashions to create magickal Names of Power.

Finally, the book contains the famous thirty-six Tables of Soyga (which are discussed within the Liber Radiorum section of the grimoire). Space does not permit a full discussion of magickal squares here.³⁵ It is only needful to point out that such squares were very popular among Hermeticists and Qabalists during the Middle Ages and the Renaissance (roughly Dee's time). Their focus upon gematria and mathematics fascinated great scientific minds such as Dee, Trithemius, and others.

The Tables of Soyga are all thirty-six rows by thirty-six columns in size, and the keyword provided for each is exactly six letters long. This is necessary to the magickal square itself—so that the keyword will fit properly into the Table. The keyword is repeatedly written down the left-hand column of each page—in a once-forward and once-backward pattern³⁶—a total of six times. Thus we have 6 words x 6 letters = 36 squares. (Because the number six is obviously the basis for this mystery, it is no wonder that Uriel directed Dee to question Michael—the Angel of the Sun and the sixth Sephirah, Tiphareth, in many classical Qabalistic texts.)

Each Table is also labeled with the name of the occult force it supposedly embodies. Tables 1–12 bear the names of the signs of the zodiac in order from Aries to Pisces, and Tables 13–24 repeat the same names again. I would assume these represent the positive aspects of the signs followed by the negative—a common twenty-four-fold view of the zodiac when associated with the twenty-four Elders of the Apocalypse. The following seven Tables, 25–31, are labeled with the names of the seven planets in their proper Qabalistic or Chaldean order (from highest to low est). The next four, Tables 32–35, then bear the names of the four earthly elements. The collection finally ends with Table 36, which stands alone with the label of Magistri—opened with the keyword MOYSES.

From what we've seen so far, it is quite possible to draw a connection between the Tables of Soyga and the mythological Sepher Raziel/Book of Enoch. Uriel told Dee that Soyga was revealed to Adam by good Angels before the Fall from Eden—which parallels the legend of Sepher Raziel. The fact that it contains Tables referring to all of the occult forces of the Universe suggests that it, too, is intended as the all-encompassing Book of Life. It even possesses thirty-six Tables exactly, which would have rested well upon legends of Enoch and his 366 books.

We can also find some relation between the Tables of Soyga and the Gates of Understanding. For instance, their progression from zodiac, to the planets, to the four earthly elements demonstrates the same kind of downward progression from highest to lowest found with the traditional (Judaic) fifty-Gates system. Moreover, the final Table of Soyga—like the final Gate of Understanding—is isolated from the rest of the group and reserved only for the adept. (The keyword for this Table—MOYSES—even hints at the only patriarch given credit for passing the Fiftieth Gate of Binah.)

Finally, the labeling of the last Table of Soyga as that of Magistri (adept-hood) indicates the entire set may have an initiatory purpose. Although we do not know how the Tables were intended for magickal use, it is not a stretch in logic to assume they—like all magickal squares—acted as talismanic gateways of some sort. Likely, a mage would have successively invoked the forces embodied in each Table, thereby passing through each Gate in an effort to receive magickal power and Divine revelation from God. In the following chapters, we shall see that this is how Dee's Angelic contacts instructed him to use his own Book of Loagaeth.

Endnotes

1. The Zohar Online: <http://www.kabbalah.com/k/index.php?p=zohar> (accessed November 2, 2009).
2. "And out of the ground made the Lord God to grow | | the Tree of Life also in the midst of the garden, and the Tree of Knowledge of good and evil." | Genesis 2:9 |

"To him that overcometh will I give to eat of the Tree of Life, which is in the midst of the paradise of God " [Revelation 2:7]

"In the midst of the street [. . .], and on either side of the river, was there the Tree of Life, which bare twelve manner of fruits, and yielded her fruit every month: and the leaves of the tree were for the healing of the nations." [Revelation 22:2]

3. Although there are ten Sephiroth, three of the them are transcendent, leaving only seven accessible to man.
4. Along with the Seven Matriarchs: Sarah, Rebecca, Rachel, Leah, Miriam, Hannah, and Deborah.
5. Remember that the Hermetic or Rosicrucian Qabalah -such as used by the Hermetic Order of the Golden Dawn - is not always similar to older Judaic systems. The Jewish Qabalist does not necessarily place Saturn within Binah.
6. The fifteenth day of Nisan, the first month on the Hebrew calendar, falling in March / April.
7. See The Fifty Gates of Understanding, <http://www.yashanet.com/studies/revstudy/fifty-gates.htm>, for this list of virtues (accessed November 2, 2009).
8. Merkavah texts such as the Book of Enoch depict the patriarch gaining the Divine Vision, and then touring the Heavens with various Archangels as guides.
9. Athanasius Kircher, Oedipus Aegyptiacus, vol. II, p. 319. See <http://www.billheidrick.com/OrpdAKirAKOeAeII.htm>.
10. Please see The Kabbalah of the Golden Dawn by Pat Zalewski (St. Paul, MN: Llewellyn, 1993) for more information. Also see the bibliography of this book for more interpretations of the Fifty Gates of Understanding.
11. The Fifth Order usually contains a confused mixture of the nine Angelic Choirs of Pseudo-Dionysius with a truncated hierarchy of the Angels of the Tree of Life. It results in a misleading list of Hebrew names with utterly inaccurate "translations." Because nine Choirs are called for in this Order of Gates, and the Tree of Life hierarchy properly includes ten Choirs, I have opted to retain the classical nine-Choir scheme as found in Agrippa's Three Books of Occult Philosophy, Book II, "The Scale of the Number Nine."
12. This is singular in the text. However, chapter 105, vol. 16 of 1 Enoch refers to Tablets in the plural, so I have duplicated the reference here.
13. The first time by the name Enoch. He appears as "Enosh" in a parallel list given previously in the same chapter of Genesis. (There is also an "Enoch" described as the son of Cain in Genesis, chapter 4, but this person does not appear to be related to the patriarch.)
14. Note the Egyptian Gnostic-flavored reference to the number of days in a year.
15. Jesus of the New Testament notwithstanding. Very much like the translation of Jesus, however, both Enoch and Elijah are said to have become purely spiritual (Angelic beings upon their ascension. Enoch became Metatron, and Elijah became Sandalphon).

16. Enochian indicates "of Enoch." In relation to Dee's magick, the term "Enochian" merely refers to the type of system—similar to saying other medieval systems are "Solomonic."
17. Lyman Abbott's introduction to The Book of Enoch the Prophet is highly recommended. See the bibliography of this book, under Laurence.
18. Note the "Whore of Babylon" in the Book of Revelation.
19. Elijah is said to have ascended in the same manner. The song "Chariots of Fire" by Vangelis (Evangelos Odysseas Papathanassiou) is named after this biblical convention.
20. See Revelation, chapter 4.
21. See Revelation, chapter 5.
22. I assume this breaks down to $365 \div 4 = 91$. The number of days in a year played an important role in ancient Gnostic mythos, as did the concept of a singular Divine Source.
23. Sepher Raziel = Book of the Secrets of God. This is the name of the Tablets of Heaven in this case. The medieval Jewish grimoire of the same title is merely based upon this legend, purporting to be the earthly copy.
24. See Legends of the Bible, by Louis Ginzberg (New York: Simon and Schuster, 1956).
25. See John, chapter 1. The Gnostics associated the Logos with Jesus, rather than the older Djehuti.
26. See David C. Scott, The Gods of Ancient Egypt: The Book of Thoth (2004). Online at <http://touregypt.net/godsofegypt/thebookofthoth.htm> (accessed November 2, 2009).
27. Intense study of the written Scripture, after invoking the Archangelic Prince of the Torah (none other than Metatron under various names) for guidance, was a means toward achieving divine revelation, and thus visions of the Celestial Torah. Joseph Dan's The Ancient Jewish Mysticism (Tel Aviv, Israel: MOD Books, 1993) has come highly recommended for this subject. See the bibliography of this book.
28. We will return to the subject of Loagaeth in the following chapter.
29. An Angel from Dee's Heptarchic system of magick.
30. Soyga is actually a Latin manuscript. However, there are many magickal names in it that appear to be of Arabic origin or influence.
31. This turns out to be in the form of the Book of Loagaeth. See the next chapter.
32. Mr. Reeds' website is <http://www.dic.unn.edu/~reedsj/> is a professional cryptologist. See the bibliography of this book for his work on Soyga.
33. Presumably, each keyword has a mystical relationship with an astrological or elemental force, which would then be embodied in its corresponding Table. Reeds calls them arbitrary, but I tend to disagree with such an assumption. They are more likely corruptions of various Hebrew, Greek, and Latin words, as well as other words.
34. See The Rosicrucian Enlightenment by Frances Yates (London: Routledge, 2001).
35. A great dissertation on magickal squares can be found in an appendix, by Donald Tyson, in Elwell's 1992 publication of Agrippa's Three Books of Occult Philosophy.

36. Note the similarity here to the practice of the Shem haMephorash. This seventy-two-fold Name of God is obtained by writing three verses from Exodus in a pattern called "as the ox plows": the first line written right to left, the next line (written underneath the first) from left to right, and the final line written right to left again.

Chapter Two

John Dee's Book of Enoch (The Book of Loagaeth)

And I saw in the right hand of Him that sat on the Throne a Book with writing upon both sides, sealed with seven seals. And I saw a mighty angel proclaiming with a loud voice, "Who is worthy to open the Book, and to loose the seals thereof?" And no man in Heaven, nor in earth, neither under the earth, was able to open the Book, neither to look thereon. [Revelation 5:1–5]

O Book, Book, Book, life to the good, but truly death itself for the wicked. Great are the wonders sealed up inside you, and great is the name of your Seal. The light of my medicine, for you. [Archangel Raphael, Five Books of Mystery, p. 274]

The traditions outlined in the previous chapter converged in Europe in 1583 CE, within the magickal journals of Dr. John Dee and Edward Kelley.¹ These journals record the Christian esotericism the men received from their Angelic contacts—with a heavy focus upon the biblical books of Genesis and the Revelation of St. John, and the foundational assumption that Dee and Kelley were already living within the "End Times"—when the Antichrist would plunge the world into Tribulation and chaos. At the heart of all of this stood the Christian version of Enoch's Celestial Tablets, known in this case as the "Book of Life" or the "Book of the Lamb." "See Revelation 5— part of which is quoted at the head of this chapter.")

The bulk of what Dee and Kelley received from their Angels was a system of mysticism, by which one might gain access to the mysteries contained within the Book of the Lamb. As we shall see in this chapter, Dee's mysticism combines elements of the fifty Gates of Binah, the practice of the Counting of the Omer, encoded magickal Tables similar to those of the Book of Soyga, and the legends of Enoch's Celestial Tablets.

Of course, neither Dee nor Kelley would have had access to the Apocryphal Books of Enoch in the late 1500s. As we saw in chapter 1, these were not rediscovered until the eighteenth century and later. An avid seeker of the fabled Book of Enoch, Dee may certainly have tracked down a few scraps of text here and there, but a full copy of any of the Enochian texts ultimately eluded him.¹

However, the legends that began with these books were current and popular in Dee's time. (Merkavah mysticism had long fascinated Hermeticists and mystics of the West.) John Dee—a Hermeticist, alchemist, and mystic—had a particular interest in these legends, as he records in his own words:

O God . . . I have read in thy books and records how Enoch enjoyed thy favor and conversation. With Moses thou wast familiar And also that to Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, Joshua, Gideon, Esdras, Daniel, Tobias, and sundry others, thy good Angels were sent, by thy disposition, to instruct them, inform them, help them, yea in worldly and domestical affairs; yea and sometimes to satisfy their desires, doubts and questions of thy Secrets. And, furthermore, considering the Shewstone, which the high priests did use—by thy own ordering—wherein they had Lights and Judgments in their great Doubts.² And considering also that thou (O God) didst not refuse to instruct thy prophets—then, called Seers—to give true answers to common people of things economical, as Samuel [did, for Saul]

And remembering the good counsel thy good Apostle James giveth, saying, "If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not: and it shall be given him." And that Solomon the Wise, did so, even immediately by thy self, attain to his wonderful wisdom.

Therefore, seeing I was sufficiently taught and confirmed, that this wisdom could not be attained by man's hand,⁶ or by human power, but only from thee (O God) indirectly, or directly.⁷ [Five Books of Mystery, Preface, pp. 58–59]

Thus it is no surprise that, when Dee finally made contact with Angelic beings, the legends of the ancient prophet Enoch were of some importance. For instance, Dee once asked the Angel Illemese about the Apocryphal Book of Enoch, as mentioned in the Epistle of Jude:

Dee: Belike then, they were delivered from one to another by tradition or else Enoch his book, or prophesy, doth—or may seem to be—written in the same language. Because mention is made of it in the New Testament in Jude his Epistle where he hath said, “Enoch also, the seventh from Adam, prophesied of these . . .”⁸

Illemese: I must distinguish with you. Before the flood, the spirit of God was not utterly obscured in men. Their memories were greater, their understanding more clear, and their traditions, most unsearchable. Nothing remained of Enoch but (and if it please your mastership) might have been carried in a cart. I can not bring you the brass, but I can shew you the books. [Five Books of Mystery, pp. 354–55]

Illemese here speaks of the Enochian mythos as it has existed for centuries—including the central role of the biblical Deluge in the loss of the Wisdom of Enoch.

Another Angel to discuss the prophet Enoch with Dee and Kelley was named Ave, who offers a rather detailed version of the legend of Enoch. In fact, Ave's Enochian speeches⁹ are the principal reasons why Dee's journals are classified as “Enochian” literature.¹⁰ Ave says:

The Lord appeared unto Enoch, and was merciful unto him, opened his eyes, that he might see and judge the earth, which was unknown unto his Parents, by reason of their fall.¹¹ For the Lord said, Let us shew unto Enoch, the use of the earth. And lo, Enoch was wise, and full of the spirit of wisdom. And he said unto the Lord, Let there be remembrance of thy mercy, and let those that love thee taste of this after me. O let not thy mercy be forgotten. And the Lord was pleased.

And after fifty days Enoch had written, and this was the Title of his books, Let Those That Fear God, and Are Worthy, Read.

But behold, the people are waxed wicked, and became unrighteous, and the Spirit of the Lord was far off, and gone away from them. So that those that were unworthy began to read. And the Kings of the earth said thus against the Lord. What is it that we cannot do? Or who is he, that can resist us?

And the Lord was vexed, and he sent in amongst them an hundred and fifty Lions, and spirits of wickedness, error, and deceit. And they appeared unto them, for the Lord had put them between those that are wicked, and his good Angels. And they began to counterfeit the doings of God and his power, for they had power given them so to do, so that the memory of Enoch washed away. And the spirits of error began to teach them Doctrine, which from time to time unto this age, and unto this day, hath spread abroad into all parts of the world, and is the skill and cunning of the wicked. Hereby they speak with Devils. Not because they have power over the Devils, but because they are joined unto them in the league and Discipline of their own Doctrine.

For behold, in the knowledge of the mystical figures, and the use of their presence is the gift of God delivered unto Enoch, and by Enoch his request to the faithful, that thereby they might have the true use of Gods creatures, and of the earth whereon they dwell. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 174]

This legend suggests that the wickedness of mankind (presumably before the Great Deluge) was the result of giving too much knowledge into the hands of those who were not ready. ("Those who were unworthy began to read.") After this, the wisdom contained in the Tablets of Enoch was obscured among humanity. Ave then continues:

Now hath it pleased God to deliver this Doctrine again out of darkness, and to fulfill His promise with thee (for the Books of Enoch), to whom he sayeth as he said unto Enoch, "Let those that are worthy understand this, by thee, that it may be one witness of my promise toward thee." Come therefore, O thou Cloud, and wretched darkness, come forth I say out of this Table: for the Lord again hath opened the earth: and she shall become known to the worthy. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 174]

Therefore, the Angels' plan was to deliver the Celestial "Book of Enoch" to Dee and Kelley. (We shall explore their motives for this revelation.) In fact, by the time Dee recorded these words from Ave, he had already received the entire text of a "Holy Book" written in the Angelical language. However, it was not directly referred to as the "Book of Enoch" until Ave does so later in the journals:

My brother, I see thou dost not understand the mystery of this Book, or work, thou hast in hand. But I told thee, it was the knowledge that God delivered unto Enoch. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 196]

And so, let us take an in-depth look at this Doctrine—delivered again out of darkness:

The Holy Book of Loagaeth (Speech from God)

Dee and Kelley had already been at work with the Angels for some time, receiving the particulars of the Angelic scrying tools and the Heptarchic¹² system. (This comprises the bulk of books One through Four of Dee's Five Books of the Mysteries—Sloane MS 3188.)¹³ Book Five, then, is where we find the first descriptions of a new "Holy Book." The next manuscript in the Sloane collection—MS 3189—contains the Holy Book itself. This is technically classified as the Sixth and Holy Book of the Mysteries, and is also called the Book of Enoch and the Book of Loagaeth (Speech from God).¹⁴

The Holy Book was formally introduced to Dee and Kelley, by the Archangel Raphael, with these words:

Behold! Behold, yea, let Heaven and earth behold: For with this, they were created. And it is the voice and speech of Him, which proceeded from the First, and is the First, whose glorious Name be exalted in his own horn of honor. Lo, this it is. And it is truth; whose truth shall endure forever. [Five Books of Mystery, p. 268]

The concept of "He who proceeded from the First, and is the First" comes from ancient Gnosticism. In Gnostic mythology, the Christos (or Logos—Word) was born directly and entirely from the Divine Source itself. Therefore, the Logos was both God and the Son of God—two facets of the same gem. See the Book of John, chapter 1: “In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God.”

Note, also, that Raphael claims this Book contains the “voice and speech” of the Christos, and that both Heaven and earth were created therewith. (Dee notes in the margin: “The Book, the first language of God-Christ.”) This is another ancient Gnostic concept related directly to the Christos. To the Gnostics, the Highest God was far removed from the imperfect physical realm. However, the Christos was an active and creative aspect of Divinity. All things in the Universe were created after patterns established by the Christos. Once again, see the Book of John, chapter 1: “All things were made by him, and without him was nothing made . . . In him was life, and the life was the light of mankind.”

Therefore, we have in this Holy Book the very words that the God-Christ used to create the Universe. (See Genesis chapter 1, where each phase of creation is initiated with the words “God said . . .” Consider that Dee’s Holy Book will eventually be entitled Loagaeth, the Speech from God.)

Three Types of Knowledge

The biblical Creation is not the whole of what is contained within the Book. Later in the journals (in the appendix to the Five Books), Dee records a conversation with the Angel Illemese¹⁵ that expands our understanding of the nature of the Holy Book:

It only consisteth in the mercy of God, and the Characters of these books. For, behold, as there is nothing that cometh or springeth from God, but it is as God, and hath secret Majestical and inexplicable Operation in it: So every letter here bringeth forth the Names of God. But, indeed, they are but one Name; but according to the local and former being, do comprehend the universal generation corruptible and incorruptible of every thing. It followeth, then, it must needs comprehend the end of all things. Thus much, hitherto. [Five Books of Mystery, p. 382]

This is the first time we are told that the Book is associated not only with Creation, but also comprehends (encompasses) “the end of all things.” Remember my statement at the beginning of this chapter, that both Genesis and the Revelation of St. John play prominent roles in this system.

Later in the appendix to the Five Books, Dee and Kelley make contact with the Archangel Uriel. This entity, too, has something to say concerning the contents of the Holy Book:

This book, and holy key, which unlocketh the secrets of God His determination—as concerning the beginning, present being, and end of this world—is so reverent and holy, that I wonder (I speak in your sense) why it is delivered to those that shall decay. So excellent and great are the Mysteries therein contained, above the capacity of man. [Five Books of Mystery, p. 393]

So, the mystical text comprehends the beginning, present, and end of the Universe. In other words, all things in Creation and Time are represented in the Holy Book. (Just like the Celestial Tablets, Sepher Raziel, and Book of Thoth, described in chapter 1.) Uriel later returns to this subject, revealing the three types of knowledge contained in the text:

For it is said before that the Book containeth three types of knowledge:

1. The knowledge of God, truly.
2. The number and doing of His Angels, perfectly.
3. The beginning and ending of Nature, substantially.

And this hath answered a great doubt. [Five Books of Mystery, p. 399]

Later in the journals, after Dee and Kelley have received all but the last page of the Book, a female entity named Galvah—apparently the Mother of Angels, as we shall see later—takes over the sessions. She speaks further about the nature and contents of the Holy Book:

For herein is the creation of Adam with his transgression. The Dignity and wisdom he had. The error and horror wherein he was drowned, yea herein is the power spread of the highest working in all creatures.

|

The life of all things is here known: The reward of death for those who are rewarded for life. | . . . |

Whatsoever hath been from the beginning (since it was said in Divine Determination, Be it done) is here enclosed. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 18]

Still later in Dee's journals, an Angel by the name of Nalvage offers his own description of the Book:

These Tables are to be written, not by man, but by the finger of her which is mother of Virtue." Wherein the whole World, (to flesh incredible) all Creatures, and in all kinds, are numbered, in being, and multitude. The measure and proportion of that substance, which is Transitory, and shall wax old. These things and mysteries are your parts, and portions scaled, as well by your own knowledge, as the fruit of your Intercession. The knowledge of Gods Creatures. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 64]

I note that Nalvage above refers to a "substance" that is transitory (that is to say, mortal) and will grow old. This substance is likely the "material essence"—or physical matter of the Universe—described by Plato. (Plato actually described three essences, which were also adopted by the Gnostics: The first is the spiritual essence, which is pure and immortal. The second is the material essence, which is mortal and will eventually die. The third is the animate essence, which is a mixture of the previous two. Human beings are composed of the animate essence.)

The Last Prophecy of the World

The Angels also had a few things to say about the Holy Book and its relation to the Christian concept of the End Times. (Keep in mind that Dee was a devout Christian in sixteenth-century Europe. He would have taken the subject of the End Times very seriously, and would have firmly believed they were near.)

During one of their sessions with Uriel, the Archangel told the two men that the testimony of the Holy Book heralds the Second Coming (of Christ), and will not be reserved for a single nation or people:

The second of the greatest prophesie, is this. O ye mortal men! For the first was of Himself, that He should come.¹ And this, is from Him, in respect that He will come.² Neither are you to speak the words of this

Testimony in one place, or in one people, but that the Nations of the whole world may know that there is a GOD which forgetteth not the truth of His promise, nor the safeguard of His chosen, for the greatness of His glory. [Five Books of Mystery, p. 394]

In this same session, Uriel warns the two men (at length) to prepare, for the Antichrist is already born and the End Times are at hand. In fact, Uriel associates the reception of Loagaeth by Dee and Kelley with the initiation of the Tribulation.¹⁹

For why? The Lord hath sent His angels already to visit the earth, and to gather the sins thereof together, that they may be weighed before him in the balance of Justice. And then is the time that the promise of God shall be fulfilled. Doubt not, for we are good Angels. [Five Books of Mystery, p. 394]

Later, the Archangel Gabriel elaborates upon the Tribulation, highlighting the advent of the Holy Book (the “Last Prophecy of the World”) and the involvement of Dee and Kelley in the End Times:

But in you two is figured the time to come. For many shall cleave unto the Lord, even at the first call.²⁰ [. . .]

And these are the latter days. And this is the last Prophetie of the World.²¹ Now! Now, shall one King rise up against another, and there shall be bloodshed throughout all the World. Fighting between the Devil his Kingdom, and the Kingdom of Light.

As for you, thus sayeth the Lord: I . . . have delivered unto you the Testimony of my Spirit to Come. For, my Barn hath been long without Threshers. And I have kept my flails for a long time hid in unknown places. Which flail is the Doctrine that I deliver unto you. Which is the Instrument of thrashing, wherewith you shall beat the sheafs, that the Corn which is scattered, and the rest may be all one. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 161]

The last lines of Gabriel’s above speech invoke the image of threshing wheat in a barn as an analogy to the Tribulation and the threshing of the “wheat from the chaff” among human souls. Most important for us here, we see that the Doctrine of Loagaeth is described as the flail that shall be the “instrument of thrashing.”

Returning to Uriel's sermon about the End Times, we find the Archangel reveals what may be the most profound words yet in relation to the Holy Book.

Out of this shall be restored the holy books, which have perished even from the beginning, and from the first that lived.¹² And herein shall be deciphered perfect truth from imperfect falsehood, True religion from false and damnable errors with all Arts, which are proper to the use of man, the first and sanctified perfection. Which when it hath spread a while, THEN COMETH THE END. [Five Books of Mystery, p. 395]

Thus, according to Uriel, the Angels were seeding this "Testimony" into the world through Kelley and Dee. The influence of the Book was to spread among humanity for a time, and then would come the end of the World of Man and the establishment of God's kingdom. (See the final chapter of the Revelation of St. John.)

What is so profound here is Uriel's suggestion that this Book will "restore the holy books" and "decipher . . . true religion." Dee and Kelley encountered several Angels who referred to the Holy Book as a new "Testimony" or "Doctrine"—Uriel included:

Behold, Behold, Mark O. and Behold. Each line hath stretched himself even to his end, and the Midst is glorious to the good, and dishonor to the wicked. Heaven and earth must decay. So, shall not the words of this Testimony. [Five Books of Mystery, p. 328]

The Angel Nalvage also refers to a Doctrine when giving his own explanation of the virtues of the Holy Book:

In our Doctrine there is nothing taught but the state of the world, here, and to come. The prophecies of time, and the knitting up of God his mysteries, opened from time to time, to those that are his sanctified: as testimonies in the Creation and Operation of his Creatures; whereof this Doctrine is a part. The Prophets in their times were not ignorant by revelation of the good will of their Creator. The Apostles, in Christ his Kingdom, were made partakers of the mysteries to come . . . So that this Doctrine is the mysteries of the word of God, sealed from the beginning, now delivered unto man, for that Reformation which must be in One unity established unto the end. | . . . | The fruit of our Doctrine is that God should be praised. [. . .] The very key and entrance into the secret mysteries of God (in respect of His determination on earth), bringing with it reward in the end of eternal glory, which is the greatest Treasure. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 64]

Considering the time and place in which Dee lived, Nalvage is treading on some dangerous religious ground in this speech. He points out that revelations were given to the Prophets of old—from whence we get the Old Testament of the Bible. Then, revelations were opened to the Apostles of Christ—whereby we derived the New Testament of the Bible. Therefore, Nalvage is here suggesting that new prophecies will be revealed through Dee's Holy Book—which would logically result in an entirely new Testament. Several weeks later, Nalvage returns to the subject of this new Doctrine:

And lo, He called you, and you became drunken, and foolish with the spirit of God: And it was said Descend, for he calleth, and hath called. And Raphael that brought up the prayers descended: and he was full with the power, and spirit of God:²³ and it became a Doctrine, such was never from the beginning. [. . .]

This selfsame Art is it, which is delivered unto you as an infallible Doctrine, containing in it the waters which run through many Gates: even above the Gate of Innocence, wherein you are taught to find out the Dignity and Corruption of nature. Also, [you will be]²³ made partakers of the secret judgments of the Almighty to be made manifest, and to be put into execution. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 77]

Later in the journals, Nalvage and the Archangel Gabriel (his superior) are speaking in unison about this same Doctrine:

These things, that is to say, this Doctrine, delivered by us, is of God: and of his mercies granted unto you, which cannot be in vain. And therefore to be performed, for the secret determinations of God are unknown unto us. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 92]

The idea of a brand-new Doctrine or Testament was quite alarming to Christians of Dee's time—especially as the Church was already segmenting into Catholic and Protestant sects. For instance, Meric Casaubon, who published many of Dee's journals in A True and Faithful Relation in 1659, had this to say of the Holy Book:

This Book (had things succeeded) should have been instead of a Bible; as the Al Koran,²⁵ (and much of the same subject), is among the Islamic peoples.²⁶ [. . .] A very effectual way to draw people, under color of a New Law, new lights, and Doctrines . . . from Heaven. [A True and Faithful Relation, VI, p. 10]

This description from Casaubon may be a bit unfair. While the Holy Book is certainly described by the Angels as a Doctrine delivered from God to mankind, they never indicated to Dee and Kelley that it would replace any existing Scripture. Instead, it would “restore” all of the world's holy books (i.e., by removing errors from them that have crept in over generations). This would be much more in line with Dee's Hermetic thinking—as he would have recognized all religions and their scriptures as containing some amount of Truth and some amount of error. He would have been looking for a Universal Religion (akin to Gnosticism) that underlay all existing religions.

The last entity to appear for Dee and Kelley, during the reception of the Holy Book, was the Mother of Angels, Galvah. Before delivering the final page of the Book, Galvah provides the following important information:

Touching the Book, it shall be called Logah: which in your language signifieth Speech from God. Write after this sort L O A G A E T H:²⁷ it is to be sounded Logah. This word is of great signification, I mean in respect of the profoundness thereof. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 19]

Note that Galvah has just named the Holy Book Loagaeth (pronounced “loh-gah”), which signifies “speech from God.” Even though all but the final page of the Book had been transmitted previously, it was never referred to as Loagaeth until Galvah did so. (As we shall see later in this chapter, the Holy Book bears Angelic words other than Loagaeth on its cover. However, these words are not necessarily the proper title of the Book itself.)

In the same session, Galvah also adds:

Happy are they, which are covered with the Pearls of Righteousness, and on whose head there is a Garland of gladness: For unto those belongeth to taste of the Fountain of true wisdom. Is it not written of this book, that it teacheth nature in all degrees? The judgment hereof is Intellectual. [. . .]

How thou art God knoweth: But comfort yourselves in this; that neither this Testimony can perish, neither unto you can remain any slavery. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 20]

As might be expected, only those who “are covered with the Pearls of Righteousness” can gain benefit from the Holy Book of Loagaeth. Uriel made a similar statement (shown previously in this section) when he said that the text of the Holy Book was “glorious to the good, and dishonor to the wicked.”

This would have been a given to Christians like Dee and Kelley, considering the Book's relationship with the End Times and the Revelation of St. John. The Book of Loagaeth, according to this worldview, represents the fountain of God's Wisdom from which only the Chosen are to partake.²⁸

Let Those That Fear God, and Are Worthy, Read

Kelley's First Vision of the Holy Book

On March 24th, 1583, the Archangel Raphael granted Kelley his first vision of the Holy Book of Loagaeth.²⁹ It appeared as a book with forty-eight leaves of gold. (A “leaf” is a sheet of paper—in this case, gold—bound into a book. Each leaf in a book has a front and a back—so there are two pages printed upon it.)

The writing within this Holy Book appeared wet, as if written with fresh blood. (According to Christian tradition, the Celestial Book of Life is written in the Blood of the sacrificed Lamb, or Christ. See the Revelation of St. John, chapter 5, for the Book and the Lamb.) The letters and words themselves were not in English, but written in some kind of hieroglyphic or magickal alphabet that neither Dee nor Kelley had ever seen.

Once Kelley had counted forty-eight leaves in the Book, Raphael replied:

It is finished. One is one [that] " neither is, was, or shall be known. And yet there are just so many. These have so many names, of the so many mysteries that went before. [Five Books of Mystery, p. 263]

Raphael's above statement is certainly obscure. It is only thanks to information given by the Angels in later sessions that it makes any sense at all. Put simply, Raphael is confirming the forty-eight leaves reported by Kelley, but also hinting that there is another leaf that "... neither is, was, or shall be known" (Therefore, the true number of leaves is forty-nine.) Not only this, but this "extra" leaf is, in fact, considered number one of the forty-nine.

Later, the text of the first "unknown" leaf is revealed to Kelley and recorded by Dee (complete with diacritical marks and a few pronunciation notes). However, even then, Raphael reminds the men that the mysteries of the first leaf must remain closed for now:

It is not to be spoken, but in the time of His own time. [Five Books of Mystery, p. 291]

Since the text of Loagaeth is composed of the Words of God, I assume it is the message contained in the first leaf that is "not to be spoken" until the time "of His own time." Because we already know of the Holy Book's relationship to the Book of Revelation, we can assume that "His own time" represents the promised Second Coming of Christ and establishment of the Kingdom of God.

We will learn more about the first leaf of Loagaeth later in this chapter.

Kelley's Second Vision of the Holy Book

On March 26th, 1583, Kelley received his second vision of the Holy Book.³¹ It appeared exactly as it had previously, but this time with a bit more detail. This time, Kelley could see that each page was a huge 49 x 49 Table (forty-nine columns and forty-nine rows). This made for a total of 2,401 cells in each Table—which Kelley described as filled with letters, "... some more than other."³²

The fact that Kelley saw some of the cells with "more [letters] than other" cells indicates that he was already seeing the forty-nine-leaf version of Loagaeth. As recorded later in the journals, the first ("hidden") leaf of the Book contains an entire word in each cell, while most of the remaining forty-eight had only a single character in each cell. Therefore, Kelley was likely seeing the first leaf when he described some cells with "more letters" (i.e., entire words) than the others.

The fact that there are really forty-nine leaves in Loagaeth (rather than the forty-eight originally reported) is confirmed later in the journals. For instance, several days after Kelley's second vision of the Holy Book, Raphael discusses its "49 parts":

As I have said: the 49 parts of this Book—49 voices, whereunto the so many powers, with their inferiors and subjects, have been, are, and shall be obedient.³³ [. . .] Every Element hath 49 manner of understandings. Therein is comprehended so many languages. They are all spoken at once, and severally, by themselves, by distinction may be spoken. Until thou come to the City, thou canst not behold the beauty thereof. [Five Books of Mystery, pp. 296–97]

By "49 voices," Raphael likely means 49 voicings—or speeches—of God. From these forty-nine speeches of the God-Christ can be drawn forty-nine interpretations.³⁴ There are even forty-nine languages contained in the text—though they are all interwoven and spoken at once.³⁵

Obviously, the number 49 (or 7×7) plays a vital role to the Loagaeth system. As the Angel Nalvage explains (after Dee and Kelley had recorded the text of all forty-nine leaves of the Holy Book):

You have 49 Tables: In those Tables are contained the mystical and holy voices of the Angels, dignified. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 64]

Remember that there are two pages for every leaf of a book. Thus, there are technically ninety-eight Tables (each one, forty-nine rows by forty-nine columns) found upon the pages of Loagaeth. However, in the above quote, Nalvage teaches that these are counted as only forty-nine. Each Table, then, has both a front and a back—thereby occupying both sides of a single leaf in the Book.

It is quite interesting to compare Dee's forty-nine Tables of Loagaeth with the thirty-six Tables of Soyga (see chapter 1). Both of them are composed of magickal squares based upon square-root numbers (the product of a number multiplied by itself.) The Tables of Soyga (thirty-six by thirty-six cells) are based upon $6 \times 6 = 36$.³⁶ Meanwhile, Dee's Tables of Loagaeth (forty-nine by forty-nine) are simply the next step in the square-root pattern, based upon $7 \times 7 = 49$.³⁷ The holy number seven plays a major role in the ancient Merkavah traditions of the Jewish people, as well as quite a few of the classical grimoiric texts to which Dee and Kelley had access.³⁸

The Heptarchic mysteries are also based upon this seven-fold design—including the Seal of Truth, Holy Table, the seven Ensigns of Creation, and the forty-nine good Angels.³⁹ As we shall see later in this chapter, the mysteries of Loagaeth are intimately connected with the Heptarchic system through this seven-fold relationship.

Given what the Angels have said about the contents of the Holy Book (the beginning, contents, and end of Time), it is reasonable—as with the Heptarchia—to associate the forty-nine Tables with the Seven Days of Creation. (Technically, the Seven Days—along with a hypothetical “Eighth Day” associated with the End Times—encompass the entire span of the Universe from beginning to end. We are currently living in the Seventh Day of Rest.)

Supporting this, the Mother Galvah makes the following cryptic statement just after delivering the text of the forty-ninth leaf of Loagaeth:

These are those seven. [A True And Faithful Relation, p. 19]

Later in the journals, the Angel Nalvage makes an equally cryptic statement just after delivering the Key to the mysteries of the second leaf:⁴⁰

This is therefore the key of the first seven, according to the proportion of the first Creation. [A True And Faithful Relation, p. 88]

These two statements associate both the second⁴¹ and final leaves of the Holy Book with a mysterious “seven.” (“According to the proportion of the first Creation.”) I suspect they are indications that Loagaeth—from the second to the forty-ninth Tables—encompasses the Seven Days of Creation as depicted in Genesis 1 (plus the dreaded “Eighth Day” of the Tribulation).

Kelley's Third Vision of the Holy Book

On April 6th, 1583, Kelley received what I call the "third vision of the Holy Book."⁴² Of course, Kelley had seen the Book many times by this point—as this occurs after he had recorded forty-eight lines of the first leaf (side A). However, this is the third time Kelley saw something new about the appearance and construction of the Book itself.

Just after the transmission of the forty-eighth line, the cover of the Book was suddenly displayed to Kelley. It was blue in color, and made from a thin, light silk.⁴³ On this cover were the words Amzes naghezes Hardeh. (Note that this is some weeks before Galvah entitles the Book Loagaeth.) Kelley reported that these words signify "The Universal Name of Him that created universally be praised and extolled forever."

However, later in the journals, an Angel named Ave suggests that Enoch's Book was entitled Let Those that Fear God, and Are Worthy, Read.⁴⁴ Dee notes at this point, "The title of Enoch's Books expounded into English." Therefore, it is possible that Ave's version is the more literal translation of the title Amzes naghezes Hardeh.

From the Right Hand to the Left . . . as in the Hebrew Bible

Another important, and unique, feature of Loagaeth is that it is written entirely from right to left. That is, it is unique among Western mystical texts. Meanwhile, it shares this feature with all books written in Hebrew—a Semitic language that also runs from right to left.

Once Raphael showed Kelley his second vision of the Holy Book (where we first see the 49 x 49 Tables full of letters), the Archangel's next action was to draw a series of twenty-one hieroglyphic characters from the pages.⁴⁵ The characters, as recorded in Dee's journal, are the letters of the Angelical alphabet. (I will cover this alphabet in depth in chapter 5.) However, more important now, this Holy alphabet is recorded as running from right (the first letter—Pa) to left (the last letter—Gisg). This is the first indication in the journals that the language is written in the leftward Semitic fashion.

The next indication is found just after Raphael transmitted the first word of the first leaf: Zuresch—a word of seven letters.⁴⁶ Dee then drew a 7 x 7 Table showing the numbers 1–7 (relating to the seven letters of Zuresch) running “backward”—that is, from right to left. (I think perhaps Dee, after hearing the first word was exactly seven letters, drew the 7 x 7 Table in case he was about to receive another magickal square. However, no square was revealed, and Dee left the Table blank except for the numbers 1–7 in the top row.)

I should point out that Dee recorded Zuresch, and all of the words transmitted by Raphael, both in English letters and the usual Western rightward style of writing. Apparently, it is only when the text is written in Angelical characters that it must be written leftward. (The same convention is followed with Hebrew.)

Of course, if a book's text is written leftward, it follows that the pages of the book must do likewise. For instance, take any book written in English,⁴⁷ and lay it facedown so the book's spine is toward your right hand. (You'll be looking at the back cover.) Now, open the back cover so you are looking at the last leaf of the book. If the same book were written in Hebrew, what you just saw as the back cover would have actually been the front cover. And the leaf you saw after opening the cover would contain the first page in the book. The text would begin in the upper-right-hand corner of the paper and run toward the left margin.

Dee's journals highlight this difference in page ordering several times. In one instance, Dee outright states that Angelical reads leftward:

... in my mind it seemeth requisite⁴⁸ that as all the writing and reading of that holy language is from the right hand to the left, so the beginning of the book must be (as it were, in respect of our most usual manner of books, in all languages of Latin, Greek, English, etc.) at the end of the book. And the end, at the beginning, as in the Hebrew Bible. [Five Books of Mystery, p. 411]

Uriel confirmed Dee's observation (on the next page of the journal) by suggesting that Dee's judgment was directed by God above, “He that sayeth, ‘Do this,’ directeth thy judgment.”

After Kelley had recorded most of the Holy Book in the usual rightward fashion (and in English characters),⁴⁹ the Mother Galvah arrived to instruct Dee on writing a “perfected copy.”⁵⁰ In part, this meant the text had to be rewritten in the leftward fashion, so the last page of the book would fall upon what we Westerners consider the “first leaf”:

The first leaf (as you call it) is the last of the book.⁵¹ | . . . | Write the book (after your order) backward, but alter not the form of the letters, I speak in respect of the places. | A True and Faithful Relation, p. 19]

I assume that by “places,” Galvah meant the proper ordering of letters had to be preserved for the words when written leftward as when written rightward. In Angelical, the text would be a mirror image of the text in English, but both texts would sound the same when read aloud. (This is different from Soyga, which actually spelled words backward to form new—but still rightward-reading—words. Such as Soyga itself, which is a reversal of the Greek word Agyos.)⁵²

The Reception of the Forty-Nine Tables

The reception of the Tables of Loagaeth began on Good Friday, March 29th, 1583.⁵³ When Kelley received the text of the forty-nine leaves, he did so by first entering a kind of trance. As he sat gazing into the crystal, Dee records, a “sword of flame” came from the shewstone and thrust into Kelley’s head. The sryer described “a thing immediately creeping within his head, and in that pang became all in a sweat.” He greatly disliked this feeling, which continued for about fifteen minutes before it subsided (or “came to rest”) somewhat.⁵⁴

This process took place each time Kelley sat down to transcribe the language in the Holy Book. It appears to be a form of shamanic ecstasy, and seems to parallel the Christian mystery of the invocation of the Holy Spirit, often associated with speaking in tongues.⁵⁵ Kelley, while in his trance, could read the language within the Book fluently. After each session, the fire would withdraw from his head back into the shewstone—after which he no longer understood the language.

The Archangel Raphael delivered the initial lines of the first leaf of Loagaeth in a very meticulous fashion. With a rod of gold, Raphael pointed to the first cell on the Table in the Holy Book—indicating the word written there in fresh blood. He then spelled the word letter by letter, which Kelley repeated for Dee to record.

Previously, I used this first word—Zuresch—as an example of the Holy Book's leftward style of writing. Since it happens to be the very first word of Loagaeth, we can continue to use it as an example here. What Raphael actually transmitted to the two men was not the completed word, but a string of Angelic letter-names: Ceph (Z), Van (U), Don (R), Graph (E), Fam (S), Veh (C), Na (H).⁵⁶ By working in this manner, there would be a very low error rate in the transmission, and words could be quickly and easily reviewed and corrected later on.

However, with thousands of words to receive, Dee was concerned the project would soon become overwhelming. The first two lines alone had consisted of ninety-eight words transmitted letter by letter, and there were yet forty-seven lines to go on just side A of that Table!⁵⁷ Therefore, Dee asked Raphael if some kind of abridgment of this letter-by-letter method might be used instead.⁵⁸

Apparently, this angered Raphael—as the vision of the Holy Book suddenly vanished from Kelley's sight. After a prayer from Dee, the vision appears to Kelley once more, and Raphael returns to lecture the two men. Apparently because of Dee's "inappropriate" request, the Archangel states that he will not appear in the crystal again until Loagaeth has been transmitted entirely.

However, before leaving, Raphael assures them that his office will remain present. Indeed, the remainder of the Tables (the last excluded) are delivered to the men by "a Voice" coupled with a vision of the Holy Book in the stone. This Voice, then, can safely be considered the voice of Raphael.

Nevertheless, Dee was granted his request for an abridgment to the transmission process. Beginning with line three, the text of the First Table of Loagaeth is delivered word by word, rather than letter by letter. While this took a huge workload off of Dee and Kelley, it does create something of a problem for us today. With the first two lines, we have no doubt as to exactly how the words are to be spelled in Angelical characters—because each letter was named individually. However, with the rest of the First Table, we have only words that Kelley spoke aloud and Dee recorded phonetically.

My own analysis of the text³⁰ suggests that several words are spelled phonetically—depending on how Dee heard each word at the time. Therefore, the same word might appear in different lines of the text spelled in slightly different ways. Yet, in other cases, the spellings do seem to be exact—and Dee even makes notes here and there to help us with proper Angelical spelling or pronunciation. (Any such notes are included with the entries in the Lexicon in the second volume of this work.)

In Forty Days Must the Book Be Perfected

The overall reception of the Holy Book was marked as a magickal operation in its own right. Note that it began on Good Friday (March 29th), and this was not coincidental. Exactly eight days into the reception of the text, the Archangel Uriel appeared to inform the men that there was a time limit on their work:

Behold (sayeth the Lord) I will breathe upon men, and they shall have the spirit of Understanding. In 40 days must the Book of the Secrets, and Key of this World, be written. | . . . | To the end he may see and perform the time of God his Abridgment. [Five Books of Mystery, p. 327]

This is the first of two references to a forty-day period in relation to the reception of the Holy Book. This would seem to make sense. The Old Testament of the Bible records forty days and nights of the Great Deluge, and the same amount of time for Moses' spiritual retreat on Mount Sinai. Moreover, in the New Testament, Jesus is depicted as fasting for forty days and nights during his own spiritual retreat in the wilderness. However, there may yet be a deeper mystery to the forty-day time period associated with Loagaeth.

Notice that Uriel does not mention this forty-day "deadline" until eight days into the process. That means that the total time period of the reception would come to forty-eight days—exactly the number of Tables in Loagaeth whose mysteries the Angels have promised to open. And, as we shall see in a following chapter, the same number as the Angelical Keys used to open those mysteries.)

Forty-eight days from Good Friday (March 29th) puts the deadline at May 8th. Just three days before that time (on May 5th), Uriel appears in the shewstone once again to establish another forty-day period. This time it is for recopying the Holy Book from Kelley's English-lettered originals into a "perfected" copy:

In 40 days more must this book be perfected in his own manner, to the intent that you also be perfected in the workmanship of Him, which hath sealed it.⁶⁰ [Five Books of Mystery, p. 395]

If this "perfected copy" of the Book were completed forty days after the original May 8th deadline, then Dee would have had to complete the project by June 17th. However, this does not appear to be the case in Dee's journals. As we shall see, Dee is later told to begin writing the perfected copy on June 18th. If Dee begins the project on that day, forty days will take him to the very beginning of August.

The perfected copy of Loagaeth must also be written in Angelical characters, as Dee notes after the previously quoted sessions in his journal:

I required the perfect form of the 21 letters, that I might imitate the same . . . in the Holy Book writing, etc. [Five Books of Mystery, p. 398]

And here, in a later conversation Dee had with the Angel Nalvage:

You mean the mystical Letters, wherein the holy book is promised to be written. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 78]

Moreover, as we know, the Book must be written in the Semitic leftward fashion. This perfected version would have to be completed before the Book could be put to practical use.

Dee had many additional questions regarding the construction of the perfected Holy Book. However, the Angels were unconcerned with minor details:

Dee: I was desirous to know whether the book were to be written in paper or parchment; in what color the lines were to be ruled (green or blue, etc.) and of diverse other doubts, necessary to be dissolved. I was careful to have some advisement. [Five Books of Mystery, p. 406]

Uriel: Fulfill those things that are commanded. Form and write thy book after thine own judgment. God His determination is just. Therefore, put to your hands. More than hath been said, and more plainly, cannot be uttered. [Five Books of Mystery, p. 408]

Also, of interest is Dee's eventual observation about the First Table of Loagaeth.⁶¹ Because it contained an entire word—rather than a single letter—in each cell, Dee knew the text would never fit into two 49 x 49 Tables on a single leaf. So, he asked Uriel for permission to write the text without a Table, over several pages. The Archangel accepts this necessary convention. The remaining forty-eight pages, however, do contain Tables.

Begin to Practice in August

The forty-day periods are only one example of the shamanic style of magical timing utilized by the Angels. From the Archangel Uriel, the two men learned that a time had been established for the practical use of the (perfected) Holy Book. It is only at this set time, and not before, that the Mysteries contained within the Tables of Loagaeth will be revealed:

You are chosen by God His mercy to an end and purpose. Which end shall be made manifest by the first beginning in the knowledge in these Mysteries. God shall make clear when it pleaseth Him, and open all the secrets of wisdom when He unlocketh. Therefore seek not to know the mysteries of this book, till the very hour that He shall call thee. For then shall His power be so full amongst you, that the flesh shall not be perceived, in respect of His great glory. [Five Books of Mystery, p. 351]

One is not to be lightened, but all.⁶² . . . for until the 40 days be ended, shalt thou have no[t] one more shew of us. [Five Books of Mystery, p. 352]

Uriel's reference to "the 40 days" should indicate the period that fell roughly between June 18th and August 1st—that is, the period during which Dee was to create the perfected copy of the Holy Book. Therefore, we can assume that the mysteries of the Tables of Loagaeth will be revealed only after the perfected copy of the Book has been written.

Then, the mysteries of the Tables would be revealed all at once (or in a single extended magickal operation).

Dee and Kelley had heard a hint of this “appointed time” previously, from the Archangel Raphael (while the First Table of Loagaeth was in transmission). Apparently, the men were not to repeat the words of the book aloud while writing it—because to speak the words was to invoke the magick. This, Raphael assures the men, would not be desirable:

If you use double repetition⁶³ in the things that follow, you shall both write and work, and all at once, which man's nature can not perform. The troubles were so great that might ensue thereof, that your strength were nothing to prevail against them. When it is written, read it no more with voice, till it be in practice.⁶⁴ All wants shall be opened unto you. [Five Books of Mystery, p. 311]

Apparently, it is dangerous to read the text aloud while writing it. What concerns us here, however, is the fact that Raphael promises there will be a time for the actual practice of Loagaeth, when all “wants” (that is, all questions) will be answered.

Soon after Uriel instructed the men to “seek not to know the mysteries of this Book,” Dee and Kelley made contact with the Angel Illemese, who provided specific information about the “appointed time” in lyrical form:

Illemese: I will sing a short song;
Your doings are of God, your calling great.
Go down and seek the Treasure, and you shall obtain it.
Take no care, for this Book shall be done in 40 days.
Begin to practice in August.⁶⁵ Serve God before.
You shall know all things, with a stroke of the eye.⁶⁶
And so, praise, glory and eternal singing with incessant humility be unto thee, Creator that hath framed, made and Created all things, for ever and ever. Now say you (if you will)
Amen.

Dee: Amen Amen Amen.

Itemese: After the end of forty days, go down for the Treasure. When those forty days are done, then this book shall be finished. The rest of the time until August, is for rest, labor and prayer. [Five Books of Mystery, pp. 357–58]

It is once again Uriel who appears, later in the journals, to reveal more information about the “appointed time” for the practical use of the Loagaeth system:

This book (I say) shall, tomorrow, be finished; one thing excepted which is the use thereof. Unto the which the Lord hath appointed a day. But (because I will speak to you, after the manner of men) see that all things be in readiness against the first day of August next. [Five Books of Mystery, p. 394]

Thus we learn, for certain, that August 1st was the target date for the practice of Loagaeth. As stated previously, that would be roughly forty days after Uriel instructed Dee to begin writing the perfected copy of the Holy Book.

Interestingly, all of this together represents three distinct periods of forty days. During the first period (which began eight days after Good Friday), Kelley received the text of the forty-eight Tables. The second period was one of rest, during which Dee received some answers and clarifications from the Angels. Then, the third period should have comprised the creation of the perfected Holy Book—ending on August 1st and the revelation of the Mysteries.

Begin the Book Next Tuesday—the Mother Galvah

By June 14th (just four days before Dee was to begin work on the perfected Holy Book), the men had not yet received the text of the final—forty ninth—Table. This was withheld, apparently, because it was specifically under the jurisdiction of a female Spiritual Creature who (on June 14th) appeared and took over the transmission process.

Dee first records the appearance of “a Maiden.”¹⁰⁸ She tells the two men that she is far from home, on a journey that will end six or seven weeks in the future. Dee points out (as he had noted previously in the journals) that Angels are unaffected by physical distances. Therefore, it is the time of the Maiden's journey, and not any distance, that establishes its length. If we count forward on the calendar about seven weeks from June 14th, we find ourselves in the close vicinity of August 1st. This is, then, our first veiled clue that this Maiden is associated in some way with the mysteries of the Holy Book of Loagaeth.

The Maiden, in Kelley's vision, continues on her journey and encounters several people along the way. At this point in the journals, the identity of this Maiden is hidden. However, as we shall see later, this vision of the Maiden's journey is directly related to her true identity.

Dee eventually asks the Maiden for her name. She replies that her "name" is not from the human tongue, likely meaning that it is Angelical:

My name is Galva'h, in your language I am called Finis. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 12]

To Trithemius I say, "I am Finis, I am a beam of that Wisdom which is the end of man's excellency."⁶⁹ [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 13]

Finis is Latin for "the end." However, later during the same session, she adds that the name Galvah is not the general Angelic word for "end,"⁷⁰ but is instead used here in a very particular (specific) sense:

Understand my name particularly, and not generally. I speak it to avoid error. Persevere to the end. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 14]

In other words, Galvah is not the true name of this Maiden. It is, instead, a title—relating in some way to her function or office in these transmissions. As we saw previously, Gavlah has appeared to guide Dee and Kelley to August 1st—which is the end of the Loagaeth operation. ("Persevere to the end.") Moreover, as we shall see, it will be her job to reveal the final leaf of the Holy Book to the two men.

On the first day she appeared (June 14th), Galvah took control of the scrying sessions and became Dee's principal instructor on the Holy Book:

Galvah: Begin the Book next Tuesday. Myself will be the director; and as my name is, so I will lead unto the end. All other things use, according to thy judgment and proportion of his Spirit that guideth you. I myself will be the finger to direct thee. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 13]

Note that Galvah tells Dee to begin the Book "next Tuesday"—which would be June 18th. Of course, Kelley had already received forty-eight of the Tables by this point—all transcribed by Kelley from the shewstone in English letters, and written in the Western rightward fashion. Therefore, Galvah must be telling Dee to begin the perfected copy of the Holy Book. This appears to be what Dee assumes as well, and he asks Galvah if she will answer his questions regarding its writing:

Dee: At the beginning to write the Book, shall I require your instructions?

Galah: Do so. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 13]

An example of Galvah's direction regarding the writing of the Holy Book can be found a few pages later—on June 20th, two days after the project began. Here, Dee is given several very Solomonic instructions to follow while he works on the Book—although Solomonic or other traditional magickal timing is not used. Instead, the work is to be done when Galvah inspires Dee to work:

Galah: Labour in the writing of the Book diligently. See thou cleanse thyself on both sides. Be alone while it is done: that is to say, while thou art in doing it. [. . .] In a pure action all things ought to be pure.

Dee: May I be writing every day, and at any time, when it shall come in my mind?

Galah: Ever as thou shalt feel me move thee. I will stir up thy desire.

Dee: How shall I do for the letters? Shall I simply translate the letters as I find them?

Galah: Aye.

Dee: The titles of the sides, are they to be written only in the holy Characters?¹

Galah: As thou sayest [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 23]

Dee goes on to ask several technical questions about his copy of the Holy Book. However, Galvah promises all further questions will be answered during the last seven (of the forty) days before August 1st. More than likely, Dee was expected to have the perfected Holy Book nearly written by that time. Here, Galvah only assures Dee, "Thou shalt want no direction."

The true identity of Galvah is a puzzle that plays out slowly in the journals. During their first session together, when Galvah instructed Dee to begin work on the Holy Book, she also gave him a very cryptic hint to her identity:

The finger of God stretcheth over many mountains. His Spirit comforteth the weakness of many places. No sense is unfurnished where His light remaineth. For understand what I am, and it is a sufficient answer.

[A True and Faithful Relation, p. 13]

Dee had, earlier in this session, mentioned that Galvah did not appear to be one of the Daughters of Light, or their Daughters—the only family of female Angels the two men had met at that point. Just before her short speech above, Galvah confirms that she is not one of those Angels, but that all of the Daughters (and their Daughters) of Light are comprehended⁷² within her:

These also that are called Daughters and Daughters of Daughters are all comprehended in me, and do attend upon True Wisdom. Which if Trithemius mark, he shall perceive that true Wisdom is always painted with a woman's garment. For, [other]⁷³ than the pureness of a Virgin, nothing is more commendable. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 13]

A few sessions later,⁷⁴ one of the Daughters of the Daughters—named Madimi—appeared in the stone. (Dee and Kelley had met her earlier in their Angelic scryings.) During their conversation, Madimi brought her mother to the shewstone to speak with Dee. Madimi's mother, of course, is Galvah. Yet she introduces herself to Dee in this instance by the name I AM.⁷⁵ (We will return to this encounter between Dee and Madimi later in this chapter.)

It would seem that the solution to the puzzle is found on page 14 of A True and Faithful Relation. Here, Galvah appears, in a vision, to be completely entrapped by a surrounding hedge. The Angel Illemese appears briefly and has an exchange with her:

Galvah: Here is no way out.

Illemese: Come, I will do somewhat for you. It is a strange thing that Wisdom cannot find a way through a hedge.⁷⁶ [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 14]

Illemese knocks down part of the hedge and departs the vision. Galvah, then, continues with the allegorical vision—in which she (now revealed as Wisdom) vainly attempts to find lodging amongst corrupt mankind.⁷⁷

This vision is likely a continuation of the very first vision Galvah showed Kelley—concerning her journey toward August 1st.⁷⁸ In that vision, Wisdom also journeyed along her way, encountering humans who either embraced her or could not tolerate her, and those who made good use of her guidance along with those who did not.

Through all of this we learn that “Galvah” is, in fact, Wisdom herself. Throughout Western history, Wisdom has been depicted as a female figure—her symbolism dating back to images of the goddesses Inanna (in Mesopotamia) and Isis (in Egypt).⁷⁹ The Gnostics worshiped her directly as Sophia (Wisdom), and Judaism adopted Sophia as its own Shekinah (the Presence of God). From these, the later Hermeticists developed their concept of the Soul of the World. This is the alchemical Bride of God.

It is my impression that the name Galvah is intended to represent the biblical Omega (The End), as we see it in the first and last chapters of Revelation: “I Am the Alpha, and the Omega. The First, and the Last.” Therefore, Sophia—as Galvah/Omega—represents the passive and feminine aspect of Creation. Her bridegroom—the Christos/Alpha—represents the active and masculine aspect. (In Gnosticism, the union of Sophia and the Christos represents the Holy Spirit, symbolized by the white dove.)

Every Monday Is the Seventh—the “Enochian Sabbath”?

One of the more inexplicable examples of magickal timing in Dee's records concerns the Angels' strange observation of Mondays. Others have classified this as some kind of “Enochian Sabbath”—comparable to the Christian Sabbath on Sunday, or the Jewish Sabbath on Saturday.⁸⁰ In both of these latter cases, the Sabbath is established according to the “Day of Rest” observed by God on the Seventh Day of Creation. (See Genesis 1.) The Jewish custom was to begin the week with Sunday—meaning that Saturday was the last day of the week, and therefore the Seventh Day of Rest. (In fact, this is why we refer to the Day of Rest as the “Sabbath”—because the root of this word is the Hebrew name for Saturn/Saturday—Shabbathai.) For the Christian, the week began on Monday—so that Sunday was the Seventh Day and the Sabbath. (A custom our secular culture follows to this very day.)

I find it hard to judge whether or not the Angels intended Mondays to be a Sabbath in this sense. No special consideration of this day appears in relation to the Heptarchia—which precedes the Loagaeth system in Dee's journals. However, the ordering of planetary forces revealed to Dee in the Heptarchic system does happen to end with Luna—the planet of Monday. (The list runs Venus, Sol, Mars, Jupiter, Mercury, Saturn, and Luna.⁸¹ The Angels did associate this ordering directly with the Seven Days of Creation.⁸²)

Mondays are first mentioned in the journals when Galvah instructs Dee to begin writing the perfected copy of the Holy Book:

Galah: That is to say, while thou art in doing it, henceforth and till the time to come⁸³ use speech with us no more; every seventh day [excepted].

Dee: How shall those days be accounted?

Galah: From Tuesday last: Tuesday being the first of the seven,⁸⁴ and the next Monday, the seventh, and so forth every Monday is the seventh. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 23]

Therefore, Dee was to work on the Holy Book on every day of the week from Tuesday to Sunday. The seventh day, Monday, was one of rest from that work, whereupon Dee might enjoy conversation with the Angels.

Oddly, Dee seems to have disregarded Galvah's instruction to contact the Angels only on Mondays. The next several scrying sessions recorded in his journal are on days other than Mondays.

Mondays are next mentioned in the journals during the period when Dee and Kelley received the forty-eight Angelical Keys. During one session, which took place on a Monday, the Archangel Gabriel delivered the following message from God:

Gabriel: Listen unto my words, for they are a Commandment from above. Behold, (saith He) I have descended to view the Earth, where I will dwell for seven days, and twice seven days. Therefore, let them be days of rest to you. But every seventh day, I will visit you, as Now I do.

Dee: I understand that this rest is, that every Monday, for three Mondays else next after other, we shall await our lessons, as now we receive, and that we may all the rest follow our affairs of study or household matters.

Gabriel: It is so, for one day shall be as a week. But those days you must abstain from all things that live upon the Earth.

Dee: You mean these three Mondays ensuing next. [April 30, 1584. A True and Faithful Relation, p. 114]

The journals indicate that Dee followed the instruction this time, as the next three sessions with the Angels take place on Mondays⁸⁵ (although we are not told if he or Kelley abstained from "all things that live upon the earth" on these Sabbath days). This, unfortunately, is all the journals of Dr. Dee have to say about Mondays.

The Forty-Nine Tables of Loagaeth: What We Know⁸⁶

In this section, we are going to explore the particulars, as recorded by Dee, of some of the forty nine leaves (or Tables) of the Holy Book of Loagaeth. Dee made a few comments in his journals that suggest, to me, that he had more information about the contents of the Tables than has survived to the present day. It is entirely possible that he recorded this information in another journal that has been lost. Therefore, we will have to gather what we can from the Five Books and A True and Faithful Relation. Unfortunately, this means we only know a few details about a few of the Tables:

*Titles of the Tables*⁸⁷

Almost all of the Tables of Loagaeth are headed with titles—one for side A and another for side B of each leaf. Those Tables that do not have specific titles are instead “entitled” with the first words that appear on the page. We have precious little in the way of translations for these titles. In the Lexicon in volume II, I have referenced any of these words that appear similar to known Angelical words. Following are the titles themselves:

Table 1A [zuresch od adaph mal zez geno au marlan oh muzpa|

Table 1B [Oxar varmol] pan sampas os al pans orney andsu|

Table 2A alla opnay qviemmah.

Table 2B zvrebth aho dan lanfal cramza

Table 3A pandobna ox adroh azimcholdrux.

Table 3B dlod Alged zvrem. [“dlod allged zvram”]

Table 4A Zvbla ox arnogan Algers aclo.

Table 4B Danfal gest Axamph acrosta.

Table 5A Gonzahoh alch arge oho Adanch.

Table 5B Zvchastors plohodmax argednon acho

Table 6A Sancgonfal aldex, Ave goh adatqvan,

Table 6B pvrcha ges maxgem adroth vaxox ahó

Table 7A Dam lethgath onzar avoxalgeth

Table 7B chymaxchaberexmapha

Table 8A algebadreth

Table 8B Oylzongs

Table 9A pagesgem

Table 9B Avallacax

Table 10A Gorvemgemps

Table 10B Bacap Laffos

Table 11A Ozimba londorh

Table 11B ylchvzzapg

Table 12A Nopham

Table 12B Signeh gax

Table 13A t-lallaah gethnoh

Table 13B Iaialgh lercol zinrox

Table 14A Pincal vexlan

Table 14B Phin potagar giron

Table 15A Se ger pcopalph

Table 15B Oroh Zvn.compvxoh

Table 16A Dadavar gedrong

Table 16B varahhatraglax pligeo

Table 17A Hidrahal glazipvage

Table 17B Engidexol: neolchiph

Table 18A Polacax cvbagod

Table 18B Zad, ron anchal

Table 19A Gedmarg alpon

Table 19B Bvzalg long arnap

Table 20A Zicha lezach.

Table 20B Drem phingel oxah oho

Table 21A algonzib virbalox

Table 21B Avriz ommaphily geld

Table 22A Cehergol naoal

Table 22B Fâl mexicamps vrom

Table 23A Conar vomfagal

Table 23B Toxarx nerhol gel podnon

Table 24A Zichidpha lvziph

Table 24B Nervag prancan

Table 25A Demphoz prang oho

Table 25B Harodan lempric dohoh

Table 26A Chy pled sagnaroph

Table 26B Draxph intayfalg

Table 27A Vlnen razo vilcomb

Table 27B Vincal leorna rvh

Table 28A Dababel gel zozaah

Table 28B Larvh gohonp babbabor

Table 29A Famfax lep axax.

Table 29B Zirzach bvmazon.

Table 30A Tar, vin gabax orho.

Table 30B Glonz alnoptd.

Table 31A Gemnarv Hvncol.

Table 31B Rynh zichzor chalan.

Table 32A yayger balpaoeh.

Table 32B Car vanal geldons.

Table 33A Vio nilg onpho.

Table 33B Toxhencol ylnorox ziborh.

Table 34A Balvomph chiphan.

Table 34B Vingelg laxih parcan.

Table 35A Zvda vig pancar.

Table 35B Dexvln ghirony gavv.

Table 36A Qnabazeb vil pvdar.

Table 36B Xanpa phaphingeth.

Table 37A Ronlox bapvabap orh.

Table 37B Calbahhah genrox.

Table 38A Dohvnam gethgol axah.

Table 38B Vantavong nargax.

Table 39A Pvlgaao ner gisch.

Table 39B Archi septh lorox.

Table 40A Damponpha nexo gel.

Table 40B Dexph geld onchen.

Table 41A Ellaxor Natoglan

Table 41B Fam filgisch larvouch

Table 42A Cemgealg ralphos

Table 42B Zodagrap zilpob

Table 43A Necprilga lvpvarn

Table 43B Depsah onge phialox

Table 44A Nelziar pol dolgon

Table 44B Parni volchemph

Table 45A Acvirzilg chiparal

Table 45B Alged on chipráxal

Table 46A Clarn nancal

Table 46B Lexrox pingh lardol

Table 47A Zvrzvh genvox

Table 47B Chiromonph zarchan olinorg

Table 48A Calgs sedph panglox

Table 48B Bapporgel bvrioldepnay

Table 49 N / A (See note below.)

Note: Table 49 was not given its own title. See later in this chapter for a full explanation of the reception and contents of the final leaf of Loagaeth.

The image of the "Son of God, in the bosom of his father, before all the worlds" brings to mind, once again, the first chapter of the Book of John—where both God and the Logos (Word) existed together, as One, before all of Creation.

We already know that the entire Holy Book is supposed to contain the words of the Logos/Christos, who used the words to create the Universe, Time, and all of the contents of both. Here, Nalvage reveals that the First Table of Loagaeth is, especially, reserved for the Christos Himself. It contains the archetypal patterns upon which the birth, life, and death of Jesus would later be based. (I further suspect that the pattern for the entire Book of Loagaeth is indicated here as well.)

Therefore, the Loagaeth magickal system has no method of opening the mysteries of the First Table. However, there are several clues to its nature recorded in Dee's journals—given by Kelley as he recited the words from the Book. The reception of the entire first leaf is recorded in Dee's Fifth Book of the Mysteries, and it is the only Table of the Holy Book to contain entire words, rather than single characters, in its cells. Because Kelley could understand the language during these sessions, he would often make comments on the definitions (or "significations") of the words. (Raphael even tells Kelley, on occasion, to cease explaining the definitions of the words as he spoke.⁹⁰ After all, the mysteries of the First Table were supposed to remain closed!)

Of the nearly 4802 words in the First Table (2401 cells on the front, and the same number on the back), we only have a few precious definitions to work with. Yet these few words are fairly telling about the contents of the text itself.

For example, one of the words (Gascampho) is defined as "Why didst thou so?—as God said to Lucifer." Another word (Donasdogamatastos) indicates "the furious and perpetual fire enclosed for the punishment of them that are banished from Glory," while yet another (Padgze) means "justice from Divine Power without defect." Therefore, one might assume that Lucifer's rebellion in Heaven is described or referenced in this text, along with his sentencing by God afterward.

There are also other clues to such pre-Genesis events in the text. One word (Amgedpha), for example, translates as "I will begin anew."

(Qabalistic tradition holds that our Universe was not the first attempt at Creation. Or, perhaps, this phrase indicates God's rebuilding of his Kingdom after the war against Lucifer. Yet again, maybe it is a word Lucifer himself spoke after being cast down?) There is also a word (Galsagen) that indicates the creation of the Angel of the Sun by God. (This could be a reference to the Archangel Michael,⁹¹ who is credited in Christian tradition with the defeat and casting-down of Lucifer.)

There also appear to be some elements of the biblical Genesis in the text. One word (Pola) translates as "Two Together"—which may be a reference to Adam and Eve before their separation into two bodies, if it is not in reference to the Waters of the Abyss before their division. There is also a word (Apachana) that indicates the "slimy things made of dust"—reminiscent of the Fifth and Sixth Days of Creation, where God brought forth "creeping things" from the sea and earth.⁹² Another word (Tohcoth) encompasses "all the number of faeries" (or spirits)—who, according to Jewish legend, were created on the twilight of the Sixth Day of Creation.

The only reference to Christ in this Table that made it into Dee's records is a word (Iurehoh) that indicates "what Christ did in Hell." This is a reference to an obscure Christian legend in which Christ—during his three days in the Tomb—descended into Hell.⁹³ While there, he literally stormed the place—smashing open gates, knocking down bridges, and liberating a large number of souls who had been wrongly imprisoned there.⁹⁴ This is a controversial legend, mentioned in passing in the Apostles' Creed.

There are also two words (Samhampors and Semhaham) that hint at some relationship between the Loagaeth system and the Qabalistic seventy-two-fold Name of God—called in Hebrew Shem haMephoresh (the Name of Extension).

A couple of words even mention Heptarchic Angels (who were likely heavily involved in the Seven Days of Creation). One Angel mentioned is the Angelic Prince of Tuesday, Befafes. In this Table of Loagaeth, the word Befas appears—which Dee notes is the vocative form of Befafes' name. (This means that someone in the text is addressing Befafes directly.) Another Heptarchic Angel—the King of Sunday, Bobogel—seems to figure into the word Bobagelzod. (Dee does not record if this is also a vocative case.)

Of course, all of these Angelical words are included in the Angelical Lexicon in the second volume of this work.

Beyond this, Kelley reported some interesting information concerning several lines of the text. After recording line 23 of side A of the First Table, Dee records:

There are no points [in line 23], neither in the last before [i.e., line 22]. They be parcels of Invitations very pleasant to good Angels. Before [i.e., line 21] was, as it were, a preface of the creation and distinction of Angels, etc.⁹⁵ [Five Books of Mystery, p. 312, footnote]

Therefore, we learn that lines 22 and 23 are parts of invitations to good Angels. The line before these, number 21, is the preface to the creation of Angels. Then, after the twenty-sixth line was transmitted, Kelley made note that all of these lines—21 through 26—appertain to good Angels.⁹⁶

This is all that is recorded of the mysteries of the First Table of Loagaeth. After Raphael delivered the first line of this leaf, he told Dee and Kelley:

I teach. Let this lesson instruct thee to read all that shall be gathered out of this book hereafter. [. . .] It shall be sufficient to instruct thee. Farewell. [Five Books of Mystery, p. 291]

I feel this applies equally to the entire First Table (sides A and B). Organizing and analyzing the words provided there is likely key to distinguishing the text of the other Tables. Because the other Tables have a single letter in each cell, the words all run together without spaces between them.⁹⁷ We would have to recognize basic words—and compounds—from the First Table, in order to distinguish them in the later Tables.

Second Table:

The Angel Nalvage had a few words to say about the second Table, just after he delivered the translation (or “English sense”) of the Angelical Key needed to open it:

It is the sense in your tongue of the holy and mystical Call before delivered: which followeth in practice for the moving of the second Table, the Kings and Ministers of Government. [. . .]

This is therefore the key of the first seven, according to the proportion of the first Creation. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 88]

Therefore we know that the second Table of Loagaeth represents the “Kings and Ministers of Government.” In this light, I would assume that the “first seven” indicates the seven “Spirits of God”—the seven planetary Archangels who were the principal active forces during the Seven Days of Creation.⁹⁸ It is probable, then, that the second Table relates in some way to the Archangels who govern Creation.

This fits well with what we already know of Loagaeth. The first, unattainable, Table incorporates events that took place “before the worlds”—from the blueprints of the Christ saga, to the creation of the Angels, and even the rebellion and fall of Lucifer. The second Table, then, would initiate the Creation as seen in Genesis 1.

Fourth Table:

The journals record nothing about the mysteries of the fourth Table until the Angelical Keys are revealed. At that point, the Archangel Gabriel states that this Table (and its Key) is “the first of nature, and the beginning of your being in body.”⁹⁹ It is likely, then, that this Table relates to (or incorporates) the creation of Adam in Genesis 2. However, because this information was revealed with the Keys, I will save further discussion on this point for chapter 3, when we discuss the Key of this Table.

Ninth Table:

Table 9, side A, is the Table that appears in the front of A True and Faithful Relation, labeled as “A specimen of the Tables or Book of Enoch. etc.” This Table is entitled “Pagesgem.”¹⁰⁰

The Pagesgem Table is special in many respects. It is, by far, the most unique and fascinating Table in the entire Holy Book—making it little wonder why Casaubon chose it as a sample for the front of his A True and Faithful Relation. Most notably, this Table possesses four 7 x 7 number-squares in the four outer corners of the grid. Surrounding the cen-

Ε76776ζΩ

(Pagesgem)

1234567sednachsenazclanzabvachodangahzvcha2345678
 2134567lathnaclongatoxardnachaphodolphaho3245678
 3214567aichanvahgenodalzachenachsenazcladon4325678
 4321567orgednachalzanchalabvzachefnoxadnar5432678
 5432167vcitiblahnoxdaigephaldvrganzachyoxa6543278
 6543217plazengathaldextohvorthangephadong6754328 7654321nazaldahzananzaolndanqalahnvonroxap8765432 axarmarlohnotaxvargemnatophadolgemphadondchadon7ah parcnephnochadnadnolclazangehozadmachvaldehadarged volzangephaclanzacnoxarnahvohadroncpayadnahvotargc pragednolqanzancloaxarnachovongangaprahlednaxorah vvnzangephazolmahzvreblohaclaxnochaapargensanolsa vaxargempadolzachephaxardrahgednaclznvartcsnoclar radoxgggrazaclanvongiblesadrvgahvolaibloahacharse algemenohadnacodvonox9121234aedaeonodonzachadnaca aevargednopahoadras781BAGAF56cagafvichapnadoxard delchansanoxahpeax61BAGAF1BAG7alghavomfangetoxarg vorgemvagehadotof5A65432176543A89faplothagethnoga acladaxvarteohna41A65432176543GA9taoradantageladaa arhanzacheephah3F666543217654333Afbalzanchadaxorg nolzadadrapahx2A777aueauaxar77712bnlbvzanchahoda ztblacheephango1A1115BnaBvcB1666BA3vohvlangesanolsa algadnaclansam91B222000d0a0am555AB4vandabrahammac domzubladaxvro8BA333gxaRRReth444GA5nlzangephaxarg algednopelgeta7AG444aB0RN060d333AG6gochanaladaphna pagentaphengoh6GA555nga000pna222FA7incongoparaxarg alzadchardaxol15AF666ddGnGaGaql11AF8oolaslaphanagl plvdnachanpoon4FA777a0ox0am0a777IA9onphalgephalze orchanzandalala31111qantalget666B1ancardaxadmache ondimate8dohox2B222345671234555A2coeoplaxvargeta apzagensodanolon1BF23456712345AA36dplzachanzangeh myclahhvdrahonona9A23456712345F4analolhadganverte gongergalaxaiotaxx8BAGAF1BAG15oxdogzadnaahziblah fantogapvargemaltaz76AFA1BAG766langcolzadnahgebar arlagvagephadednolac5432198fadoxahrhodnocapvargo nolzadnachephalddemacheolchadnadoxahnepacheldaxor valgedadrvxadnognlaphzvlgagblonzancaanacnarsanol apransanadarcholzadnahachirahdoxalddgahzangephnox orcladorvorblemadaradontagelaxarohpronalgarozargefa laxardroamnochondancilaxazvrbbalohadeodaxorgephals argladroadronclanadinchaadranclhghdgaochadnacho valchepnadoxargempnaphealbvdagedldhaxargehnotals
 2345678|hahgl1fafrangehnoxaldehgebladahorha7654321
 3245678loadanfadontalmahochanfanoxalgethvo6543217
 3215678gempnadoxarchansanapvradzdnolatonasa5432167
 5432978|englorzabmvychaaphinodalzadcharzahod4321567
 6543278|aglancladonvanrabldoxagephacldadnoh3214567
 7654328gethvdradolziblxavorchapnachaxalldla2134567
 8765432noxtadgmaolzangeolchadnaphavonronge1234567

The pagesgem Table (or Table 9A) is unique in Loagaeth

ter of the grid, in a large clockwise circle, are the numbers 1 through 9 repeating. Within the circle are the numbers 1 through 7 written in triplicate (111, 222, 333, etc.) in a counterclockwise pattern. The rest of the squares within the circle are filled with capital letters (I, B, A, G, A, F, and A repeating).

Furthermore, the very center of the Table displays the name of the Heptarchic Prince of the Sun and Sunday—Bornogo—in a star pattern.

(The name is written once vertically, once horizontally, and twice in opposing slants. All four share the central cell—the letter N—and therefore make an eight-pointed star.)

B			B			B
	O		O		O
		R	R	R
B	O	R	N	O	G	O
		O	O	O
	G		G		G
O			O			O

Outside of the central circle and the four number-squares in the corners, the rest of the Table is filled with letters as usual. Unique is the fact that this is the only Table in the Holy Book to incorporate numbers with the text.

Nineteenth (or Eighteenth?) Table:

On April 15th, 1583, Kelley was at work transcribing what Dee called the eighteenth leaf of Loagaeth.¹⁰¹ However, it is unclear if Dee was counting the First “hidden” leaf in this case. He sometimes described the second leaf as the “first,” because it represented the first accessible Gate of Wisdom. Therefore, there is some possibility that, on April 15th, Kelley was actually working on Table 19.

Dee notes that this leaf was “of the spirits of the earth.” (Hinting that Dee may have had more information on the contents of each leaf of the Holy Book than has survived.) In this session, we actually get to meet these Earth spirits. During his transcription work, Kelley made the mistake of reading some of the Angelical text aloud. Three or four spirits appeared:

... and thereupon suddenly at his side appeared three or four spiritual creatures like laboring men, having spades¹⁰² in their hands and their hair hanging about their ears, and hastily asked Edward Kelley what he would have, and wherefore he called them. [Five Books of Mystery, p. 348]

ΣΖΩΛΞ ΓΟΞΕΙΤΩ

(Gedmagr Alpon)

sedontagontagnicoplagnocclaxymna,hausedneophaloxed vtraxtagintolantaxar,ag,oragno,et,honodant,identane ophragnagedot,hagaxar,adensoc,erion,zar,hadnonan,zach vldox,iden,zahentol,et,axar,er,hast,er,dydan,zagathnol,z plachast,ed,ixnn,at,iaq,el,ivdr,axc,tdn,agen,adn,ag,ar,ah aplaxat,ia,ent,ad,il,nn,xal,er,ahaz,ar,rah,nol,zad,er,ah,zo aplaxana,ent,ia,xad,ho,la,dax,val,zon,ac,la,xybl,ax,tor,po,zan y,nt,agno,cha,iro,xad,il,tana,ra,frange,ent,ale,cl,ad,ox,ti,ba,xn
y,nt,al,od,du,dax,ome,ro,tant,al,ax,vd,amann,ox,ar,dax,od,y,gnoc al,or,zan,ent,er,nal,cl,ax,od,ax,tane,br,ach,ad,ol,zach,ne,dol,tax vdr,ox,ady,oz,at,ag,na,xy,gn,ol,taly,pro,ssod,iv,x,ne,od,anne,org av,ol,se,dno,cl,axy,bl,ax,tor,er,napi,igant,ox,ar,ton,ag,rd,ot,hap,la veg,or,sag,v,ix,ad,ro,ad,ent,ag,eph,hol,z,ach,er,ant,ay,pl,ax,no v,lan,zar,has,pl,ax,tor,och,al,zady,nd,an,oc,er,ad,or,yd,noph,ros zan,vax,y,zabul,an,ant,agno,xad,ar,ne,ay,d,ax,er,ol,yd,noc,v,ar y,nt,oz,ax,yl,z,ad,non,apl,ant,ag,os,yd,ra,x,er,nal,de,vox,tor,er pl,al,ba,al,er,nd,och,ast,er,ob,az,v,ld,ax,tor,och,er,ad,aph,ant,ga,h r,ax,tal,ge,th,ne,oc,rd,anta,han,ld,ne,cha,ro,x,pl,ax,tor,er,ox,na,h ns,ant,al,gr,ant,ag,na,cho,x,ad,er,ant,ax,er,v,az,ant,er,z,ant,er y,nt,ix,ad,v,dr,ax,tor,hap,ax,tor,ax,ton,v,ng,at,ne,och,al,ma,d,ox,y,ba de,va,nt,an,al,yn,z,ande,od,ia,ph,al,pr,an,z,ed,noc,h,al,ma,ay,po,rsac the,an,z,ad,x,vs,er,ont,ant,ox,ac,lo,xy,d,ior,han,ox,ar,d,ox,le,pa,th er,ha,dno,cha,nt,ant,ox,al,z,ach,ar,pr,as,ma,ha,ar,nal,d,ox,la,pr,io vd,ant,ol,ge,th,ana,nn,og,ra,phy,dno,cha,ry,ns,ld,gn,ox,tal,zad,ne,ah
y,d,ol,ax,ap,rox,tan,ox,il,ge,na,xv,nt,ax,noc,y,ns,ant,ag,et,al,d,ro,x pr,ich,ast,or,z,ant,al,ge,os,qu,ad,noc,h,an,z,ach,ba,cl,ax,tor,er,ol,an,d am,un,z,ar,cl,ax,na,tor,pl,axy,dno,er,an,v,an,s,er,na,go,ry,st,ax,ol,ap,ra,d nol,ed,nap,ra,cast,ag,on,z,v,ro,dar,han,z,an,oc,he,fo,ros,al,d,or,ab,i n,al,z,ach,ne,ld,ro,th,am,v,ant,ag,nod,ox,y,sl,onn,od,vm,ag,v,nt,ag,o il,z,ich,as,loss,onn,och,ar,bach,vont,an,va,rah,vong,at,so,vont,ax v,ich,ad,nol,an,z,ad,cha,pon,ar,ox,al,d,rex,tap,an,z,an,oy,dna,har,s ach,ent,lo,hy,dnod,ac,lex,ar,ge,na,ne,ld,dond,ar,z,al,d,rox,al,ax nag,er,th,ex,ap,rd,du,dal,oor,ien,z,al,ox,ed,ox,z,ing,la,ax,il,so vant,op,as,ma,gr,ay,nt,lay,er,do,rag,er,yn,z,er,ion,z,an,ox,tal,z al,chy,nal,axy,dno,cl,had,nar,hex,y,sl,ad,not,an,z,hy,nt,ag,noc,a al,ge,al,yon,an,ay,lar,pro,dant,ag,er,nad,nar,cho,al,chy,z,ant,ax,or,na v,lon,z,ach,ar,le,d,z,ad,rx,dap,ra,xol,y,ns,ant,af,ach,er,son,ox,ad,na cha,z,al,d,ent,ant,ap,ox,y,rl,oz,ant,ex,ad,nn,z,an,v,ol,lay,ech n,ach,an,z,ach,er,th,y,dno,cha,er,nach,an,z,il,ben,ade,ph,z,ant,ol,ax,do av,ox,ad,nac,nast,er,an,yd,nol,ad,ro,x,ach,ap,ar,ab,ut,ax,tor,er,n,ap v,iz,ac,oz,nad,or,z,ad,pl,ax,ac,ap,not,ag,na,er,oh,had,noc,hor,er,ny,do pl,ax,tor,er,il,z,ach,er,nd,och,ah,y,nt,ash,de,n,z,ad,noc,had,ax,ar,ge,th,a al,z,ach,y,dno,cl,ent,ant,an,fo,x,al,el,d,ev,lar,bad,er,xm,er,han,z,ac,a no,bv,lay,er,dnot,ia,ph,al,ge,er,rd,ia,xy,bl,th,ea,er,ce,x,ag,ed,och ge,or,ga,al,chy,n,z,ach,hann,ata,x,ar,ach,vol,z,un,och,al,z,y,nt,ag,nal ya,z,an,ga,fax,vont,ag,nat,ap,er,od,an,z,ac,il,d,chy,d,ant,ant,an,et al,dv,zach,ar,ab,v,ld,vol,haz,od,h,go,rd,ana,li,ge,op,al,axy,dno,cl er,ox,tal,ge,th,ana,z,ad,noc,il,ap,axy,n,ax,ar,ban,z,an,hav,tal,z,ar yon,appa,ine,il,z,ac,lex,v,nt,ap,er,d,rox,ac,lon,z,an,od,er,z,ach,er,la

The Gedmagr Alpon Table (or Table 19A). I ca may represent the element of Earth.

Kelley, of course, insisted that he had not intended to call them. Dee agreed, saying that a prayer spoken only to get "the sense thereof" was not a true prayer. At this, the annoyed spirits attacked Kelley -leaving a red circular welt on his skin. During the commotion, Dee grabbed a wand and heroically banished the spirits.

I find it very interesting that this Table should relate to the spirits of the Earth. As I pointed out previously, the entire Book of Loagaeth relates to the seven biblical Days of Creation.¹⁰⁴ As we shall see, the final thirty Tables collectively represent the Seventh Day of Rest. That means the first nineteen Tables should encompass the first Six Days of Creation—beginning with the Divine Source in the First Table and ending with the completed Universe in the nineteenth.

It is, therefore, not surprising to find the spirits of the Earth in the last Table associated with the six days of active Creation. This indicates that the occult forces represented by the Tables of Loagaeth do indeed run from the highest divinity in the first leaf to the lowest and most earthly forces in the final leaf—in a fashion similar to both the Tables of Soyga and the Jewish fifty Gates of Binah.¹⁰⁴

*Tables 20 to 49:*¹⁰⁵

The last thirty Tables of the Book of Loagaeth are set somewhat apart from the previous nineteen. As a group, Tables 20–49 represent the Gates into the Thirty Aethyrs that extend from God's Throne to Earth.¹⁰⁶

By "Aethyrs," Dee means to indicate the various levels of the Firmament, or the Heavens. (This is the root of our modern word ether—as used to describe the "etheric plane," or spiritual realm.) If we look at chapter 1 of the Book of Ezekiel, we see the plane of the Firmament (the sky or Heavens) upheld by the four Kherubic Archangels. The same Firmament appears as a "sea of glass" (a description of the sky) in the fourth chapter of the Book of the Revelation.

The Heavens that extend between God and Earth are counted as seven by Jewish mysticism. This descends from Chaldean and Babylonian sources, which associated the Heavens with the orbital spheres of the seven ancient planets. (The lowest Heaven corresponded with the "planet" closest to Earth—Luna—and extended all the way to the farthest planet—Saturn. Beyond Saturn was a cosmic barrier between the Divine and natural realms marked by the band of fixed stars.)

Later biblical traditions reinterpreted these seven Heavens in various ways. Most significantly, the ancient Gnostics (depending on sect) described anywhere from thirty to 365 Heavens!

It was the thirty-Heaven Gnostic cosmology that apparently reached Dee¹⁰⁷ and found itself embedded in the Loagaeth system. We know that the First Table of the Book represents the Highest God (the Logos), and that the Creation of the Universe is outlined in the text of the eighteen Tables that follow. Table 20, then, must address a completed and working Universe, and therefore correspond to the Seventh Day of Creation. The rest of the final thirty Tables follow suit—although Table 49 stands out and will be discussed later in this chapter.

The Thirty Aethyrs contained within Tables 20 through 49 run in order from the highest and most Divine Heaven (called Lil by Dee's Angels) to the lowest and most earthly Heaven (called Tex).¹⁰⁸ However, this "stacked" illustration of the Aethyrs is merely an intellectual model—based upon Jewish and Gnostic convention. In practice, the thirty Aethyrs described by Dee's Angels are set over various geographical locations—called "Parts of the Earth." Thus, these Heavens actually permeate one another, rather than existing as "highest to lowest" in the sense of Newtonian space-time.

Technically, this is also an aspect of Merkavah mysticism, as can be seen in the Book of Enoch the Prophet (1 Enoch), in which the patriarch not only explores the Seven Heavens but also astrally visits several geographical locations.¹⁰⁹ The same is found throughout the biblical Book of Ezekiel.¹¹⁰ In Dee's case, each of the Thirty Aethyrs contained three Parts of the Earth (except for the lowest, Tex, which contained four¹¹¹). Angelic Governors set over the nations in those Parts could be contacted, and the people of those nations could be observed by opening the Gate (Table) of the appropriate Aethyr.

I consider the Parts of the Earth system to be an example of the kind of magick one can work with the Book of Loagaeth. However, our purpose here is to explore the Holy Book itself. Magickal systems based upon it will follow in a later work. In this chapter I have only included what has already been said of the Aethyrs and the Parts, plus I have added the names of the Aethyrs to the Lexicon.¹¹²

Meanwhile, for ease of reference, I will here offer a list of the Thirty Aethyrs and the Tables of Loagaeth with which they correspond:

01. Lil	Table 20	16. Lea	- Table 35
02. Arn	Table 21	17. Tan	Table 36
03. Zom	- Table 22	18. Zen	Table 37
04. Paz	- Table 23	19. Pop	- Table 38
05. Lit	- Table 24	20. Chr	- Table 39
06. Maz	- Table 25	21. Asp	Table 40
07. Deo	- Table 26	22. Lin	Table 41
08. Zid	- Table 27	23. Tor	- Table 42
09. Zip	- Table 28	24. Nia	- Table 43
10. Zax	- Table 29	25. Uti	- Table 44
11. Ich	- Table 30	26. Des	- Table 45
12. Loe	- Table 31	27. Zaa	- Table 46
13. Zim	- Table 32	28. Bag	- Table 47
14. Uta	- Table 33	29. Rii	- Table 48
15. Oxo	- Table 34	30. Tex	- Table 49

Forty-Ninth Table:

As mentioned previously in this chapter, the Mother Galvah appeared to Dee and Kelley in order to bring them to the end of the Loagaeth transmission. As such, it was within her jurisdiction alone to reveal the text of the forty-ninth—or final—leaf to Dee and Kelley. Like the first (“hidden”) Table, the text of the forty-ninth leaf is also comprised of whole words. However, it is unique in that it is not made of two 49 x 49 Tables, but (as we shall see later) of five small Tables of twenty-one letters each.

Just after Galvah reveals the name of the Holy Book as Loagaeth, she turns to the subject of the forty-ninth Table:

The first leaf (as you call it) is the last of the book.¹¹³ And as the first leaf is a hotchpotch without order; so it signifieth a disorder of the world, and is the speech of that Disorder or Prophesie. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 19]

This quote has caused some confusion among modern Enochian students. Galvah here suggests that the last leaf of the book would have been called the “first leaf” by Dee. Remember our previous discussion of the “leftward” direction in which the Holy Book is written (like a Hebrew Torah). Thus, if Dee opened up the Book to what he considered the "first leaf" by Western standards, he would find himself looking at the last page of the Book—containing Table 49.

This "first leaf" (really the last!) is then described as "a hotchpotch without order" that signifies a "disorder of the world." In the margin, Dee notes: "I understand not this unless it be the first leaf, being indeed the last, is of the wicked hellish one." This is a reference to the Antichrist, who (according to Dee's belief) would rule the world during the End Times to come. This seems to be confirmed several pages later, when Galvah elaborates slightly on this "hotchpotch":

Thou beginest in the world to look up to Heaven: So was it begun in earth to look up to the doing above. The last life is Hotchpotch of the wicked in the World, and damned in Hell. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 24]

So, leaf 49 of the Holy Book represents the "last life," and a time when the wicked of the world and the damned in Hell would create chaos (i.e., the Tribulation and following Armageddon). The final leaf of Loagaeth, like the final book of the Bible, would necessarily comprehend the reign of the Antichrist, along with his defeat and the establishment of the Kingdom of God. (See the Book of Revelation, chapters 13–22.)

Galah finally transmits the text of leaf 49 on June 18th, 1583.¹¹⁴ First, she points out that Dee and Kelley have only received forty-eight of the Tables so far. She then proceeds to deliver the text of her Table:

Write the 49[th]. You have but 48 already. Write first in a paper apart:

Loagaeth feg lovi brtnc

Larzed dox ner nagzilb adnor

[Now seas appear]¹¹⁵

doncha Larb vors hirobra

exi vr zednip taiip chinrvane chermach lendix nor zandox. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 19]

During the transmission of the above text, Kelley also described the vision of Galvah he saw in the crystal. This vision has provided some confusion for Enochian scholars over the years—although what we have learned of Galvah previously in this chapter may throw some light on the subject.¹¹⁶

As she spoke those words, Galvah's head glowed so brightly it could not be looked upon, and the light would flash brighter each time she spoke. This would be recognizable to Christians and artists as a "halo"—a Divine Glory said to surround the heads of Prophets, Saints, and Angels as often depicted in Christian iconography. This is understood as the Presence of God—or the Holy Spirit. (See Exodus 33:14 and 34:29–30.) As we know Galvah is the Shekinah (Divine Presence), it makes sense that she would manifest such a halo while speaking the powerful words of her Table.

There were also two further beams of light that entered Galvah during her transmission, adding themselves to the light of the halo. These three sources of light seem to be significant to the text itself. This is suggested as, later in the same session, Galvah reveals part of the mysteries of the words she has transmitted:

There are only the words of the first leaf.¹¹⁷ [. . .] In them is the Divinity of the Trinity, the Mysteries of our Creation, the age of many years, and the conclusion of the World. Of me they are honored, but of me, not to be uttered: Neither did I disclose them myself: For, they are the beams of my understanding, and the Fountain from whence I water. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 20]

Galah's "beams of understanding" are likely the three beams of light—or halos—from the vision. Here, we learn that they are related to two threefold concepts: on one hand, the Trinity (whom Galvah credits for the words of her Table), and on the other, the Creation, age, and conclusion of the world.

Therefore, in some sense, leaf 49 is a compendium of all that precedes it in the Holy Book. Note that it begins with the title of the Book—Loagaeth—which (as far as I am aware) is the only place in the entire Book this word appears.¹¹⁸ I also notice that there are only three capital letters in the text, and all of them are L—which is Angelical for "The First."¹¹⁹ Therefore, we have three distinct sentences here, probably encompassing the Trinitarian mystery hinted at by Galvah.

Soul of the World

Also notable in the vision are the appearance of seas and all the beasts of the earth. As we can see, Dee recorded the appearance of the seas in the middle of the text of leaf 49, between the words adnor and doncha. This, according to Dee's notes, would be just before the second beam of light entered the Mother.

Then, just after that second beam, all the "Beasts and Creatures of the World" appeared in the shewstone. I would assume they arose from both the earth and the seas around Galvah, in a manner reminiscent of the appearance of animals in the first chapter of Genesis.¹²⁰ These hordes of animals made threatening gestures toward Kelley—as one might expect of any wild beast. However, they would then turn toward Galvah and fawn upon her.

I believe what we have in this vision is, in fact, an image of the Soul of the World—the version of the Sheckinah or Sophia most familiar to Hermeticism. Galvah is Mother Nature, and we see her in that role in Kelley's vision.

Consider, also, that Table 49 embodies the lowest of the thirty Aethyrs, called Tex. This is the one Aethyr that contains four different Parts (rather than three)—probably symbolic of the physical realm. It is therefore fitting that the Table associated with Tex should embody the Soul of Nature and the physical world itself (the end product of the Seven Days of Creation).¹²¹

However, there was also a down side to this vision of Galvah. As she warned, the forty-ninth Table is “a hotchpotch without order” that signifies “a disorder of the world.” Perhaps because of the inclusion of the End Times in the mysteries of this Table, the creatures Kelley saw in the stone were predominated by loathsome things like serpents, dragons, toads, and “all ugly and hideous shapes of beasts.”

This is common in medieval magickal texts like the Goetia, where infernal spirits appear in hideous shapes—often composite forms made of serpents, toads, dragons, and the like. These texts warn that the horrible countenances of these creatures can be stressful to the mind of the exorcist. Kelley, according to Dee's record, seems to have experienced this during this aspect of Galvah's vision:

Note, also, that the manner of the fiery brightness was such, and the grisly countenances of the Monsters was so tedious and grievous and displeasing to Edward Kelley that partly the very grief of his mind and body . . . such grievous sights necessary to be exhibited with the Mysteries delivering unto us, had in a manner forced him to leave off all. But I again with reasonable exhorting of him, and partly thanks to¹²² the providence and decree Divine, wrought some mitigating of this grief and disquieting. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 191]

The view of such dark chaotic (even infernal) forces as fundamental to the physical world is a very Gnostic one. In fact, both Gnosticism and the Qabalah teach that the physical world (as we know it) came about only after Adam's fall from the celestial Eden. The physical world of suffering, in this view, is an intermixing of Divine Light and the earthly demonic shells that attempt to obscure it. (A concept illustrated rather well here in Galvah's vision of the forty-ninth leaf.)

The concept of the End Times, of course, is the rectification of Adam's Fall, and the re-elevation of the world back to the celestial Paradise. Therefore, the entire process of Creation comes full cycle here in leaf 49 of the Holy Book—the final product of 7 x 7. Nature in all Her winding chaos is here, as well as the World of Man and its conclusion. Later in the journals, Galvah would provide a further clue in this direction:

One thing I will teach thee. The End is greater than the Beginning, or the Midst. For the End is witness of them both, but they both cannot witness of the End. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 27]

The End is the final result—or product—of the Beginning and Middle. In this sense, the End (or end result) always encompasses the whole of what led to it. (Consider this in relation to the First Table, which contains the blueprints—or potential—for all that will come after it.) This fits well with Galvah's previous description of the words of the forty-ninth leaf: "In them is the Divinity of the Trinity, the Mysteries of our Creation, the age of many years, and the conclusion of the World."

After Galvah had completed her vision and the transmission of the forty-ninth leaf, Dee asked her for details on how this text should be written in the perfected copy of the Holy Book:

Dee: What shall I do with these 21 words now received? [. . .] I beseech you, how shall I write these names in the first leaf?¹²³

Galah: They are to be written in 5 Tables, in every Table 21 letters. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 20]

There are a couple of problems with this exchange between Dee and Galvah. First, Dee refers to "21 words now received," while there appear to be twenty-two words in the text Galvah transmitted. I suspect two possibilities in this case. The first is that Dee may have simply mis-counted the number of words here—though I find that rather unlikely, as Dee had the text right in front of him at the time. The second possibility suggests that Dee broke a word in half when he paused to write “Now seas appear” in the middle of the transmission. Therefore, what appears to be two words—adnor doncha—may actually be a singular (or compound) word—adnordoncha.

More problematic, however, is the response given by Galvah—where Dee is told to write the text of leaf 49 in five Tables of twenty-one letters each. That makes a total of 105 letters ($5 \times 21 = 105$). Yet, the text—written in English letters—contains a total of 113 characters.

The solution is found by transcribing the letters into Angelical characters. First, note there are four instances of the digraph ch in the text (doncha, chirvane, and chermach). This digraph is usually intended to produce a throaty kh sound in the Angelical tongue, and it is possible this is represented by a single character (called Veh—often transliterated as the English letter K). If so, this reduces the number of letters in this text by four, from 113 to 109.

Next, I notice that two of the words contain the letters zed. Zed happens to be the common name for the letter Z (sometimes also called “ezod” or “zod”) outside of the United States of America. There are several instances in Dee’s journals where he spells out the name of this letter (though usually choosing the “zod” form),¹²⁴ rather than using the Z character alone. If we replace the two instances of zed here on leaf 49 (Larzed and zednip) with the Angelical character for Z (called Ceph), it further reduces the total of letters to 105.

Now that we have arrived at the necessary 105 letters, we can set them into the five Tables of twenty-one letters each:

L	O	A	G	A	E	T
H	F	E	G	L	O	V
I	B	R	T	N	C	L
A	R	Z	D	O	X	N
E	R	N	A	G	Z	I
L	B	A	D	N	O	R

D	O	N	K	A	L	A
R	B	V	O	R	S	H
I	R	O	B	R	A	E

X	I	V	R	Z	N	I
P	T	A	I	I	P	K
I	N	R	V	A	N	E

K	E	R	M	A	K	L
E	N	D	I	X	N	O
R	Z	A	N	D	O	X

Following this exchange, Dee continues asking Galvah questions about these five little Tables. However, as usual, insignificant details were left for Dee's discretion:

Dee: How shall I place the five Tables upon the two sides: three in the first and two in the second, or one in the first and four in the second, or how else?

Galvah: As thou seest cause.

Dee: Shall I write them in letters of gold?

Galvah: The writing hath been referred to thy discretion with colors, and such things as appertain to the writing thereof. Upon the first side write three Tables, and on the second two. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 20]

The next day, Dee has set the words into the five Tables, and presents it to Galvah for approval:

Dee: I have assayed divers ways to place the five Tables, on the two sides on this first leaf. Is it to your liking as I have done it, in the five little Triangles?

Galvah: As concerning the setting down of the five Tables, it is sufficient as it is done. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 21]

It is unclear why Dee chose to make the five Tables into triangles, even though Galvah finds it “sufficient.” Personally, I would rather keep the five Tables each 7 x 3 squares, as these two numbers obviously play a significant role in leaf 49 and the Holy Book overall.

Be It Unto Thee, as Thou Hast Done— The Anticlimax of the Loagaeth Saga?

The process of creating a perfected copy of the Holy Book—written in Angelical characters, and from the right to the left—is an understandably monumental task. It only took Dee a matter of days to become overwhelmed with the project, and by June 29th, 1583 (he was working on Table 7), he was already asking the Angels for help.

On that day, it was the Heptarchic Angel Madimi who appeared in the shewstone. Dee had a special relationship with this spiritual creature—who appeared as a little girl¹²⁵ and therefore Dee felt comfortable in asking her for intervention. In response, Madimi brings her Mother—who is introduced to Dee and Kelley as I AM (a biblical name of the Highest Divinity), and who we also know as Galvah, or Wisdom:

Dee: While I was about to write the Title of the second side of the seventh leaf: and (E.K. sitting by me), Madimi appeared as before like a young girl, and I saluted her in the Name of God, as coming from God for good, and said to her, that I was wonderfully oppressed with the Work prescribed to me to perform before August next, and desired her to help me to one to write the holy Book as it ought to be written: seeing I did all I could, and it seemed almost impossible for me to finish it as it is requisite. Madimi promised to help me to one to write the Book; and thereupon appeared to her (but unseen to E.K) her Mother. [. . .]

Madimi: Mother, I pray you let him have one to write his Book.

Mother: I am of the word, and by the word.¹²⁶ I say, Seal up those things thou hast. And I myself will take charge of Galvah to the end.¹²⁷

Dee: Truth it is, it must grow to a great mislikeing grudge, that God should seem to have laid burdens on our shoulders, greater than we are able to bear: and then if we fall and fail under them, he would find a cause not to perform his promises made for carrying of those burdens.

Mother: Whatsoever is thy part, the same will I perform. I will put thy yoke (in this one thing) upon my shoulders.

Dee: Will you then write it as I should have written it?

Mother: I have said I will.

Dee: Where shall I leave the Book?

Mother: Leave it where you will: your locks are no hindrance to us. Even when the time cometh believe and you shall find it written.

Dee: You have eased my heart of a thousand-pound weight.

Mother: Because ye shall not fall into error. Dost thou believe?

Dee: Yea, verily.

Mother: Then verily will I do it. [. . .]

Dee: I pray, tell me your name.

Mother: I AM; what will you more?¹²⁸ [A True and Faithful Relation, pp. 26–27]

In my opinion, this is one of the most unbelievable scenes in the journals. By all appearances, Dee receives a promise from the Mother to write the perfected Holy Book for him. I simply find it hard to accept that Dee would have seriously expected such a direct and astounding miracle to take place. I have to wonder if he wasn't merely trying to shift the responsibility of having the project completed on time from his own shoulders onto the Angels. If the Mother had made such a promise, then what Angel could accuse Dee of failure?

Apparently, the project was not completed on time after all. First, the entire month of August is missing from the journals.¹²⁹ The entries simply end with July 4th and pick up again—without comment—on September 21st, 1583. Almost three entire months are obscured from modern study.

Then, by April 12th of the following year, 1584, Dee mentions to Nalvage that the Holy Book "is promised to be written"—suggesting that it is not complete, and Dee still believes the Mother and Her Angels are going to do it for him:

Nalvage: How, therefore, shall I inform you, which know them not?
[. . .] The Characters, or Letters of the Tables.

Dee: You mean the mystical Letters, wherein the holy book is promised to be written. And if the book be so written and laid open before us, and then you will from Letter to Letter point, and we to record your instructions [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 78]

This is a full eight months after the original August deadline, and Dee is still receiving instructions for how to work with the Loagaeth Tables. In fact, the aforementioned discussion takes place just before the forty-eight Angelical Keys are transmitted. That means that the very Keys needed to open the Gates had not been delivered to Dee on or before the August deadline.

Kelley's exuberance also provides us with evidence that the original deadline was missed. As might be understandable, the men were not likely happy that the much-anticipated day of August 1st resulted in no great Revelations. The Angels had told them so often not to rush the time of God's choosing, but to wait patiently for August. Nearly nine months later, on the date of April 21st, the Angels Gabriel and Nalvage once again tell the men not to rush God. Kelley has a sarcastic response to that:

Gabriel and Nalvage: He never heard of any man that would ask, if God would perform his promises

Edward Kelley: By August next?

Gabriel and Nalvage: What if it were a hundred Augusts? You may be weary before August next, as the Children of Israel were of their Mama. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 92]

It is hard to appreciate this exchange out of the context of the journals. As I stated previously, Kelley's words here are likely sarcastic in nature.

I read it as a kind of challenge, bringing up the fact that the Angels had already failed to deliver on one of God's biggest "promises"—the revelation of the Loagaeth mysteries on August 1st, 1583. Kelley likely fixated on this fact, as he constantly looked for evidence that the Angels were actually liars and devils. (He apparently failed to consider that neither he nor Dee had completed the perfected Holy Book as they had been instructed to do.)

Kelley was not alone in letting his frustration slip through into the records. It was only a few days later, on April 27th, that Dee asks Gabriel and Nalvage for an update (or confirmation) on the Mother's promise:

Dee: As concerning the book writing by the Highest,¹³⁰ what shall I expect thereof?

Gabriel and Nalvage: There is no point of faith.

Dee: I believe verily that it shall be written by the power of the Highest.

Gabriel and Nalvage: The power of the Highest confirmeth me, but not my power, the Highest.

Dee: Be it as the will of God is. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 104]

When the Angels tell Dee that the Mother's promise is "no point of faith," I tend to see that as an indication that Dee had it wrong. However, Dee certainly didn't want to see it that way, and therefore reaffirms that he believes the Highest (I AM) will indeed write the Holy Book for him. The Angels put the issue off on the Highest and that ends the issue for that session.

In the end, Dee does appear to have produced the Book on his own. At least, he created a copy to the best of his ability. It was only two months later, on July 7th, 1584, when Ave came to reveal the Prayer of Enoch and the secret to Geboful.¹³¹ Perhaps, Ave appeared at that time with that information because Dee had finally produced the Book:

Ave: My brother, I see thou doth not understand the mystery of this Book, or work, thou hast in hand. | . . . | Notwithstanding, that thy labour be not frustrate, and void of fruit, be it unto thee, as thou hast done.

Dee (in margin): The Book confirmed.

Dee: Lord I did the best that I could conceive of it. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 196]

Here we see that Dee does have the Book “in hand.” He claims it is the best he could do, and Ave appears to say that it will be sufficient to result in some fruit for his labor. The marginal note indicates that Dee took this as a confirmation of his perfected copy of the Book of Loagaeth.

However, the August date seems to have been put aside. Perhaps this is what Ave means by the phrase “. . . be it unto thee, as thou hast done.” When the long-awaited August 1st finally arrives, Dee and Kelley do not commence a ritual opening of the forty-eight Gates. Instead, at the command of the Angels, they pack up and head toward the court of Emperor Rudolph in Prague.¹⁴²

Records of whether or not Dee or Kelley ever made use of Loagaeth do not exist. They have either never existed, meaning the men never used this material, or they have simply not survived or been discovered. Meanwhile, if we consider the legacy that Dee left behind in Prague, it is likely that the Angels finally had their own agenda fulfilled after all. Even if neither of the men achieved their personal goals with the magick, the historical mark left by Dee in Prague cannot be denied.¹⁴³ As promised, the Angels did initiate a new current into a new world—and the Age of Enlightenment soon followed.

Endnotes

1. See John Dee's Five Books of Mystery and A True and Faithful Relation.
2. Also see Psalms 69:28, Daniel 12:1, Luke 10:20, Philipians 4:3, and Revelation 3:5, 13:8, 17:8, and 20:12–15.
3. To further explore Dee's search for the Book of Enoch, the following references have been highly recommended: György E. Szönyi, John Dee's Occultism (Albany, NY: State University of New York Press, 2004), p. 145; William J. Bouwsma, Concordia Mundi: The Career and Thought of Guillaume Postel (Cambridge, MA: Harvard University Press, 1957), pp. 13, 36–37; and Nicholas H. Clullee, John Dee's Natural Philosophy: Between Science and Religion (London: Routledge, 1988), pp. 208–20, 297 (note 25).
4. Lights and Judgments – The Urim and Thaumim, associated with the Breast Plate of the High Priest of Israel, were likely scrying stones of some sort. (See Exodus 28:30.)

5. See 1 Samuel 9 for the story of Saul's consultation with Samuel, as well as the explanation of the term seer as applied to prophets.
6. Dee has "could not be come by at man's hand."
7. Dee has "from thee (O God: mediately or immediately." In his Five Books of Mystery, Joseph Peterson mentions in a footnote (p. 59, note 15) that "mediately" indicates "through a medium." Therefore "immediately" must indicate "without a medium." (Dee employed Kelley because he personally lacked mediumistic skills.)
8. Epistle of Jude 14-15. Jude quotes from 1 Enoch, but Dee seems to assume that Jude is quoting the legendary Book of Enoch written in the Angelical language. (See the section in this chapter entitled "The Holy Book of Loagaeth.")
9. Found on p. 174 (June 25, 1584) and p. 196 (July 7, 1584) of A True and Faithful Relation.
10. Had they been legends of Solomon, Dee's journals would be considered "Solomonic."
11. Adam and Eve, who were the distant grandparents of Enoch.
12. Heptarchia means "Sevenfold Hierarchy" or "Sevenfold Rulership." This system of magick revolved specifically around the Seven Archangels who "stand before the Throne of God." (Revelation 4:5.)
13. Published (with all Latin translated) as John Dee's Five Books of Mystery, edited by Joseph Peterson.
14. To see the original manuscripts of Dee's journals, visit <http://www.themagickalreview.org/enochian/enochian.html>. Also, for transcriptions of Dee's work, see <http://www.esotericarchives.com>
15. An Angel from the Heptarchic system of magick.
16. In other words, the Celestial Tablets (of Enoch) are written by the hand of Sophia (Wisdom). Sophia is the name of the ancient Gnostic Bride of God (or Mother of the World).
17. That is, the First Great Prophecy was of the coming of Christ.
18. That is, this Holy Book contains the Second Great Prophecy, which is the return of Christ.
19. The Tribulation is a period of war and suffering that precedes the end of the world in the Christian mythos.
20. We will see later that there are Calls (or Keys) associated with the Holy Book. However, I suspect Dee saw this as a reference to the first sounding of the Trumpet, an aspect of the Christian Rapture. See Revelation, chapter 8 (and following), for the Trumpets.
21. Referring to the Holy Book (which has already been described as containing the Second Great Prophecy of the End Times).
22. The first that lived = Adam.
23. It was Raphael who delivered the Holy Book. See chapter 5.
24. I have added this for clarification.

25. Casaubon has 'Alcoran.' The Koran was a new "Testament" which was delivered to Muhammad by the Archangel Gabriel, and which founded the Muslim Faith.
26. Casaubon has "Mahometans" as in "Muhammad-ians."
27. A True and Faithful Relation does not show the first a, leaving "Logaeth" but this is an error on the part of Casaubon.
28. See the Book of Revelation, chapter 5.
29. See the Five Books of Mystery, p. 263.
30. I have added the bracketed word to clarify the speech.
31. See the Five Books of Mystery, pp. 268–69.
32. The journals do not mention it at this point, but there is also a title above each Table of the Holy Book.
33. Dee adds in the margin: "(49 powers with their inferiors — 48 after a sort: and 1.)" Again, we see the isolation of one leaf of the Book from the others.
34. Compare this to the Qabalistic convention of attributing four manners of interpreting the Torah — one for each of the Four Qabalistic Worlds.
35. One of these appears to be the language we will see later in the forty-eight Angelical Calls, or Keys.
36. Six is the number attributed to the Sun in works like Agrippa's Three Books.
37. Seven is the number attributed to Venus.
38. For instance, see the material in the classic grimoire known as the Arbatel of Magic — a text very familiar to Dee and one that had a massive influence on his Heptarchic system of magick.
39. All of these are associated with the seven Archangels who stand before the Throne of God in Revelation, chapter 4. These are the Archangels (or Elohim) directly involved in the Seven Days of Creation, in Genesis 1
40. We will return to the subject of the Angelical Keys (or Calls) in the following chapters.
41. That is, the first leaf that is accessible to the aspirant.
42. See pp. 324–25 of the Five Books of Mystery.
43. Dee makes this marginal notation: "Note this covering to be made for the book."
44. See A True and Faithful Relation, p. 174.
45. See the Five Books of Mystery, p. 269.
46. See the Five Books of Mystery, p. 288.
47. Or Spanish, Latin, etc
48. Requisite = Required.
49. See Sloane 3189 for Kelley's English-lettered copy of the Holy Book.
50. We shall explore the subject of the perfected Holy Book later in this chapter.
51. We shall see later in this chapter that Galvah continues to refer to the forty-ninth leaf of Logaeth as "the first leaf" — though it is in fact the last.

52. See chapter 1 of this current work.
53. See the Five Books of Mystery, pp. 286–343. Remember, only the First Table (Sides A and B) is found in the Five Books. The entire Holy Book is preserved in Sloane MS 3189.
54. See the Five Books of Mystery, pp. 286–87.
55. See Donald Laycock's introduction to The Complete Enochian Dictionary (York Beach, ME: Red Wheel/Weiser, 2001), pp. 33–35.
56. I have added the English-letter equivalents in parentheses for clarification.
57. This would not be a concern for the other forty-eight Tables, which contained single letters in each cell.
58. See the Five Books of Mystery, p. 296.
59. As of this writing, my analysis of the text is unavailable to the public. However, it might be available on my website (<http://kheph777.tripod.com>) by the time this book is published.
60. This is likely a reference to the Book sealed with seven seals in the Revelation of St. John. Evidence suggests that Loagaeth is intended, on some level, to be this same Book.
61. See the Five Books of Mystery, p. 411.
62. That is, all Tables will be explained at once, rather than one here and another there, etc.
63. By "double repetition" I assume Raphael means to both write and speak the text at once.
64. The Holy Book. Kelley was reading the words aloud to Dee so he could record them. However, Raphael here warns against speaking the words again "till it be in practice."
65. Here is the first time August is mentioned as the time to put Loagaeth into practice.
66. In other words, "at a glance" within the Book.
67. Though the transmission of the Tables does balt the next day, I should point out that the final—forty-ninth—Table was withheld for some time afterward. We shall explore this subject in this chapter.
68. See A True and Faithful Relation, p. 10.
69. Earlier in this speech, Galvah had made reference to the negative view of women seen in Trithemius' work. She said, "If Trithemius can separate the dignity of the Soul of Woman from the excellency of man . . ." Therefore, the above quote is Galvah's (slightly sarcastic) response to Trithemius' take on women as the "end of man's excellency."
70. See Ul (End) in the Lexicon in volume II.
71. Each Table of Loagaeth has a Title—one for the front Table and one for the back Table on each leaf.
72. Encompassed

73. I have added this word for clarification.
74. See A True and Faithful Relation, p. 27.
75. See Exodus 3:13–14, where God gives Moses the Hebrew Divine Name Eheieh asher Eheieh (I Am that I Am). The Qabalah assigns this Name to the Highest Divine Sphere.
76. The hedge would have been symbolic of ignorance.
77. See Proverbs 1:20–33.
78. See A True and Faithful Relation, pp. 10–12.
79. Remember Galvah saying, “ . . . true Wisdom is always painted with a woman’s garment.” Garment = Body.
80. See Donald Tyson, Enochian Magick for Beginners (St. Paul, MN: Llewellyn, 2002).
81. To date, this strange ordering of the planets has not been explained.
82. This association is via the Seven Ensigns of Creation from the Heptarchia.
83. “The time to come” is August 1st and the revelation of Loagath’s mysteries.
84. Remember previously that Galvah instructed Dee to begin work on the perfected Holy Book on a Tuesday. See A True and Faithful Relation, p. 131.
85. A True and Faithful Relation has the first couple of these sessions mislabeled as Saturdays. The dates given indicate that each should be a Sunday.
86. In chapter 3 I have included a similar section on the Angelical Keys that open the Tables. What we know of the Keys further illuminates what we know of the Tables.
87. Thanks to Joseph H. Peterson’s Twilit Grotto Esoteric Archives for these titles, online at <http://www.esotericarchives.com/dee/sl3189.htm>. Used with permission.
88. See the Five Books of Mystery, pp. 288–343.
89. We will examine the Keys in chapter 3.
90. See the Five Books, p. 306, footnote 228. Also p. 319, footnote 321 (“Interpret not yet”).
91. Traditionally the Archangel of the Sun.
92. Genesis 1:20–26.
93. Called, in Latin, Descensus Ad Inferos.
94. This was a common practice in tribal Shamanism, where the shaman would descend to the underworld to retrieve the lost souls of the sick and dying.
95. I have added the bracketed line numbers for clarification.
96. Five Books of Mystery, p. 312, footnote 277.
97. Except for Table 49, which was also delivered in full words, instead of letters. See the “Forty-Nine Tables of Loagath: What We Know” section of this chapter.
98. Revelation 4:5.
99. A True and Faithful Relation, p. 98.
100. Casaubon also put the title Bacup Laffes on this Table, as if it were the title of side B. However, it is actually the title of side B of leaf 10.
101. See p. 348 of the Five Books of Mystery.

102. Shovels.
103. See the section of this chapter entitled "Kelley's Second Vision of the Holy Book."
104. See chapter 1 of this volume.
105. Table 49 also has its own entry. See the "Forty-Nine Tables of Loagaeth: What We Know" section of this chapter.
106. See A True and Faithful Relation, pp. 139–59 and 201–09.
107. Via the Valentinian Gnostics.
108. This is yet another indication that the forty-nine Tables of Loagaeth begin at the highest and proceed to the lowest point—just like the Jewish fifty Gates of Binah.
109. See 1 Enoch, chapters 21–36.
110. See Ezekiel 40:1–2 for one example.
111. Probably symbolic of the Four Elements and Zodiacal Triplicities, the four cardinal directions, the four winds, and other fourfold concepts associated with the physical realm. See Agrippa's Three Books of Occult Philosophy, Book II, chapter 7, "Of the Number Four, and the Scale Thereof."
112. Also see chapter 3, in which I discuss the Angelical Keys that open the Aethyrs.
113. Remember the first page in a Western book would necessarily be the last page if the book were written in the Semitic leftward fashion.
114. See p. 19 of A True and Faithful Relation.
115. This is a note made by Dee. It is in relation to the vision Kelley is having as these words are spoken. We explore this vision (and others related to it) in the "Let Those That Fear God, and Are Worthy, Read" section of this chapter.
116. The entire vision is found on p. 19 of A True and Faithful Relation.
117. First leaf by Western standards, but it remains leaf 49.
118. It does not appear in the First Table. It may yet be hidden somewhere among the text of Tables 2 through 49.
119. See the Lexicon. L or El (The First). This is a Name of God in the Angelical tongue.
120. See Genesis 1:10, 20–25.
121. The Qabalah would refer to this as Malkuth (the Earthly Kingdom).
122. I have added this for clarification.
123. Leaf 49.
124. It is possible that Kelley was the one who pronounced the Zs as "zed" in this case.
125. Dee would later name his own daughter after Madimi.
126. The Mother (Aima Elohim), or Bride of God, is intimately connected with the Word (Logos) or Christos. Together, their marriage results in the Holy Spirit as understood by the ancient Gnostics.
127. Although the Mother appears to refer to Galvah in this statement, Dee actually records the Mother's name as Galvah later in this session. See A True and Faithful Relation, p. 27.

128. Exodus 3:14 – So God said to Moses, I AM that I AM ...
129. See A True and Faithful Relation, pp. 32–33.
130. Remember that I AM 'Eheieh' is the Highest Divine Name in the Qabalah.
131. See chapter 4 of this volume.
132. See A True and Faithful Relation, p. 212.
133. See Francis Yates, The Rosicrucian Enlightenment (London: Routledge, 2001). Dee's work (such as the Hieroglyphic Monad), and perhaps Dee personally, had an apparent influence on the unknown authors of the foundational Rosicrucian documents.

Chapter Three

The Forty-Eight Angelical Keys (or Calls)

And I will give unto thee the Keys of the Kingdom of Heaven. And whatsoever thou shalt bind on Earth shall be bound in Heaven. And whatsoever thou shalt loose on Earth shall be loosed in Heaven. [Matthew 16:19]

These Calls touch all the parts of the World. The World may be dealt withal, with her parts. Therefore you may do anything. These Calls are keys into the Gates and Cities of Wisdom. [The Angel Mapsama in A True and Faithful Relation, p. 145]

In “Kelley’s Second Vision of the Holy Book,” a section in the previous chapter, I highlighted several comparisons between the thirty-six Tables of Soyga and Dee’s forty-nine Tables of Loagaeth. Beyond their structural and mathematical similarities, each set of Tables is said to embody specific aspects of Creation, which can be accessed by the aspirant who knows how to open them.

Another important similarity between Soyga and Loagaeth is that both sets of Tables are opened (or decrypted) with “Keys.” Soyga includes a set of thirty-six six-lettered names that are used to decipher the encrypted magickal squares. Loagaeth also has a set of Keys—forty-eight in this case¹—that are promised to open the mysteries of the Tables. However, the “Keys” of Dee’s system are not short and simple keywords. Instead, Dee’s forty-eight Keys are long poems (or, perhaps, psalms)—often called the forty-eight Angelical Callings. They are magickal invocations intended to obtain Divine and earthly secrets from the Angels attached to each Table of Loagaeth.

The Angel Nalvage was charged with the transmission of the Keys—though the origins of this entity are uncertain. Unlike most of the Angels encountered by the two men, Nalvage does not appear anywhere in Dee’s “Enochian” system of magick. (That is, his name is not found in the Heptarchia, in Loagaeth, in the Watchtowers, and so on.) Neither is he found among the traditional lists of Angels descended from Jewish, Christian, or Arabic sources. All we know for certain is that Nalvage is directly subservient to the Archangel Gabriel, and that his primary job in the journals was to deliver the Angelical Keys.

Nalvage first appeared to Dee and Kelley in February of 1584, but he did not begin to transmit the Keys until the following April. That was eight months after the date upon which the Angels promised to reveal the mysteries of Loagaeth. This delay is likely because Dee had not, by the previous August, completed the “perfected copy” of the Holy Book.² Had he completed the project on time, I suspect the Angels would have revealed the forty-eight Keys at that point.

When Nalvage makes his first appearance, he spends some time teaching the men about the Doctrine contained in Loagaeth.³ He then focuses upon the transmission of a magickal Tablet called the Corpus Omnium—which seems to bear directly upon the Keys, and which we shall explore in depth later in this chapter. Finally, in mid-April of 1584, Nalvage makes the first mention of the Angelical Keys:

I am therefore to instruct and inform you, according to your Doctrine delivered, which is contained in 49 Tables. In 49 voices, or callings: which are the Natural Keys to open those, not 49 but 48 (for one is not to be opened) Gates of Understanding, whereby you shall have knowledge to move every Gate . . . [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 77]

So, we know from the very start that these Keys are intended to open the Gates of Understanding.⁴ As we learned in chapter 2, the First Gate is "not to be opened" by humans. However, the remaining forty-eight can be accessed with the Angelical Keys.

Much later in the journals, the Angel Illemese makes clear the relationship between the Keys and the forty-nine Tables of Loagaeth:

But you shall understand that these 19 Calls⁵ are the Calls, or entrances into the knowledge of the mystical Tables. Every Table containing one whole leaf,⁶ whereunto you need no other circumstances. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 199]

During the transmission of the Keys, the Archangel Gabriel gives us some further information on the Keys and the Angelical language in which they are written:

In these Keys which we deliver, are the mysteries and secret beings and effects of all things moving, and moved within the world. In this is the life of MOTION, in whom all tongues of the world are moved, for there is neither speech nor silence that was nor shall be to the end of the world, but they are all as plain here, as in their own nakedness. Despise it not, therefore, for unto them that are hungry, it is bread, unto the thirst drink, and unto the naked clothing. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 94]

In chapter 2, we saw many descriptions of the Doctrine of Loagaeth that sound very similar to Gabriel's above words. We know that Loagaeth represents the mythical Book of Life (or Book of the Lamb), wherein is found the essence of all created things.⁷ Both Christian Doctrine and Dee's Angels proclaim the Holy Book as the wellspring of all life. However, without the Keys with which to open the Gates, the Book is merely an inert object in human hands.⁸ It is the Keys that activate the forces in the Tables, and this is why Gabriel claims that the Keys embody the "life of motion."

During a later session in the journals, Dee and Kelley receive further information from the Angel Mapsama:

These Calls touch all the parts of the World. The World may be dealt withal, with her parts. Therefore you may do anything. These Calls are keys into the Gates and Cities of Wisdom. Which [Gates]⁹ are not able to be opened, but without visible apparition. | . . . | You called for wisdom, God hath opened unto you his Judgment. He hath delivered unto you the keys, that you may enter. [A True and Faithful Relation, pp. 145–46]

Mapsama's lesson on the Keys is the most practical we have seen. Where Gabriel taught that the Keys are the "life of Motion" (or "initiatory force") behind the forty-nine Tables, Mapsama adds that the Keys have influence over all parts of the physical world—giving one the power to "do anything." (We can see an example of this in the Parts of the Earth system that Dee and Kelley would later receive from the Angels. That system makes use of one Key—the final one, the Call of the Aethyrs—to scry into the secrets of any nation on Earth.)

Later, we shall see that the Angels also instructed Dee and Kelley to use the Angelical Keys to open every Table in the Holy Book—likely over a forty-eight-day period resulting in a forty-ninth day of Divine revelation. This is the primary Loagaeth system of magick (see chapter 4), which several of the Angels seem to imply in their lessons on the usage of the Keys.

On the day before the transmission of the Keys began, Dee recorded this exchange between Nalvage and himself:

Nalvage: Unto this Doctrine belongeth the perfect knowledge, and remembrance of the mystical Creatures. How, therefore, shall I inform you, which know them not? [. . .]

Dee: [. . .] You mean the mystical Letters wherein the holy book is promised to be written. And if the book be so written and laid open before us, and then you will from Letter to Letter point, and we to record your instructions, [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 78]

We learn here that the Tables of Loagaeth were directly involved in the reception of the Keys. The following day, as Dee suggested above, Nalvage directed the men from one Table to another, drawing a single letter from each one along the way. (See the section in this chapter entitled "Dee Suspected of Cryptography?") Thus, the words of the Keys were not taken whole cloth from the text of Loagaeth, but were each compiled from letters drawn from several different Tables.

This might tell us something important about the nature of Angelical. As we already know, Loagaeth contains the Celestial Language used in the genesis of all things. We also know that each Table represents an individual and pure (even archetypal) aspect of the created Universe.

Meanwhile, Angels are the agents of creation—the “workmen” through whom all things manifest. According to Judeo-Christian lore, they accomplish this feat by bearing the creative power to earth as a “message” from God. The “message” itself is a song of praise to the Creator—designed to grant life to something in the world.¹⁰

Therefore, the creative “message” that is carried by any given Angel should be compiled in some way from the Words of Creation contained in the Holy Book. I say “compiled” because, unlike the Tables of Loagaeth, the Universe is not separated into “pure aspects” and archetypes. Instead, the Universe is a tapestry of mixed forces. Therefore, the Angels must draw forces from several Tables at once—a character from this Word of Creation, and another character from that Word of Creation—in order to manifest anything in reality. This is perhaps what we are seeing in the compilation of the forty-eight Keys by Nalvage.

The Reception of the Forty-Eight Keys

The transmission of the forty-eight Angelical Keys is divided between three places in A True and Faithful Relation. The first section, composed mainly of the Angelical words, appears between pages 79 and 138. Most of the English was given later, during a single session between pages 190 and 194. Finally, the Key of the Aethyrs was transmitted (also in a single session) between pages 201 and 208.

As we shall discuss later, Nalvage transmitted the Angelical of the first four Keys backward, taking several sessions. He also ended each transmission with the “English sense” of each Key. The rest of the Keys—5 through 18—were transmitted rapidly in a forward fashion, without English, in a single haphazard session. Some of them are mixed up or missing words. Two of them (Keys 14 and 15) are entirely missing.

The missing material was filled in later in the journals—but only in English form. Dee was left to compile the Angelical words from the Keys that had already been Anglicized. (Thankfully, the results of that work are contained in Dee’s 48 Claves Angelicae.)

Even the English given to Dee was not entirely complete. Between giving the English for Keys Eleven and Twelve, Nalvage tells Dee:

Nalvage: Here must words in the end of the first Call follow, at Move, etc.

Dee: But this Call, it differeth a little expressly. They are the 14 last words, in the holy language thus: Zacar e ca, od zamran, odo cicle Qua, Zorge, lap zirdo Noco Mad, Hoath Jaida. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 193]

These are the words that appear at the very end of the first Key. They are an evocational formula that translate “Move, therefore, and appear! Open the mysteries of your creation. Be friendly unto me, for I am a servant of the same God as you, the true worshiper of the Highest.” Dee was subsequently instructed to append these words to Keys 11 through 18, inclusively.

These fourteen words have been dubbed the “Repetitive Formula Pattern” by Angelical scholar Patricia Shaffer.¹¹ We will encounter this phrase again in the Lexicon in volume II.

Dee Suspected of Cryptography?

Now we shall explore one of the most obscure (and controversial) aspects of Dee’s Angelic records—the transmission of Key One. Had Nalvage simply revealed the text of the Keys like any other magickal invocation or prayer (such as we find in numerous medieval grimoires), it would not likely have attracted much speculation. However, the overly complex manner in which Nalvage gathered the letters and transmitted the words of the first Key has led cryptologists to believe that the Tables of Loagaeth and their Keys are somehow encrypted messages (or encryption devices).

This is not much of a leap in logic. John Dee was himself a student of steganography (“hidden writing,” or cryptography), and has long been associated with English espionage.¹² We also know that he owned a copy of the Steganographia by Trithemius—an early-sixteenth-century compendium of cryptology, entirely disguised as a work of Angelical magick.¹³ It claimed to reveal the methods of sending secret communications by way of Angels or spirits, but the invocations turned out to be encrypted messages.¹⁴ Therefore, we can see how easy it might be to suspect that Dee was up to the same tricks in his journals.

To begin with, we may note that Nalvage (at first) insisted upon transmitting the Keys backward. This was also established the day before the Keys were revealed:

Nalvage: Also, in receiving of the calls, this is to be noted: that they are to be uttered of me, backward; and of you, in practice, forward.

Dee: I understand it, for the efficacy of them; else, all things called would appear, and so hinder our preceding in learning. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 78]

The next day, we find that the first word revealed by Nalvage was the last word of Key One, and it was spelled backward. (We will return to this later in this section.)

Let us consider this convention of backward spelling in a broader context. We have already encountered this in our discussion of the Book of Soyga (chapter 1). It is perhaps the simplest form of encryption to spell words in reverse—such as Soyga, which is supposed to be a mirror-spelling of Agyos (Greek: Holiness).¹⁵ This is likely derived from Qabalistic practices that use Hebrew (written right to left) as their sacred language.

Additionally, there are forms of encryption that involve words or alphabets spelled “forward” and then transposed with letter sets that are written backward. For instance, take a look at this simple cipher:

A	B	C	D	E	F	G	H	I	J	K	L	M	N	O	P	Q	R	S	T	U	V	W	X	Y	Z
Z	Y	X	W	V	U	T	S	R	Q	P	O	N	M	L	K	J	I	H	G	F	E	D	C	B	A

The top line of letters is the standard alphabet, written in a forward (or left-to-right) fashion. The bottom line is the encryption, and contains the same alphabet written backward (or right to left). Any word can be spelled out with the letters in the top line, and then transposed with the letters directly beneath them in the bottom line.

As an example, let’s use my own first name: Aaron. We find the A at the left of the top line, and beneath it we find the letter Z. Beneath the letter R in the top line we find an I in the bottom. Beneath the O we find the letter L. Finally, beneath the letter N we can see an M. Therefore, the name Aaron can be encrypted as the name Zzilm. If you compare this with the words in the Lexicon in volume II, you will see the resulting encryptions are somewhat similar to Angelical. Thus, it is little wonder that Nalvage's insistence on transmitting the words of the Keys backward has suggested encryption to modern scholars.

It is also interesting that Nalvage only followed this convention for the first four Keys—after which, he began transmitting the words forward instead. That means the majority of the Keys were delivered in a forward fashion—calling into question Dee's assumption that they must be transmitted backward or else “all things called would appear.” (I should point out that Nalvage never confirmed Dee's comment in that regard.) This lends even more weight to the theory that encryption was involved: it may have been necessary to reverse only the first few Keys in order to give an example of how to use the rest of the Keys for decryption.

Dee's journals are also suspected of cryptology thanks to Nalvage's bizarre manner of revealing the letters of each word. Rather than simply pointing from letter to letter in the Holy Book (as Dee previously suggested), Nalvage indicated the letters via cryptic instructions for finding them in the Tables of Loagaeth with some very odd strings of numbers.

At the start of the session Nalvage states, “. . . the soul of man hath no portion in this First Table” of Loagaeth, however, “all the rest [of the Tables] are of understanding.”¹⁶ Immediately after stressing this, Nalvage launches into the transmission of Key One. It seems that his comments about the Tables bear directly upon the Keys—because Nalvage never draws letters for the Keys from the First Table.

I have transcribed the very first Angelical words received by Dee and Kelley from Nalvage—formatted here as they appear in Dee's journal. I am including a large enough sample to illustrate the cryptic manner in which Nalvage transmitted the letters, and the rather haphazard notations recorded by Dee. You will note that he recorded the letters in a column running down the left-hand side of the page, with the mysterious strings of numbers following each letter to the right (including the various Tables in Loagaeth.) Keep in mind that these words are written backward—beginning with the final word of the first Key:

A¹⁷

Two thousand and fourteen, in the sixth Table, is) D 7003. In the thirteenth Table is I.

A In the 21st Table. 11406 downward.

I In the last Table, one less than Number A word, Jaida | . . . |
Jaida is the last word of the Call.

H 49. ascending

T 49. descending

A 909. directly.

O simply.

H 2029. directly. Call it Hoath.

225. From the low angle on the right side, continuing in the same and next square.¹⁸

D 225 | The same number repeated |

A In the thirteenth Table, 740. ascending in his square.

M The 30th Table, 13025. from the low angle in the left side, in the square ascending.

Call it Mad.

O The 7th Table, 99. ascending.

C The 19th. descending 409.

O The | . . . | 1 from the upper right angle, crossing to the nether left,
and so ascending 1003

N The 31st. From the Center to the upper right angle, and so descending 5009.

Call it Noco.

O The 39th, from the Center descending, or the left hand. 9073.

D The 41st, from the Center ascending, and so to the right upper Angle.
27004.

R The 43rd, from the upper left Angle to the right, and so still in the Circumference, 34006.

I The 4| . . . |, ascending, 72000.

. . . |¹⁹ In the same Table descending to the last

Call it Zirdo.

P The 6th, ascending 109.

A The 9th, ascending 405.

L The 11th, descending 603

Call it Lap.

E The 6th, from the right Angle uppermost to the left, 700.

G The 13th, descending, 2000.

R The 17th, from the Center downward, 11004.

O The 32nd, descending from the right Angle to the Center, 32000.

Z The 47th, 194000, descending. Call it Zorge (Of one syllable.)

[A True and Faithful Relation, p. 79]

When we gather the above letters and write them out forward, we have the final line of Key One: Zorge, lap zirdo noco mad, hoath Jaida (which we saw previously in this section—as part of the “Repetitive Formula Pattern”).

For each letter, it is obvious that one of the Tables of Loagaeth is (usually) indicated as the source. Then, we see the notations made by Dee about where in the Table to find the letter. Unfortunately, no one has yet discovered what these directions and numbers mean. At first glance, it might appear that the large numbers would be the result of numbering each and every cell on one of the 49 x 49 Tables (sides A and B). However, that only results in a total of 4802 cells for each Table (2,401 on each side)—yet the numbers given by Nalvage are often much larger than that. Some kind of mathematical algorithm might be in use here—once more suggesting a form of cryptography.

After Key One had been transmitted in its entirety, Kelley attempted to question Nalvage’s direct superior—the Archangel Gabriel—about the numbers:

Kelley: Why join you numbers with these letters, and added none with those of the former Table?²⁰

Gabriel: Brother, what is the cause that all the World is made by numbers? The Numbers we speak of, are of reason and form, and not of merchants. [. . .] Every Letter signifieth the member of the substance whereof it speaketh. Every word signifieth the quiddity²¹ of the substance. The Letters are separated, and in confusion . and therefore, are by numbers gathered together which also gathered signify a number: for as every greater containeth his lesser, so are the secret and unknown forms of things knit up in their parents. Where being known in number, they are easily distinguished, so that here we teach places to be numbered: letters to be elected from the numbered, and proper words from the letters, signifying substantially the thing that is spoken of in the center of the Creator . . . [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 92]

Gabriel's words are often taken as proof that the characters of the Angelical alphabet should have gematric (or numerical) values. When Gabriel says that every letter of a word is a member of the overall body (or "substance") of the word, he could be giving a basic lesson in Qabalistic gematria.

However, as we shall now see, Gabriel is actually explaining the numbers that Nalvage associated with the Tables of Loagaeth and the letters of the Keys. First, he points out that the letters of the words are scattered (that is, throughout the forty-nine Tables). He then indicated that (Nalvage's) numbers are used to gather those letters together. Toward the end of his speech, he even describes the method Nalvage used in "decrypting" the Angelical words from the Tables: places (presumably the cells on the forty-nine Tables) are numbered, and letters are drawn from those numbered places. Then, the resulting letters are gathered into proper Angelical words—which signify in substance (in this case, Voice) those things that are otherwise conceived only in the heart of the Creator. It is unfortunate, however, that Gabriel reveals nothing about the method of numbering the "places" or gathering the letters.

It is interesting to note that Gabriel insists these numbers are not "of merchants" but are "of reason and form." I interpret this to mean that the numbers are such as would be used by mathematicians, architects, astronomers, and navigators—as opposed to the simple totals and tallies used by merchants. In other words, the numbers we see involve higher mathematical functions—such as those used by cryptographers.

There is just one instance during Nalvage's transmission of the words of Key One that such higher math is illustrated. Gabriel refers to this instance toward the middle of his speech—where he explains that the Angelical letters “are by numbers gathered together: which [numbers] also gathered signify a number.” We have, of course, already seen the numbers that Nalvage used to gather the letters into words. However, Gabriel further suggests that the numbers of any given word can also be gathered to produce an entirely new number. Nalvage explains how to do this during the transmission of the word Vooan (Truth):

N (The number must needs go to) the sixth, descending 309.

A The 7th ascending 360.

O The 9th ascending 1000.

O The 13th ascending 1050.

V The 17th ascending 2004. It is Vooan. It may be sounded Vaoan.

Nalvage: Add those last numbers.

Dee: 309

360

1000

1050

2004

4723

They make 4723

Nalvage: It is called the Mystical root in the highest ascendant of transmutation.

Dee: These phrases are dark. When it shall please God they may be made plain.

Nalvage: It is the square of the Philosophers work.

Dee: You said it was a root.

Nalvage: So it is a root square.

Dee: The square thereof is 22306729 . . .

[A True and Faithful Relation, p. 80]

As we can see, Dee added together all the numbers associated with the word Vooan (Truth), in order to reveal a “secret” square-root number. A square number is any number obtained by multiplying another number by itself. As an example, the number nine is a square, because it is the product of multiplying three by itself ($3 \times 3 = 9$). Meanwhile, the root of that square number is three, because three is the smallest positive number that can be multiplied by itself for a product of nine.

When Dee added the numbers of Vooan together, Nalvage told him the result (4723) was a mystical square-root number “in the highest ascendant of transmutation.” Dee did not understand what Nalvage meant by this (“All these phrases are dark”), but he did understand the concept of a square root. By multiplying the root number 4723 by itself, Dee obtained the square product of 22,306,729.

Sadly, Nalvage showed no interest in explaining why this square root is important to the word Vooan. I can only assume that one should be able to begin with the square number or its root, and use it in some way to derive the Angelical word form the Tables of Loagaeth. However, any suggestions I could offer toward this end would be pure speculation. Perhaps my work here will enable cryptologists to look at Dee’s work in a new light.

In the end, it would appear that Nalvage’s process was too time-consuming, because, after an entire day, only part of Key One had been transmitted. Therefore, Nalvage eventually stated that he would reveal the numbers later, and began to transmit the letters rapidly without numbers or directions. Unfortunately, if Nalvage ever returned with the missing information, the record has not survived.

There are further aspects of Dee’s magickal system that appear to suggest steganography. The magickal Tables associated with the Hep-tarchia and the Watchtowers are overflowing with encrypted Divine and Angelic Names. (The Watchtowers were even once used by Dee to decode a message delivered by the Angels.)²² Bearing more directly upon the Keys, we have the Corpus Omnium (or “Table of Nalvage”)—which is just as suggestive of cryptography as everything else we have seen from Nalvage in this chapter.

*Corpus Omnium: The Round Table of Nalvage*²³

We first see the so-called “Table of Nalvage” upon that Angel’s first appearance in the shewstone. Kelley describes it as follows:

He standeth upon a white great round Table, like Crystal, all written with letters infinitely. On the middle of the Table is a great swelling or pommel of the same substance the Table is of. Upon that pommel he standeth. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 63]

Thus, Nalvage appeared to Dee and Kelley standing upon the Table like a dais. As we shall see, this Table apparently bears directly upon the Keys as well as the first leaf of Loagaeth. However, the exact relationship between these things was never explained in the journals.

Before Nalvage began the transmission of the Keys, the Angel delivered several lessons upon the structure of his Round Table. At this point, the Table's appearance changed slightly. Where it had first appeared "like crystal"—likely meaning that it was clear and shot through with rainbows²⁴—it had now gone opaque, so it looked more like mother of pearl.

Also, the "infinite" lettering had been reduced to a few easily discernible characters, which formed the basis of Nalvage's lessons. Dee recorded this simplified version of the Table in his journal:²⁵

		H	C	R	V
	I	D	Z	S	A	I
L	A	O	I	G	O	D	H
V	M	Z	R	V	R	R	C
A	B	N	A	F	O	S	A
S	D	A	Z	S	E	A	S
	I	A	B	R	D	I
		L	A	N	G

The Corpus Omnium, or Round Table of Nalvage

While Nalvage gave his lessons concerning the Table, he used a small three-sectioned rod of gold as a pointing wand. Kelley described Nalvage's actions to Dee as the Angel revealed the mysteries of his curious Round Table:

Kelley: He standeth and pointeth with his rod to the letters of his Table, as if he made some account or reckoning. He went out to the middle, and measured how many steps it is about.^{2*}

Nalvage: Father, Son, Holy Spirit, Foundation, Substance, and Principium Omnium [Universal Principle].² Omnium is the thing that is in my charge. | . . . | Corpus Omnium.

Kelley: He pointeth to the whole or round Table which he standeth on. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 74]

Thus, we know that the proper name of the Table of Nalvage is Corpus Omnium, which is Latin for either "The Body of All" or "Substance of the Universe." Its letters incorporate the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit—thereby embodying the essence of the entire Universe as understood in the Christian philosophy of the Trinity. Nalvage elaborates on this aspect of the Corpus Omnium Table:

1. The Substance is attributed to God the Father.
 2. The first circular mover, the circumference, God the Son, the finger of the Father, and mover of all things.
 3. The order and knitting together of the parts in their due and perfect proportion, God the Holy Ghost. Lo, the beginning and end of all things.
- [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 74]

Here, Nalvage reveals that the actual letters (the "Substance") of the Table represents God the Father—who is Himself the Substance of the Universe. However, when the Table is divided into its various parts, and the letters decrypted to reveal proper words, this represents God the Holy Spirit.

Meanwhile, the four words written around the circumference—the "first circular mover"—represent God the Son. Dee asked Nalvage about their significance:

Dee: If the Order of the Table be the Holy Spirit, the Substance of the Father, how shall we gather the Circumference, which is the Son?

Nalvage: The Son is the Image of his Father. Therefore, in his death, he must be the Image of his Father also. If the Substance | of the Table | be in the form of a Cross, then the Son is the Image of his Father. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 76]

Note that the four circumference words mark the points of a cross around the Table. As we can see in my illustration, this division creates a cross in the very center—with a circumference word at each point. I assume Nalvage means that the circumference reflects the fourfold division of the Table itself.

Nalvage's threefold description of the Corpus Omnium makes me suspect that the Tablet might be solar in nature. This is due to a chapter from Agrippa's Second Book of Occult Philosophy, called "Of the Sun, Moon and their Magical Considerations." Compare the following quote with Nalvage's description of the three aspects of Corpus Omnium:

For [the Sun] is amongst the other Stars the image and statue of the great Prince of both worlds, viz.—Terrestrial, and Celestial: the true light, and the most exact image of God himself; whose essence resembles the Father, light the Son, heat the Holy Ghost.²⁸ [Three Books of Occult Philosophy, Book II, chapter 32]

Another clue to the solar nature of the Corpus Omnium may rest in the words of the circumference. Nalvage relates this to "God the Son" who is the "mover of all things"—or the active principle of the Divine. As we shall see, the four circumference names are written so they run counterclockwise around the Table. For me, this brings to mind the standard zodiacal chart and the twelve zodiacal signs that compose its circumference. These signs are actually the twelve constellations marked by the path of the Sun across the sky. When written upon a zodiacal or natal chart, they are also written counterclockwise:

Of course, every planet and star depicted on a zodiacal chart actually rotates clockwise—or "sunwise"—around the chart. They rise upon the eastern horizon on the left (where Aries is depicted in the example chart), move across the zenith at the top of the chart, and continue in that fashion around the entire circle. Because the twelve signs are listed counterclockwise, but actually rotate sunwise, we find that each constellation rises in the east in proper zodiacal order—Aries first, followed by Taurus, then Gemini, Cancer, and so on.

Simple zodiacal chart, showing the twelve signs with Aries in the east, and indicating that they are drawn counterclockwise around the circle

The same is true of the circumference of Nalvage's Corpus Omnium Table. The four names are written so they must be read counterclockwise. However, if the Table itself were rotated with the Sun, we would find that each letter in the four names rises (on the left-hand side) in their proper order. For instance, for the name Lvas—the L would rise first, followed by the V, then the A, and finally the S. The word Lang would then follow in its proper order, and so forth.

Nalvage offers Latin translations of the circumference names, but he never explains what or who they represent. The Latin words are both verbs and plural; as we shall see, they are given -antes suffixes. Therefore, they each have the implication of "those who . . ." which seems to suggest these are names of groups. Because of this, many modern Dee scholars have suggested that the names in the circumference are actually those of Angelic Choirs.

After revealing the three essential aspects of the Corpus Omnium (outlined earlier in this section), Nalvage continues to explain the division of the Table into four parts:

Lo, it is divided into four parts: whereof two are dignified, one not yet dignified but shall be, the other without glory or dignification. Understand God, as the substance of the whole (as above said). [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 74]

Note that Nalvage attributes a “dignity” to each portion of the Table. The term dignity is likely drawn from astrology: the dignity of a planet indicates the strength or weakness of its influence in a chart. In this quote, Nalvage seems to use the term to indicate whether each portion of the Table has been “fulfilled” (or brought to completion). Two portions are already dignified, one is not yet dignified (though it will be), and the last portion is without glory or dignity.

I find it likely that these four portions represent the Ages of the Universe as understood in Christian Doctrine. Dee describes these divisions of time in the appendix to the Five Books of Mystery, as he discusses the Heptarchic Angel Baligon with Uriel:

Uriel: [Baligon] is the end of the Three last corruptible times; whereof this is the last.

Dee: The one, at Noah's Flood, ended. The second at Christ his first coming, and this is the third.

Uriel: It is so. [Five Books of Mystery, p. 401]

We can apply this cosmology to the four portions of the Corpus Omnium. The first portion, which is dignified, would relate to the time period from Genesis 1:1 to the point of the Deluge. The second portion, also dignified, would follow the Deluge and represent history up to the time of the Crucifixion of Jesus. The third portion, not yet dignified, represents the present—which has not yet been fulfilled. Finally, the fourth portion, without glory or dignity, represents the End Times (Tribulation) and the reign of the Antichrist. Therefore, the Table of Nalvage (much like Loagaeth itself) encompasses the entire Universe from the beginning of time to the end.

Having thus revealed the general mysteries of the Corpus Omnium Table, Nalvage pressed onward to teach Dee and Kelley about the words contained therein. This lesson is given in a rather disjointed fashion in the journals, so I have consolidated the information for this chapter:²⁹

Vita Suprema (First Life)—Pre-Deluge

Nalvage begins with the upper-left-hand (pre-Deluge) portion of the Table—which he calls Vita Suprema (and we might translate as “Celestial Life,” “Supreme Life,” or “First Life”). The Angel points to three letters in the upper-left corner of the Table, and says:

I find it (by addition) in this language, Iad, but written thus, toward the left hand, in three angles:³⁰

I	D
A

The Angelical word Iad translates as “God.” Notice that these three letters appear in all four corners of the Corpus Omnium, which makes sense if the Table is intended to represent God.³¹ As we shall see, the direction in which the letters are written in each corner indicates which direction every word in the portion should be read. In the example above, we can see that words in the upper-left-hand portion of the Table should be read diagonally upward to the right.

Nalvage continues with the definition of the next word in this portion of the Table. Notice that it—like Iad—is written diagonally upward to the right:

I	D	Z
A	O
M

Say, Gaudium (To Rejoice)¹² . . . Moz.

Finally, Nalvage reveals the final word of the upper-left-hand portion:

I	D	Z
A	O	I
M	Z	R

Say, Presentia (In Person) . . . I find it called Zir.¹³

Therefore, we have learned that the upper-left-hand portion of the Corpus Omnium—Zir Moz Iad—translates as “I am the Joy of God.”

Stemming directly from this pre-Deluge portion, in the circumference of the Table, is the word Lvas. The given Latin translation is Laudantes—which roughly means “Those Who Praise.” (Nalvage also suggests they can be called Triumphantes or “Those who Triumph.”)

Vita Secunda (Second Life)—Post-Deluge to Christ

The next (post-Deluge), or lower-left-hand, portion of the Table is called Vita Secunda (Second Life). Here, we find the following letters along with Nalvage’s translations:

B	N	A
D	A	Z
I	A	B

Say, Potestas (Dominion) . . . I find it Bab.

Motus or Motio (Movement or Motion) . . . I find it Zna.

The second portion of the Table (Zna Bab Iad) translates as “The Moving Dominion of God” (or, perhaps, “The Active Dominion of God”). The words are formed by reading the letters diagonally upward to the left.

In the circumference, we find the name of another (possible) Angelic Choir stemming from this portion. The name is Lang, and translates in Latin as Ministrantes (“Those Who Serve”). There are, at least, various references to “the Ministering Angels” in biblical literature.¹⁴

Vita Tertia (Third Life)—Post-Crucifixion to Present

Following this, we find the third (present-time) portion of the Table on the upper-right-hand portion—called Vita Tertia (Third Life). The text in this portion appears as follows:

S	A	I
G	O	D
U	R	R

Actio (Action—especially that taken by a King) . . . Sor.

Factum (To cause, or bring about) . . . Gru.

So we have the words of the third portion of the Table (Gru Sor Iad), which translate as “The Cause of the Actions of God.” The words are formed by reading the letters diagonally downward to the right.

The circumference name stemming from this portion is Sach—which translates as Confirmantes (the “Establishers” or “Supporters”).

“Life, but Also Death” (Fourth Life)—Tribulation

When Nalvage finally turns his attention to the final, lower-right-hand (Tribulation) portion of the Table, he begins to tremble, speaks of death in Latin, and finally says, “Those that do their duty shall receive their reward.”¹⁵ The fourth portion of the Table appears thus:

F	O	S
S	E	A
R	D	I

Life, but also means Death.¹⁶

Luctus (Sorrow) . . . Ser.

Discordia (Discord) . . . Osf.

Finally, we have the last sentence of the Table (Osf Ser Iad), translating as “The Discord and Sorrow of God.” The words are formed by reading the letters diagonally downward to the left.

The circumference name associated with this portion is Urch—which means Confundantes (The Confusers). The Latin Confundo indicates “to mix, pour together, stir up” in the sense of “to confuse, disturb, upset, disorder,” etc. This chaotic state goes hand in hand with the End Times. It is perhaps significant that this is the only one of the four circumference names that is not written directly alongside of its associated portion of the Corpus Omnium Table.

Finally, I have also created the following Table, which will allow for easy reference to Nalvage’s lessons:

The Four Portions of Corpus Omnium
Table Portion	Biblical Time Period	Text within Portion	Circumference
1. Upper-Left (First Life)	Pre-Deluge (Dignified)	Zir Moz Iad (I am the Joy of God)	Luas (The Praisers or The Triumphant)
2. Lower-Left (Second Life)	Post-Deluge to Christ (Dignified)	Zna Bab Iad (Active Domin- ion of God)	Lang (The Servants)
3. Upper-Right (Third Life)	Post-Crucifix- ion to present (Not Yet Dignified)	Gru Sor Iad (Cause of the Actions of God)	Sach (The Establishers)
4. Lower-Right (Life/Death)	Tribulation (Without Glory or Dignity)	Osf Ser Iad (Discord and Sorrow of God)	Urch (The Confusers)

The Corpus Omnium and the Angelical Keys

I previously suggested that the Corpus Omnium has a close relationship with the Tables of Loagaeth and their Angelical Keys. Part of this relationship was established upon Nalvage’s next visit, when he delivered his final lesson on the subject of the Round Table. This particular session has long puzzled modern scholars, because Nalvage transmitted the material without preamble or explanation. In fact, it is only because of several cryptic statements made by Kelley that we know this lesson applies to the Corpus Omnium at all.

Below, I have transcribed the letters revealed by Nalvage exactly as they are formatted in Dee's journal:

D P C E T E I R S M S S S
E S A I I M M N S E S. (24)³⁷

Kelley: All this was in one line, in the lowermost portion, and lowermost line thereof.

I E E E T N O E D M E T M M M
M M D M A E T S E A M (27)

Kelley: Now he standeth still.

A E R T I S A N S S E A S D M M S E A O A
E V I I I I A O A O I I V I T S E I T T³⁸
S D A I N (43)³⁹

Kelley: These seemed to be taken out of diverse lines, in the three lower portions; but none out of the uppermost or fourth.

R S H D D S R R E S O L S N R E R E E
S F R H E I E E E E I E E O E T I S O E
R T T H D E O I S E O E S M E T F E D E
T S E E E E E R S E S E O R S M E T
D. R. F E D E T S E E R S E⁴⁰
S I S E H E N O E S M E F S F E E D I | I E |⁴¹ O E
S S S I S E O E S H E
D S D F T E I E O R S O E D H T E T
O E S H E O T E T E R E O E H S E R
E E I R E S R I S O E H E E D E I E H E
D T R N D D H D N (81)⁴²

Nalvage: The rest of this lesson the next morning. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 78]

Notice that Kelley describes Nalvage as pointing to various places within four "portions," which likely indicates the fourfold division of the Cor- pus Omnium Table. Of course, it would be impossible to derive such long strings of letters from such a simple magickal square. Therefore, I find it probable that the Table had once again reverted to the “infinitely lettered” version upon which Kelley had first seen Nalvage standing.

The Angels never give an explanation for these letter strings. (The next morning, Nalvage does arrive as promised—but he launches directly into the transmission of Key One.) The only clues we are given are short marginal notations made by Dee much later in the journals. In the first instance, Dee is discussing the First Table of Loagaeth:

Dee: For the First Table, [there]⁴³ is no Call. Although there be letters gathered, but made into no words, as you may see, before the first Call of all. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 194]

Dee is directing us to the place in his journals just previous to the reception of the first Call (or Key), and that happens to be the session where Nalvage delivered the previously quoted letter strings. Thus, we know that these letters represent the “Key” of the First Table of Loagaeth. (We might refer to this as “Key Zero.”) However, as Dee points out, the letters are never gathered into words because we are not intended to open the First Table.

The second notation is found a short while later, as Dee is discussing the progress of the reception of the forty-eight Keys with the Angel Ilmese:

Dee: There are but 18 besides the first [Call]⁴⁴ to God.

Ilmese: There are nineteen besides the first. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 199]

Dee had only received eighteen Keys at this point in the journals, and Ilmese is telling him that one more is coming.⁴⁵ What is important here, though, is that mention is made of nineteen Calls besides “the first [Call] to God.” This excluded first Call is one and the same with the letter strings transmitted by Nalvage as “Key Zero” for the First Table of Loagaeth. Therefore, we have learned that this hidden Key is, appropriately, a Call to God.

I have yet to discover where the Angels explained “Key Zero” to Dee and Kelley. (It is possible that the records have been destroyed.) However, I feel it is quite possible that they represent yet another example of steganography in Dee’s Angelic journals. Because these letter strings represent the “Key” of the First Table of Loagaeth, it is entirely possible they are an encryption algorithm of some sort.

Nalvage completes his lesson on the Corpus Omnium Table with the following words:

Thus I have made plain this body generally. The particulars are long, hard, and tedious. Thy name be blessed, O God, which canst open a means, whereby Thy powers immediate⁴⁶ may be opened unto man. Power, glory, and honor be unto Thee, for thou are the true body of all things and are life eternal. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 76]

In the prayer above, Nalvage refers to God as the “true body of all things”—thereby confirming that the Corpus Omnium is a representation of God. In fact, it seems to be a talisman representing the Divine Source of Dee’s entire “Enochian” system. It relates directly to the First Table of Loagaeth, which is associated with the Logos (or God-Christ), and the “Key” derived from it is described as a “Call to God.”

I assume the “means” whereby God’s powers may be “opened unto man” is the Corpus Omnium Table itself. Nalvage does involve the Table—indirectly—in the transmission of the forty-eight Keys. I say “indirectly” because, after delivering the letters of “Key Zero,” he does not draw anything further from the Round Table. However, he does sometimes stop the transmission of the Keys to strike the Table with his golden rod. This causes it to spin extremely fast—so that it appears to be a solid globe rather than a flat, round Table. (Elsewhere, Kelley states that the letters on the spinning Table could still be read as if they were standing still. I assume this is similar to the effect one sees when a propeller is spinning so fast that, in the proper light, it appears to stand still.) While it is not clear what all of this striking and spinning is about, the Corpus Omnium does seem to represent a source of power or authority throughout the transmission of the forty-eight Keys.

The Angelical Keys: What We Know

The information that follows is similar to the “The Forty-Nine Tables of Loagaeth: What We Know” section in chapter 2. It consolidates all the information recorded by Dee about the nature of the Angelical Keys. What the Angels had to say about the Keys will further illuminate the nature of the corresponding Tables of Loagaeth. The student will therefore want to compare the following material with the matching section in chapter 2.⁴⁷

Key “Zero” (First Table):

There is never a usable Key (or Call) given for the First Table of the Holy Book. As Nalvage said previously, “The soul of man hath no portion in this First Table.” Later in the journals, Dee confirms this with the following marginal notation:

... for the First Table can have no Call, it is of the Godhead. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 98]

However, as we have seen, the strange letter strings transmitted by Nalvage from the Corpus Omnium are intended to represent “the first [Call] to God.” Dee notes that the strings are “letters gathered, but made into no words.” In the surviving records, the Angels never offer an explanation for what the letters mean or how they might be used. Therefore, the Loagaeth magickal system has no method of opening the First Table. (See chapters 1 and 2 for information concerning the Jewish Fifty Gates of Understanding.)

Key One (Second Table):

Because the First Table of Loagaeth has no Key, the first of the forty-eight Angelical Keys applies to the Second Table. The Angel Illemese confirms this in the journals:

But you must understand that in speaking of the First Table, I speak of the Second. So that the second, with you, is the first. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 199]

This is an important note for modern researchers, because Illemese (and other Angels in Dee's journals) often refer to the Second Table of Loagaeth as the first—because it is the first accessible Table.

After Nalvage revealed Key One and its translation (or “English sense”), he proceeded to discuss the nature of the Key and the Table it opens:

It is the sense in your tongue of the holy and mystical Call before delivered: which followeth in practice for the moving of the second Table, the Kings and Ministers of Government. The utterance of which is of force, and moveth them to visible apparition. Moved and appeared, they are forced (by the Covenant of God delivered by His Spirit) to render obedience and faithful society. Wherein, they will open the mysteries of their creation, as far as shall be necessary, and give you understanding of many thousand secrets, wherein you are yet but children. | . . . |

This is therefore the key of the first seven, according to the proportion of the first Creation. No more for this time. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 88]

We discussed some of this in chapter 2, concerning the Second Table of Loagaeth. According to Nalvage, the first Key summons the “Kings and Ministers of Government” who are “the first seven.” Thus, it is likely that this Key refers to the Seven Archangels of the Seven Days of Creation, as well as to other Angelic rulers of the Universe.

Much of Nalvage's above speech is aimed at explaining how Key One works. It is “of force, and moveth [the Kings and Ministers of Government] to visible apparition.” Moreover, the recitation of the Key forces them to “render obedience and faithful society,” etc. However, Nalvage continues his thoughts by relating them to all the Keys as applied to the Loagaeth Tables.¹⁵

Key Three (Fourth Table):

After Nalvage transmitted the Third Angelical Key, the Archangel Gabriel appeared and said:

Hark, O ye sons of men: [this]⁴⁹ is the first of nature, and the beginning of your being in body. Whereby the things of the world have life and live. Let him that hath wisdom understand. Grow together, for this⁵⁰ hath its fruit in due time. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 98]

It is unclear if Gabriel's speech is intended to describe Key Three, or the Fourth Table of Loagaeth. He did say these words directly after the revelation of the Key—but I feel that he was speaking equally about the Key and its Table.

It would seem that Table Four (opened by Key Three) incorporates the creation of Adam—the beginning of mankind's "being in body." (See Genesis, chapter 2.) Both Gnostic and Qabalistic cosmology associate the creation of the physical realm with the formation of Adam's body. As such, it is likely the physical realm itself that Gabriel promises will "come to fruition in due time."⁵¹

Keys Nineteen to Forty-Eight (Twentieth to Forty-Ninth Tables): The Call of the Aethyrs

The Keys to the final thirty Tables of Loagaeth were introduced by Nalvage with the following speech:

There are 30 Calls yet to come. Those 30 are the Calls of Nif[nety-One] Princes and Spiritual Governors, unto whom the Earth is delivered as a portion. These bring in and again dispose Kings and all Governments upon the Earth, and vary the Nature of things with the variation of every moment. Unto whom, the providence of the eternal Judgment, is already opened. Those are generally governed by the twelve Angels of the 12 Tribes: which are also governed by the 7 which stand before the Presence of God. Let him that can see look up, and let him that can hear, attend, for this is wisdom. They are all spirits of the Air: not rejected, but dignified. And they dwell and have their habitation in the air diversely, and in sundry places. For, their mansions are not alike, neither are their powers equal. Understand therefore, that from the fire to the earth, there are 30 places or abidings: one above and beneath another: wherein these aforesaid Creatures have their abode, for a time. [A True and Faithful Relation, pp. 139–40]

Refer again to chapter 2, where I described “what we know” of the final thirty Tables of the Holy Book. These represent the thirty Aethyrs (or Heavens) that extend from the foot of God’s Throne to the surface of the Earth. (This is likely adopted from ancient Gnosticism, which recognized—in some sects—a thirty-Heaven cosmology.)

Furthermore, Nalvage teaches that the thirty Aethyrs are subdivided into ninety-one spiritual provinces set over geographical locations here on Earth. The names of these ninety-one “Parts of the Earth” are also the names of the Angelic Governors who rule the Parts.⁵² This is also similar to Gnosticism—which described the Aeons simultaneously as transcendent Divine Realms, long expanses of time, and as super-celestial Archangels.⁵³ In Gnostic cosmology, the Divine Aeons were mirrored in the created world by the Archons (Rulers)—Angels whose function was to direct and maintain both human and natural law.

It would appear, then, that the Archons are mirrored in Dee’s magical system by the ninety-one Governors. They direct and maintain the natural and human events that take place upon present-day Earth (establishing and deposing governments, varying the “nature of things” with every moment, and so on). By opening the proper Aethyr, one can summon the Governor and his legion of servient Angels set over any nation in the world. (Dee’s hope was to learn the secrets of these nations, as well as influence them for the good of the English empire.)

Nalvage’s speech about the “30 Calls yet to come” makes it clear that the thirty Aethyrs and their ninety-one Parts are astrological in nature. To begin with, the division of the world into spiritual provinces is described in Agrippa’s First Book of Occult Philosophy, chapter 31, “How Provinces and Kingdoms are Distributed to Planets.” Therein, Agrippa states that every nation in the world comes under the influence of a planet and zodiacal sign. He goes on to give examples of nations influenced by all seven planets (and the signs they each rule), which he drew from the works of the ancient Greco-Roman cartographer Ptolemy.

Nalvage, meanwhile, relates the same information in a slightly different manner. He states that the ninety-one Parts/Governors are collectively ruled by the Angels of the twelve Tribes of Israel.⁵⁴ In Agrippa’s work, these are also the Angels of the twelve signs of the zodiac.⁵⁵

Then, Nalvage states that these twelve Angels are governed directly by the seven Archangels who “stand before the presence of God.”⁵⁶ These are the Angels of the Seven Days of Creation as well as the seven ancient planets. The seven planetary Archangels govern the twelve zodiacal Archangels, just as the seven planets are given rulership over the twelve signs of astrology.

Of course, as I said in chapter 2, I do not wish to outline the entire system of the Parts of the Earth in this book. Here, we are concerned with the Tables of Loagaeth and the Keys that open them—and in this case we are focused upon the final thirty Keys of the Aethyrs.

Interestingly, it was not Nalvage that delivered the Aethyric Keys. Apparently, his period as a teacher ended at some point after he revealed the mysteries of the ninety-one Parts of the Earth.⁵⁷ When it came time to transmit the final thirty Keys, Gabriel had established Illemese as a substitute teacher. The Angel even appeared with the Corpus Omnium and Nalvage’s small golden pointing-rod.

The next two days were spent in the transmission of a single, and very long, Angelical Call. The English given for the text makes it obvious that it represents the biblical loss of Paradise, and thus represents the end of the initial creative period of Genesis (or, the Seventh Day).⁵⁸

After the Call was transmitted, Illemese revealed the Angelical names of the thirty Aethyrs (see chapter 2 for a list). He then stated:

There is all. Now change the name, and the Call is all one. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 209]

Thus, Dee and Kelley learned that the thirty Keys that open the Aethyrs are all composed of the same Angelical Call. The only thing that makes each of the final thirty Keys individual is the changing of a single word—the Angelical name of the Aethyr one desires to access. The first line of the Call of the Aethyrs reads as follows:

O you heavens which dwell in _____ are mighty in the Parts of the Earth .

When written in English, the blank space is filled with "the First Aethyr," "the Second Aethyr," etc. However, when written in Angelical, the space is filled with the proper name of the Aethyr.

Because of this repetition, there are technically only nineteen Calls in existence. (Remember Illemese previously told Dee, "There are nineteen [Calls] besides the first.")⁵⁹ However, by changing the single word in the nineteenth Call thirty times, we obtain a total of forty-eight Angelical Keys.

In the following chapter, we will explore the instructions given to Dee and Kellev by the Angels for the proper use of the Holy Book of Loagaeth and its forty-eight Angelical Keys.

Addendum: The Poetry of the Forty-Eight Calls

The Angelical Calls are more than just keys to mystical gateways. In fact, they consist of a kind of biblical poetry—psalms, really—that appear to outline a connected message about the life of the Universe. However, exactly what that message says has been debated by Enochian scholars for decades (if not centuries). Like proper biblical literature, the wording is obscure enough that different readers see entirely different messages. Over the years, many have offered their own explanations of the "meaning" behind or within the forty-eight Calls. Here, I will present my own analysis of the poetry, and attempt to demystify the obscure language.

The poetry of the Calls appears to draw from a range of biblical literature. The first, third, and final Calls each contain very Genesis-like aspects—describing the establishment of the physical world as we know it. Calls two, and twelve through eighteen, are reminiscent of psalms or verses from the Song of Solomon—being invocations of the Divine through praise.

The Calls are generally classifiable as apocalyptic writings—which like Loagaeth commonly focus upon the cycle of time and the life and death of the Universe. Apocalyptic texts include such canonical books as Ezekiel, Isaiah, Daniel, and the Revelation of St. John.⁶⁰ Calls four through fourteen, especially, remind one of verses from the Revelation, Isaiah, and so on.

The word apocalypse is an archaic word for “revelation”—especially in the spiritual/mystical sense. It is through such an apocalypse that the prophets Ezekiel, St. John, and (of course!) Enoch were able to glimpse the Divine Throne.⁶¹ It therefore makes sense that the Calls—and even Loagaeth itself—should be associated with apocalyptic literature. Not only were they received by Kelley and Dee via direct Angelic revelation (making them prophets in their own right), but the practice of the system (called Gebofal, see chapter 4) is intended to result in the revelation of mysteries. Not to mention the fact that the Angels associated the whole system with the Tribulation.

Finally, I must give some attention to the classical Gnostic influence upon these poems. As we have seen in previous chapters, there is an undeniable Gnostic imprint upon Dee’s entire system of magick.⁶² For example, the “thirty Aethyrs” are apparently based upon the thirty Heavens of the Gnostics.⁶³ Just as we see in Loagaeth, the Gnostic aspirant was expected to ceremonially open “gateways” leading into the thirty Heavens, receive purification and baptism within each realm, and finally obtain ultimate reunion with God. (See the Gnostic text entitled Pistis Sophia for just one example.)⁶⁴

Meanwhile, the Calls seem to contain a direct Gnostic borrowing in their name for God: Iadbaltoh, translating as “God of Justice (or Righteousness).” This name is suspiciously close to the ancient Gnostic name of the Creator—Ialdabaoth. The etymology of this name is obscure; however, Gnostic scripture records Ialdabaoth’s title of honor as “The God of Righteousness.”

There is also a Gnostic literary style to the poetry. For instance, the Calls written from Iadbaltoh’s viewpoint bring to mind such ancient writings as The Thunder-Perfect Intellect—wherein the Gnostic goddess Sophia speaks to her followers. (Remember that Sophia—or Wisdom—appears in Dee’s journals as the Mother of Angels: Galvah.) The treatment of the Christos (“He That Liveth and Triumpheth”) in the poetry is also very Gnostic in its imagery.

However, I must remind the reader that the classical Gnostic texts we know today were unknown to Dee and Kelley. During their lives, the classical (or Sethian) Gnostic sects had long since been exterminated, and the discovery of the Nag Hammadi texts in Egypt was hundreds of years away.⁶⁵

In the meantime, Gnosticism had lived on in the very foundations of Western esotericism—at the hearts of such movements and philosophies as Hermeticism, Rosicrucianism, and alchemy. Its imagery survived in medieval and Renaissance engravings and the Tarot trumps. Its literature was a heavy influence upon canonical biblical texts (such as the Book of John and Revelation). Many of its mysteries were shared with and adopted by Jewish Merkavah mystics and Qabalists. And its Doctrines were preserved and taught by isolated mystics and secret societies.

There had also been a Gnostic sect within the Catholic Church for a time—founded by a Christian teacher named Valentinus—until it was also exterminated. It would appear that Valentinian philosophy was the primary source of Gnosticism for much of the West, including for men such as Dee. With all of this taken into account, it is no surprise that the forty-eight Calls should bear the mark of Gnostic symbolism, without being technically classified as Gnostic literature themselves.

For brevity's sake, I will conclude this introduction and proceed to the analysis of the Calls. In what follows, I have provided the text of each Call. Then, each is broken into "sections" of related passages, and I have included my commentary with each section. The commentary will include further references to the influences upon the poetry we have already discussed.

Call One:

"I reign over you," sayeth the God of Justice, "in power exalted above the firmaments of wrath: in whose hands the Sun is as a sword, and the Moon a through-thrusting fire:

Most of Call One appears to be composed of the words of God Himself. As we see in the line above, the speaker of the Call establishes that he is not speaking his own words, but those of the God of Justice (Iad Balt or Iadbaltoh). By quoting the very words of the Creator at the time of their creation, the speaker is reminding the Angels of the promises they have made, and the commands given to them by God. (We shall see this elsewhere in the Calls.) The speaker is also proving that he knows these secret words, and thus establishes his own authority.

Remember that Call One is intended to move the "Kings and Ministers of Government," who are also the "First Seven." These are likely the seven Archangels who stand "before the Face of God" as depicted in the Revelation of St. John and elsewhere. Among these seven planetary Archangels, those of the Sun and Moon stand as chiefs. The first line of the Call reveals that the God of Justice is so far exalted (likely super-celestial, as in Gnosticism), even the mighty Sol and Luna are but tools or weapons in His hands—a sword and a "through-thrusting fire" (fiery arrow).

Which measureth your garments in the midst of my vestures and trussed you together as the palms of my hands. Whose seats I garnished with the fire of gathering, and beautified your garments with admiration. To whom I made a law to govern the Holy Ones, and delivered you a rod (with) the ark of knowledge.

In the first line above, the initial word which most likely refers to the Sun and Moon described in the previous line of the Call. In the study of astrology, the path of the Sun and Moon across the sky is used to distinguish the twelve principal constellations from among the chaotic mass of stars. Because of this, the Sun and Moon are credited with bringing order to chaos, as well as the government of the planetary and zodiacal Angels. From the standpoint of astrology, it is Sol and Luna who "truss together" the signs and planets (the kings and ministers of government). It is they who mark out (measure) the paths of the stars through the vault of the Heavens—the vestures (territories) of ladballah.

The next line suggests that God has garnished the seats of Sol and Luna with the "fire of gathering." This makes sense when we consider that the Sun and Moon are said to burn with a mere reflection of the fire from Heaven. The line then addresses the kings and ministers once again, and suggests that the Sun and Moon have "beautified your garments." The planets in our solar system are beautified by glowing with the light reflected from the Sun.

The next line seems to refer to the natural laws set by Iadbaltoh—those that govern the Holy Ones (Angels), and those which they enforce upon the created realm. As the kings and ministers of the Universe, they both hold the rod (scepter) of rulership and represent the ark (or storehouse) of all knowledge. (Remember that Dee was an astrologer, and regularly read the stars for knowledge.)

Moreover, you lifted up your voices and swore obedience and faith to Him that liveth and triumpheth; whose beginning is not, nor end cannot be; which shineth as a flame in the midst of your palace, and reigneth amongst you as the balance of righteousness and truth.

With the word moreover, Iadbaltoh changes the subject of his speech. He is, of course, still addressing the kings and ministers, but He suddenly appears to refer to a Divinity distinct from Himself—"Him that Liveth and Triumpheth." This would seem to be a direct reference to the Christos—the Anointed One who descends from Heaven to take on a body of flesh and triumph over evil ("liveth and triumpheth"). In the Book of Revelation, the Christos conquers the physical realm and is established as eternal King.

We have already discussed the Gnostic Christos (also called the Logos, or Word). It is both self-created and eternal, both distinct from and part of the Highest God. The descriptive terms used in Call One to describe "Him that liveth . . ." are typical of the Christos. He is described as eternal, and (in the same spirit of the Call thus far) is associated intimately with solar imagery. He "shineth as a flame" in the midst of the palace of the Holy Ones, as the Sun shines in the center of our solar system. Both the Christos in Heaven and the Sun in the celestial realm are the central pillar and balance. (Interestingly, Gnostic texts describe the Christos' first act as that of bringing balance to the realm of the Aeons. It then descended to the physical realm, to do the same here.)⁶⁶

Therefore, Call One serves to remind the Angelic rulers of the Universe that they have sworn themselves to both Iadbaltoh and the Christos.

Move, therefore, and show yourselves. Open the mysteries of your creation. Be friendly unto me. For, I am a servant of the same your God; the true worshiper of the Highest.

Finally, the Call ends with an evocational formula – or conjuration.⁶⁷ As we shall see, all of the Calls end with similar conjurations. All of them are spoken by the speaker of the Call, rather than by a figure—such as God—being quoted within the Call. However, there are a couple of instances where Iadbaltoh is quoted within the formula.

Call Two:

Can the wings of the winds understand your voices of wonder, O you the Second of the First,

Here in Call Two, we find no Genesis-like quotes from Iadbaltoh, but instead a more psalm-like adoration spoken by the speaker himself. I feel that this is a necessary companion to the commanding tone of Call One.

At first, I was tempted to see the Christos once more in the title “Second of the First.” Yet I am bothered by the fact that this Call will later refer to the Second of the First in the plural. If such is the case, then this Call is likely addressed to the same kings and ministers (or Holy Ones) as the First Call. Occult philosophy commonly refers to the gods and Angels as “Second Causes”—as opposed to God, the “First Cause.”

The “voices of wonder” mentioned in this first line likely have a double meaning. Taken at face value, the phrase appears to refer to the “wonderful voices” of the Holy Ones. However, the Angelical used here is Faaip (voices), while the standard Angelical word for voices—used later in this same Call—is Bia. Thus, I have conjectured that Faaip is meant to indicate “voicings”—as in songs or psalms. In this light, the “Second of the First” both have wonderful voices and are singing songs of wonder.

whom the burning flames have framed within the depths of my jaws; whom I have prepared as cups for a wedding, or as the flowers in their beauty for the chamber of righteousness.

Here we find a small change. While the Holy Ones were first credited with the “voicings of wonder,” it is now the speaker who claims to be singing them. (This makes sense, if the speaker is reciting the Keys in their Angelical. Remember that Nalvage previously referred to the Calls as voices: "In 49 voices, or callings: which are the Natural Keys to open those, not 49 but 48 | . . . | Gates of Understanding.")

The "burning flames" (of passion) have framed the voicings in "the depths of my jaws"—or deep within the speaker's heart where such psalms of passion would be inspired. It is these psalms that have been prepared as one would prepare a wedding or a bridal chamber. (Interestingly, the Holy Temple—wherein resides the Presence of God, or the Shekinah—is often described in Jewish tradition as a bridal chamber.)

Stronger are your feet than the barren stone, and mightier are your voices than the manifold winds. For, you are become a building such as is not but in the mind of the All Powerful.

Here we see the adoration of the Second of the First (clearly in the plural). I note that comparison is made between them and elements of the earthly realm—wind and stone. They are greater than the elements, and are in fact the building blocks of the physical world.

Also, as we see in Gnosticism, the created world was preconceived only in the mind of the All Powerful—which might indicate Iadbaltoh and/or the Christos. (John 1 describes the Logos as both "God" and "with God." In the same chapter, John affirms that the Logos is the Creator, or the agent of the Creation.)⁶⁸ In the Calls, Iadbaltoh is the primary Creator, though the Christos may be granted the same status, because the two are One.

"Arise," sayeth the First. Move therefore unto His servants. Show yourselves in power and make me a strong scething. For, I am of Him that liveth forever.

The Call finally ends with another conjuration formula. There is a short quote from God once again—called "the First" in this case, as the kings and ministers were called "the Second of the First" in the first line of the poem. The final line ends with "Him that liveth forever," which is likely a reference to Call One's "Him that liveth . . ." who has no beginning or end—the Christos.⁶⁹

Call Three:

"Behold," sayeth your God. "I am a Circle on whose hands stand 12 Kingdoms. Six are the seats of living breath; the rest are as sharp sickles or the horns of death; wherein the creatures of the earth are and are not except by mine own hand; which sleep and shall rise.

Call Three returns to quoting Iadbaltah. He once again describes the Universe as viewed through the eyes of an astrologer, and this entire Call is reminiscent of a zodiacal chart. The Circle is that of the Heavens, whose boundary is marked by the band of fixed stars. This Circle is then divided among twelve astrological Houses (called "Kingdoms" in the poetry of the Call) through which the stars pass in their daily courses. Quite often, the houses and their twelve signs are divided between positives and negatives, or fortunate (the seats of living breath) and unfortunate (sharp sickles or the horns of death). It is through these "kingdoms" that God directs the fate of the world—or where the creatures of the earth are and are not.

Remember that Call Three was described by Gabriel as "the first of nature, and the beginning of your being in body; whereby the things of the world have life and live." (See the section entitled "The Angelical Keys: What We Know," in this chapter.) This makes perfect sense, as Call Three seems to include a description of the physical realm. The Circle of the Heavens marks the boundary between the highest Divine realm and the created physical Universe. If the focus of this Call is upon the establishment of the zodiacal forces, then it is necessarily also about the establishment of the physical world.

The final words of this passage—which sleep and shall rise—are something of an enigma. They could simply mean that God directs who lives and dies—but that pesky word shall throws doubt upon the issue. If the creatures of the earth sleep (die) and shall rise, it would seem to suggest the Judeo-Christian concept of the Resurrection.⁷⁰ That would certainly fit with the apocalyptic nature of the Calls and the Book of Loagaeth itself. It would imply that the establishment of the Twelve Kingdoms will last until the End Times.

In the first I made you stewards and placed you in 12 seats of government, giving unto every one of you power successively over 456, the true ages of time, to the intent that from the highest vessels and the corners of your governments you might work my power: pouring down the fires of life and increase upon the earth continually. Thus, you are become the skirts of justice and truth.

At this point, the poetry resumes a more Genesis-like tone, with God placing His Angels in their seats of government at the beginning of time. The subject in this case is that of the twelve "Kingdoms" of the zodiac, and the Angels that govern them. It is their job, under the direction of the Seven Archangels, to direct the activities of the world, and to animate it by "pouring down the fires of life and increase continually."

In the second line of this passage, we learn the celestial Governors (stewards) are given power successively over "the true ages of time" (or Universe). In fact, Dee began his Angelic evocations by contacting Anael, the Archangel of Venus who was the then-current successive ruler of the cosmos.⁷¹ Dee's system followed those of Trithemius' Septem Secundus and the Arbatel of Magic, where the Seven Archangels govern in an Aeonian succession.

It is difficult to say with any surety what is indicated by the numbers "456." Most of these numbers were added by the Angel Illemese some time after the Angelical had been transmitted, as if they were an afterthought or a special consideration. Going strictly by context, I assume that the phrase "456, the true ages of time" is a reference to the zodiacal Kingdoms (or Angels) governed by the Seven Archangels. (The "456" will appear again in the following Call.)

Finally, notice the mention of the "skirts of justice and truth" at the end of this passage. In Call One we saw the Christos described as the "balance of righteousness [or justice] and truth," and associated with the Sun at the heart of the solar system. Here in Call Three, we find the Governors of the twelve zodiacal kingdoms described as the outer boundaries (skirts) of that central balance. A fairly cohesive depiction of the Universe has developed, particularly from an astrological standpoint.

In the Name of the same your God, lift up, I say, yourselves. Behold, His mercies flourish and Name is become mighty amongst us. In whom we say, move, descend and apply yourselves unto us as partakers of the secret wisdom of your creation.

The quotes from Iadbaltoh complete, the speaker again speaks for himself, and closes the Call with a general conjuration.

Calls Four through Seven seem to address a group of stellar Angels collectively referred to as the "Thunders." These particular Angels appear in the Book of Revelation:

And [the mighty Angel] cried with a loud voice, as when a lion roareth: and when he had cried, seven thunders uttered their voices. And when the seven thunders had uttered their voices, I was about to write: and I heard a Voice from heaven saying unto me, Seal up those things which the seven thunders uttered, and write them not." [Revelation 10:3-4]

With this in mind, let us take a look at the 'Thunders described in the Angelical Calls:

Call Four:

I have set my feet in the south and have looked about me saying, Are not the Thunders of Increase numbered 33 which reign in the Second Angle; under whom I have placed 9639 whom none hath yet numbered but One.

Call Four returns to quoting Iadbaltoh, once again establishing his Angelic rulers in their seats of power. In this case, He has focused his attention on the south—called the "Second Angle." (No "First Angle" is ever mentioned—however those who see a description of a zodiacal chart in Call Three have suggested it should be associated with the east—the place of the ascendant, where the horoscope begins. If this is the case, then Call Four likely moves clockwise upon that chart to the "Second Angle," which is indeed associated with the south.)

The final line above directs this Call toward the "Thunders of Increase"—who reign in the south—and their direct subordinates. (The Angelical for "Thunders of Increase" is Avavago—and that name will appear again in Call Eight, also associated with the south.) These Angels have not been "numbered" (counted) by anyone except "One." The Angelical word for "One" (l.), was used earlier in the Calls as "The First"—a Name of God. Therefore, it is likely that Iadbaltoh is referring to Himself in this instance—though it is possible that the reference is to the Christos.

In whom the second beginning of things are and wax strong; which also successively are the number of time; and their powers are as the first 456.

Here we are told more about the Angels (Thunders) of the Second Angle. Apparently they are related to the zodiacal Angels described in Call Three—who were given government in succession over “456, the true ages of time.” Here in Call Four, the Thunders also govern “the number of time” in succession, and are equated with “the first 456.” I suspect that these Angels of the south are zodiacal, directly subordinate to the rulers of the twelve Kingdoms. (See the following three Keys for more evidence toward this interpretation.)

The Call also credits the Thunders with “the second beginning of things.” On the surface, this might be a reference to the foundation of the New World after the Tribulation. (See the final chapter of the Book of Revelation.) However, I should point out that the Angelical word used here—Croodzi (beginning)—includes no indication of “second” (Viv). Perhaps the intent here is to indicate that these Angels govern a cyclic time which periodically “restarts.”

Arise you sons of pleasure and visit the earth, for I am the Lord your God which is and liveth.” In the Name of the Creator, move and show yourselves as pleasant deliverers; that you may praise Him amongst the sons of men.

This Call ends with another conjuration formula. This one is unique, because it begins before the end of Iadbaltoh’s speech.⁷² God Himself tells the Angels to arise and visit the Earth. Note how He refers to Himself at this point as He who “is and liveth”—similar to the title He previously gave to the Christos. Remember earlier, I explained this blending of the Highest God and the Christos in biblical literature.⁷³ The Creation was accomplished by God through the power of the Christos.

Finally, the speaker concludes with his own words of conjuration "In the Name of the Creator."

Call Five:

The Mighty Sounds have entered into the third Angle and are become as olives in the olive mount looking with gladness upon the earth and dwelling within the brightness of the heavens as continual comforters, unto whom I have fastened pillars of gladness 19, and gave them vessels to water the earth with her creatures:

Call Five is again spoken almost entirely by Iadbaltoh. He is never mentioned directly in the text, but we can see the use of first person in the phrase "... unto whom I have fastened pillars ..." Thus, this Call fits with the others that quote God during the creation of the Universe and the establishment of His Angelic rulers.

Previously, in Call Four, we first met the Thunders of Increase—a group of Angels ruling in the Second Angle (south). That imagery is continued into Call Five, where we meet "Mighty Sounds" (Thunders) in the Third Angle. If this is descriptive of a zodiacal chart, then the Third Angle should represent the western quarter.

Notice that these Mighty Sounds are very numerous ("as olives in the olive mount") and dwell within the "brightness of the heavens." "looking with gladness upon the earth." I believe this is a poetic description of stars in the sky, which further supports the interpretation of these Angels as zodiacal. This is further indicated by the following passages:

and they are the brothers of the First and Second; and the beginning of their own seats which are garnished with continually burning lamps 69636; whose numbers are as the first, the ends, and the contents of time.

The Mighty Sounds of the Third Angle are the brothers of (that is, equated with) the Angels of the "First and Second" Angles. Also note how they are described as "the first, the ends, and the contents of time"—which is analogous to the descriptions of the zodiacal Angels in Calls Three (the true ages of time) and Four (the number of time).

Therefore, the Mighty Sounds in the third angle (west) are equated with the zodiacal Angels in the first two angles (east and south).⁷⁴

I also suspect that the reference to “continually burning lamps” is another poetic description of the stars, shining in the night sky.

Therefore, come you and obey your creation. Visit us in peace and comfort. Conclude us as receivers of your mysteries. For why? Or Lord and Master is all one.

The quotes from Iadbaltoh have ended once more, and the Call returns to the viewpoint of the speaker, who employs a conjuration as we’ve come to expect.

Call Six:

The spirits of the fourth Angle are nine, mighty in the Firmaments of Water; whom the First hath planted a torment to the wicked and a garland to the Righteous; giving unto them fiery darts to van the earth and 7699 continual workmen whose courses visit with comfort the earth; and are in government and continuance as the second and the third.

For some reason, this Call does not quote Iadbaltoh at all, though it does mention Him as “the First.” While it is spoken entirely by the speaker, it does not take the style of a biblical psalm.⁷⁵ Instead, it retains the Genesis-like style of the previous three Calls, describing the establishment of the Angelical spirits of the “Fourth Angle.”

For some reason, these spirits of the Fourth Angle go unnamed. However, it is most likely their name would be another take on Thunders, Mighty Sounds, etc. These particular entities reside in the “Fourth Angle,” which should be the northern quarter of a zodiacal chart.

This Call also outlines the intimate relationship between these Angels and the zodiacal Angels described in the three previous Calls. They are “as the Second and the Third”—meaning they are equated with the Angels in the second (southern) and third (western) angles.

Likewise, they are described as residing in the “Firmaments of Water” (the nighttime sky) and in charge of “continual workmen” whose “courses visit with comfort the earth.” I feel we are again looking at a poetic description of the stars in the sky.

Wherefore, hearken unto my voice. I have talked of you and I move you in power and presence, whose works shall be a song of honor and praise of your God in your creation.

Finally, this Call concludes like all the others, with a formula of conjuration for these Angels.

Call Seven:

The east is a house of virgins singing praises amongst the flames of the First Glory:

Like Call Six, this poem is not spoken by Iadbaltoh, and He is only mentioned herein (later in the Call) as “the Lord.” The style remains that of Genesis over that of Psalms.

In this case, the east is directly addressed as such. It is not called an “Angle,” but we will see a reference to the Angles later in the poem. Going by the pattern we have followed thus far, the east should be the First Angle of the zodiacal chart.

I am unsure if there is any deep significance to the phrase house of virgins. It could simply be a poetic description of the Angels who reside in the east. These are the Angels who sing praises as the Sun rises at dawn (viz., the flames of the First Glory), or those who sing in the direct presence of the Divine Throne. Their relationship to the newborn Sun (or, in Christian imagery, the newborn Son) would explain their description as “virgins.”

However, just like the Angels in Call Six, the virgins are not given a name. However, because they are equated with the Angels of the other three angles of the Heavens, I suggest they are also “Thunders.”

wherein the Lord hath opened His Mouth, and they become 28 living dwellings in whom the strength of men rejoiceth and they are appareled with ornaments of brightness such as work wonders on all creatures.

Here we see the establishment of these Angels by Iadbaltoh. Although the focus of this Call is obviously upon the east, I still suspect that the “28 living dwellings” represent the astrological mansions of the Moon. This fits the zodiacal focus of the previous three Calls, and it recalls the imagery of the Moon that was mentioned only once in Call One.

In the "ornaments of brightness" I see yet another poetic image of the stars in the nighttime sky.

Whose kingdoms and continuance are as the Third and Fourth; strong towers and places of comfort, the seats of mercy and continuance.

Here we see that the Angels of the east are "as the Third and Fourth"—or as the Angels of the third and fourth angles. This supports the idea that they are zodiacal Angels along with those of Calls Four, Five, and Six. By moving from the north to the east of the horoscope, the Calls have now completed the Circle begun in Call Four—encompassing all of the Angelic rulers of the zodiac.

O you servants of mercy, move, appear, sing praises unto the Creator, and be mighty amongst us. For to this remembrance is given power and our strength waxeth strong in our Comforter.

The Call finally comes to its concluding conjuration. However, this time an extra line is added to the end, which seems very formal and almost prayer-like. I suspect this is a conclusion of sorts, indicating a break between the previous seven Calls and those that follow.

For illustration, I have outlined my concept of the pattern found through the first seven Calls:

Calls One and Two: Evocation of the seven planetary Archangels.

Call Three: Evocation of the Archangels of the twelve signs/houses.

Calls Four through Seven: Evocation of stellar Angels associated with the four quarters of the Universe, and governed by the Seven and Twelve.

Therefore, we see in these Calls the formation of the entire Universe, expressed in astrological terms. The seven planetary Archangels are the "Seven Spirits of God" mentioned several times in the Revelation of St. John. They direct the Archangels of the Twelve Kingdoms of the zodiac, who are themselves described in Revelation 21 as the guardians of the twelve gates of the Holy City.

In turn, the twelve zodiacal Kingdoms are populated with innumerable Angels (or Thunders) who are grouped into the four quarters of the Universe—likely according to elemental triplicity. I base the latter assumption on a diagram Dee drew of St. John's description of the Holy City. "Dee labeled the twelve gates with the secret names of the Twelve Archangels, the associated Hebrew tribes and their corresponding signs of the zodiac." This diagram indicates that the fiery triplicity (Aries, Leo, Sagittarius) is associated with the east; the earthy triplicity (Capricornus, Taurus, Virgo) is associated with the south; the airy triplicity (Libra, Aquarius, Gemini) is associated with the west; and the watery triplicity (Cancer, Scorpio, Pisces) is associated with the north. This is the zodiacal attribution of elements to the four quarters, as given by Agrippa in his Three Books of Occult Philosophy (Scale of the Number Four).¹⁰

Having thus established the Angelic rulers who will govern Creation, the following Calls seem to focus upon the Angels who will purify that Creation by fire during the Tribulation.

Therefore, from this point onward, we shall see a marked increase in apocalyptic imagery. Much like the Revelation of St. John and other apocalyptic literature, the poetry of the Calls is extremely obscure and difficult to interpret. If the student wishes to gain a deeper understanding of the remaining Keys, I suggest a study of such books as the Revelation of St. John, Daniel, the Book of Enoch (1 Enoch), and related biblical texts.

We will also see more of the Thunders in later Calls, though it is uncertain if they are exactly the same Thunders outlined in Calls Four through Seven. They are either entirely separate Angels in charge of the End Times, or they are simply the previous Thunders who will act in that capacity in the future.

Call Eight:

"The midday the first is as the third Heaven made of hyacinth pillars 26; in whom the Elders are become strong; which I have prepared for my own righteousness," sayeth the Lord.

Call Eight suddenly returns to quoting Iadbaltoth—and it will be the last to do so until the final Call (that of the thirty Aethyrs). Once again, God is describing the establishment of some aspect of the Universe.

In classical texts, the reference to the "midday" sometimes indicates the south.⁷⁹ (This Call will later reference the "Thunders"—or Avavago—who are said in Call Four to reign in the south.) However, it is unclear if the south is the intended meaning of "midday" in this case. The southern angle of a horoscope also doubles as the zenith, or the highest point in the Heavens through which the planets and stars pass. The first line of Call Eight could be interpreted in that way, as midday is the time when the Sun passes through the zenith.

God places into the zenith a series of mysterious "pillars." The poem is not clear on whether or not these pillars are Angels—however, the speaker will later address them directly in his conjuration. Thus, I can only assume that they are Angelic intelligences of some sort. (The Call does say they are made of "hyacinth"—which may mean lapis lazuli, a stone used to symbolize the night sky.)⁸⁰

The Call does tell us that the pillars are associated in some way with the Elders of the Apocalypse (first mentioned in Revelation 4:4.) These twenty-four beings are described as tribal Elders (two for each Hebrew tribe) and direct advisors to the Divine Crown. In occultism, they are often associated with the zodiac (as are the tribes)—a positive and negative Elder for each sign. (It is a shame, of course, that the number of pillars given in the Call is twenty-six, rather than twenty-four to match the number of Elders.)⁸¹

"Whose long continuance shall be bucklers to the stooping dragons and like unto the harvest of a widow.

The pillars are intended, as long as they last, to act as barriers against the "stooping dragons." (To stoop means to dive, as a bird after its prey.) This imagery reminds me of the four "Watchtowers" described in Dee's advanced magick, and introduced by the Angel Ave with the following words:

The Four houses are the Four Angels of the Earth, which are the Four Overseers, and Watchtowers, that . . . God . . . hath placed against the . . . Great Enemy, the Devil. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 170]

So, the Watchtowers serve the same function as the pillars of Call Eight—to hinder the demonic forces of the Universe. (Satan will be referred to as “the Dragon” later in this same Call.) Furthermore, the names of the twenty-four Elders are found (in groups of six) in the four Watchtowers⁸²—suggesting yet another connection between the Watchtowers and the pillars.

The final description of the pillars in Call Eight is the most enigmatic, for the pillars are “like unto the harvest of a widow.” I have seen it suggested that sorrow and hardship are the “harvest of a widow,” and I have to agree.⁸³ Yet, we have to question why pillars established to hinder the dragon(s) would also be a source of sorrow.

A simple interpretation might be that the sorrow and hardship are experienced by the dragons who desire to dive past the pillars. A more involved interpretation would draw from Gnosticism, which referred to the band of fixed stars as a “Great Barrier” that must be overcome, through ordeal and tribulation, by each aspirant who wishes to gain entry to Heaven. (This is applied to the story of Jesus, who suffered torture and final Crucifixion upon the cross in order to propel his soul beyond the Great Barrier.) If the pillars are associated with the Elders (the zodiac), then Call Eight may be referring to both their function of keeping the dragons out as well as their function of keeping the unworthy sealed in.

How many are there, which remain in the glory of the earth, which are and shall not see death until this house fall and the dragon sink.”

This is the most apocalyptic line of Call Eight. We saw earlier that the pillars only keep out the dragon(s) so long as they are in place. This line warns that the removal of the pillars will result in an immediate attack by the dragon. (The word sink is used here in the same sense as stoop—to dive and attack.)

I believe this is a direct reference to the Tribulation. It seems to indicate such by asking, “How many are currently alive on the earth who will still be alive when the pillars are removed?” Compare this to Matthew 24, where Jesus tells his disciples of the End Times, “Verily I say unto you, This generation shall not pass, till all these things be fulfilled.”

Come away, for the Thunders have spoken. Come away, for the crowns of the Temple, and the coat of Him that is, was, and shall be Crowned, are divided. Come, appear to the terror of the earth; and to our comfort; and of such as are prepared.

At last, we reach the concluding conjuration, in the speaker's own words. This is a longer and more involved conjuration than we have seen so far—likely “geared up” due the apocalyptic nature of the Call.

The Thunders (or the Avavago from Call Four) are mentioned again, which I assume in this case is a direct reference to the Thunders of Calls Four through Seven. It is likely that the Thunders having “spoken” carries a double meaning. On the one hand, it may indicate the description in the Revelation of St. John (shown previously), where each of Seven Thunders utters “a Voice.” On the other hand, it may indicate the fact that Calls Four through Seven have already been spoken.

Lastly, note the reference to “Him that is, was, and shall be Crowned.” This appears to be another reference to the Christos as we saw in Calls One and Two—especially in His aspect as the eternally crowned King. The divided “crowns of the Temple” and “coat” of the Christos likely represent a disrupted Universe—as in the Tribulation.

Call Nine:

A mighty guard of fire with two-edged swords flaming (which have vials 8 of wrath for two times and a half; whose wings are of wormwood and of the marrow of salt), have settled their feet in the west and are measured with their ministers 9996.

In Call Nine, a platoon (guard) of fiery Angels land in the west. Their physical aspect is terrifying—wings of wormwood (a poison) and salt, flaming swords and of course the horrible “vials of wrath.” These vials appear to draw from the Revelation 15, where we find seven Angels with the vials of plagues.³⁴ Therein, as each Angel pours out its vial of God's wrath, horrible catastrophes take place on Earth—such as water turning to blood, people stricken with sores, and the land burning with scorching sunlight.

The western orientation of this Call appears to be a smooth transition from the southern angle (or zenith) of the previous Call—though

I am unsure if that pattern truly applies after Call Seven. (See Calls Ten through Thirteen, where the apparent clockwise pattern breaks down entirely.)

These gather up the moss of the earth as the rich man doth his treasure.
Cursed are they whose iniquities they are.

A thesaurus suggests that moss is a synonym of words such as muck, mire, quagmire, slime, and so on.⁸⁵ (In the Lexicon, I have settled upon the word dross.)⁸⁶ If that is the correct interpretation, then the “moss of the earth” may be one and the same with the “cursed” in the next line. The phrase “they whose iniquities they are” likely indicates those iniquitous humans toward whom the terrible Angels will direct their wrath. It is they who will be “gathered” (likely cut down, as in gathering a crop) in huge numbers (as the rich man gathers treasure).

In their eyes are millstones greater than the earth, and from their mouths run seas of blood. Their heads are covered with diamond and upon their hands are marble sleeves. Happy is he on whom they frown not. For why? The God of Righteousness rejoiceth in them.

Here the Call returns to describing the terrifying aspect of these Angels—and the picture is far worse than previously imagined. Notice how often hard things are used to describe them—eyes of millstones, heads of diamond, and marble gloves. The image is that of unstoppable juggernauts, impervious to cries for mercy. Why should Iadbaltoh rejoice in such terrible creatures? Because they are the mighty forces that will someday scour the “moss” from the face of the Earth.

These Angels are never named in this Call; however, we will see the Thunders mentioned once again in Call Ten. It is possible that these Angels are Thunders as well—though it is uncertain what relation (if any) they have to the Thunders of Calls Four through Seven.

Come away, and not your vials. For the time is such as requireth comfort.

The concluding conjuration formula is very short this time. It calls for them to come, but to leave their vials behind. (We wouldn’t want them to bring those down until the Final Day!) Finally, apparently as a defense against the wrathful nature of these Angels, the speaker informs them that the time requires comfort.

Call Ten:

The Thunders of Judgment and Wrath are numbered and harbored in the north in the likeness of an oak whose branches are 22 nests of lamentation and weeping laid up for the earth: which burn night and day and vomit out the heads of scorpions and live sulfur mingled with poison.

At last, we find a new reference to the apocalyptic Thunders. However, note the change from “Thunders of Increase” who rained down life and comfort upon the Earth in previous Calls, to “Thunders of Judgment and Wrath” (Angelical: Coraxo) who store up lamentation and weeping for the Earth. This may support the view that these Thunders are not the same as those previous to Call Eight.

Notice that these Angels have a terrifying aspect like those of Call Nine, in this case vomiting scorpions, poison, and fire. Imagery suggesting hardness is invoked again in the description of these Angels as an “oak”—a type of tree known for being rigid and unbending.

This Call focuses upon the north, which seems to be the natural progression from the west in the previous Call. However, this is the last Call that seems to follow that smooth pattern,⁸⁷ and I therefore suspect an entirely different pattern exists from Call Eight onward. Sadly, I have been unable to decode the directional references in these later Calls.

These be the Thunders that 5678 times in the 24th part of a moment roar with a hundred mighty earthquakes, and a thousand times as many surges, which rest not neither know any (long) time here. One rock bringeth forth 1000 even as the heart of man doth his thoughts.

Here the descriptions of the Thunders of Judgment and Wrath continue. These Angels apparently bring great earthquakes, similar to catastrophic events described in the Revelation and elsewhere.⁸⁸

Woe, woe, woe woe, woe, woe, yea, woe be to the earth. For her iniquity is, was, and shall be great.

These seven “woes of the Earth” are likewise drawn from Revelation (chapters 8-11), where St. John mentions only three.⁸⁰ However, they are associated with the sounding of seven trumpets blown by the seven Archangels. Each trump results in disaster upon the Earth (hail, blood, fire, death, the Star Wormwood,⁸¹ etc.), and the woes are associated with the final three. Of course, each of the seven trumps causes “woe” in the world. Thus, the poetry of this Call likely addresses the results of all seven trumps by repeating the word woe seven times.

Come away, but not your noises.

The concluding conjuration asks the Thunders to come, but to leave behind their “noises” (earthquakes, fire-vomiting, and so on). I find it significant that Call Ten ends with an extremely abbreviated conjuration, very similar to that found in the previous Call. It is, once more, as if the speaker wishes to summon these Angels without gaining too much of their attentions.

Calls Nine and Ten certainly appear to be a connected pair. They are similar in their basic structure, appear to describe similarly terrifying Angels, and they are the most laden with apocalyptic imagery. The following Call has a slightly different structure and imagery than the preceding two, but it does reference the Coraxo (“Thunders”) first mentioned in Call Ten.

Call Eleven:

The Mighty Seat groaned and they were 5 Thunders which flew into the east, and the Eagle spake and cried with a loud voice, “Come away!”

Even though the imagery of Call Eleven is slightly different, I do find that its relationship to the Revelation of St. John is as close or closer than what we see in Calls Ten and Eleven. This close relationship is made apparent right away: The Thunders flying out from the “Mighty Seat” and the Eagle (one of the Four Holy Living Beasts, or Chaioth haQodesh) are both seen in Revelation 4.⁸² In fact, the first lines of Call Eleven sound as if they could have been quoted right out of Revelation itself.

This Call is also unique for the very same reason. While the other Calls have drawn imagery from Revelation, they have all been descriptions of the Creation in action, or adorations, or quotes from Iadbaltoh, or the like. Call Eleven, alone among the forty-eight Calls, is written as if it were telling a story. It gives the sense that a prophet is recording a vision in action, like St. John, Ezekiel, or Isaiah.

In these passages, five of the Thunders (Coraxo) fly from the Divine Throne and head toward the east. However, the eagle speaks up and calls them back. I presume the eagle calls them to the north—the natural position of the eagle/Scorpius in the four zodiacal quarters.⁹² I therefore suspect that Call Eleven is associated with the north rather than the east.

And they gathered themselves together and became the house of death, of whom it is measured, and it is as they are whose number is 31.

The northern association of this Call may be supported by the fact that the returning Thunders gather themselves together and become “the house of death”—which could be a reference to Scorpius (the Sign that rules the eighth astrological House of death/generation) in the north.⁹³

Come away, for I have prepared for you. Move, therefore, and show yourselves. Open the mysteries of your creation. Be friendly unto me. For, I am a servant of the same your God; the true worshiper of the Highest

The concluding conjuration is much more elaborate than we saw in the preceding two Calls. I note that the speaker makes a specific reference to being “prepared” for the arrival of the Thunders, which could have some relationship to the House of Death concept. That is the astrological House of wills, inheritance, and all things one must prepare before passing. Moreover, as Call Eleven is an apocalyptic vision, it suggests that the speaker is spiritually prepared for Divine Judgment.

As a final note, this is the first Call that resumes the use of the “Repetitive Formula Pattern” (or RFP) established in the concluding conjuration of Call One. This formula will be the standard conjuration found from here through Call Eighteen.

The next seven Calls (Twelve through Eighteen) break with the previous literary patterns. While they certainly remain very apocalyptic in nature, they suddenly look less like biblical passages and more like grimoiric conjurations composed of biblical imagery (though nothing as specific as we saw in Calls Nine through Eleven.) They are spoken by the speaker from start to finish, and some of them address rather powerful celestial forces.

I also note that each of these seven Calls contains a specific name or title of God. (I have indicated each in what follows with bold characters.) This further supports the interpretation of these Calls as straight conjurations, associating them with occult literature common in Dee's time.

Call Twelve:

Oh you that reign in the south and are 28 the lanterns of sorrow, bind up your girdles and visit us. Bring down your train 3663 that the Lord may be magnified whose name amongst you is Wrath.

This is the second Call that mentions the number 28 (see Call Seven), though this instance is associated with the south rather than the east. I find it unlikely that the two are related, as the 28s in Call Seven were associated with strength and rejoicing, while the 28s in this Call are associated with the "lanterns of sorrow."

Who these Angels are who reign in the south, or why they should be "lanterns of sorrow," is not explained. These could be a new set of apocalyptic Angels, or they could be the same Angels we have previously seen in the south. The use of lantern imagery may suggest stars, as it did in earlier Calls.

Note that both this Call and the next are addressed to the Angels in the south. It is difficult to imagine why two Calls in a row should be assigned to the south—though we might compare this to Calls Nine and Ten, both of which appear to be assigned to the north.

Move, I say, and show yourselves. Open the mysteries of your creation. Be friendly unto me. For, I am a servant of the same your God; the true worshiper of the Highest.

Finally, the Call ends with the RFP conjuration formula from Call One—with the exception that the usual word therefore has been replaced with I say. No explanation for this change exists—it is an alteration Dee made between recording the Calls in his journals and transcribing them to his 48 Claves Angelicae.⁹⁴ (Compare this to the following six Calls, which contain the same RFP without either therefore or I say.)

Call Thirteen:

O you swords of the south, which have 42 eyes to stir up wrath of sin, making men drunken which are empty. Behold the promise of God and His power which is called amongst you a Bitter Sting. Move and show yourselves. Open the mysteries of your creation. Be friendly unto me. For, I am a servant of the same your God; the true worshiper of the Highest.

Call Thirteen addresses the Angels of the south once again—though we cannot be certain if these are the same entities. They are called the “swords of the south,” which is likely a reference to sword-bearing Angels. (The name Bitter Sting also carries the connotation of a sword-stroke or attack.) The Call only tells us that they are stirred up by sin, and they seem to direct their wrath against those who are spiritually “empty.”

The Call concludes with the RFP from Call One, missing only the second word therefore. (Compare to Call Twelve, which replaces therefore with I say.) The RFP as we see it here in Call Thirteen will remain unchanged throughout the following five Calls.

Call Fourteen:

O you sons of fury, the daughters of the just, which sit upon 24 seats, vexing all creatures of the earth with age, which have under you 1636; Behold the voice of God, promise of him which is called amongst you Fury (or Extreme Justice). Move and show yourselves. Open the mysteries of your creation. Be friendly unto me. For, I am a servant of the same your God; the true worshiper of the Highest.

The identity of the “sons of fury” and “daughters of the just” is unclear. We can see that they vex all creatures upon the earth with age—so they are related to the progress of time. They also sit upon twenty-four seats, which evokes the imagery of the twenty-four Elders seen in the Revelation, and mentioned in Call Eight. The Elders represent the positive and negative aspects of each zodiacal sign, and this could explain the reference to “sons” and “daughters.”

On the other hand, it is also possible that these sons and daughters are associated with the twenty-four hours of the day and night. There is too little descriptive evidence to be sure.

The concluding conjuration is the RFP seen in Calls One, and Eleven through Eighteen.

The next four Calls (Fifteen through Eighteen) address the “Governors of the Four Flames.” We never learn the identity of the Governors or the meaning of the Four Flames. (In just one case—Call Eighteen—the Governor is referred to as a Flame). We are only given the impression that these Governors are extremely exalted and powerful.

Personally, these beings bring to mind the four Cherubim of Jewish and Christian mysticism (usually described as Michael, Gabriel, Raphael, and Uriel).⁹⁵ Closely related to these four are the Chaiioth haQodesh—the Holy Living Beasts we discussed in relation to Call Eight, who represent the zodiacal triplicities in Ezekiel 1 and Revelation 4. Depending upon which text you read, these great Beasts uphold the Throne of God, or the firmament (Aethyrs). Of course, the Angel Nalvage, in A True and Faithful Relation, describes them as Watchtowers against the attacks of Satan.⁹⁶

Even more, the “Governors of the Four Flames” remind me of four Gnostic beings called the “Great Luminaries”—Harmozel, Oroiael, Daueithai, and Eleleth.⁹⁷ These four Luminaries are treated as both intelligent beings and as vast heavenly realms (or Aeons). They were created by the Christos for the purpose of bringing balance and order to Heaven. Therefore, the twelve lesser Aeons were categorized and established within their realms:

Harmozel: Loveliness, Truth, and Form.

Oroiael: Afterthought, Perception, and Memory.

Daueithai: Intelligence, Love, and Ideal Form (or Idea).

Eleleth: Perfection, Peace, and Wisdom.⁴⁵

The twelve lesser Aeons are archetypal concepts, representing varying aspects of the Mind of God. According to Gnostic thought, when Ialdabaoth created the signs of the zodiac, He modeled them upon the twelve lesser Aeons. Likewise, when He created the four Cherubim of the triplicities, He modeled them upon the Great Luminaries.

With this in mind, I feel it is likely the "Governors of the Four Flames" from the next four Calls are representative of the four Luminaries of the triplicities, the Holy Living Beasts and perhaps even Dee's own four Watchtowers.

Call Fifteen:

O thou the Governor of the First Flame, under whose wings are 6739 which weave the earth with dryness, which knowest the great name Righteousness and the seal of honor. Move and show yourselves. Open the mysteries of your creation. Be friendly unto me. For, I am a servant of the same your God; the true worshiper of the Highest.

Though none of these four Calls will give us directional references, I suspect we might be able to relate the "First Flame" with the "First Angle" seen in previous Calls. If so, then the ordering probably follows the same clockwise direction we saw in Calls Four through Seven. Therefore, the "Governor of the First Flame" (along with the 6739 ministers under him) would represent the stars of the east.

The concluding conjuration is the RFP seen in Calls One, and Eleven through Eighteen.

Call Sixteen:

O thou of the Second Flame, the house of justice which has thy beginning in glory and shalt comfort the just, which walkest upon the earth with feet 8763 that understand and separate creatures; Great art thou in the God of Stretch Forth and Conquer. Move and show yourselves. Open the mysteries of your creation. Be friendly unto me. For, I am a servant of the same your God; the true worshiper of the Highest

Here we meet the Governor of the Second Flame, which likely relates to the southern quarter. I am unsure if the “house of justice” is intended to refer to one of the astrological Houses—though I do find it unlikely. It appears to be the Governor himself who is the “house of justice” and will “comfort the just.” This is apparently related to the Tribulation and final judgment of humanity.

There is an obscure reference here to “walking upon the earth” and “understanding and separating creatures.” Later in the Key of the Aethyrs, we will find a similar reference to the “reasonable creatures of the earth,” which indicates mankind. It is difficult to decide, here in Call Sixteen, if the Governor of the Second Flame (and the 8763 ministers under him) is walking upon Earth as a human, or merely with humans.

The concluding conjuration is the RFP seen in Calls One, and Eleven through Eighteen.

Call Seventeen:

O thou whose wings are thorns to stir up vexation, and hast 7336 lamps living going before thee; whose God is Wrath in Anger. Gird up thy loins and hearken. Move and show yourselves. Open the mysteries of your creation. Be friendly unto me. For, I am a servant of the same your God; the true worshiper of the Highest.

In Call Seventeen we see no reference to a Flame, though we can assume this is the Governor of the Third Flame based on the progression from Call Fifteen through Eighteen. This particular Governor (and his 7336 ministers) most likely represents the stars of the western quarter. (Note the reference to lamps again—which has previously indicated stars.)

We are only told that this Governor has wings that “stir up vexation” upon the Earth—which seems to fit well with the name “Wrath in Anger.” This is apocalyptic imagery once again. (As a note, the phrase “gird up thy loins” means “to prepare oneself.”)

The concluding conjuration is the RFP seen in Calls One, and Eleven through Eighteen.

Call Eighteen:

O thou mighty Light and Burning Flame of comfort, which openest the glory of God to the center of the earth. In whom the secrets of truth 6332 have their abiding, which is called in thy kingdom Joy, and not to be measured. Be thou a window of comfort unto me. Move and show yourselves. Open the mysteries of your creation. Be friendly unto me. For, I am a servant of the same your God: the true worshiper of the Highest

The final Governor is called a “Flame of Comfort” and a “window of comfort.” I notice that the Governors have been alternately hostile (weaving the Earth with dryness, stirring up vexation) and comforting (comfort the just, window of comfort). This appears to be standard apocalyptic imagery, wherein the Tribulation is a nightmare for the unworthy, but exalts the true believers. (Note Call Six, where Iadbaltoh is said to have established Angels to be “a torment to the wicked and a garland to the Righteous.”)

The Governor of the Fourth Flame is described as revealing (opening) the Glory of God even unto “the center of the Earth”—meaning “everywhere on Earth without exception.” This fits well with the Divine Name Joy—or measureless joy. (See the Lexicon in volume II concerning Moz [Joy], which can also mean “Joy of God.”)

This Call, like the one before it, does not offer a number for the Governor of the Flame. However, if we follow the same pattern we have so far, this should be the Fourth Flame and represents the northern quarter. And, though it is unclear, his 6332 ministers appear to be called the “Secrets of Truth.”

The concluding conjuration is the RFP seen in Calls One, and Eleven through Eighteen.

Thus ends the first Eighteen Calls—which should collectively represent the establishment of the Universe throughout the six biblical Days of Creation. (See chapter 2.) While there is much here drawn from the Book of Revelation and other End Times literature, I find that the Tribulatory events are all set in the future. (That is, what we see in these Calls is the creation and placement of the Angels who will bring the world to an end, but we are not witnessing the Tribulation in action.)

The final Call, which represents Keys Nineteen through Forty-eight, concerns itself with the Fall from Eden—officially beginning the Seventh Day of Rest. This Seventh Day, and its fallen state, continues to the present time. It will not end until the Tribulation itself—which (at least in Dee’s mysticism) is considered the “Eighth Day” leading to the founding of the New Kingdom.

The story of Eden is often considered one of the oldest stories of mankind. In fact, this is a misconception. The story of Eden is among the oldest written stories. Meanwhile, the human race is much older than language. (We’ve had only about ten thousand years of writing. We’ve had spoken language for much longer—although without written records we can never know exactly how long.)

In fact, the story of Eden (including its original predecessors)⁹⁹ are later versions of an older legend. The tale of the “first shaman”—in oral form—has existed among tribal cultures for many thousands of years.¹⁰⁰ The legend describes a paradisaical period for humanity (“In the beginning . . .”), when people had familiarity with the Gods and lived in harmony with animals and nature. Then, usually through some misunderstanding on the part of the first shaman, humanity became estranged from the gods. They lost their hope of immortality, lived in enmity with the animals, and found themselves out of sync with nature. The unfortunate soul who caused the disaster became the first shaman, because it was his duty, and the duty of all shamans who followed him, to labor to bridge the gap between man and the Divine. That is the foundation of the Great Work to this very day.

When this story was finally written down,¹⁰¹ it was done by one of our ancestors in a city after the agricultural revolution. Therefore, the first shaman was placed in a garden. The garden had been planted by the gods, who alone know the secrets of agriculture—and all of the “arts of civilization” that come along with it (kingship, mathematics, astrology, priesthood, and so forth). In the earliest versions of the garden legend, man is invited in by the gods, who have deemed him worthy to join their ranks. In the later biblical version, man is created for the sole purpose of tending the garden. This is purely a reflection of agricultural society.

Therefore, in the biblical Eden we find the Tree of Knowledge of Good and Evil—the source of the Fall in this agricultural version of the legend. Eating the fruit of this Tree is the “mistake” that causes Adam and Eve to lose their place in paradise. Even worse, their expulsion comes with a curse upon the Earth.¹⁰² Many see in this tale a petty God casting angry curses against its own creation. However, I believe the story of the Fall from Eden is, quite literally, a moral tale.

Adam begins the story in paradise, where the environment was comfortable, and there was no toil associated with survival. God gives Adam every fruit tree and seed-bearing plant, so food is always an arm’s length away. This, in fact, mirrors the state of humanity in its earliest infancy (or “in the beginning”), when we lived in temperate climates, surrounded by trees and plants that freely provided us food. Compared to the current human condition, life on earth for the earliest humans was a paradise.

As time progressed, the human animal began to distinguish itself from other animals by one thing alone—language. From the most primordial ma-ma (thought by some to be the very first word), humans were set to become “the reasoning creatures of the earth.”¹⁰³ We developed logical consciousness (or, as Call Sixteen says, we began to “understand and separate creatures.”) This is represented in the Eden tale by Adam naming all things. By applying names to the things and animals around him, Adam (Man) laid the foundation of all language, magick, science, and technology.

But the advent of language among humans sent them on an unalterable collision course with the loss of paradise. As language develops, both thought and the capacity for thought increase. Language eventually brought technological revolutions that altered the way humans lived on this planet. Eventually, language and technology molded humanity into what we know today as “cultures.”

I feel this is where the Tree of the Knowledge of Good and Evil enters the story. As human culture developed, social taboos were the inevitable result. For the first time ever, we began to create a sense of “right vs. wrong”—or, to put it poetically, we partook of the fruit of the Tree of the Knowledge of Good and Evil.

Once we established “good vs. evil,” the vast array of human mores grew as if from a seed. Notice that Adam and Eve, once they had eaten of the fruit, suddenly “knew they were naked.” Body consciousness did not exist before we developed our moral consciousness. It was the forbidden fruit that caused Adam and Eve to do something so silly as seek cover to hide their “nakedness” from God and each other.

This knowledge (or discernment) of right and wrong became the source of humanity’s ultimate downfall. God was not uttering a petty curse against Adam at the expulsion from Eden. He was simply stating what He knew to be true. Man had created a moral world for himself in which he was destined to labor and weep. It would lead to hatred and warfare, persecution and death. The paradise in which the Earth provided for us freely, like a garden given by God, was no more.

By the time we reach the Tribulation, the entire Universe is being judged on a cosmic scale, with the “righteous” (the Right) on one side, and the “Iniquitous” (the Wrong) on the other. Humanity, as we know it, collapses under the weight.

I believe this is the essence of the Call of the Aethyrs. It represents the physical world in its current state, in political and environmental disarray.

The Call of the Aethyrs:

O you heavens which dwell [in the ____ Aethyr] are mighty in the Parts of the Earth, and execute the judgment of the Highest. To you it is said, Behold the face of your God, the beginning of comfort; whose eyes are the brightness of the heavens; which provided you for the government of the earth, and her unspeakable variety; furnishing you with a power (of) understanding to dispose all things according to the providence of Him that sitteth upon the Holy Throne.

The Call of the Aethyrs is a conjuration all the way through. It begins by addressing all the (Angels of the) Heavens or Aethyrs. I feel these are all of the Angels and Governors invoked by the first eighteen Calls. This would fit with the passages describing them as the Governors of the Earth. These are the kings and ministers who maintain Natural Law, as described in Call One.

The "Parts of the Earth" are spiritual jurisdictions over geographical locations (or nations), and distributed among the zodiacal Angels within the thirty Aethyrs. This is outlined in detail in Dee's advanced magick—where this Call of the Aethyrs is used as a stand-alone conjuration for accessing the Parts of the Earth.¹⁰³ and rose up in the beginning saying, "The earth, let her be governed by her parts, and let there be division in her, that the glory of her may be always drunken and vexed in itself. Her course, let it run with the heavens, and as a handmaid let her serve them. One season, let it confound another, and let there be no creature upon or within her the same. All her members, let them differ in their qualities, and let there be no one creature equal with another. The reasonable creatures of the earth (or men), let them vex and weed out one another; and the dwelling places, let them forget their names. The work of man and his pomp, let them be defaced. His buildings, let them become caves for the beasts of the field. Confound her understanding with darkness. For why? It repenteth me I made man. One while let her be known, and another while a stranger; Because she is the bed of an harlot, and the dwelling place of him that is fallen.

Here we see Iadbaltoh uttering the infamous Curse of Eden itself. In the case of the Call of the Aethyrs, notice that the Curse is phrased in astrological terms. The earth's course is to "run with the heavens," and she is to "serve them as a handmaid." One season will confound another, the earth will be divided and governed by her Parts, and so on.¹⁰⁴ These passages evoke images of a chaotic Earth governed by the ever-shifting stars. We can, of course, see this celestial chaos in any zodiacal chart.

O you heavens, arise! The lower heavens beneath you, let them serve you. Govern those that govern; cast down such as fall. Bring forth with those that increase, and destroy the rotten. No place let it remain in one number. Add and diminish until the stars be numbered.'

Here, we return once more to the Angelic Governors of the world, and the (Angels of the) lower Heavens or Aethyrs who serve them. These subservient Angels are likely the various Thunders mentioned throughout the Calls—such as seen in numbers Four through Seven.

The phrase Govern those that govern; cast down such as fall indicates the Angels directing the human governors of the world—to bring in and depose kingdoms as the stars shift. (In other words, they represent Fate.) The next line also attributes the Angels to the direction of Nature—to bring life where it might increase and to tear down what decays.

The final two lines once again indicate the ever-changing astrological influence upon the Earth. It has also been suggested the phrase until the stars be numbered has an apocalyptic ring to it. To be “numbered” (or “measured”) may have the connotation in this case of “having run their course.”

Arise, move, and appear before the covenant of his mouth, which he hath sworn unto us in his justice. Open the mysteries of your creation, and make us partakers of undefiled knowledge.

At long last, we reach the final conjuration. It calls upon a covenant with God, which is likely associated with humanity’s place in the Universe as expressed biblically. As the Image of God, the aspirant has the right to converse with Angels—if only he can return to his pre-Fall state.

Endnotes

1. That is, forty-eight Keys with one withheld, for a total of forty-nine.
2. The first indication we are given that Dee has completed the Perfected Holy Book is on July 7, 1584—when Dee tells the Angel Ave that he made the book “the best that I could conceive of it.”
3. See chapter 2 of this volume.
4. See chapters 1 and 2 of this volume.
5. There are nineteen actual Keys/Calls. The nineteenth Call is repeated with slight modification thirty times—so there are technically forty-eight individual Keys.
6. Remember that each Table of Loagaeth consists of the front and back of a single leaf.
7. See Revelation, chapter 5.
8. Revelation 5:2—“And I saw a strong angel proclaiming with a loud voice, ‘Who is worthy to open the book, and to loose the seals thereof?’”
9. I have added this word in brackets for clarification.

10. Consider the ancient Qabalistic axiom: "Every blade of grass has over it an Angel bidding it, 'Grow.'"
11. In an unpublished manuscript entitled The Tongue of the Angels.
12. Dee's personal number—which he used to sign secret documents—was 007. That is the reputed source for the signature of James Bond.
13. It is also the first printed book on cryptography in the world.
14. See "Solved: The Ciphers in Book III of Trithemius's Steganographia" by Jim Reeds, online at <http://www.dtc.umn.edu/~reedsj>
15. This method of encryption was used very successfully by Leonardo da Vinci.
16. See chapter 2 of this volume.
17. Dee actually recorded this letter on the same line as "(Two thousand and fourteen . . .)"—but those numbers seem to relate to the D rather than the A. It would appear, then, that the very first letter revealed by Nalvage was given no number or location.
18. This notation likely refers to the D directly beneath it.
19. The Z appears to be missing from the manuscript.
20. As we shall see later, Nalvage had previously transmitted several strings of letters—taken from the Corpus Omnium Table—that are associated with the first (unknown) Table of Loagaeth. They did not come with numbers or directions as we see with the letters of Key One.
21. Quiddity means "the essence of the thing."
22. I outline this incident in full in my commentaries on Dee's journals, which I will release at a later date.
23. Some modern scholars refer to this as the "Tablet of God."
24. Such as we see with quartz crystal.
25. See A True and Faithful Relation, p. 76. Dee recorded only the letters of the Table. I have added the lines showing the principal divisions as taught by Nalvage.
26. About = around.
27. Nalvage said all of this in Latin. I have translated, but left Principium Omnium (meaning "Universal Principle") intact due to Nalvage's later references to the phrase.
28. I have added the emphasis on this line.
29. See A True and Faithful Relation, pp. 74–76.
30. I have added the Table cells and the bold lettering for clarification.
31. This reminds me somewhat of the Horned Altars (of burnt offering and of incense) in the Bible, which had horns upon their four corners. See Exodus 27 and 30.)
32. I am appending these Latin translations.
33. Later, in the Angelical Keys, the word Zir appears as a form of "to be" and often indicates "I am." See the Lexicon in volume II.
34. See Hebrews 1:14: "Are they Angels [not all ministering spirits, sent forth to minister for them who shall be heirs of salvation?]"

35. Revelation 22:14: "Blessed are they that do His Commandments, that they may have right to the Tree of Life, and may enter in through the Gates into the City."
36. I believe this refers to the entire fourth portion of the Table, because Nalvage never labels it the "Fourth Life."
37. Dee notes, in the margin of his journal, the number of letters in each string.
38. As recorded, the first letters of this line were "V I I I I . ." but Dee corrected this in the margin, adding the E as the first letter.
39. There are actually forty-six letters in this line.
40. The last letters of this line were recorded as E E E R S E. However, Dee later added the correction, placing a symbol— X —to indicate that the first two *E*s should be joined as one. To the side of this symbol, he added the correct letters—resulting in E E R S E.
41. Dee notes in the margin that this letter can be either I or E.
42. There are 188 letters in this last group. However, it is likely that there is more than one line intended here, although Dee did not record the number of letters in each.
43. I have added the bracketed word for clarification.
44. I have added the bracketed word for clarification.
45. This "nineteenth Key" is the Key of the Aethyrs—which is repeated thirty times to open the final thirty Tables of Loagaeth. ($18 + 30 = 48$) See the section entitled "The Angelical Keys: What We Know" in this chapter.
46. Immediate = Directly
47. Also note that I have included an addendum to this chapter, entitled "The Poetry of the Forty-Eight Calls," which analyzes the English given for the Keys.
48. This part of the quote is not included above. See chapter 4, "Gebofal— the Gates of Heaven": "For every Table hath his Key, and every Key openeth his Gate . . ."
49. I have added this word for clarification.
50. This = Nature, the Things of the World.
51. See chapter 2 for further apocalyptic statements made by the Angels in relation to Loagaeth.
52. I have included the names of the ninety-one Parts' Governors in the Lexicon, with the entries for the thirty Aethyrs.
53. Later, the Qabalah would adopt the Aeons as the Sephiroth (see chapter 1)— which are usually considered Heavenly Spheres, but were depicted in early Qabalistic texts as Archangelic beings. We can see this in the ancient Qabalistic text entitled the Sepher Bahir (the Book of Illumination).
54. Revelation 21:12.
55. Note that Agrippa's list of zodiacal Angels (see the "Scale of the Number Twelve") is not the same as Dee's. Apparently, Dee received a new set of twelve names from the Angels. However, the session where this happens has not survived. The twelve names appear for the first time in Dee's grimoire (Sloane 3191).

56. Revelation 4:5.
57. The Parts of the Earth led into the revelation of the Great Table of the Earth (Watchtowers)—during which Ave was the teacher.
58. The English given for the Keys is covered in the addendum to this chapter, “The Poetry of the Forty-Eight Calls.”
59. A True and Faithful Relation, p. 199.
60. There are also Apocalypses of Adam, Paul, Thomas, Daniel, Peter, and a host of other biblical figures.
61. See Ezekiel 1, Revelation 4, and throughout 1 Enoch.
62. See the preface to James, The Enochian Magick of Dr. John Dee, where we find one of the earliest comparisons between Dee’s system and Gnosticism.
63. See chapter 2, the section outlining Tables 20–49.
64. This practice was also shared by the Jewish Merkavah mystics, who traveled through the seven traditional Heavens.
65. See my “Gnosticism: Sethian to Valentinian.” (Information on locating this essay is in the bibliography of this book.)
66. See “Gnosticism: Sethian to Valentinian,” concerning the story of the Christos.
67. We shall see this same formula again in Calls Eleven through Eighteen. This is the “Repetitive Formula Pattern”; see the Lexicon in volume II for more information.
68. Also see Revelation 10:6.
69. See Revelation 10:6: “ . . . and swear by him that liveth for ever and ever, who created heaven, and the things that therein are, and the earth, and the things that therein are, and the sea, and the things which are therein, that there should be time no longer.”
70. The Resurrection involves the return of all who have died throughout history during or after the Tribulation. See 1 Corinthians 15:51–54 and 1 Thessalonian 4:15–18. Revelation 20 is also considered a depiction of the Resurrection of all the dead for the Final Judgment.
71. See John Dee’s Five Books of Mystery, pp. 56 and 61ff.
72. The closing conjuration of Call Two does contain a single quoted word from Iad-baltoh.
73. John 1: “In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God;” and “All things were made by him; and without him was not any thing made that was made.”
74. Previously, we met only those of the Second Angle (south)—in Call Four. We will meet those of the east in Call Seven.
75. See Call Two for an example of this psalm-like style.
76. Found in Dee’s grimoire, or Sloane 3191. The diagram is also found in Geoffrey James, The Enochian Magick of Dr. John Dee, p. 103.

77. Dee numbered the signs from 1 to 12 in order from Aries to Pisces. He then placed each number by the corresponding Hebrew Tribe, as outlined in Agrippa's Book II, chapter 14: "Of the number eleven and the number twelve . . ."
78. Looking at an astrological chart, we see that Aries (the cardinal fire sign) is in the east, Capricorn (earth) is at the southern point, Libra (air) is at the western point, and Cancer (water) is at the north. Therefore, the triplicities are each associated with these same directions.
79. This appears in 1 Enoch 55:2: "And they came upon the wind from the East, from the West, and from the Midst of the Day."
80. This was suggested by Patricia Shaffer on the "Enochian-I" mailing list.
81. Also see Call Fourteen, where "24 seats" are mentioned directly.
82. The "Enochian Watchtowers" (properly called the Great Table of the Earth) are four magickal squares full of Divine and Angelical Names.
83. See Donald Tyson's books Tetragrammaton and Enochian Magick for Beginners.
84. Revelation 15:6-7, "And the seven angels came out of the temple, having the seven plagues, clothed in pure and white linen, and having their breasts girded with golden girdles. And one of the four beasts gave unto the seven angels seven golden vials full of the wrath of God, who liveth for ever and ever."
85. <http://thesaurus.reference.com/> It has been suggested that "moss of the earth" is a reference to the dead. Looking into it, I could only find archaic references to "gathering moss" as a euphemism for the state of being dead. It was then I turned to the trusty thesaurus.
86. See Mom (Angelical for "moss," "dross") in the Lexicon in volume II.
87. We shall see that the next Call may relate to the north as well. Then, Calls Twelve and Thirteen both focus upon the south.
88. Revelation 16:18: "And there were voices, and thunders, and lightnings; and there was a great earthquake, such as was not since men were upon the earth, so mighty an earthquake, and so great."
Matthew 24:7: "For nation shall rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom: and there shall be famines, and pestilences, and earthquakes, in divers places."
89. Revelation 8:13: "And I beheld, and heard an angel flying through the midst of heaven, saying with a loud voice, Woe, woe, woe, to the inhabitants of the earth by reason of the other voices of the trumpet of the three angels, which are yet to sound!"
90. Note the use of the word wormwood in Call Nine, just previous to this one.
91. Revelation 4:5: "And out of the throne proceeded lightnings and thunders and voices . . ."
Revelation 4:6-7: . . . and round about the throne, were four beasts full of eyes before and behind. And the first beast was like a lion, and the second beast like a calf, and the third beast had a face as a man, and the fourth beast was like a flying eagle."

92. Remember the traditional zodiacal attribution of elements to the four quarters which associates Scorpio (water) with the north. There is also a branch of astrology called sidereal that places Leo in the east instead of Aries. If we look at such a zodiacal chart, we find the four Fixed Signs at the four compass points instead of the Cardinals, but with the same arrangement of elements. This illustrates the four Holy Living Beasts, showing Scorpio (the eagle) at the northern point.
93. See previous footnote. Also take note of the heads of scorpions mentioned in Call Ten— which is itself associated with the north.
94. See Sloane 3191.
95. See various places throughout I Enoch.
96. I included this quote from Nalvage with my commentary upon Call Eight.
97. See my essay "Gnosticism: Sethian to Valentinian."
98. Notice that the final and lowermost of the lesser Aeons is Wisdom— known as Sophia to the Gnostics, and who appeared to Dee and Kelley as Galvah. In Gnostic mythos, Sophia is the mother of Ialdabaoth.
99. See Adapa: The First Man, an ancient Sumerian tale.
100. See Mercea Eliade, Shamanism: Archaic Techniques of Ecstasy, especially pp. 99, 133, 484, and 493.
101. Impressed on clay, actually.
102. See Genesis 3:17–19.
103. This is a quote from the Call of the Aethyrs.
104. See chapter 2 of this volume, concerning Loagaeth's Tables 20–49.
105. Agrippa outlines the astrological divisions of the Earth in his Occult Philosophy, where it had a direct influence upon Dee's "Parts of the Earth" system of magick. The reference to the Parts and this division in the Call of the Aethyrs is related to that system.

Chapter Four

Gebofal—The Gates of Heaven and Practice of the Holy Book

The practice of the Book of Loagaeth was given a name late in Dee's journals by the lunar Angel Levanael:¹

Now to the work intended, which is called in the Holy Art Gebofal, which is not (as the Philosophers have written,) the first step supernatural, but it is the first supernatural step naturally limited unto the 48 Gates of Wisdom; where your holy Book belongeth. The last [Gate]² is the speaking with God, as Moses did, which is infinite: All the rest have proper limits, wherein they are contained. But understand that this singular work recieveth Multiplication and dignification, by ascension through all the rest that are limited according to their proper qualities.

[A True and Faithful Relation, p. 373]

This is a wonderful description of Gebofal, or the ascension through the forty-eight (really forty-nine) Gates of Wisdom—represented by the Tables of Loagaeth. It is no accident if Levanael's description reminds you of what we discussed in chapter 1, concerning the Jewish custom of Counting the Omer and entering the fifty Gates of Binah. It is here that everything we have learned thus far comes together.

Levanael describes each Gate as having "proper limits" wherein each is contained. This is likely because each Table of the Holy Book represents one aspect of Creation, so the associated Gate of Wisdom would be limited to that aspect. (Compare this to both the fifty Gates of Binah and the thirty-six Tables of Soyga—each of which represent one aspect of God or an astrological force.) Only the “last”—actually the First³—Table is unlimited and infinite. And, like the Highest Gate of Understanding in the Jewish system, this infinite Table represents direct communication with God. Levanael even mentions Moses in association with the first Table/Gate—as he is the one credited with actually having passed through this Gate at the time of his death.

So the Tables of Loagaeth (the Gates of Wisdom) might be intended as a “version” of the Qabalistic Gates of Understanding. A clue to this fact might have been hidden in the Angels’ choice of magickal timing for the transmission of the Holy Book—which began on Good Friday, March 29th, 1583. It turns out that Good Friday is something of a Christian parallel to the Jewish Passover. In practical terms, both Good Friday and Passover mark the onset of spring. As we learned in chapter 1, Passover mythologically marks the sparing of the Jewish firstborn during the final Plague of Egypt.⁴ That initiates the “Counting of the Omer,” a fifty-day period corresponding to the Exodus of the Children of Israel toward Mount Sinai, and during which the aspirant opens and enters the Gates of Understanding.

On the Christian side of things, Good (or Holy) Friday represents the Crucifixion of Jesus Christ.⁵ This is always the Friday preceding Easter Sunday—which is itself a celebration of the eve of Christ’s Resurrection. This represents a three-day period corresponding to the three days Christ rested in the tomb (and during which he, according to some traditions, descended into Hell to perform work there).

So, the Angels chose to transmit the text of the Holy Book to Dee and Kelley beginning on the Christian holiday that most corresponds to Passover. Then, similar to the fifty-day period of Counting the Omer, the reception of the forty-eight (really forty-nine) Tables of Loagaeth took place over forty-eight days. This relationship might help explain the particular observations of magickal timing used by the Angels throughout the reception of Loagaeth, such as this quote from Uriel:

Behold (sayeth the Lord) I will breathe upon men, and they shall have the spirit of Understanding. In 40 days must the Book of the Secrets, and Key of this World, be written. [Five Books of Mystery, p. 327]

For Dee's Angels, the number 40 (and/or 48) took precedence over the more traditional Jewish fifty days.

Another relationship between Counting the Omer and Loagaeth can be found in the Angels' descriptions of the forty-eight Gates themselves. As we saw previously, Levanael described them as the Gates of Wisdom. However, the quote from Uriel in the above paragraph mentions the "spirit of Understanding" (or spirit of Binah). The Archangel Raphael also makes a cryptic reference to Understanding in relation to the Gates:

As I have said: the 49 parts of this Book [. . .] Every element in this mystery is a world of understanding. [Five Books of Mystery, p. 296]

And Nalvage, later in the journals, makes the point rather clear:

In 49 voices, or callings: which are the Natural Keys to open those, not 49 but 48 (for one is not to be opened) Gates of Understanding. [True and Faithful Relation, p. 77]

I find the soul of man hath no portion in this First Table. [. . .] All the rest are of Understanding . . . [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 77]

On the other hand, Levanael is not alone in referring to the forty-eight Tables as the Gates of Wisdom instead. The Archangel Uriel does so later in the journals:

God shall make clear when it pleaseth Him, and open all the secrets of wisdom when He unlocketh. [Five Books of Mystery, p. 351]

As does the Angel Mapsama, even later in the journals when the Angelical Calls were being transmitted:

These Calls are keys into the Gates and Cities of Wisdom. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 145]

Students of the Qabalah will recognize Wisdom (or Chockmah) as the name of Binah's co-equal among the Supernal Sephiroth.⁶ The evidence suggests that Dee's Angels were treating them as interchangeable.

There is also a cosmological relationship between Dee's Gates and the Jewish version. By this, I mean that both systems reflect a similar understanding of how the Universe is put together. For instance, note this passage from the foundational Qabalistic text called the Sepher haZohar, which describes the fifty Gates as related to space:

In that Temple [of Binah] there are 50 gates, which are supposed to be closed, meaning that they block the flow of Lights. There are 49 gates engraved upon the 'four winds' of the world. One gate has no direction: it is not known whether it faces up or down. This is how this gate remains closed. [Sepher Zohar, The Locked and the Unlocked, verses 43ff]

Here we can see that forty-nine of the Gates are engraved upon the "four winds"—or the four cardinal directions of the compass. Meanwhile, the highest Gate has "no direction"—so it rests in the center of the compass.

Now, in the same light, consider the following words of the Angel Nalvage:

All the rest [of the Tables] are of Understanding, the exact Center excepted. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 79]

Taken by themselves, Nalvage's words appear to indicate that the exact center Table of the forty-nine—which would be Table 25—is not "of Understanding." However, it is more likely the Angel is speaking about the first Table, which is locked and therefore not "of Understanding" as far as we are concerned. What Nalvage reveals here is that Table One is somehow the "exact Center"—which fits perfectly with the description of the Gates of Understanding in the Zohar.

This interpretation seems to be confirmed later in the journals. At one point, the Archangel Gabriel gave Dee a list of "things to do," as well as further lessons that were yet to be transmitted. Number seven on the list would appear to relate to our Zoharic view of the forty-nine Gates of Loagaeth:

Gabriel: 7) The Angels also of the 48 angles of the Heavens, and their Ministers. For they are those, that have the thunders and the winds at commandment. Those make up the time, and then, cometh the Harvest.

[Dee's marginal note:] Ergo Seven degrees and a half to every angle.
Thunders, Winds, the Full Time." [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 164]

Dee was thinking like an astrologer in this case, and he likely envisioned this as we might view an astrological chart. Each seven-and-a-half degree division of the chart might represent one of the Gates of Wisdom, with four Gates included within each of the twelve astrological Houses. The exact Center, as mentioned by Nalvage, is left over for the First and hidden Gate.

Gabriel offers no further information about the Angels who "have the thunders and the winds at commandment"—and who presumably reside within the forty-eight Gates of Heaven. Instead, it is Nalvage who offers this information:

. . . you shall have knowledge to move every Gate, and to call out as many as you please, or shall be thought necessary, which can very well, righteously, and wisely, open unto you the secrets of their Cities, and make you understand perfectly the [knowledge]⁸ contained in the Tables. Through which knowledge you shall easily be able to judge, not as the world doth, but perfectly of the world, and of all things contained within the Compass of Nature, and of all things which are subject to an end. [True and Faithful Relation, p. 77]

These concepts are not exactly new to us. We have already learned that the forty-nine Tables of Loagaeth encompass the whole of Creation—both space and time, from beginning to end. What Nalvage tells us here is that the Angels who reside in the forty-eight Celestial Cities beyond the Gates have charge over that Creation. Not just the thunders and the winds, but the entirety of nature is at their commandment.

What is more, through the practice of Gebofal, the mystic can open the Gates to the Cities and summon forth Angelic teachers. These teachers will then expound upon the Doctrine contained in the Tables, much like Jewish Angels traditionally invoked during study of the Torah. Furthermore, they will reveal the mysteries of the Celestial Cities that lie beyond the Gates.

The Angel Mapsama assures Dee and Kelley that opening the Gates (with the Angelical Keys/Calls) must result in the visible apparition of such Angels:

These Calls are keys into the Gates and Cities of Wisdom. Which [Gates]⁹ are not able to be opened, but without visible apparition. [True and Faithful Relation, p. 145]

The Archangel Gabriel confirms this somewhat later:

Therefore, now examine your Books, confer one place with another, and learn to be perfect for the practice and entrance. [. . .] There is no other reading of the Book, but the appearing of the Ministers and Creatures of God. Which shewing what they are themselves, shew how they are conjoined in power, and represented formally by those letters. [True and Faithful Relation, p. 209]

Note that Gabriel makes a cryptic reference to the “entrance” of the Gates. This was explained earlier in the journals by the Angel Nalvage, when he offered a second (expanded) description of Gebofal. Herein, he describes what one would see by entering the Gates and exploring the Celestial Cities directly:

For every Table hath his key, every key openeth his gate, and every gate being opened, giveth knowledge of himself of entrance, and of the mysteries of those things whereof he is an enclosure. Within these Palaces you shall find things that are of power, as well to speak, as to do for every

1. Palace is above his
2. City, and every City above his
3. Entrance.

Be you therefore diligent that you may enter in, not as spoilers, but as such as deserve entertainment in the name, and through the power of the Highest. For great are the mercies of God unto such as have faith. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 88]

The inclusion of Heavenly Palaces that may be visited within the Cities indicates a relationship between Gebofal and the ancient Jewish practice of Merkavah or Hechaloth mysticism. One of the principal goals of the Merkavah mystic was to journey in the spirit through the Heavenly Palaces (Hechaloth)—as depicted in the Book of Enoch (1 Enoch). It would appear, then, that Dee’s Angels intended a similar practice in relation to the forty-eight Gates of Wisdom.

At the beginning of this section, we saw the Angel Levanael describe Gebofal as the practice of “ascension through all” of the Gates of Wisdom. It is likely that the Angels intended one to open all forty-eight Gates in succession—with the exception of the first Table, of course—just as we see in the practice of Counting the Omer. Much later in the journals, the Angel Mapsama confirms this:

Mapsama: Which [Gates]¹⁰ are not able to be opened, but without visible apparition.

Dee: And how shall that be come unto?

Mapsama: Which is according to the former instructions.¹¹ And to be had, by calling of every Table. You called for wisdom, God hath opened unto you his Judgment. He hath delivered unto you the keys, that you may enter. But be humble. Enter not of presumption, but of permission. Go not in rashly, but be brought in willingly. For, many have ascended, but few have entered. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 145]

Mapsama here tells Dee that every Table must be called, and (therefore) all the Gates of Wisdom must be opened. His instructions on the proper attitude toward entering the Gates (which echo Nalvage's previous instructions) are also fairly similar to Jewish sources—for both the fifty Gates and the Hechaloth.

Note, also, that the ordering of Dee's forty-nine Tables matches the traditional Jewish ordering of the Fifty Gates of Understanding—beginning with the Infinite Divine Table on the first leaf, and progressing downward through the cosmos to the physical realm on the final leaf. Therefore, if the practice of Gebofal is also similar, then one would open the Gates of Loagaeth from the highest Table accessible to man (the second Table) to the lowest (Table 49, the Aethyr of Tex).¹² After progressively opening all forty-eight Gates, revelations and/or blessings from God should pass to the aspirant through the First (Central) Gate.

Being Called by God, and to a Good Purpose

Dee's journals also record what the Angels had to say about the purpose of Gebofal. Nalvage describes the system as prophetic, suggesting the words of the Holy Book are the voice of Angelic Inspiration heard by the Apostles:

You have 49 Tables: In those Tables are contained the mystical and holy voices of the Angels, dignified. And, in state, disgrorified and drent in confusion: which pierceth Heaven, and looketh into the Center of the Earth: the very language and speech of children and innocents, such as magnify the name of God, and are pure. Wherein the Apostles understood the diffuse sound of the World, imperfected for mans transgression. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 64]

Nalvage calls these forces “in state, disglorified and drent in confusion” because they relate to the chaotic physical realm.¹⁴ However, the words of the Tables still represent the pure and dignified voices of the Angels—who are the agents of Creation.

The meeting between the aspirant and these Angels—who apparently govern the natural world—seems to be the principal goal of the system. Nalvage stresses this point somewhat later in the journals:

Unto this Doctrine belongeth the perfect knowledge, and remembrance of the mystical Creatures. How, therefore, shall I inform you, which know them not? [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 78]

However, some vague rules are established concerning when the magick can be put into use. Of course, we have already seen some amount of magickal timing used by the Angels in the transmission of the forty-nine Tables. However, the Angel Mapsama seems to indicate that no traditional magickal timing is necessary to perform Gebofal:

Mapsama: Then (as occasion serveth) you may practice at all times. But you being called by God, and, to a good purpose.

Dee: How shall we understand this Calling by God?

Mapsama: God stoppeth my mouth. I will answer thee no more. [A True and Faithful Relation, pp. 145–46]

Therefore, the concepts of Solomonic timing—such as magickal days and hours—are ruled out of the Loagaeth system.¹⁵ Instead, the timing utilized is strictly prophetic or inspirational—one should work only when moved by God to do so. (Note this is similar to the instructions Galvah gave to Dee for writing the perfected Holy Book.) This makes perfect sense, because the Loagaeth system invokes the Logos, a force that transcends the Angels, days, and hours that govern magickal timing.

The day after Mapsama gave his instruction, the Archangel Gabriel arrived to provide a slight elaboration. (Note number two in the following list):

I give you a short warning. God will fulfill his promises. And (as he hath said) by this August. you shall understand:

1. How to know and use God his Creatures, good and bad.
2. But when, and for what, is the gift of the Highest, and shall be fulfilled in you (if you will be obedient) when it pleaseth him. Even with a sound from his own mouth, saying, Come and hear!

For these Actions are twofold. Consider it, if you can. And they are the greatest, because they are the last, and contain all that hath been done before them. Which if you consider well, and to what you are called, you shall perceive that the Judgments of God are not a tennis-ball.¹⁵ Thus much I thought to warn you my brethren. Have a little patience for the Action. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 146]

Gabriel reiterates that God will call upon the aspirant to use the magick. However, he appends this by saying one must “consider well, and to what you are called.” This suggests that the would-be prophet has some personal responsibility to recognize when the magick should be employed.

Dee and Kelley were not immune to making mistakes in this regard. There is one saga recorded in Dee’s journals in association with the reception of the Holy Book, which (due to concerns over length) I have not included in this chapter.¹⁶ In short, the story involves a small grimoire full of talismans—found by Kelley and a friend—that promised to lead one to buried treasure. As the Angels attempted to deliver the text of the forty-nine Tables, both Kelley and Dee persisted in asking questions about this little book, its talismans, and the supposed buried treasure.

In what might have been some kind of joke, or perhaps a simple case of Dee and Kelley’s own mental focus, the Angels began to refer to the mysteries of the Holy Book as a “Treasure” which the men would collect in August. Because of this, Dee and Kelley came under the mistaken impression that the magick of Loagaeth would lead them to their buried treasure.

The entire saga of this treasure ends when the Daughter of Light named Aath appears in the crystal, and finally sets the men straight. This is important to us here, because she explains the proper use of the Holy Book, and why the men would never find their buried treasure through it:

All that is spoken of, is in very deed, vanity. The book may be used to a good purpose. They were wicked ones.¹⁷ But as these things are the least part of the action, so are they not much to be looked after. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 9]

I can only assume that the Angels recognize a contrast between purely physical and spiritual pursuits. The Holy Book is not to be used for physical purposes—such as money, sex, or personal power. Entering the Gates of Wisdom—like Counting the Omer—involves a journey away from the world of mankind and its corresponding Gates of Impurity. (See chapter 10) Therefore, Gebofal is a transcendent and theurgical practice intended to move one closer to the Divine. This supports the inspirational and prophetic nature of the system. It is primarily a form of mysticism.

However, there is also a definite physical application for the magick (that is, the magick one might receive through the mystical practice of Gebofal.) We have already seen the promises that one might summon the Angels who govern the natural world from the forty-eight Gates, and through them perform miracles. However, how can one apply such mysticism only “to a good purpose” in the world of mankind? This question is answered much later in the journals, by the Angel Mapsama:

But the practices that are in the instructions of the Highest, are not but in lawful causes and for necessity, to glorify God; and against Pharaoh. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 145]

This sums it up rather succinctly. It is the key to the judgment one must use in deciding whether or not one is called by God. The magick can only be used for “lawful” causes—that is, purposes that do not break with religious taboos. Moreover, it must be used only in cases of necessity (for the “glorification of God,” of course). All in all, these are not uncommon restrictions in the medieval and Renaissance Christian magickal traditions—such as grimoires like the Book of Abramelin.

It is most fascinating that Mapsama states the magick can be used against Pharaoh.” Pharaoh simply means “ruler,” and this is the term used to describe the king of Egypt in the Book of Exodus. Over time, Egypt (as described in Exodus) became a Judeo-Christian mystical symbol of the oppressive and corrupt world of humanity. Pharaoh, as well, became a symbol of emperors and kings of all kinds who govern the world and enslave nations.

Mapsama is therefore suggesting here that the magick of the Holy Book can be wielded against political ruling powers. This would have set very well with Dee on two fronts. He was passionately dedicated to the ascension of an English empire, and he firmly believed that God and His Angels were also behind that cause. If Dee wished to influence the world at all, it was to influence the destinies of both his own and foreign nations.¹⁵

On the other hand, Mapsama's mention of "Pharaoh" might also be bound into the relationship between the Holy Book and the Christian belief in the End Times. As Pharaoh of Exodus was the cruel king who enslaved and oppressed the Children of Israel, so was he also a symbol of (and forerunner to) the Antichrist. We might remember that Dee was assured by the Angels—during the reception of the forty-nine Tables—that the Antichrist was already born and the End Times had begun. He had also been told that the mysteries contained in the Holy Book would be wielded in some way by Dee and Kelley themselves through the Tribulation. (Remember the speech of Gabriel in chapter 2, in which he called the Holy Book a flail and Dee and Kelley God's threshers!) Mapsama may therefore have had the Antichrist in mind when he referred to using the magick "against Pharaoh."

All These Things Must Be Used—Gebofal and the Heptarchia

There is also an intimate connection between the practice of the Loagaeth system and Dee's Heptarchia mysteries. We saw clues to this earlier in chapter 2, when we found Heptarchic Angelic names in the text or titles of the Holy Book. We might also take note that many of the mysteries of Loagaeth were delivered by Heptarchic Angels such as the Sons and Daughters of Light.

Before the Holy Book was even transmitted to Dee and Kelley, the Archangel Raphael made the connection between Loagaeth and the Heptarchia quite clear. When he first reveals the Holy Book to Kelley in the crystal, he directly states that it represents "the measure" of all three magickal systems given to the two men. (That is, the Heptarchia, the Holy Book, and the Great Table of the Earth.)¹⁹

This is the Second and the Third: the Third and the last. This is the measure of the whole. (O what is man, that is worthy to know these secrets? Heavy are his wickednesses, mighty is his sin!) These shalt thou know. These shall you use. [. . .] Yet must there be a third, whom God doth not yet choose.²⁰ The time shall be short, the matter great, the end greater. [Five Books of Mystery, p. 263]

Raphael's first words above most likely indicate that the Holy Book (the second of the magickal systems) will be the source of the third system (the Great Table). We will not explore this relationship here, however, because we are more concerned with the relationship between Loagaeth and the Heptarchia.

Later, in the appendix to the Five Books, after the first leaf of the Holy Book had been recorded, Dee shifts the sessions briefly back to the Heptarchic system in order to clear up some points. The Archangel Uriel reappears, as he was the principal instructor to Dee and Kelley while the Heptarchia was the subject. At one point, he is giving further instruction concerning the Heptarchic magickal tools, when he suddenly makes a most cryptic comment about Loagaeth:

Uriel: All these things must be used, as that day.

[Dee in margin:] On the first of August next. [Five Books of Mystery, p. 396]

Without Dee's marginal note, Uriel's comment might be meaningless. However, we already know that the first of August is the "appointed time" for the revelation of the mysteries of the Holy Book. The Archangel is simply telling Dee that the tools of the Heptarchia ("all these things") must be used in conjunction with the Holy Book on that day. This makes sense, of course, as the Heptarchic tools are, collectively, a set of Angelic scrying tools. This equipment would have established the atmosphere necessary for the Angels of the Holy Book to manifest. (Note that both systems share a sevenfold symbolism.)

Uriel also suggests to Dee that further Heptarchic mysteries will be revealed by the use of the Holy Book. For instance, at one point, Dee asks for further information about the various uses of the names of the Heptarchic Kings and Princes. Uriel replies:

Uriel: That secret is not to be delivered but by the distinction of the Book. [Five Books of Mystery, pp. 397-98]

During the same session, Dee attempts to gain further information about certain letters that appear upon the talismans of the Heptarchic kings. Uriel once again directs Dee to Loagaeth:

Whereof notice shall be given at large, by the Book. [. . .] For it is said before that the Book containeth three types of knowledge . . . And this hath answered a great doubt. [Five Books of Mystery, p. 399]

Indeed, it has answered a great doubt. We know for certain, now, that the Heptarchic tools are intended for use with the Book of Loagaeth. Unfortunately, a full description of these necessary tools is outside the scope of this volume. I hope to follow this work with another volume that will focus upon the construction and practical use of the Heptarchic and other “Enochian” tools and systems of magic.

Gebefal Instruction and Ave’s “Prayer of Enoch”

When Galvah instructed Dee to write the perfected Holy Book, she included some essentially Solomonic considerations. Specifically, Dee must be alone when working on the text, and all things involved in the work must be pure.²¹ Similar instructions on purity were later given by the Archangel Gabriel for the practical use of the book:

But yet is not August come. [. . .] See that your garments be clean. Herein be not rash, nor over hasty. For those that are hasty and rash, and are loathsomely appareled, may knock long before they enter [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 209]

Ritual cleanliness was of prime importance throughout medieval grimoiric mysticism—something it adopted from its Judeo-Christian roots. By itself, this stress on ritual purity is simply biblical, rather than directly “Solomonic.” However, further instruction given by the Archangel Uriel would appear to draw a line almost directly from the Key of Solomon the King itself:

But (because I will speak to you, after the manner of men) see that all things be in readiness against the first day of August next. Humble your senses nine days before. Yea, unrip (I say) the cankers of your infected souls, that you may be apt and meet to understand the Secrets that shall be delivered. [Five Books of Mystery, p. 394]

Compare Uriel's above speech with this excerpt from the Key of Solomon:

He who hath attained the rank or degree of Exorcist, [. . .] whensoever he desireth to undertake any operation, for the nine days immediately preceding the commencement of the work, should put aside from him all uncleanness, and prepare himself in secret during these days, and prepare all the things necessary, and in the space of these days all these should be made, consecrated, and exorcised. [The Key of Solomon the King, Book II, chapter 13]

It would almost appear that both Uriel and Gabriel were drawing from this same portion of the Key of Solomon. The concept of humbling one's senses (as Uriel instructs) includes seclusion, fasting, prayer, sexual abstinence, and several other observances intended to deprive the senses of their usual flood of input. It is the essence of ritual purification.

That was all the Angels had to say about preparations for Gebofal. Fortunately, they had a bit more to say about how to accomplish the practice itself. We have already seen the Angel Mapsama instruct Dee and Kelley to call "every Table" from the Book of Loagaeth. We have also seen the close relationship between Gebofal and Counting the Omer, which provides some further clues into the nature of the practice.

Finally, we have the famous Enochian "Prayer of Enoch" delivered by the Angel Ave.²² (You might remember that Ave previously delivered the "Enochian mythos" most often associated with Dee's magick.) We know that the Prayer of Enoch is intended to relate practical instruction, for Ave says at the very end of the prayer itself:

Consider well my words, and what I have now said unto thee. For here thou mayst learn wisdom, and also see what thou has to do. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 197]

Therefore, we will now consider Ave's Prayer of Enoch and the implications it has on the practice of Gebofal:

I said also, that Enoch laboured 50 days. Notwithstanding, that thy labour be not frustrate, and void of fruit, be it unto thee, as thou hast done. [. . .] I will tell thee, what the labour of Enoch was for those fifty days. [. . .] He made (as thou hast done, thy book) Tables, of Serpasan and plain stone: as the Angel of the Lord appointed him; saying, tell me (O Lord) the number of days I shall labour in. It was answered him 50. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 196]

We learn here that Enoch first constructed the Tables, and then received instruction on how to use them. This mirrors the pattern of transmission the Angels attempted to use with Dee and Kelley. (Of course, I highly doubt we are intended to make Tablets of stone. The legendary Enoch may have carved them in stone, but Dee had already received ample instruction to write them on paper.)

We can also see that Enoch was to perform his work over a fifty-day period. Technically, this conflicts with the structure of Loagaeth—where one should work a total of forty-nine days. (That is, forty-eight days to open the Gates plus the final day of Revelation.)

However, I do not think Ave's words are intended to conflict with Loagaeth particularly. Remember that Dee would have taken the Bible literally, and thus would have considered Enoch a historical Jewish personage. Being "Jewish," Enoch would certainly have worked fifty days, coinciding yet once again with the Counting of the Omer. Meanwhile, Dee perceived the material he was receiving as distinctly Christian and distinctly unique. I feel it is an educated assumption that Dee would have naturally translated Enoch's fifty days of labor into forty-nine days for Gebofal.

From here Enoch is said to have recited a prayer, three times a day, over the Tables of Loagaeth. This, at last, is the Prayer of Enoch:

Then [Enoch]²³ groaned within himself, saying: "Lord God the fountain of true wisdom, thou that openest the secrets of thy own self unto man, thou knowest mine imperfection, and my inward darkness: How can I (therefore) speak unto them that speak not after the voice of man; or worthily call on thy name, considering that my imagination is variable and fruitless, and unknown to myself? Shall the sands seem to invite the Mountains: or can the small rivers entertain the wonderful and unknown waves?

“Can the vessel of fear, fragility, or that is of a determined proportion, lift up himself, heave up his hands, or gather the Sun into his bosom? Lord it cannot be: Lord, my imperfection is great: Lord I am less than sand: Lord, thy good Angels and Creatures excel me far: our proportion is not alike: our sense agreeth not: Notwithstanding I am comforted; For that we have all one God, all one beginning from thee, that we respect thee a Creator: Therefore will I call upon thy name, and in thee, I will become mighty. Thou shalt light me, and I will become a seer; I will see thy creatures and will magnify thy name among them. Those that come unto thee have the same gate, and through the same gate, descend, such as thou sendest. Behold, I offer my house, my labour, my heart and soul, If it will please thy Angels to dwell with me, and I with them: to rejoice with me, that I may rejoice with them; to minister unto me, that I may magnify thy name. Then, lo, the Tables (which I have provided and, according to thy will, prepared) I offer unto thee, and unto thy holy Angels, desiring them, in and through thy holy names: That as thou art their light, and comforted them, so they, in thee will be my light and comfort. Lord, they prescribe not laws unto thee, so it is not meet that I prescribe laws unto them: What it pleaseth thee to offer, they receive; so what it pleaseth them to offer unto me, will I also receive. Behold, I say (O Lord) If I shall call upon them in thy name, be it unto me in mercy, as unto the servant of the Highest. Let them also manifest unto me, how, by what words, and at what time, I shall call them. O Lord, is there any that measure the heavens, that is mortal? How, therefore, can the heavens enter into mans imagination? Thy creatures are the glory of thy countenance: Hereby thou glorifiest all things, which Glory excelleth and (O Lord) is far above my understanding. Is it great wisdom, to speak and talk according to understanding with Kings: But to command kings by a subtile commandment, is not wisdom, unless it come from thee. Behold, Lord, how shall I therefore ascend into the heavens? The air will not carry me, but resisteth my folly: I fall down, for I am of the earth. Therefore, O thou very Light and true Comfort, that canst, and mayst, and dost command the heavens: behold I offer these Tables unto thee. Command them as it pleaseth thee: and O you Ministers, and true lights of understanding, Governing this earthly frame, and the elements wherein we live, Do for me as for the servant of the Lord: and unto whom it hath pleased the Lord to talk of you.

"Behold, Lord, thou hast appointed me 50 times; Thrice²³ 50 times will I lift my hands unto thee. Be it unto me as it pleaseth thee, and thy holy Ministers. I require nothing but thee, and through thee, and thy honour and glory: but I hope I shall be satisfied, and shall not die, (As thou hast promised) until thou gather the clouds together, and judge all things: when in a moment I shall be changed and dwell with thee forever."²⁵ [A True and Faithful Relation, pp. 196-97]

In this prayer we see many shades of what we have already discussed concerning Gebofal. The prayer asks for the vision and companionship of the Angels, calls upon them from the Gates, and asks for their guidance (rather than imposing control over them). It even speaks of the Merkavah concept of ascending into the Heavens.

The final paragraph of the prayer gives us more solid practical instruction. The prayer must be spoken over the Tables of Loagaeth three times a day. In traditional Solomonic magick, this usually means to work at dawn, noon and dusk. Of course, to use this prayer for Gebofal, it would be necessary to replace the term 50 times with 49 times, in order to match the Holy Book. (I assume one would recite this prayer three times on the final day of Revelation as well.)

Finally, Ave describes the results of Enoch's labor, which once again mirror the promise of the Jewish fifty Gates of Binah:

These words were thrice a day talk betwixt Enoch and God: In the end of 50 days, there appeared unto him, which are not now to be manifested nor spoken of. He enjoyed the fruit of God his promise, and received the benefit of his faith Here may the wise learn wisdom: for what doth man that is not corruptible? I have not that I may say any more to you. But, believe me, I have said great things unto you. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 197]

Gebofal and the Angelical Keys

The forty-eight Angelical Keys are necessary to access the forty-nine Tables of Loagaeth. In this section I have gathered all of the practical instructions outlined previously, and added them to the instructions for using the Keys. Finally, I have organized all of this into a step-by-step procedure for the performance of Gebofal.

As we have seen, there are two specific uses given for the forty-eight Keys in Dee's journals. Their primary use is to open the Tables of Loagaeth in the practice of Gebofal. Their secondary use was given with the thirty Keys of the Aethyrs—to open the Parts of the Earth and summon the Archonic rulers of the world's nations. Because I have promised to outline the Parts of the Earth system in a later work, I will here concentrate on Gebofal.

Keep my explanation of Ave's Prayer of Enoch in mind: on each of forty-eight successive days, it is necessary to open the Book of Loagaeth to the proper Table, and recite the Prayer of Enoch over it three times (perhaps once in the morning, once at noon, and once again at dusk). Now, I will add that one should follow the Prayer with a recitation of the Angelical Key assigned to the Table.

For convenience, I am including an outline of the usage of the Keys in (and in fact the entire process of) Gebofal—including instructions first mentioned in chapter 2.

Final Outline for Gebofal

The Tools

One should first construct the so-called Heptarchic tools for Angelic evocation, as described in Dee's Five Books of Mystery. This would include the Holy Table and its seven 'Ensigns of Creation' talismans, wax seals, silk coverings, crystal shewstone, and so forth. It would also include the Ring of Solomon shown to Dee by Michael—without which Dee was 'to do nothing'—as well as the enigmatic Holy Lamen which promised to reconcile Dee's human nature with that of the Angels. Space precludes me from including in-depth instructions for these "Enochian" implements. (For now, you can find this information in The Enochian Magic of Dr. John Dee, by Geoffrey James, as well as in Enochian Magic for Beginners, by Donald Tyson. However, I will be dedicating a future book to the creation and application of the Heptarchic tools.)

Establish a sacred space or oratory to erect the furnishings and within which to carry out the forty-nine-day Operation. In Dee's time, it was common for wealthy or affluent Christians to have oratories (prayer rooms) built directly into their homes. Dee's own oratory was adjacent to his study. Kelley would usually sit in the study at Dee's desk, while Dee entered the oratory and recited prayers and invocations until Kelley reported a vision (either in or outside of the crystal shewstone). The methods for creating such an oratory of your own are the same as those described in the medieval Solomonic literature and in the work of Agrippa. Once again, space prohibits me from outlining these techniques in full here, but they have been described at length elsewhere.²⁶

You will also need to construct a copy of the Book of Loagaeth. It will be a very large book—as each page has to bear a 49 x 49 Table. The characters must be written in Angelical, and remember that they must be written from right to left as we would with Hebrew! That means you open the book to what would (to an English speaker) be the “last page” of the book. The first character of the first Table is written in the upper-right corner of the page, and the following characters are written toward the left. The final Tables of the Book will appear on what an English speaker would consider the “first page.”

At the time of this writing, I know of two ready sources for the text of Loagaeth. One is on Joseph Peterson's Twilit Grotto website. From there you can order an inexpensive CD containing a vast amount of Solomonic and related literature—including the complete text of the Tables of Loagaeth. The other source is The Magickal Review website, which includes an Enochian section containing scans of Dee's journals in their original form. The addresses for both of these websites are included in the bibliography of this book.

Once you have the text of the Tables in English characters, you must undertake the task of transliterating them to Angelical characters and writing them into the Book. The English version of the Tables do read from left to right—so do not forget to reverse each line! You will quickly discover why Dee was overwhelmed by the task, especially since he was given just forty days to complete it!

You will also, like Dee, discover that the first Table cannot be written inside a grid-square and still fit on a single leaf. The Angels gave dispensation for that text to be written out line by line—so it will likely take up several pages, depending on the size of the characters. So, sadly, the physical Book of Loagaeth will be a bit longer than just forty-nine leaves.

The Holy Book must also be covered in light blue silk. Its title, Amzes naghazes Hardeh, is painted (also in Angelical characters, from right to left) onto this cover in gold. I would suggest purchasing shell gold in order to paint the title with real gold. Or, if you have or know someone with the skill to do so, you could have the words gold-leafed instead. Only as a last resort would I use paint merely colored metallic gold. Do not forget: the front cover of Loagaeth is what an English speaker would normally consider the back cover! When looking at the title painted on the front, the book should open from the left-hand side.

Also follow the instructions given by Galvah: work when inspired to do so, and undertake ritual purification before working. One might even go so far as to observe the “Enochian Sabbath”—resting from the Work on Mondays, observing ritual seclusion and abstinence, etc.

Nine Days of Purification

For the sake of illustration, I will assume you wish to begin on the morning after Good Friday—mirroring the Jewish Passover practice of Counting the Omer. If so, count back exactly nine days from that morning—and begin a general process of purification ending on the day of Good Friday.⁴⁷

Opening the Gates, Day 1

On the morning after Good Friday, wash your body, don clean garments, and enter the oratory at dawn. Open Loagaeth to the Second Table. Recite the Prayer of Enoch, followed by Key One. Then sit back and meditate or sery—considering what we know (if anything) about the mysteries of the Table and the implications of its Key. Record the subject of your meditations, and any thoughts, inspirations, or visions that strike you during this time. Repeat the process again at noon, and then again at dusk.

Opening the Gates, Days 2 to 48

At dawn on the following day, wash yourself and enter the oratory again. Turn the Book of Loagaeth to the Third Table, and recite the Prayer of Enoch followed by Key Two. Meditate as described for day one. Continue this process—one Table a day, three times each day—until you have opened the forty-ninth Table with Key Forty-eight.

Completion, Day 49

Finally, on the forty-ninth day, wash and enter the oratory at dawn. Open Loagaeth to the text of the first “hidden” Table, and recite only the Prayer of Enoch. Repeat this at noon and dusk, recording your experiences as previously described. This day represents the final Gate of Understanding, which is locked to our entrance, but slightly parts for one who has opened the previous forty-eight Gates. Divine blessing and/or inspiration should result, and the results of the magick should manifest over the next weeks, months, and years.

Endnotes

1. This Angel's name is found on the Seal of Truth from the Heptarchia.
2. I have added this word for clarification.
3. Remember Loagaeth is written right to left, so Table One is on the “last” leaf of the book by Western (left-to-right) standards.
4. See Exodus 12.
5. See John 13:1 for the relationship between Passover and the Crucifixion of Jesus.
6. See chapter 1 for basic information on the Supernal Sephiroth.
7. I have inserted these bracketed words for clarification.
8. The word knowledge was missing from the text. I have reinserted it for clarification.
9. I have inserted the bracketed word for clarification.
10. I have inserted the bracketed word for clarification.
11. These former instructions were the use of the forty-eight Angelical Keys to open the Gates of Wisdom. See chapter 3.
12. As we shall see in the following chapter: the ordering of the Angelical Keys used to open the Tables of Loagaeth supports this downward direction for “ascension” through the Gates.

13. We shall see later that the last of the Angelical Keys addresses this confusion of nature.
14. Similar to what we see in the Book of Abramelin.
15. Probably meaning that God's judgments are solid, and do not bounce from position to position.
16. However, I have outlined it in other works. They are currently unpublished, but check my website for updates: <http://kheph777.tripod.com>.
17. "They" = Dee and Kelley's intentions of finding the buried treasure.
18. This would become most evident in the Parts of the Earth and Watchtower systems.
19. The Great Table, or Watchtower, system had not yet been transmitted or discussed.
20. The third being the Great Table of the Earth.
21. Covered previously in this chapter.
22. Ave is one of the Heptarchic Sons of the Sons of Light.
23. I have added this bracketed word for clarification.
24. Dee notes in the margin: "Ave: That is to say, thrice a day."
25. Remember that Enoch was said to have never experienced death, and was instead translated body and soul into the Heavens.
26. See my Secrets of the Magickal Grimoires, for in-depth instructions on establishing such an oratory or similar sacred space.
27. Secrets of the Magickal Grimoires also contains information on ritual purification, including the Solomonic nine-day purification.

Chapter Five

The Celestial Speech

We might doubt whether Angels . . . , since they be pure spirits, use any vocal speech, or tongue amongst themselves, or to us; but that Paul in some place saith, "If I speak with the tongue of men, or angels."¹ But what their speech or tongue is, is much doubted by many. For many think that if they use any Idiom, it is Hebrew, because that was the first of all, and came from heaven, and was before the confusion of languages in Babylon, in which the Law was given by God the Father, and the Gospel was preached by Christ the Son, and so many Oracles were given to the Prophets by the Holy Ghost: and seeing all tongues have, and do undergo various mutations, and corruptions, this alone doth always continue inviolated. Moreover an evident sign of this opinion is, that though each Demon, and Intelligence do use the speech of those nations, with whom they do inhabit, yet to them that understand it, they never speak in any Idiom. but in this alone. [Agrippa, Three Books of Occult Philosophy, Book III, chapter 23]

In those Tables² are contained the mystical and holy voices of the Angels, dignified. And, in state, disglorified and drent in confusion; which pierceth Heaven, and looketh into the Center of the Earth: the very language and speech of children and innocents, such as magnify the name of God, and are pure. Wherein the Apostles understood the diffuse sound of the World, imperfect for mans transgression. [The Angel Nalvage, A True and Faithful Relation, p. 64]

The Archangel Raphael was charged with the transmission of the Holy Book of Loagaeth to Dee and Kelley. (In the journals, Dee recorded Raphael's name as Medicina Dei, which is merely Latin for the Hebrew Rapha El—"Healer of God.") In a historical sense, the imagery and function of Raphael descends from Djehuti (Thoth) of Egypt and Hermes of Greece—both of whom are gods of mercurial things such as wisdom, language, communication, technology, magick, and medicine.

This archetypal principle found a home among later Hermeticists as Hermes Trismagestos (Thrice-Great Hermes)—supposed to be an adept alchemist and physician from ancient Egypt, but in actuality another incarnation of the Thoth-Hermes concept. Finally, the Archangel Raphael—the Divine Physician—inherited much of this imagery. Thus, it was appropriate that he should deliver the Holy Book and its Celestial Language to Dee and Kelley.

Raphael did not immediately reveal the Book of Loagaeth to the men. Instead, he began with an introductory sermon concerning a "Divine Medicine"—a liquor (or elixir) that brings life to all things (earthly and celestial) and can destroy "the enemy"⁴ of the soul:

One thing, which is the ground and element of thy desire, is already perfected.⁴ . . . the rest I have brought you, in this my vessel. A medicine sufficient to extinguish and quench out the enemy, to our felicity. Muse not, though I say "ours," for we all live in tasting of this liquor. [Five Books of Mystery, pp. 259–60]

Following this speech, Raphael relates a rather Qabalistic description of the Creator—which, in consideration of space, I have not included here.⁵ Afterward, he assures Dee and Kelley that the Creator is the source of his powerful medicine:

Above and in Himself which is by Himself, and in no other, is this great and virtuous fountain. In nature intellectual He hath watered the plants of her beauty, and stroked up the garments of her felicity. In her darkest members entereth in the taste and savor of this piercing Medicine: reviving and recalling all things past, present and to come, unto their lively and dignified perfection. My words are sentences. My sentences, wisdom. My wisdom the end in my message of all things. Mighty and glorious is the virtue of it, whose springs do endure, and are clear forever; whose Name be blessed. [Five Books of Mystery, pp. 250-60]

In the speech above, we can really see the Hermetic influences upon Dee and Kelley's work. Nature is referred to in the feminine (as is the Hermetic Soul of the World), a kind of goddess that is lovingly attended to by the Creator (her lover). Raphael's medicine—the source of all life—penetrates even her most hidden depths. Most importantly, we learn here that Raphael's elixir recalls "all things past, present, and to come" and is contained in a "message of all things."

The following day, Raphael resumes his sermon upon the Divine Medicine. This time, Kelley reports that the Archangel is concealing something beneath his robes. Raphael speaks:

Man's memory is dull, unless it taste of the sprinkling of this vessel." Nature and reason have disputed profoundly and truly by the savor hereof; it pierceth therefore deeply. But Understanding and reason have elevated and lifted up the dignity and worthiness of Man's memory, by taste hereof. The Immeasurable and unspeakable beginnings (yea, the Beginner and Principal thereof), are exactly (after a sort) and perfectly known of them." It hath taught from the earth unto the heavens, from the heaven unto His seat; from His seat into His Divinity. From His Divinity, a capable measuring of His immeasurable meccies. It is true, most true, shall be true forever—that from the lowest grass to the highest tree, from the smallest valley, to the greatest mountain; yea, even in the distinction betwixt light and darkness. And it measured all things of the world. [Five Books of Mystery, pp. 261-62]

Great are my words, and great is thy thought. Greater shall be the end of these Gods Mercies. New worlds shall spring of these. New manners, strange men, the true life, and thorny path openly seen. All things in one, and yet, this is but a vision Wonderful and great are the purposes of Him, whose Medicine I carry, I have spoken. [Five Books of Mystery, p. 262]

After these introductory speeches describing the Divine Medicine and its benefits, Raphael finally reveals the "vessel" he has been concealing beneath his robes. The vessel, it turns out, is the Holy Book of Loagaeth itself. (This was Kelley's First Vision of the Holy Book. As we saw in chapter 2, it appeared at this time with forty-eight leaves of gold and characters written in fresh blood.) This Book is Raphael's "message of all things." Its Angelic language—and the Doctrine it records—is the divine elixir the Archangel promised the men.

However, it is only during the next session (two days later) that Raphael directly confirms that the elixir is one and the same with the Celestial Speech of the Angels:

Dee: Of your so greatly commended liquor I am desirous to have further understanding.

Raphael: What liquor is more lively than the dew of Truth, proceeding from a fountain most sweet and delectable? Even that verity⁸ which thy mouth hath preached of. What water recreateth more, or cooleth ignorance deeper than the knowledge of our Celestial Speech? Your voices are but feigned: shadows of the words and voices that substantially do comprehend every substance in his kind. The things which you do look on, because you see them not indeed, you also do name them amiss. You are confounded, for your offenses, and dispersed for your punishment.⁹ But we are all one, and are fully understanding. We open the ear, and the passage thereof, from the sun in the morning to the sun at night. Distance is nothing with us, unless it be the distance which separateth the wicked from His mercy. Secrets there are none, but those buried in the shadow of Man's soul.

We see all things, and nothing is hid from us, respecting our Creation. The waters shall stand, if they hear their own speech. The heavens shall move, and shew themselves, when they know their thunder. Hell shall tremble, when they know what is spoken to them. [. . .]

Thou shalt speak with us, and we will be spoken with, of thee. [. . .] I am not as a cloud, shevered with the wind; nor as a garment, that waxeth old, and torn in pieces; but I am forever (because my message is such) and my truth shall endure forever. [Five Books of Mystery, pp. 266–67]

This is perhaps the most important information about the Angelical language given at this point in the journals. We already know (from chapter 2) that the Book of Loagaeth contains the Words of Creation, and here Raphael adds that all created things (Heaven, Hell, the waters, etc.)

know and respond to that Speech. Our own human tongues are imperfect compared to Angelical, and therefore the spiritual creatures of the Universe do not fully understand them.

Therefore, it was to allow humans to speak directly with Angels in their own native tongue that the Angelical language was revealed. Later, during the transmission of the text of Loagaeth itself, Raphael expands upon this idea:

As I have said. the 49 parts of this Book—49 voices, whereunto the so many powers, with their inferiors and subjects, have been, are, and shall be obedient. Every element in this mystery is a world of understanding. Every one knoweth here what is his due obedience, and this¹⁰ shall differ thee in speech from a mortal creature. [Five Books of Mystery, p. 296]

Much later in the journals, the Archangel Gabriel stresses these points directly:

[. . .], whereby even as the mind of man [is] moved at an ordered speech, and is easily persuaded in things that are true, so are the creatures of God stirred up in themselves, when they hear the words wherewithal they were nursed and brought forth: For nothing moveth, that is not persuaded. Neither can any thing be persuaded that is unknown. The Creatures of God understand you not, you are not of their Cities, you are become enemies, because you are separated form Him that Governeth the City by ignorance . . . [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 92]

I take the above to mean that speaking with Angels in human-created languages is less effective, because the Angels are less likely to take one seriously. Yet, if they hear the words of their own native language, it will “differ thee in speech from a mortal creature” and even persuade the Angels to obedience.

We can see this dynamic right here on Earth. People’s attitudes toward each other are often affected drastically by their speech. If you were to find yourself in a foreign land, unable to speak the native tongue, you might find the local people showing you little respect. You could likely appear to them as “slow” or “stupid” as you struggle to comprehend and communicate with those around you. On the other hand, if you can address the natives in their own language, they will be impressed by your efforts and show you much more respect.

Angelical Mythos

There is also a mythological foundation to the Celestial Speech. In several instances, the Angels connected their tongue with biblical legend—especially the saga of Adam and the loss of Paradise. It is, of course, Raphael who makes the first mention of Adam:

Finally, it proceedeth from him that proceedeth.¹¹ Whereunto the first¹² was formed, alter, and not like.¹³ Whose foot slipping, hath dashed his head in pieces, and it became dark. Until again, the Medicine which I have brought, revived his slumbering. Hereby, he not only knew all things, but the measure and true use thereof. [Five Books of Mystery, p. 262]

The above appears to be a summation of the Fall from Eden described in Genesis, chapter 3. Adam's "foot slipping" likely indicates his transgression of God's law, and "dash[ing] his head in pieces" should indicate the resulting expulsion from the Garden. However, Raphael adds to the usual legend by telling us that the Divine Medicine granted Adam his vast knowledge (presumably before the Fall) and also revived him after the Fall.

As we see in Genesis, chapter 2, Adam is traditionally credited with naming all living creatures in Eden. (According to apocryphal legend, Adam also created all earthly languages—an idea we shall revisit later in this chapter.)¹⁴ This ties in perfectly with Raphael's assertion that Adam possessed the Celestial Speech before the Fall. As the Archangel had said earlier, "The things which you do look on, because you see them not indeed, you also do name them amiss." Therefore, if Adam named things "correctly," it would follow that he named them with some knowledge of the Angelic Words of Creation. Raphael later confirms that Adam was the only human to have known the Celestial Speech, and that he used it to assign true names to "all things" once and for all:

The first¹⁵ excepted, no man ever was, is, or shall be (excepted where I except) that ever shall understand, have or know the least part (O n is incomprehensible!) of this vessel. He named all things (which knew it) and they are so indeed, and shall be forever. [Five Books of Mystery, pp. 266-67]

Somewhat later in the journals, the Heptarchic Angel Illemese also relates the Angelical language to Adam in Paradise. The Angel had just spoken a short phrase in Angelical, which Dee did not recognize as such. When Dee asked from which language the phrase was drawn, Illemese answered:

Illemese: A language taught in Paradise.

Dee: To whom?

Illemese: By infusion, to Adam.

Dee: To whom did Adam use it?

Illemese: Unto Chevah.¹⁶

Dee: Did his posterity use the same?

Illemese: Yes, until the Airy Tower was destroyed. [Five Books of Mystery, p. 354]

Illemese has added another aspect to the mythos of the Angelical language by mentioning the "Airy Tower." This is a reference to the Tower of Babel, found in Genesis 11:1-9. In fact, the above speech of Illemese is the second time the Tower has been mentioned in relation to the Celestial Speech. The first time was an indirect reference made by Raphael: "You are confounded, for your offenses, and dispersed for your punishment." In order to understand this cryptic comment, it is necessary to know the story of the Tower of Babel:

Mankind, having grown powerful and arrogant, decided to build a tower to Heaven and make war upon God Himself. In order to halt this vain project, God sent the Confusion of Tongues. In the short term, this ended the construction of the tower, because the workers could no longer comprehend one another. In the long term, it was the birth of the "language barrier" and the many dissimilar nations and cultures upon the earth that war with one another.

I find it interesting that there are only two stories in Genesis that describe the creation of language in the world, and both of them are mentioned by the Angels in relation to the Celestial Speech. Adam knew the language in Eden and then passed it down (in some form) to later generations. Apparently, it formed the basis of the first human language until the Confusion of Tongues destroyed its integrity.

Much later in the journals, Edward Kelley asks the Archangel Gabriel for more information about Angelical. Gabriel's response is the most complete telling of the mythology behind the language. He draws upon most of the previously given information, and then expands upon it:

Man in his Creation, being made an Innocent, was also authorized and made partaker of the Power and Spirit of God. Whereby he not only did know all things under his Creation and spoke of them properly, naming them as they were, but also was partaker of our presence and society, yea a speaker of the mysteries of God, yea, with God Himself. So that in innocency the power of his partakers with God, and us his good Angels, was exalted, and so became holy in the sight of God until that Coronzom (for so is the true name of that mighty Devil) envying his felicity, and perceiving that the substance of his lesser part was frail and unperfect in respect of his pure Essence, began to assail him, and so lost the Garden of felicity, the judgment of his understanding. But not utterly the favour of God, and was driven forth (as your scriptures record) unto the Earth which was covered with brambles. Where being dumb, and not able to speak, he began to learn of necessity the Language which thou, Edward Kelley, callest: [1: Hebrew].¹⁷ And, yet, not that [2: Hebrew]¹⁸ amongst you. In the which he uttered and delivered unto his posterity, the nearest knowledge he had of his Creatures. And from his own self divided his speech into three parts, twelve, three, and seven: the number whereof remaineth, but the true forms and pronunciations want; and therefore is not of that force that was in his own dignity, much less to be compared with the language that we deliver, which Adam verily spake in innocency, and was never uttered nor disclosed to man since till now, wherein the power of God must work, and wisdom in Her true kind be delivered. Which are not to be spoken of in any other thing, neither to be talked of with man's imaginations; for as this Work, and Gift is, of God, which is all power, so doth he open it in a tongue of power to the intent that the proportions may agree in themselves. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 92]

In the above, Gabriel tells the story of Eden, especially as it relates to Adam's possession of the Celestial Speech—which he used not only to name all things, but also to converse familiarly with God and His Angels. In fact, the Devil (whose name is Coronzom in the Angelical language) became jealous of Adam because of his use of Angelical and the familiarity with the Angels it granted him.

Perhaps best of all, Gabriel reveals what happened to Adam's knowledge of the Angelical tongue after his Fall. Apparently, Adam lost the language in its purity when he lost his place in Paradise. However, because he had not lost "utterly the favour of God," he retained some vague recollection of the nature of the language. His attempt at reconstruction resulted in a kind of proto-Hebrew (or 1: Hebrew)—an alphabet of twenty-two letters divided into groups of three, seven, and twelve.¹⁹ This new tongue persisted as the universal language of mankind until the Confusion of Tongues at the Tower of Babel. Afterward, at least one of the resulting languages retained a dim reflection of the pre-Confusion tongue. That language is the biblical Hebrew that we know today (or 2: Hebrew)—which indeed forms the basis of much of our modern language.

The Hebrew alphabet consists of twenty-two letters—which the ancient Qabalistic text Sepher Yetzirah also divides into three groups, of three, seven, and twelve each. This relates to the three primary elements (Air, Fire, Water), the seven ancient planets, and the twelve signs of the zodiac. In this way, every letter of the alphabet is given a mystical correspondence with an aspect of Creation. It allows us to use the language in conjunction with astrology, talismanic magick, gematria, and other magickal practices.²⁰

Also see the beginning of this chapter, where I provided a quote from Agrippa's Book Three, chapter 23, called "Of the Tongue of Angels, and of Their Speaking amongst Themselves, and with Us." There is no doubt whatsoever that Dee read and paid close attention to this chapter of Agrippa's work. Therein we find the following statement: "For many think that if they use any Idiom, it is Hebrew, because that was the first of all, and came from heaven, and was before the confusion of languages in Babylon . . . ”

However, Agrippa also points out that “. . . all tongues have, and do undergo various mutations, and corruptions . . . ” Gabriel confirms this in relation to Hebrew. Before the “corrupted” Hebrew used in the Bible, there was the proto-Hebrew created by Adam, and before that was the Tongue of Angels. It is the Tongue of Angels that Agrippa refers to when he says “. . . this alone doth always continue inviolated.” It is in this light that Gabriel concludes his lesson on the Angelical language:

Thus you see there, the Necessity of this Tongue, the Excellency of it, and the Cause why it is preferred before that which you call Hebrew. For it is written, Every lesser consenteth to his greater. I trust this is sufficient. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 93]

Of course, Agrippa used Hebrew throughout his text to illustrate the various methods of working with mystical words and letters. As he himself points out, Hebrew was considered the most perfect magickal language at the time of his writing. (In Agrippa’s time, Hebrew was a dead language, like Latin, and was associated primarily with Scripture.) However, in the same book, he also has this to say:

Because the letters of every tongue have in their number, order, and figure a celestial and divine original, I shall easily grant this calculation concerning the names of spirits to be made not only by Hebrew letters, but also by Chaldean, and Arabic, Egyptian, Greek, Latin, and any other, the Tables being rightly made after the imitation of the precedents. [Three Books of Occult Philosophy, Book III, chapter 27]

Taking this into account, Gabriel’s assertion that Angelical is “preferred before that which you call Hebrew” makes perfect sense. Dee would likely have understood this to mean that all of Agrippa’s instructions concerning names, letters, talismans, etc., could be utilized with the Angelical alphabet instead of Hebrew. (See the end of this chapter, where I explore some of Agrippa’s techniques, utilizing Dee’s Angelical.)

The Angelical Alphabet

Characters therefore are nothing else than certain unknowable letters and writings, preserving the secrets of the gods, and names of the spirits from the use and reading of profane men, which the ancients called hieroglyphical, or sacred letters, because devoted to the secrets of the gods only. For they did account it unlawful to write the mysteries of the gods with those characters with which profane and vulgar things were wrote. [Three Books of Occult Philosophy, Book III, chapter 29]

Dee: The titles of the sides,²¹ are they to be written only in the holy Characters?

Galvah: As thou sayest, even those words do make thee holy, that thou callest them holy.

Dee: I believe verily, that they are holy and sanctified. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 23]

Before attempting to transmit the text of Loagaeth, Raphael first wanted the men to commit to memory the characters of the Angelical alphabet (or, as Dee referred to it, the Adamical alphabet).²² During Kelley's second vision of the Holy Book (see chapter 2), the Archangel highlighted a group of twenty-one distinct letters from one of its pages. The characters Kelley saw were by no means Latin, nor were they from the Hebrew, Greek, Chaldean, or any of the other usual "dead language" alphabets utilized by Renaissance mystics. In some ways, the characters revealed by Raphael resemble magickal alphabets like those found in Agrippa and Solomon's grimoires. Some of the letter shapes even appear to have origins previous to Dee and Kelley.²³ However, the Angelical alphabet as a whole is unique within Western occultism.

In the journal, Kelley recorded the characters in one line, running from right to left in the "Semitic" manner of Angelical, beginning with Pu (B) and ending with Gisg (T). These were actually simplified versions of the letters, which many today consider the "script" version—suitable for handwriting.²⁴

The “Script” Angelical Alphabet, running right to left.

It was not until much later, after most of the Tables of Loagaeth had been transmitted, that Kelley finally received the final and correct forms of the Angelical letters. These final forms were intended for use in the “perfected copy” of the Holy Book. Following is a Table of the “perfected” Angelical characters, along with their names and phonetic values. Remember this alphabet runs from right to left (or Pa to Gisg):

The Angelical Alphabet

Graph	Un	Or	Gal	Ged	Veh	Pa
E	A	F	D	G/J	C/Ch/K	B

Drux	Ger	Mals	Ur	Na	Gon	Tal
N	Q/Qu	P/Ph	L	H	I/Y	M

Gisg	Fam	Van	Ceph	Don	Med	Pal
T	S	U/V	Z	R	O	X

Dee notes that when Kelley could not make out a letter in his visions, it would appear “in a light yellow color” upon the paper, so Kelley could simply trace over it. It has been suggested that this indicates the letters are supposed to be yellow in color—but I have to disagree. The Holy Book originally appeared to Kelley written in blood, and no color is ever prescribed for the letters when written on paper. (This journal entry specifically says that Kelley traced over the letters in black. In later sessions, the Angels told Dee that they didn't care what color he used for the letters.)⁴⁵

While on the subject of the "perfected" Angelical characters, I must mention some confusion that exists concerning the letters Pal (X) and Gon (I/Y). Note that the Pal in my illustration of the perfected Angelical letters contains a small point at the "elbow" of the character, while other texts on the Angelical alphabet do not.⁴⁶ When Kelley first describes the letters in Dee's journal, he states they were drawn in a single line with points between them.⁴⁷ Therefore, there is a point next to the Pal in the journal, but it is not clear that the point is intended as part of the letter.

However, when Dee lists out the letters with their names and English-letter correspondences, we clearly see the dot remains in the crook of the Pal.⁴⁸ Then, the alphabet is depicted once more in the same session, showing a 7 x 3 division of the letters (the "script letters" shown in the illustration), and once again we see the small point in Pal's elbow.⁴⁹ Finally, Kelley drew out the "perfected" Angelical letters.⁵⁰ Peterson's version of Dee's Five Books . . . shows no point in the Pal in this instance, but the original manuscript does include the point!⁵¹ (I assume the image in Peterson's book was edited, and the point may have appeared to be a printer's error.)

As for Gon (I/Y), you can see that I have included two versions of this letter in my illustration. When Dee drew out the letters divided into three groups of seven,⁵² he included two versions of Gon (also shown previously)—one without a dot representing I and one with a dot representing Y. This is confirmed later in the journals, when Dee makes a marginal notation showing the "Gon-with-dot" and the words *this with a prick betokeneth 'y.'*⁵³ When Kelley finally draws the perfected letters, he includes the dot with the Gon--though it is misleading because he also separates all the characters with dots, and Gon's dot appears to be merely a misplaced separator-dot. I have included both versions in my illustration: the "Gon-sans-dot" for I and the "Gon-with-dot" for Y. Throughout the Lexicon in volume II, I have used "Gon-with-dot" anywhere Dee used a Y in his transliterations, and where I naturally makes the "yuh" sound (such as in Ialprg).

After revealing the original “script” version of the letters to Kelley, Raphael proceeded to deliver lessons upon the alphabet: the pronunciation of the letters’ names, their proper ordering, and the division of the twenty-one characters into three groups of seven.

Of this threefold division, Raphael says, “The number of perfection, one in three.”³⁴ This statement lets us know that Angelical should properly contain twenty-one letters (three groups of seven), rather than the twenty-two (three, seven, and twelve) with which we are familiar from Hebrew. I assume this difference in numbering is intended to reflect both the Book of Loagaeth and the Heptarchic system, both of which are also based upon a sevenfold scheme. An alphabet of twenty-two letters would not mathematically “fit” the Angelic system revealed to Dee and Kelley.

One trait Angelical shares with ancient languages like Hebrew is the fact that each letter has both a phonetic value and also stands as a word on its own. For instance, the equivalent of the letter d in Hebrew is called daleth—but the word daleth also translates as “door.” (The word daleth came first, and was later chosen to represent the Hebrew equivalent of d because it starts with that phonetic sound.)

The letters of the Angelical alphabet work in a fashion similar to Hebrew—though with some key differences. For instance, the Angelical letter D is called Gal, and it is certain that Gal is a proper word with its own translation. (This, and several other letter-names appear in the text of Loagaeth as whole words.) However, unfortunately, no translations for the Angelical letter-names were ever offered.

Meanwhile, unlike Hebrew letter-names, the word Gal does not begin with the phonetic value of D. (As we can see in the previous chart of the alphabet, few of the Angelical letter-names reflect their phonetic values. Pa = “B,” Tal = “M,” Drux = “N,” etc.)

Later in the journals, Dee and Kelley once again gained the audience of the Angel Illemese. The men were previously discussing the “transposition of letters” (likely a reference to a Qabalistic exercise in gematria, or maybe one of the many systems of cryptography that were popular in Dee's time, especially with Dee himself).⁴⁵ The conversation with Illemese soon turned to the letters of the Angelical alphabet:

Dee: And first I think, that those letters of our Adamical Alphabet have a due peculiar unchangeable proportion of their forms, and likewise that their order is also Mystical.

Illemese: These letters represent the Creation of man, and therefore they must be in proportion. They represent the workmanship where-withal the soul of man was made like unto his Creator. [Five Books of Mystery, p. 373]

As we see in the Book of Genesis, chapter 2, Adam (or mankind) was fashioned after the image of the Creator. In the quote above, Illemese reveals that the very letters of the Angelical alphabet represent the workmanship behind the Creation of Man.

This was not a new concept for Dee and Kelley. If we look into the Sepher Yetzirah, we can see a striking similarity between Illemese's description of the Angelical letters, and the Qabalistic understanding of the Hebrew alphabet:

He hath formed, weighed, transmuted, composed, and created with these twenty-two letters every living being, and every soul yet uncreated. [Sepher Yetzirah, 2:2]

These three mothers again represent in the Microcosm or Human form, male and female; the Head, the Belly, and the Chest. [Sepher Yetzirah, 3:4]

These seven double letters He formed, designed, created, and combined into the Stars of the Universe, the days of the week, [and] the orifices of perception in man. [Sepher Yetzirah, 4:3]

These twelve letters, he designed, formed, combined, weighed, and changed, and created with them the twelve divisions of the heavens (namely, the zodiacal constellations), the twelve months of the year, and the twelve important organs of the frame of man, namely the right and left hands, the right and left feet, two kidneys, the liver, the gall, the spleen, the intestines, the gullet, and the stomach. [Sepher Yetzirah, 5:2]

Dee would have been familiar with the Sepher Yetzirah and the relationship it describes between the Hebrew letters and the body of Man. Therefore, it would have been natural for him to assume a similar relationship between the human body and the Angelical characters.

Even the instruction by Illemese to draw the characters "in proportion" reflects similar instructions for the use of Hebrew upon talismans. Because the letters were used in the creation of all things, it is considered necessary that the proper forms of the letters be retained in magical work. In this sense, the characters are sigils³⁶ in their own right—each one embodying a single aspect of Creation.

In order to make this comparison between Hebrew and Angelical complete, I should also mention the numerical aspect of the Hebrew letters. Like most ancient languages, Hebrew does not possess a separate set of characters to represent numbers. Instead, the letters must do double-duty as numbers, too. (Our example Hebrew letter daleth also stands for the number 4.) Therefore, any Hebrew word can also be viewed as a grouping of numbers instead of letters—making the language useful for numerology and gematria.

It has long been assumed that Angelical works in the same manner. This is thanks, in part, to statements made about numbers by the Archangel Gabriel (which we saw in chapter 3.)³⁷ These statements are most often taken out of context by modern scholars. For example, Gabriel says, "The Letters are separated, and in confusion: and, therefore, are by numbers gathered together." In the same speech, the Archangel adds, "Where being known in number, they are easily distinguished, so that here we teach places to be numbered." The student of Qabalistic gematria will find such statements familiar within their own art.

However, as we saw in chapter 3, Gabriel was discussing the numbers given with the letters of several words in Key One (which were added together to create "mystical square roots"). Those numbers are associated with the specific words of the Keys, and not with the individual characters of the alphabet.

Another hint toward an Angelical gematria rests in the Keys themselves. Several of the Keys contain numbers that are represented by letters.

ACAM = 7699	GA = 31	OP = 22
AF = 19	MAPM = 9639	OX = 26
CIAL = 9996	MIAN = 3663	P = 8
CLA = 456	NI = 28	PD = 33
DAOX = 5678	O = 5	PERAL = 69636
DARG = 6739	OB = 28	QUAR = 1636
EMOD = 8763	OL = 24	TAXS = 7336
ERAN = 6332	OS = 12	UX = 42

As we can see in the list above, there are always as many letters in the Angelical as there are numbers in the translation. This suggests that these letters are not the Angelical words for their numbers (as the English for 33 is thirty-three).³⁸ Instead, the letters would appear to share a one-to-one relationship with the numbers. For instance, in the letters CLA (456)—the character C could represent 4, the L might represent 5, and the A represent 6.

However, we find little consistency in this relationship between the letters and numbers. For example, note how the letter O appears to represent 1, 2, 5, 6, and 7 at the same time. Also note PERAL, which uses P, R, and L to represent 6. No one to date has discovered the mystery behind this inconsistency.

The bottom line is that the Angels never suggested the existence of an Angelical numerology or gematria to Dee or Kelley. Whenever the men did employ such arts in the journals, it is always of the type found in the Qabalah or the works of Agrippa—simply applied to the names and words revealed by the Angels. This does not mean that an Angelical gematria does not exist. (In fact, it would surprise me if Angelical letters did not also represent numbers, as this is a common trait of ancient languages.) It only means that such a system was never mentioned by the Angels nor (as far as we know) ever developed by Dee himself.

Addendum: “Before That Which You Call Hebrew” (Angelical and Agrippa’s Occult Philosophy)

Dee was a student of Agrippa’s occult philosophy, and it had a profound impact upon his Angelic magick. For example, we have already discussed the quote at the head of this chapter from Agrippa’s Book Three, chapter 23 (“Of the Tongue of Angels . . .”)—which likely inspired Dee in his work.³⁹ Also consider the following excerpt, taken from Book Three, chapter 24 (“Of the Names of Spirits and Their Various Imposition . . .”):

But the masters of the Hebrews think that the names of angels were imposed upon them by Adam, according to that which is written, the Lord brought all things which he had made unto Adam, that he should name them, and as he called anything, so the name of it was. Hence, the Hebrew mecubals think, together with magicians, that it is in the power of man to impose names upon spirits, but of such a man only who is dignified, and elevated to his virtue by some divine gift, or sacred authority.

The above is quite harmonious with the mythology Dee’s Angels expounded in relation to the Celestial Speech. Adam imposed names upon all things (supposedly using the Angelical tongue), and therefore those who have obtained a certain “sacred authority” are likewise able to impose names upon spiritual creatures.

Agrippa dedicates several chapters in his work to the generation of Divine Names and characters. (See the third book in Three Books of Occult Philosophy, chapters 23–30.) Of course, he utilizes Hebrew to illustrate his methods. However, as we saw previously in this chapter, he also affirms that “the letters of every tongue have in their number, order, and figure a celestial and divine original.” Therefore, one might also use “Chaldean, and Arabic, Egyptian, Greek, Latin and any other” language with the methods of gematria and mystical name-generation he describes.⁴⁰

I suspect Gabriel, in Dee’s journal, was referring to Agrippa’s teaching when he stressed that Angelical is “preferred before that which you call Hebrew” because “every lesser consenteth to his greater.”⁴¹ Dee’s holy characters were therefore intended for use beyond the Book of Loagæth, and I believe that most of Agrippa’s methods of name-generation can (and were always intended to) be used with them. We will explore three simple techniques that lend themselves especially well to the Angelical alphabet—found in Agrippa's Book Three, chapters 26, 27, and 30. Of course, where Agrippa uses Hebrew in his work, I will use Angelical characters:

Of Finding Out the Names of Spirits and Geniuses from the Disposition of Celestial Bodies
(Adapted from Agrippa's Third Book, Chapter 26)

A vitally important aspect of Renaissance-era magick was the observance of astrological forces. In fact, a large portion of classical occult literature is devoted to magickal timing based upon the results of horary chart interpretations. Just as John Dee used this art to schedule a time for Queen Elizabeth's coronation, so too would he have cast horoscopes to determine the best times for his magickal operations.

In this way, strict magickal timing was observed. The astral forces active at a given time determined what work could be accomplished. Or, conversely, a given set of astrological requirements would determine what time the work could be accomplished. It is from these practices that we hear of spirits ruling for limited periods of time, and texts that suggest spirits can only be contacted when the stars are under certain arrangements.

We can see an example of this in Agrippa's Book Two (chapters 35–47),⁴² wherein he explains how to fashion magickal images. In many cases, specific magickal timing is required:

From the operations of the Sun, they made an image at the our of the Sun, the first face of Leo ascending with the Sun, the form of which was . . . [Three Books of Occult Philosophy, Book II, chapter 41]

From the operations of Mercury, they made an image at the hour of Mercury, Mercury ascending in Gemini, the form of which was . . . [Three Books of Occult Philosophy, Book II, chapter 43]

Returning again to Book Three, chapter 27, Agrippa explains that it is possible to use these very same astrological indications to create a horoscope and “decipher” the name of an Angel from the stars. That Angel—also called an Intelligence—will be the particular Governor of the magickal work that will take place at that time—be it a magickal image, talisman, evocation, or the like.

At the same time, Agrippa suggests we might use this technique for any magickal operation. It does not matter whether the astrological conditions are prescribed by a spell, or calculated by the individual practitioner. It only matters that one takes the time to draw up a zodiacal chart, making sure that it is well-aspected toward the goal of the work. (Thus, if one is working with Angels of Mercury, one must make sure Mercury is strong and fortunate in the chart.) If the chart indicates that the chosen planet is unfortunately aspected, then it must be scrapped, a new time chosen, and a new chart created.⁴³

Once the time and horoscope are satisfactory, Agrippa outlines several processes for “decoding” the name of the ruling Intelligence. Each process is more involved than the last, and his descriptions of the advanced techniques are unfortunately very obscure. However, the first and simplest method is easy to understand, and is likely the best place for us to start.

It is first necessary to calculate the degree of the ascendant. The Heavens compose a circle of 360 degrees, and the ascendant is the first degree of the first astrological House—resting directly upon the line of the eastern horizon.

In that ascending degree, place the first Angelical letter (Pa). Then, continue to write the alphabet in proper order all the way counterclockwise around the chart. Each degree is assigned a single letter, and the direction follows the natural course of the twelve zodiacal signs. When the final letter (Gisg) is reached, simply begin again with Pa and continue until degree 360 has been assigned a letter.

From there one only needs to interpret the chart as normal, making distinctions between the planets with strong and fortunate dignities and those with weak and unfortunate dignities. The concept is to focus on the specific planetary forces one needs for the work at hand. One can simply ignore the weaker and negative aspects of the chart and “compile” those forces that are necessary to the magickal goal.

Each degree that contains a desired planetary aspect now has a letter assigned to it, and these letters are gathered together to formulate the name. It is here that Agrippa offers several methods, some of which are hard to comprehend. The simplest is to start at the ascendant and move around the chart counterclockwise. The first desired aspect one reaches becomes the first letter of the Intelligence's name. Then, moving onward counterclockwise, the next required aspect becomes the second letter—and so on throughout the chart.

A slightly more advanced method seems to involve gathering the letters according to the strength of the planetary aspects. Though uncertain, I recently received the suggestion that the strongest (or most desired) aspect of the chart should become the first letter of the name, and the second-strongest the second letter, etc. Thus, if one desired to create a talisman in the hour of Mercury, Mercury ascending in Gemini, one could take the letter assigned to the degree of Mercury as the first letter of the name.

Agrippa does not say one should consider only positive aspects in this method. However, it may be implied, as gathering letters for all aspects of the chart might make for some unwieldy names.

Agrippa goes on to describe the Qabalistic practice of appending the gathered letters with one of the Names of God, El or Yah, to create an Angelic name.⁴⁴ However, as we are using the Angelical alphabet rather than Hebrew, there should be no need for this convention. The Angels who are unique to Dee's journals most often lack these suffixes—such as Nalvage, Madimi, Bornogo, Befafes, Illemese, Mapsama, and so on.

Finally, the name of an "evil Angel"—who opposes the work at hand—can also be derived using a similar process.⁴⁵ It is merely an inverse of the previous instructions, using the same horoscope used to find the good Angel. However, in this case one must calculate the degree of the descendant—that is, the degree in direct opposition to the ascendant (degree 180, which is the first degree of the seventh House), found on the line of the western horizon. The first letter (Pa) is placed there, and the alphabet is written around the chart clockwise—now going against the natural order of the zodiac.

To find the letters of the evil Angel's name, one begins with the same planetary aspects used for the good Angel. Then, find the degrees on the chart in direct opposition to those aspects. The letters assigned to those degrees of opposition will form the name of the evil Angel. The letters may be gathered beginning at the descendant and moving clockwise around the chart. Or, gather them according to strength of dignity, beginning with the opposing degree of the strongest dignity and progressing to the weakest.

I originally wanted to show you an illustration of a zodiacal chart with the Angelical alphabet written around it for both good and evil Angels. However, for all 720 letters to be visible, the graphic would have been too massive to fit even across two facing pages. Therefore, I have settled for the following Tables, which you can use to look up the letters for each degree of the zodiac:

Agrippa suggests these methods can also be used to find the name of a person's nativity Angel, by simply applying them to that person's natal chart. The resulting name will be that of a guardian Angel often credited with keeping one from physical harm. Also, as Agrippa explains, this is the Angel set over home, career, and all aspects of life outlined within the twelve astrological Houses.

First House

Degree	Good Angel	Evil Angel
ASC	∇	♄
2	♁	♈
3	♊	♎
4	♈	♏
5	♎	♌
6	♏	♍
7	♌	♍
8	♍	♎
9	♌	♎
10	♏	♈
11	♎	♊
12	♈	♁
13	♏	∇
14	♎	♊
15	♍	♌
16	♌	♍
17	♍	♎
18	♎	♏
19	♍	♌
20	♌	♍
21	♊	♎
22	∇	♏
23	♁	♈
24	♊	♎
25	♈	♏
26	♎	♌
27	♏	♍
28	♌	♍
29	♍	♎
30	♌	♎

Second House

Degree	Good Angel	Evil Angel
1	♏	♈
2	♎	♊
3	♈	♁
4	♏	∇
5	♎	♊
6	♍	♌
7	♌	♍
8	♍	♎
9	♎	♏
10	♍	♌
11	♌	♍
12	♊	♎
13	∇	♏
14	♁	♈
15	♊	♎
16	♈	♏
17	♎	♌
18	♏	♍
19	♌	♍
20	♍	♎
21	♌	♎
22	♏	♈
23	♎	♊
24	♈	♁
25	♏	∇
26	♎	♊
27	♍	♌
28	♌	♍
29	♍	♎
30	♎	♏

Third House

Degree	Good Angel	Evil Angel
1	♂	♂
2	♂	♂
3	♂	♂
4	♂	♂
5	♂	♂
6	♂	♂
7	♂	♂
8	♂	♂
9	♂	♂
10	♂	♂
11	♂	♂
12	♂	♂
13	♂	♂
14	♂	♂
15	♂	♂
16	♂	♂
17	♂	♂
18	♂	♂
19	♂	♂
20	♂	♂
21	♂	♂
22	♂	♂
23	♂	♂
24	♂	♂
25	♂	♂
26	♂	♂
27	♂	♂
28	♂	♂
29	♂	♂
30	♂	♂

Fourth House

Degree	Good Angel	Evil Angel
1	♂	♂
2	♂	♂
3	♂	♂
4	♂	♂
5	♂	♂
6	♂	♂
7	♂	♂
8	♂	♂
9	♂	♂
10	♂	♂
11	♂	♂
12	♂	♂
13	♂	♂
14	♂	♂
15	♂	♂
16	♂	♂
17	♂	♂
18	♂	♂
19	♂	♂
20	♂	♂
21	♂	♂
22	♂	♂
23	♂	♂
24	♂	♂
25	♂	♂
26	♂	♂
27	♂	♂
28	♂	♂
29	♂	♂
30	♂	♂

Fifth House

Degree	Good Angel	Evil Angel
1	ل	ا
2	ع	ف
3	ف	ع
4	ا	ل
5	ل	ف
6	✓	ز
7	و	ط
8	ه	و
9	و	ز
10	ا	و
11	ز	ل
12	ز	ع
13	ل	ل
14	ع	ز
15	ل	ز
16	و	ا
17	ز	و
18	و	ه
19	ط	و
20	ز	✓
21	ف	ل
22	ل	ا
23	ع	ف
24	ف	ع
25	ا	ل
26	ل	ف
27	✓	ز
28	و	ط
29	ه	و
30	و	ز

Sixth House

Degree	Good Angel	Evil Angel
1	ا	و
2	ز	ل
3	ز	ع
4	ل	ل
5	ع	ز
6	ل	ز
7	و	ا
8	ز	و
9	و	ه
10	ط	و
11	ز	✓
12	ف	ل
13	ل	ا
14	ع	ف
15	ف	ع
16	ا	ل
17	ل	ف
18	✓	ز
19	و	ط
20	ه	و
21	و	ز
22	ا	و
23	ز	ل
24	ز	ع
25	ل	ل
26	ع	ز
27	ل	ز
28	و	ا
29	ز	و
30	و	ه

Seventh House

Degree	Good Angel	Evil Angel
DSC	♄	♅
2	♁	♆
3	♁	♆
4	♈	♅
5	♈	♅
6	♄	♅
7	♈	♈
8	♅	♄
9	♅	♈
10	♅	♈
11	♆	♁
12	♆	♁
13	♅	♄
14	♆	♈
15	♆	♈
16	♅	♆
17	♅	♆
18	♅	♈
19	♆	♅
20	♆	♅
21	♈	♆
22	♄	♅
23	♅	♆
24	♅	♆
25	♈	♅
26	♈	♅
27	♄	♅
28	♈	♈
29	♅	♄
30	♅	♈

Eighth House

Degree	Good Angel	Evil Angel
1	♅	♈
2	♆	♁
3	♆	♁
4	♅	♄
5	♆	♈
6	♆	♈
7	♅	♆
8	♅	♆
9	♅	♈
10	♆	♅
11	♆	♅
12	♈	♆
13	♄	♅
14	♅	♆
15	♅	♆
16	♈	♅
17	♈	♅
18	♄	♅
19	♈	♈
20	♅	♄
21	♅	♈
22	♅	♈
23	♆	♁
24	♆	♁
25	♅	♄
26	♆	♈
27	♆	♈
28	♅	♆
29	♅	♆
30	♅	♈

Ninth House

Degree	Good Angel	Evil Angel
1	∞	7
2	κ	✕
3	Ω	✕
4	⊥	α
5	♂	6
6	Γ	⊞
7	♂	∇
8	ε	✓
9	⊞	7
10	α	α
11	7	⊞
12	✓	ε
13	∇	♂
14	⊞	Γ
15	6	♂
16	α	⊥
17	✕	Ω
18	✕	κ
19	7	∞
20	ε	7
21	7	ε
22	∞	7
23	κ	✕
24	Ω	✕
25	⊥	α
26	♂	6
27	Γ	⊞
28	♂	∇
29	ε	✓
30	⊞	7

Tenth House

Degree	Good Angel	Evil Angel
1	α	α
2	7	⊞
3	✓	ε
4	∇	♂
5	⊞	Γ
6	6	♂
7	α	⊥
8	✕	Ω
9	✕	κ
10	7	∞
11	ε	7
12	7	ε
13	∞	7
14	κ	✕
15	Ω	✕
16	⊥	α
17	♂	6
18	Γ	⊞
19	♂	∇
20	ε	✓
21	⊞	7
22	α	α
23	7	⊞
24	✓	ε
25	∇	♂
26	⊞	Γ
27	6	♂
28	α	⊥
29	✕	Ω
30	✕	κ

Eleventh House

Degree	Good Angel	Evil Angel
1	7	∞
2	ε	7
3	7	ε
4	∞	7
5	κ	✕
6	Ω	✕
7	⋈	♊
8	♊	♋
9	♋	♌
10	♌	♍
11	♍	✓
12	♎	7
13	♏	♏
14	7	♎
15	✓	ε
16	♍	♌
17	♌	♋
18	♋	♊
19	♊	⋈
20	✕	Ω
21	✕	κ
22	7	∞
23	ε	7
24	7	ε
25	∞	7
26	κ	✕
27	Ω	✕
28	⋈	♊
29	♊	♋
30	♋	♌

Twelfth House

Degree	Good Angel	Evil Angel
1	♌	♍
2	ε	✓
3	♎	7
4	♏	♏
5	7	♎
6	✓	ε
7	♍	♌
8	♌	♋
9	♋	♊
10	♊	⋈
11	✕	Ω
12	✕	κ
13	7	∞
14	ε	7
15	7	ε
16	∞	7
17	κ	✕
18	Ω	✕
19	⋈	♊
20	♊	♋
21	♋	♌
22	♌	♍
23	ε	✓
24	♎	7
25	♏	♏
26	7	♎
27	✓	ε
28	♍	♌
29	♌	♋
30	♋	♊

Of the Calculating Art of Such Names
by the Tradition of Qabalists
(Adapted from Agrippa's Third Book, Chapter 27)

The very next chapter of Agrippa's work gives us another method of working with the generated names. It involves permuting the name of the Intelligence to discover an entire hierarchy of Angels who rule above him.

I suspect that Dee was more than familiar with the "Dionysian" celestial hierarchy—often called the Nine Angelic Choirs. This was the standard Christian model of the Heavens during his life, and is presented in Agrippa's Book Two, chapter 12, "Of the Number Nine, and the Scale Thereof."

These Choirs are arranged into nine concentric circles. The outermost consists of the Angels closest to the material realm, who are generally charged with directing events on Earth and are depicted as the most anthropomorphic. The inner circle consists of the most fiery and terrible Angels, who protect and attend upon the Divine Throne Itself. The reader may recognize the names of the Choirs, from lowest to highest: Angels, Archangels and Principalities; Virtues, Powers, and Dominations; Thrones, Cherubim, and Seraphim.

The name of an Intelligence generated from a horoscope would classify as an "Angel" by this model—an Intelligence directly concerned with material or human events. Returning to Agrippa's chapter 27, he suggests that the Angel's name can yield eight further names—beginning with an Archangel, then a Principality, and eventually all the way to a Seraph. In practice, however, I would assume that one would rarely need anything more than the Angel and Archangel who directs him.

In order to understand the method Agrippa describes, we must think from the standpoint of sacred mathematics. Any two numbers can be multiplied together, and the resulting product will be an "occult number" associated with them both. Most often, this is done with a single number multiplied by itself—such as $7 \times 7 = 49$. (Hence the mystery surrounding square roots.) The number 49 can then represent a magickal square of forty-nine cells—seven columns and seven rows.⁴⁰ In fact, Agrippa shows us this very magick square in his Book Two, chapter 22, “Of the Tables of the Planets,” where it is sacred to the planet Venus.

It is less common, but still valid, to multiply two differing numbers. For example, if we wish to work with planetary forces via the Angelical alphabet, then we might find it useful to multiply 7 (number of planets) by 21 (number of Angelical letters) for a product of 147—the number of cells in a magickal square sacred to both numbers. This square can become a magickal word-square by writing the Angelical alphabet within it—from right to left—a total of seven times.

The following Table consists of the 147-cell word-square, surrounded by a border of two outer columns and an upper and lower row. The upper row and right-hand column combine to form the Entrance of the Good Angels. It includes the seven planets across the top and the Angelical alphabet written in order from top to bottom.

The lower row and left-hand column combine to form the Entrance of the Evil Angels. This includes the seven planets written in reverse order and Angelical alphabet written from bottom to top.

Note that the following Table of the Planets has been altered from Agrippa’s design, in that the planets follow Dee’s order for the Hep-tarchia.⁴⁷ It seemed appropriate to use the same ordering with the Angelical alphabet:

	☽	♄	♀	♅	♂	☉	♀	Entrance of the Good Angels
✓	7	✕	✕	✕	6	✕	✓	✓
7	✕	♄	♄	♄	♂	7	♄	✕
♄	✓	7	♄	♄	♄	♄	♄	6
♄	7	✕	✕	✕	6	✕	✓	✕
♄	✕	♄	♄	♄	♂	7	♄	✕
♄	✓	7	♄	♄	♄	♄	♄	✕
♄	7	✕	✕	✕	6	✕	✓	7
✕	✕	♄	♄	♄	♂	7	♄	♄
♄	✓	7	♄	♄	♄	♄	♄	7
♄	7	✕	✕	✕	6	✕	✓	♂
♄	✕	♄	♄	♄	♂	7	♄	♄
♂	✓	7	♄	♄	♄	♄	♄	♄
7	7	✕	✕	✕	6	✕	✓	♄
♄	✕	♄	♄	♄	♂	7	♄	✕
7	✓	7	♄	♄	♄	♄	♄	♄
✕	7	✕	✕	✕	6	✕	✓	♄
✕	✕	♄	♄	♄	♂	7	♄	♄
♄	✓	7	♄	♄	♄	♄	♄	♄
6	7	✕	✕	✕	6	✕	✓	♄
✕	✕	♄	♄	♄	♂	7	♄	7
✓	✓	7	♄	♄	♄	♄	♄	✓
Entrance of the Evil Angels	♀	☉	♂	♅	♀	♄	☽

Using this Table is fairly simple. Begin with the first letter of the name of the Angel, and the planet from the horoscope associated with its degree. Then, find that letter in the right-hand column of the Entrance of the Good Angels, and scan leftward through that row to the column beneath the letter's planet. For example, if the Angel's name began with M (Tal), and its planetary aspect from the horoscope were Sol, one would begin in the right-hand column with Tal (♄) and scan leftward to the column of Sol, where the letter Gon (♄) is found. Therefore, the letter I Y (Gon) becomes the first letter of the Archangel's name.

The process is repeated for each letter of the name—always scanning leftward from the letter in the right-hand column to the column beneath the letter's associated planetary aspect.

In order to find the name of the Principality, one would input the name of the Archangel in the same manner described above. The resulting Principality name can be input to generate the name of the Virtue, and so forth until a Seraph is produced.

Of course, the same thing can be done with the name of the evil Angel. Simply input his name from the left-hand column, and scan rightward to the column above the reverse-ordered planets at the bottom of the Table.

Agrippa also outlines several alternative uses for Tables like these. For instance, any Name of God can be inputted to find an Angel that will answer to it. In such a case, one would have to first decide which planet to work with, and then take all of the letters from the column beneath that planet. (If the name is already associated with a planet, so much the better. However, theoretically, one could input the same Name of God seven times—once in each column—to find seven planetary Angels that answer to it.)

A person's name converted to Angelical characters, and the planet or star that governs him or her being determined (via a natal chart), the name of yet another guardian Angel can be discovered. Simply input the letters from the right-hand column and scan leftward to the column beneath his or her ruling star.

Finally, any Angelical word can be input into the Table. Thus, if one can reduce a magickal goal to a single word, and find an Angelical translation in the English-to-Angelical section of the Lexicon, that word can be used with the Table to find an Intelligence set over the thing or concept. Once again, it would be necessary to first determine or choose a planet most in harmony with the magickal goal itself.

Of course, when using these techniques, we should not be limited to the seven planets alone. There are also the twelve forces of the zodiac to consider. The numbers 12 and 21 are multiplied for a product of 252. By forming this into a 12 x 21 magick square, we can fill the cells with the Angelical alphabet exactly twelve times. Agrippa offers this word-square in the third book of his Three Book of Occult Philosophy, chapter 27, also surrounded by a border of the Entrances of the Good and Evil Angels. The Table is used exactly as has been described here, except that it allows one to work with zodiacal forces rather than planetary.

Note that the Table of the Zodiac on the following page has been altered from Agrippa's design. Agrippa's Table consists of the Hebrew alphabet written from right to left on every other line (twelve times) and written from left to right on every other remaining line (also twelve times).⁴⁸ Because both 12 and 22 are even numbers, this was possible in his Table. However, Angelical is an odd-numbered twenty-one letters long, so I had to follow the same pattern as used for the Angelical Table of the Planets:

Another Manner of Making Characters Delivered by Qabalists (Adapted from Agrippa's Third Book, Chapter 30)

Once we know the name of our Angelic Intelligence, it would also be helpful to have its sigil for use in talismanic magick. Agrippa gives several methods of generating sigils from the letters of an entity's name. Most of them depend upon the Hebrew alphabet, but he ends the chapter with a very simple method that can be used with any alphabet whatsoever.

Simply take the letters of the Angel's name, and blend them together to form a single hieroglyphic figure—called a sigil (or signature). For example, let us consider possible sigils for the Angels Nalvage and Galvah:

Nalvage
(7 6 x a c x 3)

Galvah
(o x a c x 6)

Two sigils—Nalvage and Galvah

Agrippa stresses that these types of sigils are not as powerful as those received directly from the Angels. Yet, they are extremely useful for typical magickal purposes, as well as for gaining initial contact with the Angels in question.

Making Pentacles and Sigils (Adapted from Pseudo-Agrippa's Fourth Book, Of Magical Ceremonies)

Agrippa's Three Books did not include any practical instruction for magick—likely as a protection against the Inquisition. It was not until thirty years after his death that a Fourth Book of Occult Philosophy was published, the actual title being Of Magical Ceremonies. There were many writings by Agrippa that appeared only posthumously, so the debate continues to this very day over whether or not he is the true author of this one. (Hence the name "Pseudo-Agrippa.") Regardless of its authorship, Of Magical Ceremonies has had a profound impact on western occultism—not the least of which is its instructions for turning Sigils into full-fledged talismans. The following is adapted from Pseudo-Agrippa's instructions:

First, surround the sigil with a double circle. This creates a border—or circumference—within which can be written the names of forces in control of the Angel. For instance, the name of the Archangel generated from the Tables in the previous section would be a prime choice.

One might also include a Name of God in sympathy with the Angel's nature. For example, a talisman aimed at military conquest might display the Name Madzilodarp (God of Stretch Forth and Conquer). Outside of the Keys, Dee also recorded a large number of Divine Names in his many magickal squares and Tables, which can be referenced for a Name appropriate to the Angel.

In truth, any Angelical word would serve the same purpose—so that anything from wrath, burn, or earthquake to mercy, comfort, or pleasure (depending on the magickal goal) might be translated into Angelical and written within the circumference as a Word of Power. (See the English-to-Angelical section of the Lexicon.)

As a final option, the Fourth Book suggests writing a versicle from Scripture within the circumference. We see this in several of the talismans from the Key of Solomon the King. A passage—usually from the Psalms—that relates in some way to the magickal goal is written in Hebrew or Greek around the circumference of the talisman. In the case of an Angelical talisman, I would suggest adopting appropriate verses from the Keys. (For example, a talisman intended to exorcise spirits would benefit from the first line of Key One—"I reign over you, sayeth the God of Justice"—written in Angelical characters. If one wishes to summon and question an entity, then perhaps one of the final lines—"Move, therefore, and appear, Open the mysteries of your creation.")

The name of the talisman's Angel can be inscribed around the central sigil. Pseudo-Agrrippa suggests first drawing the lineal figure of the Angel's planet or star around the sigil, depending on the proper number. (Agrrippa's Book Two outlines the astrological correspondences for every number from one to twelve.)⁴⁹ The numbers associated with the planets are:

Saturn: 3

Jupiter: 4

Mars: 5

Sol: 6

Venus: 7

Mercury: 8

Luna: 9

For example, a Venus talisman would display a heptagram, or seven-pointed star, around the Angel's sigil. A Martian talisman would display a pentagram, or five-pointed star.⁵⁰ The letters of the Angel's name are then placed within the angles, or at the points, of the lineal figure.

Later in Of Magical Ceremonies, Pseudo-Agrrippa explains how to fashion this into a working talisman or lamen. One might use metal appropriate to the planet.⁵¹ Or fresh (bee's-)wax mixed with appropriate herbs, spices (incenses), and color dyes. Or, finally, one can use fresh paper (or virgin parchment) with appropriately colored ink or paints. Its shape may be circular, or multisided according to the number associated with the Angel's star. (Such as a seven-sided lamen for an Angel of Venus, five-sided for Mars, etc.)

Finally, the Fourth Book suggests the talisman should be fashioned during a waxing moon when the Angel's star is well-aspected in the Heavens. I have created the following "simple talisman of Nalvage" as an example of this kind of lamen. The central sigil is fashioned from the combined letters of Nalvage's name. Because Nalvage told Dee that he is under the authority of the Archangel Gabriel, I have chosen to place that name into the circumference. Along with it, I have written the Angelical verse "Mightier is Thy Voice than the Manifold Winds" (adapted from Key Two), because Nalvage was the one who delivered the Angelical Keys.⁵²

An example talisman of Nalvage—with the above sigil of Nalvage in the center, and Nalvage's name in English letters surrounding. In the circumference is the name Gabriel (English characters) and Angelical for "Mightier is Thy Voice than the Manifold Winds" written counterclockwise.

Endnotes

1. 1 Corinthians 13:1: "And though I speak with the tongues of men and angels, and have not charity, I am become as a sounding brass or a tinkling cymbal."
2. The forty nine Tables of Loagaeth.
3. Satan, or haSathan, translates as "The Accuser." It was common in Dee's time to refer to Satan as "The Enemy."
4. Raphael is here referring to the Heptarchic system of magick, which had been transmitted previously in the journals.
5. See the Five Books of Mystery, pp. 259–60. (March 23, 1583.)
6. Here, Kelley adds: "He hath a great thing under his gown." As we shall see, this turns out to be the Holy Book.
7. I interpret this line to mean: "The beginnings of the Universe, and even God Himself, are known by those who have tasted of the Medicine."
8. Verity = Truth.
9. A reference to the Confusion of Tongues at the Tower of Babel—Genesis 11:1–9. Also see the "Angelical Mythos" section of this chapter; the Confusion of Tongues is important to the Angelical mythos.
10. Dee: the Angelic language.
11. "Him that proceedeth" is likely a reference to the Christos (also called the Logos—Word)—who proceeded directly from God. (See John, chapter 1.) Raphael here means that the Angelical language proceeds directly from the Christos. (See chapter 2 of this volume, where Loagaeth is described as the language of the God-Christ.)
12. Adam—the first man.
13. Raphael here tells Dee that Adam was fashioned after the form of the Christos—which is very similar to ancient Gnostic belief.
14. See Louis Ginzberg, Legends of the Bible (New York: Simon and Schuster, 1956).
15. The first = Adam.
16. Chavah is Eve's name in Hebrew.
- 17 and 18. These brackets appear in the original journals.
19. We shall see, later, that the actual Angelical alphabet has twenty-one letters, divided into three groups of seven.
20. See Agrippa's Three Books of Occult Philosophy, Book 1—especially chapters 69–74. I will return to this information at the end of this chapter.
21. The forty-nine Tables of Loagaeth each have two sides (front and back), and each side is given a title in Angelical. These titles are included for reference in chapter 2 of this book.
22. As Adam was supposed to have used the Angelical alphabet in Paradise.
23. For instance, note the letter Mals—which resembles the Greek Omega.
24. See John Dee's Five Books of Mystery, pp. 268–69. Then also see pp. 270–71.
25. See chapter 2, concerning the instructions the Angels gave Dee on writing the "perfected copy" of the Holy Book.
26. One notable exception is Donald Tyson, who figured out this discrepancy over Pal in his book Enochian Magick for Beginners.

27. Peterson, John Dee's Five Books of Mystery, p. 269.
28. Ibid., p. 270.
29. Ibid., p. 271.
30. Ibid., p. 405.
31. See <http://themagickalreview.org/enochian/mss/>, Sloane 3188, image 29 (f104a–108a).
32. John Dee's Five Books of Mystery. Peterson, p. 271.
33. Ibid., p. 306. prick = “dot.”
34. See chapter 2 of this volume, in which the Angels make several similar “threefold” comments in regards to the First and Forty-Ninth Tables of Loagaeth.
35. As Jim Reeds points out in his Breakthrough in Renaissance Cryptography: A Book Review, there is likely a direct connection between gematria and sixteenth-century cryptography.
36. A sigil (or signature) is a stylized diagram used to represent an Angel, spirit, or creative force on talismans.
37. See the section “Dee Suspected of Cryptography?” in chapter 3.
38. There are, of course, several Angelical words that do appear to indicate terms such as “second,” “third,” etc.
39. See the “Angelical Mythos” section of this chapter.
40. See the “Angelical Mythos” section of this chapter, where this quote is given in full.
41. Again, see the “Angelical Mythos” section, where this quote is given in full.
42. See my book Secrets of the Magickal Grimoires, chapter 10, for a reference Table of many of these images and their magickal timing.
43. See my book Secrets of the Magickal Grimoires, chapter 5, for more information.
44. We see this with such Angelic names as Gabriel (Gibor El), the Strength of God, and Raphael (Rapha El), the Healer of God. Yah was rare in comparison, but we can see it in obscure names like Vahaviah and Laviah. The Greek Name of God On was also acceptable, as we see in names like Metatron and Sandalphon.
45. Reference Ginzberg's Legends of the Bible for ample descriptions of such Angels.
46. Note the pun between multiplying a number by itself to produce a “magickal square” and then turning that product into an actual magickal “square.”
47. See John Dee's Five Books of Mystery, where this planetary order is given for the forty-nine good Angels of the Heptarchia and the seven Ensigns of Creation. I should note that there are a couple of cases where Dee used Hebrew names to generate magickal squares, and there he used the same Chaldean ordering used by Agrippa in Book Two, chap. 27.
48. This leftward-then-rightward pattern is a Qabalistic convention called “As the Ox Plows.” It is also used to generate the names of the Shem haMephorash from the three verses of Exodus. I have not discovered the purpose behind this convention.
49. Agrippa's Second Book of Occuli Philosophy, chapters 4–15, the Scales of Numbers.
50. For Angels of the zodiac, use the number of the planet that rules the zodiacal sign.
51. Or, for zodiacal Angels, use the metal appropriate to the planet that rules the zodiacal sign.
52. I also find this verse significant because Gabriel himself was the Angel of the Annunciation.

An Angelical Psalter

The Angelical Psalter is intended mainly for practical use of the Keys, so that one can recite them as proper invocations. Each Key is presented in two columns: the first, or left-hand, column contains the English translation of the Key—which I generally refer to as a Call. It is divided and formatted so as to line up with the Angelical on the right. I have fully modernized the punctuation—which you can compare with Dee’s Early Modern English versions in the Angelical Keys Cross-Reference in volume II.¹

The second, or right-hand, column contains the Angelical version of the Key, complete with phonetic pronunciations. Angelical words, as Dee recorded them, are in regular type. My phonetic pronunciation notes are in italics underneath. Note that I have used the same punctuation throughout this column as you see in the left-hand column. This punctuation makes the forty-eight Keys far easier to recite with proper inflection and tone.

Also, remember while reading the Keys in this Psalter that the number of each Key is always one less than the number of its Table in Loagaeth. The first Key is used to open the second Table, the second Key opens the third Table—all the way to Key Forty-eight, which opens the forty-ninth Table.

Pronunciation Key

Throughout this Psalter, I have included pronunciation notes intended to be intuitive to the modern reader. A quick study of the following key should be enough to read any word in the Lexicon or the Angelical Psalter. Also refer to page 95 in volume II of this work, where I explain this pronunciation key in greater depth.

Vowels

Short vowels are mostly represented by single letters, while I have extended the long vowels to two letters:

Phonetic Sound	Notation
a –long (cake, day)	ay
a –short (bat, cat)	a
e –long (beet, seat)	ee
e –short (bed, wed)	e
i –long (bite, kite)	ii
i –short (bit, sit)	i
o –long (boat, slope)	oh
o –short (stop, father)	o, ah
u –long (boot, blue)	oo
u –short (but, cup)	u

Note: There are some cases where an a falls at the end of a word. This likely indicates something between a long and short a—or a schwa. In such cases, I have simply left a single a in my pronunciation. It can be treated as a short a, but it is more akin to a schwa sound.

Consonants

If consonants are written together (as in, br, cr, gr, st, th, tr), simply pronounce the combined sound as you would in present-day English (break, crate, grab, start, and so forth). Otherwise, standard consonant sounds are indicated by the following:

Phonetic Sound	Notation
b (branch, blurb)	b
d (dog, during)	d
f (far, fork)	f
g (gap, gourd)	g
h (half, heavy)	h
j (jump, giant, bludgeon)	j
k (kind, can)	k
l (large, loud)	l
m (many, move)	m
n (north, never)	n
p (pace, pardon)	p
r (rain, banner)	r, er
s (serve, circle)	s
t (test, tax)	t
w (water, wind)	w
x (exit, except)	ks
y (yellow, your)	y
z (zoom, zebra)	z

“Long Consonants”

There are many cases where Dee indicated a consonant standing alone in a syllable. At these times, the letter does not make its usual consonant sound. Instead, the syllable is pronounced the same as the English name of the consonant. I have dubbed these “long consonants,” and I represent their sounds as follows:

Phonetic Sound	Notation
d	dec
f	ef
g	jee
j	jay
l	el
m	em
n	en
p	pee
q	kwah
r	ur
s	es
t	tee
y	wij
z	zohd, zed

Digraphs and Diphthongs

The digraphs and diphthongs are fairly standard in modern English::

Phonetic Sound	Notation
ch (church, witch)	ch
ch (ache, chrome)	kh
ou, ow (out, town)	ow
oi, oy (oil, boy)	oy
qu (queen, quick)	kw
sh (shine, wish)	sh
ph (phone, philosophy)	f
th (that, whither, thorn) ²	th

Also note: There are a few instances where the letters sg occur together in Angelical words—such as in caosg or vorsg. In these cases, Dee does not indicate that the g sound should stand alone as its own syllable. Thus, I find it likely it is intended to combine with the s to make a kind of zh (or hard sh) sound—as we hear in English words like measure, pleasure, and treasure. I have indicated this sound in the Psalter and Lexicon with the digraph zh.

Accented Syllables

I have indicated accents in my pronunciations by writing the related syllable in ALL CAPS. These accents are based on Dee's notations, and I have avoided adding accents to words where Dee left no clues. The reader may accent these words where they sound most natural.

Calls in English

Call One:

"I reign over you," sayeth the God of Justice, "in power exalted above the firmaments of wrath: in whose hands the Sun is as a sword, and the Moon a through-thrusting fire: Which measureth your garments in the midst of my vestures and trussed you together as the palms of my hands. Whose seats

I garnished with the fire of gathering, and beautified your garments with admiration. To whom I made a law to govern the Holy Ones, and delivered you a rod (with) the ark of knowledge. Moreover, you lifted up your voices and swore obedience and faith to Him that liveth and triumpheth; whose beginning is not, nor end cannot be;

which shineth as a flame in the midst of your palace, and reigneth amongst you as the balance of righteousness and truth (truth)." Move, therefore, and show yourselves. Open the mysteries of your creation. Be friendly unto me.

For, I am a servant of the same your God; the true worshiper of the Highest.

Angelical Key

Key of the Second Table

"Ol sonf vorsg," goho iad Balt, "Iansh
 "ohl sonv vorzh," goh-HOH yad balt, "lonsh

calz vonpho: Sobra z-ol ror i ta kalz von-föh. SOB-ray zohd-OL ror ii tay nazpsad, graa ta malprg: Ds nayz-pee-sad, gray tay mal-purj: dee-es

holq qaa nothoa zimz, od
 HOL-kwah kwah-AY-ay noth-OH-a zimz, ohd commah ta nobloh zien. Soba thil KOM-ah tay noh-bloh zeen. SOH-bay thil gnonp prge aldi ds urbs oboleh non-pee purj AL-dii dee-es yurbs OB-oh-lay grsam. Casarm ohorela caba pir.

 gur-sam. kay-SARM oh-hor-EL-a ka-BA per, ds zonrensg cab erm iadnah. Pilah.

 dee-es zon-renj kab erm yad-nah. pee-ii-lah,

farzm znrza adna gono iadpil farz-em snur-za ad-nah gon-oh ii-AD-pil ds hom toh; soba ipam, ul ipamis;

 dee-es hom toh: SOH-bay ip-am, yewl ip-am-is;

ds lohoho vep zomdux poamal,
 dee-es LOH-hoh-loh vep zom-dooks poh-mal, od bogpa aai ta piap baltle od ohd bog-pa ay-AY-ii tay pii-ap bal-tayl ohd vaoan (vooan)." Zacar, ca, od vay-oh-AN (voo-AN)." ZAY-kayr, see-ay, ohd

zamran. Odo cicle qaa. Zorge.
 zam-ran. od-oh sii-kayl kwah-AY-ay. zorj.

Lap, zirdo noco mad; hoath laida.
 lap, zir-DOH NOH-kwoh mad; hohth jay-II-da.

Call Two

Can the wings of the winds understand your voices of wonder,

O you the Second of the First, whom the burning flames have framed within the depths of my jaws; whom I have prepared as cups for a wedding, or as the flowers in their beauty for the chamber of righteousness. Stronger are your feet than the barren stone, and mightier are your voices than the manifold winds. For, you are become a building such as is not but in the mind of the All Powerful. "Arise," sayeth the First. Move therefore unto His servants. Show yourselves in power and make me a strong seething. For, I am of Him that liveth forever.

Key of the Third Table

Adgt upaah zong om faaip sald, ajt yew-pay-ah zong om fay-AY-ip sald,

viiv L. sobam ialpurg izazaz vii-iv el, SOH-bam YAL-purj ii-zay-zaz

piadph: casarma abramg ta pii-AD-ef: kay-SAR-ma ay-BRAY-mig tay

talho paracleda. qta lorslq tal-ho pur-AK-lee-da, kwah-tay lers-el-kwah turbs ooge baltoh. Givi chis lUSD orri, turbs oh-oj bal-toh. jiv-ii kiis lus-dee or-ii, od micalp chis bia ozongon. Lap,

 ohd mii-KALP kiis bii-a OH-zohn-gon. lap,

noan trof cors tage oq manin noh-AN trof kors tayj oh-kwah man-in laidon. "Torzu," gohel. Zacar jay-II-don. "tor-ZOO," GOH-hel, ZAY-kayr

ca cnoqod. Zamran micalzo, see-ay see-NOH-kwod. zam-ran mii-KAYL-zoh, od ozazm urelp. Lap, zir Ioiad.

 ohd oz-az-em yer-elp. lap, zer joh-JAD

Call Three

"Behold," sayeth your God. "I am a Circle on whose hands stand 12 Kingdoms. Six are the seats of living breath; the rest are as sharp sickles or the horns of death; wherein the creatures of the earth are and are not except by mine own hand; which sleep and shall rise. In the first I made you stewards and placed you in 12 seats of government, giving unto every one of you power successively over 456. the true ages of time, to the intent that from the highest vessels and the corners of your governments you might work my power; pouring down the fires of life and increase upon the earth continually. Thus, you are become the skirts of justice and truth (truth)."

In the Name of the same your God, lift up, I say, yourselves. Behold, His mercies flourish and

Key of the Fourth Table

"Micma," goho piad. "Zir comselh
 "mik-ma," goh-HOH pii-AD, "zer KOM-sel azien biab oslondoh. Norz chis othil az-EEN bii-ab os-LON-doh. norz kiis oh-THII

gigipah: undl chis tapuin jij-ti-pah: und-el kiis TAY-pcw-in qmospleh teloch; quiin toltorg kwah-mos-play tee-LOCH; kwii-in tol TORJ

chis ichisge m ozien; dst kiis jay-KHS-jee em oh-ZEEN; dee-es-tee brgda od torzul. Ili eol balzarg burj-da ohd tor-ZOOL. II-li ce-OHL bal-zarj od aala thilnos netaab, dluga ohd AY-ay-la thil-nos nee-TAY-ab. dee-LOO-ga

vomzarg lonsa capmiali vors cla, homil vom-sarj lon-sha kap-mii-AY-lii vorz kla, hom-il

cocasb. fafen izizop od miinoag
 KOH-kasb. fay-fen iz-is-op ohd mii-ii-noh-ayg de gnetaab vaun nanaeel; panpir dee nee-TAY-ab von nay-NAY-ee-el; pan-per malpirgi caosg pild. Noan unalah mal-per-jii kay-OZH pild. noh-AN un-al-ah

balt odvaoan (odvooan).
 "balt ohd-vay-oh-AN (ohd-voe-AN)."

Dooiap mad, goholor. gohus.
 doh-OH-ti-ap mad, goh-HOH-lor, goh-US.

amiran. Micma. ichusoz cacacom od am-ir-an. mik-ma. jay-US-os kay-SAY-som ohd

Call Three continued

Name is become mighty amongst us.

In whom we say, move,

descend and apply yourselves unto us as partakers of the secret wisdom of your creation.

Key of the Fourth Table continued

dooain noar micaolz aaiom.
doh-OH-ay-in noh-ar mii-KAY-ohlz ay-AY-om.

Casarmg gohia. z-acar,
kay-SAR-mij goh-HII-a, ZOHD-ay-kayr, uniglag od imvamar pugo plapli yew-nii-glag ohd im-vay-mar pug-oh play-plii ananael qaan.

an-AN-ee-el kwah-AY-an.

Call Four

"I have set my feet in the south and have looked about me saying, Are not the Thunders of Increase numbered

33 which reign in the Second Angle; under whom

I have placed 9639 whom none hath yet numbered but One. In whom the second beginning of things are and wax strong; which also successively are the number of time; and their powers are as the first 456.

Arise you sons of pleasure and visit the earth,

for I am the Lord your God which is and liveth."

In the Name of the Creator, move and show yourselves as pleasant deliverers; that you may praise Him amongst the sons of men.

Key of the Fifth Table

"Othil lasdi babage od dorpha
 "oh THIL las-dii bay-BAY-jee ohd dorf-fa

gohol. gchisge avavago cormp goh-HOHL, jee-KIIS-jee av-AY-vay-go kormf

pd dsonf vivdiv; casarmi pee-dee dee-sonv viv-Dil-vee; kay-SAR-mij

oali mapm. sobam ag cormpo
 OH-ay-lii map-em, SOH-bam ag korm-FOH

crpl. Casarmg croodzi chis krip-el. key-SAR-mij kroh-OD-zii kiis

odugeg; dst capimali chis ohd-yew-JEJ; dee-es-tce kay-pii-MAY-lii kiis capimaon; odlonshin chis talo cla.

 kap-ii-MAY-on; ohd-lon-shin kiis tay-el-loh kla.

Torgu norquasahi od fcaosga, tor-GOO nor-kway-SAY-hii ohd ef-kay-OS-ga,

bagle zirenaiad dsi odapila."
 BAY-gayl zii-er-NAY-ad dee-sii ohd-ap-ii-la."

Dooaip qaal, z-acar
 .loh-OH-ay-ip kwah-AY-el, ZOHD-ay-kayr

odzamran obelisong; restil aaf ohd-zam-ran oh-bel-is-ong; rest-el ay-AF

normolap.
 nor-moh-lap.

Call Five

"The Mighty Sounds have entered into the third Angle and are become as olives in the olive mount looking with gladness upon the earth and dwelling within the brightness of the heavens as continual comforters, unto whom

I have fastened pillars of gladness 19, and gave them vessels to water the earth with Her creatures; and they are the brothers of the First and Second; and the beginning of their own seats which are garnished with continually burning lamps 69636; whose numbers are as the first, the ends, and the contents of time." Therefore, come you and obey your creation. Visit us in peace and comfort.

Conclude us as receivers of your mysteries. For why? Our Lord and Master is all one.

Key of the Sixth Table

"Sapah zimii duiv od noas
 "SAY-fah ZII-mii DOO-iv ohd noh-as taqanis adroch dorphal caosg, od tay-kway-nis ad-roch dor-fal kay-OZH, ohd faonts piripsol tablior, casarm fay-onts per-IP-sol TAY-blii-or, kay-SARM

amipzi nazarth af, od dlugar ay-mip-zii nay-zarth af, ohd dee-LOO-gar zizop z-lida caosgi toltorgi; od ziz-op zohd-lid-a kay-OZH-ii tol-TOR-jii; ohd

z-chis esiasch L taviv; od iaod zohd-kiis ee-sii-ash el tay-viv; ohd YAY-ohd

thild ds hubar peral; soba thild dee-es hoo-BAR pee-AR-al; SOH-bay

cormfa chista la, uls, od korm-FA kiis-tay lah, yewls, ohd qcocasb." Ca, niis od darbs kwah-KOH-kasb." see-ay, nii-IS ohd darbs qaas. Fetharzi od bliora.

 kwah-AY-as. feth-AR-zii ohd blii-OH-ra.

laial ednas cicles. Bagle? Geiad jay-yal ed-nas sii-kayls. BAY-gayl? jej-AYD

il.
 ii-el.

Call Six

The spirits of the fourth Angle are nine, mighty in the Firmaments of Water; whom the First hath planted a torment to the wicked and a garland to the Righteous; giving unto them fiery darts to van the earth and 7699 continual workmen whose courses visit with comfort the earth; and are in government and continuance as the second and the third. Wherefore, hearken unto my voice. I have talked of you and I move you in power and presence, whose works shall be a song of honor and praise of your God in your creation.

Key of the Seventh Table

Gah sdiv chis em, micalzo pilzin;
 jah es-DII-vee kiis em, mii-KAYL-zoh pil-zin;

sobam el harg mir babalon od obloc
 SOH-bam el harg mir bay-BAY-lon ohd ob-lök samvelg; dlugar malpurg arcaosgi, sam-velj; dee-LOO-gar mal-purj ar-kay-OZH-ii,

od acam canal sobolzar fbliard ohd ay KAM san-al soh-BOL-zar ef-blü-ard caosgi; odchis anetab od miam kay-OZH-ii; ohd-kiis ay-NEE-tayb ohd mii-AM taviv od d. Darsar, solpeth bien. Brita.

 tay-viv ohd dee. dar-sar, sol-peth bi-en. brit-a,

od zacam gmicalzo, sobhaath ohd ZAY-kam jee-mii-KAYL-zoh, sob-HAY-ath

trian lusiahe odecrin mad
 TRII-an leo-JAY-hee oh-dee KRIN mad qaaon.

 kwah-AY-ay-on.

Call Seven

The east is a house of virgins singing praises amongst the flames of the First Glory; wherein the Lord hath opened His Mouth, and they become 28 living dwellings in whom the strength of men rejoiceth and they are appareled with ornaments of brightness such as work wonders on all creatures. Whose kingdoms and continuance are as the Third and Fourth; strong towers and places of comfort, the seats of mercy and continuance.

O you servants of mercy, move, appear, sing praises unto the Creator, and be mighty amongst us. For

to this remembrance is given power and our strength

waxeth strong in our Comforter.

Key of the Eighth Table

Raas isalman paradiz
ray-as ii-SAYL-man pay-ray-DII-zohd

oecrimi aao ialpirgah; quiin oh-EE-kriim-ii ay-ay-OH YAL-pur-jah; kwii-in Enay butmon. od inoas ni en-av but-mon, ohd in-OH-as nii paradial casarmg ugear chirlan;

pay-ray-DII-al kay-SAR-mij yew-JEE-ar kir-lan;

od zonac luciftian corsta vaulzirn ohd zoh-nak loo-sif-TII-an kors-tay VOL-zern rolhami. Soba londoh odmiam tol-HAY-mii. SOH-bay lon-DOH ohd-MII-am chistad odes; umadea od kiis-tad oh-DES; yew-MAY-dec-a ohd pibliar; othilrit odmiam.

pib-lii-AR; oh-THIL-rit ohd-MII-am.

Cnoquol rit, z-acar, zamran, sec-NOH-kwöl rit, ZOHD-ay-kayr, zam-ran,

oecrimi qadah, od
oh-EE-kriim-ii kwah-AY-dah, ohd

omicaolz aaiom. Bagle
oh-mii-KAY-ohl-zohd. ay-AY-om. BAY-gayl papnor idlugam lonshi, od umplif pap-nor id-LOO-gam lon-shii, ohd um-plif ugegi bigliad.

yew-JEE-jii big-lii-ad.

Call Eight

"The midday the first is as the third Heaven made of hyacinth pillars

26; in whom the Elders are become strong;

which I have prepared for my own righteousness," sayeth the Lord,

"Whose long continuance shall be bucklers to the stooping dragons and like unto the harvest of a widow.

How many are there, which remain in the glory of the earth, which are and shall not see death until this house fall and the dragon sink." Come away, for the Thunders have spoken. Come away, for the crowns of the Temple, and the coat of Him that is, was, and shall be Crowned, are divided. Come, appear to the terror of the earth:

and to our comfort; and of such as are prepared.

Key of the Ninth Table

"Bazemlo ita piripson oln nazavabh
 "bas-em-loh ii-tay per-IP-son ohln nay-zay-VAB

ox; casarmg uran chis ugeg;
 oks; kay-SAR-mij yew-RAN kiis yew-JEJ;

dsabramg baltoha," gohoiad, dee-say-bray-mig bal-toh-ha," goh-HOH-ii-ad,

"Solamian trian talolcis
 "soph-LAY-mii-an TRII-an tay-LOL-sis abaivonin od aziagiar rior.

 ay-bay-II-voh-nin ohd ay-zii-AY-jii-er rii-or,

Irgilchisda, dspaaox busd caosgo, ir-jil-KIIS-da, dee-SAY-ay-oks buzd kay-OS-go, dschis odipuran teloah cacrg dee-es-kiis ohd-II-pew-ran TEE-loh-ah KAY-kurg

oisalman loncho od vovina
 oh-ii-SAYL-man lon-koh ohd voh-VII-na

carbaf." Niiso, bagle avavago kar-baf." nii-II-soh, BAY-gayl av-AY-vay-go gohon. Niiso, bagle momao goh-HON. nii-II-soh, BAY-gayl MOH-may-oh

siaion, od mabza iadoiasmomar, sii-AY-ii-on, ohd MAB-za jad-oh-JAS-moh-mar, poilp. Niis, zamran ciaofi caosgo;

 poylp. nii-IS, zam-ran sii-ay-oh-fii kay-OS-go; od bliors: od corsi ta abramig.

 ohd blii-ORS; ohd kor-sii tay ay-BRAY-mig.

Call Nine

A mighty guard of fire with two-edged swords flaming

(which have vials 8 of wrath

for two times and a half; whose wings are of wormwood and of the marrow of salt), have settled their feet in the west and are measured with their ministers 9996. These gather up the moss of the earth as the rich man doth his treasure.

Cursed are they whose iniquities they are.

In their eyes are millstones greater than the earth, and from their mouths run seas of blood. Their heads are covered with diamond and upon their hands are marble sleeves. Happy is he on whom they frown not. For why? The God of Righteousness rejoiceth in them.

Come away, and not your vials. For the time is such as requireth comfort.

Key of the Tenth Table

Micaoli bransg prgel napta ialpor
 mii-KAY-oh-lii branzh pur-jel nap-ta YAL-por dsbrin efafafe p vonpho dee-es-brin ee-FAY-fay-fec pee von-foh olani od obza: sobca upaah oh-el-AY-mi ohd ob-za: SOB-kay yew-pay-ah chis tatan od tranan balye), alar kiis tay-tan ohd tray-nan bay-lit-ee), AY-lar lusda soboln od chisholq lus-da soh-bohln ohd KIIS-hohl-kwa

cnoqvodi cial. Unal aldon see-noh-KWOH-dii sii-al. yew-NAL AL-don mom caosgo ta lasollor gnay limlal.

 mom kay-OS-go tay las-OHL-or nay lim-lal.

Amma chiis sobca madrid z-chis.
 am-a kiis SOB-kay MAY-drid zohd-kiis.

Ooanoan chis aviny drilpi
 oh-oh-AY-noh-an kiis ay-VII-nec dril-pii caosgin, od butmoni parm zumvi kay-OS-jin, ohd but-moh-nii parm zum-vii

cnila. Dazis ethamz
 see-NIL-la. daz-IS ee-THAM-zohd

achildao, od mirc ozol chis ay-KIL-day-oh, ohd mirk oh-ZOHL kiis pidiai collal. Ulcinin asobam pii-dii-ay-ii kol-lal. yewl-SII-nin ay SOH-bam ucim. Bagle? Iadbaltoh chirlan par. yew-sim. BAY-gayl? ii-ad-BAL-toh kir-lan par.

Niiso, od ip ofafafe. Bagle nii-II-soh, ohd ip oh-FAY-fay-fec. BAY-gayl acocasb icorsca unig blior.

 ay-KOH-kasb ii-KORS-kay yew-nig blii-OR.

Call Ten

The Thunders of Judgment and Wrath are numbered and harbored in the north in the likeness of an oak whose branches are 22 nests of lamentation and weeping laid up for the earth; which burn night and day and vomit out the heads of scorpions and live sulfur mingled with poison. These be the thunders that 5678 times in the 24th part of a moment roar with a hundred mighty earthquakes, and a thousand times as many surges, which rest not neither know any (long) time here. One rock bringeth forth 1000 even as the heart of man doth his thoughts. Woe, woe, woe woe, woe, woe, yea, woe be to the earth. For her iniquity is, was,

and shall be great. Come away, but not your noises.

Key of the Eleventh Table

Coraxo chis cormp od blans lual koh-RAYKS-oh kiis kormf ohd blanz loo-kal

aziazor paeb soba lilonon ay-ZII-ay-zor pay-eb SOH-bay lii-loh-non chis op virq eophan od raclir kiis oh-pee vir-kwah ee-oh-fan ohd ray-kler

maasi bagle caosgi: ds may-ay-sii BAY-gayl kay-OZH-ii; dee-es

ialpon dosig od basgim od oxex
 YAL-pon doh-sig ohd bas-jim ohd oks-eks dazis siatris od salbrox cinxir daz-IS sii-ay-TRIS ohd sal-broks sinks-ir faboan. Unalchis const ds daox fay-boh-an. yew-nal-kiis konst dee-es day-oks cocasg ol oanio yor torb vohim

 KOH-kazh oh-el oh-AY-nii-oh yor torb VOH-im

gizyax, od matb cocasg plosi jiz-wii-aks, ohd may-teb KOH-kazh ploh-sii molui. ds pageip larag om droln mol-vii, dee-es pay-jee-ip lay-rag om drohln

(matorb) cocasb emna. Lpatralx
 (mav-torb) KOH-kasb em-na. el-PAY-tralks

yolci matb nomig monons olora yol-sii may-teb noh-mig moh-nons oh-loh-ra gnay angelard. Ohio ohio ohio nay an-jee-lard. oh-hii-oh oh-hii-oh oh-hii-oh

ohio ohio ohio. noib. ohio oh-hii-oh oh-hii-oh oh-hii-oh, noh-ib. oh-hii-oh caosgon. bagle madrid i, zirop, kay-OS-gon, BAY-gayl MAY-drid ii, zii-ROP chiso drilpa. Nüiso. crip ip nidali.

 kiis-oh dril-pa. nii-II-soh, krip ip nii-day-lüi.

Call Eleven

The Mighty Seat groaned and they were 5

Thunders which flew into the east, and the Eagle spake and cried with a loud voice, "Come away!"

And they gathered themselves together and became the house of death, of whom it is measured, and it is as they are whose number is 31. Come away, for

I have prepared for you. Move, therefore, and show yourselves. Open the mysteries of your creation. Be friendly unto me.

For, I am a servant of the same your God; the true worshiper of the Highest.

Key of the Twelfth Table

Oxiayal holdo od zirom o oks-AY-al hol-doh ohd zer-OM oh

coraxo ds zildar raasy, od koh-RAYKS-oh dee-es zil-dar ray-ay-see, ohd vabzir camliax od bahal, "Niiso!"

 vab-zer kam-lii-aks ohd BAY-hal, "nii-II-soh!"

Od aldon od noas salman teloch, ohd AL-don ohd noh-as SAYL-man tee-LOCH, casarman holq, od ti ta z-chis kay-SAR-man HOL-kwah, ohd tii tay zohd-kiis

soba cormf iga. Niisa, bagle
 SOH-bay kormf ii-ga. nii-II-sa, BAY-gayl abramg noncp. Zacar, ca, od ay-BRAY-mig non-sef. ZAY-kayr, see-ay, ohd

zamran. Odo cicle qaa. Zorge.
 zam-ran. od-oh sii-kayl kwah-AY-ay. zorj.

Lap, zirdo noco mad; hoath laida.
 lap, zir-DOH NOH-kwoh mad; hohth jay-II-da.

Call Twelve

Oh you that reign in the south and are 28

the lanterns of sorrow, bind up your girdles and visit us. Bring down your train 3663 that the Lord may be magnified whose name amongst you is wrath.

Move, I say, and show yourselves. Open the mysteries of your creation. Be friendly unto me. For, I am a servant of the same your God; the true worshiper of the Highest.

Call Thirteen

O you swords of the south, which have 42

eyes to stir up wrath of sin,

making men drunken which are empty.

Behold the promise of God and His power which is called amongst you a bitter sting. Move and show yourselves.

Open the mysteries of your creation. Be friendly unto me. For, I am a servant of the same your God; the true worshiper of the Highest.

Key of the Thirteenth Table

Nonci dsonf babage od chis ob
 non-sii dee-sonv bay-BAY-jec ohd kiis oh

hubaio tibibp, allar atraah od hoo-BAY-ii-oh tib-ib-ip, AL-lar ay-tray-ah ohd

ef. Drix lafen mian ar enay ovof
 ef. driks fay-fen mii-AN ar en-ay oh-vof soba dooain aai ivonph.

 SOH-bay doh-OH-ay-in ay-AY-ii ii-VONV.

Zacar, gohus, od zamran. Odo ZAY-kayr, goh-US, ohd zam-ran. od-oh

cicle qaa. Zorge. Lap, zirdo
 sii-kayl kwah-AY-ay. zorj. lap, zir-DOH

noco mad; hoath laida.
 NOH-kwoh mad; hohth jay-II-da.

Key of the Fourteenth Table

Napeai babagen, dsbrin ux nay-pee-ay bay-BAY-jen, dee-es-brin yewks ooaona lring vonph doalim.

 oh-oh-AY-oh-na el-ring vonv doh-ay-lim, eolis ollog orsba dschis affa, ee-OH-lis ohl-log ors-ba dee-es-kiis af-fa,

micma isro mad od lonshitox ds mik-ma iz-roh mad ohd lon-shii-toks dee-es iumd aai grosh. Zacar od zamran.

 jay-umd ay-AY-ii grozh. ZAY-kayr ohd zam-ran.

Odo cicle qaa. Zorge. Lap, zirdo od-oh sii-kayl kwah-AY-ay. zorj. lap, zir-DOH

noco mad; hoath laida.
 NOH-kwoh mad; hohth jay-II-da.

Call Fourteen

O you sons of fury, the daughters of the just, which sit upon 24 seats, vexing all creatures of the earth with age, which have under you 1636; Behold

the voice of God, promise of him which is called amongst you fury (or extreme justice). Move and show yourselves. Open the mysteries of your creation. Be friendly unto me. For, I am a servant of the same your God; the true worshiper of the Highest.

Call Fifteen

O thou the Governor of the First Flame, under whose wings are 6739 which weave the earth with dryness, which knowest

the great name Righteousness and the seal of honor. Move and show yourselves. Open the mysteries of your creation. Be friendly unto me. For, I am a servant of the same your God; the true worshiper of the Highest.

Key of the Fifteenth Table

Noromi bagie, pasbs oiad, ds noh-ROM-ii bag-EE, pas-bes oh-ii-AD, dee-es trint nirc ol thil, dods tolham caosgo trint mirk oh-el thil, dods tol-HAYM kay-OS-go homin. dsbrin oroch quar; micma hom-in, dee-es-brin oh-ROK kwar; mik-ma

bial oiad, aisro tox dsium bii-al oh-ii-AD, ay-ii-sroh toks dee-sii-um aai baltim. Zacar od zamran. Odo ay-AY-ii bal-tim, ZAY-kayr ohd zam-ran. od-oh

cicle qaa. Zorge. Lap, zirdo
 sti-kayl kwah-AY-ay. zorj. lap, zir-DOH

noco mad; hoath laida.
 NOH-kwoh mad; hohth jay-II-da.

Key of the Sixteenth Table

Yls tabaan lialprt, casarman yils tay-BAY-an el-YAL-purt, kay-SAR-man

upaahi chis darg dsoado yew-pay-hii kiis darj dee-soh-ay-doh

caosgi orscor, ds omax kay-OZH-ii ors-kor, dee-es oh-MAKS

monasci baeovib od emetgis mon-ay-sii bee-oh-vib ohd em-et-jis iaiadix. Zacar od zamran. Odo yay-II-ad-iks. ZAY-kayr ohd zam-ran. od-oh

cicle qaa. Zorge. Lap, zirdo
 sii-kayl kwah-AY-ay. zorj. lap, zir-DOH

noco mad; hoath laida.
 NOH-kwoh mad; hohth jay-II-da.

Call Sixteen

O thou of the Second Flame, the house of justice which has thy beginning in glory and shalt comfort the just;

which walkest upon the earth with feet 8763 that understand and separate creatures; Great art thou in the God of Stretch Forth and Conquer.

Move and show yourselves. Open the mysteries of your creation. Be friendly unto me. For, I am a servant of the same your God; the true worshiper of the Highest.

Call Seventeen

O thou whose wings are thorns to stir up vexation, and hast 7336

lamps living going before thee; whose God is Wrath in Anger. Gird up thy loins and hearken.

Move and show yourselves. Open the mysteries of your creation. Be friendly unto me. For, I am a servant of the same your God; the true worshiper of the Highest.

Key of the Seventeenth Table

Yls vivialprt, salman balt ds yils viv-ii-AL-purt, SAYL-man balt dee-ess acroodzi busd od bliorax balit;

 ak-roh-OD-zii buzd ohd blii-OH-raks bal-it;

dsinsi caosg lusdan emod dsom dee-sin-sii kay-OZH lus-dan ee-mod dee-som od tliob; Drilpa geh yls madzilodarp.

 ohd tlil-ob; dril-pa jey yils mad-ZII-loh-darp.

Zacar od zamran. Odo cicle
 ZAY-kayr ohd zam-ran. od-oh sii-kayl

qaa. Zorge. Lap, zirdo noco
 kwah-AY-ay. zorj. lap, zir-DOH NOH-kwoh

mad; hoath laida.
 mad; hohth jay-II-da.

Key of the Eighteenth Table

Yls dialprt, soba upaah chis yils dii-AL-purt, SOH-bay yew-pay-ah kiis nanba zixlay dodsih, odbrint taxa nan-ba ziks-lay dod-sih, ohd-brint taks-is hubaro tastax ylsi; sobaiad hoo-BAY-roh tas-taks yil-sii; soh-BAY-ad ivonpovnp. Aldon daxil od toatar.

 ii-VON-foh-unv. AL-don daks-il ohd toh-AY-tar.

Zacar od zamran. Odo cicle
 ZAY-kayr ohd zam-ran. od-oh sii-kayl

qaa. Zorge. Lap, zirdo noco
 kwah-AY-ay. zorj. lap, zir-DOH NOH-kwoh

mad; hoath laida.
 mad; hohth jay-II-da.

Call Eighteen

O thou mighty Light and Burning Flame of comfort, which openest the glory of God to the center of the earth. In whom the secrets of truth 6332 have their abiding, which is called in thy kingdom Joy, and not to be measured. Be thou a window of comfort unto me.

Move and show yourselves. Open the mysteries of your creation. Be friendly unto me. For, I am a servant of the same your God; the true worshiper of the Highest.

Key of the Nineteenth Table

Yls micalzo ialpirt ialprg bliors.
 yils mii-KAYL-zoh YAL-pert YAL-purj blii-ORS.

ds odo busdir oiad ovoars dee-es od-oh buz-der oh-ii-AD oh-voh-ars caosgo. Casarmg laiad eran kay-OS-go. kay-SAR-mij lay-II-ad ee-RAN brints casasam. ds iumd brints kay-SAY-sam, dee-es jay-umd

aqlo adohi moz. od
 AY-kwah-loh ay-DOH-hii moz, ohd maoffas. Bolp comobliort pambt.

 may-AHF-fas. bulp koh-moh-blii-ort pamt.

Zacar od zamran. Odo cicle
 ZAY-kayr ohd zam-ran. od-oh sii-kayl

qaa. Zorge. Lap. zirdo noco
 kwah-AY-ay. zorj. lap, zir-DOH NOH-kwoh

mad: hoath laida.
 mad; hohth jay-II-da.

The Call of the Aethyrs

O you heavens which dwell [in the --- Aethyr] are mighty in the Parts of the Earth, and execute the judgment of the Highest. To you it is said, Behold the face of your God,

the beginning of comfort; whose eyes are the brightness of the heavens; which provided you for the government of the earth, and her unspeakable variety; furnishing you with a power (of) understanding to dispose all things according to the providence of Him that sitteth upon the Holy Throne; and rose up in the beginning saying, "The earth, let her be governed by her parts, and let there be division in her, that the glory of her may be always drunken and vexed in itself.

Her course, let it run with the heavens, and as a handmaid let her serve them. One season, let it confound

Key of Tables Twenty to Forty-Nine

Madriax dspraf [---]
 MAY-drii-yaks dee-es-praf [---]

chismicaolz saanir caosgo, od kiis-mii-KAY-ohlz say-AY-ner kay-OS-go, ohd fisis balzizras laida. Nonca FIS-iis bal-zii-sras jay-II-da. non-sa

gohulim. micma adoian mad, goh-HOO-lim, mik-ma ay-doh-II-an mad,

iaod bliorb; sabaoaona
 YAY-ohd blii-ORB; say-bay-oh-oh-AY-oh-na

chis luciftias piripsol; ds abraassa kiis loo-SIF-tii-as per-IP-sol; dee-es ab-RAY-sa noncf netaaib caosgi, od tilb non-sef nee-TAY-ay-ib kay-OZH-ii, ohd tilb adphaht damploz; tooat noncf ad-fot DAM-ploz; toh-OH-at non-sef gmicalzoma lrasd tofglo marb jee-mii-KAYL-zoh-ma el-RAZD TOF-gloh marb

yarry Idoigo; od torzulp
 YAR-ee ii-dee-oy-go; ohd tor-ZOOLP

iaodaf gohol, "Caosga, YAY-oh-daf goh-HOHL, "kay-OS-ga,

tabaord saanir, od chriteos
 tay-BAY-ord say-AY-ner, ohd kris-TEE-os yrpoil tiobl, busdirtilb noaln yur-POY-il tii-AHB-el, buz-der-tilb noh-ahn paid orsba od dodrmni zilna.

 pay-id ors-ba ohd dod-rum-nii zil-na.

Elzaptilb, parmgi piripsax, od ta el-ZAP-tilb, parm-jii per-IP-saks, ohd tay qurlst booapis. Lnibm, oucho kurlst boh-OH-ay-pis. el-nib-em, oh-yew-choh another, and let there be no creature upon or within her the same. All her members, let them differ in their qualities, and let there be no one creature equal with another. The reasonable creatures of the earth (or men), let them vex and weed out one another; and the dwelling places, let them forget their names. The work of man and his pomp, let them be defaced. His buildings, let them become caves for the beasts of the field. Confound her understanding with darkness. For why?

It repenteth me I made man. One while let her be known, and another while a stranger;

Because she is the bed of an harlot,

and the dwelling place of him that is fallen.

O you heavens, arise! The lower heavens beneath you, let them serve you. Govern those that govern; cast down such as fall. Bring forth with those that increase, symp. od christeos agtol torn mirc simp, ohd kris-TEE-os ay-jee-tol-torn mirk

q tiobl lel. Ton paombd. dilzmo kwah tii-AHB-el el-el. ton pay-omd, dilz-moh aspian, od christeos agtol torn as-pii-an, ohd kris-TEE-os ag-el-tol-torn parach asymp. Cordziz. dodpal od pay-RAK ay-simp. KORD-ziz, dod-pal ohd fifalz lsmnad; od fargt, bams fii-falz els-mad; ohd farj-et, bams omaoas. Conisbra od avavox, oh-may-OH-as. koh-NIS-bra ohd av-VAY-voks, tonug. Orscatbl. noasmi tabges too-nuj. ors-kat-bel, noh-ays-mii tab-jes levithmong. Unchi omptilb ors. Bagle?

 lev-ith-mong, uu-kii omp-tilb ors. BAY-gayl?

Moooah olcordziz. Lcapimao moh-oh-WAH ohl-KORD-ziz. el-kay-PH-may-oh

ixomaxip, odcacocasb gosaa;
 iks-oh-MAKS-ip, ohd-kay-KOH-kazb goh-say-ay;

baglen pii tianta ababalond,
 BAY-gayl-en pii-ii tii-AN-ta ay-BAY-bay-lond, odfaorgt telocvovim.

 ohd-fay-ORJT tee-LOCH-voh-vee-m.

Madriiix, torzu! Oadriax
 MAY-dri-yaks, tor-ZOO! oh-AY-dri-aks orocho. aboapri. Tabaori oh-ROH-ka, ay BOH-ay-prii. tay-BAY-oh-rii priaz artabas; adrpan corsta prii-AYZ ar-tay-bas; ay-dri-pan kors-tay dobix. Yolcam priazi arcoazior, dob-iks. yol-kam prii-AY-zii ar-koh-ay-zhor, and destroy the rotten. No place let it remain in one number. Add and diminish until the stars be numbered." Arise. move, and appear before the covenant of his mouth, which he hath sworn unto us in his justice. Open the mysteries of your creation, and make us partakers of undefiled knowledge.

odquasb qting. Ripir paoxt ohd-kwazb kwah-tinj. rii-PER PAY-ay-okst sagacor. Uml od prdzar cacrg say-GAY-kor. um-el ohd purd-zar KAY-kurg aoiveae cormpt." Torzu, zacar, ay-oy-VEE-ay kormft." tor-ZOO, ZAY-kayr, odzamran aspt sibi butmona, ds ohd-zam-ran aspt sib-sii but-moh-na, dee-es surzas tia baltan. Odo cicle qaa, sur-zas tii-a bal-tan. od-oh sii-kayl kwah-AY-ay, od ozazma plapli iadnamad.

 ohd oz-az-ma play-plii yad-nay-mad.

Further Angelical Phrases

Throughout Dee's journals, there are instances when the Angels slipped into their native tongue when speaking or praying. Dee was usually good about stopping the Angel and asking for a translation of the foreign words, and most of the time the Angel would oblige. This was wonderful, because it expanded the Angelical language beyond what we see in the Book of Loagaeth or the forty-eight Angelical Keys.

Unfortunately, the Angels rarely offered word-by-word translations for these random phrases. Instead, the given definitions apply to the entire phrase collectively. Because of this, you will find the individual words of each phrase are given no definitions in the Lexicon. The meaning of the phrase (if the Angels gave one), and page reference to the phrase in Dee's journals, are included in the notes with each word.

Meanwhile, it turns out that most of the random phrases the Angels translated for Dee and Kelley are useful for general prayer, invocation, or evocation. I can't be certain if this was intentional on the part of the Angels, or if it is perhaps just to be expected if one is (after all) talking to an Angel. In any case, I feel it is proper to include these phrases in my Angelical Psalter.

Much Glory

Adgmach Adgmach Adgmach

(aj-mak aj-mak aj-mak)

With humility we call thee, with adoration of the Trinity

Argedco

(ar-jed-koh)

I desire thee, O God

Arphe

(ar-fay)

Your will be done

Gemeganza

(jeem-gan-za)

One (Everlasting) God

Gohed Ascha

(joh-ED ask-a)

Use humility in Prayers to God, or Fervently Pray

Lava Zuraah

(lav-ah zur-AY-ah)

“A strong charge to the wicked to tell the truth.”

Life lephe lurfando

(liif leef-ay lur-fan-doh)

Come Lord (and) Have Mercy

O remiges varpax

(oh rem-ii-jes var-paks)

Justice from Divine Power without defect

Padgze

(paj)

What hast thou to do with us? (A challenge to prove one's authority.)

Vors Mabberan

(vorz MAB-er-an)

Fear God (To Stand in Awe of God)

Hoxmarch

(hoks-mark)

Come out of there. (An exorcism.)

Carma geta

(kar-ma jet-a)

An Invitation to Good Angels

In the Five Books of Mystery, Dee made some interesting notes about several lines of the first leaf of Loagaeth.³ Apparently, line 21 of the text (side A) is a “preface of the creation and distinction of Angels.” The two following lines, 22 and 23, are “parcels of invitations very pleasant to good Angels.” Dee notes that all three of these lines “appertain to good Angels.” As such, I felt these lines are worthy of inclusion in an Angelical Psalter. They should be useful in opening ceremony.

Most of these words are untranslated, and I have not included them in the Lexicon. (Of course, those with definitions are found in the Lexicon.) If Dee left no phonetic notes for a word, I have created a pronunciation based upon my overall understanding of the language. Accents are all taken from Dee’s records.

21. Padohómagebs⁴ galz arps apá nal Si. gámvagað al pódma gan NA.⁵ pay-doh-OM-aj-ebz galz arps ap-AY nal sii. GAM-vag-ad al POD-ma gan en-ay.

Vr⁶ cas nátmaz ándiglon ar’mbu.⁷ zántclumbar ar⁸ noxócharmah.
owr kas NAT-maz AN-dig-lon ar-em-boo. ZANT-clum-bar ar nox-OH-kar-mah.

Sapoh⁹ lan gamnox vxála vors.¹⁰ Sábse cap¹¹ vax mar vinco.
SAY-foh lan gam-nox yewks-AY-la vorz. SAB-say cap vaks mar vin-ko.

Labandáho nas gampbox arce.¹² Dah gorhahálpstd gascámpho¹³ lan lab-an-DAH-hoh nas gamp-box ars. dah gor-ah-HALP-std gas-KAM-foh lan ge. Béfes¹⁴ argédco¹⁵ nax arzulgh¹⁶ orh.¹⁷ Sémhaham¹⁸ vn’cal¹⁹ laf garp oxox.²⁰

jee. BEF-as ar-JED-koh naks ar-zulj or. SEM-hah-ham un-kal laf garp oks-oks.

Loangah.²¹

lohn-gah.

22. Ors²² lah²³ gemphe nahoh ama-natoph des garhul vanseph iuma²⁴ lat gedos ors lah jem-fay nah-hoh am-a-nat-of des gar-hul van-sef jay-um lat jed-os lubah aha last gesto. Vars macom des curad vals mors gaph gemsed loo-bah ah-hay last jest-oh. varz may-kom des kur-ad vals mors gaf jem-sed pa²⁵ campha zednu ábfada míases lófgono. Luruandah²⁶ lesog iamle pah kam-fa zed-noo AB-fad-a MAY-ses LOF-gon-oh. lar-van-dah les-og jam-ayl padel arphe²⁷ nades gulsad maf gescon lampharsad surem paphe arbasa pad-el ar-fay nay-des gul-sad maf jes-kon lam-far-sad sur-em paf-ay ar-bas-a ar-zu-sen ags-de ghehol max vrdra paf gals macrom finistab gelsaphan ar-zus-en ag-es-dee jay-ohl maks yer-dra paf gals may-krom fin-is-tab jel-say-fan asten Vrnah.

 as-ten yer-nah.

23. Asch val íamels árcasa árcasan arcúsma íabso gliden paha ask val jam-els AR-kas-a AR-kas-an ar-KUS-ma jay-bes-oh glii-den pah-ha pacadúra gebne²⁸ óscaroh gádne au²⁹ arua las genost cásmé palsi pak-ad-YEWra jeb-nay OS-kar-oh GAD-nay av ar-va las jen-ost KAS-may pal-sii uran³⁰ vad gadeth axam pambo cásmala sámnefa gárdomas yew-ran vad gad-eth aks-am pam-boh KAS-may-la SAM-nef-a GAR-dom-as árxad pámses gémulch gápes lof lachef ástma vates³¹ garnsnas orue ARKS-ad PAM-ses JEM-ulch GAYP-es lof lak-ef AST-ma vayts garns-nas or-vay gad garmah sar'quel rúsan gages drusala phímacar aldech oscom lat gad gar-mah sar-kwel RUS-an gay-jes drew-sal-a fim-ac-ar al-dek os-kom lat garset panóston.
 gar-set pan-OS-ton.

Endnotes

1. See Benjamin Rowe, "A Note on Fifteenth Century Syntax and Interpretation." Online at <http://www.madimi.com/syntint.htm>.
2. Unfortunately, I have not found any notes on Dee's work indicating when the hard th (this, that) or soft th (thorn, thigh) sound is indicated. Lacking further evidence, I have passed over this oversight for now.
3. See John Dee's Five Books of Mystery, pp. 312–14.
4. Dee: Padohomaghebs.
5. Lord or The Trinity.
6. The name of the letter L, but we do not know what Ur actually means.
7. Dee: A pillar of light stood before the book.
8. That.
9. Compare to Sapah (Mighty sounds, Thunders).
10. Over.
11. Cap appears to be a root word associated with "Time."
12. Dee: Arse.
13. Dee: Or gascampho—why didst thou so; as God said to Lucifer. The word hath 64 significations.
14. Vocative case of the name of Befafes, the Heptarchic Prince of Tuesday.
15. Dee: with humility we call you, with adoration of the Trinity.
16. Dee: This is the name of the spirit contrary to Befafes.
17. Dee: The spirit Orh is the second in the scale of imperfections of darkness.
18. Dee: This word hath 72 significations.
19. Compare to Unchi ("to confound").
20. Compare to Oxex ("to vomit").
21. Dee: Of two syllables. (Also, compare this word with Loagaeth—Speech from God.)
22. Darkness.
23. Compare to La ("the first").
24. Compare to lumd ("is called").
25. The name of the letter B, but we do not know what Pa actually means.
26. Dee: Larvandah.
27. "I desire Thee, O God."
28. Dee: lebne. (Dee here indicates the soft G or J sound.)
29. Dee: Af. (Dee here indicates the V sound for the U in af—using the F as an approximation.)
30. Elders.
31. Dee: Bates. (Dee here indicates the V sound for the initial sound of vates – using the B as an approximation.)

Bibliography

- Adler, Aufsteigender. Soyga/Agyos: Tractatus Astrologico Magicus Aldaraia sive Soyga Vocor, Flight of the Condor—Contemporary Shamanism (2001) (Online at http://www.kondor.de/enoch/soyga/Soyga_starte.htm.)
- Agrippa, Henry C. (edited by Stephen Skinner and trans. by Robert Turner). The Fourth Book of Occult Philosophy. Berwick, ME: Ibis Press, 2004.
- . (edited by Donald Tyson and trans. by James Freake). Three Books of Occult Philosophy. St. Paul, MN: Llewellyn, 1992.
- Allan, Jim, ed. An Introduction to Elvish. Hayes, UK: Bran's Head Books, 1978.
- Ashe, Steven. Qabalah of 50 Gates. Glastonbury, UK: Glastonbury Books, 2006.
- Bible, The. King James Version. (See BibleGateway.com, <http://www.biblegateway.com>.)
- Bouwsma, William J. Concordia Mundi: The Career and Thought of Guillaume Postel, 1510–1581. Cambridge, MA: Harvard University Press, 1957.
- Budge, E. A. Wallis, trans. The Egyptian Book of the Dead: The Papyrus of Ani in the British Museum. New York: Dover, 1967.

- Charles, R. H., ed., and W. R. Morfill, trans. The Book of the Secrets of Enoch. Escondido, CA: Book Tree, 1999. First published in 1896. ('This is 2 Enoch, "The Slavonic Book of Enoch."')
- Charlesworth, James H., ed. The Old Testament Pseudepigrapha, vol. 1. Garden City, NY: Doubleday, 1983. (Includes 1 Enoch, "The Ethiopic Book of Enoch"; 2 Enoch, "The Slavonic Book of Enoch"; and 3 Enoch, "The Hebrew Book of Enoch.")
- Clulee, Nicholas H. John Dee's Natural Philosophy: Between Science and Religion. London: Routledge, 1988.
- Dalley, Stephanie. Myths from Mesopotamia: Creation, the Flood, Gilgamesh, and Others. Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1998.
- Dan, Joseph. The Ancient Jewish Mysticism. Tel Aviv, Israel: MOD Books, 1993.
- Davidson, Gustav. A Dictionary of Angels, Including the Fallen Angels. Reissue edition. New York: Free Press, 1994.
- Dee, John. A True and Faithful Relation of What Passed For Many Years Between Dr. John Dee [...] and Some Spirits. New York: Magickal Childe, 1992. First published in 1659. Other editions also available. A PDF version is available at The Magickal Review, <http://www.themagickalreview.org/enochian/tfr.php> (accessed March 1, 2010).
- Dee, John. (Peterson, Joseph H., ed.). John Dee's Five Books of Mystery: Original Sourcebook of Enochian Magic. Boston: Weiser, 2003.
- . Mysteriorum Libri Quinti: or, Five Books of Mystical Exercises of Dr. John Dee. Magnum Dyfed, UK: Opus Hermetic Sourceworks, 1985.
- Eliade, Mircea. Shamanism: Archaic Techniques of Ecstasy. Princeton, NJ: Princeton University Press, 2004.
- "Enochian-I" (e-mail list). <http://www.gnostica.net/mailman/listinfo/enochian-i>.
- Ginzberg, Louis. Legends of the Bible. New York: Simon and Schuster, 1956.
- Godwin, Malcolm. Angels: An Endangered Species. New York: Simon and Schuster, 1990.

- Harkness, Deborah E. John Dee's Conversations with Angels: Cabala, Alchemy, and the End of Nature. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 1999.
- . The Scientific Reformation: John Dee and the Restitution of Nature. (Unpublished PhD thesis, University of California, Davis, 1994.)
- Heidrick, Bill. "The Star Sponge and the Fifty Gates, Two Passages to Attainment." Thelema Lodge Calendar, 5/90 e.vol. "From the Out Basket" (copyright 1975 and 1990). Online at <http://www.digital-brilliance.com/kab/50gates.txt> (accessed March 1, 2010).
- Heinlein, Robert. Stranger in a Strange Land. New York: Putnam, 1961.
- James, Geoffrey. The Angel Summoner. St. Paul, MN: Llewellyn, 1998.
- . The Enochian Magick of Dr. John Dee. St. Paul, MN: Llewellyn, 1994.
- Kaplan, Aryeh. Sepher Yetzirah: The Book of Creation. York Beach, ME: Weiser, 1997.
- Kircher, Athanasius. Oedipus Aegyptiacus. Online at <http://www.billheidrick.com/Orpd/AKir/AKOeAeII.htm> (accessed March 1, 2010).
- Krakovsky, Levi Isaac. Kabbalah: The Light of Redemption. Brooklyn, NY: Kabbalah Foundation, 1950.
- Laurence, Richard, trans. The Book of Enoch the Prophet. Bensenville, IL: Lushena Books, 2001. First published in 1883. Also online at <http://www.livius.org/ei-er/enoch/enoch.htm>.
- Laycock, Donald. The Complete Enochian Dictionary: A Dictionary of the Angelic Language as Revealed to Dr. John Dee and Edward Kelley. Revised edition. York Beach, ME: Red Wheel/Weiser, 2001.
- Layton, Bentley, trans. The Gnostic Scriptures. New York: Doubleday, 1995.
- Leitch, Aaron. "The Angelic Alphabet." Found online at http://kheph777.tripod.com/art_angelical_alphabet.pdf.
- . "Gnosticism: Sethian to Valentinian." Diamond Fire magazine, Winter 2003. (Also online at <http://kheph777.tripod.com/>)

- . "Introduction to the Hebrew Alphabet." Diamond Fire magazine, Summer 2004. Also online at <http://kheph777.tripod.com/>.
- . John Dee's Journals Abridged: The Angelic Language, Loagaeth, the Parts of the Earth and the Great Table of the Earth. (working title) Unpublished manuscript, 2004.
- . Secrets of the Magickal Grimoires: The Classical Texts of Magick Deciphered. St. Paul, MN: Llewellyn, 2005.
- . "Shem haMephoresh: Divine Name of Extension." Diamond Fire magazine, Fall 2003. Also online at <http://kheph777.tripod.com/>.
- , (moderator). The Solomonic Yahoo Group. <http://groups.yahoo.com/group/solomonic>.
- Liber Loagaeth*. Online at <http://www.geocities.com/peripsol/Enoch/5LiberLoagaeth.htm>.
- Magickal Review, The*. <http://www.themagickalreview.org/>
- , ed. Enochian Manuscripts Online. Digital scans of the British Library microfilms: MSS. Sloane 3188, 3189, 3191, and Cotton Appendix MS. XLVI Parts I and II. (Online at <http://themagickalreview.org/enochian/>)
- Mastros, Sara Leanne. "The Fifty Gates of Understanding." Online at <http://www.ugcs.caltech.edu/~abszero/mine.html>.
- Mathers, S. L. MacGregor, ed. and trans. The Key of Solomon the King. Mineola, NY: Dover, 2009.
- McLean, Adam, ed. A Treatise on Angel Magic. San Francisco: Weiser, 2006.
- Odeberg, Hugo. trans. and ed. 3 Enoch; or the Hebrew Book of Enoch. New York: Ktav Publishing, 1973.
- Orwell, George. Nineteen Eighty-Four. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1949.
- Peterson, Joseph H., ed. John Dee's Five Books of Mystery. York Beach, ME: Weiser, 2003.
- . Liber Loagaeth or Liber Mysteriorum, Sextus et Sanctus, 1997. Online at <http://www.esotericarchives.com/dee/sl3189.htm> (accessed

- October 22, 2009). The full text of Loagaeth can be purchased on CD from this webpage.
- . Twilit Grotto: Archives of Western Esoterica. Online at <http://www.esotericarchives.com> (accessed October 22, 2009).
- Radiant, Callisto, ed. Enochian Linguistics. Online at <http://www.madimi.com/enochlng.htm> (accessed October 22, 2009).
- Reeds, Jim. "Breakthrough in Renaissance Cryptography: A Book Review." Cryptologia magazine, January 1999. Available online at http://findarticles.com/p/articles/mi_qa3926/is_199901/ai_n8848725/ (accessed October 22, 2009).
- . "John Dee and the Magic Tables in the Book of Soyga." In Clucas, Stephen, ed. John Dee: Interdisciplinary Studies in English Renaissance Thought. Dordrecht, The Netherlands: Springer, 2006. Also available online at <http://www.dtc.umn.edu/~reedsj/soyga> (accessed October 22, 2009).
- . "Solved: The Ciphers in Book III of Trithemius's Steganographia," Cryptologia magazine, October 1998. Available online at <http://www.dtc.umn.edu/~reedsj/steg.html> (accessed October 22, 2009).
- Reuchlin, Johann. On the Art of the Kabbalah: De Arte Cabalistica. Trans. by Martin Goodman and Sarah Goodman. Lincoln, NE: University of Nebraska Press, 1993.
- Rogers, William E., and Diana Ervin. The History of English Phonemes. Online at <http://alpha.furman.edu/~wrogers/phonemes/> (Greenville, SC: Furman University, 2000). See particularly the section entitled "Early Modern English: 1500–1800 C.E.," online at <http://alpha.furman.edu/~wrogers/phonemes/phone/eme> (accessed October 22, 2009).
- Rowe, Benjamin. "A Note on Fifteenth Century Syntax and Interpretation." Originally posted to the "Enochian-I" e-mail list. Also available online at <http://www.madimi.com/syntint.htm> (accessed March 1, 2010).

- Sandars, N. K., trans. The Epic of Gilgamesh: An English Version with an Introduction. London: Penguin, 1972.
- Scholem, Gershom (trans. by Ralph Manheim). On the Kabbalah and Its Symbolism. (Original German title: Zur Kabbala und ihrer Symbolik.) New York: Schocken, 1996.
- Scrolls From the Dead Sea*. Library of Congress exhibition (2002). Online at <http://www.loc.gov/exhibits/scrolls/toc.html> (accessed October 29, 2009).
- Shaffer, Patricia. DeesPronunciationNotes.RTF. Online at <http://kheph777.tripod.com/DeesPronNotes.doc> (accessed March 1, 2010).
- Sichos in English.org. Chasidic Discourses. Online at <http://www.sichosinenglish.org/cgi-bin/calendar?holiday=pesach10441> (accessed March 1, 2010).
- Simpson, D. P. Cassell's Latin Dictionary: Latin-English, English-Latin. London: Cassell, 1977.
- Skinner, Stephen, and David Rankine. The Practical Angel Magic of Dr. John Dee's Enochian Tables. Singapore: Golden Hoard Press, 2005.
- A Specimen of the Tables or Book of Enoch*. Online at <http://www.geocities.com/peripsol/Enoch/5SampleTable.html>.
- Szönyi, György E. John Dee's Occultism: Magical Exaltation Through Powerful Signs. Albany, NY: State University of New York Press, 2004.
- Tolkien, J. R. R. The Hobbit. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1997. First published in 1937.
- . The Lord of the Rings. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1993. First published in 1955.
- Typo.cz and DesignIQ.cz. Diacritics: All You Need to Design a Font with Correct Accents. Online at <http://diacritics.typo.cz/index.php> (accessed October 22, 2009).
- Tyson, Donald. Enochian Magic for Beginners: The Original System of Angel Magic. St. Paul, MN: Llewellyn, 2002. First published in 1997.

- . The Power of the Word: The Secret Code of Creation. St. Paul, MN: Llewellyn, 2004.
- . Tetragrammaton: The Secret to Evoking Angelic Powers and the Key to the Apocalypse. St. Paul, MN: Llewellyn, 2002.
- Vinci, Leo. GMICALZOMAI: An Enochian Dictionary. London: Regency Press, 1976.
- Warnock, Christopher. Renaissance Astrology. Online at <http://www.renaissanceastrology.com/> (accessed October 22, 2009).
- Westcott, W. Wynn, trans. (Edited by Darcy Kuntz.) Sepher Yetzirah: The Book of Formation and the Thirty-Two Paths of Wisdom with Hebrew Text. Sequim, WA: Holmes, 1996.
- Wheelock, Frederic M. Wheelock's Latin, Sixth Edition Revised. New York: HarperResource, 2005.
- Whitaker, William. Words, Latin to English (a Latin-to-English dictionary). Online at <http://lysy2.archives.nd.edu/cgi-bin/words.exe> (accessed October 22, 2009).
- Whitby, Christopher. John Dee's Actions with Spirits: 22 December 1581 to 23 May 1583. New York: Garland, 1988.
- Wilson, Robert Anton. Prometheus Rising (reprint edition). Phoenix, AZ: New Falcon, 1992.
- Yahsanet Studies. The Fifty Gates of Understanding (in A Study of the Book of Revelation). Online at <http://www.yahsanet.com/studies/revstudy/fifty-gates.htm> (accessed March 1, 2010).
- Yates, Frances A. The Rosicrucian Enlightenment. London: Routledge, 2001.
- Zalewski, Pat. Golden Dawn Enochian Magic. St. Paul, MN: Llewellyn, 1990.
- . The Kabbalah of the Golden Dawn. St. Paul, MN: Llewellyn, 1993.

Original Manuscripts

The following manuscripts are included for reference. All of these manuscripts can be found, under the manuscript numbers given here, at the British Museum in London:

Cotton Appendix 46, parts 1–2 (Published as A True and Faithful Relation . . ., Casaubon.)

“Sloane MS 3188” (Published as John Dee’s Five Books of Mystery, Peterson.)

“Sloane MS 3189” (Kelley’s handwritten copy of the Book of Loagaeth. See Peterson and The Magickal Review.)

“Sloane MS 3190” (A copy of A True and Faithful Relation . . ., unpublished.)

“Sloane MS 3191” (Dee’s grimoire. Published as The Enochian Magick of Dr. John Dee, James.)

Further Reading

These texts also come highly recommended in the study of general Enochiana and the occult world of Dr. John Dee and Sir Edward Kelley:

Chase, Steven, trans. Angelic Spirituality: Medieval Perspectives on the Ways of Angels. New York: Paulist Press, 2002.

Clucas, Stephen, ed. John Dee: Interdisciplinary Studies in English Renaissance Thought. Dordrecht, The Netherlands: Springer, 2006. (Includes Jim Reeds’ “John Dee and the Magic Tables in the Book of Soyga.”)

Eco, Umberto. The Search for the Perfect Language. Oxford, UK: Blackwell, 1997.

Farmer, S. A. Syncretism in the West: Pico’s 900 Theses (1486): The Evolution of Traditional Religious and Philosophical Systems. Tempe, AZ: MRTS, 1998.

French, Peter J. John Dee: The World of an Elizabethan Magus. London: Routledge, 1987.

-
- Karr, Don. Notes on Editions of Sepher Yetzirah in English (1991, 2007).
Online at <http://www.digital-brilliance.com/kab/karr/syie.pdf>.
- Pseudo-Dionysius, the Areopagite. (Translated by Colm Luibheid.)
Pseudo-Dionysius: The Complete Works. New York: Paulist Press, 1987.
- VanderKam, James C. Enoch: A Man for All Generations. Columbia, SC:
University of South Carolina Press, 1995.
- Woolley, Benjamin. *The Queen's Conjurer: The Science and Magic of Dr.
John Dee, Adviser to Queen Elizabeth I*. New York: Henry Holt, 2001.

Index

- 1 Enoch, 24–28, 35, 83, 97, 101,
148, 169–171, 179
- 2 Enoch, 24, 26, 28
- 3 Enoch, 26, 28
- 48 Claves Angelicae, 3, 107,
157
- A True and Faithful Relation of
What Passed for Many Years
Between Dr. John Dee | . . . | and
Some Spirits*, 3, 42–43, 46–47,
49–51, 53–54, 57, 60, 64–69, 74,
78, 84–86, 88–89, 91, 93–109,
112–114, 116–118, 120, 125–
130, 132, 149, 158, 167, 169,
173, 175–183, 186–188, 190,
197, 201, 205–207
- Aaron, 14, 109–110
- Abraham, 14, 18, 40
- Adam, 20–21, 25, 29–30, 32, 34,
41, 45, 76, 78, 89, 97, 130,
163–164, 169, 202–207, 211,
214, 235
- Aeons, 131, 137, 141, 158–159, 168, 171
- Aethyrs, 30, 82–83, 88, 101,
106–107, 130–134, 148, 158,
160, 164–165, 168, 171, 180,
191, 274
- Agrippa, 11, 33, 35–36, 98, 101,
118, 131, 148, 168, 170–171,
192, 197, 205–207, 213–218,
225–226, 228–229, 231–233,
235–236
- Ain Soph, 23
- Akashic Records, 29
- alchemy, 2, 11, 19, 22, 32, 67, 135
- Aldaraia, 30–32
- Alpha, 67
- alphabet, Adamical, 207, 209
- alphabet, Angelical, 55, 113,
206–211, 215, 217–218, 226,

- 229, 235. See also Angelical language
- Amzes naghezes Hardeh*, 55, 193
- Angels, 1–3, 5–9, 11–12, 21–22, 24, 27, 29–30, 33–36, 39–48, 50, 52–55, 59–63, 66–69, 74, 76–78, 83, 86, 92–97, 103–107, 109, 115–117, 120–122, 126–138, 141–149, 151–154, 156–158, 161–162, 164–168, 170, 173–185, 187–191, 193–194, 197, 200–206, 209–210, 213–214, 216–233, 235–236, 280–282
- Angelical language, 1–9, 11–12, 21, 24, 27, 30, 32, 34–35, 39, 41, 43, 50, 55–60, 64, 66, 69–70, 74, 76–78, 80, 83, 86, 90, 92, 94, 97–98, 100–101, 103–108, 110, 113–115, 120–122, 124, 127–129, 131–134, 137–145, 147–149, 153, 165, 167–168, 170, 175, 178, 180, 184–185, 191–195, 198, 200–218, 225–238, 241, 243, 280, 282. See also separate entries for specific features of the Angelical language
- Angelical Table of the Planets, 226–227, 229
- Angelical Table of the Zodiac, 229–230
- Annael, 2, 141
- Antichrist, 39, 47, 85, 120, 184
- apocalypse, 23, 26, 33, 133–134, 140, 148–151, 153–156, 160–161, 166, 168
- Apocrypha, 6–7, 11, 25, 28, 40–41, 202
- Apostles, the, 40, 48–49, 76, 180, 197
- Arabic, 30, 36, 104, 206, 214
- Arbatel of Magic*, 9, 98, 141
- Archangels, 2, 9, 21, 26, 28–30, 35–36, 39, 43, 45–49, 51, 55, 57–59, 61–62, 69, 76, 78, 82, 97–98, 100, 104–105, 112, 129, 131–132, 136, 141, 147–148, 154, 168, 175–176, 178, 181, 184–186, 198–202, 204, 207, 212, 225, 228, 232, 234. See also separate entries for specific Archangels
- Archons, 131, 191
- ascendant, 114–115, 142, 216–217
- ascension, 22, 35, 173, 179, 184, 194
- Ashmole, Elias, 2–3
- astrology, 19, 22, 31–32, 36, 120, 131–132, 136, 140–141, 146–147, 155, 160, 162, 165–166, 170–171, 174, 177, 205, 215–216, 218, 233
- Aurum Solis, 4
- Ave, 41–43, 55, 70, 95–96, 149, 166, 169, 186–188, 190–191, 195
- Babylon, 25–27, 29, 36, 82, 197, 206
- Befafes, 76, 217, 284

- Bible, 6–7, 11, 14, 24–27, 36, 39,
41, 44, 49–50, 55–56, 59, 67, 76,
82–83, 85, 92, 122, 124, 132–
133, 135, 143, 145, 148, 156,
161, 163, 166–167, 169, 186,
188, 202, 205–206, 235–236
- Billings, Al, 5
- Binah, 11–12, 14, 16–17, 19, 22–23,
34–35, 40, 82, 101, 173–176,
190. See also Fifty Gates of Binah
- blood, 14, 47, 51, 57, 151–152, 154, 200, 208, 260
- Bodley, 30–32
- Book of Enoch, 7, 8, 11, 12, 24–26,
28, 31, 34–35, 41, 43, 60, 78, 83,
96, 148, 179. See also 1 Enoch, 2
Enoch, 3 Enoch, and Loagaeth, Book of
- Book of Enoch, Celestial, 28, 43
- Book of Enoch, “Ethiopic.” See 1
Enoch
- Book of Enoch, “Hebrew.” See 3
Enoch
- Book of Enoch, “Slavonic.” See 2
Enoch
- Book of Soyga. See* Soyga, Book of
- Bornogo, 79, 217
- Bride of God, 67, 97, 101
- Bruce, James, 26
- Calls, Angelical, 78, 106, 108,
126–130, 132–133, 135–166,
169–171, 237, 242, 244, 246,
248, 250, 252, 254, 256, 258,
260, 262, 264, 266, 268, 270,
272, 274. See also separate entries for specific Calls
- Call Eight, 142, 148–150, 153, 158,
171, 258
- Call Eighteen, 155, 158, 161, 272
- Call Eleven, 108, 154–155, 264
- Call Fifteen, 159–160, 268
- Call Five, 144, 252
- Call Four, 142–144, 147, 149, 151,
169, 250
- Call Fourteen, 157, 170, 268
- Call Nine, 151, 153, 170, 260
- Call of the Aethyrs, 106, 130, 132, 164–165, 171, 274
- Call One, 108–110, 112–113, 115,
126, 128–129, 135–139, 141,
146, 155, 157, 165, 167, 193,
212, 233, 242
- Call Seven, 146, 152, 156, 169, 256
- Call Seventeen, 160, 270
- Call Six, 145–146, 161, 254
- Call Sixteen, 159–160, 163, 270
- Call Ten, 152–154, 171, 262
- Call Thirteen, 157, 266
- Call Three, 129–130, 140–143, 147,
246, 248
- Call Twelve, 108, 156–157, 266
- Call Two, 138, 169, 194, 234, 244
- Celestial Cities, 178–179
- Celestial Language (Speech). See
Angelical language
- Ceph, 58, 90, 208
- Chaioth haQodesh*, 154, 158

- Chaldean, 27, 34, 82, 206–207, 214
- Cherubim, 21, 27, 82, 158–159, 225
- Chesed, 14, 17–19
- Chockmah, 14, 17, 23, 175
- Christ, 7, 21, 23, 35–36, 44, 46, 48–49, 51–53, 59, 75–76, 78, 97, 120, 122, 124, 127, 150, 174, 194, 197, 235
- Christianity, 19, 23, 25–26, 32, 39, 46, 49, 51, 57, 68, 76, 86, 97, 104–105, 107, 117, 120, 135, 140, 146, 158, 174, 183–184, 186, 188, 192, 225. See also Roman Catholicism
- Christos, 43–44, 67, 75, 101, 134, 137–139, 141, 143, 151, 158, 169, 235
- circle, 12, 79–81, 117, 119, 140, 147, 177, 216, 225, 232–233, 239, 246
- cities, 53, 103, 105, 147–148, 162, 168, 175, 178–179, 201
- Complete Enochian Dictionary, The*, 4, 99
- Confusion of Tongues, 197, 203–206, 235
- conjunction, 138–139, 142–147, 149, 151–152, 154–155, 157–161, 164–166, 169
- Corpus Omnium*, 104, 115–122, 124–125, 127–128, 132, 167
- Counting the Omer, 6, 8, 18, 173–175, 179, 183, 187, 193
- Creator, 8, 14, 16, 28–29, 44–45, 48, 54, 62–63, 67–68, 75–78, 82–83, 86, 88–89, 98, 100, 103, 107–108, 113, 129–130, 132, 134–135, 138–139, 142–148, 155–157, 159–163, 166, 174, 178, 181, 189, 191–192, 198–200, 202, 204–205, 211–212, 233, 236, 242, 248, 250, 252, 254, 256, 264, 266, 268, 270, 272, 278, 281
- Crowley, Aleister, 4, 10, 29
- crown, 14, 23, 149, 151, 258
- Crucifixion, the, 120, 123–124, 150, 174, 194
- cryptography, 31, 106, 108, 112–113, 115, 167, 210, 236
- crystal, 57–58, 85, 116, 167, 182, 184, 191–192
- Daniel, 26, 40, 96, 133, 148, 169
- Daueithai, 158–159
- Daughters of Light, 66, 182, 184
- David, 14
- Dead Sea Scrolls, 26
- death, 2, 14–16, 23–25, 32, 39, 45–46, 75, 100, 118, 123–124, 133, 140, 150, 154–155, 164, 169–170, 174, 190, 195, 206, 232, 246, 258, 264
- Dee, John, 1–12, 22, 30–34, 36, 39–41, 43–66, 68–69, 74–77, 80–85, 87–110, 112, 114–121, 125–129, 131–135, 137, 141, 148–149, 156–157, 159, 162,

- 165–171, 173–182, 184–188,
191–193, 195, 198–200, 203,
205–215, 217, 225–226, 232–
233, 235–237, 241
- Deluge, Great, 41–42, 59, 120–
122, 124
- Dionysian celestial hierarchy, 225
- Divine Medicine, 198–199, 202
- Djehuti, 29, 36, 198
- Dominations, 21, 225
- dove, 67
- dragons, 88, 149–150, 258
- Drux, 208, 210
- eagle, 154–155, 170–171, 264
- Early Modern English, 237
- Eden, 34, 89, 162–165, 202,
204–205
- Egypt, 15, 27, 29, 35–36, 67, 135,
174, 183, 198, 206, 214
- Eighth House, 222
- El, 101, 198, 217, 236
- Elders of the Apocalypse, 33, 149
- Eleleth, 158–159
- Eleventh House, 224
- Elizabeth I (queen), 1–2, 215
- Elijah, 24, 35–36
- elixir, 198–200
- encryption, 31, 103, 108–110, 115,
127, 167
- End Times, 16, 39, 46–48, 51, 54,
85, 88–89, 97, 120, 124, 140,
148, 150, 161, 184
- Enlightenment, Age of, 96
- Enoch, 6–8, 11–12, 24–29, 31–32,
34–36, 39–43, 55, 78, 83, 95–97,
101, 134, 148, 169–171, 179,
186–188, 190–191, 193–195. See also Book of Enoch, 1 Enoch, 2 Enoch, and 3 Enoch
- Enochian, 1, 4–12, 25, 27–28,
33, 36, 40–41, 68, 84–85, 97,
99–100, 104, 127, 133, 169–170,
186–187, 191–193, 236. See also Angelical language
- Enochian Evocation of Dr. John Dee*,
The, 4–5
- Enochian Magick of Dr. John Dee*,
The (book), 4, 9, 169
- “Enochian-I” (e-mail list), 5, 170
- Ensigns of Creation, 54, 100, 191, 236
- Eve, 20, 76, 97, 163–164, 174, 235
- evil Angels, 217–224, 226–229
- Exodus, 15–16, 37, 86, 96, 100, 102, 167, 174, 183–184, 194
- Ezekiel, 26–27, 82–83, 101,
133–134, 155, 158, 169
- Fall, the, 34, 162–163, 202
- Fam, 58, 73, 208
- Father, the, 29, 117–118, 197
- Fifth House, 221
- Fifty Gates of Binah, 11–12, 23,
40, 82, 101, 173–174, 190. See also Binah
- Fifty Gates of Impurity, 15, 183

- Fifty Gates of Understanding, 6, 8, 12, 14, 16, 19, 28, 34–35, 104,
 128, 139, 174–176, 180, 194
 Fire of Gathering, 136, 242
 firmament, 21, 82, 135, 145, 158, 242, 254
 First Angle, 142, 146, 159
 First Cause, 138
 First House, 219
Five Books of Mystery, The, 2, 30,
 39, 41, 43–45, 47–48, 52–53, 56,
 59–63, 69, 77, 80, 96–101, 120,
 169, 175, 185–187, 191, 198–
 203, 209, 211, 235–236, 281, 284 fixed stars, 12, 82, 140, 150
 Fourth Angle, 145, 254
Fourth Book of Occult Philosophy,
 The, 232–233
 Fourth House, 220

 Gabriel, 2, 47, 49, 69, 78, 94–95,
 98, 104–106, 112–114, 129–
 130, 132, 140, 158, 176–179,
 181–182, 184, 186–187, 201,
 204–206, 212, 214, 234, 236
 Gal, 208, 210
 Galvah, 45, 50, 54–57, 63–69,
 84–92, 98–100, 102, 134, 171,
 181, 186, 193, 207, 231
 Gates, 12, 16, 18–19, 22–24, 28, 34,
 49, 80, 83, 104, 168, 173–174,
 176–180, 189, 194. See also separate entries for specific Gates
 Gates of Intelligence, 19–23
 Gates of Understanding. See Fifty Gates of Understanding
 Gates of Wisdom, 80, 173–175,
 177, 179–180, 183, 194
 Gebofal, 95, 134, 168, 173, 178–
 181, 183–184, 186–188, 190–191
 gematria, 33, 113, 205, 210,
 212–214, 236
 Genesis, 12, 14, 24–25, 34–35, 39,
 44–45, 54, 68, 75–76, 78, 87,
 98, 100–101, 120, 130, 132–133,
 138, 141, 145–146, 171, 202–
 204, 211, 235
 Ger, 71, 208
 Gevurah, 14, 18
 Gisg, 55, 207–208, 216
 Gnosticism, 11, 27, 29, 32, 35–36,
 43–44, 46, 50, 67, 82–83, 88,
 97, 101, 130–131, 134–137, 139,
 150, 158–159, 169, 171, 235
 God of Justice, 134–136, 233, 242
 God of Righteousness, 134, 152,
 260 Golden Dawn, Hermetic Order of
 the, 4, 9–10, 19, 23, 35
 Gon, 208–209, 228, 243, 245, 263, 282 good Angels, 30, 34, 40, 42, 47, 54, 77, 189, 204, 217–224, 226–228,
 230, 236, 281–282
 Good Friday, 57, 59–60, 63, 174, 193
 Governor, 131, 158–161, 216, 268.
 See also separate entries for specific Governors

- Governor of the First Flame, 159, 268
- Governors of the Four Flames, 158–159
- Governor of the Fourth Flame, 161
- Governor of the Second Flame, 160
- Governor of the Third Flame, 160
- Great Table of the Earth, 3, 9, 169–170, 185, 195
- Greek, 26, 33, 36, 56–57, 109, 198, 206–207, 214, 232, 235–236
- grimoires, 2–4, 7, 9, 29–33, 36, 98, 108, 168–169, 182–183, 195, 207, 236
- halo, 86
- Harkness, Deborah, 30
- Harmozel, 158
- harvest, 15, 149–150, 176, 258
- He That Liveth and Triumpheth, 134
- He Who Is and Liveth, 143
- Heavens, 6–7, 9, 11–12, 19, 21–29, 35–36, 39, 43–44, 48, 50, 75, 82–83, 85, 103, 131–132, 134, 136–137, 140, 142, 144, 146, 148–150, 158, 164–165, 168–170, 173, 176–180, 189–190, 195, 197, 199–200, 203, 206, 211, 216, 225, 233, 252, 258, 274, 276
- Hebrew, 14–16, 19, 22–27, 33, 35–36, 55–56, 68, 76, 100, 109, 148–149, 170, 192, 197–198, 204–207, 210–212, 214–215, 217, 229, 231–232, 235
- Hebrews, Book of, 25, 167, 214
- Hekhaloth, 179–180
- Hell, 76, 85, 174, 200
- heptagram, 233
- Heptarchia*, 9, 54, 68, 97, 100, 104, 115, 184–185, 194, 226, 236. See also Heptarchic
- Heptarchic, 2–3, 36, 54, 68, 76, 79, 92, 97–98, 120, 184–186, 191–192, 195, 203, 210, 235, 284. See also Heptarchia
- Hermes, 198
- Hermes Trismagestos, 198
- Hermeticism, 4, 11–12, 19, 22–23, 32–33, 35, 40, 50, 67, 88, 135, 198–199
- Hildebrandt, Dean, 5
- Him that Is, Was, and Shall Be Crowned, 151, 258
- Him that Liveth and Triumpheth, 137
- Hod, 14, 17–18
- Holden, Clay, 5
- Holy Book, The, 43–61, 63–66, 68–69, 75, 78, 80, 83–86, 89, 92–95, 97–101, 103–107, 110, 128, 131, 133, 166, 173–174, 180–186, 190, 193, 198–199, 207–208, 235–236. See also Loagaeth, Book of
- Holy City, 147–148
- Holy Ghost, 117–118, 197

- Holy Lamen, 191
- Holy Living Beasts, 154, 158–159, 171
- Holy Ones, 136–138, 242
- Holy Spirit, 23, 57, 67, 86, 101, 117–118
- horary, 215
- Houses, astrological, 140, 160, 177, 218. See also separate entries for specific Houses
- I AM (name), 66, 92–93, 95, 102
- Iad Balt, 135, 243
- Ideal Form (or Idea), 159
- Illemese, 30–31, 41, 62, 67, 105, 126, 128–129, 132–133, 141, 203, 210–212, 217
- Inanna, 67
- invocation, 2–3, 9, 22, 32, 57, 104, 108–109, 133, 192, 237, 280
- Irenaeus, St., 25
- Isaac, 14, 18, 40
- Isaiah, 26, 133, 155
- Ishtar, 29
- Isis, 67
- Jacob, 14, 40
- James, Geoffrey, 4–5, 9, 169, 191
- Jesus. See Christ
- John, Book of, 44, 75, 135
- John, St., 7, 12, 26, 28, 39, 45, 48, 51, 99, 133–134, 136, 147–148, 151, 154–155
- Jude, Epistle of, 25–26, 41, 97
- Jupiter, 21, 68, 233
- Kabbalah. See Qabalah.
- Karlsen, Runar, 5
- Kelley, Edward, 1–2, 4, 6–9, 11–12, 32, 39–41, 43, 45, 47–48, 50–58, 60, 62–67, 69, 74–75, 77, 80–81, 84–85, 87–88, 92, 94–99, 101, 103–106, 110, 112, 115–117, 121, 125–127, 132–134, 171, 174, 178, 182, 184–185, 187–188, 192, 195, 198–199, 204, 207–211, 213, 235, 280
- Kether, 14, 17, 22–23
- Key of Solomon the King*, 31–32, 187, 232
- Key of the Aethyrs, 107, 160, 168
- “Key Zero,” 126–128
- Keys, Angelical, 3–5, 7–9, 12, 22, 27, 31–32, 45, 49, 54, 59, 69, 74, 77–78, 94, 97–98, 100–101, 103–110, 112–113, 115–116, 124, 126–130, 132–133, 139–140, 143, 148, 160, 162, 166–169, 175, 178–180, 183, 187, 191, 193–195, 212–213, 232–234, 237, 243, 245, 247, 249, 251, 253, 255, 257, 259, 261, 263, 265, 267, 269, 271, 273, 275, 280. See also Calls, Angelical and separate entries for specific Calls
- Kingdoms, 14, 18, 22, 47–48, 52, 76, 85, 101, 103, 131, 140–141, 143, 147, 161–162, 166, 170, 246, 256, 272

- kings, 14, 29, 31, 42, 47, 76, 78,
123, 129–130, 136–139, 151,
165, 183–184, 186–187, 189, 232
- Kircher, Athanasius, 13, 19, 23, 35
- Lamb, Book of the, 7, 39–40, 105
- Lamech, 24, 29
- lamen, 191, 233
- Latin, 31, 33, 36, 56, 64, 97–98,
100, 117, 119, 122–124, 167,
198, 206–207, 214
- Laycock, Donald, 4–5, 10, 99
- leaf, 51–57, 61, 64, 69–70, 73–75,
77, 80–82, 84–87, 89–92,
98–101, 105, 116, 166, 180,
185, 193–194, 200, 281. See also
Table
- Levanael, 173–175, 179
- Leviticus, 14–15
- Life, Book of, 7, 28, 34, 39, 51, 105
- Loagaeth, Book of*, 2–3, 7–8, 12,
30, 34, 36, 39, 43–44, 47,
50–55, 57–64, 68–70, 73–86, 92,
94–101, 103–108, 110, 112–113,
115–116, 121, 124, 126–130,
132–134, 140, 166–168, 171,
173–178, 180–182, 184–188,
190–194, 198–201, 207–208,
210, 214, 235–237, 280–281, 284
- Logos, 29, 36, 44, 75, 83, 101, 127, 137, 139, 181, 235
- love, 42, 158–159
- Lucifer, 75–76, 78, 284
- Luminaries, Great, 158–159
- Luna, 68, 82, 136, 233
- Madimi, 66, 92, 101, 217
- Madzilodarp, 232, 271
- magick square, 7, 11, 31, 33–34,
36, 53, 56, 103, 126, 170,
225–226, 229, 232, 236
- Magickal Review, The*, 97, 192
- magickal timing, 61, 65, 68, 174,
181, 215, 236
- Malkuth, 14, 17–19, 22, 101
- Mals, 208, 235
- Mapsama, 103, 105–106, 175,
178–181, 183–184, 187, 217
- Mars, 21, 68, 233
- mathematics, sacred, 225
- Matthew, Book of, 103, 150, 170
- Med, 208
- Medicina Dei, 198
- memory, 42, 158, 199, 207
- Mercury, 21, 68, 215–217, 233
- mercy, 14, 18, 41–42, 44, 61, 147,
152, 189, 200, 232, 256, 281
- Merkavah, 19, 22, 25–28, 35, 40,
54, 83, 135, 169, 179, 190
- Mesopotamia, 27, 67
- Messiah, 16, 21, 23, 28
- Metatron, 26, 28, 35–36, 236
- Methuselah, 24, 29
- Michael, 2, 30, 33, 76, 158, 191
- midot, 16
- ministers, 78, 129, 136–139, 151,
159–161, 165, 176, 178, 190,
260
- Monday, 68–69, 193
- Moon, 21, 118, 135–136, 146, 233, 242

- Moses, 14, 16, 22–23, 28, 40, 59, 100, 102, 173–174
 moss of the earth, 152, 170, 260

 Na, 58, 208
 Nag Hammadi, 135
 Nalvage, 46, 48–49, 53–54, 60,
 74–75, 77, 94–95, 104, 106–110,
 112–132, 139, 158, 167–168,
 171, 175–181, 197, 217, 231,
 233–234
 nature, 21, 25, 33, 44–45, 49, 51,
 62, 75, 78, 88–89, 94, 106, 118,
 128–131, 140, 151, 153, 156,
 162, 166, 168, 178, 183, 187,
 191, 195, 198–199, 205, 232
 Neoplatonism, 11
 Netzach, 14, 17–18
 Nine Angelic Choirs, 35, 225
 Ninth House, 223
 Noah, 24, 29, 120
 numbers, 4, 30, 53, 55–56, 79–80,
 92, 100, 110, 112–115, 141, 144,
 152, 166–167, 212–213, 225–
 226, 229, 233, 252

 Odeberg, Hugo, 26
Of Magical Ceremonies, 232–233
 Omega, 67, 235
 opposition, 217–218
 oratory, 192–195
 Oroiael, 158

 Pa, 55, 207–208, 210, 216–217, 243,
 263, 271, 284
 Pagesgem, 70, 78–79
 Pal, 208–209, 236, 277, 283
 Palaces, Heavenly, 19, 179 paradise, 30, 32, 35, 89, 132,
 163–164, 202–203, 205, 235
 Parts of the Earth, 3, 9, 83, 106,
 131–132, 164–165, 169, 171,
 191, 195, 274
 Passover, 15, 174, 193–194
 peace, 145, 159, 252
 pentacles, 232
 perception, 158, 211
 perfected copy, 56, 60–61, 63,
 65, 68, 89, 92, 96, 104, 208, 236 perfection, 48, 159, 198, 210
 Peterson, Joseph H., 9, 97, 100,
 192, 209, 236
 Pharaoh, 183–184
 phonetic, 58–59, 208, 210, 237–
 241, 282
 Pir, Christeos, 5, 243
 Pistis, Sophia, 134
 plague, 15, 151, 170, 174
 planets, 2, 12, 68, 78, 82, 118,
 120, 131–132, 136, 147, 163,
 216–218, 226–229, 233, 236. See also separate entries for specific planets
 Plato, 46
 Powers, 21, 225
 Prayer of Enoch, 95, 186–188,
 191, 193–194
 Principalities, 21, 225, 228
 prophecy, 19, 25, 41, 46–49, 84, 97

- prophets, 6, 22–27, 36, 40–41,
 48–49, 83, 86, 97, 134, 155, 182,
 197
 Psalms, Book of, 96, 146, 232
 Psalter, Angelical, 8, 237–238, 241,
 280, 282
 Pseudo-Agrippa, 232–233
 Pseudo-Dionysus, 23, 35

 Qabalah, 6, 11–12, 14–16, 19,
 21–23, 26, 33–35, 76, 88, 98,
 100–102, 109, 113, 130, 135,
 167–168, 174–176, 198, 205,
 210–213, 217, 225, 231, 236

 Ra, 29, 253, 263, 283
 Raphael, 2, 39, 43–44, 49, 51–53,
 55–58, 62, 74–75, 77, 97, 99,
 158, 175, 184–185, 198–203,
 207, 210, 235–236
 Raziel, 29, 34, 36, 45
 Reeds, Jim, 31–33, 36, 167, 236
 repentance, 15
 Repetitive Formula Pattern, 108,
 112, 155, 157–161, 169
 Resurrection, the, 140, 169, 174
 Revelation , Book of, 7, 12, 26–28,
 35–36, 39–40, 45, 48, 51–52, 67,
 82, 85, 96–100, 130, 135–137,
 142–143, 147–149, 151, 153–
 154, 158, 161, 166, 168–170,
 188, 190
 RFP. See Repetitive Formula Pattern
 Ring of Solomon, 191

 Roman Catholicism, 25, 49, 135.
 See also Christianity
 Rosicrucianism, 32, 35–36, 102, 135
 Round Table of Nalvage. See
 Table of Nalvage, Round
 Rowe, Ben, 5, 284

 Sabbath, 14–15, 68–69, 193
 sacred language, 8, 109
 Sacred Magic of Abramelin the Mage, 1
 Satan, 150, 158, 198, 235
 Saturn, 21, 35, 68, 82, 233
 script, 207–210
 scrying, 11, 43, 57, 64, 69, 96, 106,
 185, 193
 Seal of Truth, 54, 194
 séances, 2, 5
 Second Angle, 142–144, 169, 250
 Second Causes, 138
 Second House, 219
 Second of the First, 138–139, 244
 Secrets of Enoch, Book of the. See
 Enoch 2
 Semitic, 55, 60, 101, 207
Sepher Yetzirah, 20–21, 205,
 211–212
Sepher Zohar, 12, 34, 176
 Sephiroth, 14, 16–18, 23, 33, 35,
 168, 175, 194
 Seraphim, 21, 225
 servient Angels, 131, 166
 Sethian, 134, 169, 171
 Seventh House, 217, 222

- Severity, 14, 18
- Shabbathai, 68
- Shaffer, Patricia, 5, 108, 170
- shaman, first, 162
- Shekinah, 67, 86, 88, 139
- shewstone, 2, 40, 57, 60, 65–66, 87, 92, 115, 191–192
- sigils, 8, 231–234, 236
- Sinai, Mount, 15, 59, 174
- Sixth House, 221
- Sloane, 3–4, 9, 30–31, 43, 98–99, 168–169, 171, 236
- Sokolov, 26
- Sol, 21, 68, 136, 228, 233, 253, 255, 275
- Solomon, 1, 8, 27, 29, 31–32, 36, 41, 65, 97, 133, 181, 186–187, 190–192, 195, 207, 232
- Sons and Daughters of Light, 184, 195. See also Daughters of Light
- Sophia, 67, 88, 97, 134, 171
- Soul of Nature, 88
- Soul of the World, 67, 87–88, 199
- Soyga, Book of, 6–7, 12, 29–34, 36, 40, 53–54, 57, 82, 103, 109, 174
- Speech from God, Book of the, 7, 43–44, 50, 284. See also Loagath, Book of
- square root, 53–54, 114–115, 212, 225
- stars, 12, 79–80, 82, 118, 136–137, 140, 144–145, 147, 149–150, 154, 156, 159–160, 165–166, 211, 215–216, 228, 233, 278
- steganography, 108, 115, 127, 167
- Sunday, 68, 76, 79, 100, 174
- Supplication, Book of*, 3
- Table, 3, 9, 31, 33–34, 36, 43, 52–58, 61–63, 70–86, 88–89, 92, 98–101, 104–107, 110–112, 115–124, 126–130, 166–170, 173–177, 179–180, 185, 187, 191–195, 208, 226–230, 236–237, 243, 245, 247, 249, 251, 253, 255, 257, 259, 261, 263, 265, 267, 269, 271, 273
- Table of Nalvage, Round, 115–117, 120, 124, 127
- Tablet of Destinies, 29
- Tablets of Heaven, 28, 36
- taboos, 163, 183
- Tal, 208, 210, 228, 245
- talisman, 8, 28, 34, 127, 182, 186, 191, 205–206, 212, 216–217, 231–234, 236
- Talmud, 12, 16, 22
- Tarot, 29, 135
- teachers, 178
- Tenth House, 223
- Teshuvah, 15
- Thelema, 4
- theurgical, 183
- Third Angle, 144–145, 252
- Third House, 220
- Thoth, 29, 36, 45, 198

- Three Books of Occult Philosophy*,
 35–36, 98, 101, 118, 148, 197,
 206–207, 215, 232, 235
 Thrones, 21, 225
 Thunders, 142–149, 151–155, 166,
 170, 176–178, 250, 258, 262,
 264, 284
 Thunders of Increase, 142, 144,
 153, 250
 Tongue of Angels. See Angelical
 language
 Torah, 14–15, 29, 36, 85, 98, 178
 Tower of Babel, the, 203, 205, 235
 transcendence, 14, 35, 131, 183
 Tree of Life, 6, 11–13, 19, 22–24, 34–35, 168
 Tree of the Knowledge of Good and Evil, 163–164
 Tribes of Israel, 131
 Tribulation, 7, 39, 47, 54, 85, 97,
 120, 123–124, 134, 143, 148,
 150–151, 160–162, 164, 169, 184
 Trinity, 23, 86, 89, 117, 280, 284
 Trithemius, 9, 33, 64, 66, 99, 108, 141, 167
 trump, 154
 Twelfth House, 224
 Twilit Grotto (website), 100, 192
 Tyson, Donald, 5, 36, 100, 170,
 192, 236
 Ur, 208, 240, 284
 Uriel, 2, 24, 30, 32–34, 45–48, 51,
 56, 59–63, 120, 158, 174–175,
 185–187
 Ushpizin, 14
 Valentinian, 101, 135, 169, 171
 Valentinus, 135
 Van, 58, 208
 Veh, 58, 90, 208
 Venus, 2, 21, 68, 98, 141, 226, 233
 vials, 151–152, 170, 260
 victory, 9, 14, 18
 Virtues, 18, 21, 35, 48, 225
 voices, 53, 104, 137–139, 142, 170,
 175, 180–181, 197, 200–201, 242, 244
 voicings, 53, 138–139
 Watchtowers, 3–4, 9, 104, 115,
 149–150, 158–159, 169–170, 195
 Westcott, W. Wynn, 19, 21–23 winds, 12, 101, 138–139, 176–178, 234, 244
 wisdom, 6, 14, 22–23, 27, 29,
 40–42, 45, 51, 61, 64, 66–67, 80,
 92, 97, 100, 103, 105–106, 130,
 134, 142, 159, 171, 173–175,
 177–180, 183, 187–190, 194,
 198, 204, 248
 woe, 153–154, 170, 262
 Yah, 217, 236
 Yahweh, 14, 29
 Yesod, 14, 17–18
 Yetzirah, Sepher. See Sepher Yetzirah
 Zadzacradlin, 32
 Zohar, Sepher. See Sepher Zohar

The
ANGELICAL LANGUAGE

VOLUME II

*An Encyclopedic Lexicon
of the Tongue of Angels*

BASED ON THE JOURNALS OF
DR. JOHN DEE AND EDWARD KELLEY

AARON LEITCH

"The Angelical Language is the single most comprehensive text ever written on the subject of the Enochian magical system and language of Elizabethan luminary Dr. John Dee. This two-volume magnum opus demonstrates Aaron Leitch's familiarity with practical magic as well as his skill as a meticulous researcher. A must-have book."

— Chic Cicero and Sandra Tabatha Cicero,
Chief Adepts of the Hermetic Order of the Golden Dawn

AN ENCYCLOPEDIC LEXICON OF THE TONGUE OF ANGELS

This masterwork is the most comprehensive analysis of John Dee's Angelical language ever undertaken. Most Enochian dictionaries merely present word lists; this encyclopedic textbook presents a wealth of original material and expands upon (and corrects) previously published information. It is designed so that readers can actually learn the language and use it in their own magick.

For the first time ever, every Angelical word recorded in Dee's books, journals, and personal grimoire is recorded and cross-referenced in a number of helpful ways, allowing the reader to recognize root words, alternate spellings, and more. The Angelical Language, Volume II includes notes about each word's definition, history, or usage—both Dee's original marginal notations and new commentary by the author. Also presented are Dee's own phonetic notations, as well as a brand-new pronunciation key designed to make it easier to speak the language.

The material within these pages is based strictly upon Dee's journals and personal grimoire. There are no inclusions from later mystics or organizations. This reference work, along with its companion guide, The Angelical Language, Volume I: The Complete History and Mythos of the Tongue of Angels, is the authoritative guide to the celestial language in its purest form.

Llewellyn Worldwide

www.llewellyn.com

www.facebook.com/LlewellynBooks

$59

$60

About the Author

Aaron Leitch has been a scholar and spiritual seeker for over two decades. He is a member of the Hermetic Order of the Golden Dawn, the Ordo Stella Matutina, and the Societas Magica. His writings (both in print and online) cover such varied fields as ancient Middle Eastern religion and mythology, Solomonic mysticism, shamanism, Neoplatonism, Hermeticism and Alchemy, Traditional Wicca and Neopaganism, the Hermetic Order of the Golden Dawn, Thelema, Angelology, Qabalah, Enochiana, African Diaspora religions, Hexcraft and Hoodoo folk traditions, psychology and consciousness expansion, cyberspace and virtual reality, and modern social commentary. He is the author of the book Secrets of the Magickal Grimoires, as well as many essays on various aspects of magick and the Angelical language.

Please visit his website at <http://kheph777.tripod.com/>.

The
ANGELICAL LANGUAGE

VOLUME II

*An Encyclopedic Lexicon
of the Tongue of Angels*

BASED ON THE JOURNALS OF
DR. JOHN DEE AND EDWARD KELLEY

AARON LEITCH

Llewellyn Publications
Woodbury, Minnesota

The Angelical Language, Volume II: An Encyclopedic Lexicon of the Tongue of Angels © 2010 by Aaron Leitch. All rights reserved. No part of this book may be used or reproduced in any manner whatsoever, including Internet usage, without written permission from Llewellyn Publications, except in the case of brief quotations embodied in critical articles and reviews.

First Edition

First Printing, 2010

Cover design by Kevin R. Brown

Cover illustration © from Albrecht Dürer. SuperStock

Editing by Brett Feckheimer

Llewellyn is a registered trademark of Llewellyn Worldwide, Ltd.

Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication Data

Leitch, Aaron, 1974-

The angelical language, volume II : an encyclopedic lexicon of the tongue of angels / Aaron Leitch. — 1st ed.

p. cm.

Includes bibliographical references (p.).

ISBN 978-0-7387-1491-2

1. Enochian magic. I. Dee, John, 1527-1608. II. Title.

BF1623.F55L45 2010

130.92—dc22

2009046120

Llewellyn Worldwide does not participate in, endorse, or have any authority or responsibility concerning private business transactions between our authors and the public.

All mail addressed to the author is forwarded but the publisher cannot, unless specifically instructed by the author, give out an address or phone number.

Any Internet references contained in this work are current at publication time, but the publisher cannot guarantee that a specific location will continue to be maintained. Please refer to the publisher's website for links to authors' websites and other sources.

Llewellyn Publications

A Division of Llewellyn Worldwide, Ltd.

2143 Wooddale Drive

Woodbury, Minnesota 55125-2989, U.S.A.

www.llewellyn.com

Printed in the United States of America

Other books by this author

The Angelical Language, Volume I

Both Sides of Heaven (contributing author)

Diabolical (contributing author)

Secrets of the Magickal Grimoires

Contents

Introduction to Volume II . . . 1

Chapter 1: Angelical Linguistics . . . 11

- Angelical “English Senses” and Fluid Definitions . . . 12
- Root Words . . . 14
- Compounds . . . 15
- Conjugation . . . 17
- Affixes . . . 18
- Rarities: Pronouns, Prepositions, Adjectives, Articles, Case . . . 19
- Phonetic Glosses . . . 22
- Early Modern English and Angelical . . . 25
- Early Modern English Phonetics Chart (for Angelical Pronunciation) . . . 30
- Middle English and Angelical . . . 32
- General Notes on Angelical Phonology . . . 33
 - Vowels* . . . 33
 - Consonants* . . . 33
 - Special Cases* . . . 35

Chapter 2: The Forty-Eight Angelical Keys: A Cross-Reference . . . 39

- First Column: Cross-Reference Numbers . . . 40
- Second Column: Angelical Words . . . 40
- Third Column: “English Senses” . . . 41
- Fourth Column: Literal Translations . . . 41
- Key Ten . . . 63

Chapter 3: An Encyclopedic Lexicon of the Tongue of Angels . . . 87

- How to Use This Lexicon . . . 87
- Pronunciation Notes . . . 90
- “Also” and Shared Root . . . 91
- Other Notes . . . 92

Compare from Loagaeth . . .	92
Abbreviations Used in This Lexicon . . .	92
Sources for All Words Found in This Lexicon . . .	93
Exclusions from This Lexicon . . .	94
Pronunciation Key (Fully Explained) . . .	95
Vowels . . .	95
Consonants . . .	96
“ Long Consonants ” . . .	97
Digraphs and Diphthongs . . .	97
Accented Syllables . . .	98
Angelical Root Words . . .	98
The Angelical Alphabet . . .	106
An Angelical to English Dictionary . . .	107
An English to Angelical Dictionary . . .	533
Tips on Translating English into Angelical . . .	533

Bibliography . . . 581

Introduction to Volume II

The work you hold in your hands is the second volume of a massive study of the Angelical language as recorded by Dr. John Dee and Edward Kelley—two magicians who lived during the Elizabethan era in England. In the introduction to the first volume, I explained who these men were, so I will not go into such detail here. Suffice it to say they were two extremely important figures in Western mysticism and occultism, and their recorded journals have had a profound impact on nearly every Western esoteric tradition that has followed them.

What concerns us most in this work are the records of their encounters with various Angels. Dee was a meticulous journalist, and he recorded his Angelic séances in every detail, along with the details of his daily life with Kelley during the years they were most active in speaking with the Angels. Not only did these celestial beings relate hundreds of sermons on religious and mystical philosophy, but they transmitted an entire system of Angel magick along with details about their own native language.

This book is not about that system of magick (although some obscure details about it can be found in volume I of this work). Instead, this volume focuses entirely upon the Angelical language itself. As I described in the previous volume, this is the aspect of Dee's work that fascinated me the most as I delved ever deeper in my own studies of so-called “Enochian” magick. That is, as a mystic, I was excited by the prospect of being able to pray to and evoke the Angels via their own native tongue.

To this end, I gathered Dee’s original journals—published as Five Books of Mystery, A True and Faithful Relation of What Passed for Many Years Between Dr. John Dee . . . and Some Spirits, and Dee’s own personal grimoire including the 48 Claves Angelicae—a collection of the forty-eight Angelical invocations Dee was supposed to use to open the Gates of Heaven and call out the Angels therefrom. I also gathered the best texts available about Dee’s magickal system—such as Donald Laycock’s Complete Enochian Dictionary, Geoffery James’ The Enochian Magick of Dr. John Dee, and Donald Tyson’s Enochian Magic for Beginners.

However, when I was fortunate enough to become involved with a group of accomplished Enochian scholars, I soon learned that all of the texts about Dee’s system left much to be desired when it came to understanding the Angelical language. Most of them had been written by authors who had not studied Dee’s original journals page by page, and thus did not entirely understand the context surrounding the language.

For example, both James and Laycock focused upon the Keys outlined in Dee’s 48 Claves Angelicae, with limited reference to Causabon’s A True and Faithful Relation. However, neither author had studied A True and Faithful Relation exhaustively, and were thus unaware of several corrections to the Keys made by the Angels later in Dee’s records. (And the 48 Claves does not always preserve these corrections.)

Another shortcoming is found in the breakdown of the Angelical words themselves. Both Laycock (who happened to be a linguist) and James attempted to analyze the words based upon their understanding of modern linguistics—which led to some conflicts with Dee’s journals. Most of these conflicts arose from their sometimes unsuccessful attempts to recognize compound words and separate them into their base elements. Laycock, for instance, has broken the word Cnoqod (unto his servants) into C.Noqod. In his dictionary section, one can find an entry for Noqod, but none for the actual Angelical word Cnoqod. Meanwhile, there is no indication in Dee’s records that Cnoqod is a compound at all.

Once these words were broken down in such a fashion, the next step made by both Laycock and James was to correct the base words. For an example, we might look at James' work on Key Four. Toward the end of this Key—in the original diaries—we find the word Zirenaiad (I am the Lord God). James has this listed as three distinct words: Zir (I am), Enay (the Lord), and Iad (God). While the base words are correct, you will notice that breaking them apart caused James to add a letter y to complete the word Enay. Neither James nor Laycock had yet discovered that letters are dropped in Angelical compounds when two base words end and begin with the same letter. Thus, the phrase Zir Enay Iad is combined by dropping the y¹ and forming the compound Zirenaiad. Such compound words must be preserved if we want to understand how Angelical works.

There are even several cases in which the authors have added words into the Keys where they seemed necessary. This mostly involved parts of speech or grammatical elements such as articles, adjectives, and pronouns—all of which are rare or absent from Angelical. Thus, the language tends to work like ancient tongues (such as Egyptian or biblical Hebrew), which played no part in James' and Laycock's studies of Angelical.

Most of the shortcomings of previous Angelical scholarship related to pronunciation. The Hermetic Order of the Golden Dawn made up their own system based loosely on modern Hebrew pronunciation—and Aleister Crowley followed suit. (Some today consider this "Golden Dawn Liturgical" Angelical.) Geoffrey James left the subject alone entirely, and simply included Dee's phonetic cues as they appear in the 48 Claves Angelicae. (However, without a key to those notations, they are of little help to most students.)

Laycock went so far as to offer a guide to pronunciation. However, I found it less than useful because it gives "probable" pronunciations for the letters of the alphabet rather than for the phonetic elements that actually make up the words when spoken—such as letter combinations, digraphs, diphthongs, and syllables. Not only this, but the given pronunciations were based upon modern English, with some inclusions from modern Italian and other languages. Laycock does not appear to have drawn from Early Modern (or "Shakespearean") English and Middle English—both of which have much more to do with Dee’s Angelical pronunciation than modern languages.

The available work on Angelical has also ignored Dee’s pronunciation notes in A True and Faithful Relation. I will explain these notes later in this work—however, at the time James and Laycock were writing, Dee’s notes were still an enigma. No one had cracked the phonetic system Dee was using in those notes, and thus they were simply ignored.² This has led to the modern misconception that “correct pronunciations” do not exist for Angelical at all—yet Dee’s notes make it fairly clear that they do, in fact, exist.

Finally, I could find no source for the comprehensive information necessary to learn the language in a practical sense. I needed every word along with its meaning, all of its spelling variations, its use of root words, the sentence from the Keys in which it is found, its numbered location in the Keys, and commentary about the mystical meanings behind the word. Therefore, I had no choice but to begin work on my own Angelical Lexicon.

Some may object to granting such attention to what might be a constructed language. From a non-mystical point of view, it is just as possible that Angelical is a cypher of some sort (akin to Trithemius’ famous Steganographia), or even a complete hoax generated to cover politically sensitive information. Personally, I feel it is immaterial if the language is “real” or constructed. If it is real, then it is nothing short of miraculous that we have access to it. If it is not real, then its creation is a work of genius comparable to—or even surpassing—Tolkien’s creation of Elvish. We might study Angelical as we would Orwell’s Newspeak or Heinlein’s Martian—although we are fortunate to have a much larger sample of Angelical than we do of these latter sources.

In fact, from both a mystical and an historical point of view, I believe that Dee’s Angelical language is the true mystery language of the West. An Angel named Nalvage informed Dee that Angelical was preferred before Hebrew, which had long been considered the mystery language of the West. Then, Dee’s grimoire—containing the 48 Claves Angelicae (said to be invocations composed of the native tongue of the Angels)—became foundational to the Western Hermetic and esoteric traditions.

It influenced the Golden Dawn and all who followed. From the rediscovery of Dee's documents to today, the deeper mysteries of the language have been slowly opening to the light of day.

Many students have encountered "Enochian" magick (in some form) previously, only to find pages full of invocations and names in an alien language. Rumors of its power (or even danger) surround the subject matter, but straightforward explanations of what it is and how it works are lacking. The student may ultimately put the material away and simply leave others to specialize in the subject. However, the willing seeker no longer has to feel intimidated. The understanding of the Angelic material has expanded greatly, and new resources are now being made available for all students who might take an interest. This work is one of those resources.

Since beginning my in-depth study of the Angelical language, I have found it extremely useful in practical areas. Reciting the Keys with full comprehension of every word is a wonderful and powerful experience. Not to mention the fact that it makes the actual voicing of the Keys more precise, and much less labored or forced. When working with spirits and the art of summoning, it is amazing what can be accomplished when one issues commands in Angelical. Even more impressive are the results of addressing an Angel in his or her own language!

I believe it is important to discover the real nature of the language, exactly as first received by Dr. John Dee and Sir Edward Kelley. We should not try to force the language into preconceived molds before attempting to observe it upon its own terms. Therefore, the words in this Lexicon are presented as they are recorded in Dee's journals—with all later corrections, and no omissions, additions, or (most importantly) alterations based on modern languages.

I have always felt that a grassroots study of Dee's Angelical (rather than later half-understood recensions) would lead to further expansions of the language. This is why I have taken the time to illustrate each word with all of its variations, to break down the elements of compounds, and discover the root words at their hearts. From these, along with a better understanding of Angelical grammar, we might go far in expanding the Lexicon.

With that in mind, know that this work is not offered as definitive of the Angelical language, but merely as a study aid for further research. This leaves a great amount of work and experience to be achieved by every individual student. I have presented the material as the Celestial Language of power that I have found it to be. The student of Angelic magick will find a comprehension of the language to be invaluable—and the deeper that comprehension, the more powerful the utterance of the Keys.

In order to create this Lexicon, it was first necessary to return to Dee's journals and generate a "corrected version" of the forty-eight Angelical Keys. Thankfully, I was not alone in this undertaking. As a member of the Enochian-1 mailing list, I communicated with folks who had also done work toward analyzing and correcting the Keys.³ Their results do not always agree with my own, as there are several places in the text that are obscure or incomplete in A True and Faithful Relation, and we (and even Dee himself) came to various opinions on what should be the correct wording.⁴

Once I had the corrected version of the Keys, I used that to create the Angelical Keys Cross-Reference—which adopts the numbering style used by Geoffrey James in his work. (You will find that my numbers do not match his, due to the fact that my corrected Keys have a different wording.) With that in hand, I was finally able to compile my Encyclopedic Lexicon of the Tongue of Angels. From there, I was able to analyze the language's grammar and linguistics. All of these together, plus an exhaustive study of Dee's journals, form the basis of the work you are now reading.

This second volume of my work is an exhaustive analysis of the Celestial Speech as recorded by Dee. This is where I have preserved all of the linguistic information concerning the language. I outline its basic principles, root words, affixes, parts of speech, and phonology. This is also where I explore the subjects of Middle English and Early Modern English, and the influence these stages of the language had on Dee's conception of Angelical.

This volume culminates in the Angelical Lexicon itself. This new work is not just another "Enochian dictionary." The Lexicon includes every word from the forty-eight Keys, all defined or related words from the Book of Loagaeth, and every random Angelical word or phrase found throughout Dee's lengthy journals. All of the words have been analyzed and cross-referenced to discover hidden word elements and root words. Every entry in the Lexicon includes:

- The Angelical word in English and Angelical characters.
- Its "English sense" (definition).
- Its location (cross-reference numbers for words from the Keys, page-references to Dee's published journals for all other words).
- Comparisons to every related Angelical word.
- Notes about the word's definition, history, or usage—both Dee's original marginal notations and new commentary.
- Dee also left phonetic notations for most of the words he recorded. For centuries these notes have been a source of confusion for scholars. In this new work, Dee's notations are deciphered at last! All of his pronunciation notes are included and fully explained. (A new pronunciation key has been invented to make reading the words much easier for the modern reader.)

As added features, this volume includes the Angelical Keys cross-reference (containing a fully corrected version of the forty-eight Keys, cross-referenced by number), and a lengthy English-to-Angelical section (including tips for translating English texts into proper Angelical).

Methodology

You will likely notice that my Lexicon does not resemble existing "Enochian dictionaries." Such dictionaries do not often illustrate the compounds, roots, affixes, and other linguistic intricacies of the Angelical words. Nor do they demonstrate how each word is used in the Keys, for every occurrence and version of the word (conjugations, compounds, etc). Nor do they provide commentary about the words, their origins, or the way they were used in Dee's journals and the Keys.

Thus, in order to unlock these mysteries, I set out to perform a deep analysis of the words of the Keys. I began my project with the first word of Key One (or word 1.1), and compared it with each and every individual word in the Keys. That way, I could discover if word 1.1 appeared again with alternate spellings, as part of compound words, or even if similar words shared a common root.

Then, I moved to the second word of Key One (or word 1.2) and repeated the procedure. I continued this tedious process through all the Keys until the very last word of the Key of the Aethyrs (word 30.157) had been compared and cross-referenced with every word in the forty-eight Keys (including both the spelling of the words and their English definitions). This arduous word-by-word comparison revealed several fascinating aspects of Angelical grammar—most of which I had never seen published. (Until now, of course!)

Besides the words of the forty-eight Keys, I have also included all words from the Book of Loagaeth for which Dee recorded definitions, or which appear similar to other defined words. I have also exhaustively scoured both Dee's Five Books of Mystery and his A True and Faithful Relation for each and every instance where the Angels spoke to Dee (or one another) in their native tongue. These words are all included in the Lexicon in this volume, even if they have no definitions.

This Lexicon does not include any Enochian material developed by those who followed Dee—such as the Golden Dawn and Aleister Crowley. I do not mean to negate their work or suggest that it has no merit—however, I again stress the importance of learning the language as Dee received it before moving on to these sources. Some of their material may be of little use, and some of it may be worthwhile.

The material in both volumes of The Angelical Language is based strictly upon Dee's journals and personal grimoire. All references to Dee's Five Books of Mystery ("Five Books") are drawn from Joseph Peterson's outstanding work John Dee's Five Books of Mystery. All references to A True and Faithful Relation ("TFR") are drawn from The Magickal Review's edition of Meric Casaubon's A True and Faithful Relation of What Passed for Many Years Between Dr. John Dee . . . and Some Spirits. Finally, any reference to Dee's personal grimoire (Sloane MS 3191) will point to Geoffery James' The Enochian Magick of Dr. John Dee. See the bibliography in this volume for further information on sources and manuscripts.

I sincerely hope that you will find this text to be an invaluable resource. I encourage you to use this book as a study tool, so that you can experience the mysteries behind the Angelical tongue.

Zorge,
Aaron Leitch
March 2009

Endnotes

1. Both i and y are the same letter in Angelical.
2. I even saw it suggested that these were not phonetic notes at all, but alternate spellings of the words!
3. As of this date (2010), some of this work can be found on Callisto Radiant's Enochian Linguistics website, at <http://www.madimi.com/enochmnu.htm>.
4. I used the 48 Claves Angelicae as my secondary reference in these cases.

Chapter 1

Angelical Linguistics

There are two primary sources available for the Celestial Speech: The Holy Book of Loagaeth and the forty-eight Angelical Keys. The First (“hidden”) Table of Loagaeth (sides A and B) contains approximately 4802 words compiled into ninety-eight lines of text. It is a wonderful sample of the language, which could be used to analyze the letters of the remaining forty-eight Tables.

Unfortunately, no translation of the Holy Book was ever recorded in Dee’s surviving journals. We know only what the Angels claimed is in the text, and a few precious words translated here and there. In many ways, modern scholars have to approach the Book of Loagaeth as archaeologists once approached Egyptian hieroglyphics. We can examine the words and make a lot of educated guesses about linguistic patterns, but without an “Angelical Rosetta Stone,” we are ultimately flying blind.

Perhaps this Rosetta Stone already exists in the forty-eight Angelical Keys. The Keys represent a much smaller sample of the language—totaling only 1070 words, and much fewer if we exclude words that repeat. However, unlike the Holy Book, the text of the Angelical Keys came with English translations. This grants us a wonderful opportunity to analyze the Angelical words closely—looking for syntax and grammar, root words, compounds, affixes, and so forth. (Then, with any luck, we can apply what we learn to the text of Loagaeth—beginning with the first Table.)¹

When comparing the Holy Book with the forty-eight Keys, it can be easy to assume one is reading two different languages.² However, my own analysis of the text of Loagaeth leads me to believe that its language is one and the same with that of the Keys. I have found several words from the Keys within Loagaeth as well—some of them intact and some of them in modified forms. I have also found the names of several Angelical letters in the text, and a couple of direct references to Heptarchic Angels.³ While the words of the forty-nine Tables do seem alien to those familiar with the Keys, I think this is merely because Loagaeth represents a much larger sample of the language.

Having said that, I will also concede that the language used in the Keys does seem to have a slightly different “feel” and flow than the text in the Holy Book. (Donald Laycock illustrates this adequately in the introduction to his Complete Enochian Dictionary.) Remember chapter 2 of volume I, where I quoted Raphael, who said of the forty-nine parts of Loagaeth:

Every Element hath 49 manner of understandings. Therein is comprehended so many languages. They are all spoken at once, and severally, by themselves, by distinction may be spoken. [Five Books of Mystery, p. 297]

I assume that the “elements” of Loagaeth are the forty-nine individual Tables—forty-eight of which may be opened by human effort via the Keys. If each of these Tables contain forty-nine interpretations and languages (or, perhaps, dialects of Angelical), it makes for a total of 2401 interpretations/dialects. It is probable that the language of the forty-eight Keys represents a sample of one of these Angelical dialects.

Angelical “English Senses” and Fluid Definitions

Throughout Dee’s journals, the Angels, when translating Angelical words, referred to the English equivalents as “senses” or “significations” rather than definitions or translations. This was because the given English elaborations are filled with glosses, poetic license, and implied adjectives. The Angelical words merely “signify a concept,” and we are somewhat free to apply any English words that properly (and poetically) illustrate the concept. (If you refer to the third and fourth columns of the Angelical cross-reference, you will see how the “essential concepts” of the Angelical words differ from the English elaborations given by Nalvage.)

As an example, we can look at the various interpretations of the word Malpurg (Fiery Darts):

Malpurg (Fiery Darts)

Malprg (Through-thrusting Fire)

Malpirgi (Fires of Life and Increase)

An even better example of fluid definition is found in the word Cocasb (Time):

Acocasb (Time)

“Cacocasb” (Another While)

Cocasb (Time)

Cocasg (Times)

Qcocasb (Contents of Time)

Furthermore, Cocasb likely shares a root with:

Cacacom (Flourish)

Cacrg (Until)

Casasam (Abiding)

Capimali (Successively)

“Capimao” (While)

Capimaon (Number of Time)

Capmiali (Successively)

Angelical shares this trait of “fluid definitions” with ancient human languages such as Sumerian, Egyptian, and Hebrew. Modern English tends to possess more specific definitions, which are necessary in order to create and utilize our sophisticated technology. However, in previous ages it was possible to use a single word to represent any number of related concepts. (For instance, consider the ancient Egyptian word Khepher—which might indicate creation, formation, transformation, mutation, and so on.) The precise meaning intended by the author was indicated by context.

Root Words

Several Angelical words with dissimilar spellings turn out to have similar definitions—revealing many previously unknown root words. Compare the following words:

Lendloh (Kingdom)

Adohi (Kingdom)

Both of these words translate as “Kingdom”—but they would not have appeared near one another in a simple alphabetical listing. We can see, however, that they share the letters doh—and this is likely an Angelical root word.

Conversely, I found that many words with similar spellings had dis-similar definitions. This often highlighted relationships between concepts within the language that were not apparent at first glance. For instance, compare the spelling similarities between these words:

Ors (Darkness)

Orsba (Drunken)

Orscor (Dryness)

Orscatbl (Buildings)

All of these seem to share a common linguistic root (Or or Ors), but they have definitions that are considered unrelated in English. By contemplating how these concepts might relate to one another, it can tell us something about how Angels “think.”

These root words also support the idea that Angelical works similarly to ancient languages such as Hebrew. Such early tongues are based upon a series of simple root words—usually of two or three letters, each of which may or may not stand on its own as a proper word. Affixes can then be added to the roots to alter inflection or tense.

For example, consider the Angelical word I (Is)—which is the likely root of the word Ip (Not). By adding affixes, we obtain:

Ipam (Is Not)

Ipamis (Can Not Be)

An even more important root is Ia, which does not stand as a word on its own in the Keys.⁴ However, it is possibly the root of several existing words—just a few of which are listed here as an example:

Iad (God)

Iaida (The Highest)

Iaiadix (Honor)

Iaidon (All Powerful)

Further, the first word in the above list, Iad (God), appears to be the root element of several additional words:

Gciad (Lord and Master)

Ioiad (Him the Liveth Forever)

Iadnah (Knowledge)

Laiad (Secrets of Truth)

Iadpil (To Him)

At the front of the Lexicon, I have included a list of all of the root words (or letter combinations) that I have discovered to date. (The list includes mostly those root words that do not already stand as words on their own.)

Compounds

Also akin to early (and, of course, many modern) languages, Angelical roots/words may be compounded in order to convey more sophisticated concepts. For instance, the three words Zir (Am), Enay (Lord), and Iad (God) are combined to form Zirenaiad (I am the Lord Your God).

I have found that, most often, compounds are made between nouns or verbs and the words that modify or indicate them. The following examples are an extremely small sample of such modifier-compounds found throughout the forty-eight Keys. (Note that I have placed the modifiers within each word in bold.) There are possessive adjective (his, her) compounds:

*Busdirtilb (Glory [of] Her)

*Elzaptilb (Her Course)

Lonshitox (His Power)

Here are some demonstrative pronoun (this, those) and relative pronoun (which/that) compounds:

Arcoazior (That Increase)	Dsabramg (Which Prepared)
Artabas (That Govern)	Dschis (Which Are)
Unalchis (These Are)	Dsi (Which Is)
Oisalman (This House)	Dsom (That Understand)

Conjunction (and, or, but, as) compounds are very common:

Corsta (Such As)	Odchis (And Are)
Crpl (But One)	Odmiam (And Continuance)
Tablior (As Comforters)	Odzamran (And Appear)
Taviv (As the Second)	Qmospleh (Or the Horns)

Compounds are regularly created from forms of the verb to be (is, are, were, and—apparently—is not):

Chisholq (Are Measured)	Pageip (Rest Not)
Unalchis (These Are)	Odipurán (And Shall Not See)
Inoas (Are Become)	Zirenaiad (I Am the Lord God)
Idlugam (Is Given)	Gchisge (Are Not)

There are fewer (although no less significant) examples of nouns compounded with adjectives or verbs other than to be.

I have also found that compounding Angelical words often results in changes to their spelling. For example, the word Dsonf (Which Reign) is a combination of Ds (Which) and Sonf (Reign). However, notice that there is only one s found in Dsonf. That is because Angelical combines duplicate letters when forming compounds. Therefore, the final s of Ds and the first S of Sonf combine into one s in Dsonf.

Another example is the word Gmicalzoma (Power of Understanding). This is a combination of Gmicalzo (Power) and Oma (Understanding). However, we can see that the final o of Gmicalzo and the first O of Oma have been combined into a single letter in the compound.

There are also several examples of completely inexplicable spelling changes when compounds are formed. For instance, the word for Day in Angelical is Basgim, while the compound word for “Midday the First” is Bazemlo (Bazem + “Lo”). The change of the s to a z is not surprising, because these letters represent a similar sound. However, note how the gi of Basgim has disappeared entirely from the compound Bazemlo. We can therefore guess that Bas/Baz is an Angelical root indicating “daytime.” However, we cannot guess what rules apply to the spelling change between Basgim and the Bazem element in Bazemlo.

It might be helpful to provide another example, so we will look at the word Soba (Whose). In the compound Sobhaath (Whose Works), the spelling has altered to Sobha. In the compound Sobolzar (Whose Courses), the spelling becomes Soba. Even more inexplicable, in the compound Solamian (Whose Continuence), the spelling is altered to Sola.

Conjugation

Further spelling changes may come from conjugation instead of compounding. These changes appear so random, even professional linguists can find no rhyme or reason behind them.⁵ Several examples follow:

Goho (Sayeth)	Naoln (May Be)	Zir or Zirdo (Am)
Gohia (We Say)	Noan (To Become)	Zirom (Were)
Gohol (Saying)	Noar (Has Become)	Zirop (Was)
Gohon (Have Spoken)	Noas (Have Become)
Gohus (I Say)	Noasmi (Let Become)
Gohulim (Is Said)

Unfortunately, I cannot report that I have discovered anything useful in this regard. Given the apparently haphazard manner in which the spellings are altered, I can’t even state with surety that conjugations, as we would recognize them, even exist in Angelical. Many Angelical words (verbs and nouns) alter their spelling even when they do not conjugate or compound with other words. Just a few examples are:

Aai, Aao (Amongst)
Acocasb, Cocasb (Time)

Butmon, Butmona (Mouth)

Efafafe, Ofafafe (Vials)

Netaab, Netaaib (Government)

Affixes

Having learned somewhat about Angelical roots and compounds, I was able to isolate what appear to be several Angelical affixes. For example, there are some instances where the addition of -o to a word seems to add the connotation of of:

Caosg (Earth) - Caosgo (Of the Earth)

Vonph (Wrath) - Vonpho (Of Wrath)

Iad (God) - Oiad (Of God)

However, this does not appear to be a set rule. First, an equivalent to the word of is extremely rare in Angelical. (Usually, it is simply implied by context.) Second, some words appear with additional -o affixes without gaining an of connotation. Examples are:

Zol (Hands) - Ozol (Hands)

Zien (Hands) - Ozien ([My Own] Hand)

Micalz (Mighty) - Micalzo (Mighty / Power)

Another likely affix is -ax, which may be an indicator of action similar to our own suffix -ing, which can turn verbs into active participles (e.g., “The running water is very deep”) or present progressives (e.g., “He is running very fast.”):

Blior (Comfort) - Bliorax (To Comfort)

Om (Know) - Omax (Knowest)

There are other verbs that end with the -ax suffix, but we have no examples of the same words without the affix: Camliax (Spake), Tastax (Going Before). We might possibly add Gizyax (Earthquakes) and Coraxo (Thunders of Judgment and Wrath) to this list—they may be nouns by English standards, but they still indicate violently active forces. Meanwhile, there are some “-ing clause” verbs in the Keys that do not appear with the -ax suffix—such as Dluga (Giving unto) or Panpir (Raining Down).

Rarities: Pronouns, Prepositions, Adjectives, Articles, Case

There are several aspects of grammar that are rare or even nonexistent in the Angelical tongue. For instance, personal pronouns are used very infrequently in the Keys—and it is difficult to say why they are used in the places we do find them. However, while these pronouns are used less frequently than is the case in modern English, they are used more frequently than the other rarities we will discuss in this section. The existing personal pronouns are:

Ol (I)	Yls (Thou, singular)
Tox (Him / His)	“ Pi ” (She)
Nonca (You, plural)	“ Ip ” (Her)
“ T ” (It)	Par (Them)
Tiobl (Her)

Relative pronouns like the following seem to be a bit more common, as they are not as easily implied by context:

Sobam (Whom)	Casarm, Casarma (Whom)
Ds, Dst (That, Which)	Soba, Sobca, Sobra (Whose)

Plus, we find these possessive adjectives:

Tilb (Her)
Tox (His / Him)
Aqlo (Thy)

However, they are used sparingly, and—as we saw previously—they are often found in compound with their nouns. In such cases, I note that they often follow the noun—such as in Lonshitox (His Power) and Elzap-tilb (Her Course).

Non-possessive adjectives are even more uncommon in the Angelical text of the Keys. When they are used, they typically follow the rule of English—falling immediately before the noun they indicate, and not usually compounded with it. Some examples are Vohim Gizyax (Mighty Earthquakes) and Adphaht Damploz (Unspeakable Variety).

On the other hand, most of the poetic adjectives we see in the English translations are not implied in the essential definitions of the Angelical words—such as Orri (Barren Stone), Grosb (Bitter Sting), or Sapah (Mighty Sounds), all of which are nouns that show no linguistic indication of their adjectives. It would appear that adjectives in such cases are left entirely up to the author, or reader, of the text.

Another rarity in Angelical is the use of prepositions (at, on, in, for). We already know that there may be an affix to indicate “of” (-o). There is also one instance of the word De (of) that stands alone in the Keys. Plus the following prepositions are found here and there throughout the Keys:

Aai, Aaf, Aaiom, Aao (Amongst)	Mirc (Upon)
Aspt (Before)	Nothoa (Amidst)
“ Azia ” (Like unto)	Oroch (Under)
Oq (Except/ But)	Pambt (Unto)
Bagle (For) ⁶	Tia (Unto)
De (Of)	Zomdux (Amidst)
Pugo (As Unto)	Zylna (Within)
Vors, Vorsg (Over)

All of this indicates that prepositions exist to some extent in Angelical, but they are not often used unless context makes them unavoidable.

Meanwhile, I have discovered that articles (a, an, the) are not used in Angelical at all. Articles are implied entirely by the context of the sentence. This trait is also common to many historical languages, such as Latin.

I have also found that grammatical case does not often apply to Angelical. In modern English, the case of a noun or pronoun can be subjective (he), objective (him), or possessive (his). In Angelical, much as with conjugation, there do appear to be some examples of spelling changes from one case to another. (See the list of pronouns at the beginning of this section.) However, there is no indication these changes have anything at all to do with case.

Meanwhile, there are several examples of vocative case in the Angelical tongue. A noun takes the vocative case when it indicates someone being addressed. For example, in the phrase “Open the door, John,” the word John is vocative. The sentence does not need the addition of John in order to be complete, but we include it to specify that John is being addressed. Of course, there is no vocative case in English—so we do not see any spelling change to the word John when used vocatively.

However, some older languages such as Latin do utilize a vocative case. The most famous example comes from Shakespeare’s play Julius Caesar, during the scene in which Caesar’s best friend Brutus stabs him in the back. After the assault, Caesar turns to Brutus and says, “Et tu, Brute?”⁷ Brute is the vocative case of the name Brutus.

The first example of the vocative case in Angelical is found within the First Table of Loagaeth, where we find the word Befas.⁸ It would appear this word aroused the curiosity of Dee and/or Kelley, because it is similar to the name of a Heptarchic Angel the men had already met: Befafes—the Angelic Prince of Tuesday. In the margin, Dee makes the following notation:

Befes the vocative case of Befafes. [Five Books of Mystery, p. 310]

Therefore, we know that someone in the text of the First Table of Loagaeth (presumably the Creator) is directly addressing Befafes for some reason—and the vocative case alters Befafes to Befes.

The second example of vocative case appears in A True and Faithful Relation, while Dee and Kelley are having a conversation with the Heptarchic Angel Madimi. The Angel suddenly halts the discussion to say:

Carma geta, Barman. [A True and Faithful Relation, p. 32]

When Dee asked Madimi what this phrase meant, she translated it as “Come out of there, Barma.” Barma turned out to be the name of a spirit inhabiting Kelley, which Madimi proceeded to exorcise. The form Barman, then, is a vocative case of Barma.

Finally, there may be a third example of vocative case—also found in the First Table of Loagaeth—in the word Bobogelzod. This word certainly appears to have some relationship with the Heptarchic King of Sunday Bobogel—and could very well represent a vocative case of his name.

Thus, we know that Angelical makes use of the vocative case. We do not know, however, what rules govern the spelling changes.

Phonetic Glosses

Note: Throughout the remainder of this chapter, I will illustrate some pronunciations according to a key found on page 95 of this volume as well as with the Angelical Psalter in volume I. You can also find a chart illustrating the Angelical characters on page 106 of this volume.

It is vital to remember that Dee was not recording the words in Angelical characters. Kelley spoke the language fluently while in his trance state, and Dee merely wrote down in English letters what he heard. I have no doubt that many of the words recorded by Dee are exact in their Angelical spelling—meaning we could take the English letters and transliterate them directly into Angelical. However, there are many examples of words that have “phonetic glosses.” This is what I call spelling “peculiarities” that appear in different instances of the same word—which are apparently intended to give us pronunciation cues.

Take, for example, the word Crip (But), which appears without the i in the compound Crpl (But One). Therefore, the i likely does not represent an Angelical character in this word—leaving only Crp (But). The shortest and most radical⁹ version of the word should be the “correct” spelling. What we have in Crip is a phonetic gloss—letting us know that Crp is pronounced “krip” rather than “kurp.”

There is also the element Purg (Flames), which appears in such words as Ialpurg (Burning Flames) and Malpurg (Fiery Darts). Yet these same words appear elsewhere as Ialprg (Burning Flame) and Malprg (Through-thrusting Fire). Therefore, Prg and Purg are likely the same word with the same Angelical spelling. The extra u is merely a phonetic gloss, telling us where to place the vowel sound. Elsewhere, we even see the word Prge (Fire)—yet another phonetic gloss, adding the e to tell us the g is a soft “juh” sound. All of these clues suggest the true pronunciation of the Angelical word Prg is identical to the English word purge. However, the word is probably spelled Prg.

Compounds are not the only places we can look for phonetic glosses. Several words that stand alone in the Keys appear more than once with different spellings. For example, consider the word Abramig (Prepared). This word appears only once in this form. Meanwhile, it appears in three other places in the Keys in the form of Abramg—twice standing alone and once in a compound. Therefore, we might suspect that Abramg is the radical spelling of this word. The extra i in Abramig merely tells us where to place the vowel sound (“ay-bray-mig” rather than “ay-bram-jee”).

Another good example is the word NA—which appears in the Five Books and the Book of Loagaeth as a Name of God. We might assume this word is pronounced “nah” or “nay.” However, in the Keys we can find the same word written phonetically as Enay (Lord). Thus, we know the proper pronunciation of NA is “en-ay,” and it should be spelled with only two letters.

As further examples, we can compare the following words:

F (Visit)	-	Ef (Visit)
L (First)	-	El (First)
S (Fourth)	-	“ Es ” (Fourth)

The added E in each case is apparently a phonetic gloss—once again showing us where to place the vowel sound in the pronunciation of the words.

Further phonetic glosses seem to be associated with the Angelical digraphs—although the subject is fairly uncertain. In ancient languages (at least, those that possessed an alphabet), digraphs are usually indicated by a single character. For example, the Hebrew letter Peh represents the sounds of both “P” and “Ph.” The letter Tau represents both “T” and “Th.” Likewise, there are several examples of this in Angelical:

Cnoqod is pronounced “see-noh-kwod” (Q = Qu)

(Also see: Cnoquod)

Cormp is pronounced “kormf” (P = Ph)

(Also see: Cormf)

Lonsa is pronounced “lon-sha” (S = Sh)

(Also see: Lansh)

Noncp is pronounced “non-sef” (P = Ph)

(Also see: Noncf)

Sapa is pronounced “say-fa” (P = Ph)

Telocvovim is pronounced “tee-loch-voh-vec-im” (C = Ch)

(Also see: Teloch)

Vonpo is pronounced “von-foh” (P = Ph)

(Also see: Vonpho)

The above is fairly convincing evidence that Angelical digraphs are indeed represented by single letters. That would mean that the secondary letters in these digraphs (the h in Ph and Ch, the u in Qu, etc.) are merely phonetic glosses, and should not be included when the words are spelled in Angelical characters.

However, there also exist counterexamples in Dee’s journals. The very first word of the Holy Book of Loagaeth (Table One, side A) was originally recorded by Dee as Zuresk. Later, Raphael corrected this by telling Dee the word must contain seven letters—Zuresch. (The ch taking its hard sound, as in the English words ache or chrome.) Because of this correction, we know the Ch digraph is—in this case—actually written with two letters instead of just one.

If we continue to look through the first few lines of Loagaeth (which Raphael spelled out in Angelical character by character)¹⁰, we find several further examples of two-character digraphs as well.

Another good counterexample is the word Hoath at the end of the first Angelical Key. I included the transmission of this word in volume 1, chapter 3 (in the section “Dee Suspected of Cryptography?”), where Nalvage was still associating numbers with each letter of the words.

There we can see undeniably that Nalvage transmitted both a t and an h for Hoath, and gave a number to each letter. Therefore, once again we can see an Angelical digraph represented with two letters as in modern English.

Thus, we are left with several examples of one-character digraphs and several examples of two-character digraphs. That leaves us with a large number of two-character digraphs in Dee's records that give no clue to their proper Angelical-character spelling. Was Dee writing these words in transliteration (letter for letter) or phonetically? Where no such clues exist, I have recorded the digraphs in the Lexicon in Angelical characters just as Dee recorded them in English. Yet there remains some room for debate on the issue.

As a final entry in this section, I would like to mention a short phonetic note that Dee recorded in his journal for a word in the Book of Loagaeth. For Table One, side A, line 23, Dee recorded the word Au. In the margin, he noted "au sounds af." It might seem that Dee was indicating that the u could sound like an f. However, it is more likely that he was indicating a "v" sound for this word—so that Au is actually Av. In the written English of Dee's time, u and v were essentially the same letter. So Dee would have had to utilize the f as a kind of phonetic gloss, to approximate the phonetic sound of v.

Early Modern English and Angelical

Before we continue discussing the pronunciation of Angelical, we must first consider a few points about the English used by Dee to record the words. As mentioned previously, Kelley spoke the Angelical words aloud while Dee recorded them in English characters. (He also added marginal notes with phonetic pronunciation clues.) These words and notes are all recorded in—and represent sounds familiar to—Elizabethan English. A little study into this vernacular will make sense of many of Dee's seemingly inexplicable phonetic notes.

Dee lived from 1527 until 1608 CE, making him a contemporary of people such as William Shakespeare (1564-1616), Edmund Spenser (1552–99), and Francis Bacon (1561–1626). These men all spoke “Elizabethan” English, albeit with different regional dialects. (Queen Elizabeth I reigned from 1558 until 1603.) As any Enochian scholar can tell you, reading Dee’s journals is a challenge similar to reading Shakespeare’s plays or King James’ (1566–1625) authorized Bible. (Remember that the quotes you read throughout this book have had their spelling modernized.) Therefore, a study of Shakespeare’s English is necessary if one wishes to estimate the sound of the Angelical language recorded by Dee.

Contrary to what some people may believe, the English spoken by Dee and Shakespeare was not Old English or Middle English. It was, in fact, a form of English called Early Modern English. This stage of the language existed roughly between the late 1400s and the late 1600s.¹¹ In other words, it was the standard version of the language during the Renaissance era in England. It was not spoken with the “Queen’s English” accent we currently associate with the British upper class and royalty. Nor was it the Cockney dialect we associate with the working class in London’s East End.¹² These accents did not originate (as we know them) until the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries.

Those who study Shakespearean phonetics commonly suggest that spoken Early Modern English sounded more like the “hillbilly” accent found in the Appalachian regions of the eastern United States. That is because the ancestors of so many of the people who live in Appalachia migrated from England when Early Modern English was prevalent, and then settled into isolated communities. Their language therefore remained unchanged for hundreds of years, and it currently contains the most similarities with Early Modern English. Of course I am not suggesting that we read the Angelical Keys in the voice of Jed Clampett. It is important, however, to place the phonetic sounds we are going to explore in their proper context.

Early Modern English is a transitional stage of the language between Middle English and what we speak today (present-day English). It retained some of the spelling conventions of Middle English, but had shifted to a pronunciation more familiar to the present day. That, in fact, is why Early Modern English so often confuses modern students. We can listen to plays by Shakespeare and—for the most part—understand what we are hearing. There may be puns or catchphrases we don't recognize, and there are a few words that have changed in meaning, but the words still sound basically like present-day English.

However, when we try to read the same material, there are some glaring departures from what we learned about English in school. These departures are partially thanks to the Middle English spelling conventions that had not yet passed out of the system by the time of Shakespeare and Dee.

Further departures and confusion arise from the fact that English had not been standardized during the Early Modern English phase.¹³ The “educated” languages such as Latin had reached a standard, but English had not. Just as the definitions of the words were somewhat fluid, so were the spellings. Most words were spelled according to how they sounded to the author (a factor that could vary widely from region to region), or according to how the author believed they “should” be spelled. The rules were so fluid that the same word might be spelled in different ways within the same text. (Of course, we have already discovered this within Dee’s record of the forty-eight Keys.)

Thankfully, there is a brighter side to Early Modern English as well. Most of the grammatical rules you learned in school—and take for granted to this very day—apply to Dee’s English. (That is why the language sounds similar to our own when spoken.)

For the most part, the consonants in Early Modern English sounded pretty much the way we use them today. A g before an e or i generally had the soft “juh” sound (as in general, budge, and giant), but otherwise a g took the hard sound (as in grand, glad, and haggard). The letter r probably sounded longer and more drawn out than present-day English. For example, the name Henry has three syllables in Early Modern English. So does the word angry.¹⁴ The letter *z*¹⁵ was rare, but was used by Dee and Kelley as we use it today (as in zest, zip, and sizzle). The letter x took the sound of “ks” in the middle or at the end of a word (as in excite, taxes, and fox), but the sound of “zee” or “tz” at the beginning (as in xylophone and xenophobe).

Most of the digraphs are familiar: Th (as in this, that), Sh (as in sheet, dish), Ph (as in phantasm, phone), and so on. The digraph Ch also existed—sometimes representing the “tch” sound (as in church, chain), and other times a guttural “kh” sound (as in ache, chrome, and chronicle). Kn had finally developed the “nh” sound we know today (as in knight, knife). Early Modern English also recognized the rare Gn digraph as a throaty “nh” sound (as in gnat, gnaw, and gnarl).

Therefore, if you are a native English speaker, you can read the Angelical Keys pretty much as they appear. You can most often go with your gut reaction on how the letter combinations of the words should sound.

Most of the differences between Early Modern and present-day English appear where vowel sounds are concerned. Of course, most of the grammatical rules are still the same as we know them. For instance, an e following a consonant at the end of a word will become silent, and make the preceding vowel long (as in bake, precede, pipe, hope, and duke).

However, as we shall see, the written form of Early Modern English used many peculiar letter combinations to represent the vowel sounds—many of them left over from the more archaic spellings of Middle English. I would like to highlight a couple of points that most often result in confusion for students:

First, written Early Modern English used the letters i, y, and j interchangeably. The basic rule was that i/y represented the vowel sounds, while j (actually an elongated i) represented the consonant sound.

I/y could be used at the beginning or end of a word—making the sounds of “yuh” at the beginning (as in yard, your, and yellow) and “ee” at the end (as in lady, windy). Sometimes, an i/y at the end of a word could have the long “eye” sound (as in sty, ply, and sky). If it follows an a, it makes that vowel long (as in day, stay, and dais). In the middle of a word, i possessed its typical short sounds (as in bit, sit, and whither) or long sounds (as in bite, kite, blight, and sight).

Meanwhile, either the letter i or its elongated j version could appear in a word with the consonant “juh” sound.¹⁶ It might appear at the start of a word (as in justice, jump, and John)¹⁷ or in the middle (as in adjust, object, and majestic). Finally, as if to confuse matters further, the “juh” sound could also be represented by a g (as in danger, sage, and range).

The next common point of confusion, for modern students, is between the letters u and v. These letters were also interchangeable in Early Modern English, and might indicate either a vowel or a consonant sound.

If the letter was used at the beginning of a word, it was always written as v. It might take the consonant “vuh” sound if preceding a vowel (as in very, visit, and vast). Or, it might take the vowel sound if preceding a consonant: either the long “yew” sound (as in vtopia, vtilize, and vseful),¹⁸ or the short “uh” sound (as in vp, vtmost, and vsher).¹⁹

The u form of the letter could be used anywhere else in the word. Whether it took the vowel or consonant sound was the same as for the letter v. It could take the consonant sound if it preceded a vowel (as in sauage, saue, and David).²⁰ Or, it could take the vowel sound if it preceded a consonant (as in mud, scrub, and button).²¹

I should also point out that the letter w was fairly rare. It was more often written like a literal double u (or v)—uu or vv.

On the following pages, you will find reference charts for Early Modern English phonetics, which can be applied to Angelical words, as well as the pronunciation notes Dee left in his records. It is not an ultimate guide to proper Angelical pronunciation (as we shall see later, there are also several Middle English influences upon Angelical), but it gives us a much clearer picture than systems based upon Hebrew or other phonologies.

When you encounter an Angelical word with an obscure spelling—or one of Dee’s seemingly inexplicable phonetic notes—simply look for that word’s letter combinations in the right-hand column of these charts. The left-hand column will indicate the sound likely made by those letters in Angelical (and Early Modern English):

Early Modern English Phonetics Chart²²

(for Angelical Pronunciation)

Consonant Sounds
Phonetic Sound (as in)	Letter Combinations in Early Modern English
B (boat, clobber)	b, bb
D (dive, ladder)	d, dd
F (fan, rough, phone)	f, ff, gh, ph
G (guard, giggle)	g, gg
H (house, hover, who)	h, wh
J (budge, jump, adjust, magic)	dg, dge, j, i, d, di, dj, g
K (cake, back, chrome)	k, kk, c, cc, ck, ch
L (land, spill, will)	l, ll
M (metal, mammal)	m, mm
N (name, manner, knight, gnome)	n, nn, kn, gn
P (pine, speck, puppet)	p, pp
R (road, serrate, write)	r, rr, wr
S (save, bless, cereal)	s, ss, c
T (Table, little, lottery)	t, tt
W (water, work, what)	uu, vv, w, wh
X (except, flax, excite)	x
Y (yes, yellow, your)	y, i
Z (zoo, haze, blizzard, xylophone)	s, z, zz, (very rarely: x)

Vowel Sounds
Phonetic Sound (as in)	Letter Combinations in Early Modern English
A – long (date, day, eight, whey)	a, aa, ai, ay, ei, ey, (maybe: eh)
A – short (bat, cat, apple)	a, æ ²³
E – long (beet, heat, believe, only)	e, ee, ea, ie, y, æ ²⁴
E – short (fed, bed, head, dead)	e, ea
E – silent (taste, hope, wage)	e
I – long (i, bite, blight, style, height)	i, igh, ai, y, ei, ye
I – short (bit, cliff, miss, pen)	i, j, e
O – long (oar, bone, although)	o, oo, ou, ov, ow, oa, ough, ovgh
O – short (hot, tall, father, auburn)	o, a, au, av, aw, augh, avgh, ough, ovgh
U – long (root, through, brute)	o, u, v, ou, ov, oo, ough, ovgh, eu, ew
U – short (cup, of)	u, v, o

Digraphs
Phonetic Sound (as in)	Letter Combinations in Early Modern English
“Kwuh” (queen, quick)	qu
“Ow” (out, drought, house, town)	ou, ov, ow, ough, ovgh
“Oy” (oil, boy)	oi, oy
“Shuh” (shine, shower, wish)	sh
“Tch” (chase, church, witch)	ch, t, c, cch, tch
“Thuh” (that, whither, thorn)	th, (very rarely: y) ²⁵

Take note that several of the above letter combinations appear more than once. For example, the combination ough appears under four different headings, because it might indicate any of the following sounds:

Long o (as in although, dough)

Short o (as in thought, cough)

Long u (as in enough, rough, tough)

digraph ow (as in drought, bough)

This means that—just as with Early Modern English itself—there will always be some ambiguity in the pronunciation of Angelical words. However, at the very least, this information will allow us to make educated guesses rather than engaging in blind speculation based upon present-day English, Hebrew, or other languages.

Middle English and Angelical

Having said the above about Early Modern English, I feel it is necessary to add a few words about Middle English and its influence on the Angelical language.

Dee may have been writing his notes in his own contemporary English; however, we must keep in mind that he was receiving a sacred magickal language from the Angels, which they claimed was an ancient proto-tongue. This is not uncommon for magickal languages, most of which are archaic in some form. For example, the priests of ancient Babylon made use of the older Sumerian language in their rites. In Dee's time, dead languages like Latin and Hebrew (the latter was solely a liturgical language in Dee's time) were the standard mystery languages. Therefore, it is no surprise that Angelical would have also had an archaic sound to the ears of Dee and Kelley. That is where Middle English comes into the picture.

Middle English was the language used by Chaucer to write his Canterbury Tales. One of the best-known traits of Middle English was the manner in which it tended to pronounce most of the letters in each word—so the vowels were clearly pronounced. As the English language drifted toward its Early Modern phase, the syllables began to blend together into the sounds we are familiar with today.

By taking Dee's phonetic clues into account, I have discovered a general "Middle English" trait throughout Angelical. This is especially applicable to vowels or groups of consonants. For example, all the vowels in the word Aai are sounded ("ay-ay-ii"). In the word Balye, the a, y, and e are all sounded distinctly ("bay-lii-ee"). The word Momao follows the same rule—with the a and both o's sounded distinctly ("moh-may-oh").

For consonants, we can look at the final m in Mapm, which sounds alone (“map-em”). Or the initial L in Lring, which also makes its own sound (“el-ring”). Another example is the word Zlida, where the initial Z stands alone (“zohd-lida”).

I could give dozens of examples of this convention, but I think these should suffice as an illustration. This in no way means that every letter in every Angelical word should be pronounced! However, the convention appears often enough to give the language a slightly “Middle English” flavor. In this way, the Angelical tongue would have sounded archaic to Dee and Kelley—thus fulfilling the “requirement” for a magickal language.

General Notes on Angelical Phonology

This section is where I have gathered all of my notes on the phonology of the Angelical language. They are taken from everything we have seen in this chapter so far, as well as Dee’s own pronunciation notes. (See the Lexicon for more on Dee’s notes.) What you see below can be applied directly to the Angelical words, as Dee recorded them, and which you will find in the Lexicon.

Vowels

Pronouncing the vowels in the Angelical tongue does not present much of a problem. As we shall see in the Lexicon, a vowel will usually take its short sound when it is followed by a consonant in its syllable. For some examples, see Lap, Iad, and Zir. However, when a vowel is attached to the preceding consonant (i.e., it stands at the end of its syllable), or when it stands alone in a syllable, it takes its long sound. For examples of this, see Momao, Napeai, and Paradial. Dee’s phonetic notes—which we shall see in the Lexicon—usually divide the words by syllables, thus indicating to which consonant (if any) each vowel is attached.

Consonants

Of course, it is the consonants that cause most students (and adepts!) to stumble with Angelical pronunciation. While the consonants generally make the sounds we are familiar with, there are several words that contain peculiar groupings of consonants that make little or no phonetic sense to modern English-speaking readers. There are certain grammatical rules one must learn to make sense of it all:

When two consonants are placed together, they can:

- 1) Make a digraph as they would in present-day English (Ph, Ch, Th, Qu, etc.), as in Dorpha, Ethamz, Chis, Teloch, and Norquasahi. Or they can:
- 2) Make a new consonant sound as they would in present-day English (Gr, Tr, Gn, etc.), as in Grosb, Trian, Gnay, etc.

However, if neither of the above apply (as in Nazpsad, Farzm, Zchis), then:

- 3) The “peculiar” consonant letter is pronounced as a syllable unto itself, after the manner of Middle English. By “peculiar,” I mean the consonant in the cluster that stands as the “odd man out.” For instance, in the cluster gsp, we find that the letters sp naturally form a sound together (as in spot or speak). Meanwhile, the letters gs do not make a natural sound in English. Therefore, that g is the peculiar one in the group—and it is pronounced by itself, in its own syllable.

In Angelical, a letter standing alone in a syllable is not pronounced phonetically. To continue our gsp example, the g would take neither its hard sound (“guh”—as in game or good) nor its soft sound (“juh”—as in giant or huge). Instead, one would actually pronounce the letter’s name—sounding like “gee.”

Let’s take a look at some examples in Angelical: the word Nazpsad is pronounced “nayz-pee-sad.” The central p stands out in this case as the peculiar consonant, and is therefore pronounced as “pee.” The word Farzm is pronounced “farz-em.” The final zm does not combine naturally in English, and the m is pronounced by itself as “em.” As a final example, the word Zchis is pronounced “zohd-kiis.” The initial letters Zch do not combine, therefore the Z is pronounced as “zohd.” In each case, the peculiar consonant stands alone as its own syllable.

I admit it seems odd that Angelical consonants should sound like the names of English letters. (After all, they have their own Angelical names!) However, notice that long vowels also sound like their English names (long a = “ay,” long e = “ee,” long o = “oh,” etc.)—and any Angelical vowel that stands alone in a syllable takes the long sound. It would appear, then, that the same principle is applied to Angelical consonants when they stand alone. That is to say, Angelical recognizes “long consonants.” Just as a long Un (A) sounds like “ay,” so a long (or extended) Tal (M) sounds like “em.”

While we are still on the subject of “long consonants,” I should mention that the letter Ceph (Z) sometimes takes its long sound (“zohd”) for no apparent reason. For example, when the Angel Nalvage transmitted the Corpus Omnium to Dee and Kelley, he informed them that the word Moz could be pronounced “moz” or “moz-ohd.” The shorter pronunciation indicates “Joy,” while the pronunciation with the extended Z (“zohd”) indicates “Joy of God.”

As we can see, there is no grammatical reason why the z in Moz should be extended. The same is true for the word Zacar (zay-kayr)—which appears in the forty-eight Keys several times with the extended Z (zohd-ay-kayr). My best guess is that this is not based upon a grammatical rule at all. Perhaps, instead, it is merely a poetic (or lyrical) gloss—after the manner in which a singer will elongate or add syllables to a word in a song to fill metre or emphasize emotion. This is suggested by the difference between “moz” as “Joy” and “moz-ohd” as “Joy of God.”

Special Cases

Another quirk of the letter Ceph (Z) is that it is sometimes interchangeable with Pal (X). This is perhaps because z was somewhat rare in the Elizabethan era, and x more often served for the “z” sound (as in xenophile or xylophone). We see evidence of this in the Book of Loagaeth, where the Angelical letter-name Drux (N) is given the alternate spelling of Druz in the margin.²⁶

The letter Don (R) is another Angelical character of interest. When the letter r becomes the peculiar consonant in a cluster, it is neither pronounced “ar” (the long consonant sound) nor given its own syllable. Instead, it is merely pronounced “ur” (as in the English words turn or spur)—so that it combines with the consonant before it. For example, see Prdzar (“purd-zar”), Prge (“purj”), and Dialprt (“dii-al-purt”).

There is one final special case I want to record here. In his journals, Dee established that the word Battle was pronounced “bal-tayl” (the first syllable rhyming with ball and the second with tail).² I found the pronunciation of the three-letter cluster in the second syllable—tle—very odd. I decided to investigate further by searching for other words ending in le, and found Bagle and Cicle. As you will see in the Lexicon, Dee’s notes on these words are less than helpful. I find it likely that each of these words should end with the sound of “ayl” (as in the English words bail or tail). In fact, I suspect that any time we see le as the final two letters of a three-consonant cluster, they will have the “ayl” sound.

Endnotes

1. The Archangel Raphael says of the first Table: “Let this lesson instruct thee to read all that shall be gathered out of this book hereafter. . . . It shall be sufficient to instruct thee.” [Five Books of Mystery, p. 291]
2. See the introduction to Laycock’s The Complete Enochian Dictionary.
3. All of these are included in the Lexicon.
4. It does, however, appear in Loagaeth—although without definition. I note it is very similar to the Hebrew word Iah or Yah (God).
5. See the introduction to Laycock’s The Complete Enochian Dictionary.
6. Bagle appears elsewhere as a form of because.
7. “And you, Brutus?”
8. Table One, side A, line 21
9. Radical, used in this sense, means “root” or “smallest unit.”
10. See John Dee’s Five Books of Mystery, pp. 288–95.
11. After what linguists refer to as the “Great Vowel Shift.” The main difference between Middle English and Modern English is the pronunciation of the vowels.
12. Think of Eliza Doolittle in the play My Fair Lady: “The rine in spine styes minely on th’ pline!”
13. The first English dictionary was not published in London until 1604.
14. Based on Shakespearean phonetics
15. Called Zed, Ezod, Zod, and sometimes Izzard.
16. Present-day English entirely dropped the use of ɹ for the consonant sound.
17. Or: iustice, ump, lohann.
18. Which we write today as utopia, utilize, useful.
19. That is, up, utmost, usher.
20. That is, savage, save, David.

21. In the Lexicon, I have sometimes modernized the usage of u and v in order to make the words more comprehensible to the modern eye. For instance, the word Zomdux (Amidst) appears in Dee's journals as Zomdux.
22. Do not confuse this chart with my own phonetic Angelical pronunciation guide and notes found in the Lexicon and Angelical Psalter.
23. This character – which appears as a combination of a and e – or Ea – is called an "ash." Sometimes it has the short "a" sound, as in ash, apple, ask, and sometimes it has a long "e" sound: ether, con.
24. See the previous footnote.
25. In Old and Middle English, the letter y could often indicate the Th digraph. This is where we get words like ye that are pronounced "thee." This convention was formally dropped from Early Modern English, although some authors in Shakespeare's time still used it. I doubt, however, that it applies to any Angelical words, as Dee seems to have regularly used y to indicate the "yuh" sound.
26. See the Five Books of Mystery, p. 291, footnote 136, and Loagaeth, Table One, side A, line 1.
27. See the entry for Baltle in the Lexicon.

Chapter 2

The Forty-Eight Angelical Keys: A Cross-Reference

In order to create the Angelical Lexicon, it was first necessary to create this cross-reference, which contains the entire text of the forty-eight Keys—with the words arranged into columns and categorized by cross-reference numbers. The numbers are then used throughout the Lexicon to indicate in which Key, and where in the Key, any Angelical word can be found.

Dee left two manuscripts containing the forty-eight Keys: The first is his personal Angelical journal, where he recorded Nalvage's transmission of the Keys.¹ The other is a text called the 48 Claves Angelicae—which is part of a grimoire Dee created separately from his journals, containing the major points of his Angelic magick.² The words of the Keys in the 48 Claves have some differences from those in Dee's private records. I assume the differences are corrections Dee made between recording the words in his journal and recopying them into his grimoire.

Students might notice that the Keys in my cross-reference do not match the same Keys in The Enochian Magick of Dr. John Dee by Geoffrey James, in The Complete Enochian Dictionary by Donald Laycock, and in other sources. While these books are legendary, and were instrumental in my own study of the Angelical language, I ultimately discovered conflicts between their work and Dee's journals.³

Therefore, the text in my cross-reference represents my own analysis of the Keys and their grammatical structure –drawn first from A True and Faithful Relation, and secondarily from Dee’s 48 Claves Angelicae. I have striven to preserve the text as received by Dee and Kelley, rather than force it to match my own ideas of what it “should” look like. Where I have encountered ambiguities in Dee’s journals or doubt in my own work, I have used the 48 Claves Angelicae as Dee’s final say on the matter.

The following presentation of the Angelical Keys is divided into four columns:

First Column: Cross-Reference Numbers

In The Enochian Magic of Dr. John Dee, Geoffrey James introduced a cross-reference numbering system for the Angelical Keys, which seems to have become somewhat traditional among “Enochian” scholars. Although my presentation of the Keys differs from James’, I have chosen to retain the same style of cross-referencing. (Note: The Call of the Aethyrs is really the nineteenth in the series. However, again following tradition, I have used “30” for its reference number because the Call actually represents thirty Keys.)

Every word of the Keys has been assigned a number to designate its location. For instance, the fifth word of the twelfth Key is numbered 12.5. We can, then, easily reference the Keys in this cross-reference to see that word 12.5 is Chis (Are). These numbers are then used throughout the Lexicon to indicate the locations of the words in the Keys. Therefore, if we look up the word Chis in the Lexicon, we can easily discover the locations of every appearance (or version) of that word in the Keys.

Second Column: Angelical Words

These are the actual Angelical words as recorded by Dee in his journals, or in his 48 Claves Angelicae.

Any corrections I have made to this text are indicated with footnotes. Also, you will note some instances of a hyphenated z- in this column. This indicates places where the Angels appear to have given the full "zohd" (or "zed") pronunciation of the letter z. For example, the word Zchis (They Are) is pronounced "zohd-kiis," and is written in column 2 as "Z-chis."

Third Column: "English Senses"

This column contains the poetic translations of the Angelical words from column 2. These are also found in Dee's journals or the 48 Claves Angelicae.

Because the poetry of the Calls was written during the time of King James and Shakespeare, I have found it necessary to modernize the text in some places. (See my analysis of the poetry of the Keys in volume I, chapter 3.) Any additions I have included in the text are contained in parentheses. Footnotes will indicate other thoughts, changes, corrections, and so forth.

Fourth Column: Literal Translations

This column is entirely new to the study of the Angelical Keys. As we have seen in the last chapter, many aspects of grammar (such as pronouns and articles) are rare or absent from Angelical. In order to illustrate this, column 4 presents the forty-eight Keys in their literal translation. This will show us these missing aspects of grammar at a glance, and can teach us much about how Angelical actually works from a linguistic point of view.

Note that some words appear in this column within quotation marks. These are words that appear strikingly different from the "English senses," and are fully explained in the Lexicon.

Key One
1.1	Ol	I	I
1.2	sonf	reign	"to reign"
1.3	vorsg	over you	over (you)
1.4	goho	sayeth	"to say"
1.5	lad	the God of	God
1.6	Balt	Justice	justice
1.7	lansh	in power exalted above	"exalted power"
1.8	calz	the firmaments	firmaments (heavens)
1.9	vonpho	of wrath:	of wrath
1.10	sobra	in whose	whose
1.11	z-ol	hands	hands
1.12	ror	the Sun	Sun
1.13	i	is	is
1.14	ta	as	as
1.15	nazpsad	a sword	sword
1.16	graa	and the Moon	Moon
1.17	ta	as	as
1.18	malprg	a through-thrusting fire:	"Fiery Arrow"
1.19	ds	which	which
1.20	holq	measureth	"to measure"
1.21	qaa	your garments	"created form"
1.22	nothoa	in the midst of	amidst
1.23	zimz	my vestures	vestures
1.24	od	and	and
1.25	commah	trussed you together	"to truss together"
1.26	ta	as	as
1.27	nobloh	the palms of	palms
1.28	zien	my hands:	hands
1.29	soba	Whose	whose
1.30	thil	seats	seats

1.31	gnonp	I garnished with	garnished
1.32	prge	the fire of	fire
1.33	aldi	gathering	gathering
1.34	ds	and (which)	which
1.35	urbs	beautified	"to beautify"
1.36	oboleh	your garments	garments
1.37	grsarn	with admiration,	admiration
1.38	casarm	to whom	whom
1.39	ohorela	I made a law	"legislate"
1.40	caba	to govern	to govern
1.41	pir	the holy ones,	holy ones
1.42	ds	and (which)	which
1.43	zonrensg	delivered you	"to deliver"
1.44	cab	a rod	rod
1.45	erm	(along with) the ark of	ark
1.46	iadnah	knowledge.	knowledge
1.47	pilah	Moreover,	moreover
1.48	farzm	you lifted up your voices	"to speak up"
1.49	znrza	and swore	"to swear"
1.50	adna	obedience	obedience
1.51	gono	and faith	faith
1.52	iadpil	to Him	(unto) Him
1.53	ds	that	that
1.54	hom	liveth	"to live"
1.55	toh	and triumpheth	"to triumph"
1.56	soba	whose	whose
1.57	ipam	beginning is not	"is not" ¹
1.58	ul	nor end	end
1.59	ipamis	cannot be,	cannot be
1.60	ds	which	which
1.61	loholo	shineth as	"to shine"
1.62	vcp	a flame	flame

1.63	zomdux	in the midst of	"amidst"
1.64	poamal	your palace	palace
1.65	od	and	and
1.66	bogpa	reigneth	"to reign"
1.67	aai	amongst you	amongst (you)
1.68	ta	as	as
1.69	piap	the balance of	balance
1.70	baltle	righteousness	righteousness
1.71	od	and	and
1.72	vaoan · vooan	truth.	truth
1.73	zacar	Move,	move
1.74	ca	therefore,	therefore
1.75	od	and	and
1.76	zamran	show yourselves:	"to appear"
1.77	odo	open	"to open"
1.78	cicle	the mysteries of	mysteries
1.79	qaa	your creation:	creation
1.80	zorge	Be friendly unto me:	be friendly unto me
1.81	lap	For	for
1.82	zirdo	I am	(I) am
1.83	noco	a servant of	servant
1.84	mad	the same your God:	god
1.85	hoath	the true worshipper of	true worshiper
1.86	iaida	the Highest.	The Highest

Key Two
2.1	Adgt	Can	Can
2.2	upaah	the wings of	wings
2.3	zong	the winds	winds
2.4	om	understand	"to understand"
2.5	faaip	your voices of	"voicings" (songs)
2.6	sald	wonder	wonder
2.7	viiv	o you the second of	second
2.8	L	the First,	First
2.9	sobam	whom	whom
2.10	ialpurg	the burning flames	burning flames
2.11	izazaz	have framed within	"to frame"
2.12	piadph	the depths of my jaws	"my gut"
2.13	casarma	whom	whom
2.14	abramg	I have prepared	"to prepare"
2.15	ta	as	as
2.16	talho	cups	cups
2.17	paracleda	for a wedding	wedding
2.18	qta	or as	or as
2.19	lorslq	the flowers	flowers
2.20	turbs	in their beauty	(in) beauty
2.21	ooge	for the chamber	chamber
2.22	baltoh	of righteousness.	righteousness
2.23	givi	Stronger	stronger
2.24	chis	are	are
2.25	lud	your feet	feet
2.26	orri	than the barren stone:	(barren) stone
2.27	od	And	and
2.28	micalp	mightier	mightier
2.29	chis	are	are
2.30	bia	your voices	voices
2.31	ozongon	than the manifold winds.	manifold winds

2.32	lap	For	fôr
2.33	noan	you are become	"have become"
2.34	trof	a building	a building
2.35	cors	such	such
2.36	tage	as is not	as (is) not
2.37	oq	but	but
2.38	manin	in the mind of	mind
2.39	iaidon	the All Powerful.	the All Powerful
2.40	torzu	Arise	arise
2.41	gohel	sayeth the First.	sayeth the First
2.42	zacar	Move	move
2.43	ca	therefore	therefore
2.44	cnoqod	unto His servants.	(unto) servants
2.45	zamran	Show yourselves	"to appear"
2.46	micalzo	in power	power
2.47	od	and	and
2.48	ozazm	make (for) me	make (me)
2.49	urelp	a strong seething	seething
2.50	lap	for	fôr
2.51	zir	I am of	am
2.52	loiad	Him that liveth forever.	Him That Liveth Forever

Key Three
3.1	Micma	Behold	behold
3.2	goho	sayeth	"to say"
3.3	piad	your God	(your) God
3.4	zir	I am	(I) am
3.5	comselh	a Circle	circle
3.6	azien	on whose hands	hands
3.7	biab	stand	"to stand"
3.8	oslundoh	12 Kingdoms.	12 kingdoms
3.9	norz	Six	six
3.10	chis	are	are
3.11	othil	the seats of	seats of
3.12	gigipah	living breath	living breath
3.13	undl	the rest	the rest
3.14	chis	are	are
3.15	tapuin	as sharp sickles:	as (sharp) sickles
3.16	qmospleh	or the horns of	or the horns
3.17	teloch	death	death
3.18	quuin	wherein	wherein
3.19	toltorg	the creatures of the earth	creatures
3.20	chis	are	are
3.21	ichisge	[and] ⁵ are not	are not
3.22	m	except (by)	except
3.23	ozien	mine own hand,	hand
3.24	dst	which (also)	which
3.25	brgda	sleep	"to sleep"
3.26	od	and	and
3.27	torzul	shall rise.	"arise"
3.28	ili	In the first	the first
3.29	eol	I made you	made
3.30	balzarg	stewards	stewards

3.31	od	and	and
3.32	aala	placed you	“to place”
3.33	thilnos	in seats 12 of	12 seats (of)
3.34	netaab	government,	government
3.35	dluga	giving unto	“to give”
3.36	vomzarg	every one of you	every one
3.37	lonsa	power	power
3.38	capmiali	successively	successively
3.39	vors	over	over
3.40	cla	456,	456
3.41	homil	the true ages of	(true) ages
3.42	cocasb	time,	time
3.43	fafen	to the intent that	intent
3.44	izizop	from your highest vessels	vessels
3.45	od	and	and
3.46	miinoag	the corners	corners
3.47	de	of	of
3.48	ghetaab	your governments	(your) governments
3.49	vaun	you might work	“to work”
3.50	nanaeel	my power:	(my) power
3.51	panpir	pouring down	“to pour down”
3.52	malpirgi	the fires of life and increase	fires of life and increase
3.53	caosg	upon the earth	earth
3.54	pild	continually.	continually
3.55	noan	Thus, you are become	“have become”
3.56	unalah	the skirts of	skirts
3.57	balt	justice	justice
3.58	odvooan	and truth	and truth
3.59	dooiap	In the Name of	(in the) name
3.60	mad	the same your God,	god
3.61	goholor	lift up,	lift up

3.62	gohus	I say.	(I) say
3.63	amiran	yourselves.	yourselves
3.64	micma	Behold,	behold
3.65	iehusoz	His mercies	(God's) mercies
3.66	cacacom	flourish	"to flourish"
3.67	od	and	and
3.68	dooain	Name	name
3.69	noar	has become	(has) become
3.70	micaolz	mighty	mighty
3.71	aaiom	amongst us.	amongst (us)
3.72	casarmg	In whom	in whom
3.73	gohia	we say,	(we) say
3.74	z-acar	move	move
3.75	uniglag	descend	"to descend"
3.76	od	and	and
3.77	imuamar	apply yourselves unto us	"to apply unto"
3.78	pugo	as unto	as unto
3.79	plapli	partakers of	partakers
3.80	ananael	the secret wisdom of	secret wisdom
3.81	qaan	your creation.	creation

Key Four
4.1	Othil	I have set	"to set"
4.2	lasdi	my feet	feet
4.3	babage	in the south	south
4.4	od	and	and
4.5	dorpha	have looked about me	"to look about"
4.6	gohol	saying	"to say"
4.7	gchisge	are not	are not
4.8	avavago	the Thunders of Increase	Thunders of Increase
4.9	cormp	numbered	"to number"
4.10	pd	33	33
4.11	dsonf	which reign in	which reign
4.12	viudiv	the second Angle	second angle
4.13	casarmi	under whom	whom
4.14	oali	I have placed	"to place"
4.15	mapm	9639	9639
4.16	sobam	whom	whom
4.17	ag	none	none
4.18	cormpo	hath yet numbered	hath (yet) numbered
4.19	crpl	but One,	but one
4.20	casarmg	in whom	(in) whom
4.21	croodzi	the second beginning of things	beginning ^o
4.22	chis	are	are
4.23	odugeg	and wax strong	and wax strong
4.24	dst	which also	which (also)
4.25	capimali	successively	successively
4.26	chis	are	are
4.27	capimaon	the number of time:	number of time
4.28	odlonshin	And their powers	and powers
4.29	chis	are	are
4.30	talo	as the first	as the first
4.31	cla	456:	456

4.32	torgu	Arise	arise
4.33	norqrasahi	you sons of pleasure	sons of pleasure
4.34	od	and	and
4.35	fcaosga	visit the earth,	visit the earth
4.36	bagle	for	for
4.37	zirenaiad	I am the Lord your God	I am Lord God
4.38	dsi	which is	which is
4.39	odapila	and liveth.	and live
4.40	dooaip	In the Name of	(in the) Name
4.41	qaal	the Creator,	Creator
4.42	z-acar	move	move
4.43	odzamran	and show yourselves	and "appear"
4.44	obelisong	as pleasant deliverers	pleasant deliverers
4.45	restil	that you may praise Him	to praise (Him?)
4.46	aaf	amongst	amongst
4.47	normolap	the sons of men.	sons of men

Key Five
5.1	Sapah	The Mighty Sounds	Mighty Sounds
5.2	zimii	have entered into	"to enter"
5.3	duiv	the third angle	third angle
5.4	od	and	and
5.5	noas	are become	(have) become
5.6	taqanis	as olives	as olives
5.7	adroch	in the olive mount	olive mount
5.8	dorphal	looking with gladness upon	"looking upon"
5.9	caosg	the earth	earth
5.10	od	and	and
5.11	faonts	dwelling within	dwelling
5.12	piripsol	the brightness of the heavens	heavens
5.13	tablior	as continual comforters,	as comforters
5.14	casarm	unto whom	whom
5.15	amipzi	I have fastened	"to fasten"
5.16	nazarth	pillars of gladness	pillars (of gladness)
5.17	af	19	19
5.18	od	and	and
5.19	dlugar	gave them	"to give"
5.20	zizop	vessels	vessels
5.21	z-lida	to water	"to water"
5.22	caosgi	the earth	earth
5.23	toltorgi	with her creatures	(with) creatures
5.24	od	and	and
5.25	z-chis	they are	they are
5.26	esiasch	the brothers of	brothers
5.27	L	the First	The First
5.28	taviv	and second	and second
5.29	od	and	and
5.30	iaod	the beginning of	beginning
5.31	thild	their own seats	seats

5.32	ds	which	which
5.33	hubar	are garnished with continually burning lamps	lamps
5.34	peral	69636	69636
5.35	soba	whose	whose
5.36	cormfa	numbers	numbers
5.37	chista	are as	are as
5.38	la	the first,	the first
5.39	uls	the ends,	ends
5.40	od	and	and
5.41	qcocasb	the contents of time.	contents of time
5.42	ca	Therefore,	therefore
5.43	niis	come you	come
5.44	od	and	and
5.45	darbs	obey	obey
5.46	qaas	your creation.	creation
5.47	fetharzi	Visit us in peace	visit (in) peace
5.48	od	and	and
5.49	bliora	comfort.	comfort
5.50	iaial	Conclude us as	"to conclude"
5.51	ednas	receivers of	receivers
5.52	cicles	your mysteries:	mysteries
5.53	bagle	For why?	for
5.54	geiad	Our Lord and Master	Lord and Master
5.55	il	is all one.	is one

Key Six
6.1	Gah	The spirits of	spirits
6.2	sdiv	the fourth Angle	fourth angle
6.3	chis	are	are
6.4	em	nine,	nine
6.5	micalzo	mighty in	mighty
6.6	pilzin	the firmaments of waters	firmaments of waters
6.7	sobam	whom	whom
6.8	el	the First	the First
6.9	harg	hath planted	“to plant”
6.10	mir	a torment to	torment
6.11	babalon	the wicked	wicked
6.12	od	and	and
6.13	obloc	a garland to	garland
6.14	samvelg	the righteous:	the righteous
6.15	dlugar	giving unto them	“to give”
6.16	malpurg	fiery darts	“Fiery Arrows”
6.17	arcaosgi	to van the earth	(to van?) the earth
6.18	od	and	and
6.19	acam	7699	7699
6.20	canal	continual workmen	workmen
6.21	sobolzar	whose courses	whose courses
6.22	fbliard	visit with comfort	visit (with) comfort
6.23	caosgi	the earth	earth
6.24	odchis	and are	and are
6.25	anetab	in government	(in) government
6.26	od	and	and
6.27	miam	continuance	continuance
6.28	taviv	as the second	as second
6.29	od	and	and
6.30	d	the third.	third
6.31	darsar	Wherefore	wherefore

6.32	solpeth	harken unto	hearken (unto)
6.33	bien	my voice.	(my) voice
6.34	brita	I have talked of you	"to speak of"
6.35	od	and	and
6.36	zacam	I move you	move
6.37	gmicalzo	in power and presence	in power
6.38	sobhaath	whose works	whose works
6.39	trian	shall be	shall be
6.40	luahe	a song of honour	song of honor
6.41	odecrin	and the praise of	and praise
6.42	mad	your God	god
6.43	qaaon	in your creation.	creation

Key Seven
7.1	Raas	The east	east
7.2	isalman	is a house of	is a house
7.3	paradiz-	virgins	virgins
7.4	oecrimi	singing praises	"to sing praises"
7.5	aao	amongst	amongst
7.6	ialpirgah	the flames of the first glory	flames of the first glory
7.7	quim	wherein	wherein
7.8	enay	the Lord	the Lord
7.9	butmon	hath opened His mouth	mouth
7.10	od	and	and
7.11	inoas	they are become	(have) become
7.12	ni	28	28
7.13	paradial	living dwellings	living dwellings
7.14	casarmg	in whom	in whom
7.15	ugear	the strength of men	strength
7.16	chirlan	rejoiceth	"to rejoice"
7.17	od	and	and
7.18	zonac	they are appareled with	appareled
7.19	luciftian	ornaments of brightness	(ornaments of) brightness
7.20	corsta	such as	such as
7.21	vaulzirn	work wonders	work wonders
7.22	tolhami	on all creatures.	(upon) all creatures
7.23	soba	Whose	whose
7.24	londoh	kingdoms	kingdoms
7.25	odmiam	and continuance	and continuance
7.26	chistad	are as the third	are as the third
7.27	odes	and fourth	and fourth
7.28	umadea	strong towers	strong towers
7.29	od	and	and
7.30	pibliar	places of comfort.	places of comfort
7.31	othilrit	the seats of mercy	seats of mercy

7.32	odmiam	and continuance.	and continuance
7.33	cnoquol	O you servants of	servants
7.34	rit	mercy,	mercy
7.35	z-acar	move,	move
7.36	zamran	appear,	appear
7.37	oecrimi	sing praises unto	"to sing praises"
7.38	qadah	the creator,	Creator
7.39	od	and	and
7.40	omicaolz-	be mighty	(be) mighty
7.41	aaiom	amongst us.	amongst (us)
7.42	bagle	For	for
7.43	papnor	to this remembrance	remembrance
7.44	idlugam	is given	is given
7.45	lonshi	power	power
7.46	od	and	and
7.47	umplif	our strength	strength
7.48	ugegi	waxeth strong	"to wax strong"
7.49	bigliad	in our Comforter.	(in our) comforter

Key Eight
8.1	Bazemlo	The midday the first	midday the first
8.2	ita	is as	is as
8.3	piripson	the third heaven	(third?) heaven
8.4	oln	made of	made (of)
8.5	nazavabh	hyacinth pillars	(hyacinth) pillars
8.6	ox	26	26
8.7	casaring	in whom	in whom
8.8	uran	the Elders	elders
8.9	chis	are	are
8.10	ugeg	become strong	become strong
8.11	dsabramg	which I have prepared for	which prepared
8.12	baltoha	my own righteousness,	righteousness
8.13	gohoiad	sayeth the Lord,	sayeth God
8.14	solamian	whose long continuance	whose (long) continuance
8.15	trian	shall be	shall be
8.16	talolcis	as bucklers to	as bucklers
8.17	abaivonin	the stooping dragons	stooping dragons
8.18	od	and	and
8.19	aziagiar	like unto the harvest of	like unto the harvest
8.20	rior	a widow.	widow
8.21	irgilchisda	How many are there	how many are there
8.22	dspaaox	which remain in	which remain
8.23	busd	the glory	glory
8.24	caosgo	of the earth	of the earth
8.25	dschis	which are	which are
8.26	odipuran	and shall not see	and shall not see
8.27	teloah	death	death
8.28	cacrg	until	until
8.29	oisalman	this house	this house
8.30	loncho	fall	fall
8.31	od	and	and

8.32	vovina	the dragon	dragon
8.33	carbaf	sink.	sink (i.e., stoop)
8.34	niiso	Come away.	come away
8.35	bagle	for	for
8.36	avavago	the Thunders	Thunders
8.37	gohon	have spoken.	spoken
8.38	niiso	Come away.	come away
8.39	bagle	for	for
8.40	niomao	the crowns of	crowns
8.41	siaion	the temple	temple
8.42	od	and	and
8.43	mabza	the coat of	coat
8.44	iadoiasmomar	Him that is, was, and shall be crowned	"God eternally crowned"
8.45	poilp	are divided.	"to divide"
8.46	niis	Come,	come
8.47	zamran	appear	appear
8.48	ciaofi	to the terror	terror
8.49	caosgo	of the earth	of earth
8.50	od	and	and
8.51	bliors	to our comfort	comfort
8.52	od	and of	and
8.53	corsi	such	such
8.54	ta	as	as
8.55	abramig	are prepared.	prepared

Key Nine
9.1	Micaoli	A mighty	mighty
9.2	bransg	guard of	guard
9.3	prgel	fire	fire
9.4	napta	with two edged swords	swords
9.5	ialpor	flaming	flaming
9.6	dsbrin	(which have	which have
9.7	efafafe	vials	vials
9.8	p	8	8
9.9	vonpho	of wrath	(of) wrath
9.10	olani	for two times	twice
9.11	od	and	and
9.12	obza	a half:	half
9.13	sobca	whose	whose
9.14	upaah	wings	wings
9.15	chis	are of	are
9.16	tatan	wormwood	wormwood
9.17	od	and of	and
9.18	tranan	the marrow of	marrow
9.19	balye	salt), ⁸	salt
9.20	alar	have settled	“to settle”
9.21	lusda	their feet	(their) feet
9.22	soboln	in the west	west
9.23	od	and	and
9.24	chisholq	are measured	are “to measure”
9.25	cnoquodi	with their ministers	(with) ministers
9.26	cial	9996.	9996
9.27	unal	These	these
9.28	aldon	gather up	“to gather”
9.29	mom	the moss	moss
9.30	caosgo	of the earth	of earth
9.31	ta	as	as
9.32	lasollor	the rich man	rich man

9.33	gnay	doth	doth
9.34	limlal	his treasure:	treasure
9.35	amma	Cursed	cursed
9.36	chiis	are they	are (they)
9.37	sobra	whose	whose
9.38	madrid	iniquities	iniquities
9.39	z-chis	they are.	(they) are
9.40	ooanoan	In their eyes	eyes
9.41	chis	are	are
9.42	aviny	millstones	millstones
9.43	drilpi	greater than	greater than
9.44	caosgin	the earth	earth
9.45	od	and	and
9.46	butmoni	from their mouths	mouths
9.47	parm	run	run
9.48	zumvi	seas of	seas
9.49	cnila	blood:	blood
9.50	dazis	Their heads	heads
9.51	ethamz-	are covered with	“to cover”
9.52	achildao	diamond	diamond
9.53	od	and	and
9.54	mirc	upon	upon
9.55	ozol	their [hands] ^o	hands
9.56	chis	are	are
9.57	pidiai	marble	marble
9.58	collal	sleeves.	sleeves
9.59	ulcinin	Happy is he	happy
9.60	asobam	on whom	(on) whom
9.61	ucim	they frown not.	frown not (i.e., smile)
9.62	bagle	For why?	for
9.63	iadbaltoh	The God of Righteousness	God of Righteousness
9.64	chirlan	rejoiceth	“to rejoice”

9.65	par	in them.	(in) them
9.66	niiso	Come away.	come away
9.67	od	and	and
9.68	ip	not	not
9.69	ofafate	your vials.	vials
9.70	bagle	For	for
9.71	acocasb	the time	time
9.72	icorsca	is such as	is such as
9.73	unig	requireth	"to require"
9.74	blior	comfort.	comfort

Key Ten

There were many difficulties in the reception of Key Ten. The original reception of the Key on pages 130–33 of A True and Faithful Relation was flawed, and corrected somewhat on page 192 during the transmission of the English. However, Dee's final result in his 48 Claves Angelicae does not match the English given in the journal. Both James and Laycock took stabs at fixing it, and Patricia Shaffer has worked on it from her unique standpoint.

The following is my own work on Key Ten. Readers who reference the 48 Claves Angelicae will see that Dee had "Eors" listed as the word for "thousand."¹⁰ However, this was corrected to Matb on page 192 of A True and Faithful Relation (10.45 below).

No word was originally given for "hundred," but this was also corrected on page 192 of A True and Faithful Relation, where the word for "hundred" was given as Torb. "Eors" itself does not seem to have a place in the Calls (see the Lexicon).

There is one final problem with Key Ten, and this is an odd placement of the word Ol. It appears in the 48 Claves Angelicae between Vohim gizyax—"Mighty Earthquakes" (10.42–43 below¹¹). Of course Ol is given as "I" in Key One, and is also given as "24" in Keys Ten and Fourteen. Neither of these translations fit within this part of Key Ten. What struck me as significant is that Ol as "24" is given only a few words before the "Mighty Earthquakes" portion of the Key. My current theory is that this recurrence of the word is merely a mistake (perhaps on the part of Kelley), and I have thus removed it from the Call below.

Key Ten
10.1	Coraxo	The Thunders of Judgment and Wrath	Thunders of Judgment and Wrath
10.2	chis	are	are
10.3	cornp	numbered	"to number"
10.4	od	and	and
10.5	blans	are harboured	"to harbor"
10.6	lucal	in the north	north

10.7	aziazor	in the likeness of	likeness of
10.8	paeb	an oak	oak
10.9	soba	whose	whose
10.10	lilonon	branches	branches
10.11	chis	are	are
10.12	op	22	22
10.13	virq	nests of	nests
10.14	eophan	lamentation	lamentation
10.15	od	and	and
10.16	raclir	weeping	weeping
10.17	maasi	laid up	stored
10.18	bagle	for	for
10.19	caosgi	the earth	earth
10.20	ds	which	which
10.21	ialpon	burn	burn
10.22	dosig	night	night
10.23	od	and	and
10.24	basgim	day:	day
10.25	od	and	and
10.26	oxex	vomit out	“to vomit”
10.27	dazis	the heads of	heads
10.28	siatris	scorpions	scorpions
10.29	od	and	and
10.30	salbrox	live sulphur	live sulfur
10.31	cinxir	myngled with	“to mingle”
10.32	faboan	poison.	poison
10.33	unalchis	These be	these are
10.34	const	the thunders	thunders
10.35	ds	that	that
10.36	daox	5678	5678
10.37	cocasg	times	times
10.38	ol	in the 24th part of	24th
10.39	oanio	a moment	moment

10.40	yor	roar	roar
10.41	torb	with a hundred	hundred
10.42	vohim	mighty	mighty
10.43	gizyax	earthquakes	earthquakes
10.44	od	and	and
10.45	matb	a thousand	thousand
10.46	cocasg	times	times
10.47	plosi	as many	as many
10.48	molui	surges	surges
10.49	ds	which	which
10.50	pageip	rest not	rest not
10.51	larag	neither	neither
10.52	om	know	know
10.53	droln	any	any
10.54	matorb	(long)	long
10.55	cocasb	time	time
10.56	emna	here.	here
10.57	lpatralx	One rock	one rock
10.58	yolci	bringeth forth	"to bring forth"
10.59	matb	1000	a thousand
10.60	nomig	even as	even (as)
10.61	monons	the heart of	heart
10.62	olora	man	man
10.63	gnay	doth	doth
10.64	angelard	his thoughts.	thoughts
10.65	ohio	Woe	woe
10.66	ohio	woe	woe
10.67	ohio	woe	woe
10.68	ohio	woe	woe
10.69	ohio	woe	woe
10.70	ohio	woe	woe
10.71	noib	yea	yes
10.72	ohio	woe	woe

10.73	caosgon	be to the earth.	unto the earth
10.74	bagle	for	for
10.75	madrid	her iniquity	iniquity
10.76	i	is	is
10.77	zirop	was	was
10.78	chiso	and shall be	shall be
10.79	drilpa	great.	great
10.80	niiso	Come away,	come away
10.81	crip	but	but
10.82	ip	not	not
10.83	nidali	your noises.	noises

Key Eleven
11.1	Oxiayal	The Mighty Seat	The Mighty Seat
11.2	holdo	groaned	groaned
11.3	od	and	and
11.4	zirom	they were	(they) were
11.5	o	5	5
11.6	coraxo	Thunders	Thunders
11.7	ds	which	which
11.8	zildar	flew into	fly into
11.9	raasy	the east	east
11.10	od	and	and
11.11	vabzir	the Eagle	eagle
11.12	camliax	spake	spake
11.13	od	and	and
11.14	bahal	cried with a loud voice.	"to cry loudly"
11.15	niiso	Come away!	come away
11.16	od	And	and
11.17	aldon	they gathered themselves together	"to gather together"
11.18	od	and	and
11.19	noas	became	"to become"
11.20	salman	the house of	house
11.21	teloch	death ¹²	death
11.22	casarman	of whom	whom
11.23	holq	it is measured	"to measure"
11.24	od	and	and
11.25	ti	it is	it is
11.26	ta	as	as
11.27	z-chis	they are	(they) are
11.28	soba	whose	whose
11.29	cormf	number	number
11.30	iga	is 31	is 31
11.31	niisa	Come away.	come away

11.32	bagle	for	for
11.33	abramg	I have prepared for	“to prepare”
11.34	noncp	you.	you
11.35	zacar	Move,	move
11.36	ca	therefore,	therefore
11.37	od	and	and
11.38	zamran	show yourselves:	“to appear”
11.39	odo	open	“to open”
11.40	cicle	the mysteries of	mysteries
11.41	qaa	your creation:	creation
11.42	zorge	Be friendly unto me:	be friendly unto me
11.43	lap	For	for
11.44	zirdo	I am	(I) am
11.45	noco	a servant of	servant
11.46	mad	the same your God:	god
11.47	hoath	the true worshipper of	true worshiper
11.48	iaida	the Highest.	the Highest

Key Twelve
12.1	Nonci	O you	you
12.2	dsonf	that reign	that reign
12.3	babage	in the south	south
12.4	od	and	and
12.5	chis	are	are
12.6	ob	28	28
12.7	hubaio	the lanterns of	lanterns
12.8	tibibp	sorrow	sorrow
12.9	allar	bind up	"to bind up"
12.10	atraah	your girdles	girdles
12.11	od	and	and
12.12	ef	visit us.	"to visit"
12.13	drix	Bring down	"to bring down"
12.14	fafen	your train	train
12.15	mian	3663	3663
12.16	ar	that	that
12.17	enay	the Lord	the Lord
12.18	ovof	may be magnified	"to magnify"
12.19	soba	whose	whose
12.20	dooain	name	name
12.21	aai	' amongst you	amongst
12.22	ivonph	is wrath.	is wrath
12.23	zacar	Move.	move
12.24	gohus	I say. ¹³	I say
12.25	od	and	and
12.26	zamran	show yourselves:	"to appear"
12.27	odo	open	"to open"
12.28	cicle	the mysteries of	mysteries
12.29	qaa	your creation:	creation
12.30	zorge	Be friendly unto me:	be friendly unto me
12.31	lap	For	for
12.32	zirdo	I am	(I) am

12.33	noco	a servant of	servant
12.34	mad	the same your God:	god
12.35	hoath	the true worshipper of	true worshiper
12.36	iaida	the Highest.	the Highest

Key Thirteen
13.1	Napeai	O you swords of	swords
13.2	babagen	the south	south
13.3	dsbrin	which have	which have
13.4	ux	42	42
13.5	ooaona	eyes	eyes
13.6	lring	to stir up	to stir up
13.7	vonph	wrath of	wrath
13.8	doalim	sin,	sin
13.9	colis	making	"to make"
13.10	ollog	men	men
13.11	orsba	drunken	drunken
13.12	dschis	which are	which are
13.13	affa	empty:	empty
13.14	micma	Behold	behold
13.15	isro	the promise of	promise of
13.16	mad	God	god
13.17	od	and	and
13.18	lonshitox	His power	his power
13.19	ds	which	which
13.20	iumd	is called	(is) called
13.21	aai ¹⁴	amongst you	amongst
13.22	grosb	a bitter sting.	(bitter) sting
13.23	zacar	Move	move
13.24	od	and	and
13.25	zamran	show yourselves:	"to appear"
13.26	odo	open	"to open"
13.27	cicle	the mysteries of	mysteries
13.28	qaa	your creation:	creation
13.29	zorge	Be friendly unto me:	be friendly unto me
13.30	lap	For	for
13.31	zirdo	I am	(I) am
13.32	noco	a servant of	servant

13.33	mad	the same your God:	god
13.34	hoath	the true worshipper of	true worshiper
13.35	iaida	the Highest.	the Highest

The transmission of Key Fourteen is missing from Dee's journals. We only have the English for this Key given later (see TFR, page 193), and the Angelical provided in Dee's 48 Claves Angelicae.

Key Fourteen
14.1	Noromi	O you sons	sons
14.2	bagie	of fury,	fury
14.3	pasbs	the daughters	daughters
14.4	oiad	of the just,	of God
14.5	ds	which	which
14.6	trint	sit	"to sit"
14.7	mirc	upon	upon
14.8	ol	24	24
14.9	thil	seats	seats
14.10	dods	vexing	"to vex"
14.11	tolham	all creatures	all creatures
14.12	caosgo	of the earth	of earth
14.13	homin	with age,	age
14.14	dsbrin	which have	which have
14.15	oroch	under you	under
14.16	quar	1636.	1636
14.17	micma	Behold	behold
14.18	bial	the voice	voice
14.19	oiad	of God	of God
14.20	aisro	promise of	"to promise"
14.21	tox	him	him
14.22	dsium	which is called	which (is) called
14.23	aai	amongst you	amongst
14.24	baltim	fury, or extreme justice	extreme justice (fury)
14.25	zacar	Move	move
14.26	od	and	and
14.27	zamran	show yourselves:	"to appear"
14.28	odo	open	"to open"

14.29	cicle	the mysteries of	mysteries
14.30	qaa	your creation:	creation
14.31	zorge	Be friendly unto me:	be friendly unto me
14.32	lap	For	for
14.33	zirdo	I am	(I) am
14.34	noco	a servant of	servant
14.35	mad	the same your God:	god
14.36	hoath	the true worshipper of	true worshiper
14.37	iaida	the Highest.	the Highest

The transmission of Key Fifteen is missing from Dee's journals. We only have the English for this Key given later (see TFR, page 193), and the Angelical provided in Dee's 48 Claves Angelicae.

Key Fifteen
15.1	Yls	O thou	thou
15.2	tabaan	the governor of	governor
15.3	lialprt	the first flame	first flame
15.4	casarman	under whose	(under) whose
15.5	upauhi	wings	wings
15.6	chis	are	are
15.7	darg	6739	6739
15.8	dsoado	which weave	which weave
15.9	caosgi	the earth	earth
15.10	orscor	with dryness	dryness
15.11	ds	which	which
15.12	omax	knowest	knowest
15.13	monasci	the great name	great name
15.14	baeovib	righteousness	righteousness
15.15	od	and	and
15.16	emetgis	the seal of	seal
15.17	iaiadix	honour.	honor
15.18	zacar	Move,	move
15.19	od	and	and
15.20	zamran	show yourselves:	"to appear"
15.21	odo	open	"to open"
15.22	cicle	the mysteries of	mysteries
15.23	qaa	your creation:	creation
15.24	zorge	Be friendly unto me:	be friendly unto me
15.25	lap	For	for
15.26	zirido	I am	(I) am
15.27	noco	a servant of	servant
15.28	mad	the same your God:	god
15.29	hoath	the true worshipper of	true worshiper
15.30	iaida	the Highest.	the Highest

Key Sixteen
16.1	Yls ¹⁵	O thou	thou
16.2	vivialprt	of the second flame ¹⁶	second flame
16.3	salman	the house of	house
16.4	balt	justice	justice
16.5	ds	which	which
16.6	acroodzi	hast thy beginning	beginning
16.7	busd	in glory	glory
16.8	od	and	and
16.9	bliorax	shalt comfort	“to comfort”
16.10	balit	the just:	the just
16.11	dsinsi	which walkest upon	which walk
16.12	caosg	the earth	earth
16.13	ludan	with feet	feet
16.14	emod	8763	8763
16.15	dsom	that understand	that understand
16.16	od	and	and
16.17	tliob	separate creatures:	“to classify creatures”
16.18	drilpa	Great	great
16.19	geh	art	are
16.20	yls	thou	thou
16.21	madzilodarp	in the God of stretch forth and conquer.	God of conquest
16.22	zacar	Move	move
16.23	od	and	and
16.24	zamran	show yourselves:	“to appear”
16.25	odo	open	“to open”
16.26	cicle	the mysteries of	mysteries
16.27	qaa	your creation:	creation
16.28	zorge	Be friendly unto me:	be friendly unto me
16.29	lap	For	for
16.30	zirido	I am	(I) am
16.31	noco	a servant of	servant

16.32	mad	the same your God:	god
16.33	hoath	the true worshipper of	true worshiper
16.34	iaida	the Highest.	the Highest

Key Seventeen
17.1	Yls	O thou	thou
17.2	dialprt	third flame	third flame
17.3	soba	whose	whose
17.4	upaah	wings	wings
17.5	chis	are	are
17.6	nanba	thorns	thorns
17.7	zixlay	to stir up	to stir up
17.8	dodsih	vexation	vexation
17.9	odbrint	and hast	and has
17.10	taxs	7336	7336
17.11	hubaro	lamps living	(burning) lamps
17.12	tastax	going before	“to precede”
17.13	ylsi	thee.	thee
17.14	sobaiad	Whose God	whose God
17.15	ivonpovnp	is wrath in anger.	is “wrath of wrath”
17.16	aldon	Gird up	“to gather”
17.17	daxil	thy loins	your loins
17.18	od	and	and
17.19	toatar	harken.	“to listen”
17.20	zacar	Move,	move
17.21	od	and	and
17.22	zamran	show yourselves:	“to appear”
17.23	odo	open	“to open”
17.24	cicle	the mysteries of	mysteries
17.25	qaa	your creation:	creation
17.26	zorge	Be friendly unto me:	be friendly unto me
17.27	lap	For	for
17.28	zirdo	I am	(I) am
17.29	noco	a servant of	servant
17.30	mad	the same your God:	god
17.31	hoath	the true worshipper of	true worshiper
17.32	iaida	the Highest.	the Highest

Key Eighteen
18.1	Yls	O thou	thou
18.2	micalzo	mighty	mighty
18.3	ialpirt	light and	light
18.4	ialprg	burning flame of	burning flame
18.5	bliors	comfort	comfort
18.6	ds	which	which
18.7	odo	openest	"to open"
18.8	busdir	the glory	glory
18.9	oiad	of God	of God
18.10	ovoars	to the center	center
18.11	caosgo	of the earth.	of the earth
18.12	casarnig	In whom	in whom
18.13	laiad	the secrets of truth	secrets of truth
18.14	eran	6332	6332
18.15	brints	have	have
18.16	casasam	their abiding	abiding
18.17	ds	which	which
18.18	iumd	is called	(is) called
18.19	aqlo	in thy	thy
18.20	adohi	kingdom	kingdom
18.21	moz	joy.	joy
18.22	od	and	and
18.23	maoffas	not to be measured.	"measureless"
18.24	bolp	Be thou	(be) thou
18.25	comobliort	a window of comfort	window of comfort
18.26	pambt	unto me	unto (me)
18.27	zacar	Move	move
18.28	od	and	and
18.29	zamran	show yourselves:	"to appear"
18.30	odo	open	"to open"
18.31	cicle	the mysteries of	mysteries
18.32	qaa	your creation:	creation

18.33	zorge	Be friendly unto me:	be friendly unto me
18.34	lap	For	for
18.35	zirdo	I am	(I) am
18.36	noco	a servant of	servant
18.37	mad	the same your God:	god
18.38	hoath	the true worshipper of	true worshiper
18.39	iaida	the Highest.	the Highest

The Key of the Aethyrs
30.1	Madriiax	O you heavens	heavens
30.2	dspraf	which dwell in	which dwell
30.3	Lil	[the First Aethyr]	[the First Aethyr]
30.4	chismicaolz	are mighty in	are mighty
30.5	saanir	the parts	parts
30.6	caosgo	of the earth,	of the earth
30.7	od	and	and
30.8	fisis	execute	"to execute"
30.9	baizizras	the judgment of	judgment
30.10	iaida	the Highest.	the Highest
30.11	nonca	To you	(to) you
30.12	gohulim	it is said,	(it is) said
30.13	micma	Behold	behold
30.14	adoian	the face of	face
30.15	mad	your God,	god
30.16	iaod	the beginning of	beginning
30.17	bliorb	comfort:	comfort
30.18	sabaooaona	whose eyes	whose eyes
30.19	chis	are	are
30.20	luciftias	the brightness of	brightness
30.21	piripsol	the heavens:	heavens
30.22	ds	which	which
30.23	abraassa	provided	"to provide"
30.24	noncf	you	you
30.25	netaaib	for the government of	government
30.26	caosgi	the earth,	earth
30.27	od	and	and
30.28	tilb	her	her
30.29	adphaht	unspeakable	unspeakable
30.30	damploz	variety	variety
30.31	toaat	furnishing	"to furnish"

30.32	noncf	you	you
30.33	gmicalzoma	with a power (of) understanding	power of understanding
30.34	lrasd	to dispose	to dispose
30.35	tofglo	all things	all (things)
30.36	marb	according to	according to
30.37	yarry	the providence of	providence
30.38	ldoigo	Him that sitteth upon the Holy Throne	Him who sits upon the Holy Throne
30.39	od	and	and
30.40	torzulp	rose up	"to rise"
30.41	iaodaf	in the beginning	(in the) beginning
30.42	gohol	saying,	"to say"
30.43	caosga	The earth	earth
30.44	tabaord	let her be governed by	be governed
30.45	saanir	her parts	parts
30.46	od	and	and
30.47	chresteos	let there be	let there be
30.48	yrpoil	division	division
30.49	tiobl	in her,	(within) her
30.50	busdirtlb	that the glory of her	glory (of) her
30.51	noaln	may be	may be
30.52	paid	always	always
30.53	orsba	drunken	drunken
30.54	od	and	and
30.55	dodrmni	vexed	vexed
30.56	zilna	in itself:	(within) itself
30.57	elzaptilb	Her course	her course
30.58	parmgi	let it run with	(let) run
30.59	piripsax	the heavens	heavens
30.60	od	and	and

30.61	ta	as	as
30.62	qurlst	a handmaid	handmaid
30.63	booapis	let her serve them:	"to serve"
30.64	lnibm	One season	one season
30.65	oucho	let it confound	"to confound"
30.66	symp	another:	another
30.67	od	and	and
30.68	chriteos	let there be	let there be
30.69	agtol torn	no creature	no creature
30.70	mirc	upon	upon
30.71	q	or	or
30.72	tiobl	within her	(within) her
30.73	lel	the same:	same
30.74	ton	All	all
30.75	paombd	her members	members
30.76	dilzmo	let them differ in	"to differ"
30.77	aspian	their qualities:	qualities
30.78	od	And	and
30.79	chriteos	let there be	let there be
30.80	agtol torn	no one creature	no one creature
30.81	parach	equal with	equal
30.82	asym p	another.	another
30.83	cordziz	The reasonable creatures of earth, or men	"mankind"
30.84	dodpal	let them vex	"to vex"
30.85	od	and	and
30.86	fifalz	weed out	weed out
30.87	lsmnad	one another:	one another
30.88	od	And	and
30.89	fargt	the dwelling places,	dwelling places
30.90	bams	let them forget	"to forget"
30.91	omaoas	their names.	names

30.92	conisbra	The work of man	work of man
30.93	od	and	and
30.94	avavox	his pomp,	his pomp
30.95	tonug	let them be de- faced:	"to deface"
30.96	orscatbl	His buildings,	buildings
30.97	noasmi	let them become	(let) become
30.98	tabges	caves for	caves
30.99	levithmong	the beasts of the field:	beasts of the field
30.100	unchi	Confound	"to confound"
30.101	omptilb	her understanding with	her understanding
30.102	ors	darkness	darkness
30.103	bagle	For why?	for
30.104	moooah	It repenteth me	"to repent"
30.105	olcordziz	I made man.	made mankind
30.106	lcapimao	One while	one while
30.107	ixomaxip	let her be known,	let her be known
30.108	odcacocasb	and another while	and another while
30.109	gosaa	a stranger:	stranger
30.110	baglen	Because	because
30.111	pii	she is	she is
30.112	tianta	the bed of	bed
30.113	ababalond	an harlot,	harlot
30.114	odfaorgt	and the dwelling place of	and the dwelling place
30.115	telocvovim	him that is fallen:	"death dragon"
30.116	madriiax	O you heavens	heavens
30.117	torzu	arise,	arise
30.118	oadriax	the lower heavens	lower heavens
30.119	orochoa	beneath you,	beneath
30.120	aboapri	let them serve you:	"to serve"
30.121	tabaori	govern	"to govern"

30.122	priaz	those	those
30.123	artabas	that govern:	that govern
30.124	adrpan	Cast down	cast down
30.125	corsta	such as	such as
30.126	dobix	fall	"to fall"
30.127	volcani	Bring forth with	"to bring forth"
30.128	pnazi	those	those
30.129	arcoazior	that increase:	that increase
30.130	odquasb	And destroy	and destroy
30.131	qing	the rotten:	rotten
30.132	ripir	No place	no place
30.133	paaopt	let it remain	"to remain"
30.134	sagacor	in one number:	in one number
30.135	uml	Add	"to add"
30.136	od	and	and
30.137	prdzar	diminish	"to diminish"
30.138	cacrg	until	until
30.139	aoiveae	the stars	stars
30.140	cornipt	be numbered:	(are) numbered
30.141	torzu	Arise,	arise
30.142	zacar	move,	move
30.143	odzamran	and appear	"to appear"
30.144	aspt	before	before
30.145	sibsi	the covenant of	covenant
30.146	butmona	his mouth	mouth
30.147	ds	which	which
30.148	surzas	he hath sworn	"to swear"
30.149	tia	unto us	unto (us)
30.150	baitan	in his justice:	justice
30.151	odo	Open	"to open"
30.152	cicle	the mysteries of	mysteries
30.153	qaa	your creation:	creation
30.154	od	and	and

30.155	ozazma	make us	"to make"
30.156	plapli	partakers of	partakers
30.157	iadnamad	undefiled knowl- edge.	pure knowledge

Endnotes

1. A True and Faithful Relation, p. 79ff.
2. See Sloane MS 3191. James' Enochian Magick of Dr. John Dee is derived from this same grimoire.
3. See the Introduction to volume I of this work.
4. There is no indication of the word beginning in the Angelical here.
5. Dee had the word to in this place. However, the word and makes more sense. Remember, however, that neither to nor and (Od) are indicated in the Angelical. They are implied only by context.
6. There is no indication of the word second in this Angelical.
7. The word garnish (Gnonp) does not appear in this place.
8. Parentheses are Dee's.
9. Dee had heads in this place. However, the Angelical indicates hands instead, and that makes more sense in the Call.
10. The Enochian Magic of Dr. John Dee, by Geoffrey James, p. 85.
11. And James p. 85.
12. The English for words 11.16–18 is found in A True and Faithful Relation, p. 193. Dee noted that no Angelical had been given in the Key for (all of) those words, so he went back and added words 11.16 and 18 (Od) and 11.19 (Noas).
13. Note this departure from the Repetitive Formula Pattern (see the Lexicon). This addition of Gohus ("I Say!") is found in A True and Faithful Relation, p. 136.
14. Words 13.21–22 are missing from TFR. We have only the English given for them later (see TFR, p. 193), and we find the Angelical in Dee's 48 Claves.
15. The first twelve words of this Key are missing from TFR. We have only the English given for them later (see TFR, p. 193), and we find the Angelical in Dee's 48 Claves.
16. The Angel Illemese gives this English in A True and Faithful Relation, p. 200, adding of the.

Chapter Three

An Encyclopedic Lexicon of the Tongue of Angels

How to Use This Lexicon

I will illustrate here how to use this Lexicon with a few examples. First, a standard entry looks like this:

Busdir (buz-der) n.

Glory

ᑲᑭᑦᑲᑦᑲᑦ

18.8 . . . openest the glory of God.

As we can see, the main entry appears in bold type. Immediately following that, in parentheses, is the word's pronunciation—given in a special key included in this chapter.

Following that is the grammatical function or part of speech (noun, verb, conjunction, and so on). Note that these designations are somewhat loose in Angelical. There are cases where a word might appear as different parts of speech depending on how it is used—such as the English word promise, which could be a noun (as in a promise) or a verb (to promise), although the Angelical does not indicate the difference by anything more than the context of the sentence. In such cases, I have generally applied the part of speech that matches its usage in the sentence in question. In several cases, I have suggested more than one part of speech for a given word.

Next is the definition—or “English sense”—of the word. See the “Angelical Linguistics” chapter for discussion about English senses and fluid definitions.

Then, to the extreme right of the page, we see the word spelled in Angelical characters (running right to left). Note that these characters will not always match the English letters given for the same word. This is due to what I call “phonetic glosses” utilized by Dee as he recorded the words. (Also see the “Angelical Linguistics” chapter for a full discussion of Dee’s phonetic glosses.)

Finally, we have the cross-reference number indicating in which Key the word appears and the position of that word within the Key, followed by a sample of the sentence in which the word is used. (The English words indicated by the Angelical are in italics.) This allows one to see at a glance exactly how the word is used in the Keys, which is how we know its proper part of speech.

Following is an example of a compound word entry:

Busdirtilb (buz-der-tilb) [Busdir + Tilb] comp. Glory (of) Her
 V A 7 7 e 7 5 7 2 V

30.50 . . . that the glory of her may be . . .

This entry is the same as a standard entry, with one addition: the word elements that make up the compound are included in brackets directly after the pronunciation. These word elements will each have their own entries in the Lexicon, pointing back to the compound word itself.

There are three further types of entries to cover here. First, the main entry may appear in italics:

Iusmach (jus-mak) v. To Beget

The italics indicate that the word comes from a source other than the forty-eight Angelical Keys—such as words from Loagaeth, words from the Corpus Omnium (see chapter 3 in volume I), the names of the Angelical letters, words from the Alchemical Cipher the Angels gave to Dee, random words spoken by the Angels, and so on. These entries will always include a reference note explaining where the word comes from. (Also see the “Sources for All Words Found in This Lexicon” section of this chapter for a list of sources used to compile this Lexicon.)

Second, the main entry may appear in ALL CAPS:

PERAL (pec-AR-al)

69636

Ⲫⲉⲣⲁⲗ

30.50 . . lamps 6936 whose numbers are. . .

These entries indicate an apparent word in the forty-eight Angelical Keys that, in translation, is defined as a grouping of numbers. Because of this ambiguity, I have indicated these words with ALL CAPS.

Third, the main entry may appear in quotation marks:

“Azia” (ay-zii-ay) prep.

Like (unto)

Compounds:

Aziagiar (ay-zii-AY-jii-er)

[“Azia” + “Giar”]

Like unto the Harvest

This indicates a “word element.” Most often, this is an element of a compound word, and the entry will point back to the compound itself. Such entries are in quotation marks because compounding often changes the spelling of the words (see the “Angelical Linguistics” chapter). Therefore, when they stand alone, both the spelling and the pronunciation of such word elements are suspect.

Searching out these “word elements” from the mass of known Angelical words represents a significant expansion of our previous understanding of the language. Although we can’t be sure of their spelling and forms of proper usage, it offers us a solid foundation from which to explore the language deeper. At the very least, it definitely expands the available data in hunting for the root forms of the words.

Of course, sometimes compounds are made from words that appear elsewhere in the Keys on their own. In such cases, we know how such words are spelled and pronounced, so their entries do not appear in quotation marks. Their entries will, however, point to the compound as well.

Finally, here are the explanations of the various sections you will find within each main entry:

Pronunciation Notes

The pronunciation notes are perhaps the most unique and useful aspect of this Lexicon. While Dee included small phonetic notes with most of the words he recorded, modern students have found them less than useful. (Remember John Dee was writing in Early Modern English, which often confuses modern students.) Because of this, most existing “Enochian dictionaries” pay little attention to Dee’s notations, and the authors have provided pronunciations based loosely upon their own understanding of present-day English.

On the other hand, I have spent some time deciphering Dee’s notes on their own terms. His notations seem to be rather haphazard for the first two Keys, but he settles into a fairly standard format by the end of Key Two. My analysis of this format has led me to the following assumptions:

- 1) Dee generally divided his phonetic notes by placing spaces between the syllables.
- 2) A letter that stands alone in a syllable takes its long sound. For instance, an a standing alone will sound like “ay,” an l standing alone will sound like “el,” etc. Otherwise:
- 3) Vowels take their long or short sounds depending on their position within a syllable. If a vowel appears at the end of the syllable, it usually takes the long sound. If it appears in the middle of a syllable (i.e., it is directly followed by a consonant within the same syllable), it will most often take the short sound. Finally:
- 4) The general rules of Early Modern English apply overall, although there are some Middle English inclusions as well. (Again, see the “Angelical Linguistics” chapter for more information.)

I have arrived at the above assumptions primarily with the aid of marginal notations left by Dee along with his phonetic notes—which often gave examples of other words that rhymed with a given Angelical word or syllable. He also used several useful phonetic notations in the 48 Claves Angelicae that further backed up my research.

In this Lexicon, I have included all of Dee's phonetic notes from his journals. If he left such a note (or notes) for a word, I have indicated it by adding an asterisk (*) to the word's pronunciation. Then, within the "Pronunciation Notes" section of the entry, I have recorded Dee's note (in italics) and followed it with my own explanation.

The bulk of these notes are found in A True and Faithful Relation, recorded as Dee received the forty-eight Angelical Keys. (Much thanks goes to Patricia Shaffer, who tirelessly gathered all of Dee's TFR notes into one document, entitled DeesPronunciationNotes.RTF.) Therefore, I do not include references with these notes, as the word is already cross-referenced by Key.

However, Dee also left pronunciation notes in the Five Books of Mystery and the 48 Claves Angelicae. If such secondary notes exist, I have also included them and referenced their sources.

If Dee did not include any notes for a word, I have given a pronunciation based upon my overall study of the language. If I include a pronunciation note in such an entry, it is only to explain my own work, and there will be no asterisk or reference to Dee's journals.

"Also" and Shared Root

Angelical words are formed primarily of small root words that undergo (often inexplicable) metamorphosis when used in different ways. Therefore, most of the entries in the Lexicon include notes that compare the main word with other words from Dee's journals. This helps us discover the Angelical roots at the hearts of the words.

First and foremost is the "Also" section found in most entries, which points out all of the differing "versions" of the same word in the Lexicon.

Some entries also have a "Shared root" section, to indicate differing words that may share a linguistic root. (This is based upon both similar spellings and similar definitions.) In these cases, I will likely include a notation highlighting the probable root.

Other Notes

Sometimes Dee also left notes about the definition of a word. If so, the definition in this Lexicon will include an asterisk (*), and the word's entry will include a "Note" section with Dee's comment (in italics). I then include my own comments directly thereafter.

In many cases, I have comments to make on a word where Dee was silent. At such times, there will be no asterisk or italics, but my own notes will appear in the "Note" section. There may be more than one "Note" section for any given entry.

Compare from Loagaeth

Finally, some entires include a "Compare from Loagaeth" section. This is drawn from my work on the first Table of the Holy Book—which is the only Table containing entire words in each cell, rather than single letters. I believe this was intended primarily to help us decipher the words in the remaining forty-eight Tables.

My work on this first Table was similar to my earlier work on the Angelical Keys. I simply began with the first word on the first side of the Table (which happens to be Zuresch), and compared it with every other word in the Table. (Remember there are nearly 4802 words in total! See the chapter on the Book of Loagaeth in volume I.) I then moved to the second word in the Table and repeated the same process, and so on.

In fact, my work on the first Table is still ongoing, and I will present my results at a future date. Meanwhile, I have discovered several words in Loagaeth that also appear in the Keys, as well as many words that appear linguistically related to words from the Keys. I have also found the names of several Angelical letters and one or two known "Enochian" Angels. These Loagaeth words that are recognizably similar or identical to those in this Lexicon are included in the "Compare from Loagaeth" section. (This helps to illustrate that the language of the Holy Book is not separate from the language of the forty-eight Keys.)

Abbreviations Used in This Lexicon

1 Enoch	= The Ethiopic Book of Enoch
Five Books	= John Dee's Five Books of Mystery
48 Claves	= 48 Claves Angelicae (from Sloane 3191)

RFP	= Repetitive Formula Pattern (*See note)
TFR	= A True and Faithful Relation . . .
adj.	= adjective
adv.	= adverb
comp.	= compound
conj.	= conjunction
n.	= noun
pl.	= plural
prep.	= preposition
pron.	= pronoun
prop. n.	= proper noun
sing.	= singular
v.	= verb

*Note on RFP: From Keys Eleven to Eighteen, Dee was instructed to append the last fourteen words of Key One—Zacar, ca, od zamran. Odo cicle qaa. Zorge, lap zirdo noco mad, hoath Iaida. This was dubbed the “Repetitive Formula Pattern” by Patricia Shaffer. In the Lexicon, each word that appears in the Repetitive Formula Pattern is simply marked RFP, instead of listing out all references for the word in Keys One and Eleven to Eighteen. RFP words will always be found within the last fourteen words of each of these nine Keys.

Note, however, that the final words of these Keys do differ in some minor details in Dee’s 48 Claves Angelicae. (For example, see the RFP at the end of Key Twelve.) When this occurs, I have stuck with the 48 Claves as Dee’s final say.

Sources for All Words Found in This Lexicon

The Angelical Keys are found in TFR on pages 79–138, 190–194, and 199–208. They are also found in Dee’s 48 Claves Angelicae, part of Sloane MS 3191. The words from the 48 Claves are shown in the third column of Geoffrey James’ section on the Keys in The Enochian Magick of Dr. John Dee, p. 65ff.

The names of the thirty Aethyrs are all found on page 209 of TFR. The names of the ninety-one Parts of the Earth are found on pages 140–152 of TFR. However, they are also found in Dee’s Angelical grimoire

(which he compiled from his raw journals), known as Sloane MS 3191 (specifically, part II: The Book of Earthly Knowledge, Aid, and Victory). Dee did some corrective editing of the Parts' names as he transferred them from his journals to the grimoire. I have opted to stick with his corrected versions. (See James' The Enochian Magick of Dr. John Dee, pages 103–116.)

The words of the Corpus Omnium are all found on pages 74–76 of TFR.

The names of the twenty-one Angelical letters are found on pages 269–271 of the Five Books. Their perfected forms are found in Kelley's handwriting at the end of Loagaeth (Sloane 3189)—see the Five Books, page 405.

The words of the Alchemical Cipher are found on pages 387–389 of TFR.

Words from the first (“hidden”) leaf of Loagaeth are found on pages 288–343 of the Five Books. Those from the final leaf are found on page 19 of TFR. I have only taken words from the first and final Tables, the only two that contain entire words in each cell.

Exclusions from This Lexicon

I have been selective with the proper nouns I have included in the Lexicon. There are, by necessity, entries for names of God and Angels that appear in the forty-eight Angelical Keys. I have also included any names that appear in Loagaeth, as well as those Angels who are found only in Dee's journals (such as Galvah, Murifri, Nalvage, Vasedg, and so on).

However, you will not find entries for most of the proper names—of God, Angels, and spirits—found in the magickal squares Dee received in his advanced Angelic magick (namely, The Heptarchia, Parts of the Earth, and Great Table of the Earth—or Watchtower systems). I have used the Lexicon to analyze these proper names, and I have included references where I find similarities. (For example, see the entry for Laiad, which seems to be the root for the name of the Elder Laidrom from the Southern Watchtower.)

The ninety-one Parts of the Earth are not given their own entries, but you can find them included within the entries of their associated

Aethyrs. (The Aethyrs are included because they are named successively in the last thirty Keys.)

Finally, I have also excluded the thousands of undefined words in the Tables of Loagaeth. However, I have included the few words that were given definitions, that are identical to words already found in the Keys, or that appear linguistically similar to words from the Keys. (See the “Compare from Loagaeth” section above.) As stated previously, I will present my work with the undefined words of Loagaeth in a later work.

Pronunciation Key (Fully Explained)

Based on my studies of Dee’s records (see the “Pronunciation Notes” section), I have offered pronunciations for almost every word in the Lexicon. You may notice that this key is very different from the pronunciation guides we normally see for the “Enochian” language. Most often, such guides are alphabetical—meaning that they present the Angelical (or English-equivalent) letters, and then suggest what sounds these letters might make individually. While it is good to know what sound each letter makes, it tells us little about what sounds are made when the letters are combined into actual syllables and words.

My pronunciation guide, on the other hand, is entirely phonetic. It begins with the sounds that make up the syllables. Then, it presents the phonetic notations I have created to represent those sounds. These notations are intended to be simple and intuitive to the modern reader.

Vowels

Short vowels are mostly represented by single letters, while I have extended the long vowels to two letters:

Phonetic Sound	-	Notation
a –long (cake, day)	-	ay
a –short (bat, cat)	-	a e –long (beet, seat)		ee
e –short (bed, wed)		e
i –long (bite, kite)		ii i –short (bit, sit)	-	i
o –long (boat, slope)		oh

o –short (bot, stop, father)	-	o, ah
u –long (boot, blue)		oo
u –short (but, cup)	-	u

Note: There are some cases where an a falls at the end of a word. I feel this likely indicates something between a long and short a—or a schwa. In such cases, I have simply left a single a in my pronunciation. It can be treated as a short a, but it is more akin to a schwa sound. (I assume Dee, had he intended the long “a” sound, would have ended the words with ay or eh.) For example, the word Amma (Cursed) likely ends with a sound somewhere in between the long and short a (schwa)—“am-a.”

Consonants

If consonants are written together (as in br, cr, gr, st, th, and tr), simply pronounce the combined sound as you would in present-day English (break, crate, grab, start, and so forth). Otherwise, standard consonant sounds are indicated by the following:

Phonetic Sound	-	Notation
b (branch, blurb)	-	b
d (dog, during)	-	d
f (far, fork)	-	f
g (gap, gourd)	-	g
h (half, heavy)	-	h
j (jump, giant, bludgeon)	-	j
k (kind, can)	-	k
l (large, loud)	-	l
m (many, move)	-	m
n (north, never)	-	n
p (pace, pardon)	-	p
r (rain, banner)	-	r, er
s (serve, circle)	-	s
t (test, tax)	-	t
w (water, wind)	-	w
x (exit, except)	-	ks
y (yellow, your)	-	y
z (zoom, zebra)	-	z

“Long Consonants”

There are many cases where Dee indicated a consonant standing alone in a syllable. At these times, the letter does not make its usual consonant sound. Instead, the syllable is pronounced the same as the English name of the consonant. I have dubbed these “long consonants” (see the “General Notes on Angelical Phonology” section of the “Angelical Linguistics” chapter), and I represent their sounds as follows:

Phonetic Sound	-	Notation
d	-	dee
f	-	ef
g	-	jee
j	-	jay
l	-	el
m	-	em
n	-	en
p	-	pee
q	-	kwah
r	-	ur
s	-	es
t	-	tee
y	-	wii
z	-	zohd, zed

Digraphs and Diphthongs

The digraphs and diphthongs are fairly standard in modern English:

Phonetic Sound	-	Notation ch (church, witch)	-	ch
ch (ache, chrome)		kh
ou, ow (out, town)		ow
oi, oy (oil, boy)	-	oy
qu (queen, quick)		kw
sh (shine, wish)		sh
ph (phone, philosophy)		f
th (that, whither, thorn)	-	th

Also Note

There are a few instances when the letters sg occur in Angelical words—such as Caosg or Vorsg. In these cases, Dee does not indicate that the “g” sound should stand alone as its own syllable. Thus, I find it likely it is intended to combine with the s to make a kind of “zh” (or hard “sh”) sound—as we hear in English words like measure, pleasure, and treasure. I have indicated this sound in the Psalter and Lexicon with the digraph zh.

Accented Syllables

Dee included accent marks throughout the 48 Claves Angelicae and A True and Faithful Relation. I have indicated these accents in my pronunciations by writing the related syllable in ALL CAPS. For instance, the word Cacacom (To Flourish) is recorded in the 48 Claves as ca-cá-com. In the Lexicon, I have given the pronunciation of “kay-SAY-som”—showing an accent on the second syllable.

Dee did not record accents for all of the Angelical words. Yet many of the unaccented words are closely related to accented versions, so we can make educated guesses. For example, Dee left no accent marks for the word Bliorax (To Comfort). However, he did indicate—in both the 48 Claves and TFR—that Bliora (Comfort) should be accented on the second syllable. Therefore, we can make an educated guess that Bloriax should also be accented on the second syllable.

I have included these speculative accents where I could, and noted my reasoning for each. In cases where no clues at all were left by Dee, I have avoided making uneducated guesses. Plus, only in rare cases have I adopted an accent from an uncompounded word into a compounded word, or vice versa. As discussed in the chapter on Angelical linguistics, compounding often drastically changes the pronunciation of the word—and Dee’s notes indicate that this includes accented syllables as well.

Angelical Root Words

I have discussed the nature of Angelical root words in the chapter on Angelical linguistics. For the most part, these simple letter combinations are three to four letters in length, although there are some rare examples of one-letter or two-letter root words.

Below, I have included a list of root words I have found through analysis of the Lexicon. This list is not intended as concrete or exhaustive. Some of the entries are tentative at best, and I admit there could be any number of roots that I have missed or failed to recognize.

Moreover, I have included in this section mostly those roots that do not stand as words on their own. There are other Angelical words that appear to be in their root form (such as Mal or Ror) that do stand as words on their own. Such words have their own Lexicon entries, and do not appear in this brief list.

Thus, we can see the work on Angelical root words has only begun—the tip of the proverbial iceberg. However, I feel that learning these root concepts is essential to understanding, and eventually expanding, the Angelical tongue.

Aba: Stooping, Sinking
(“Abai,” Carbaſ)

Abra: Prepair, Provide
(Abramig, Abramg, Abrassa)

Al: Gather, Bind, Settle, Place
(Aala, Alar, Allar, Aldi, Aldon, Oali)

Asb/Osb: Sting, Destroy
(Grosb, “Quasb”)

Asch: [definition uncertain]
(Ascha, Masch)

Asp: Quality
(Asp, Aspiann Aspiaon)

Ava Avav: Thunder, Pomp
(“Avav,” Avavox, Avavago)

Azia: Alike, Likeness
(“Azia,” Aziazor)

Bab: Dominion, Wicked, Harlot
(Ababalond, Bab, Babalon, Babalel, Babage, Babagen, Bablibo, Bobogel)

Bag: Fury?

(Bag, Bagie, Bagenol, Bagnole)

Bal/Balt: Justice, Righteousness, Judgment

(Baligon, Balit, Balt, Baltan, Baltim, Baltle, Balzarg, Balzizras)

Bas/Baz: Day, Daytime

(Basgim, Basmelo, Basledf, Baspalo, Bazchim, "Bazem," Bazpama)

Bia/Bie: Voice

(Bahal, Bia, Bial, Bien)

Bli/Bil: Comfort

("Bigl," "Bliard," Blior, Bliora, Bliorax, Bliorb, Bliors, "Bliort," Pibliar)

Boap: Service

(Aboapri, Booapis)

Brin: Have, Has

("Brin," "Brint," Brints)

Chr: Let There Be, Be It (i.e., To Exist)

(Chr, Chramsa, Christeos)

Coa: Increase

("Coazior," Hecoa)

Coc/Cac/Cap: Time, Duration, Succession

(Acocasb, "Cacocasb," Cocasb, Cocasg, Qcocasb, Cacacom, Cacrg, Casasam, Capimali, "Capimao," Capimaon, Capmiali)

Com: Connect, Truss, Encircle

(Commah, Comselh)

Con/Cor: Man, Manmade and Number

(Conisbra, Cordziz)

(Cormf, Cormfa, Cormp, Cormpo, Cornpt, Sagacor, Coronzom)

Dod: Vexation

(Dodpal, Dodmni, Dods, Dodsih)

Doh: Kingdom

(Adohi, Londoh)

Ecr/Ecri: Praise

(“Ecrin,” Oecrimi)

Fa: Song, Singing

(Faaip, Farzem)

Fao/Far: Dwelling

(Faonts, Fargt, “Faorgt”)

Gah: Pure Spirit

(Gah, Gahoachma, Gahire)

Goh: Speak, Say

(Goho, Gohia, Gohol, Gohon, Gohulim, Gohus)

Hom: Live, Age

(Hom, Homil, Homin)

Huba: Lamps, Lanterns

(Hubaio, Hubar, Hubaro)

I/Ip: The Verb To Be

(I, Ip, Ipam, Ipamis, Ripir)

Ia/Iad: God, The Highest, Divine

(Iad, Geiad, “Iadoias,” Iadpil, Iadnah, Iaiadix, Laiad, Iaida, Iaidon, Iaisg, Ioiad, Oiad, Piad)

Ialp: Light, Fire

(Yalpamb, Ialpirt, Ialpon, “Ialpor,” “Ialprt”)

Isr: Promise

(Aisro, Isro, Isr)

L/Lo: One, First, You (sing.)

(Aqlo, Bolp, Yls, Ylsi, “Lo,” El, L, La, Lu, Ol, Ili, Lil, Ul, Uls, “Yl”)

Lans/Lons: Power

(Lansh, Lonsa, Lonshi, "Lonshin")

Lusd/Lasd: Feet, Base

(Lasdi, Lusd, Lusda, Lusdan)

Lza: Course

("Elzap," "Lzar")

Mad: Godly, Pure, Heavenly

(Mad, "Madriax," Madriiix, Madrid, Oadriax)

Mica/Mical: Might, Power

(Gmicalzo, Micalp, Micalzo, Micaoli, Micaolz, Miketh, Omicaolz)

Nan/Nana: Wisdom, Power

(Ananael, Nanaeel)

Nap: Sharpness

(Napeai, Napta, Nazpsad)

Naz: Straightness

(Nazpsad, Nazarth, Nazavabh)

Noa: Become

(Noaln, Noan, Noar, Noas, Noasmi)

Nonc: You (pl.)

(Nonca, Noncf, Nonci, Noncp)

Noqo: Servant

(Cnoqod, Cnoquodi, Cnoquol, Noco)

Nor: Son

("Nor," "Norm," Noromi)

Oan/Aon: Small Unit (as in Moment, Eye)

(Oanio, Ooanamb, Ooaona, Ooanoan, "Qanis")

Obl/Obo: Dressing, Garland, Garment

(Obloc, Oboleh)

Oia: Eternal/Forever

("Iadoias," Ioiad)

Ol: To Make

(Eol, Eolis, Oln)

Ola/Ala: Two, Twice

(Olani, Pala, Pola)

Olo/Ollo: Man, Men

("Olap," Ollog, "Ollor," Olora)

Om: Wisdom, Understanding

(Om, "Oma," Omax, "Omp")

Ooa/Oa: Name

(Dooain, Dooaip, Dooiap, Omaoas)

Or/Ors: Darkness, Dryness, Beneath, Barren, etc.

(Oroch, Orocha, Orri, Ors, Orsba, Orscatbl, Orscor)

Ox: masculine, active?

(Oxex, Oxiayal, Tox)

Paca/Pacad: ?

(Pacaduasam, Pacaph)

Pam: Not

(Ipam, Ipamis, "Pam," "Pamis")

Parac: Equate, Join, Wed

(Parach, Paracleda)

Pir/Pr: Holy, Celestial

(Pir, Piripsax, Piripsol, Piripson, "Pirgah," "Pirgi," "Prg," Prge, Prgel, "Purg")

Poil: Division

(Yrpoil, Poilp)

Qa/Qaa: Create

(Qaa, Qaal, Qaan, Qaaon, Qaas, Qadah)

Racl/Rocl: Weep?

(Raclir, Rocle)

Rza: To Swear

(Surzas, Znrza)

Sem/Sam: ?

(Samhampors, Sem, Semhaham)

Sm/Sym: Another

(Asymp, Symp, "Smnad")

Sob/Sol: Whose, Whom

(Asobam, Soba, Sobam, Sobca, "Sobha," "Sobo," Sobra, "Sola")

Tab/Cab: Govern

(Anetab, Gnetaab, Netaab, Netaaib, Tabaam, Tabaord, Tabaori, "Tabas," Tabitom, Cab, Caba)

Uch: Confuse, Confound

(Oucho, Unchi, Urch)

Von/Voh/Vov: Anger, Wrath, Might

(Vohim, "Vnph," "Vonin," Vonph, Vonpho, "Vonpo," "Vovim," Vovina)

Zie/Zo: Hands

(Azien, Ozien, Zien, Ozol, Zol)

Zil/Zyl: Go within, Fly into, Stretch forth

(Zildar, Zildron, "Zilodarp," Zylna)

Zim: Enter, Territory

(Zim, Zimii, Zimz)

Zir: Am, Was, Were

(Zir, Zirdo, Zirom, Zirop, Zirzird)

Zli, Ilz: Water

(Pilzin, Zlida)

Zom: Amidst

(Zom, Zomdux)

Zong: Wind

(Zong, Ozongon)

Zur: Pray?

(Zuraah, Zurah, Zure)

The Angelical Alphabet

Graph	Un	Or	Gal	Ged	Veh	Pa

E	A	F	D	G/J	C/Ch/K	B

Drux	Ger	Mals	Ur	Na	Gon	Tal

N	Q/Qu	P/Ph	L	H	I/Y	M

Gisg	Fam	Van	Ceph	Don	Med	Pal

T	S	U/V	Z	R	O	X

An Angelical to English Dictionary

Un (A)

✕

Aai (ay-AY-ii)* prep.

Amongst (You)

ㄌ ㄗ ㄗ

1.67 . . . reigneth amongst you . . .12.21 . . . whose name amongst you is wrath.13.21 . . . is called amongst you a bitter sting.14.23 . . . which is called amongst you fury.Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 1.67—AAI)

(*Dee 12.21—A a i) Three syllables. Each letter appears to stand alone.

(*Dee 1.67—aäl) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee seems to have mistakenly written an l in place of the final i. However, he does include a dieresis over the second a, to indicate that it does not combine its sound with the preceding vowel.I have adopted the accent from Aaiom (amongst).Note:

Words 13.21–22 are missing from Dee's journals. We are likewise missing the entirety of Key Fourteen. We have only the English given for these Keys on TFR, p. 193. However, this word does appear in these locations in Dee's 48 Claves.

Also:

Aaf (ay-AF)

Amongst

Aaiom (ay-AY-om)

Amongst (Us?)

Aao (ay-ay-OH)

Amongst

Eai (ee-AY-ii)

Amongst

Oai (oh-AY-ii)

Amongst

Aaiom (ay-AY-om)* prep.

Amongst (Us)

ㄉ ㄌ ㄌ ㄗ ㄗ

3.71 . . . is become mighty amongst us.7.41 . . . be mighty amongst us . . .

Pronunciation notes:

- (*Dee 3.71—A ai om)
- (*Dee 7.41—A AI om) Three syllables. The first a stands alone in the first syllable. In the second syllable, the ai (or ay) makes essentially the same sound as the first syllable (as in the English words dais and say).
- (*Dee 3.71—a-ai-om) See the 48 Claves. Note the accent on the second syllable.
- (*Dee 7.41—aaïom) See the 48 Claves. I am unsure why Dee placed a circumflex over the i in this case.

Note:

This might appear to be a compound of Aai (amongst) and Om (understand). However, see below for Aao, another variant of this word that utilizes the letter o without the letter m.

Also:

Aaf (ay-AF)	Amongst
Aai (ay-AY-ii)	Amongst (You)
Aao (ay-ay-OH)	Amongst
Eai (ee-AY-ii)	Amongst
Oai (oh-AY-ii)	Amongst

Aaf (ay-AF)* prep.	Amongst
	⚔ ⚔ ⚔

4.46 . . . praise him amongst the sons of man.

Pronunciation notes:

- (*Dee—A af) Two syllables, with the first a standing alone. I have adopted the syllable from other versions of this word.

Also:

Aai (ay-AY-ii)	Amongst (You)
Aaiom (ay-AY-om)	Amongst (Us?)
Aao (ay-ay-OH)	Amongst
Eai (ee-AY-ii)	Amongst
Oai (oh-AY-ii)	Amongst

Aala (AY-ay-la)* v.	To Place
	⚔ ⚔ ⚔

3.32 . . . I made you stewards and placed you in seats . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—A ala) Dee originally wrote this word as haala. However, he excluded the h in his phonetic note. Three syllables, with the initial a standing alone.

(*Dee—áala) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee confirms that the h is unnecessary. He places the accent on the first syllable. He also placed a circumflex over the second a, indicating a long sound.

Also:

Oali (OH-ay-lii) To Place

Probable shared root:

Alar (AY-lar) To Settle/Place

Aldi (AL-dii) Gathering

Aldon (AL-don) Gird up

Allar (AL-lar) To Bind up

Aao (ay-ay-OH)* prep. Amongst

7.5 . . . singing praises amongst the flames . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—A a ó) Like the word Aai, this version is also divided into three syllables. (There is no ao letter combination in Early Modern English—these letters make two separate sounds, as in the English word chaos.) Dee places the accent on the last syllable.

Also:

Aaf (ay-AF) Amongst

Aai (ay-AY-ii) Amongst (You)

Aaiom (ay-AY-om) Amongst (Us?)

Eai (ee-AY-ii) Amongst

Oai (oh-AY-ii) Amongst

“Aath” (or “Ath”) (ath) n. Works (or Deeds)

Compounds:Sobhaath (sob-HAY-ath) [Sobha + “Aath”]

Whose Works

Note:

See also Vaun (to work)—which appears to be a verb, rather than the noun intended by “Aath.”

Ababalond (ay-BAY-bay-lond)* n.

Harlot

30.113 . . . she is the bed of an harlot . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—A bá ba lond) Four syllables, with an accent on the second syllable. The initial a stands alone.

(*Dee—abábâlond) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee again placed an accent over the second syllable. He also placed a circumflex over the third a to indicate its long sound.

Note:

The similarity between this word and the name of the ancient empire of Babylon. Beginning with 1 Enoch (likely written during the Judaic captivity in Babylon), the kingdom of Babylon has been a biblical symbol of iniquity. See Revelation 17, where the iniquities of the world of man are symbolized by a woman whose forehead is inscribed with the words Mystery, Babylon the Great, the Mother of Harlots and Abominations of the Earth. Also see note at Babalon (Wicked).

Also:

Babalon (bay-BAY-lon)

Wicked

Possible shared root:

Bab (bab)

Dominion

Babage (bay-BAY-jee)

South

Babagen (bay-BAY-jen)

South

“Abai” (ay-bay-ii) v.

To Stoop

Compounds:

Abaivonin (ay-bay-II-voh-nin) ["Abai" + Vonin] Stooping Dragons

Note:

Stooping here means "diving," as in an eagle stooping after its prey. Note that stooping is a verb, but is used in the compound (Abaivonin) as an adjective.

Probable shared root:

Carbaf (kar-baf) Sink (or Stoop)

Abaivonin (ay-bay-II-voh-nin)* ["Abai" + Vonin] comp.

Stooping Dragons

𐄂𐄃𐄄𐄅𐄆𐄇𐄈𐄉𐄊𐄋𐄌𐄍𐄎𐄏𐄐𐄑𐄒𐄓𐄔𐄕𐄖𐄗𐄘𐄙𐄚𐄛𐄜𐄝𐄞𐄟𐄠𐄡𐄢𐄣𐄤𐄥𐄦𐄧𐄨𐄩𐄪𐄫𐄬𐄭𐄮𐄯𐄰𐄱𐄲𐄳𐄴𐄵𐄶𐄷𐄸𐄹𐄺𐄻𐄼𐄽𐄾𐄿𐅀𐅁𐅂𐅃𐅄𐅅𐅆𐅇𐅈𐅉𐅊𐅋𐅌𐅍𐅎𐅏𐅐𐅑𐅒𐅓𐅔𐅕𐅖𐅗𐅘𐅙𐅚𐅛𐅜𐅝𐅞𐅟𐅠𐅡𐅢𐅣𐅤𐅥𐅦𐅧𐅨𐅩𐅪𐅫𐅬𐅭𐅮𐅯𐅰𐅱𐅲𐅳𐅴𐅵𐅶𐅷𐅸𐅹𐅺𐅻𐅼𐅽𐅾𐅿𐆀𐆁𐆂𐆃𐆄𐆅𐆆𐆇𐆈𐆉𐆊𐆋𐆌𐆍𐆎𐆏𐆐𐆑𐆒𐆓𐆔𐆕𐆖𐆗𐆘𐆙𐆚𐆛𐆜𐆝𐆞𐆟𐆠𐆡𐆢𐆣𐆤𐆥𐆦𐆧𐆨𐆩𐆪𐆫𐆬𐆭𐆮𐆯𐆰𐆱𐆲𐆳𐆴𐆵𐆶𐆷𐆸𐆹𐆺𐆻𐆼𐆽𐆾𐆿𐇀𐇁𐇂𐇃𐇄𐇅𐇆𐇇𐇈𐇉𐇊𐇋𐇌𐇍𐇎𐇏𐇐𐇑𐇒𐇓𐇔𐇕𐇖𐇗𐇘𐇙𐇚𐇛𐇜𐇝𐇞𐇟𐇠𐇡𐇢𐇣𐇤𐇥𐇦𐇧𐇨𐇩𐇪𐇫𐇬𐇭𐇮𐇯𐇰𐇱𐇲𐇳𐇴𐇵𐇶𐇷𐇸𐇹𐇺𐇻𐇼𐇽𐇾𐇿𐈀𐈁𐈂𐈃𐈄𐈅𐈆𐈇𐈈𐈉𐈊𐈋𐈌𐈍𐈎𐈏𐈐𐈑𐈒𐈓𐈔𐈕𐈖𐈗𐈘𐈙𐈚𐈛𐈜𐈝𐈞𐈟𐈠𐈡𐈢𐈣𐈤𐈥𐈦𐈧𐈨𐈩𐈪𐈫𐈬𐈭𐈮𐈯𐈰𐈱𐈲𐈳𐈴𐈵𐈶𐈷𐈸𐈹𐈺𐈻𐈼𐈽𐈾𐈿𐉀𐉁𐉂𐉃𐉄𐉅𐉆𐉇𐉈𐉉𐉊𐉋𐉌𐉍𐉎𐉏𐉐𐉑𐉒𐉓𐉔𐉕𐉖𐉗𐉘𐉙𐉚𐉛𐉜𐉝𐉞𐉟𐉠𐉡𐉢𐉣𐉤𐉥𐉦𐉧𐉨𐉩𐉪𐉫𐉬𐉭𐉮𐉯𐉰𐉱𐉲𐉳𐉴𐉵𐉶𐉷𐉸𐉹𐉺𐉻𐉼𐉽𐉾𐉿𐊀𐊁𐊂𐊃𐊄𐊅𐊆𐊇𐊈𐊉𐊊𐊋𐊌𐊍𐊎𐊏𐊐𐊑𐊒𐊓𐊔𐊕𐊖𐊗𐊘𐊙𐊚𐊛𐊜𐊝𐊞𐊟𐊠𐊡𐊢𐊣𐊤𐊥𐊦𐊧𐊨𐊩𐊪𐊫𐊬𐊭𐊮𐊯𐊰𐊱𐊲𐊳𐊴𐊵𐊶𐊷𐊸𐊹𐊺𐊻𐊼𐊽𐊾𐊿𐋀𐋁𐋂𐋃𐋄𐋅𐋆𐋇𐋈𐋉𐋊𐋋𐋌𐋍𐋎𐋏𐋐𐋑𐋒𐋓𐋔𐋕𐋖𐋗𐋘𐋙𐋚𐋛𐋜𐋝𐋞𐋟𐋠𐋡𐋢𐋣𐋤𐋥𐋦𐋧𐋨𐋩𐋪𐋫𐋬𐋭𐋮𐋯𐋰𐋱𐋲𐋳𐋴𐋵𐋶𐋷𐋸𐋹𐋺𐋻𐋼𐋽𐋾𐋿𐌀𐌁𐌂𐌃𐌄𐌅𐌆𐌇𐌈𐌉𐌊𐌋𐌌𐌍𐌎𐌏𐌐𐌑𐌒𐌓𐌔𐌕𐌖𐌗𐌘𐌙𐌚𐌛𐌜𐌝𐌞𐌟𐌠𐌡𐌢𐌣𐌤𐌥𐌦𐌧𐌨𐌩𐌪𐌫𐌬𐌭𐌮𐌯𐌰𐌱𐌲𐌳𐌴𐌵𐌶𐌷𐌸𐌹𐌺𐌻𐌼𐌽𐌾𐌿𐍀𐍁𐍂𐍃𐍄𐍅𐍆𐍇𐍈𐍉𐍊𐍋𐍌𐍍𐍎𐍏𐍐𐍑𐍒𐍓𐍔𐍕𐍖𐍗𐍘𐍙𐍚𐍛𐍜𐍝𐍞𐍟𐍠𐍡𐍢𐍣𐍤𐍥𐍦𐍧𐍨𐍩𐍪𐍫𐍬𐍭𐍮𐍯𐍰𐍱𐍲𐍳𐍴𐍵𐍶𐍷𐍸𐍹𐍺𐍻𐍼𐍽𐍾𐍿𐎀𐎁𐎂𐎃𐎄𐎅𐎆𐎇𐎈𐎉𐎊𐎋𐎌𐎍𐎎𐎏𐎐𐎑𐎒𐎓𐎔𐎕𐎖𐎗𐎘𐎙𐎚𐎛𐎜𐎝𐎞𐎟𐎠𐎡𐎢𐎣𐎤𐎥𐎦𐎧𐎨𐎩𐎪𐎫𐎬𐎭𐎮𐎯𐎰𐎱𐎲𐎳𐎴𐎵𐎶𐎷𐎸𐎹𐎺𐎻𐎼𐎽𐎾𐎿𐏀𐏁𐏂𐏃𐏄𐏅𐏆𐏇𐏈𐏉𐏊𐏋𐏌𐏍𐏎𐏏𐏐𐏑𐏒𐏓𐏔𐏕𐏖𐏗𐏘𐏙𐏚𐏛𐏜𐏝𐏞𐏟𐏠𐏡𐏢𐏣𐏤𐏥𐏦𐏧𐏨𐏩𐏪𐏫𐏬𐏭𐏮𐏯𐏰𐏱𐏲𐏳𐏴𐏵𐏶𐏷𐏸𐏹𐏺𐏻𐏼𐏽𐏾𐏿𐐀𐐁𐐂𐐃𐐄𐐅𐐆𐐇𐐈𐐉𐐊𐐋𐐌𐐍𐐎𐐏𐐐𐐑𐐒𐐓𐐔𐐕𐐖𐐗𐐘𐐙𐐚𐐛𐐜𐐝𐐞𐐟𐐠𐐡𐐢𐐣𐐤𐐥𐐦𐐧𐐨𐐩𐐪𐐫𐐬𐐭𐐮𐐯𐐰𐐱𐐲𐐳𐐴𐐵𐐶𐐷𐐸𐐹𐐺𐐻𐐼𐐽𐐾𐐿𐑀𐑁𐑂𐑃𐑄𐑅𐑆𐑇𐑈𐑉𐑊𐑋𐑌𐑍𐑎𐑏𐑐𐑑𐑒𐑓𐑔𐑕𐑖𐑗𐑘𐑙𐑚𐑛𐑜𐑝𐑞𐑟𐑠𐑡𐑢𐑣𐑤𐑥𐑦𐑧𐑨𐑩𐑪𐑫𐑬𐑭𐑮𐑯𐑰𐑱𐑲𐑳𐑴𐑵𐑶𐑷𐑸𐑹𐑺𐑻𐑼𐑽𐑾𐑿𐒀𐒁𐒂𐒃𐒄𐒅𐒆𐒇𐒈𐒉𐒊𐒋𐒌𐒍𐒎𐒏𐒐𐒑𐒒𐒓𐒔𐒕𐒖𐒗𐒘𐒙𐒚𐒛𐒜𐒝𐒞𐒟𐒠𐒡𐒢𐒣𐒤𐒥𐒦𐒧𐒨𐒩𐒪𐒫𐒬𐒭𐒮𐒯𐒰𐒱𐒲𐒳𐒴𐒵𐒶𐒷𐒸𐒹𐒺𐒻𐒼𐒽𐒾𐒿𐓀𐓁𐓂𐓃𐓄𐓅𐓆𐓇𐓈𐓉𐓊𐓋𐓌𐓍𐓎𐓏𐓐𐓑𐓒𐓓𐓔𐓕𐓖𐓗𐓘𐓙𐓚𐓛𐓜𐓝𐓞𐓟𐓠𐓡𐓢𐓣𐓤𐓥𐓦𐓧𐓨𐓩𐓪𐓫𐓬𐓭𐓮𐓯𐓰𐓱𐓲𐓳𐓴𐓵𐓶𐓷𐓸𐓹𐓺𐓻𐓼𐓽𐓾𐓿𐔀𐔁𐔂𐔃𐔄𐔅𐔆𐔇𐔈𐔉𐔊𐔋𐔌𐔍𐔎𐔏𐔐𐔑𐔒𐔓𐔔𐔕𐔖𐔗𐔘𐔙𐔚𐔛𐔜𐔝𐔞𐔟𐔠𐔡𐔢𐔣𐔤𐔥𐔦𐔧𐔨𐔩𐔪𐔫𐔬𐔭𐔮𐔯𐔰𐔱𐔲𐔳𐔴𐔵𐔶𐔷𐔸𐔹𐔺𐔻𐔼𐔽𐔾𐔿𐕀𐕁𐕂𐕃𐕄𐕅𐕆𐕇𐕈𐕉𐕊𐕋𐕌𐕍𐕎𐕏𐕐𐕑𐕒𐕓𐕔𐕕𐕖𐕗𐕘𐕙𐕚𐕛𐕜𐕝𐕞𐕟𐕠𐕡𐕢𐕣𐕤𐕥𐕦𐕧𐕨𐕩𐕪𐕫𐕬𐕭𐕮𐕯𐕰𐕱𐕲𐕳𐕴𐕵𐕶𐕷𐕸𐕹𐕺𐕻𐕼𐕽𐕾𐕿𐖀𐖁𐖂𐖃𐖄𐖅𐖆𐖇𐖈𐖉𐖊𐖋𐖌𐖍𐖎𐖏𐖐𐖑𐖒𐖓𐖔𐖕𐖖𐖗𐖘𐖙𐖚𐖛𐖜𐖝𐖞𐖟𐖠𐖡𐖢𐖣𐖤𐖥𐖦𐖧𐖨𐖩𐖪𐖫𐖬𐖭𐖮𐖯𐖰𐖱𐖲𐖳𐖴𐖵𐖶𐖷𐖸𐖹𐖺𐖻𐖼𐖽𐖾𐖿𐗀𐗁𐗂𐗃𐗄𐗅𐗆𐗇𐗈𐗉𐗊𐗋𐗌𐗍𐗎𐗏𐗐𐗑𐗒𐗓𐗔𐗕𐗖𐗗𐗘𐗙𐗚𐗛𐗜𐗝𐗞𐗟𐗠𐗡𐗢𐗣𐗤𐗥𐗦𐗧𐗨𐗩𐗪𐗫𐗬𐗭𐗮𐗯𐗰𐗱𐗲𐗳𐗴𐗵𐗶𐗷𐗸𐗹𐗺𐗻𐗼𐗽𐗾𐗿𐘀𐘁𐘂𐘃𐘄𐘅𐘆𐘇𐘈𐘉𐘊𐘋𐘌𐘍𐘎𐘏𐘐𐘑𐘒𐘓𐘔𐘕𐘖𐘗𐘘𐘙𐘚𐘛𐘜𐘝𐘞𐘟𐘠𐘡𐘢𐘣𐘤𐘥𐘦𐘧𐘨𐘩𐘪𐘫𐘬𐘭𐘮𐘯𐘰𐘱𐘲𐘳𐘴𐘵𐘶𐘷𐘸𐘹𐘺𐘻𐘼𐘽𐘾𐘿𐙀𐙁𐙂𐙃𐙄𐙅𐙆𐙇𐙈𐙉𐙊𐙋𐙌𐙍𐙎𐙏𐙐𐙑𐙒𐙓𐙔𐙕𐙖𐙗𐙘𐙙𐙚𐙛𐙜𐙝𐙞𐙟𐙠𐙡𐙢𐙣𐙤𐙥𐙦𐙧𐙨𐙩𐙪𐙫𐙬𐙭𐙮𐙯𐙰𐙱𐙲𐙳𐙴𐙵𐙶𐙷𐙸𐙹𐙺𐙻𐙼𐙽𐙾𐙿𐚀𐚁𐚂𐚃𐚄𐚅𐚆𐚇𐚈𐚉𐚊𐚋𐚌𐚍𐚎𐚏𐚐𐚑𐚒𐚓𐚔𐚕𐚖𐚗𐚘𐚙𐚚𐚛𐚜𐚝𐚞𐚟𐚠𐚡𐚢𐚣𐚤𐚥𐚦𐚧𐚨𐚩𐚪𐚫𐚬𐚭𐚮𐚯𐚰𐚱𐚲𐚳𐚴𐚵𐚶𐚷𐚸𐚹𐚺𐚻𐚼𐚽𐚾𐚿𐛀𐛁𐛂𐛃𐛄𐛅𐛆𐛇𐛈𐛉𐛊𐛋𐛌𐛍𐛎𐛏𐛐𐛑𐛒𐛓𐛔𐛕𐛖𐛗𐛘𐛙𐛚𐛛𐛜𐛝𐛞𐛟𐛠𐛡𐛢𐛣𐛤𐛥𐛦𐛧𐛨𐛩𐛪𐛫𐛬𐛭𐛮𐛯𐛰𐛱𐛲𐛳𐛴𐛵𐛶𐛷𐛸𐛹𐛺𐛻𐛼𐛽𐛾𐛿𐜀𐜁𐜂𐜃𐜄𐜅𐜆𐜇𐜈𐜉𐜊𐜋𐜌𐜍𐜎𐜏𐜐𐜑𐜒𐜓𐜔𐜕𐜖𐜗𐜘𐜙𐜚𐜛𐜜𐜝𐜞𐜟𐜠𐜡𐜢𐜣𐜤𐜥𐜦𐜧𐜨𐜩𐜪𐜫𐜬𐜭𐜮𐜯𐜰𐜱𐜲𐜳𐜴𐜵𐜶𐜷𐜸𐜹𐜺𐜻𐜼𐜽𐜾𐜿𐝀𐝁𐝂𐝃𐝄𐝅𐝆𐝇𐝈𐝉𐝊𐝋𐝌𐝍𐝎𐝏𐝐𐝑𐝒𐝓𐝔𐝕𐝖𐝗𐝘𐝙𐝚𐝛𐝜𐝝𐝞𐝟𐝠𐝡𐝢𐝣𐝤𐝥𐝦𐝧𐝨𐝩𐝪𐝫𐝬𐝭𐝮𐝯𐝰𐝱𐝲𐝳𐝴𐝵𐝶𐝷𐝸𐝹𐝺𐝻𐝼𐝽𐝾𐝿𐞀𐞁𐞂𐞃𐞄𐞅𐞆𐞇𐞈𐞉𐞊𐞋𐞌𐞍𐞎𐞏𐞐𐞑𐞒𐞓𐞔𐞕𐞖𐞗𐞘𐞙𐞚𐞛𐞜𐞝𐞞𐞟𐞠𐞡𐞢𐞣𐞤𐞥𐞦𐞧𐞨𐞩𐞪𐞫𐞬𐞭𐞮𐞯𐞰𐞱𐞲𐞳𐞴𐞵𐞶𐞷𐞸𐞹𐞺𐞻𐞼𐞽𐞾𐞿𐟀𐟁𐟂𐟃𐟄𐟅𐟆𐟇𐟈𐟉𐟊𐟋𐟌𐟍𐟎𐟏𐟐𐟑𐟒𐟓𐟔𐟕𐟖𐟗𐟘𐟙𐟚𐟛𐟜𐟝𐟞𐟟𐟠𐟡𐟢𐟣𐟤𐟥𐟦𐟧𐟨𐟩𐟪𐟫𐟬𐟭𐟮𐟯𐟰𐟱𐟲𐟳𐟴𐟵𐟶𐟷𐟸𐟹𐟺𐟻𐟼𐟽𐟾𐟿𐠀𐠁𐠂𐠃𐠄𐠅𐠆𐠇𐠈𐠉𐠊𐠋𐠌𐠍𐠎𐠏𐠐𐠑𐠒𐠓𐠔𐠕𐠖𐠗𐠘𐠙𐠚𐠛𐠜𐠝𐠞𐠟𐠠𐠡𐠢𐠣𐠤𐠥𐠦𐠧𐠨𐠩𐠪𐠫𐠬𐠭𐠮𐠯𐠰𐠱𐠲𐠳𐠴𐠵𐠶𐠷𐠸𐠹𐠺𐠻𐠼𐠽𐠾𐠿𐡀𐡁𐡂𐡃𐡄𐡅𐡆𐡇𐡈𐡉𐡊𐡋𐡌𐡍𐡎𐡏𐡐𐡑𐡒𐡓𐡔𐡕𐡖𐡗𐡘𐡙𐡚𐡛𐡜𐡝𐡞𐡟𐡠𐡡𐡢𐡣𐡤𐡥𐡦𐡧𐡨𐡩𐡪𐡫𐡬𐡭𐡮𐡯𐡰𐡱𐡲𐡳𐡴𐡵𐡶𐡷𐡸𐡹𐡺𐡻𐡼𐡽𐡾𐡿𐢀𐢁𐢂𐢃𐢄𐢅𐢆𐢇𐢈𐢉𐢊𐢋𐢌𐢍𐢎𐢏𐢐𐢑𐢒𐢓𐢔𐢕𐢖𐢗𐢘𐢙𐢚𐢛𐢜𐢝𐢞𐢟𐢠𐢡𐢢𐢣𐢤𐢥𐢦𐢧𐢨𐢩𐢪𐢫𐢬𐢭𐢮𐢯𐢰𐢱𐢲𐢳𐢴𐢵𐢶𐢷𐢸𐢹𐢺𐢻𐢼𐢽𐢾𐢿𐣀𐣁𐣂𐣃𐣄𐣅𐣆𐣇𐣈𐣉𐣊𐣋𐣌𐣍𐣎𐣏𐣐𐣑𐣒𐣓𐣔𐣕𐣖𐣗𐣘𐣙𐣚𐣛𐣜𐣝𐣞𐣟𐣠𐣡𐣢𐣣𐣤𐣥𐣦𐣧𐣨𐣩𐣪𐣫𐣬𐣭𐣮𐣯𐣰𐣱𐣲𐣳𐣴𐣵𐣶𐣷𐣸𐣹𐣺𐣻𐣼𐣽𐣾𐣿𐤀𐤁𐤂𐤃𐤄𐤅𐤆𐤇𐤈𐤉𐤊𐤋𐤌𐤍𐤎𐤏𐤐𐤑𐤒𐤓𐤔𐤕𐤖𐤗𐤘𐤙𐤚𐤛𐤜𐤝𐤞𐤟𐤠𐤡𐤢𐤣𐤤𐤥𐤦𐤧𐤨𐤩𐤪𐤫𐤬𐤭𐤮𐤯𐤰𐤱𐤲𐤳𐤴𐤵𐤶𐤷𐤸𐤹𐤺𐤻𐤼𐤽𐤾𐤿𐥀𐥁𐥂𐥃𐥄𐥅𐥆𐥇𐥈𐥉𐥊𐥋𐥌𐥍𐥎𐥏𐥐𐥑𐥒𐥓𐥔𐥕𐥖𐥗𐥘𐥙𐥚𐥛𐥜𐥝𐥞𐥟𐥠𐥡𐥢𐥣𐥤𐥥𐥦𐥧𐥨𐥩𐥪𐥫𐥬𐥭𐥮𐥯𐥰𐥱𐥲𐥳𐥴𐥵𐥶𐥷𐥸𐥹𐥺𐥻𐥼𐥽𐥾𐥿𐦀𐦁𐦂𐦃𐦄𐦅𐦆𐦇𐦈𐦉𐦊𐦋𐦌𐦍𐦎𐦏𐦐𐦑𐦒𐦓𐦔𐦕𐦖𐦗𐦘𐦙𐦚𐦛𐦜𐦝𐦞𐦟𐦠𐦡𐦢𐦣𐦤𐦥𐦦𐦧𐦨𐦩𐦪𐦫𐦬𐦭𐦮𐦯𐦰𐦱𐦲𐦳𐦴𐦵𐦶𐦷𐦸𐦹𐦺𐦻𐦼𐦽𐦾𐦿𐧀𐧁𐧂𐧃𐧄𐧅𐧆𐧇𐧈𐧉𐧊𐧋𐧌𐧍𐧎𐧏𐧐𐧑𐧒𐧓𐧔𐧕𐧖𐧗𐧘𐧙𐧚𐧛𐧜𐧝𐧞𐧟𐧠𐧡𐧢𐧣𐧤𐧥𐧦𐧧𐧨𐧩𐧪𐧫𐧬𐧭𐧮𐧯𐧰𐧱𐧲𐧳𐧴𐧵𐧶𐧷𐧸𐧹𐧺𐧻𐧼𐧽𐧾𐧿𐨀𐨁𐨂𐨃𐨄𐨅𐨆𐨇𐨈𐨉𐨊𐨋𐨌𐨍𐨎𐨏𐨐𐨑𐨒𐨓𐨔𐨕𐨖𐨗𐨘𐨙𐨚𐨛𐨜𐨝𐨞𐨟𐨠𐨡𐨢𐨣𐨤𐨥𐨦𐨧𐨨𐨩𐨪𐨫𐨬𐨭𐨮𐨯𐨰𐨱𐨲𐨳𐨴𐨵𐨶𐨷𐨹𐨺𐨸𐨻𐨼𐨽𐨾𐨿𐩀𐩁𐩂𐩃𐩄𐩅𐩆𐩇𐩈𐩉𐩊𐩋𐩌𐩍𐩎𐩏𐩐𐩑𐩒𐩓𐩔𐩕𐩖𐩗𐩘𐩙𐩚𐩛𐩜𐩝𐩞𐩟𐩠𐩡𐩢𐩣𐩤𐩥𐩦𐩧𐩨𐩩𐩪𐩫𐩬𐩭𐩮𐩯𐩰𐩱𐩲𐩳𐩴𐩵𐩶𐩷𐩸𐩹𐩺𐩻𐩼𐩽𐩾𐩿𐪀𐪁𐪂𐪃𐪄𐪅𐪆𐪇𐪈𐪉𐪊𐪋𐪌𐪍𐪎𐪏𐪐𐪑𐪒𐪓𐪔𐪕𐪖𐪗𐪘𐪙𐪚𐪛𐪜𐪝𐪞𐪟𐪠𐪡𐪢𐪣𐪤𐪥𐪦𐪧𐪨𐪩𐪪𐪫𐪬𐪭𐪮𐪯𐪰𐪱𐪲𐪳𐪴𐪵𐪶𐪷𐪸𐪹𐪺𐪻𐪼𐪽𐪾𐪿𐫀𐫁𐫂𐫃𐫄𐫅𐫆𐫇𐫈𐫉𐫊𐫋𐫌𐫍𐫎𐫏𐫐𐫑𐫒𐫓𐫔𐫕𐫖𐫗𐫘𐫙𐫚𐫛𐫜𐫝𐫞𐫟𐫠𐫡𐫢𐫣𐫤𐫦𐫥𐫧𐫨𐫩𐫪𐫫𐫬𐫭𐫮𐫯𐫰𐫱𐫲𐫳𐫴𐫵𐫶𐫷𐫸𐫹𐫺𐫻𐫼𐫽𐫾𐫿𐬀𐬁𐬂𐬃𐬄𐬅𐬆𐬇𐬈𐬉𐬊𐬋𐬌𐬍𐬎𐬏𐬐𐬑𐬒𐬓𐬔𐬕𐬖𐬗𐬘𐬙𐬚𐬛𐬜𐬝𐬞𐬟𐬠𐬡𐬢𐬣𐬤𐬥𐬦𐬧𐬨𐬩𐬪𐬫𐬬𐬭𐬮𐬯𐬰𐬱𐬲𐬳𐬴𐬵𐬶𐬷𐬸𐬹𐬺𐬻𐬼𐬽𐬾𐬿𐭀𐭁𐭂𐭃𐭄𐭅𐭆𐭇𐭈𐭉𐭊𐭋𐭌𐭍𐭎𐭏𐭐𐭑𐭒𐭓𐭔𐭕𐭖𐭗𐭘𐭙𐭚𐭛𐭜𐭝𐭞𐭟𐭠𐭡𐭢𐭣𐭤𐭥𐭦𐭧𐭨𐭩𐭪𐭫𐭬𐭭𐭮𐭯𐭰𐭱𐭲𐭳𐭴𐭵𐭶𐭷𐭸𐭹𐭺𐭻𐭼𐭽𐭾𐭿𐮀𐮁𐮂𐮃𐮄𐮅𐮆𐮇𐮈𐮉𐮊𐮋𐮌𐮍𐮎𐮏𐮐𐮑𐮒𐮓𐮔𐮕𐮖𐮗𐮘𐮙𐮚𐮛𐮜𐮝𐮞𐮟𐮠𐮡𐮢𐮣𐮤𐮥𐮦𐮧𐮨𐮩𐮪𐮫𐮬𐮭𐮮𐮯𐮰𐮱𐮲𐮳𐮴𐮵𐮶𐮷𐮸𐮹𐮺𐮻𐮼𐮽𐮾𐮿𐯀𐯁𐯂𐯃𐯄𐯅𐯆𐯇𐯈𐯉𐯊𐯋𐯌𐯍𐯎𐯏𐯐𐯑𐯒𐯓𐯔𐯕𐯖𐯗𐯘𐯙𐯚𐯛𐯜𐯝𐯞𐯟𐯠𐯡𐯢𐯣𐯤𐯥𐯦𐯧𐯨𐯩𐯪𐯫𐯬𐯭𐯮𐯯𐯰𐯱𐯲𐯳𐯴𐯵𐯶𐯷𐯸𐯹𐯺𐯻𐯼𐯽𐯾𐯿𐰀𐰁𐰂𐰃𐰄𐰅𐰆𐰇𐰈𐰉𐰊𐰋𐰌𐰍𐰎𐰏𐰐𐰑𐰒𐰓𐰔𐰕𐰖𐰗𐰘𐰙𐰚𐰛𐰜𐰝𐰞𐰟𐰠𐰡𐰢𐰣𐰤𐰥𐰦𐰧𐰨𐰩𐰪𐰫𐰬𐰭𐰮𐰯𐰰𐰱𐰲𐰳𐰴𐰵𐰶𐰷𐰸𐰹𐰺𐰻𐰼𐰽𐰾𐰿𐱀𐱁𐱂𐱃𐱄𐱅𐱆𐱇𐱈𐱉𐱊𐱋𐱌𐱍𐱎𐱏𐱐𐱑𐱒𐱓𐱔𐱕𐱖𐱗𐱘𐱙𐱚𐱛𐱜𐱝𐱞𐱟𐱠𐱡𐱢𐱣𐱤𐱥𐱦𐱧𐱨𐱩𐱪𐱫𐱬𐱭𐱮𐱯𐱰𐱱𐱲𐱳𐱴𐱵𐱶𐱷𐱸𐱹𐱺𐱻𐱼𐱽𐱾𐱿𐲀𐲁𐲂𐲃𐲄𐲅𐲆𐲇𐲈𐲉𐲊𐲋𐲌𐲍𐲎𐲏𐲐𐲑𐲒𐲓

Note:

It would appear that Boap/Booap serves as the common root between these two words.

Abramig (ay-BRAY-mig)* v.

To Prepare

Ɱ Ɱ Ɱ Ɱ Ɱ

8.55 . . . of such as are prepared.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—A bra mig) Three syllables. The initial A stands alone. The second a also appears to be long. See the pronunciation notes for Abramg—where we learn that the final g has a hard sound. Also, we can see from Abramg that the i in Abramig is likely a phonetic gloss.

(*Dee—a-brâmig) See the 48 Claves. Dee placed a circumflex over the second a, confirming the long sound.

I have adopted the accent from Abraassa (to provide).

Also:

Abramg (ay-BRAY-mig)

To Prepare

Possible shared root:

Abraassa (ab-RAY-sa)

To Provide

Compare from Loagaeth: Abra, Abrimanadg

Abramg (ay-BRAY-mig)* v.

To Prepare

Ɱ Ɱ Ɱ Ɱ Ɱ

2.14 . . . whom I have prepared as cups for a wedding . . .

11.33 . . . I have prepared for you . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 2.14—Abramg)

(*Dee 11.33—Ab ramg, g not as dg) Both a's appear short in this note—however, the pronunciation notes for Abramig (to prepare) indicate both are long. In this note, Dee lets us know that the final g has a hard sound rather than the soft “dg” sound. Finally, Dee’s note seems to indicate only two syllables. However, if the final g is hard, there should be a

Compounds:

Also:

Possible shared root:

Compare from Loagaeth:

Abraassa (ab-RAY-sa)* v. To Provide

§ 77 § 6 V §

30.23 . . . which provided you for the government . . .

Pronunciation note:

(Dee—Abraássa*) Three syllables, with the accent likely on the second syllable. In Early Modern English, the double a makes a long “a” sound, and the double s makes a regular “s” sound.

(Dee*—abradssa) See the 48 Claves. This note essentially matches that from TFR.

Possible shared root:

Abramig (ay-BRAY-mig) To Prepare

Abramg (ay-BRAY-mig) To Prepare

ACAM (ay-KAM)* 7699

CSRS

6.19 . . . and 7699 continual workmen . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—A cá m) Two syllables, with the accent on the second syllable.

(Dee---Acám*) See the 48 Claves. Note the accent again on the second syllable.

Note:

This word was not originally given with Key Six. It was added later when Nalvage transmitted the English for the Key (see TFR, p. 190). This seems to have been the case with many of the numbers mentioned in the Keys.

Achildao (ay-KIL-day-oh)* n.

Diamond

Ⓐ Ⓐ Ⓐ Ⓐ Ⓐ Ⓐ Ⓐ Ⓐ

9.52 Their heads are covered with diamond . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—A chil da o kil) Four syllables. Dee indicates that the ch should take the harder “k” (or “kh”) sound. The first a stands alone. Both the second a and the final o should take their long sounds.

(*Dee—a-childao) See the 48 Claves. Dee again indicates the initial A stands alone. He also placed an accent over the i in the second syllable.

Acocasb (ay-KOH-kasb)* n.

Time

Ⓢ Ⓢ Ⓢ Ⓢ Ⓢ Ⓢ Ⓢ Ⓢ

9.71 . . . for the time is such . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—A co casb) Three syllables. The initial A stands alone. The o of the second syllable should take a long sound.

(*Dee—acócasb) See the 48 Claves. Dee placed an accent over the second syllable.

Also:

“Cacocasb” (kay-KOH-kasb)

Another While

Cocasb (KOH-kasb)

Time

Cocasg (KOH-kazh)

Times

Qcocasb (kwah-KOH-kasb)

Contents of Time

Possible shared root:

Cacacom (kay-SAY-som)

Flourish

Cacrg (KAY-kurg)

Until

Casasam (kay-SAY-sam)

Abiding

Capimali (kay-pii-MAY-lii)

Successively

While

Number of Time

Successively

Also see Pild (continually).

Beginning

7P544683

16.6 . . . which hast thy beginning in glory . . .

The transmission of the first twelve words of Key Sixteen is missing from Dee's journals. We only have the English given for it on TFR, p. 194. However, they do appear in Dee's 48 Claves.

(Dee*—acroódzi) See the 48 Claves. Dee places an accent over the second o—which should be part of the third syllable. See pronunciation notes for Croodzi (beginning of things).

Croodzi (kroh-OD-zii)

Beginning (of things)

Also see Iaod (beginning), Iaodaf (in the beginning), Amgedpha (I will begin anew), and Nostoah (it was in the beginning).

Glory

(i.e., Adoration, Praise)*

[illegible]

(Dee—Adgmach adgmach adgmach* [= much glory].) See the Five Books pp. 309–10. This seems to be a kind of Trisagion (like the “Holy Holy Holy . . .” songs sung by Angels in biblical literature.). The Adgmach phrase is spoken during a longer prayer offered by “many voices”: “It is good, O God, for you are goodness itself. And great because of the size of greatness itself. Adgmach, adgmach, adgmach! I am, and this pace is, holy. Adgmach, adgmach, adgmach hucacha.” Adgmach must therefore indicate “glory.”

Also see:

Busd (glory), which seems to indicate “wondrous.”

Prigah (glory), which relates to light and fire (possibly the light of the Sun).

Adgt (ajt)* aux. v.

Can

↯ 6 2 3

2.1 Can the wings of the winds understand . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Adgt) This appears to be only one syllable.

Adna (ad-nah) n.

Obedience

3 3 2 3

1.50 . . . and swore obedience and faith to him . . .

Pronunciation notes:

Dee left no specific note, so this word likely sounds as it appears. I suggest two syllables, and both a’s should be short.

Compare from Loagaeth:

Adna, Adnay, Adney, Adnah, Adnih, Adnava, Adnab, Adnor

Adohi (ay-DOH-hii)* n.

Kingdom

7 2 2 2 3

18.20 . . . which is called in thy kingdom Joy . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—A do hi) Three syllables. The initial A stands alone. The o likely takes the long sound, as does the final i.

(Dee*—adôhi) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed an accent over the second syllable.

Also:

Londoh (lon-DOH)

Kingdom

Note:

It would appear that “doh” is the root here.

Compare from Loagaeth:

Aldoh, Ardoh, Doh, Dohoh

Adoian (ay-doh-ll-an)* n.

Face

𐌰𐌺𐌹𐌳𐌰𐌶𐌴𐌹𐌺𐌰

30.14 . . . behold the face of your God.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—A do i an) Four syllables, with an accent on the third syllable.

(*Dee—adoian) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee again placed an accent over the i in the third syllable.

Adphaht (ad-fot)* adj.

Unspeakable

𐌰𐌳𐌹𐌲𐌰𐌶𐌰𐌹𐌲𐌴𐌹𐌺𐌰

30.29 . . . and her unspeakable variety . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ad phaht) Two syllables. The ah in the second syllable should indicate a short “o” sound (“ah”)—as in the English word father.

Compare from Loagaeth:

Adepd, Adepoad, Adeph, Adaph, Adapagemoh, Adphamagel

Adroch (ad-roch)* n.

Olive Mount

𐌰𐌳𐌹𐌲𐌰𐌶𐌰𐌹𐌲𐌴𐌹𐌺𐌰

5.7 . . . and are become as olives in the olive mount . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ad roch as otch) Two syllables. The ch at the end of the word has the “tch” sound—as in the English words church and churn.

Note:

The “Mount of Olives”—to the east of Jerusalem—is an important location in biblical literature. (See 2 Samuel 15, Zechariah 14, Matthew 21, 24–26, 39.) It is supposed to be the place where God will begin to redeem the dead in the End Times—and is thus a major burial site for Jewish people to this very day. It does not appear to be the mountain from Jesus' Sermon on the Mount.

Also see:

Qanis (olives).

Compare from Loagaeth:

Adroh, Adroth

Adrpan (ay-dir-pan)* v

To Cast Down

𐌵 𐌹 𐌳𐌹𐌺𐌹𐌸 𐌵𐌹𐌳𐌹𐌸

30.124 Cast down such as fall.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—A dr pan dir) Three syllables. Dee shows us that the second syllable is pronounced “dir.” The initial A stands alone.

AF (af)*

19

𐌹 𐌴

5.17 . . . pillars of gladness 19 and gave them . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Af) One syllable.

Affa (af-fa)* adj.

Empty

𐌹 𐌴 𐌴 𐌴

13.13 . . . making men drunken which are empty.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Af fa) Two syllables. When this word is spoken fluently, the two *f*s combine into one sound.

Note:

This word is a palindrome. It is spelled the same forward as it is spelled backward.

Ag (ag)* adj. or pron.

No/None (No One)

4.17 . . . whom none hath yet numbered . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ag as agg in nag) One syllable. Dee shows a double g in his phonetic note, which (in Early Modern English) indicates a hard sound instead of a soft sound (as in stagger or bigger). Ag sounds like the English words nag and bag.

Note:

The words Ag and “Agl” are pronouns (“none = no one”). However, the word Ag becomes an adjective in Agtoltorn (no creature).

Compounds:

“Agl” (ag-el) [Ag + L] No One Creature

Agtoltorn (ag-el-tol-torn) [Ag + L + “Toltorn”] No One Creature

Agtoltorn (ay-jee-tol-torn) [Ag + “Toltorn”] No Creature

Note:

Also see Ge (Not), Ip (Not), and Pam (Not).

“Agl” (ag-el) [Ag + L] comp., pron.

No One

Compounds:

Agtoltorn (ag-el-tol-torn) [Ag + L + “Toltorn”] No One Creature

Agtoltorn (ag-el-tol-torn)* [Ag + L + “Toltorn”] No One Creature

30.80 . . . let there be no one creature equal with another . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ag l ter torn) Four syllables. The first l stands alone, leaving the A and g to combine together. Also note that Dee seems to have made a mistake in his phonetic note—giving the sound of “ter” for the letters tol.

(*Dee—ag L tortorn) See the 48 Claves. The l again stands alone. I also note that Dee once again indicates a “tor” sound where the letters tol should be. I have settled upon the tol version in my pronunciation.

I believe this word is intended as a verb. "Promise of him which is called . . ." is likely an adjuration to make a promise by him who is called.

Also:

Isro (iz-roh)

Promise of

Note:

It is possible that the -o suffix (of) is in use here.

Also see:

Sibsi (covenant), Surzas (sworn), and Znrza (swore).

Alar (AY-lar)* v.

To Settle/To Place

⚔ ⚔ ⚔ ⚔

9.20 . . . have settled their feet in the west . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—A lar) Two syllables. The A stands alone in the first syllable. I have adopted the accent from Aala (settle/place).

Also:

Allar (AL-lar)

To Bind Up

Probable shared root:

Aala (AY-ay-la)

To Place

Aldi (AL-dii)

Gathering

Aldon (AL-don)

Gird Up

Oali (OH-ay-lii)

To Place

Note:

See Note at Allar.

Alca (al-ka) v.?

To Signify(?)

⚔ ⚔ ⚔ ⚔

Note:

See the Five Books, p. 354. Here, the Angel Illemese says of the Book of Soyga, "Soyga signifieth not Agyos. Soyga alca miketh." (Agyos is Greek for "holiness," and is "Soyga" when spelled backward.) When Dee asked what these words meant, he was told, "The True Measure of the

Will of God in Judgment, Which Is by Wisdom.” Based on context, I feel that the word Alca probably means “to signify”—while Miketh (related, perhaps by root, to Micaolz—mighty) is translated as the “True Measure of the Will of God . . .” etc.

Aldi (AL-dii) v.

To Gather

ㄤ ㄤ ㄤ ㄤ

1.33 . . . garnished with the fire of gathering . . .

Pronunciation note:

I have adopted the accent from Aala (settle/place).

Note:

This word should be a verb, but in Key 1.33, it is actually used in a prepositional phrase, indicating the noun fire. Taken all together, the words fire of gathering make a noun phrase.

Also:

Aldon (AL-don)

Gird-up, Gather Together

Probable shared root:

Aala (AY-ay-la)

To Place

Alar (AY-lar)

To Settle/Place

Allar (AL-lar)

To Bind Up

Oali (OH-ay-lii)

To Place

Aldon (AL-don)* v.

Gird Up,

To Gather Together

ㄤ ㄤ ㄤ ㄤ

9.28 These gather up the moss of the earth . . .

11.17 And they gathered themselves together in the house of death . . .

17.16 Gird up thy loins and hearken.

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee* 9.28; 17.16—Al don) Two syllables. Both vowels seem to take their short sounds. I have adopted the accent from Aala (settle/place).

Note:

This word was not given during the transmission of Key Eleven. Nor does it appear in Dee's 48 Claves. We have only the English for the Key given on TFR, p. 193. Patricia Shaffer suggests this word here, and I have to agree.

Also:

Aldi (AL-dii)	Gathering
---------------	-----------

Probable shared root:

Aala (AY-ay-la)	To Place
Alar (AY-lar)	To Settle/Place
Allar (AL-lar)	To Bind Up
Oali (OH-ay-lii)	To Place

Compare from Loagaeth:

Aldex

Allar (AL-lar)* v.	To Bind Up
	ᄀᄀᄀᄀᄀᄀ

12.9 . . . bind up your girdles and visit us.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Al lar) Two syllables. Both a's are likely short. When spoken, the double l should combine into one sound (as in Early Modern English). I have adopted the accent from Aala (settle/place).

Also:

Alar (AY-lar)	Settled
---------------	---------

Probable shared root:

Aala (AY-ay-la)	To Place
Aldi (AL-dii)	Gathering
Aldon (AL-don)	Gird Up
Oali (OH-ay-lii)	To Place

Amma (am-a)* adj.

Cursed

✠ ㊦ ㊦ ㊦ ✠

9.35 Cursed are they whose iniquities they are.

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee—Am ma*) Two syllables. The two m's combine into a single sound, as in the English word summer.

Note:

This word is a palindrome. It is spelled the same forward as it is spelled backward.

Amzes (am-zes) n.?

Those That Fear God(?)

㊦ 7 7 P ㊦ ㊦

Note:

See the Five Books, pp. 324–25. Here Kelley sees what the Book of Loaga-eth looks like from the outside. It is covered in blue silk, and has the title Amzes naghezes Hardeh painted upon it in gold. Kelley says this signifies “the universal name of Him that created universally be praised and extolled forever.”

However, also see TFR, p. 174, where the Angel Ave reveals that the title of Enoch's book was “Let Those That Fear God, and Are Worthy, Read.” (Dee, at that point, notes, “The title of Enoch's books expounded into English.”) If this happens to be the real translation, then perhaps Amzes indicates “Those That Fear God.” (Also see Hoxmarch—Fear of God.)

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee—Amzes naghezes Hardeh—Note this to be pronounced roundly together.) Perhaps this means the three words should be pronounced as if they were one?

Ananael (an-AN-ee-el)* n.

Secret Wisdom

㊦ 7 ㊦ ㊦ ㊦ ㊦

3.80 . . . partakers of the secret wisdom of your creation.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ananael) Dee gives us little clue here. The word is likely four syllables.

(*Dee—anánæ) See the 48 Claves. Dee shows an accent over the second syllable. Also, note that the final æ is written as æ (called an ash)—indicating that the two letters combine to form one sound. I believe, in this case, the ash indicates a long “e” sound (as in the English spelling of the word encyclopædia).

Note:

The similarity between this word and the name of the Archangel of Venus, Anael (or Annael). Annael was the first Angel contacted by Dee and Kelley (see the Five Books), which initiated the transmission of the entire Angelic system of magick.

Possible shared root:

Nanaeel (nay-NAY-ee-el)

(My) Power

Anetab (ay-NEE-tayb)* n.

(In) Government

𐄂 𐄃 𐄄 𐄅 𐄆 𐄇

6.25 . . . and are in government and continuance as . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—A né tab) Three syllables, with an accent on the second. Based on the other versions of this word (see below), I have given the a in the final syllable a long sound.

(*Dee—anétab) See the 48 Claves. The accent is again shown on the second syllable.

Also:

Gnetaab (nee-TAY-ab)

(Your) Governments

Netaab (nee-TAY-ab)

Governments

Netaaib (nee-TAY-ay-ib)

Government

Tabaam (tay-BAY-an)

Governor

Tabaord (tay-BAY-ord)

(Let) Be Governed

Tabaori (tay-BAY-oh-rii)

Govern

“Tabas” (tay-BAS)

Govern

Cab (kab)

Rod/Scepter

Caba (ka-BA)

To Govern

Angelard (an-jee-lard)* n.

Thoughts

ἰ ἑ ῥ ᾠ ῥ ῥ ῥ

10.64 . . . even as the heart of man doth his thoughts . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—An ge lard) Three syllables. The e should take its long sound.

(*Dee—angêlard) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed a circumflex over the e—confirming its long sound.

Aoiveae (ay-oy-VEE-ay)* n.

Stars

ῥ ῥ ῥ ᾠ ῥ ῥ ῥ

30.139 . . . until the stars be numbered.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—A oi vé ae) This appears to be four syllables, with an accent on the third. The initial A stands alone. The Early Modern English letter combination oi (or oy) makes an “oy” sound—as in the words boil or toy. The e in the third syllable likely takes a long sound.

(*Dee—Aoivêae) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee again placed the accent over the e in the third syllable. He also placed a circumflex over the second a to indicate its long sound.

Apachana (ap-AY-kay-na)* n.

The Slimy Things

Made of Dust

ῥ ῥ ῥ ᾠ ῥ ῥ ῥ

Pronunciation note:

(*Dee—ap-â-cha-na) See the Five Books, p. 320. Four syllables, with an accent on the second. The second and third a’s seem to take the long sound.

From Loagaeth:

(Dee—The slimy things made of dust.) See the Five Books, p. 320.

“Apila” (ap-ii-la) v.

To Live

✱ 𐌱𐌰𐌶𐌰 ✱

Compounds:

Odapila (ohd-ap-ii-la) [Od + “Apila”]

And Liveth

Note:

Also see Hom (To Live).

Aqlo (AY-kwah-loh)* pron.

Thy (Your)

𐌱𐌰𐌶𐌰 ✱

18.19 . . . is called in thy kingdom Joy.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—A q lo quu) Three syllables. The initial A and the q stand alone. Dee shows that the q should sound like “quu” (or “qw”)—making the sound of “kwah.” The final o should likely take a long sound.

(*Dee—á-q-lo) See the 48 Claves. This note is essentially the same as that in TFR. However, Dee here placed an accent over the first syllable.

Possible shared root:

Bolp (bohlp)

Be Thou

Yls (yils)

Thou

Ylsi (yil-sii)

Thee

L (el)

First

“Lo” (loh)

First

Ar (ar)* pron.

That

𐌱𐌰 ✱

12.16 Bring down your train 3363 that the Lord may be magnified . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ar) One syllable.

Compounds:

Arcaosgi (ar-kay-OZH-ii) [Ar + Caosgi]

To(?) the Earth

Arcoazior (ar-koh-ay-zhor) [Ar + “Coazior”]

That Increase

Artabas (ar-tay-bas) [Ar + “Tabas”]

That Govern

Note:

The word Ar (That) is a conjunction, while the word Ds (Which/That) is a pronoun.

Compare from Loagaeth:

Ar, Arh

“Ar” (ar) v.?

To Van?

Compounds:

Arcaosgi (ar-kay-OZH-ii) [“Ar” + Caosgi] (To Van?) the Earth

Note:

The English word van is—by one definition—a shortened form of the word vanguard, the front part of an advancing army. Its use here in the Keys—as part of the phrase to van the earth—appears to treat it as a verb. A more proper definition of “Ar” may be “to advance upon (especially with hostile intent).”

Arcaosgi (ar-kay-OZH-ii)* [“Ar” + Caosgi] comp. (To Van?) the Earth

767L#E#

6.17 . . . fiery darts to van the earth . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ar ca ós gi) Four syllables, with an accent on the third syllable.

See pronunciation notes at Caosgi (Earth) for more information.

(*Dee—arcaósgí) See the 48 Claves. Note the accent again on the third syllable.

Note:

Literally, this compound should translate: “That (the) Earth.” There is no indication of the word for to van in the Key, and Ar is properly defined as “that.” Could it be that an identical Angelical word Ar might translate as “to van”? Also see note at “Ar.”

Arcoazior (ar-koh-ay-zhor)* [Ar + “Coazior”] comp.

That Increase

87LP#LE#

30.129 . . . Bring forth with those that increase . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ar co a zior) Likely four syllables. The a in the third syllable stands alone. The zi in the fourth syllable likely sounds similar to the ti and si in the English word endings -tion and -sion (as in the English words aggression, tradition, etc.). I have represented this sound in my pronunciation with “zh.”

Argedco (ar-JED-koh)* v.

With Humility We Call Thee,
with Adoration of the Trinity.

ⒶⒷⒸⒹⒺⒻⒼⒿ

Pronunciation note:

(*Dee—argédco) See the Five Books, p. 310. Dee places an accent over the e.

From Loagaeth:

(Dee—With humility we call thee, with adoration of the Trinity.) See the Five Books, p. 310.

Compare from Loagaeth:

Argednon

Arn (arn) prop. n.

“The Second Aethyr”

ⒶⒷⒸⒹⒺⒻⒼⒿ

30.3 . . . which dwell in the second aethyr . . .

Note:

This (word 30.3) is the single space in the Key of the Aethyrs, which must be changed for each invocation—replacing word 30.3 with the name of the appropriate Aethyr. No established definitions were given for these names.

Arn contains the three Parts of the Earth Doagnis, Pacasna, and Dialioa.

Arphe (ar-fay) v.

I Desire Thee, O God*

ⒶⒷⒸⒹⒺⒻⒼⒿ

From Loagaeth:

(*Dee—I desire thee, O God.) See the Five Books, p. 320.

Artabas (ar-tay-bas)* [Ar + “Tabas”] comp.

That Govern

Ṛ 𐌹 𐌵 𐌹 𐌵 𐌹 𐌵

30.123 . . . govern those that govern . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ar ta bas) Three syllables. The a in the second syllable appears to be long.

Arzulgh (ar-zulj) prop. n.

Spirit Opposing Befafes*

𐌹 𐌹 𐌹 𐌹 𐌹 𐌹 𐌹 𐌹

From Loagaeth:

(*Dee—This is the name of the spirit contrary to Befafes) See the Five Books, p. 310. Befafes is an Angel of the Heptarchia.

Compare from Loagaeth:

Arzusen

Ascha (ask-a)

n / a?*

𐌹 𐌹 𐌹 𐌹 𐌹 𐌹

From Loagaeth:

(*Dee—Gohed, pronounced as Iohed, signifieth One Everlasting and all things Descending upon One, and Gohed Ascha is as much to say as One God.) See the Five Books, p. 304. The word Gohed means “One Everlasting . . .” (referring to God), so it is not clear exactly what Ascha adds in the phrase Gohed Ascha (“One God” or “One Everlasting God”).

Pronunciation note:

The sch letter combination should sound like “sk” (as in school). Note, also, that in the Book of Loagaeth, Dee gives the pronunciation for the word Zuresch as “zuresk”—further indicating the “sk” sound for sch.

Also see:

Masch

Compare from Loagaeth:

Asch, Ascha, Aschah, Aschal, Ascham, Asche, Aschedh, Aschem, Ascheph, Aschi, Aschin, Aschma, Aschol, and probably Dasch, Gascheth, Hasche, Pasch, Pascha, Pascheph, and maybe Iemasch, Surascha, Vasheth

Asobam (ay-SOH-bam)* pron.

(On) Whom

ㄣ ㄆ ㄈ ㄌ ㄋ ㄆ

9.60 . . . on whom they frown not . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—A so bam) Dee originally wrote this word as Asobama—but he dropped the final a in his phonetic note and in the 48 Claves. So the word is only three syllables long. The initial A stands alone. The o should take its long sound.

(Dee*—a-sóbam) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed an accent over the second syllable.

Also:

“Saba” (SAY-bay)

Whose

Soba (SOH-bay)

Whose

Sobam (SOH-bam)

Whom

Sobca (SOB-kay)

Whose

“Sobha” (SOB-hay)

Whose

“Sobo” (SOH-boh)

Whose

Sobra (SOB-ray)

Whose

“Sola” (SOH-lay)

Whose

Asp (asp) prop. n.

“The Twenty-First Aethyr”

(Quality?)

ㄣ ㄆ ㄈ ㄌ ㄋ ㄆ

30.3 . . . which dwell in the twenty-first aethyr . . .

Note:

This (word 30.3) is the single space in the Key of the Aethyrs, which must be changed for each invocation—replacing word 30.3 with the name of the appropriate Aethyr. No established definitions were given for these names.

Asp contains the three Parts of the Earth Chirzpa, Toantom, and Vixpalg.

Possible shared root:

Aspian (as-pii-an)

Qualities

(i.e., “Characteristics”)

Aspian (as-pii-an)* n.Qualities (Characteristics)
𐄌 𐄍 𐄎 𐄏 𐄐 𐄑 𐄒 𐄓30.77 . . . let them differ in their qualities.Pronunciation notes:(*Dee—As pi an) Three syllables. The i should take its long sound.Possible shared root:

Asp (asp)

"The Twenty-First Aethyr"

Note:Compare to the name of the Part of Earth (and its Angelic Governor), Aspiaon.Aspt (aspt)* prep.

Before, In Front

𐄌 𐄍 𐄎 𐄏 𐄐 𐄑 𐄒 𐄓

30.144 . . . and appear before the covenant of his mouth . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Aspt) One syllable.

Note:Could there be a relationship between this word and the name of the Apst, an Angel of medicine of the Northern Watchtower?Astel (as-tel)

n/a

𐄌 𐄍 𐄎 𐄏 𐄐 𐄑 𐄒 𐄓

Note:

See Five Books, p. 366. The Angel Illemese appears to Dee and Kelley with a bundle of empty boxes that he calls virtuous. When Dee asks for an explanation, Illemese says, "Will you have my bill? [. . .] I will show it. Serve it, where you list. Iudra galgol astel." Dee states that he and Kelley do not understand, and wish to know how it can be served. But Illemese never offers definitions for these Angelical words.

Also see:Garnastel (gar-nas-tel)

n/a

Asymp (ay-simp)* pron. or adj.

Another

𐤀𐤍𐤏𐤔𐤁

30.82 . . . no one creature equal with another.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—A symp) Two syllables. The A stands alone.

Also:

Symp (simp)

Another

Probable shared root:

“Smnad” (sem-en-ad)

Another

Note:

The root here may be “sm” or “sym.”

Atraah (ay-tray-a)* n.

Girdles

𐤀𐤏𐤓𐤓𐤁𐤀

12.10 . . . bind up your girdles and visit us.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—A tra ah) Three syllables. The first a stands alone. In Early Modern English, a double a indicates a long sound—which Dee indicates for the second syllable in his phonetic note.

(*Dee—atraâh) See the 48 Claves. Here Dee placed a circumflex over the third a. Dee seems to have used âh to indicate a vowel sound similar to what we hear in the English words father and fall.

Audcal (od-kal) n.

Gold (the Mercury of the Philosopher’s Stone)*

𐤀𐤕𐤔𐤀𐤔𐤀𐤔𐤀

From the Alchemical Cipher:

See TFR, pp. 387–89. The Angel Levanael says of Audcal, “It is Gold. [. . .] Audcal is his Mercury. Darr, (in the Angelical tongue), is the true name of the Stone.” Therefore Audcal (Gold) is here described as the alchemical Mercury (or essence) of the Philosopher’s Stone.

Note:

(*Dee—We know that the Philosopher's Stone being left by metal, with metal, and upon metal, etc . . .) Dee is here speaking of touching base metals with the Philosopher's Stone, which would turn them into gold.

Pronunciation note:

The au letter combination should make a short "o" sound (as in auburn or autumn).

"Avav" (ay-vav) n.

Pomp

ⱶ Ɀ Ɀ Ɀ

Compounds:

Avavox (ay-vay-voks) ["Avav" + Tox]

His Pomp

Possible shared root:

Avavago (av-AY-vay-go)

Thunders (of Increase)

Note:

Perhaps there is something of the concept of "pomp," in the "Thunders of Increase"—as in a mighty king or god preceded by thunderous sounds and trumpets. This is, after all, the nature of the Thunders and Voices described in Merkavah (and related) literature such as St. John's Revelation.

Avavago (av-AY-vay-go)* prop. n.

Thunders (of Increase)

ⱶ Ɀ Ɀ Ɀ Ɀ Ɀ

4.8 . . . are not the Thunders of Increase numbered . . .?

8.36 . . . The Thunders have spoken . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 4.8—Ava va go) Four syllables. The second and third a's are long.

(*Dee 8.36—A uá ua go) Four syllables, accent on the second syllable. The first a seems to stand alone in word 8.36—but such is not indicated in other notes for this word. Next, Dee shows in word 4.8 that the u's should actually sound like v's. Finally, the g should take a hard sound when preceding an o.

(*Dee 4.8—avávâgo) See the 48 Claves. Accent on the second syllable. The third a carries a circumflex—indicating its long sound.

(Dee* 8.36—auávâgo) See the 48 Claves. This note matches the previous note.

Note:

The generic Angelical word for “thunder” is likely Const. The Thunders mentioned here and elsewhere in the Keys are groups of Angels. See Coraxo (Thunders) and Sapah (Mighty Sounds). Also note the Thunders, Lightnings, and Voices which proceeded from the Divine Throne in the vision of St. John (Book of Revelation). The Avavago are mentioned only in Keys Four and Eight—both of which seem to relate to the Southern Quarter of the Universe.

Possible shared root:

Avavox (ay-VAY-voks) [“Avav” + Tox]

His Pomp

Avavox (ay-VAY-voks)* [“Avav” + Tox] comp.

His Pomp

𐌂𐌋𐌋𐌆𐌋𐌆

30.94 The work of man and his pomp . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—A ua vox) Dee spelled this word Auavox. However, the u/v preceding a vowel should take the “v” sound—which I have used in the spelling Avavox. The initial A stands alone. I have taken the accent from Avavago (Thunders of Increase).

(Dee*—auáuox) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed a circumflex over the second a to indicate its long sound.

Possible shared root:

Avavago (av-AY-vay-go)

Thunders (of Increase)

Note:

See note at “Avav.”

Aviny (ay-VII-nee)* n.

Millstones

𐌂𐌋𐌋𐌆𐌋𐌆

9.42 . . . are millstones greater than the earth . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee—A vi ny*) Three syllables. The i should take its long sound. The y at the end of a word should take the long “e” sound.

(*Dee—auiny) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed an accent over the second syllable.

“Azia” (ay-ZII-ay) prep.

Like (unto)

§ 7 P §

Compounds:

Aziagiar (ay-zii-AY-jii-er) [“Azia” + “Giar”]

Like unto the Harvest

Also:

Aziazor (ay-ZII-ay-zor)

Likeness of

Note:

Also see Pugo (as unto).

Aziagiar (ay-zii-AY-jii-er)* [“Aziā” + “Giar”] comp. Like unto the Harvest

637637P3

8.19 . . .and like unto the harvest of a widow.

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—A zi á gi er) Five syllables, with an accent on the third syllable. Both a's stand alone. Both i's likely take the long sound. The g should take a soft sound before an i.

(*Dee—aziágier) See the 48 Claves. Dee again placed an accent on the third syllable. He also added a circumflex over the second i to indicate its long sound.

Also:

Aziazor (ay-ZII-ay-zor)

Likeness of

Aziazor (ay-ZII-ay-zor)* n.

Likeness of

SLPXLPL

10.7 . . . in the likeness of an oak . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—A zi a zor) Four syllables, with an accent on the second syllable. Both a's stand alone, and the i likely takes its long sound.

(*Dee—aziâzor) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee again placed an accent over the i in the second syllable. He also placed a circumflex over the second a to indicate its long sound.

Note:

It appears that “azia” is the root here. Note that an o is suffixed onto the root word, which sometimes indicates “of.” (The further addition of an r is an anomaly.) “Azia” appears in what might be a compound word below.

Possible Root or Compound:

Aziagiari (ay-zii-AY-jii-cr) [“Azia” + “Giar”] Like unto the Harvest

Azien (az-EEN)* n.

Hands

377P*

3.6 . . . on whose hands stand 12 . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Azien) I assume there should be two syllables here. The Early Modern English letter combination ie can make a long “e” sound. (It can also make a long “i” sound—but usually in combination with ght. So I have settled on the long “e” sound instead.)

I have adopted the accent from Ozien (hand).

Also:

Ozien (oh-ZEEN)

(Mine Own) Hand

Zien (zeen)

Hands

Probable shared root:

Ozol (oh-ZOHL)

Hands

Zol (zohd-OL)

Hands

Note:

There is no indication at this time that Azien (hands) and Azia (likeness) are related concepts.

Pa (B)

V

Bab (bab) n.

Dominion

V ♯ V

From Corpus Omnium:

Found in the post-Deluge portion of the Table, in the phrase Zna Bab Iad (Moving Dominion of God).

Note:

This word is a palindrome. It is spelled the same forward as it is spelled backward.

Possible shared root:

Ababalond (ay-BAY-bay-lond)	Harlot
Babage (bay-BAY-jee)	South
Babagen (bay-BAY-jen)	South
Babalon (bay-BAY-lon)	Wicked

Note:

Perhaps the Heptarchic Angels Babalel (king of Tuesday), Bobogel (king of Sunday), and Bablibo (lunar Governor of Sunday) share Bab/Bob as a root. (See Babalon for more on King Babalel, and Babagen for more on King Bobagel.)

Compare from Loagaeth:

Babalad, Babna

Babage (bay-BAY-jee)* n.

South

76 ♯ V ♯ V

4.3 I have set my feet in the south . . .

12.3 O you that reign in the south . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 4.3—Ba bage) Two syllables. The final e should make the second a long and the g soft. The first a also seems to be long.

(*Dee 12.3—Ba ba ge) Seems to be three syllables. Both a's long.

(*Dee 4.3—babâge) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed a circumflex over the second a to indicate its long sound. There is no such indication for the first a.

I have adopted the accent from Bablon (wicked).

Also:

Babagen (bay-BAY-jen) South

Possible shared root:

Bab (bab) Dominion

Babalon (bay-BAY-lon) Wicked

Ababalond (ay-BAY-bay-lond) Harlot

Note:

If baba or bab is a shared root between these words, then I am unsure of the reason for this apparent bias against the southern angle of the Heavens/compass in the Angelical language. The poetry of the Keys also tends to lean toward an anti-northern angle bias.

Compare from Loagaeth:

Babalad, Babna

Babagen (bay-BAY-jen)* n.

South

𐌃𐌗𐌸𐌰𐌶𐌰𐌶

13.2 O you swords of the south . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—B ba gen jen) Three syllables. For some reason, Dee forgets the a in the first syllable in his phonetic note. (Or, this could be a minor error in TFR.) However, other versions of this word suggest it should be a long “a” sound. Dee does indicate that the g in the third syllable should take the softer “j” sound.

(*Dee—Babâgen) See the 48 Claves. Dee placed a circumflex over the second a to indicate its long sound.

I have adopted the accent from Bablon (wicked).

Also:

Babage (bay-BAY-jee) South

Possible shared root:

Bab (bab)	Dominion
Babalon (bay-BAY-lon)	Wicked
Ababalond (ay-BAY-bay-lond)	Harlot

Note:

See the “Compare from Loagaeth” section for the word Bobagen, which may be related to Babagen. If this is the case, then also compare to the name of the Angel Bobogel, the Heptarchic King of Sunday. Perhaps Bobogel is related to the South because the Sun at midday (its zenith) is associated with the South in astrology.

Compare from Loagaeth:

Babalad, Babna, Bobagen

Babalon (bay-BAY-lon)* n. or adj.	Wicked
	𐄌𐄍𐄎𐄏𐄐𐄑𐄒

6.11 . . . a torment to the wicked . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee—Babálon*) Likely three syllables, with an accent on the second syllable. Both a’s likely take their long sound—which is supported by the pronunciation of Ababalond (harlot).

(Dee—babálon*) See the 48 Claves. This note matches that from TFR.

Note:

Wicked is usually an adjective, but it is used here as a noun.

Also:

Ababalond (ay-BAY-bay-lond)	Harlot
-----------------------------	--------

Note:

Notice the similarity between this word and the name of the ancient empire of Babylon. (The famous Temple to Marduk even appears in the Genesis 11 as the “Tower of Babel”—where the confusion of tongues took place.) Beginning with 1 Enoch (likely written during the Judaic captivity in Babylon), the kingdom of Babylon has been a biblical symbol of iniquity. Also see note at Ababalond (harlot).

Also compare to the name of the Angel Babalel, the Heptarchic King of Tuesday. As the King of Tuesday and Mars, perhaps “The Wicked” (or even “The Wicked of God”) is a fitting title for this Angel.

Possible shared root:

Bab (bab)	Dominion
Babage (bay-BAY-jee)	South
Babagen (bay-BAY-jen)	South

Compare from Loagaeth:

Babalad, Babna

Baeovib (bee-oh-vib) prop. n. Righteousness
 V 7 2 2 7 # V

15.14 . . . knowest the great name righteousness . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Bæðuiv) See the 48 Claves. The ash (æ) in Dee’s phonetic notation can indicate a short a or a long “e” sound. (I assume the long e in this case.) Dee placed a circumflex over the o to indicate its long sound. The u is somewhat unsure, although I have assumed it should make the sound of v when preceding a vowel. (I have also spelled the word with a v.) This should be a word of three syllables.

Note:

The transmission of Key Fifteen is missing from Dee’s journals. We only have the English for this Key given later (see TFR, p. 193). Plus, the word appears in this location in Dee’s 48 Claves.

It appears this is a proper noun—likely a Name of God. See also Baltoh, Baltle, and Samvelg (all forms of “righteous”).

Bag (bag) prop. n. “The Twenty-Eighth Aethyr” (Fury?)
 6 # V

30.3 . . . which dwell in the twenty-eighth aethyr . . .

Note:

This (word 30.3) is the single space in the Key of the Aethyrs, which must be changed for each invocation—replacing word 30.3 with the name of the appropriate Aethyr. No established definitions were given for these names.

Bag contains the three Parts of the Earth Labnixp, Pocisni, and Oxlopar.

Possible shared root:

Bagie (bag-EE)

Fury

Note:

The names of the Heptarchic Angels Bagenol (prince of Friday) and Bagnole (solar Governor of Friday). If the word Bag is a root indicating “fury,” this could indicate an etymology for these Angels.

Bagie (bag-EE)* n.

Fury

7263V

14.2 O you sons of fury . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—bagie) See the 48 Claves. The only phonetic clue Dee gives us is the accent mark. I am assuming two syllables here. The a might take the short sound in the first syllable. In Early Modern English, the ie letter combination should make a long “e” sound (as in the English word believe).

Note:

The transmission of Key Fourteen is missing from Dee’s journals. We only have the English for this Key given later (see TFR, p. 193). Plus, the word appears in this location in Dee’s 48 Claves.

See also Baltim (extreme justice, or fury).

Possible shared root:

Bag (bag)

“The Twenty-Eighth
Aethyr”

Bagle (BAY-gayl)* conj.

For (Wherefore, Because)

𐀓𐀠𐀭𐀮𐀭

- 4.36 . . . For I am the Lord . . .
 5.53 . . . For why? Our Lord and Master is One.
 7.42 . . . For, to this remembrance . . .
 8.35 . . . For the Thunders have spoken . . .
 8.39 . . . Come away, for the crowns of the temple . . .
 9.62 . . . For why? The God if Righteousness . . .
 9.70 . . . For the time is such . . .
 10.18 . . . Laid up for the earth . . . **
 10.74 . . . For her iniquity is great . . .
 11.32 . . . For I have prepared for you . . .
 30.103 . . . For why? It repenteth me . . .

Note:

Bagle* at 10.18 is the only instance where the word is not synonymous with “because” or the older “wherefore” (or “for why?”).

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee* 4.36; 7.42; 8.35, 39; 9.62, 70; 10.18—Ba gle) Two syllables. Long a. Also note that the final letters le following a consonant usually make an “ayl” sound in Angelical. (See Baltle and Cicle for examples.)

(Dee* 5.53—Ba' gle) Accent on the first syllable.

(Dee* 10.74; 11.32; 30.103—Bagle)

(Dee* 5.53—Bágle) See the 48 Claves. The accent is again shown on the first syllable.

Also:

Baglen (BAY-gayl-en) Because

Note:

Aso see Lap (for) and Darsar (wherefore).

Compare from Loagaeth:

Baged

Baglen (BAY-gayl-en)* conj.

Because

𐀓𐀠𐀭𐀮𐀭𐀮

- 30.110 . . . Because she is the bed of an harlot . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee—Baglen*) Dee does not leave us much of a clue. However, I suggest three syllables, accent on the first syllable, based on the pronunciation notes for Bagle.

Also:

Bagle (BAY-gayl)

For (Wherefore, Because)

Note:

Also see Lap (for) and Darsar (wherefore).

Bahal (BAY-hal)* v

To Cry Loudly

(i.e., To Yell)

𐌰 𐌵 𐌶 𐌷 𐌸 𐌹

11.14 . . . the Eagle spake and cried with a loud voice . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee—Ba hal*) Two syllables. The first a appears to take its long sound. (Dee—bāhal*) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed an accent upon the first syllable.

Note:

See also Faaip (voices).

Shared root:

Bia (bii-a)

Voices

Bial (bii-al)

Voice

Bien (bii-en)

(My) Voice

Balit (bal-it) n.

The Just

𐌰 𐌴 𐌵 𐌶 𐌷 𐌸 𐌹

16.10 . . . shall comfort the just . . .

Note:

The transmission of the first twelve words of Key Sixteen is missing from Dee's journals. We only have the English given for it on TFR, p. 194. However, they do appear in Dee's 48 Claves.

The phrase the just has an implied noun: people. In the complete phrase the just people, the word just is an adjective.

Also:

Balt (balt)	Justice
Baltan (bal-tan)	Justice
Baltim (bal-tim)	Extreme Justice (or Fury)

Note:

See also Baltoh (righteousness).

Also compare to the name of the Angel Baligon, the Heptarchic King of Friday. The Just may be a root for his name. If his name is a compound, perhaps it is (Balit + Gono), "Faith (of) the Just."

Possible shared root:

Baltle (bal-tayl)	Righteousness
Balzarg (bal-zarg)	Stewards
Balzizras (bal-zii-sras)	Judgment

Balt (balt)* n.

Justice

↙ ↘ ✕ ✖

1.6 . . . sayeth the God of Justice . . .

3.57 . . . become the skirts of justice . . .

16.4 . . . the house of Justice . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 1.6; 3.57—Balt)

Note:

The transmission of the first twelve words of Key Sixteen is missing from Dee's journals. We only have the English given for it on TFR, p. 194. However, they do appear in Dee's 48 Claves.

Also:

Balit (bal-it)	The Just
Baltan (bal-tan)	Justice
Baltim (bal-tim)	Extreme Justice (or Fury)

Compounds:

Baltoh (bal-toh) [Balt + Toh]	Righteousness
-------------------------------	---------------

Baltoha (bal-toh-ha) [Balt + "Toha"]	(My) Righteousness
Iadbaloth (ii-ad-BAL-toh) [Iad + Balt + Toh]	God of Righteousness

Possible shared root:

Baltle (bal-tayl)	Righteousness
Balzarg (bal-zarj)	Stewards
Balzizras (bal-zii-sras)	Judgment

Baltan (bal-tan)* n.	Justice
	𐌲𐌰𐌵𐌹𐌸𐌴𐌹𐌸

30.150 . . . sworn to us in his justice . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Baltan) Likely two syllables.

Also:

Balit (bal-it)	The Just
Balt (balt)	Justice
Baltim (bal-tim)	Extreme Justice (or Fury)

Note:

See also Baltoh (righteous).

Possible shared root:

Baltle (bal-tayl)	Righteousness
Balzarg (bal-zarj)	Stewards
Balzizras (bal-zii-sras)	Judgment

Baltim (bal-tim) n.	Extreme Justice (or Fury)
	𐌲𐌰𐌵𐌹𐌸𐌴𐌹𐌸𐌴𐌹𐌸

14.24 . . . called amongst you fury (or extreme justice) . . .

Note:

The transmission of Key Fourteen is missing from Dee's journals. We only have the English for this Key given later (see TFR, p. 193). Plus, the word appears in this location in Dee's 48 Claves.

Also:

Balit (bal-it)	The Just
Balt (balt)	Justice
Baltan (bal-tan)	Justice

Note:

Bagie (fury).

Possible shared root:

Baltle (bal-tayl)	Righteousness
Baltoh (bal-toh)	Righteous
Balzarg (bal-zarj)	Stewards
Balzizras (bal-zii-sras)	Judgment

Baltle (bal-tayl)* n.

Righteousness

7 2 1 2 3 V

1.70 . . . balance of righteousness and truth . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Baltale to be sounded) Should be two syllables. The letters le, following a consonant, combine to form the “ayl” sound at the end of the word. (See Cicle and Bagle.)

Also:

Baltoh (bal-toh)	Righteousness
------------------	---------------

Possible shared root:

Balit (bal-it)	The Just
Balt (balt)	Justice
Baltan (bal-tan)	Justice
Baltim (bal-tim)	Extreme Justice (or Fury)
Balzarg (bal-zarj)	Stewards
Balzizras (bal-zii-sras)	Judgment

Note:

See also “Piamol.” See also Bacouib and Samvelg (both are forms of “righteous”).

Baltoh (bal-toh)* [Balt + Toh] comp.

Righteousness

∞ ℒ ↗ ℒ ✕ V

2.22 . . . the chamber of righteousness . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Baltoh) Likely two syllables.

Also:

Baltle (bal-tayl)

Righteousness

Compounds:

Baltoha (bal-toh-ha) [Balt + “Toha”]

(My) Righteousness

Iadbaloth (ii-ad-BAL-toh) [Iad + Balt + Toh]

God of Righteousness

Note:

Also see Baeouib (righteousness) and Samvelg (the righteous).

Possible shared root:

Balit (bal-it)

The Just

Balt (balt)

Justice

Baltan (bal-tan)

Justice

Baltim (bal-tim)

Extreme Justice (or Fury)

Balzarg (bal-zarj)

Stewards

Balzizras (bal-zii-sras)

Judgment

Baltoha (bal-toh-ha)* [Balt + “Toha”] comp.

(My) Righteousness

✕ ∞ ℒ ↗ ℒ ✕ V

8.12 . . . which I have prepared for my own righteousness . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Bal to ha) Three syllables. The o takes a long sound (likely due to the oh letter combination).

(*Dee—baltiôha) See the 48 Claves. Here Dee placed a circumflex over the o to indicate its long sound.

Also:

Baltle (bal-tayl)

Righteousness

Compounds:

Baltoh (bal-toh) [Balt + Toh]

Righteousness

Iadbaloth (ii-ad-BAL-toh) [Iad + Balt + Toh]

God of Righteousness

Note:Also see Baeouib (righteousness) and Samvelg (the righteous).Balye (bay-lie-ee)* n.

Salt

𐄂𐄃𐄅𐄆𐄇𐄈

9.19 . . . and of the marrow of salt . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ba ly e) Three syllables. I suggest a long a in the first syllable. I have given the y a long “i” sound in the second syllable. Finally, the e stands alone in the third syllable.

Balzarg (bal-zarj)* n.

Stewards

𐄂𐄃𐄅𐄆𐄇𐄈𐄉𐄊𐄋𐄌𐄍𐄎

3.30 . . . I made you stewards and placed you . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—BALZARG arg as in barge) I suggest two syllables. Dee indicates a soft g at the end.

Note:

Saying steward is another manner of saying caretaker. It could indicate a “Governor.”

Possible shared root:

Balit (bal-it)

The Just

Balt (balt)

Justice

Baltan (bal-tan)

Justice

Baltim (bal-tim)

Extreme Justice (or Fury)

Baltoh (bal-toh)

Righteousness

Balzizras (bal-zii-sras)

Judgment

Balzizras (bal-zii-sras)* n.

Judgment

𐄂𐄃𐄅𐄇𐄈𐄉𐄊𐄋𐄌𐄍𐄎

30.9 . . . execute the Judgment of the Highest.Pronunciation notes:(Dee*—Bal zi zras) Three syllables. I assume a long i at the end of the second syllable.Possible shared root:

Balit (bal-it)	The Just
Balt (balt)	Justice
Baltan (bal-tan)	Justice
Baltim (bal-tim)	Extreme Justice (or Fury)
Baltoh (bal-toh)	Righteousness
Balzarg (bal-zarj)	Stewards

Bams (bams)* v.

To Forget

𐄂𐄃𐄅𐄇𐄈𐄉𐄊𐄋𐄌𐄍𐄎

30.90 . . . let them forget their names . . .Pronunciation notes:(Dee*—Bams) One syllable.Barees (bar-ees) n.?n/a 𐄂𐄃𐄅𐄇𐄈𐄉𐄊𐄋𐄌𐄍𐄎

Note:

See the Five Books, p. 188. The Ruling Prince of the Heptarchia, Hagonel (not to be confused with the Son of the Sons of Light with the same name) presents his Seal—which is identical to the common symbol of the Sun (a circle with a dot in the center)—and calls it Barees. No definition is given.

Basgim (bas-jim)* n.

Day

𐄂𐄃𐄅𐄇𐄈𐄉𐄊𐄋𐄌𐄍𐄎

10.24 . . . which burn night and day . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Bas gim) Two syllables. The vowels are all short. The g should take its soft sound when preceding an i.

Shared root:

Bazemlo (bas-em-loh)

Midday the First

“Bazem” (bas-em)

Midday

Note:

These words apparently share “bas/baz” as a root.

“Bazem” (bas-em) n.

Midday

ⲉⲓⲡⲉⲩⲧⲩ

Compounds:

Bazemlo (bas-em-loh) [“Bazem” + “Lo”]

Midday the First

Shared root:

Basgim (bas-jim)

Day

Note:

These words apparently share “bas/baz” as a root.

Also:

Compare the names of the Heptarchic Angels Baspalo (Mercury Governor of Monday), Basledf (Venus Governor of Monday), and Bazpama (Mars Governor of Wednesday). Also compare the name of the Part of the Earth (and its Angelic Governor) Bazchim.

Bazemlo (bas-em-loh)* [“Bazem” + “Lo”] comp.

Midday the First

ⲛⲁⲥⲉⲓⲡⲉⲩⲧⲩ

8.1 The midday the first is as the third heaven . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Baz me lo) Dee originally wrote this word as Bazmelo. However, see TFR, p. 200, where Illemese corrects this:

(Illemese—Basem lo, or Basemlo) Three syllables.

(*Dee—Bazmêlo) See the 48Keys. Dee preserved the Bazmelo spelling of the word here. He even placed a circumflex over the e to indicate a long sound. However, I have settled upon the correction made by Illemese.

Shared root:

Basgim (bas-jim)

Day

Note:These words apparently share bas/baz as a root.Also:

Compare the name of the Heptarchic Angel Basmelo, the solar Governor of Thursday. See the pronunciation note—as this might explain why Dee originally wrote Bazemlo as “Basmelo” instead. I suggest the Governor’s name should be pronounced as Dee describes above—with a long “e” sound (bas-mee-loh).

Befafes (bef-ay-fes) prop. n.

Light From Light,*

Heptarchic Prince

of Tuesday, Mars

⚡⚡⚡⚡⚡⚡⚡

Note:

(*Dee—Befafes his etymology is as much to say “Light from the Light.”) See the Five Books, p. 310. However, see Ialpirt (light)—which I assume refers to a different kind of Light than expressed in Befafes’ name.

I have not included most of the Heptarchic names and those derived from tablets and magick squares elsewhere in the Angelical system in this Lexicon. However, the name of the Prince of Tuesday, Befafes, plays an important role between Loagaeth and the forty-eight Keys.

Also see Obelison (Pleasant Deliverer), a name of Befafes.

Also:Befes (bef-es)

Heptarchic Prince of

Tuesday (vocative)

Compare from Loagaeth:Bef, BefasBefes (BEF-es)* n.

Heptarchic Prince of

Tuesday (vocative)

⚡⚡⚡⚡⚡⚡⚡

Pronunciation note:

(*Dee—Béfēs) See the Five Books, p. 310. Dee places an accent over the first e.

From Loagaeth:

(*Dee—Befes the vocative case of Befafes. Befafes O, is to call upon him as on God. Befafes O, is as much to say, "Come Befafes and bear witness." Befafes his etymology is as much to say "Light from the Light.") See the Five Books, p. 310. Befafes is the Heptarchic Prince of Tuesday.

Also:

Befafes (bef-ay-fes)

Heptarchic Prince of Tuesday, Mars

Compare from Loagaeth:

Bef

Bia (bii-a)* n.

Voices

𐌰 𐌶 𐌵

2.30 . . . mightier are your voices than the manifold winds . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Bia) Likely two syllables with a long i. See pronunciation note for Bien (my voice). I believe the final a should take the short sound, as Dee did not write it by itself.

Also:

Bial (bii-al)

Voice

Bien (bii-en)

(My) Voice

Shared root:

Bahal (BAY-hal)

Cry with a Loud Voice

Note:

The Bia family of words seem to indicate the physical speaking voice. See also Faaiþ (voices/psalms) and Farzem (uplifted voices)—both of which seem to indicate the action of speaking or singing.

Biab (bii-ab)* v.

To Stand

V * 7 V

3.7 . . . on whose hands stand 12 kingdoms.Pronunciation notes:(*Dee—Biab) Likely two syllables with a long i, as in the English word dial.Note:Why would this word seem to share a root with the words for “voice” (Bial, Bien, etc.)?Bial (bii-al) n.

Voice

L * 7 V

14.18 Behold the voice of God . . .Pronunciation notes:Likely two syllables with a long i. See pronunciation note for Bien (my voice).Note:The transmission of Key Fourteen is missing from Dee’s journals. We only have the English for this Key given later (see TFR, p. 193). Plus, the word appears in this location in Dee’s 48 Claves.Also:

Bia (bii-a)

Voices

Bien (bii-en)

(My) Voice

Note:See also Faaip (voices/psalms) and Farzem (uplifted voices).Shared root:

Bahal (BAY-hal)

Cry with a Loud Voice

Bien (bii-en)* n.

(My) Voice

V 7 7 V

6.33 . . . hearken unto my voice.

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Bi en) Two syllables. The i is likely a long vowel.

Also:

Bia (bii-a)

Voices

Bial (bii-al)

Voice

Note:

See also Faaip (voices/ psalms) and Farzem (uplifted voices).

“Bigl” (big-el) n.

Comforter?

ⲁⲃⲗⲩ

Compounds:

Bigliad (big-lii-ad) [“Bigl” + Iad?]

(In Our) Comforter

Note:

It is not certain that Bigliad should be a compound, or if Iad is merely a root in this word.

Pronunciation notes:

See Crpl (but one) for a similar pronunciation.

Possible shared root:

“Bliard” (blii-ARD)

Comfort

Blior (blii-OR)

Comfort

Bliora (blii-OH-ra)

Comfort

Bliorax (blii-OH-raks)

To Comfort

Bliorb (blii-ORB)

Comfort

Bliors (blii-ORS)

Comfort

“Bliort” (blii-ORT)

Comfort

Pibliar (pib-lii-AR)

Places of Comfort

Bigliad (big-lii-ad)* [“Bigl” + Iad?] comp.

(In Our) Comforter

ⲁⲃⲗⲁⲃⲗⲩ

7.49 . . . our strength waxeth strong in our comforter . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Big li ad) Three syllables. The i at the end of the second syllable takes a long sound.

(*Dee—Bigliad) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee adds a circumflex over the i to indicate its long sound.

Note:

Bigliad is a direct reference to God. It would seem to be a compound of Iad (God) and Blior (comfort)—though note the radical change from Blior to “Bigl.” I’m not sure what the root would be in this case.

Blans (blanz)* v.

To Harbor

ᵛᵇᶠᶜᵛ

10.5 . . . and are harboured in the north . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Blans) One syllable. The a is likely short.

“Bliard” (blii-ARD) n.

Comfort

ᵛᵇᶠᶜᵛ

Pronunciation note:

I have adopted the accent from Bliora (comfort).

Compounds:

Fbliard (ef-blii-ard) [F + “Bliard”] Visit (with) Comfort

Also:

“Bigl” (big-el)

Comforter

Blior (blii-OR)

Comfort

Bliora (blii-OH-ra)

Comfort

Bliorax (blii-OH-raks)

To Comfort

Bliorb (blii-ORB)

Comfort

Bliors (blii-ORS)

Comfort

“Bliort” (blii-ORT)

Comfort

Pibliar (pib-lii-AR)

Places of Comfort

Blior (blii-OR)* n.

Comfort

ᵛᵇᶠᶜᵛ

9.74 . . . as requireth comfort . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Bli or) Two syllables. I have adopted the accent from Bliora (comfort).

Also:

"Bigl" (big-el)	Comforter
"Bliard" (blii-ARD)	Comfort
Bliora (blii-OH-ra)	Comfort
Bliorax (blii-OH-raks)	To Comfort
Bliorb (blii-ORB)	Comfort
Bliors (blii-ORS)	Comfort
"Bliort" (blii-ORT)	Comfort
Pibliar (pib-lii-AR)	Places of Comfort

Compounds:

Tablior (TAY-blii-or) [Ta + Blior]	As Comforters
------------------------------------	---------------

Possible compounds:

Bigliad (big-lii-ad) ["Bigl" + Iad?]	(In Our) Comforter
--------------------------------------	--------------------

Bliora (blii-OH-ra)* n.

Comfort

𐌸𐌹𐌺𐌹𐌺𐌹𐌺𐌹

5.49 . . . visit us in peace and comfort . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Bli ó ra) Three syllables, with the accent on the second syllable. The o stands alone.

(*Dee—bliora) See the 48 Claves. Again the accent is shown on the second syllable.

Also:

"Bigl" (big-el)	Comforter
"Bliard" (blii-ARD)	Comfort
Blior (blii-OR)	Comfort
Bliorax (blii-OH-raks)	To Comfort
Bliorb (blii-ORB)	Comfort
Bliors (blii-ORS)	Comfort
"Bliort" (blii-ORT)	Comfort
Pibliar (pib-lii-AR)	Places of Comfort

Bliorax (blii-OH-raks)* v.Shalt Comfort
(or To Comfort)

𐒧𐒫𐒪𐒭𐒧𐒫𐒪𐒭

16.9 . . . and shalt comfort the just . . .Note:

The transmission of the first twelve words of Key Sixteen is missing from Dee's journals. We only have the English given for it on TFR, p. 194. However, they do appear in Dee's 48 Claves.

Also:

Note this could be an example of the -ax affix, indicating action.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—bliôrax) See the 48 Claves. Dee placed a circumflex over the o to indicate a long sound. The accent is taken from Bliora (comfort). See other versions of this word for further pronunciation notes.

Also:

"Bigl" (big-el)	Comforter
"Bliard" (blii-ARD)	Comfort
Blior (blii-OR)	Comfort
Bliora (blii-OH-ra)	Comfort
Bliorb (blii-ORB)	Comfort
Bliors (blii-ORS)	Comfort
"Bliort" (blii-ORT)	Comfort
Pibliar (pib-lii-AR)	Places of Comfort

Compounds:

Tablior (TAY-blii-or) [Ta + Blior] As Comforters

Bliorb (blii-ORB)* n.

Comfort

𐒧𐒫𐒪𐒭𐒧𐒫𐒪𐒭

30.17 . . . God, the beginning of comfort . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Bliôrb) Likely two syllables, with an accent on the second syllable.

Also:

"Bigl" (big-el)	Comforter
"Bliard" (blii-ARD)	Comfort
Blior (blii-OR)	Comfort
Bliora (blii-OH-ra)	Comfort
Bliorax (blii-OH-raks)	(Shalt) Comfort
Bliors (blii-ORS)	Comfort
"Bliort" (blii-ORT)	Comfort
Pibliar (pib-lii-AR)	Places of Comfort

Bliors (blii-ORS)* n.

Comfort

ᵛᵉᵇᵛᵛᵛ

8.51 . . . to the terror of the earth, and to our comfort . . .18.5 . . . burning flame of comfort . . .Pronunciation notes:(Dee* 8.51—Bli ors)

(Dee* 18.5—B liors) Two syllables. Based on other versions of this word, I suspect that Dee's note at word 18.5 is a misprint. I have taken my pronunciation from the note at 8.51. The i at the end of the first syllable should likely take a long sound.

I have adopted the accent from Bliora (comfort).

Also:

"Bigl" (big-el)	Comforter
"Bliard" (blii-ARD)	Comfort
Blior (blii-OR)	Comfort
Bliora (blii-OH-ra)	Comfort
Bliorax (blii-OH-raks)	To Comfort
Bliorb (blii-ORB)	Comfort
"Bliort" (blii-ORT)	Comfort
Pibliar (pib-lii-AR)	Places of Comfort

"Bliort" (blii-ORT) n.

Comfort

ᵛᵉᵇᵛᵛᵛ

Pronunciation note:

I have adopted the accent from Bliora (comfort).

Compounds:

Comobliort (koh-moh-blii-ort) ["Como" + "Bliort"]

Window of Comfort

Also:

"Bigl" (big-el)

Comforter

"Bliard" (blii-ARD)

Comfort

Blor (blii-OR)

Comfort

Blora (blii-OH-ra)

Comfort

Blorax (blii-OH-raks)

To Comfort

Blorb (blii-ORB)

Comfort

Blors (blii-ORS)

Comfort

Piblar (pib-lii-AR)

Places of Comfort

Bobagelzod (boh-bay-JEL-zohd)* n.?Heptarchic King of Sunday, Sol?

𐄂𐄃𐄅𐄆𐄇𐄈𐄉𐄊

From Loagaeth:

See the Five Books, p. 313. This would appear to be the name of the Heptarchic King of Sunday and Sol, Bobagel. Perhaps this is a formal vocative case of his name? (See the "Angelical Linguistics" chapter.)

Pronunciation note:

(*Dee—Bobagelzod) See the Five Books, p. 313. Dee places an accent over the e. I have given the first a and o their long sounds based on similar words (see Babagen, Babalon, etc.).

Compare from Loagaeth:BobagenBogpa (bog-pa) v.

To Reign

𐄂𐄃𐄅𐄆𐄇𐄈𐄉𐄊

1.66 . . . and reigneth amongst you . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Call it Bogpa) I assume two syllables.

Note:

See also Sonf (reign).

Bolp (bulp)* v.ʔ or pron.

(Be) Thou

𐌵𐌺𐌵𐌶

18.24 Be thou a window of comfort unto me.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Bolp) One syllable. I assume this word sounds similar to the English word gulp.

Probable shared root:

Aqlo (AY-kwah-loh)

Thy

Yls (yils)

Thou

Ylsi (yil-sii)

Thee

L (el)

First

Ol (ohl)

I, Myself

Note:

If Ol (myself) is the root here, then the pre- and suffixed letters (B and p) alter it to its antonym (thou). Also see the word I (is/are), which goes through a similar antonymic change into Ip (not).

I also note that this word seems to indicate action, even though thou is technically a personal pronoun.

Booapis (boh-OH-ay-pis)* v.

To Serve

𐌵𐌺𐌵𐌶𐌵𐌶𐌶𐌶

30.63 . . . as a handmaid let her serve them.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—B o o a p i S) This is a very confusing note, and I doubt that Dee intended every one of these letters to stand alone. (To make sense of this, I have taken the pronunciation notes for Aboapri into account.) I have combined the initial B and the first o, and left the second o to stand alone. This makes a word of four syllables.

I have applied the accent to the second syllable based on Aboapri (to serve).

Also:

Aboapri (ay-BOH-ay-prii)

To Serve

Note:

It would appear that boap/boop serves as the common root between these two words.

Bornogo (bor-noh-goh) prop. n.

Heptarchic Prince of

Sunday, Sol

𐄂𐄂𐄂𐄂𐄂𐄂𐄂𐄂

From Loagaeth:

This name appears in a star pattern on the ninth Table of Loagaeth. Bornogo is the Heptarchic Prince of Sunday and Sol. Interestingly, it would seem a version of the name Bobgel (the King of Sunday) also appears in Loagaeth. (See Bobogelzod.)

Bransg (branzh)* n.

Guard

𐄂𐄂𐄂𐄂𐄂𐄂𐄂𐄂

9.2 A mighty guard of fire with two-edged swords . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Bransg) This word is likely one syllable. All of these letters fit naturally together in English. The a should take its short sound. The sg should make the sound of “sj” (a kind of “zhuh” sound)—which I have represented as zh. (See Vorsg for another example.)

Note:

A guard, as the word is used in Key Nine, refers to troops who have been assigned to something specific—such as an honor guard assigned to carry a flag. The mighty guard in Key Nine is like a defensive platoon.

Brgda (burj-da)* v.

To Sleep

𐄂𐄂𐄂𐄂𐄂𐄂𐄂𐄂

3.25 . . . which sleep and shall rise.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—as Burgda as burgen to bud) Apparently two syllables, with a soft “g” (or “j”) sound followed immediately by a d. (Almost like a hard “j” or “dg” sound—as in fudge and budge.) As is often the case, the r nested between two incompatible consonants adopts an “ur” sound.

“Brin” (brin) v.

Have

ᵐᵇᵗᵉᵛ

Compounds:

Dsbrin (dee-es-brin) [Ds + “Brin”]

Which Have

Also:

“Brint” (brint)

Has

Brints (brints)

To Have

Note:

“Brin” is likely the root word for Brints and its related words.

“Brint” (brint) v.

Has

ᵐᵇᵗᵉᵛ

Compounds:

Odbrint (ohd-brint) [Od + “Brint”]

And Has

Also:

“Brin” (brin)

Have

Brints (brints)

To Have

Note:

“Brin” may represent the root word here.

Brints (brints)* v.

To Have

ᵐᵇᵗᵉᵛ

18.15 . . . 6332 have their abiding . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Brints) All one syllable. The i is likely short.

Also:

“Brin” (brin)

Have

“Brint” (brint)

Has

Note:

“Brin” may represent the root word here.

Compare from Loagaeth:

Brtn

Brita (brit-a)* v.

To Speak of 𐌺𐌹𐌲𐌹𐌴

6.34 I have talked of you and I move you . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Brita) Likely two syllables.

Note:

Also see Camliax (Spake).

Busd (buzd)* n., adj.

Glory, Glorious

𐌺𐌹𐌺𐌹𐌴

8.23 . . . in the glory of the earth . . .

16.7 . . . thy beginning in glory . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee* 8.23—Bufd) One syllable. I notice “Bufd” is spelled with an f while every other version of the word (Busdir, Busdirtilb) is spelled with an s. In Dee’s English, elongated s’s were often used that highly resemble f’s. Therefore, it is likely that this word should read Busd. (See Casasam/“Cafafam” for a similar example.)

(Dee* 8.23—busd) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee confirms that the f in TFR should actually be an s.

Note:

The transmission of the first twelve words of Key Sixteen is missing from Dee’s journals. We only have the English given for it on TFR, p. 194. However, they do appear in Dee’s 48 Claves.

Also:

Busdir (buz-der)

Glory

Note:

Busd would seem to indicate glory in the sense of “wondrous.” See also Ialpirgah (flames of the first glory), which properly relates to light and fire—and possibly the light (glory) of the rising Sun. And Adgmach (glory), which appears to indicate “adoration, praise.” Also see “Lzirn” (wonders) and Sald (wonder).

Also compare Busd to the Heptarchic Angel Busduna, the lunar Governor of Tuesday. Apparently, Busduna contains an etymology of “glorious.”

Busdir (buz-der)* n.

Glory

᠑ᠮᠵᠢᠷᠠᠳ

18.8 . . . openest the glory of God.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Bus dir) Two syllables.

Also:

Busd (buzd)

Glory

Compounds:

Busdirtilb (buz-der-tilb) [Busdir + Tilb]

Glory (of) Her

Note:

See note at Busd.

Busdirtilb (buz-der-tilb)* [Busdir + Tilb] comp.

Glory (of) Her

ᠵᠠᠳᠢᠷᠲᠢᠯᠪ

30.50 . . . that the glory of her may be . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Bus dir tilb) Three syllables.

Butmon (but-mon)* n.

Mouth

ᠪᠤᠲᠮᠤᠨ

7.9 . . . the Lord hath opened his mouth . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—But mon) Two syllables. Both vowels are probably short.

Also:

Butmona (but-moh-na)

Mouth

Butmoni (but-moh-nii)

Mouths

Note:

Compare to the name of the Angel Butmono, the Heptarchic Prince of Thursday. If the -o affix (of) applies here, Butmono's name means "of the mouth"—like the mouth of God.

Butmona (but-moh-na)* n.

Mouth

𐄂𐄃𐄄𐄅𐄆𐄇𐄈𐄉𐄊

30.146 . . . the covenant of his mouth which he hath sworn . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—But mo na) Three syllables. The o likely takes a long sound.

(*Dee—butmôna) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed a circumflex over the o—thus confirming its long sound.

Also:

Butmon (but-mon)

Mouth

Butmoni (but-moh-nii)

Mouths

Note:

See note at Butmon.

Butmoni (but-moh-nii)* n.

Mouths

𐄂𐄃𐄄𐄅𐄆𐄇𐄈𐄉𐄊

9.46 . . . and from their mouths run seas of blood.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—BUT MO NI) Three syllables. It is unclear why Dee wrote this word in all caps. The o in the second syllable should take its long sound. Likewise for the i in the final syllable.

(*Dee—butmôni) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed a circumflex over the o to indicate its long sound.

Also:

Butmon (but-mon)

Mouth

Butmona (but-moh-na)

Mouth

Note:

See note at Butmon.

Veh (C/K)

E

Ca (see-ay)* adv.

Therefore

𐌺 𐌹

1.74 Move, therefore . . .2.43 Move, therefore . . .5.42 Therefore, come you and obey . . .11.36 Move, therefore . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 1.74—Call it C A [two syllables]) Each letter here stands alone.

(*Dee 2.43—Ca)

(*Dee 5.42—Ca Sa) This note suggests one syllable, with the C taking the sound of “S.”

(*Dee 1.74—c-a) See 48 Claves. Two syllables are again indicated.Note:See also “Ca” (as).Compare from Loagaeth:

Ca

“Ca” (kay) prep.

As?

𐌺 𐌹

Compounds:

Icorsca (ii-KORS-kay) [I + Cors + “Ca”]

Is Such as

Also:

Ta (tay)

As

Note:

The English word as is generally translated as Ta. However, there is precedent elsewhere in the Keys for this switch from T to C. See Cab (scepter) and Caba (govern).

Cab (kab) n.

Rod/Scepter

𐌵 𐌺 𐌹

1.44 . . . delivered you a rod with the arc of knowledge . . .

Note:

This word obviously means scepter—such as a ruling king would carry. It is intimately connected with the word Caba (govern), which precedes Cab in the Key by a few words.

Also:

Caba (ka-BA)	Govern
--------------	--------

Shared root:

Tabaam (tay-BAY-an)	Governor
“Tabas” (tay-BAS)	Govern

Note:

Note that the T (of the Taba root) becomes a C here. Note also the word Icorsca (is such as)—which uses Ca for as rather than the normal Ta. There does seem to be some relationship between the letters T and C in the Angelical.

Caba (ka-BA)* v.

To Govern

𐌺𐌴𐌲𐌴

1.40 . . . a law to govern the holy ones . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—call it Caba) Should be two syllables.

(Dee*—cabá) See 48 Claves. The accent is on the second syllable.

Also:

Cab (kab)	Govern
-----------	--------

Shared root:

Tabaam (tay-BAY-an)	Governor
“Tabas” (tay-BAS)	Govern

Note:

See note with Cab (scepter) and “Ca” (as?). Also see Tabaam.

Cabanladan (kab-an-lad-an)

n/a

Note:

See TFR, pp. 34–35. This session is recorded entirely in Latin. Here we find this Angelical phrase spoken by “a Voice”: Garil zed masch, ich na gel galaht gemp gal noch Cabanladan. No translation or context is offered.

Cacacom (kay-SAY-som)* v.

To Flourish

3.66 . . . his mercies flourish . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ca ca com) Three syllables. See Casasam (abiding)—indicating the c's in Cacacom (except for the initial C) should also take the soft “s” sound.

(*Dee—ca-cá-com) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee indicates the accent on the second syllable.

Also:“Cacocasb” (kay-KOH-kasb)

Another While

Cacrg (KAY-kurg)

Until

Casasam (kay-SAY-sam)

Abiding

Possible shared root:Acocasb (ay-KOH-kasb)

Time

Capimali (kay-pii-MAY-lii)

Successively

“Capimao” (kay-pii-MAY-oh)

While

Capimaon (kap-ii-MAY-on)

Number of Time

Capmiali (kap-mii-AY-lii)

Successively

Cocasb (KOH-kasb)

Time

Cocasg (KOH-kazh)

Times

Qcocasb (kwah-KOH-kasb)

Contents of Time

Note:

Also see Pild (continually).

“Cacocasb” (kay-KOH-kasb) n.

Another While

V ʌ ʃ E ʌ E ʃ E

Pronunciation note:

I have adopted the accent from other versions of this word.

Compounds:

Odcacocasb (ohd-kay-KOH-kazb) [Od + “Cacocasb”]

And Another While

Also:

Acocasb (ay-KOH-kasb)

Time

Cacacom (kay-SAY-som)

Flourish

Cacrg (KAY-kurg)

Until

Cocasb (KOH-kasb)

Time

Cocasg (KOH-kazh)

Times

Qcocasb (kwah-KOH-kasb)

Contents of Time

Probable shared root:

Casasam (kay-SAY-sam)

Abiding

Capimali (kay-pii-MAY-lii)

Successively

“Capimao” (kay-pii-MAY-oh)

While

Capimaon (kap-ii-MAY-on)

Number of Time

Capmiali (kap-mii-AY-lii)

Successively

Note:

Also see Pild (continually).

Cacrg (KAY-kurg)* prep. or conj.

Until

U ʌ E ʃ E

8.28 . . . shall not see death until this house fall . . .

30.138 . . . add and diminish until the stars be numbered . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 8.28—Ca curg)

(*Dee 30.138—Ca crg cúrg) Two syllables. The r takes the “ur” sound.

With word 30.138, Dee seems to indicate the second syllable carries the accent (over the úr).

(*Dee 8.28—cacarg) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee uses an a in the second syllable instead of a u to indicate the implied vowel sound. (This a and the corresponding u are strictly phonetic glosses.)

(*Dee 30.138—cácrgr) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed the accent upon the first syllable. (I have adopted this in my own pronunciation.)

Also:

Cacacom (kay-SAY-som)

Flourish

"Cacocasb" (kay-KOH-kasb)

Another While

Probable shared root:

Acocasb (ay-KOH-kasb)

Time

Casasam (kay-SAY-sam)

Abiding

Capimali (kay-pii-MAY-lii)

Successively

"Capimao" (kay-pii-MAY-oh)

While

Capimaon (kap-ii-MAY-on)

Number of Time

Capmiali (kap-mii-AY-lii)

Successively

Cocasb (KOH-kasb)

Time

Cocasg (KOH-kazh)

Times

Qcocasb (kwah-KOH-kasb)

Contents of Time

Note:

Also see Pild (continually).

"Cafafam"

n/a

Note:

See Casasam (abiding).

Calz (kalz)* n.

Firmaments (i.e., Heavens)

PCRE

1.8 . . . above the firmaments of wrath . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Calz) One syllable.

Note:

See also Piripsol (Heavens).

Camascheth (kam-ask-eth)

n/a

00700E~#E#E

Note:

See TFR, p. 22. Here, the guardian Angel of Lord Lasky of Poland says a prayer on Lasky's behalf, which ends with, "Grant this Camascheth galsuagath garnastel zurah logaah luseroth." No translation is offered.

Compare from Loagaeth:*VaschethCamikas (kam-ii-kas)

n/a

~#E7E#E

Note:

See the Five Books, p. 276. Here, Kelley is once again convinced the Angels are evil devils sent to lead humans astray. The Archangel Raphael holds his hands to Heaven (in what appears to be exasperation) and exclaims, "Camikas Zure!" No translation is suggested.

Camliax (kam-lii-aks)* v.

Spake (i.e., Spoke)

7#7~E#E

11.12 . . . the Eagle spake and cried . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Cam li ax) Three syllables. The i likely takes its long sound.

(*Dee—camliax) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed a circumflex over the i to indicate its long sound.

Note:

This could be an example of the suffix -ax indicating action.

Also see:Brita (To Speak of).Canal (san-al)* n.

(Continual) Workmen

~#~#E

6.20 . . . and 7699 continual workmen whose courses . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Canal Sanal) Two syllables. The initial C takes a soft sound (as in circle or cereal).

Canse (kan-say) adj.

Mighty*

ㄅㄣˊㄙㄞˊ

Note:

(*Dee—Canse signifieth mighty, and Cruscanse more mighty.) See Five Books, p. 304. Cruscanse (more mighty) is found in Loagaeth, but Canse (mighty) was mentioned only in a marginal note.

See also Micaolz (mighty), Micalp (mightier)

Also:

Cruscanse (krooz-kan-say)

Very Mighty

Compare from Loagaeth:

Can, Cans

Caosg (kay-OZH)* n.

Earth

ㄘㄞˊㄙ

3.53 . . . on the earth continually . . .

5.9 . . . looking with gladness upon the earth . . .

16.12 . . . walkest upon the earth with feet . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 3.53—Caosg)

(*Dee 5.9—Ca ósg) Two syllables, accent on the second syllable. Also note that an a followed by an o usually appears to take its long sound (as in the English word chaos).

I assume that the final sg letter combination makes a soft “j” or “zhuh” sound. I have represented this sound with the letters zh. (See Vorsg and Cocasg for this same sound.)

(*Dee 3.53—caósg) See the 48 Claves. The o again carries the accent.

(*Dee 5.9—ca-ósg) See the 48 Claves. This note matches the one in TFR.

Note:

The transmission of the first twelve words of Key Sixteen is missing from Dee's journals. We only have the English given for it on TFR, p. 194. However, it does appear in Dee's 48 Claves.

Also:

Caosga (kay-OS-ga)	Earth
Caosgi (kay-OZH-ii)	Earth
Caosgin (kay-OS-jin)	Earth
Caosgo (kay-OS-go)	Of the Earth
Caosgon (kay-OS-gon)	Unto the Earth

Caosga (kay-OS-ga)* n.

Earth

𐛀𐛁𐛂𐛃𐛄𐛅

30.43 . . . the earth, let her be governed . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ca ós ga) Likely three syllables—with the accent on the second syllable. The g should take the hard sound before an a—as in the English words gave and gantry. Finally, the a in the first syllable should be long, because it precedes an o.

(*Dee—Caós ga) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee again placed an accent upon the second syllable.

Also:

Caosg (kay-OZH)	Earth
Caosgi (kay-OZH-ii)	Earth
Caosgin (kay-OS-jin)	Earth
Caosgo (kay-OS-go)	Of the Earth
Caosgon (kay-OS-gon)	Unto the Earth

Compounds:

Fcaosga (ef-kay-OS-ga) [F + Caosga]	Visit the Earth
-------------------------------------	-----------------

Caosgi (kay-OZH-ii)* n.

Earth

𐛀𐛁𐛂𐛃𐛄𐛅

5.22 . . . vessels to water the earth . . .

6.23 . . . visit with comfort the earth . . .

- 10.19 . . . laid up for the earth . . .
 15.9 . . . weave the earth with dryness . . .
 30.26 . . . for the government of the earth . . .

Note:

The transmission of Key Fifteen is missing from Dee's journals. We only have the English for this Key given later (see TFR, p. 193). Plus, the word appears in this location in Dee's 48 Claves.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 5.22—Ca ós gi)

(*Dee 6.23—Ca os gi kaosgi)

(*Dee 10.19; 30.26—Ca os gi) In these notes, Dee indicates three syllables, with an accent on the second syllable. He also gives the initial C its hard ("K") sound. The a preceding an o should take the long sound (as in the English word chaos), and the g preceding an i likely takes its soft sound. Finally, because the g is soft, it likely combines with the s to make a kind of "zhuh" sound—which I have indicated in my pronunciation as zh.

(*Dee 5.22; 30.26—caós gi) See the 48 Claves. Note the accent again on the second syllable.

(*Dee 15.9—caôs gi) See the 48 Claves. Note the circumflex over the o, indicating its long sound.

Compounds:

Arcaosgi (ar-kay-OZH-ii) ["Ar" + Caosgi] To(?) the Earth

Also:

Caosg (kay-OZH) Earth

Caosga (kay-OS-ga) Earth

Caosgin (kay-OS-jin) Earth

Caosgo (kay-OS-go) Of the Earth

Caosgon (kay-OS-gon) Unto the Earth

Caosgin (kay-OS-jin)* n.

Earth

ⲉⲗⲉⲙⲉⲛⲧⲉⲛⲧⲉ

9.44 . . . millstones greater than the earth . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ca os gin) Three syllables. The a in the first syllable should be long. The g should take a soft sound when preceding an i.

(*Dee—caósgin) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed an accent over the second syllable.

Also:

Caosg (kay-OZH)	Earth
Caosga (kay-OS-ga)	Earth
Caosgi (kay-OZH-ii)	Earth
Caosgo (kay-OS-go)	Of the Earth
Caosgon (kay-OS-gon)	Unto the Earth

Caosgo (kay-OS-go)* prep. phrase

Of the Earth

Ⓐ Ⓒ Ⓐ Ⓐ Ⓐ

8.24 . . . in the glory of the earth . . .

8.49 . . . to the terror of the earth . . .

9.30 . . . the moss of the earth . . .

14.12 . . . all creatures of the earth . . .

18.11 . . . to the center of the earth . . .

30.6 . . . mighty in the parts of the earth . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 8.24—Ca, or Ka os go)

(*Dee 8.49—Ca as go Ka)

(*Dee 9.30; 18.11—Ca os go)

(*Dee 30.6—Ca ós go) These notes indicate three syllables, an accent on the second syllable. The C takes a hard sound, and so does the g. (The g took a soft sound in Caosg, but the final o changes the sound.) Finally, I assume a long sound for the a because it precedes an o.

(*Dee 8.24, 49; 9.30; 14.12; 18.11; 30.6—caósgo) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee indicates an accent on the second syllable.

Note:

The transmission of Key Fourteen is missing from Dee's journals. We only have the English for this Key given later (see TFR, p. 193). Plus, the word appears in this location in Dee's 48 Claves.

Possible shared root:

Acocasb (ay-KOH-kasb)	Time
Cacacom (kay-SAY-som)	Flourish
"Cacocasb" (kay-KOH-kasb)	Another While
Cacrg (KAY-kurg)	Until
Casasam (kay-SAY-sam)	Abiding
Cocasb (KOH-kasb)	Time
Cocasg (KOH-kazh)	Times
Qcocasb (kwah-KOH-kasb)	Contents of Time

Compare from Loagaeth:*CapNote:Also see Pild (continually)."Capimao" (kay-pii-MAY-oh) n.

While (period of time)

L S C L U S R

Pronunciation note:I have adopted the accent from Capimali (successively).Compounds:

Lcapimao (el-ka-Pii-may-oh) [L + "Capimao"]	One While
---	-----------

Also:

Capimaon (kap-ii-MAY-on)	Number of Time
Capimali (kay-pii-MAY-lii)	Successively
Capmiali (kap-mii-AY-lii)	Successively

Possible shared root:

Acocasb (ay-KOH-kasb)	Time
Cacacom (kay-SAY-som)	Flourish
"Cacocasb" (kay-KOH-kasb)	Another While
Cacrg (KAY-kurg)	Until
Casasam (kay-SAY-sam)	Abiding
Cocasb (KOH-kasb)	Time
Cocasg (KOH-kazh)	Times
Qcocasb (kwah-KOH-kasb)	Contents of Time

Compare from Loagaeth:*CapNote:Also see Pild (continually).Capimaon (kap-ii-MAY-on)* n.

Number of Time

𐌺𐌰𐌹𐌿𐌺𐌰𐌺𐌰𐌺𐌰

4.27 . . . also successively are the number of time . . .Pronunciation notes:(Dee*—Capi ma on) Four syllables. The first a seems to be short in this case. I have adopted the accent from Capimali (successively).Also:

Capimali (kay-pii-MAY-lii)

Successively

"Capimao" (kay-pii-MAY-oh)

While (period of time)

Capmiali (kap-mii-AY-lii)

Successively

Possible shared root:

Acocasb (ay-KOH-kasb)

Time

Cacacom (kay-SAY-som)

Flourish

"Cacocasb" (kay-KOH-kasb)

Another While

Cacrg (KAY-kurg)

Until

Casasam (kay-SAY-sam)

Abiding

Cocasb (KOH-kasb)

Time

Cocasg (KOH-kazh)

Times

Qcocasb (kwah-KOH-kasb)

Contents of Time

Compare from Loagaeth:*CapNote:Also see Pild (continually).Capmiali (kap-mii-AY-lii)* adv.

Successively

𐌺𐌰𐌹𐌿𐌺𐌰𐌺𐌰𐌺𐌰

3.38 . . . power successively over 456 . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Capmiali) Likely four syllables. See pronunciation notes for Capimaon and Capimali.

(*Dee—Cap-mi-áli) See the 48 Claves. Dee places an accent on the third syllable. Both i's likely take their long sound.

Also:

Capimali (kay-pii-MAY-lii)	Successively
"Capimao" (kay-pii-MAY-oh)	While
Capimaon (kap-ii-MAY-on)	Number of Time

Possible shared root:

Acocasb (ay-KOH-kasb)	Time
Cacacom (kay-SAY-som)	Flourish
"Cacocasb" (kay-KOH-kasb)	Another While
Cacrg (KAY-kurg)	Until
Casasam (kay-SAY-sam)	Abiding
Cocasb (KOH-kasb)	Time
Cocasg (KOH-kazh)	Times
Qcocasb (kwah-KOH-kasb)	Contents of Time

Compare from Loagaeth:

Cap

Note:

Also see Pild (continually).

Carbaf (kar-baf)* v.

To Sink
(i.e., To Stoop, To Dive)

𐌺 𐌹 𐌴 𐌺 𐌹 𐌴

8.33 . . . until this house fall and the dragon sink.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Car baf) Two syllables.

Note:

This word is used to describe the dragon stooping—or diving to attack prey. The word stoop can also mean to descend from superior rank or moral standing—both of which make sense when applied to the dragon (or Satan).

Probable shared root:

"Abai" (a-bay)

Stooping

Carma (kar-ma) v.

To Come Out / To Arrive From /

To Arise

✠ ☞ ☞ ☞ ☞ ✠

Note:

See TFR, p. 32. Here, Dee is speaking with the Angel Madimi. Suddenly, Madimi halts the session and demands, "Carma geta Barman." Dee asks her what this means, and she replies (in Latin, which roughly translates to:) "Come out of there, Barma." Madimi's command exorcises fifteen spirits from the body of Edward Kelley, the chief of whom is named Barma. After a short exchange (see Gil, etc.), Madimi banishes all fifteen spirits back to Hell "until the last cry." (That is, until the End Times.) Also see Niis (Come), Nissa (Come away!). Carma Geta is likely intended as an exorcism phrase, and not something one would use with the Angels. Niis, Niisa, etc. are appropriate for use with celestial beings.

Possible shared root:Carmara (kar-mar-a)

n/a

Compare from Loagaeth:Csrmax, Armax, CardaxCarmara (or Marmara) (kar-mar-a) prop. n.

n/a

(✠ ☞ ☞ ☞ ☞ ☞ ☞ or) ✠ ☞ ☞ ☞ ☞ ✠

Possible shared root:Carma (kar-ma)

To Come Out / To Arise

Note:

See the Five Books, pp. 184 and 187. Carmara is the title of the ruling King of the Heptarchia. In Dee's lifetime, the Heptarchic King of Venus—Baligon—held the title. Today, I presume it should be the King of Mercury—Bnaspol—though I do not know if he would hold the same title.

(Also see Ga, Galvah, Hagonel, Mapsama, Murifri, Nalvage, Vaa, and Za.)

Compare from Loagaeth:Csrmax, Armax, CardaxCasarm (kay-SARM) pron.

Whom

Ⓒ Ⓔ Ⓕ Ⓖ Ⓗ Ⓘ

1.38 . . . to whom I made a law . . .5.14 . . . unto whom I fastened pillars . . .Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Casarm) I assume just two syllables here. Also see Casarmg, Casarmman, and Casarmi—which indicate the first a is long, and the accent is on the second syllable.

Also:

Casarma (kay-SAR-ma)

Whom

Casarman (kay-SAR-man)

Whom/(Under) Whose

Casarmg (kay-SAR-mij)

In Whom

Casarmi (kay-SAR-mij)

(Under) Whom

Also see:

Soba (whose)

Casarma (kay-SAR-ma)* pron.

Whom

Ⓕ Ⓒ Ⓔ Ⓕ Ⓖ Ⓗ Ⓘ

2.13 . . . whom I have prepared . . .Pronunciation notes:(Dee*—Casarma)

(Dee*—Cas-arma) See 48 Claves. I assume three syllables here. Also see Casarmg, Casarman, and Casarmi, which indicate the first a is long.

Other versions of this word indicate an accent on the second syllable.

Also:

Casarm (kay-SARM)

Whom

Casarman (kay-SAR-man)

Whom/(Under?) Whose

Casarmg (kay-SAR-mij)

In Whom

Casarmi (kay-SAR-mij)

(Under) Whom

Also see:

Soba (whose)

Casarman (kay-SAR-man)* pron. or adj.

Whom/(Under) Whose

𐄂𐄃𐄄𐄅𐄆𐄇𐄈𐄉

11.22 . . . of whom it is measured . . .15.4 . . . under whose wings . . .Pronunciation notes:(*Dee 11.22—Ca sar man) Three syllables. The first a is likely long.(*Dee 11.22—Ca-sár-man) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee places an accent upon the second syllable.Note:

The of in the above translation (11.22) seems to be implied. The word under (in 15.4) is something more of a problem. At first it seems to be a mistake—however, there is also the instance of Casarmi (under whom) in Key Four.

The transmission of Key Fifteen is missing from Dee's journals. We only have the English for this Key given later (see TFR, p. 193). Plus, the word appears in this location in Dee's 48 Claves.

Also:

Casarm (kay-SARM)

Whom

Casarma (kay-SAR-ma)

Whom

Casarmg (kay-SAR-mij)

In Whom

Casarmi (kay-SAR-mij)

(Under) Whom

Also see:

Soba (whose).

Casarmg (kay-SAR-mij)* pron.

In Whom

𐄂𐄃𐄄𐄅𐄆𐄇𐄈𐄉

3.72 . . . in whom we say . . .4.20 . . . in whom the second beginning of things . . .7.14 . . . in whom the strength . . .8.7 . . . made of hyacinth pillars, in whom the Elders . . .

18.12 . . . in whom the secrets . . .

Pronunciation note:

(*Dee 3.72; 8.7—Casarmg)

(*Dee 4.20—Casarmg the g as in seurge) Final g takes the soft “j” sound.

(*Dee 7.14—Ca sarmg. The g as dg armg) Again, a soft “g” sound. Also, the first a appears long.

(*Dee 18.12—ca sar mg) Three syllables. Again the a seems to take the long sound. Usually the m and the g would have to stand alone—as they do not combine naturally in English. However, in order to give the g its soft sound as Dee indicates, it is necessary to insert a vowel sound between the m and g. I suggest “mij.”

(*Dee 3.72—Casármg) See the 48 Claves. Dee placed an accent on the second syllable.

Note:

The Angelical affix-word G (you) is not apparently intended in this spelling of Casarmg.

Also:

Casarm (kay-SARM)	Whom
Casarma (kay-SAR-ma)	Whom
Casarman (kay-SAR-man)	Whom/(Under) Whose
Casarmi (kay-SAR-mij)	(Under) Whom

Also see:

Soba (whose).

Casarmi (kay-SAR-mij)* pron.

(Under) Whom

Ⲑⲉⲥⲁⲣⲙⲓ

4.13 . . . under whom I have placed 9639 . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ca sarmi) Here, we are likely seeing one of Dee’s typical substitutions of the letter i (that is—j) for the letter g. Both Casarmg and Casarmi are probably identical when spoken. However, note that Dee does not show the i as a separate syllable—so I have combined the m and i into the sound of “mij.”

(*Dee—Casármí) See the 48 Claves. Dee places an accent on the second syllable.

Note:

What is confusing here is the addition of under to the word's definition. It repeats in Key Fifteen with the word Casarman (under whose).

Also:

Casarm (kay-SARM)	Whom
Casarma (kay-SAR-ma)	Whom
Casarman (kay-SAR-man)	Whom/(Under) Whose
Casarmg (kay-SAR-mij)	In Whom

Also see:

Soba (whose).

Casasam (kay-SAY-sam)* n.

Abiding

㇪ㇴㇵㇶㇷㇸ

18.16 . . . 6332 have their abiding . . .

Pronunciation note:

(*Dee—Ca fá fam) Three syllables. I suspect that “Cafafam” is a mistake for Casasam. In Dee’s English, f was often written in an elongated fashion that highly resembles an s. (I find this highly likely, because we also have the word Cacacom [flourish], which uses two Cs instead of Ss. Those Cs could easily take the soft “s” sound.)

(*Dee—casâsam) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee confirms that the *f*s shown in this word in TFR should be s’s instead. He also placed a circumflex over the second a to indicate its long sound.

I have adopted the accent from Cacacom (flourish).

Note:

Abiding seems to be used in this case as a noun, to mean “period of existence.”

Also:

Cacacom (kay-SAY-som)	Flourish
-----------------------	----------

Probable shared root:

Acocasb (ay-KOH-kasb)	Time
-----------------------	------

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Chiis) One syllable. In Early Modern English, a double i indicated the long vowel sound. This is further supported by Dee's phonetic notes for Chis (are). I suspect the second i in this word is a phonetic gloss.

Also:

Chis (kiis)	Are
"Chisda" (kiis-da)	Are There
Chiso (kiis-oh)	Shall Be
"Gchis" (jee-kiis)	Are
"Ichis" (jay-kiis)	Are
Zchis (zohd-kiis)	(They) Are

Note:

Note the usage of the letter I (Angelical for "is") through these words. Because both I and Chis are forms of "to be," it is possible that I forms the root of the Chis family of words.

Also see Zchis (they are).

Chirlan (kir-lan)* v.

To Rejoice

𐝈 𐝆 𐝌 𐝈 𐝌 𐝈 𐝆

7.16 . . . in whom the strength of men rejoiceth . . .

9.64 The God of Righteousness rejoiceth in them.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 7.16; 9.64—Chir lan Kir) Two syllables. The Ch in the first syllable is given the harder "K" (or "Kh") sound. Both vowels are likely short.

Chis (kiis)* v.

Are

𐝈 𐝌 𐝈 𐝆

2.24 Stronger are your feet . . .

2.29 . . . mightier are your voices . . .

3.10 . . . six are the seats of . . .

3.14 . . . the rest are as sharp sickles . . .

3.20 . . . are, to are not, except by the hands . . .

4.22 . . . are, and wax strong . . .

4.26 . . . successively are the number of time . . .

- 4.29 . . . powers are as the first 456 . . .
 6.3 . . . spirits of the fourth angle are nine . . .
 8.9 . . . Elders are become strong . . .
 9.15 . . . whose wings are of wormwood . . .
 9.41 . . . in their eyes are millstones . . .
 9.56 . . . upon their heads are marble . . .
 10.2 . . . are numbered and harboured . . .
 10.11 . . . are 22 nests of lamentation . . .
 12.5 . . . and are 28 lanterns . . .
 15.6 . . . under whose wings are 6739 . . .
 17.5 . . . whose wings are thorns . . .
 30.19 . . . whose eyes are the brightness . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 2.24—Chis [as Xis]) The X is actually a Greek Chi—indicating the Ch has a “K” sound.

(*Dee 2.29—Chis [the I long]) This note shows a long vowel sound for the i.

(*Dee 3.10—Chis as Kisse) The ss represents a single “s” sound—as in Kise. The final e gives the i its long sound. We also see again that the Ch has a “K” sound.

(*Dee 3.14—Chis as Kis)

(*Dee 3.20; 4.22, 26—Chis Kis)

(*Dee 4.29; 6.3; 8.9; 9.15, 41, 56; 10.2, 11; 12.5; 17.5—Chis)

(*Dee 30.19—Chis Kiss)

(*Dee 2.29—chis) See the 48 Claves. I am unsure why Dee placed an accent on a single-syllable word—unless he had originally intended this particular instance to compound with the word before or after it.

Note:

The transmission of Key Fifteen is missing from Dee’s journals. We only have the English for this Key given later (see TFR, p. 193). Plus, the word appears in this location in Dee’s 48 Claves.

Compounds:

Chisholq (KIIS-hohl-kwa) [Chis + Holq]	Are Measured
Chismicaolz (kiis-mii-KAY-ohlz) [Chis + Micaolz]	Are Mighty
Chista (kiis-tay) [Chis + Ta]	Are as
Chistad (kiis-tad) [Chis + Ta + D]	Are as the Third
Dschis (dee-es-kiis) [Ds + Chis]	Which Are

Irgilchisda (ir-jil-KIIS-da) ["Irgil" + Chis + "Da"]

How Many Are There

Odchis (ohd-kiis) [Od + Chis]

And Are

Unalchis (yew-nal-kiis) [Unal + Chis]

These Are

Also:

Chiis (kiis)

Are (They)

"Chisda" (kiis-da)

Are There

Chiso (kiis-oh)

Shall Be

"Gchis" (jee-kiis)

Are

"Ichis" (jay-kiis)

Are

Zchis (zohd-kiis)

(They) Are

Note:

See note at Chiis.

Also see Geh (are/art)—which may be a more formal term.

"Chisda" (kiis-da) [Chis + "Da"] comp.

Are There

⌘ ⌘ ⌘ ⌘ ⌘ ⌘

Compounds:

Irgilchisda (ir-jil-KIIS-da) ["Irgil" + Chis + "Da"] How many Are There

Chisholq (KIIS-hohl-kwa)* [Chis + Holq] comp.

Are Measured

⌘ ⌘ ⌘ ⌘ ⌘ ⌘

9.24 . . . are measured with their ministers . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Chis hol q) Three syllables. The final q stands alone. See Chis for further pronunciation notes.

(*Dee—chis hôlq) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed an accent over the first syllable. He also placed a circumflex over the o to indicate its long sound.

Chismicaolz (kiis-mii-KAY-ohlz)* [Chis + Micaolz] comp.

Are Mighty

⌘ ⌘ ⌘ ⌘ ⌘ ⌘

30.4 . . . are mighty in the parts of the earth . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Chis Micaólz Kis) Four syllables, with an accent on the third syllable. (See Micaolz, where Dee places the accent on the same part of the word.) Dee also reminds us that the Ch has a “Kh” sound. See Chis for the long “i” sound in the first syllable. See Micaolz for the long “i” sound in the second syllable.

(*Dee—chis Micaólz) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee indicates the accent on the fourth syllable instead. However, based on other versions of Micaolz (mighty), I have settled upon placing the accent over the third syllable.

Chiso (kiis-oh)* v.

Shall Be

𐌲𐌿𐌶𐌵𐌹𐌺𐌰

10.78 . . . her iniquity is, was, and shall be great . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Chi so K) Two syllables. Dee indicates that the Ch should take the hard “K” (or “Kh”) sound. Also, the i appears to take the long sound—which is supported by the long “i” sound in other versions of this word.

Note:

Also see Trian (shall be).

Also:

Chis (kiis)

Are

Chiis (kiis)

Are (They)

“Chisda” (kiis-da)

Are There

“Gchis” (jee-kiis)

Are

“Ichis” (jay-kiis)

Are

Zchis (zohd-kiis)

(They) Are

Note:

Often, an o affix indicates “of.” However, it does not appear to hold true in this case.

Chista (kiis-tay)* [Chis + Ta] comp.

Are as 𐌲𐌿𐌶𐌵𐌹𐌺𐌰𐌹𐌶𐌰

5.37 . . . whose numbers are as the first . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Chis ta . . . Kista) Two syllables. The Ch takes a hard “Kh” sound. See Chiis for the long “i” sound.

Chistad (kiis-tad)* [Chis + Ta + D] comp.

Are as the Third

⌘ ⌘ ⌘ ⌘ ⌘ ⌘ ⌘ ⌘

7.26 . . . are as the third and fourth . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Chis tad Kis) Two syllables. Dee indicates that the Ch in the first syllable should take the harder “K” (or “Kh”) sound. Also see the pronunciation notes for Chis.

Chr (kar)* prop. n.

“The Twentieth Aethyr”

(To Be/Exist?)

⌘ ⌘ ⌘

30.3 . . . which dwell in the twentieth aethyr . . .

Note:

(*Dee—kar in palato very much.) This means the Ch in this word is guttural (a hard sound made “in palato”—the back of the roof of the mouth, just at the throat)—a raspy “kh” sound. This (word 30.3) is the single space in the Key of the Aethyrs, which must be changed for each invocation—replacing word 30.3 with the name of the appropriate Aethyr. No established definitions were given for these names. However, if Chr means “to be/exist,” do not confuse this with the verb I (“to be”—“is/are”).

Chr contains the three Parts of the Earth Zildron, Parziba, and Totocan.

Possible shared root:

Chramsa (kraym-sa)

Be It Made with Power

Christeos (kris-TEE-os)

Let There Be

Chramsa (KRAYM-sa)* v.

Be It Made with Power

⌘ ⌘ ⌘ ⌘ ⌘ ⌘ ⌘ ⌘

Pronunciation note:

(*Dee—chrámsa —the first “a” very long.) See the Five Books, p. 307. Dee adds an accent over the first a.

From Loagaeth:

(*Dee—A reverent word, [. . .] and is, be it made with power.) See the Five Books, p. 307.

Possible shared root:

Chr (kar)

“The Twentieth Aethyr”

Christeos (kris-TEE-os)

Let There Be

Compare from Loagaeth:

Cramsa, Chramsa

Christeos (kris-TEE-os)* v

Let There Be . . .

ἂλῆν ἂλῆν ἂλῆν

30.47 . . . let there be division in her . . .

30.68 . . . and let there be no one creature equal . . .

30.79 . . . let there be no creature upon or within her . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 30.47—Chris té os)

(*Dee 30.68, 79—Chris te os) Three syllables, with an accent on the second syllable. I assume a long “e” sound at the end of the second syllable. The Ch should take the “Kh” sound, as in the word Christian.

(*Dee 30.47, 68—chrísteos) See the 48 Claves. In these places, Dee again indicates an accent on the second syllable.

(*Dee 30.79—chrísteos) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee used a circumflex over the e to indicate its long sound.

Note:

The similarity between this word and the word Christ in Greek (Christos)—meaning “the Anointed One.” In ancient Gnosticism, the Christos—as distinct from Jesus—was the source of all life. The Christos was also known as the Word (Logos)—the agent of creation. (See John 1.) In Genesis 1, the first words spoken by the Creator are, “Let there be Light!”

Possible shared root:

Chr (kar)

“The Twentieth Aethyr”

Chramsa (kraym-sa)

Be It Made with Power

CIAL (sii-al)*

9996

ㄘ ㄗ ㄌ ㄝ

9.26 . . . are measured with their ministers 9996.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ci al) Two syllables. The C preceding an I should make a soft “s” sound—as in the English words circle and circus.

Note:

This word was not originally given with Key Nine. It was added later when Nalvage transmitted the English for the Key (see TFR, p. 191). This seems to have been the case with many of the numbers mentioned in the Keys.

Ciaofi (sii-ay-oh-fii)* n.

Terror

ㄘ ㄗ ㄌ ㄝ ㄌ ㄝ

8.48 . . . appear to the terror of the earth . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—C I A O fi) Dee’s note is somewhat confusing. There is no ao letter combination in Early Modern English. Therefore, both letters should be sounded separately (as in the English word chaos). This leaves the initial Ci—which Dee writes as if they should each stand alone. However, these two letters do make a natural sound in English (as in circle and circus). Therefore, I suggest four syllables for this word, rather than the five Dee indicates in his phonetic note.

Cicle (sii-kayl)* n.

Mysteries

ㄘ ㄗ ㄌ ㄝ ㄌ ㄝ

1.78, (RFP), 30.152 Open the mysteries of your creation . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 1.78—Call it Cicle)

(*Dee 30.152—Cicle) Dee gives us little to work with. I assume the initial C followed by an i should make an “s” sound (as in circus and circle). The i should take a long sound (based on Dee’s phonetic note for Cicles).

Then, the final le following a consonant likely makes the “ayl” sound.
(See the pronunciation notes for Battle and Bagle.)

Also:

Cicles (sii-kayls)

Mysteries

Cicles (sii-kayls)* n.

Mysteries

ᵛᵛᵛᵛᵛᵛᵛᵛ

5.52 Conclude us as receivers of your mysteries . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ci cles) Two syllables. I assume the initial C followed by an i should make an “s” sound (as in circus or circle). Also, the cle should make the sound of “kayl.” (See the pronunciation notes for Battle and Bagle.)

Also:

Cicle (sii-kayl)

Mysteries

Cinxir (sinks-ir)* ᵛ

To Mingle

ᵛᵛᵛᵛᵛᵛᵛᵛ

10.31 . . . live sulphur myngled with poison.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Cynx ir) Two syllables. The initial C should take the “S” sound when preceding an i. Both vowels are short.

CLA (kla)*

456 ᵛᵛᵛᵛ

3.40 . . . over 456, the true ages of time . . .

4.31 . . . are as the first 456.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 3.40; 4.31—Cla) Dee appears to suggest one syllable.

Cnila (see-NII-la)* n.

Blood

ᵛᵛᵛᵛᵛᵛᵛᵛ

9.49 . . . from their mouths run seas of blood.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Cni la) This appears to be two syllables. However, it is unlikely that the C should blend with the n. (See Cnoqod, etc.) Therefore, it is more likely three syllables. The i should take its long sound.

(*Dee—Cnīla) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed an accent over the i in the second syllable.

Cnoqod (see-NOH-kwod)* n.

(Unto) Servants

ㄣ ㄌ ㄛ ㄍ ㄛ ㄉ

2.44 . . . move, therefore, unto his servants . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—as C Nō Quod) Three syllables, with an accent on the second syllable. Dee added a u in his note as a phonetic gloss—indicating the “kwah” sound.

(*Dee—c-nō-qod) See 48 Claves. This note agrees with the note in TFR.

Also:

Cnoquodi (see-noh-KWOH-dii)

(With) Ministers

Cnoquol (see-NOH-kwol)

Servants

Noco (NOH-kwoh)

Servant

Note:

Also see Lang (Those Who Serve).

Cnoquodi (see-noh-KWOH-dii)* n.

(With) Ministers

ㄣ ㄌ ㄛ ㄍ ㄛ ㄉ

9.25 . . . are measured with their ministers 9996 . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Cno quo di) Dee seems to indicate three syllables. However, other version of this word indicate the initial C should stand alone. Therefore, it is likely four syllables instead. The u in Cnoquodi and Cnoquol is likely a phonetic gloss. (It does not appear in Cnoqod, except in Dee’s pronunciation note.)

(*Dee—Cnoquódi) See the 48 Claves. Dee placed an accent on the third syllable.

Also:

Cnoqod (see-NOH-kwod)	(Unto) Servants
Cnoquol (see-NOH-kwol)	Servants
Noco (NOH-kwoh)	Servant

Note:

Also see Lang (Those Who Serve).

Cnoquol (see-NOH-kwol)* n.

Servants

Ⲙⲗⲗⲗⲗⲗⲗ

7.33 O you servants of mercy . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee—Cno quol kol*) Dee indicates that the q sounds like a “k” (as in the English words kick and kite). The u in Cnoquol and Cnoquodi is likely a phonetic gloss—making the q take more of a “kwah” sound. (The u does not appear in Cnoqod, except in Dee’s pronunciation note.) See pronunciation note at Cnoqod for the accented syllable.

Also:

Cnoqod (see-NOH-kwod)	(Unto) Servants
Cnoquodi (see-noh-KWOH-dii)	(With) Ministers
Noco (NOH-kwoh)	Servant

Note:

Also see Lang (Those Who Serve).

“Coazior” (koh-ay-zhor) v.

To Increase

Ⲙⲗⲗⲗⲗⲗⲗ

Compounds:

Arcoazior (ar-koh-ay-zhor) [Ar + “Coazior”]	That Increase
---	---------------

Note:

It is a long shot, but I suspect a connection between this word and the name of the Angel Hecoa, one of the Sons of Light. (Perhaps “Coa” is a root word.) This would give his name an etymology similar to his brother Dmal, whose name may contain Mal (increase).

Cocasb (KOH-kasb)* n.

Time

V ʌ ʒ B L E

3.42 . . . the true ages of time . . .10.55 . . . know any time there . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 3.42—Cocasb)

(*Dee 10.55—Co casb) Two syllables. The o at the end of the first syllable should be long. The a appears to be short in this case.

I have adopted the accent from other versions of this word.

Also:

Acocasb (ay-KOH-kasb)

Time

“Cacocasb” (kay-KOH-kasb)

Another While

Cocasg (KOH-kazh)

Times

Qcocasb (kwah-KOH-kasb)

Contents of Time

Possible shared root:

Cacacom (kay-SAY-som)

Flourish

Cacrg (KAY-kurg)

Until

Casasam (kay-SAY-sam)

Abiding

Capimali (kay-pii-MAY-lii)

Successively

“Capimao” (kay-pii-MAY-oh)

While

Capimaon (kap-ii-MAY-on)

Number of Time

Capmiali (kap-mii-AY-lii)

Successively

Note:

Also see Pild (continually).

Cocasg (KOH-kazh)* n.

Times

U ʌ ʒ B L E

10.37 . . . that 5678 times . . .10.46 . . . thousand times as many . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 10.37—Co casg g as dg) Two syllables, with a soft final g. The sg likely blends into a soft j or “zhuh” sound. See Vorsg (over you) and Caosg (earth), where I also use the “zhuh” digraph in relation to the final letters sg. I indicate this rare digraph in my pronunciation as “zh.”

(*Dee 10.46—Co Casg . . . gao dg) Two syllables again. It is unclear what gao indicates.

I have adopted the accent from other versions of this word.

Also:

Acocasb (ay-KOH-kasb)	Time
"Cacocasb" (kay-KOH-kasb)	Another While
Cocasb (KOH-kasb)	Time
Qcocasb (kwah-KOH-kasb)	Contents of Time

Possible shared root:

Cacacom (kay-SAY-som)	Flourish
Cacrg (KAY-kurg)	Until
Casasam (kay-SAY-sam)	Abiding
Capimali (kay-pii-MAY-lii)	Successively
"Capimao" (kay-pii-MAY-oh)	While
Capimaon (kap-ii-MAY-on)	Number of Time
Capmiali (kap-mii-AY-lii)	Successively

Note:

Also see Pild (continually).

Collal (kol-lal)* n.

Sleeves/Sheaths

9.58 . . . upon their (hands) are marble sleeves.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Col lal) Two syllables. Both vowels should take their short sounds.

Note:

This word indicates sheaths—so that these “sleeves” are in fact gloves of a sort.

Commah (KOM-mah)* v.

To Truss Together (Join)

1.25 . . . and trussed you together like the palms of my hands . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—COMMAH) Dee gives us little clue here. In Early Modern English, a double consonant generally combined into one sound. This word likely has two syllables. I have adopted the accent from Comselh (circle).

Possible shared root:

Comselh (KOM-sel)

Circle

Comselh (KOM-sel)* n.

Circle

3.5 I am a circle on whose hands . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Com Selh) Two syllables. I assume the final h is very faint if not entirely silent.

(*Dee—cómsehl) See 48 Claves. Note the accent on the first syllable.

Possible shared root:

Commah (KOM-mah)

Trussed Together

"Como" (koh-moh) n.

Window

Compounds:

Comobliort (koh-moh-blii-ort) ["Como" + "Bliort"]

Window of Comfort

Comobliort (koh-moh-blii-ort)* ["Como" + "Bliort"] comp.

Window of Comfort

18.25 . . . be thou a window of comfort . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Co mo bli ort) Four syllables. The o's in the first and second syllables should both take their long sound. The i is also long.

Congamphlgh (KONG-am-filj)* n.

Faith/Holy Ghost

𐌂𐌆𐌆𐌔𐌂𐌆𐌔𐌆𐌔𐌆𐌔𐌆𐌔𐌆𐌔𐌆𐌔𐌆𐌔

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—CÓNGAM-PHLGH —phlgh = filgh.) See the Five Books, p. 316.
Three syllables. Dee adds an accent over the o.

From Loagaeth:

(*Dee—Faith that revereth man's breast, the Holy Ghost.) See the Five Books, p. 316.

Note:

Also see Gono (faith).

Conisbra (koh-NIS-bra)* n.

The Work of Man

𐌂𐌆𐌔𐌆𐌔𐌆𐌔𐌆𐌔𐌆𐌔𐌆𐌔𐌆𐌔𐌆𐌔𐌆𐌔

30.92 The work of man and his pomp . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Co nis bra) Three syllables. I assume the o takes a long sound, because Dee placed the n at the head of the second syllable instead of at the end of the first.

(*Dee—Conisbra) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed an accent over the i in the second syllable.

Note:

Neither of the usual Angelical words for “work” (Aath or Vaun) or mankind (Cordziz) appear within this word. Since Conisbra at least shares some common letters with Cordziz, I would assume Conisbra has “mankind” as its root.

Possible shared root:

Cordziz (KORD-ziz)

Mankind

Const (konst)* n.

Thunders

𐌂𐌆𐌔𐌆𐌔𐌆𐌔𐌆𐌔𐌆𐌔𐌆𐌔𐌆𐌔𐌆𐌔𐌆𐌔

10.34 . . . These be the Thunders . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Const K) One syllable. Dee indicates the C should take its harder “K” sound.

Note:

This is probably the generic Angelical word for “thunder”; however, the Key is referring to a group of Angels—referred to earlier in the Key as the Coraxo (Thunders)—rather than weather. Also see Sapah (Mighty Sounds), Avavago (Thunders), and Coraxo (Thunders).

Coraxo (koh-RAYKS-oh)* prop. n.

Thunders of Judgment and Wrath

ⒶⒼⒶⒶⒶⒶ

10.1 . . . The Thunders of Judgment and Wrath are numbered . . .

11.6 . . . They were five Thunders which flew into the East . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 10.1—Co rax o)

(*Dee 11.6—Co ráx o) Three syllables, with an accent on the second syllable. Both o's are long. Also, the Angel Illemese gives further information:

(*Illemese—Coraaxo) See TFR, p. 200. The double a here shows that the a should also be long.

(*Dee 10.1; 11.6—Coráxo) See the 48 Claves. Dee again shows the accent over the second syllable.

Note:

The generic Angelical word for “thunder” is likely Const. The Thunders mentioned here and elsewhere in the Keys are groups of Angels. See Avavago (Thunders) and Sapah (Mighty Sounds). Note the Thunders, Lightnings, and Voices that proceeded from the Divine Throne in the vision of St. John (Book of Revelation). The Coraxo are mentioned only in Keys Ten and Eleven—both of which seem to relate to the Northern Quarter of the Universe.

Cordziz (KORD-ziz)* n.

Mankind

ⒶⒼⒶⒶⒶⒶ

30.83 . . . the reasonable creatures of earth (or men), let them vex . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Cord ziz) Two syllables. I've kept the accent on the same syllable as in Olcordziz (made mankind).

Compounds:

Olcordziz (ohl-KORD-ziz) [Oln + Cordziz] Made Mankind

Possible shared root:

Consibra (koh-NIS-bra) Work of Man

Note:

Also see Ollog (men).

Cormf (kormf)* n.

Number

𐌂𐌄𐌆𐌇𐌈𐌉

11.29 . . . whose number is 31 . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Cormf) Note that this word sometimes ends with an f and sometimes with a p. I suspect this means that—in both cases—the ph digraph is intended. Dee seems to indicate one syllable here.

Also:

Cormfa (korm-FA) Numbers

Cormp (kormf) Numbered

Cormpo (korm-FOH) Hath (Yet) Numbered

Cormpt (kormft) Numbered

Shared root:

Sagacor (say-GAY-kor) In One Number

Possible shared root:

Coronzom (kor-on-zom) Satan, the Devil, the Enemy

Cormfa (korm-FA)* n.

Numbers

𐌂𐌄𐌆𐌇𐌈𐌉

5.36 . . . whose numbers are as the first . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Cormfa) Note that this word sometimes ends with an f and sometimes with a p. I suspect this means that—in both cases—the ph digraph is intended.

I have adopted the accent from Cormpo (hath numbered).

Also:

Cormf (kormf)	Number
Cormp (kormf)	Numbered
Cormpo (korm-FOH)	Hath (Yet) Numbered
Cormpt (kormft)	Numbered

Shared root:

Sagacor (say-GAY-kor)	In One Number
-----------------------	---------------

Possible shared root:

Coronzom (kor-on-zom)	Satan, the Devil, the Enemy
------------------------------	-----------------------------

Cormp (kormf)* v.	To Number 𐌀𐌃𐌆𐌇𐌔

4.9 . . . numbered 33 . . .

10.3 . . . are numbered and harboured . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 4.9; 10.3—Cormp) Note that this word sometimes ends with an f and sometimes with a p. I suspect this means that—in both cases—the ph digraph is intended.

Also:

Cormf (kormf)	Number
Cormfa (korm-FA)	Numbers
Cormpo (korm-FOH)	Hath Numbered, Yet Numbered
Cormpt (kormft)	Numbered

Shared root:

Sagacor (say-GAY-kor)	In One Number
-----------------------	---------------

Possible shared root:

Coronzom (kor-on-zom)	Satan, the Devil, the Enemy
------------------------------	-----------------------------

Cormpo (korm-FOH)* v.

Hath (Yet) Numbered

ⱮⱮⱮⱮⱮⱮ

4.18 . . . none hath yet numbered but one . . .Note:

The -o affix should indicate the word “of.” Thus, the literal translation might be “of number”—meaning something that has been numbered. If so, then the proper English definition should be “hath numbered,” and the “yet” is simply implied.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Corm po) Two syllables. Note that this word sometimes ends with an f and sometimes with a p. I suspect this means that—in both cases—the ph digraph is intended.

(*Dee—cormpó) See the 48 Claves. Accent placed on the last syllable.

Also:

Cormf (kormf)	Number
Cormfa (korm-FA)	Numbers
Cormp (kormf)	Numbered
Cormpt (kormft)	Numbered

Shared root:

Sagacor (say-GAY-kor)	In One Number
-----------------------	---------------

Possible shared root:

Coronzom (kor-on-zom)	Satan, the Devil, the Enemy
-----------------------	-----------------------------

Cormpt (kormft)* v.

(Are) Numbered

ⱮⱮⱮⱮⱮⱮ

30.140 . . . until the stars be numbered.Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Cormpt) Note that this word sometimes ends with an f and sometimes with a p. I suspect this means that—in both cases—the ph digraph is intended. Dee seems to indicate just one syllable for this word.

Also:

Cormf (kormf)	Number
Cormfa (korm-FA)	Numbers

Cormp (kormf)

Numbered

Cormpo (korm-FOH)

Hath (Yet) Numbered

Shared root:

Sagacor (say-GAY-kor)

In One Number

Possible shared root:

Coronzom (kor-on-zom)

Satan, the Devil, the Enemy

Coronzom (kor-on-zom) prop. n.

Satan, the Devil, the Enemy

Ⲙⲓⲡⲣⲟⲩⲙ

Note:

See TFR, p. 92. Here Gabriel is discussing Adam's loss of the Angelical language when he fell from Paradise. In this telling, Gabriel refers to Satan as Coronzom: "So that in innocency the power of [Adam's] partaking with God, and with us [God's] good Angels, was exalted, and so became holy in the sight of God. Until that Coronzom (for so is the true name of that mighty Devil), envying his felicity, [. . .] began to assail him, and so prevailed."

The name Coronzom may predate Dee's journals in some form. Translator Rob Thomas (aka Zadkiel) has recorded his own search for a Barbarous Name found in the Picatrix: Hacoronoz—said in the text to be Greek. However, as Mr. Thomas notes, the name is likely a corruption of ha Kronos (the Chronos). Chronos is the Greek god of time, and the use of ha as "the" is drawn from Hebrew. (See the online discussion at <http://groups.yahoo.com/group/solomonic/message/10778>.)

I note that "succession of time" is an important subject in the Angelical Keys (see Cocag and related words). Time, an aspect of the created realm, may be the principal domain of Coronzom.

Also note that this name appears incorrectly as Coronzon (with a final n) in TFR. The correct spelling can be found in Cotton Appendix 46, Part 1, folio 91.

Also see Githgulcag (likely a name for Lucifer) and Telocvovim (likely a name for the fallen Satan).

Possible shared root:

Cormfa (korm-FA)

Numbers

Cormp (kormf)

Numbered

Cormpo (korm-FOH)

Hath (Yet) Numbered

Cormpt (kormft)	Numbered
Sagacor (say-GAY-kor)	In One Number

Cors (kors)* adj.	Such
	ㄗ ㄗ ㄨ ㄨ ㄨ ㄨ

2.35 . . . a building such as is not but in the mind . . .

Pronunciation note:

(*Dee—Cors) One syllable.

Also:

Corsi (kor-sii)	Such
-----------------	------

Compounds:

Icorsca (ii-KORS-kay) [I + Cors + Ca]	Is Such as
Corsta (kors-tay) [Cors + Ta]	Such as

Corsi (kor-sii)* adj.	Such
	ㄗ ㄗ ㄨ ㄨ ㄨ ㄨ

8.53 . . . our comfort and of such as are prepared.

Pronunciation note:

(*Dee—Cor si) Two syllables. The final i is likely a long vowel.

Also:

Cors (kors)	Such
-------------	------

Corsta (kors-tay)* [Cors + Ta] comp.	Such as ㄗ ㄗ ㄨ ㄨ ㄨ ㄨ

7.20 . . . such as work wonders . . .

30.125 . . . cast down such as fall . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 7.20—Cors ta)

(*Dee—Cor sta) Two syllables.

Note:

Also see Icorsca (is such as).

Crip (krip)* conj.

But

ㄢㄣㄣ

10.81 Come away, but not your noises.Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Crip) One syllable. Based on other versions of this word, I assume the i is a phonetic gloss.

Also:

“Crp” (krip)

But

Note:

Crip (but) is usually a conjunction. Also see Oq (but), which is a preposition.

Croodzi (kroh-OD-zii)* n.

Beginning (of Things)

ㄢㄢㄣㄣㄣㄣ

4.21 . . . in whom the second beginning of things are . . .Note:

There is no indication of the word second in Croodzi. Interestingly, the English for Key Four makes more sense without adding the word second here.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Cro od zi) Three syllables.

(*Dee—croódzi) See the 48 Claves. An accent is placed on the second syllable.

Also:

Acroodzi (ak-roh-OD-zii)

Beginning

Note:

Also see Iaod (beginning), Iaodaf (in the beginning), Amgedpha (I will begin anew), and Nostoah (it was in the beginning).

“Crp” (krip) conj.

But

ㄢㄣㄣ

Compounds:

Crpl (krip-el) [“Crp” + L]

But One

Also:

Crip (krip)

But

Note:

Crip (but) is a conjunction. However, for some reason, “Crip” is used in Crpl as a preposition. Also see Oq (but), a preposition.

Crpl (krip-el)* [“Crip” + L] comp.

But One

𐌸𐌹𐌺𐌹𐌸

4.19 . . . none hath yet numbered but one . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—CRPL) Dee gives us little clue here. See the pronunciation note for Crip (but). Based on that, I suggest two syllables, with the l standing alone.

(*Dee—c-rp-l) See the 48 Claves. Dee seems to indicate three syllables here. However, I have settled on the two-syllable pronunciation.

Also:

Crip (kirp)

But

“Crus” (kroos)* adj.

More, Greater (?)

𐌸𐌹𐌺𐌹𐌸

Note:

(Dee—Canse signifieth mighty, and Cruscansc more mighty.) See Five Books, p. 304. Cruscansc (more mighty) is found in Loagaeth, and Canse (mighty) was mentioned in a marginal note. “Crus” was not mentioned by itself, but it may indicate “more” or “greater.”

Pronunciation note:

(*Dee—Pronounce as we do cruse a cup.) See the Five Books, p. 306. Dee made this marginal note next to the entire word Cruscansc, but it obviously only indicates the first syllable “Crus.” Cruse a cup is an archaic phrase, but the word cruse likely rhymes with the English word cruise.

Also:Cruscansc (kroos-kan-say)

More Mighty

Cruscanse (KROOS-kan-say) ["Crus" + Canse]* comp.

More Mighty

777#E72EE

Pronunciation note:

(Dee—cruscanse) See the Five Books, p. 304. Dee adds an accent over the first a.

From Loagaeth:

(*Dee—Canse signifieth mighty, and Cruscanse more mighty.) See Five Books, p. 304. Cruscanse (more mighty) is found in Loagaeth, but Canse (mighty) was mentioned only in a marginal note.

Note:

See also Micaolz (mighty), Micalp (mightier)

Kures (kyew-res)

n/a (?)

77&2E

Note:

See TFR, p. 32. Here, the Angel Madimi has just interrupted the session to exorcise several demons from the body of Kelley. (See Carma.) These spirits came out of Kelley violently, scratching each other in the face and swarming about Madimi. To her, the spirits spoke in Angelical, "Gil de pragma kures helech." Dee asks Madimi what this means, and she replies in Latin, which roughly translates as: "We want to live here in our [friends]." (Madimi does not offer definitions for the individual words.)

When Dee asks who these "friends" are supposed to be, the spirits indicate Kelley as their place of habitation (probably meaning both Dee and Kelley). Madimi then banishes these spirits.

Pronunciation note:

I feel the Ku might make a "q" sound similar to "cu" in words like cure or cute.

Gal (D)

𐤂

D (dee) * n. or adj.

Third

𐤂

6.30 . . . the second and the third . . .Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—d) A single letter standing alone sounds like the English name of the letter.

Note:

This is the word for “third,” but not the number 3. It is a noun when something is referred to as “the third.” However, it becomes an adjective when used with another noun, as in “the Third Flame.”

Compounds:

Chistad (kiis-tad) [Chis + Ta + D]

Are as (the) Third

Dialprt (dii-AL-purt) [D + “Ialprt”]

Third Flame

Duiv (DOO-iv) [D + Div]

Third Angle

“Da” (dah) pron.

There

𐤂 𐤂

Compounds:

Irgilchisda (ir-jil-KIIS-da) [“Irgil” + Chis + “Da”]

How Many Are There

“Chisda” (kiis-da) [Chis + “Da”]

Are There

Note:Also see Geta (There)Damploz (DAM-ploz)* n.

Variety

𐤂 𐤂 𐤂 𐤂 𐤂 𐤂 𐤂 𐤂

30.30 . . . and her unspeakable variety . . .Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Dám ploz) Two syllables, accent on the first syllable.

(Dee*—dámploz) See the 48 Claves. Dee again placed the accent on the first syllable.

DAOX (day-oks)*

5678

𐄂𐄃𐄅𐄆

10.36 . . . thunders that 5678 times . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—"Da" ox) Two syllables. The A should be long.

(*Dee—dâox) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed a circumflex over the A to confirm its long sound.Note:

This word was not originally given with Key Ten. (It does appear there—see TFR, p. 131—but Dee may have added it at a later time.) It was added later when Nalvage transmitted the English for the Key (see TFR, p. 192). This seems to have been the case with many of the numbers mentioned in the Keys.

Darbs (darbs)* 𐄂

To Obey

𐄂𐄃𐄅𐄆

5.45 . . . come you and obey your creation.Pronunciation notes:(*Dee—Darbs—one Syllable) One syllable.

DARG (darj)*

6739

𐄂𐄃𐄅𐄆

15.7 . . . whose wings are 6739 which weave . . .

Note:

The transmission of Key Fifteen is missing from Dee's journals. We have only the English given on TFR, p. 193. On that same page, Nalvage gives the phonetic note included in the following pronunciation notes.

Pronunciation notes:

(Nalvage*—Darg At large) See TFR, p. 193. I assume this indicates that the final g should take a short sound, as in the English word large.

Darr (dar) n.

The Philosopher's Stone

⚡⚡⚡⚡

From the Alchemical Cipher:

See TFR, pp. 387–89. The Angel Levanael says of this word, “Audcal is his Mercury. Darr, (in the Angelical tongue), is the true Name of the Stone.” Audcal (gold) is here described as the alchemical Mercury (or essence) of the Philosopher's Stone.

Pronunciation note:

The rr is likely a hard “r” sound.

Darsar (dar-sar)* adv.

Wherefore / Therefore

⚡⚡⚡⚡⚡⚡

6.31 Wherefore, hearken unto my voice.

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Darsar) Likely two syllables.

Note:

See also Bagle (for, wherefore, because) and Lap (for).

“Dax” (daks) n.

Loins

⚡⚡⚡⚡

Compounds:

Daxil (daks-il) [“Dax” + “Yl”]

Thy Loins

Daxil (daks-il)* [“Dax” + “Yl”] comp.

Thy Loins

⚡⚡⚡⚡⚡⚡

17.17 Gird up thy loins and harken.

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Dax il) Two syllables. I suspect the i takes the sound of a short i in this case, rather than the “y” sound of Yls, Ylsi, etc.

Dazis (daz-IS)* n.

Heads

ᵛᵗᵖᶜᶦ

9.50 Their heads are covered with diamond . . .10.27 . . . vomit out the heads of scorpions.Pronunciation notes:(*Dee 9.50—Daz is)(*Dee 10.27—Daz is) Two syllables. The accent is placed on the second syllable.(*Dee—dazis) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee again places the accent on the second syllable.De (dee)* prep.

Of

ᵛᶦ

3.47 . . . the corners of your governments . . .

Pronunciation notes:(*Dee—De, is my name) In other words, the word De (of) should sound just like Dee's own name. The e takes the long sound.Note:

There is only this one instance of the word of in the literal Angelical Keys. In a few other cases, the word of seems to be indicated by an -o affix (i.e., see Caosgo). Meanwhile, in the vast majority of cases the word of is absent from the Angelical, implied strictly by context.

Also see TFR, p. 32. Here, the Angel Madimi has just interrupted the session to exorcise several demons from the body of Kelley. (See Carma.) To Madimi, the spirits spoke in Angelical, "Gil de pragma kures helech." (Note the word De.) Dee asks the Angel what this phrase means, and she replies in Latin, which roughly translates as, "We want to live here in our [friends]." (Madimi does not offer definitions for the individual words.)

Compare from Loagaeth:De

Deo (dee-oh) prop. n.

"The Seventh Aethyr"

𐌂𐌰𐌶

30.3 . . . which dwell in the seventh aethyr . . .Note:

This (word 30.3) is the single space in the Key of the Aethyrs, which must be changed for each invocation—replacing word 30.3 with the name of the appropriate Aethyr. No established definitions were given for these names.

Deo contains the three Parts of the Earth Opmacas, Genadol, and Aspiaon.

Des (des) prop. n.

"The Twenty-Sixth Aethyr"

𐌂𐌰𐌶𐌰

30.3 . . . which dwell in the twenty-sixth aethyr . . .Note:

This (word 30.3) is the single space in the Key of the Aethyrs, which must be changed for each invocation—replacing word 30.3 with the name of the appropriate Aethyr. No established definitions were given for these names.

Des contains the three Parts of the Earth Pophand, Nigrana, and Bazchim.

Dialprt (dii-AL-purt)* [D + "Ialprt"] comp.

Third Flame

𐌂𐌰𐌶𐌰𐌶𐌰𐌶

17.2 O thou third flame . . .Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Di al prt) Three syllables. The i seems to take a long sound. The r takes its extended "ur" (or "er") sound. I have adopted the accent from similar words.

Dilzmo (dilz-moh)* v.

To Differ

𐌂𐌰𐌶𐌰𐌶𐌰𐌶

30.76 . . . let them differ in their qualities.

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Dil zmo) Dee indicates two syllables. However, I am unsure why he places the z in the second syllable—as that should indicate the z and likely the m both stand alone. However, that would make for three or four syllables. Dee likely intended Dilz mo instead.

Div (DII-vee) n.

Angle

⚡⚡⚡

Pronunciation note:

I have adopted the accent from Sdiu (fourth angle).

Compounds:

Sdiu (es-DII-vee) [S + Div]

Fourth Angle

Vivdiv (viv-DII-vee) [Viv + Div]

Second Angle

Duiv (DOO-iv) [D + Div]

Third Angle

Dlasod (dee-lay-sod) n.

Sulfur

⚡⚡⚡⚡⚡⚡

From the Alchemical Cipher:

See TFR, pp. 387–89. The Angel Levanael says of this word, “Dlasod is Sulfur.”

Note:

Also see Salbrox (Live Sulfur). Where Salbrox is the kind of sulfur one would find on a match, Dlasod refers to alchemical sulfur.

Dluga (dee-LOO-ga)* v.

To Give

⚡⚡⚡⚡⚡

3.35 . . . giving unto every one of you . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Dluga) See pronunciation note at Idlugam (is given). I assume the D in this word should stand alone, making three syllables.

Also:

“Dlugam” (dee-LOO-gam)

Given

Dlugar (dee-LOO-gar)

To Give

"Dlugam" (dee-LOO-gam) v.

Given

᠘ᠯᠠᠮ

Compounds:

Idlugam (id-LOO-gam) [I + "Dlugam"]

Is given

Also:

Dluga (dee-LOO-ga)

To Give

Dlugar (dee-LOO-gar)

To Give

Dlugar (dee-LOO-gar)* v.

To Give

᠘ᠯᠠᠷ

5.19 . . . and gave them vessels . . .

6.15 . . . giving unto them fiery darts . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 5.19; 6.15—Dlugar) See pronunciation note at Idlugam (is given). I assume the D in this word should stand alone, making three syllables.

Also:

Dluga (dee-LOO-ga)

To Give

"Dlugam" (dee-LOO-gam)

Given

Doalim (doh-ay-lim)* n.

Sin

ᠳᠣᠠᠯᠢᠮ

13.8 . . . to stir up wrath of sin . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Do a lim) Three syllables. The o takes its long sound, and the a stands alone (instead of the two combining into one sound). The i appears to be short.

(*Dee—doâlim) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee places a circumflex over the a to indicate its long sound.

Dobix (dob-iks)* v.

To Fall

ᠳᠣᠪᠢᠰ

30.126 Cast down such as fall.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Dobix) Likely two syllables. Both vowels appear to take their short sounds.

Note:

Also see Loncho (to fall).

Dodpal (dod-pal)* v.

To Vex

𐌳𐌹𐌱𐌰𐌹𐌳𐌰

30.84 . . . let them vex and weed out one another.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Dod pal) Two syllables.

Also:

Dodrmni (dod-rum-nii)

Vexed

Dods (dods)

To Vex

Dodsih (dod-sih)

Vexation

Dodrmni (dod-rum-nii)* adj.

Vexed

𐌳𐌹𐌱𐌰𐌹𐌳𐌰𐌹𐌳𐌰

30.55 . . . may be always drunken and vexed in itself . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Dod rm ni Dodrumni) Three syllables. Plus, Dee has added an extra clue, showing us that rm should take a sound like rum.

Also:

Dodpal (dod-pal)

To Vex

Dods (dods)

To Vex

Dodsih (dod-sih)

Vexation

Dods (dods) v.

To Vex

𐌳𐌹𐌳𐌰

14.10 . . . vexing all creatures of the earth with age.

“Hellfire”

“Hellfire”★

Name

(Dee* 12.20—Do ó a in) Four syllables. The second o stands alone as the second syllable, and has the accent. The a also stands alone.

(*Dee 3.68—do-o-â-in) See the 48 Claves. Dee added a circumflex over the a to indicate the long vowel.

(*Dee 12.20—dooâin) See the 48 Claves. Dee shows the circumflex over the a again.

Also:

Dooaip (doh-OH-ay-ip)

In the Name

Dooiap (doh-OH-ii-ap)

In the Name

Possible shared root:

Omaoas (oh-may-OH-as)

Names

Dooaip (doh-OH-ay-ip)* n.

(In the) Name

Ω 7 3 2 2 5

4.40 In the name of the Creator . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Do oa ip) This appears to be three syllables. However, see the 48 Claves:

(*Dee—Do-ô-â-io) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee shows four syllables. There is an accent on the second syllable, and the a (standing alone) is given a circumflex to indicate its long sound. (Note that Dee also mistakenly wrote a final o on this word instead of the final p.)

Also:

Dooain (doh-OH-ay-in)

Name

Dooiap (doh-OH-ii-ap)

(In the) Name

Possible shared root:

Omaoas (oh-may-OH-as)

Names

Dooiap (doh-OH-ii-ap)* n.

(In the) Name

Ω 3 7 2 2 5

3.59 In the name of the same your God . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Do o i ap) Four syllables. The second o and the i each stand alone.

(Dee—do-ó-î-ap*) See the 48 Claves. Four syllables, with an accent on the third syllable. Dee also shows a circumflex over the i to indicate its long sound.

Also:

Dooaip (doh-OH-ay-ip)

(In the) Name

Dooain (doh-OH-ay-in)

Name _____

Possible shared root:

Omaoas (oh-may-OH-as)

Names

Dorpha (dor-fa)* v.

To Look About

4.5 . . . and have looked about me saying . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Dor pha) Two syllables.

Also:

Dorphal (dor-fal)

To Look Upon (with Gladness)

Dorphal (dor-fal)* v.

To Look Upon (with Gladness)

5.8 . . .looking with gladness upon the earth . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee—Dorphal*) Likely two syllables.

Note:

I do not see with gladness indicated in the Angelical. If this were a compound, then the L (meaning “the first/one”) would make this word mean “looking upon one.” Instead, the word Dorphal is not a compound, and seems to have a tone of benevolence built into its definition—as to look over someone as a loved one.

Also:

Dorpha (dor-fa)

To Look About

Dosig (doh-sig)* n.

Night

67125

10.22 . . . which burn night and day . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee—Do sig*) Two syllables. I assume the o should take its long sound.

I also assume the final g takes its hard sound.

Drilpa (dril-pa)* adj.

Great

7125

10.79 . . . is, was, and shall be great.

16.18 Great art thou in the God of . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee 10.79; 16.18—Dril pa*) Two syllables. The i takes a short sound.

Also:

Drilpi (dril-pii)

Greater Than

Drilpi (dril-pii)* adj.

Greater Than

7125

9.43 . . . millstones greater than the earth . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee—Dril pi*) Two syllables. The first i appears to take its short sound, while the final i takes a long sound.

Also:

Drilpa (dril-pa)

Great

Drix (driks)* v.

To Bring Down

7125

12.13 Bring down your train . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee—Drix*) One syllable.

Droln (drohln)* adj. or adv.

Any

𐄂𐄃𐄄𐄅𐄆

10.53 . . . neither know any (long) time here.Pronunciation notes:(Dee*—droln) One syllable. I suggest a long sound for the o.Drux (drooks)* prop. n.

Letter N

𐄂𐄃𐄄𐄅𐄆

Note:

The name of the Angelical letter for N. It is likely that these letter names have translations of their own. (For instance, note the Hebrew alphabet: the letter N is named Nun, but Nun also translates as “fish.”) However, such translations for the Angelical letters are never given. (See the Five Books, p. 270.)

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—In sound, drovx.) Dee uses a v here instead of a u. The word would look like drovx in modern English. The ou letter combination could produce a long o or a long “u” sound. I have adopted the long u, because the word Drux is actually spelled with a Van (U).

Compare from Loagaeth:*Adrux, Drux, DruzNote:

Druz* was given in the margin of Loagaeth, Table One, side A, line 1—as an alternate form of Drux.

Ds (dee-es)* pron.

Which/That

𐄂𐄃𐄄𐄅𐄆

1.19 . . . which measureth your garments . . .1.53 . . . him that liveth . . .1.60 . . . which shineth as a flame . . .5.32 . . . which are garnished with . . . lamps . . .10.20 . . . which burn night and day . . .10.35 . . . thunders that 5678 times . . .

- 10.49 . . . surges which rest not . . .
 11.7 . . . thunders which flew into the east . . .
 13.19 . . . power which is called amongst you . . .
 14.5 . . . which sit upon 24 seats . . .
 15.11 . . . which knowest the great name . . .
 16.5 . . . which hast thy beginning in glory . . .
 18.6 . . . which openest they glory . . .
 18.17 . . . which is called in thy kingdom joy . . .
 30.22 . . . which provided you for the government . . .
 30.147 . . . which hath sworn unto us . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 1.19—DS)

(*Dee 11.7; 18.6, 17; 30.22, 147—Ds)

(*Dee 5.32; 10.20, 35, 49; 13.19—ds) Likely a word of two syllables. Each letter pronounced on its own.

Note:

The transmissions of Keys Fourteen and Fifteen are missing from Dee's journals. We only have the English for them given later (see TFR, p. 193). Plus, these words appear in these locations in Dee's 48 Claves.

Note:

The transmission of the first twelve words of Key Sixteen is missing from Dee's journals. We only have the English given for it on TFR, p. 194. However, they do appear in Dee's 48 Claves.

Compounds:

Dsabrang (dee-say-bray-mig) [Ds + Abramg]	Which Prepared
Dsbrin (dee-es-brin) [Ds + "Brin"]	Which Have
Dschis (dee-es-kiis) [Ds + Chis]	Which Are
Dsi (dee-sii) [Ds + I]	Which Is
Dsinis (dee-sin-sii) [Ds + "Insi"]	Which Walkest
Dsium (dee-sii-um) [Ds + "Ium"]	Which (Is) Called
Dsoado (dee-soh-ay-doh) [Ds + "Oado"]	Which Weave
Dsorn (dee-som) [Ds + Om]	That Understand
Dsonf (dee-sonv) [Ds + Sonf]	Which Reign
Dspaox (dee-SPAY-ay-oks) [Ds + Paox]	Which Remain
Dspraf (dee-es-praf) [Ds + "Praf"]	Which Dwell

Also:

Dst (dee-es-tee)

Which

Note:

The word Ar (that) is a conjunction, while the word Ds (which/that) is a pronoun.

Further:Ds (dee-es) conj.

And(?)

1.34 . . . and beautified your garments . . .1.42 . . . and delivered you a rod . . .Note:

It is difficult to accept that the word and is intended in these two instances. The word which does fit in both cases—even if it doesn't allow the English to sound quite as smooth. For the proper Angelical word for and, see Od.

Dsabramg (dee-say-bray-mig)* [Ds + Abramg] comp.

Which Prepared

ⲃⲉⲛⲉⲧⲧⲓⲛⲁⲓⲛⲁⲓⲛⲁⲓ

8.11 . . . which I have prepared for my own righteousness . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Dsabramg [g not as dg]) Dee only tells us that the final g should take the hard sound rather than the soft “dg” (as in hedge) or “j” sound (as in jump and just). Otherwise, I assume the initial D should stand alone, while the s combines with the following vowel. (Further supporting this, see the pronunciation notes for Dsi.) Four syllables total.

(*Dee—dsa-bramg) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee may be indicating a long sound for the first a. See notes for Abramig and Abramg, where we find that both As should take the long sound.

Dsbrin (dee-es-brin)* [Ds + “Brin”] comp.

Which Have

ⲃⲉⲛⲉⲧⲧⲓⲛⲁⲓⲛⲁⲓⲛⲁⲓ

9.6 . . . which have vials 8 . . .13.3 . . . which have 42 eyes . . .14.14 . . . which have under you 1636 . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 9.6; 13.3—Ds brin) This should be three syllables. (See the pronunciation of Ds.)

Note:

The transmission of Key Fourteen is missing from Dee's journals. We only have the English for this Key given later (see TFR, p. 193). Plus, the word appears in this location in Dee's 48 Claves.

Dschis (dee-es-kiis)* [Ds + Chis] comp.

Which Are

𐌲𐌺𐌸𐌸𐌺𐌹

8.25 . . . which are, and shall not see death . . .

13.12 . . . making men drunken which are empty . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 8.25; 13.12—Ds chis) I assume three syllables here. See the pronunciation notes for Ds (which) and chis (are).

Dsi (dee-sii)* [Ds + I] comp.

Which Is

𐌲𐌺𐌹

4.38 . . . God, which is, and liveth . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—D Si) I assume two syllables here—as Dee likely only intended for the D to stand alone. The si join to make a sound together.

Dsinsi (dee-sin-sii) [Ds + “Insi”] comp.

Which Walkest

𐌲𐌺𐌸𐌺𐌹𐌺𐌹

16.11 . . . which walkest upon the earth . . .

Note:

The transmission of the first twelve words of Key Sixteen is missing from Dee's journals. We only have the English given for it on TFR, p. 194. However, they do appear in Dee's 48 Claves.

Dsium (dee-sii-um) [Ds + “Ium”] comp.

Which (Is) Called

𐌸𐌺𐌹𐌺𐌹

14.22 . . . which is called amongst you . . .

Note:

The transmission of Key Fourteen is missing from Dee's journals. We only have the English for this Key given later (see TFR, p. 193). Plus, the word appears in this location in Dee's 48 Claves.

Dsoado (dee-soh-ay-doh)* [Ds + "Oado"] comp.

Which Weave

𐄂𐄃𐄅𐄆𐄇𐄈

15.8 . . . which weave the earth with dryness . . .

Note:

The transmission of Key Fifteen is missing from Dee's journals. We only have the English for this Key given later (see TFR, p. 193). Plus, the word appears in this location in Dee's 48 Claves.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—dsoádo) See the 48 Claves. Likely four syllables. The initial D should stand alone, as it precedes a consonant (s) it does not naturally combine with in English. The so should form the second syllable, making the o take its long sound. The a takes a long sound, as Dee indicated with the circumflex.

Dsom (dee-som)* [Ds + Om] comp.

That Understand

𐄂𐄃𐄅𐄆𐄇

16.15 . . . that understand and separate creatures . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—dsom) Dee does not give us much of a clue. However, other compounds involving Ds (which) suggest that the initial D should stand alone, and the som should combine to form a second syllable.

Dsonf (dee-sonv)* [Ds + Sonf] comp.

Which Reign

𐄂𐄃𐄅𐄆𐄇𐄈

4.11 . . . which reign in the second angle . . .

12.2 . . . that reign in the south . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Dsonf) The D should stand alone. However, the s blends into the rest of the word in a single syllable. See the pronunciation notes for Sonf(reign).

Dspaaox (dee-SPAY-ay-oks)* [Ds + Paaox] comp.

Which Remain

𐌲𐌱𐌰𐌶𐌰𐌶𐌴𐌹𐌺𐌰

8.22 . . . which remain in the glory . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Dspá a ox) This is likely four syllables, as the D should most likely stand alone. The sp combine their sounds, as in the English words spot or special. The accent is on the second syllable. The first a takes a long sound, likely due to the letter combination aa. (Double vowels often indicated long vowel sounds in Early Modern English.)

(*Dee—ds pá-â-ox) See the 48 Claves. Dee again shows the accent on the first a. He also added a circumflex over the second a to indicate its long sound. This note seems to indicate that the s and the p do not combine together—although I have decided to stick with Dee’s note from TFR.

Dspraf (dee-es-praf)* [Ds + “Praf”] comp.

Which Dwell

𐌲𐌱𐌰𐌶𐌰𐌶𐌴𐌹𐌺𐌰

30.2 . . . which dwell in the “1st Aethyr” . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ds praf) Ds should be two syllables, then “Praf” seems to have just one.

Dst (dee-es-tee)* pron.

Which (Also)

𐌲𐌱𐌰𐌶𐌰𐌶𐌴𐌹𐌺𐌰

3.24 . . . which sleep and shall rise . . .

4.24 . . . which also successively are . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 3.24; 4.24—DST) Most likely three syllables, each letter standing alone. Elsewhere, Dee indicates that Ds (that/ which) has two syllables.

Also:

Ds (dee-es)

Which/That

Note:Also see Ar (that).Duiv (DOO-iv)* [D + Div] comp.

Third Angle

a7a7

5.3 . . . have entered into the third angle . . .Pronunciation notes:(Dee—Du iv*) Two syllables. Likely a long u followed by a short i.(Dee—du-i-v*) See the 48 Claves. Here Dee seems to indicate three syllables. However, I have settled upon the two-syllable version in my pronunciation.I have adopted the accent from Sdiu (fourth angle).Note:

Duiv is not D + Viv—which would mean “third second.” However, combining D (third) and Div (angle) only results in Div. (The repeated letter D would vanish.) The u is included to differentiate the word, although I am not sure why u is chosen.

Graph (E)

7

Eai* (ee-AY-ii) prep.

Amongst

ㄗ ㄗ ㄗ

Alternate spelling:

(*Dee 1.67—AAI The first a may be an A an O or an e) Thus, there are two alternate spellings for Aai (amongst).

Pronunciation notes:

See Aai (amongst), which Dee indicates has three syllables.

Also:

Aai (ay-AY-ii)

Amongst (You)

Aaf (ay-AF)

Amongst

Aaiom (ay-AY-om)

Amongst (Us?)

Aao (ay-ay-OH)

Amongst

Oai (oh-AY-ii)

Amongst

“Ecrin” (EE-krin) n.

Praise

ㄗ ㄗ ㄗ ㄗ ㄗ

Compounds:

Odecrin (oh-dee-KRIN) [Od + “Ecrin”]

And the Praise (of)

Also:

Oecrimi (oh-EE-krim-ii)

To Sing Praises

Ednas (ed-nas)* n.

Receivers

ㄗ ㄗ ㄗ ㄗ ㄗ

5.51 Conclude us as receivers of your mysteries.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ed nas) Two syllables. Both vowels appear to take their short sounds.

(*Dee—ed-nas) See the 48 Claves. This note matches that from TFR.

Note:

This may also be the verb to receive. However, it is used in Key Five as a noun.

Ef (ef)* v.

To Visit

12.12 . . . bind up your girdles and visit us . . .Pronunciation notes:(*Dee—Ef) One syllable. The E is likely a phonetic gloss. (See F).Also:

F (ef)

Visit

Efafafe (ee-FAY-fay-fee)* n.

Vials

9.7 . . . which have vials 8 of wrath . . .Pronunciation notes:(*Dee—E fa fa fe) Four syllables. The initial E stands alone. The two a's are each long vowels. The final e is uncertain—as it could be silent, or it could make a long “e” sound. I have chosen the long e.(*Dee—efäfäfe) See the 48 Claves. Dee placed an accent on the second syllable. He also placed a circumflex over the second a to indicate its long sound.Note:

This word is a palindrome. It is spelled the same forward as it is spelled backward.

Also:

Ofafafe (oh-FAY-fay-fee)

Vials

El (el)* prop. n.

The First

6.8 . . . whom the First hath planted . . .Pronunciation notes:(*Dee—el) One syllable. The E is likely a phonetic gloss.Compounds:

Gohel (GOH-hel) [Goho + El]

Sayeth the First

Lel (el-el) [L + El]

Same

Note:

This reminds me of the Hebrew Name of God: El.

Also compare to the name of the Angel El (or L), one of the Sons of the Sons of Light. His name literally translates as “The First.”

Also:

“Lo” (loh)	The First
L (el)	The First
La (lah or el-ah)	The First
Lu (loo)	From One

“Elzap” (el-ZAP) n.

Course

Ⲛⲉⲛⲁⲓⲛⲁⲓ

Compounds:

Elzaptilb (el-ZAP-tilb) [“Elzap” + Tilb] Her Course

Also:

“Lzar” (el-ZAR) Courses

Elzaptilb (el-ZAP-tilb)* [“Elzap” + Tilb] comp.

Her Course

Ⲛⲉⲛⲁⲓⲛⲁⲓⲛⲁⲓⲛⲁⲓⲛⲁⲓⲛⲁⲓⲛⲁⲓ

30.57 Her course, let it run with the heavens . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—El zap tilb) Three syllables. As we can see in the word “Lzar,” (course) the E in Elzaptilb is a phonetic gloss only.

(Dee*—Elzáptilb) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed an accent over the second syllable.

Em (em)* n.

Nine

ⲉⲛ

6.4 The spirits of the fourth angle are nine . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Em) One syllable. The E is not likely a phonetic gloss—see M (except).

Note:

I assume this is the word for “nine” rather than the actual number 9.

Emetgis (em-et-jis) n.

Seal

ⲓⲗⲗⲟⲛⲉⲛ

15.16 . . . righteousness and the seal of honour.

Note:

The transmission of Key Fifteen is missing from Dee’s journals. We only have the English for this Key given later (see TFR, p. 193). Plus, the word appears in this location in Dee’s 48 Claves.

Also note that the first four letters of this word are Emet (Hebrew for “truth”). This matches the name of Dee’s Seal of Truth—or Sigillum Dei Emet. Perhaps this Seal of Truth and the Seal of Honor are one and the same.

Pronunciation note:

I assume the g takes the soft sound, as it precedes an i (as in the English words giant or gibberish).

Emna (em-na)* n.

Here

ⲉⲙⲛⲁ

10.56 . . . neither know any (long) time here.

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Em na) Two syllables.

Note:

Also see Sem (in this place).

EMOD (ee-mod)*

8763 ⲉⲙⲟⲩ

16.14 . . . with feet 8763 that understand . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—E mod) Two syllables. The initial E stands alone.

Note:

This word was not originally given with Key Sixteen. It was added later when Nalvage transmitted the English for the Key (see TFR, p. 194). This seems to have been the case with many of the numbers mentioned in the Keys.

Enay (en-ay)* n.

Lord

7.8 . . . wherein the Lord hath opened His mouth . . .
12.17 . . . 3663 that the Lord may be magnified . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 7.8—Enay)

(*Dee 12.17—E nay) Two syllables. Dee indicates here (word 12.17) that the E can stand alone (ee-nay). However, consider that the spelling of Enay is actually a phonetic gloss. The word is one and the same with NA (en-ay). Dee's phonetic notes seem to indicate that either pronunciation is acceptable—although I have settled upon the “en-ay” version.

Compounds:

Zirenaiad (zii-er-NAY-ad) [Zir + Enay + Iad] I am the Lord (Your) God

Also:

NA (en-ay)

Lord

Eol (ee-OHL)* v.

Made

3.29 In the first, I made you stewards . . .

Pronunciation note:

(*Dee—EOL) Dee gives us little clue here.

(*Dee—E-ól) See the 48 Claves. Two syllables, with an accent on the second syllable. The initial E stands alone.

Also:

Eolis (ee-OH-lis)

Making

Oln (ohln)

Made (of)

Note:

Also see Ozazm (to make) and Ozazma (to make).

Eolis (ee-OH-lis)* v.

To Make

17417

13.9 . . . making men drunken . . .

Pronunciation note:

(*Dee—E o lis) Three syllables. The E and o each stand alone.

(*Dee—eôlis) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed a circumflex over the o to indicate its long sound.

I have adopted the accent from Eol (made).

Also:

Eol (ee-OHL)

Made

Oln (ohln)

Made (of)

Note:

Also see Ozazm (to make) and Ozazma (to make).

Eophan (ee-oh-fan)* n.

Lamentation

230017

10.14 . . . 22 nests of lamination and weeping . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—E o phan) Three syllables. The initial E and the o each stand alone.

(*Dee—eôphan) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee places a circumflex over the o to indicate its long sound.

“Eors” (ee-ORS)*

n/a

Note:

This word appears nowhere in the Angelic system as of yet. It was originally dictated in the tenth Key as the word “thousand.” However, this was corrected on page 192 of TFR with the word Matb (10.45). “Eors” may have been merely a mistake on Kelley’s part, and not an Angelical word at all (there were many difficulties in the reception of Key Ten).

Other such interferences with the transmission of the Keys were attributed to demonic spirits—see Piamol.

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—E órs) Two syllables, with an accent on the second syllable. The initial E stands alone.

ERAN (ee-RAN)*

6332

𐄂 𐄃 𐄄 𐄅

18.14 . . . the secrets of truth 6332 have their abiding . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—E ran) Two syllables. The initial E stands alone.

(Dee*—erán) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed an accent over the second syllable.

Note:

This word was not originally given with Key Eighteen. It was added later when Navage transmitted the English for the Key (see TFR, p. 194). This seems to have been the case with many of the numbers mentioned in the Keys.

Erm (erm) n.

Ark/Refuge/Haven

𐄆 𐄇 𐄈

1.45 . . . delivered you a rod with the ark of knowledge.

“Es” (es) n.

Fourth

𐄉

Compounds:

Odes (ohd-es) [Od + “Es”]

And Fourth

Also:

S (es)

Fourth

Note:

The E in “Es” is a phonetic gloss.

Also note this is the word for “fourth,” but not the number 4. The word fourth could be a noun or adjective, but is used here as a noun.

Compare from Loagaeth:EsEsiasch (ee-sii-ash) n.

Brothers

∞ E ʃ ʒ ʌ ʒ

5.26 . . . they are the brothers of the first and second . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—E siach) I suggest three syllables here. The initial E stands alone. Note that Dee indicates the sound of “ach” for asch. I assume this means the ch makes the “tch” sound (as in the English word church) instead of the harder “kh” sound. However, the preceding s would give the ch an extra soft sound, almost like a hard “sh.”

(*Dee—eslach) See the 48 Claves. Note the circumflex over the i—indicating the long sound.

Ethamz (ee-THAM-zohd)* v.

To Cover

P E ʃ ∞ ʌ ʒ

9.51 Their heads are covered with diamond . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—E tham Zod) Three syllables. The initial E and the final z each stand alone. The a should take a short sound.

(*Dee—ethámz) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed an accent over the second syllable.

. “Etharzi” (eth-AR-zii) n.

Peace

ʒ P E ʃ ∞ ʌ ʒ

Compounds:

Fetharzi (feth-AR-zii) [F + “Etharzi”]

Visit (Us) in Peace

Or (F)

F (ef) v

To Visit

Compounds:

Fbliard (ef-blii-ard) [F + “Bliard”]

Visit (with) Comfort

Fcaosga (ef-kay-OS-ga) [F + Caosga]

Visit the Earth

Fetharzi (feth-AR-zii) [F + “Etharzi”]

Visit in Peace

Also:

Ef (ef)

To Visit

Faaip (fay-AY-ip)* n.

Voices (Voicings/ Psalms?)

2.5 . . . understand your voices of wonder . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Fa á ip) Dee indicates three syllables, the second a standing alone and accented.

(*Dee—Fa-á-ip) See 48 Claves. This note matches the one from TFR.

Possible shared root:

Farzem (farz-em)

Uplifted Voices

Bia (bii-a)

Voice

Note:

The word Bia appears to be Angelical for “voice”—as in one’s speaking voice. Faaip, however, has the connotation of something that is said (as in to voice an opinion), or perhaps sung. Key Two gives me the impression that the Faaip (“voices” of wonder) are actually “songs” (or “voicings”) of wonder—something akin to Psalms.

Also see Luiähe (song of honor).

Faboan (fay-boh-an)* n.

Poison

10.32 . . . live sulphur myngled with poison.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Fa bo an) Three syllables. The first a and the o take their long sounds.

(*Dee—fabôan) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed a circumflex over the o to indicate its long sound.

Note:

See also Tatan (Wormwood).

Fafen (fay-fen)* n.

Intent

𐄂 7 𐄂 𐄂

3.43 . . . true ages of time, to the intent that from your highest . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Fafen) The e likely gives the a a long sound.

Also:

Fafen (fay-fen)

Train

12.14 Bring down your train . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee—Fa fen) Two syllables.

Note:

This is one of the few instances where a single Angelical word appears to have two completely separate definitions. The “train” in Key Twelve appears to have a triple meaning: (1) The poetry suggests the train of a royal robe or wedding gown. (2) It also suggests the meaning of “retinue”—so the Key is asking the Angels to descend with their servants and ministers. Finally, (3) a “train” can be defined as a “succession of events” or “consequences”—which best suits the word Fafen as a synonym of “intention.” (As in a “train of thought.”)

Fam (fam) prop. n.

Letter S/Sh

𐄂 𐄂 𐄂

Note:

The name of the Angelical letter for S/Sh. It is likely that these letter names have translations of their own. (For instance, note the Hebrew alphabet:

the letter S/Sh is named Shin, but Shin also translates as “tooth.”) However, such translations for the Angelical letters are never given. (See the Five Books, p. 270.)

Compare from Loagaeth:

Fam

Faonts (fay-onts)* v.

To Dwell (within)

𐌹𐌶𐌰𐌹𐌴𐌹𐌴

5.11 . . . and dwelling within the brightness of the heavens . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—*Fa ont*s) Two syllables. There is no ao letter combination in Early Modern English—each letter makes a separate sound—as in the English word chaos. The a is likely long.

Shared root:

Fargt (farj-et)

Dwelling Places

“Faorgt” (fay-or-jet)

Dwelling Place

“Faorgt” (fay-or-jet) n.

Dwelling Place

𐌹𐌶𐌰𐌹𐌴𐌹𐌴

Compounds:

Odfaorgt (ohd-fay-or-jet) [Od + “Faorgt”]

And the Dwelling Place

Also:

Fargt (farj-et)

Dwelling Places

Faonts (fay-onts)

To Dwell (within)

Fargt (farj-et)* n.

Dwelling Places

𐌹𐌶𐌰𐌹𐌴𐌹𐌴

30.89 And the dwelling places, let them forget . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Farg t Gad) Two syllables. Dee’s notation appears to indicate a hard g at the end of the first syllable, and the t stands alone. However, see the pronunciation for Odfaorgt, where we find the g can be soft, and combines with the t to indicate the sound of “dgt”—or “jet.”

Also:

"Faorgt" (fay-or-jet)

Dwelling Place

Faonts (fay-onts)

To Dwell (within)

Farzm (farz-em) v.

Uplifted Voices (To Speak up)

ᚠᚦᚳᚱᚱ

1.48 . . . you lifted up your voices and swore . . .

Possible shared root:

Faaip (fay-AY-ip)

Voices (Psalms?)

Bia (bii-a)

Voices

Fbliard (ef-blii-ard)* [F + "Bliard"] comp.

Visit (with) Comfort

ᚠᚧᚳᚠᚱᚱᚱᚱ

6.22 . . . visit with comfort the earth . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—F bli ard) Three syllables. The initial F stands alone. The i is likely long (as in the English words dial and trial).

(*Dee—f-bliard) See the 48 Claves. This note shows the F standing alone.

Fcaosga (ef-kay-OS-ga)* [F + Caosga] comp.

Visit the Earth

ᚠᚧᚳᚠᚱᚱᚱᚱ

4.35 . . . arise you sons of pleasure and visit the earth . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—F gaos ga) Four syllables. Dee originally wrote this word as "Fgaosga"—which is apparently a mistake for Fcaosga (see Caosga). Therefore, the g in the second syllable is likely a c instead.

(*Dee—F caósga) See the 48 Claves. Note the accent on the third syllable.

Fetharzi (feth-AR-zii)* [F + "Etharzi"] comp.

Visit in Peace

ᚠᚦᚳᚠᚱᚱᚱᚱ

5.47 . . . visit us in peace . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Feth ár zi) Three syllables, with an accent on the second.

Dee originally had “Sfetharzi” written for this word—although his phonetic note excludes the S. (The Angelical itself does not require the S at all, as the word F indicates “visit.”) It is possible that the S was merely held over from the end of the previous word (Qaas).

(Dee*—Feth-ar-zi) See the 48 Claves. This note essentially matches that from TFR.

Fifalz (fi-falz)* v.

Weed Out

F l z l z

30.86 . . . let them vex and weed out one another.

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Fi falz) Two syllables.

Fisis (FIS-iis)* v.

To Execute (i.e., Carry Out)

f i s i s

30.8 . . . and execute the judgment of the Highest.

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—fisise) This appears to indicate two syllables. The final e in Dee’s phonetic note indicates a long i in the second syllable.

(Dee*—fisis) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed an accent over the i in the first syllable.

Ged (G/J)

Ga (gay) prop. n.

n/a

Pronunciation Note:

I have chosen the long “a” sound based upon the likely pronunciation of Za. (See Za.)

Note:

See TFR, pp. 228–29. The names of most of the Angels encountered by Dee and Kelley can be found in other parts of the Angelic system—such as the Heptarchia or Great Table (Watchtower) systems. However, Ga is one of the few entirely unique Angels that appeared to the two men. It was very late in the Angelical journals, after all of the essential Angelic magick had been transmitted. One day, Kelley saw three little creatures running around the floor of the room. It turned out that they were Angels from the Great Table (Watchtowers)—but their names were not derived according to the instructions Ave had previously given to Dee.

Ga says of himself: “I am the midst of the third [Tablet],* and the last of the spirit of life. Understand in this temporal controversy, and conflict of man’s soul. But not according to his eternal and immeasurable proportion.” Dee notes, in Latin: “Ga—The Last of the Spirit of Life.”

The three Angels, apparently jointly, say, “For even as the father, son and holy spirit are one, but of themselves and being dilated, is full of power, and many. So are we one particularly in power, but separated. Notwithstanding, spiritually of, and amongst, others, and dilated in the will of God, and into the branches of his determinations. But, particularly living, and jointly praising God.”

Note:

*Dee notes the Angels are numbering the Watchtowers in an odd fashion. So that in this case, he points out, the numbering should follow: First = Eastern, Second = Western, Third = Southern, and Fourth = the Northern Watchtower. In the above text, I have added the bracketed [Tablet] in order to clarify the speech.

Ga's name is found as the last two letters on the Line of the Holy Spirit (the horizontal arm of the Great Cross) of the Southern Watchtower Tablet.

()On the next page Dee notes: The three names make one name of 7 letters —Gazavaa.)

I further note that all three of these names begin with capital letters on the Great Table (Watchtowers). Also, each one of them terminates once it hits the Great Cross, Black Cross, or the end of the Watchtower. We may have discovered an entirely new Angelic system in the Watchtowers.

(See Vaa, and Za. Also see Carmara, Galvah, Hagonel, Mapsama, Murifri, and Nalvage.)

Compare from Loagaeth:

Ga

“GA” (gah)

31

𐌲𐌵

Compounds:

Iga (ii-gah) [I + “GA”]

Is 31

Note:

This word was not originally given with Key Eleven. It was added later when Nalvage transmitted the English for the Key (see TFR, p. 193). This seems to have been the case with many of the numbers mentioned in the Keys.

Jabes (jay-bes)

n/a

𐌴𐌵𐌶𐌵

Note:

See the Five Books, p. 298, where the Angels use the phrase Ne Ne Ne na Jabes. But no definitions of these words are offered.

Pronunciation note:

The final e should make the a long.

Gah (jah)* n.

Spirits

6.1 The spirits of the fourth angle . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Gah) One syllable.

(*Dee—Iah.) See the Five Books, p. 302. In most cases, a g followed by an a makes the hard “guh” sound. However, when this word appears in Loagaeth, Dee notes in the margin that it should begin with the soft “juh” sound. (Remember that i and j are interchangeable in Dee’s English.)

Possible root for:

Gahoachma (jah-hohk-ma)

I Am That I Am

Gahire (jah-hii-er)

(A Name of God?)

Note:

The way the term spirits is used in Key Six indicates that this word does not indicate lower spirits, demons, fairies, etc. This is further supported by the appearance of this word as a root in two Names of God. Therefore, Gah would represent “pure spirits” or Angels—used in the same sense as we might describe the Holy “Spirit.”

See Tohcoth (nature spirits).

Compare from Loagaeth:

Gah

Gahire (jah-hii-er) prop. n.?

(A Name of God?)

Possible shared root:

Gah (jah)

Spirits

Gahoachma (jah-hohk-ma)

I Am That I Am

Note:

See TFR, p. 3. The Angel Murifri here speaks a prayer in Angelical, and Kelley can only overhear a few of the words: Oh Gahire Rudna gephna oh Gahire. It is unclear whether this represents a single Angelical phrase, or if they are disconnected words recorded by Dee as Kelley overheard them here and there in the prayer. No translations are suggested.

It seems likely, at least, that Oh Gahire is intended as a repeated phrase. Oh may indicate “Come and Bear Witness” and Gahire is likely a Name of God associated by root with Gahoachma (I Am That I Am). Therefore, Oh Gahire is likely an invocation of some aspect of God.

Gahoachma (jah-hohk-ma) prop. n.

I Am That I Am*

⌘ ⌘ ⌘ ⌘ ⌘ ⌘ ⌘ ⌘ ⌘ ⌘

Possible shared root:

Gah (jah)

Spirits

Gahire (jah-hii-er)

(A Name of God?)

Note:

(*Dee—Gahoachma = I Am That I Am, Edward Kelley expounded it.) See the Five Books, p. 322. The first words spoken by the Angelic voice in this session were, “I AM. Gahoachma.” This is likely a proper Name of God, based upon the Hebrew name given to Moses at the Burning Bush: Eheieh asher Eheieh (I Am That I Am). It represents the pure and essential Divine Consciousness, without personality or duality.

I note that Gah (Spirit) seems to be the root of Gahoachma. I also note a similarity between the -hoachma portion of the word and the Hebrew Hochmah (Wisdom).

Gal (gal) prop. n.

Letter D

⌘ ⌘ ⌘

Note:

The name of the Angelical letter for D. It is likely that these letter names have translations of their own. (For instance, note the Hebrew alphabet: the letter D is named Daleth, but Daleth also translates as “door.”) However, such translations for the Angelical letters are never given. (See the Five Books, p. 270.)

Also see TFR, pp. 34–35. This session is recorded entirely in Latin. Here we find this Angelical phrase spoken by “a Voice”: Garil zed masch, ich na gel galaht gemp gal noch Cabanladan. (Note the word gal.) No translation or context is offered.

Compare from Loagaeth:

Gal

Galaht (gal-aht)

n/a

𐌒𐌔𐌕𐌗𐌕𐌗𐌕

Note:

See TFR, pp. 34–35. This session is recorded entirely in Latin. Here we find this Angelical phrase spoken by “a Voice”: Garil zed masch, ich na gel galaht gemp gal noch Cabanladan. No translation or context is offered.

Galgol (gal-gol)

n/a

𐌒𐌔𐌕𐌗𐌕𐌗𐌕

Note:

See Five Books, p. 366. The Angel Illemese appears to Dee and Kelley with a bundle of empty boxes that he calls virtuous. When Dee asks for an explanation, Illemese says, “Will you have my bill? [. . .] I will show it. Serve it, where you list. ludra galgol astel.” Dee states that he and Kelley do not understand, and wish to know how it can be served. But Illemese never offers definitions for these Angelical words.

I note a similarity between this word and the Hebrew word for “whirling,” Galgal. The Galgolim are an order of Angels also known as the Wheels (Auphanim).

Galsagen (GAL-saj-en)* prop. n. or v.?

Divine Power

Creating the Angel of the Sun

𐌒𐌔𐌕𐌗𐌕𐌗𐌕

Pronunciation note:

(*Dee—gálsagen) See the Five Books, p. 307. Dee places an accent over the first a.

From Loagaeth:

(Dee—The Divine power creating the Angel of the Sonne.) See Five Books, p. 307. The word Sonne almost certainly means “Sun.” See the Five Books, pp. 81–82, where Dee and Kelley meet an Angel named Salamian, who claims to be “mighty in the Sonne.” There is ample evidence that Salamian is an

On p. 14, we learn that Galvah is a proper name, and not the general word for “the end.” (Galvah: Understand my name particularly, and not generally.)

Later on the same page, the Angel Ilemese refers to Galvah as “Wisdom.” All of this information indicates that this entity is no less than Sophia of the Gnostics, the Shekinah of Judaism, the Soul of the World of the Hermeticists, the Bride of God. “I AM” (a shortened form of the Name of God given to Moses: I Am That I Am) is likely her truest name. Galvah, therefore, is a specific title. It likely relates to the Greek Omega in the biblical phrase: “I Am the Alpha and the Omega.” (See Revelation Ch 1:8.)

(Also see Carmara, Ga, Hagonel, Mapsama, Murifri, Nalvage, Vaa, and Za.)

Note:

See Ul for the general Angelical word for “the end.”

Ganiurax (gan-ii-ur-ax)

n/a

Γ # ε α λ β ρ # β

Note:

See the Five Books, p. 413. Kelley overhears many voices singing a song at some distance, and these are the words Dee recorded: Pinzu-a lephe ganiurax kelpadman pacaph. No translations are suggested.

Note that Ganiurax may have the -ax suffix, indicating action.

Garil (gar-il)

n/a

ε λ ε ρ β

Note:

See TFR, pp. 34–35. This session is recorded entirely in Latin. Here we find this Angelical phrase spoken by “a Voice”: Garil zed masch, ich na gel galaht gemp gal noch Cabanladan. No translation or context is offered.

Garmal (gar-mal)

n/a

ε ρ ε ε ρ β

Note:

See the Five Books, p. 415. This is part of a prayer recited jointly by the Archangels Michael, Raphael, and Uriel: “Huseh Huseh Huseh garmal, Peleh Peleh Peleh pacaduasam.” No translations are suggested.

Compare from Loagaeth:*Garmah, GarmesGarnastel (gar-nas-tel)

n/a

𐌲𐌵𐌶𐌵𐌹𐌸𐌹𐌸𐌹𐌸𐌹𐌸𐌹

Note:

See TFR, p. 22. Here, the guardian Angel of Lord Lasky of Poland says a prayer on Lasky's behalf, which ends with, "Grant this Camascheth galsuagath garnastel zurah logaah luseroth." No translation is offered.

Also see:Astel (ast-el)

n/a

Gascampho (gas-KAM-foh)* interr.

Why Didst Thou So?*

𐌲𐌵𐌶𐌵𐌹𐌸𐌹𐌸𐌹𐌸𐌹𐌸𐌹

Pronunciation note:

(*Dee—gascámpho or gáscampho) See the Five Books, p. 310. Dee places an accent over the second a, and then offers the alternative of placing the accent over the first a in a footnote. I have settled on the first option.

From Loagaeth:

(*Dee—"Why didst thou so?": as God said to Lucifer. The word hath 64 significations.) See the Five Books, p. 310. This is likely a reference to Lucifer's rebellion in Heaven, or (more precisely) to the judgment of Lucifer afterward.

Gazavaa (gah-zah-vay) prop. n.?

n/a*

𐌲𐌵𐌶𐌵𐌹𐌸𐌹𐌸𐌹𐌸𐌹𐌸𐌹

Note:

(*Dee—The three names make one name of 7 letters—Gazavaa.)

See TFR, pp. 228–29. A compound word made from the three Angels Ga, Za, and Vaa—who appear upon the Great Table (Watchtowers), but represent some hitherto unknown system of name-derivation. Dee created the compound Gazavaa when the three Angels told him, "For even as the father, son and holy spirit are one, but of themselves and being dilated,* is full of power, and many. So are we one particularly in power, but separated."

It is unclear if Gazavaa is a true Angelical word, or if Dee was merely taking the above words of the three Angels too literally. It appears to me that many further Angelical names might be derived from the Watchtowers, as we see with Ga, Za, and Vaa.

For a full account, see the notes with Ga, Za, and Vaa.

Note:

*“Dilated” would mean “spread out.” In this case, it indicates the separation of the One God into the Trinity.

“Gchis” (jee-KIIS) v

Are

76767676

Compounds:

Gchisge (jee-KIIS-jee) [“Gchis” + “Ge”]

Are Not

Also:

Chis (kiis)

Are

Chiis (kiis)

Are (They)

“Chisda” (kiis-da)

Are There

Chiso (kiis-oh)

Shall Be

“Ichis” (jay-kiis)

Are

Zchis (zohd-kiis)

(They) Are

Note:

“Gchis” and “Ichis” should be the same word—both are spelled the same in Angelical characters, with an initial Ged (j). See note at Gchisge.

Gchisge (jee-KIIS-jee)* [“Gchis” + “Ge”] comp.

Are Not

76767676

4.7 . . . Are not the Thunders of Increase numbered . . . ?

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—G Chis ge) Three syllables. The i and j are interchangeable in Dee’s English. The j makes a soft “juh” sound, which is likely what Dee was hearing in both Gchisge and Ichisge. It is likely that both words begin with the Angelical Letter Ged (j).

Since Dee capitalized the second syllable, it may indicate the accent there. Also, see Chis and Chiis (are) for the long “i” sound.

“camel.”) However, such translations for the Angelical letters are never given. (See the Five Books, p. 270.)

(*Dee—After that he said, One, One, One, Great, Great, Great!) This does not appear to be a definition of Ged, but an invocation associated with the word in some way. See the letter Med, where another invocation is made along with the delivery of a letter.

Compare from Loagaeth:

Ged, Ied

Geh (jay)* v.

Art (i.e., Are)

ᠠᠷᠲᠤ

16.19 Great art thou in the God of . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Geh jeh) One syllable. Dee indicates that the G should take a soft “j” sound. In Early Modern English, the eh would have combined to form a long “a” sound.

Note:

See also Chis (are). Perhaps Geh (art) is a term of formality or respect?

Compare from Loagaeth:

Geh, Ieh

Geiad (jei-AYD)* prop. n.

Lord and Master

ᠭᠡᠶᠠᠳ

5.54 . . . our Lord and Master is all one . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ge jad ie in as ien,  the iad as iade) The word Geiad only appears in Dee’s 48 Claves. It is missing from TFR (perhaps from damage to the text?)—but Dee’s slightly confusing phonetic note is still there. Based on this note, I believe Dee originally wrote Geiad in his journal (TFR) as “le iad”—divided into two syllables. The first syllable (ie or ge) sounds similar to “ien” (“jen”)—that is, the i sounds like j, and the e takes its short sound. The second syllable (iad) must sound like the English word jade—with the i again taking the “j” sound.

I have adopted the accent from similar words.

Note:

I believe that “ie in as ien” should be “ie as in ien.”

Ge is translated elsewhere as “not”—though it is obviously not intended in this case.

Also:

Gohed (joh-ED)	One Everlasting . . .
Iad (yad)	God
“Iadoias” (jad-oh-JAS)	Eternal God
Iadpil (ii-AD-pil)	(To) Him
Iaida (jay-II-da)	The Highest
Iaidon (jay-II-don)	All Powerful
Ioiad (joh-JAD)	Him That Liveth Forever
Oiad (oh-ii-AD)	Of God
Piad (pii-AD)	Your God

Gel (jel) n/a
𐄂𐄃𐄅

Note:

See TFR, p. 35. This session is recorded entirely in Latin. Here we find this Angelical phrase spoken by “a Voice”: Garil zed masch, ich na gel ga-laht gemp gal noch Cabanladan. No translation or context is offered.

Compare from Loagaeth:

Gel, Geld

Gemeganza (jeem-gan-za) Your Will Be Done / As You Wish* 𐄂𐄃𐄅𐄆𐄇𐄈𐄉𐄊

Note:

(*Dee—gemeganza = your will be done) See the Five Books, p. 314. Dee here asks if he and Kelley can leave off for the night, as it is getting late. A voice responds, “Gemeganza.”

Gemp (jemp)

n/a

𐌚𐌽𐌵

Note:

See TFR, pp. 34–35. This session is recorded entirely in Latin. Here we find this Angelical phrase spoken by “a Voice”: Garil zed masch, ich na gel galaht gemp gal noch Cabanladan. No translation or context is offered.

Gephna (jef-na)

n/a

𐌽𐌵𐌶𐌚𐌵

Note:

See TFR, p. 3. The Angel Murifri here speaks a prayer in Angelical, and Kelley can only overhear a few of the words: Oh Gahire Rudna gepna oh Gahire. It is unclear whether this represents a single Angelical phrase, or if they are disconnected words recorded by Dee as Kelley overheard them here and there in the prayer. No translations are suggested.

Ger (jer)* prop. n.

Letter Q/Qu

𐌽𐌵

Note:

The name of the Angelical letter for Q/Qu. It is likely that these letter names have translations of their own. (For instance, note the Hebrew alphabet: the letter Q/Qu is named Qoph, but Qoph also translates as “ear.”) However, such translations for the Angelical letters are never given. (See the Five Books, p. 270.)

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—In sound, gierh.) In Dee’s notation gierh, the gi may be the same as gj—to indicate a soft “g” (or “j”) sound. This is the pronunciation I have chosen for the word. However, it is also possible that the ie is intended to make an “ee” sound—so the word would sound like “jee-rr.”

Compare from Loagaeth:Ger

Geta (jet-a) *adv.*There
𐄂𐄃𐄅𐄆Note:

See TFR, p. 32. Here, Dee is speaking with the Angel Madimi. Suddenly, Madimi halts the session and demands, "Carma geta Barman." Dee asks her what this means, and she replies (in Latin, which roughly translates to): "Come out of there, Barma." Madimi's command exorcises fifteen spirits from the body of Edward Kelley, the chief of whom is named Barma. After a short exchange (see Gil, etc.), Madimi banishes all fifteen spirits back to Hell until the last cry. (That is, until the End Times.)

Carma Geta is likely intended as an exorcism phrase to command lesser spirits, and not something one would use with the Angels.

Note:

Also see "Da" (there).

Compare from Loagaeth:

Get

Gethog (jeth-og) prop. n."A Divine Name From the Sigillum Emeth"

𐄂𐄃𐄅𐄆𐄇𐄈

Note:

See the Five Books, p. 161 (Hamuthz Gethog). Kelley is having a vision of the Seven Biblical Days of Creation at this point—during which the Seven Ensigns of Creation are revealed. Oddly, the reception of one Ensign was interrupted by the reception of another. This interruption was marked by the sudden speaking of the words Hamuthz Gethog. (Dee does not attribute these words to any particular Angel. Much of the content of these sessions are merely attributed to "a Voice.") The "woman" who appears at these words creates the Sun, Moon, and Stars, and then presents her Ensign. (This happens to be the Ensign from which is drawn one of the Seals of the Watchtowers.) She then exits, and the interrupted vision continues.

No translation is given for Hamuthz, but Gethog is recognizable as one of the Divine Names encoded upon the Seal of Truth.

Compare from Loagaeth:

Gethgol

“Giar” (jii-ar) n.

Harvest

ε ʒ ʒ ʒ

Compounds:

Aziagiar (ay-zii-AY-jii-ar) [“Azia” + “Giar”] Like unto the Harvest

Pronunciation notes:

The vowel sound made by ia is unclear. However, we can find it in words like dial, dialect, or William. Based on this, I have assumed the sound should be a long i followed by a short a.

Gigipah (jii-ii-pah)* n.

(Living) Breath

o ʒ ʒ ʒ ʒ ʒ

3.12 Six are the seats of living breath . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Gi gi pah) Three syllables.

(*Dee—Gigipah) See 48 Claves. Note that Dee places a circumflex over the second i—indicating its long sound. Thus, I assume the first i takes its short sound.

Gil (jil)

n / a

ε ʒ ʒ

Note:

See TFR, p. 32. Here, the Angel Madimi has just interrupted the session to exorcise several demons from the body of Kelley. (See Carma.) These spirits came out of Kelley violently, scratching each other in the face and swarming about Madimi. To her, the spirits spoke in Angelical, “Gil de pragma kures helech.” Dee asks Madimi what this means, and she replies (in Latin, which roughly translates as:) “We want to live here in our [friends].” (Madimi does not offer definitions for the individual words.)

When Dee asks who these “friends” are supposed to be, the spirits indicate Kelley as their place of habitation (probably meaning both Dee and Kelley). Madimi then banishes these spirits.

Gisg (gizh) prop. n.

Letter T

᠖ᠶᠯ᠖

Note:

The name of the Angelical letter for T. It is likely that these letter names have translations of their own. (For instance, note the Hebrew alphabet: the letter T is named Teth, but Teth also translates as “serpent.”) However, such translations for the Angelical letters are never given. (See the Five Books, p. 270.)

Githgulcag (jith-gul-kag) prop. n.

Lucifer, Satan(?)

᠖ᠶᠭᠯᠠᠭᠠᠨᠠᠭᠤᠯᠠᠭᠤᠨ

Note:

See TFR, p. 6. Here, an Angel (who is later identified as the Daughter of Light named Aath) tells Dee, “It is written that Pride was the first offense. Githgulcag knew not himself. Therefore he was ignorant. [. . .] You will grant me that pride is the greatest sin. Pride was the cause he knew not himself. Therefore Pride is the cause of Ignorance. Ignorance was the nakedness wherewithal you were first tormented,* and the first Plague that fell onto man was the want of Science.” Aath appears to first explain the reason for Lucifer’s Fall, and then ends her speech with a very Hermetic interpretation of the Fall from Eden. Could Githgulcag have some indication of “ignorance”?

Note:

*See Genesis 3:7, “And the eyes of them both were opened, and they knew that they were naked.”

Also see Coronzom (the Devil, Satan) and Telocvovim (likely a name for the fallen Lucifer).

Givi (jiv-ii)* adj.

Stronger

ᠭᠢᠨᠠᠭᠤᠯᠠᠭᠤᠨ

2.23 . . . stronger are your feet than the barren stone.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Giui) The letter u should probably sound like “v” when surrounded by vowels. The initial G should have a soft sound when preceding an i, and the final i likely has the long sound.

Note:

Also see Umadea (strong towers), Umplif (strength) and Ugeg (become strong).

Gizyax (jiz-wii-aks)* n.

Earthquakes

𐌒𐌵𐌶𐌵𐌶𐌵

10.43 . . . a hundred mighty earthquakes . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Giz y ax) Three syllables. The initial G should take the soft (“j”) sound when preceding an i. The y stands alone.

Gmicalzo (jee-mii-KAYL-zoh)* n.

In Power (and Presence?)

𐌒𐌵𐌶𐌵𐌶𐌵

6.37 . . . I move you in power and presence . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—G-ni cāl zo) Likely four syllables, with an accent on the second syllable. Dee here indicates that the initial G stands alone. The i and a should take their long sounds (see Micalzo). Also note that Dee wrote an n in his phonetic note, but this is likely a mistake for m.

(*Dee—g-micālzo) See the 48 Claves. The initial G is again standing alone. The accent is again on the third syllable.

Compounds:

Gmicalzoma (jee-mii-KAYL-zoh-ma)

[Gmicalzo + “Oma”]

With a Power of Understanding

Also:

Micalp (mii-KALP)

Mightier

Micalzo (mii-KAYL-zoh)

Mighty

Micaoli (mii-KAY-oh-lii)

Mighty

Micaolz (mii-KAY-ohlz or mii-KAY-ohl-zohd)

Mighty

Omicaolz (oh-mii-KAY-ohl-zohd)

(Be) Mighty

Possible shared root:

Miketh (mii-KETH)

"The True Measure of the Will of God in Judgment, Which Is by Wisdom"(?)Note:Also see Umadea (strong towers), Umplif (strength), Ugeg (become strong), Vohim (mighty), and Nanaeel (my power).Gmicalzoma (jee-mii-KAYL-zoh-ma)* [Gmicalzo + "Oma"] comp.

Power of Understanding

𐄂𐄃𐄄𐄅𐄆𐄇𐄈𐄉𐄊𐄋𐄌𐄍𐄎𐄏𐄐𐄑𐄒𐄓𐄔𐄕𐄖𐄗𐄘𐄙𐄚𐄛𐄜𐄝𐄞𐄟𐄠𐄡𐄢𐄣𐄤𐄥𐄦𐄧𐄨𐄩𐄪𐄫𐄬𐄭𐄮𐄯𐄰𐄱𐄲𐄳𐄴𐄵𐄶𐄷𐄸𐄹𐄺𐄻𐄼𐄽𐄾𐄿𐅀𐅁𐅂𐅃𐅄𐅅𐅆𐅇𐅈𐅉𐅊𐅋𐅌𐅍𐅎𐅏𐅐𐅑𐅒𐅓𐅔𐅕𐅖𐅗𐅘𐅙𐅚𐅛𐅜𐅝𐅞𐅟𐅠𐅡𐅢𐅣𐅤𐅥𐅦𐅧𐅨𐅩𐅪𐅫𐅬𐅭𐅮𐅯𐅰𐅱𐅲𐅳𐅴𐅵𐅶𐅷𐅸𐅹𐅺𐅻𐅼𐅽𐅾𐅿𐆀𐆁𐆂𐆃𐆄𐆅𐆆𐆇𐆈𐆉𐆊𐆋𐆌𐆍𐆎𐆏𐆐𐆑𐆒𐆓𐆔𐆕𐆖𐆗𐆘𐆙𐆚𐆛𐆜𐆝𐆞𐆟𐆠𐆡𐆢𐆣𐆤𐆥𐆦𐆧𐆨𐆩𐆪𐆫𐆬𐆭𐆮𐆯𐆰𐆱𐆲𐆳𐆴𐆵𐆶𐆷𐆸𐆹𐆺𐆻𐆼𐆽𐆾𐆿𐇀𐇁𐇂𐇃𐇄𐇅𐇆𐇇𐇈𐇉𐇊𐇋𐇌𐇍𐇎𐇏𐇐𐇑𐇒𐇓𐇔𐇕𐇖𐇗𐇘𐇙𐇚𐇛𐇜𐇝𐇞𐇟𐇠𐇡𐇢𐇣𐇤𐇥𐇦𐇧𐇨𐇩𐇪𐇫𐇬𐇭𐇮𐇯𐇰𐇱𐇲𐇳𐇴𐇵𐇶𐇷𐇸𐇹𐇺𐇻𐇼𐇽𐇾𐇿𐈀𐈁𐈂𐈃𐈄𐈅𐈆𐈇𐈈𐈉𐈊𐈋𐈌𐈍𐈎𐈏𐈐𐈑𐈒𐈓𐈔𐈕𐈖𐈗𐈘𐈙𐈚𐈛𐈜𐈝𐈞𐈟𐈠𐈡𐈢𐈣𐈤𐈥𐈦𐈧𐈨𐈩𐈪𐈫𐈬𐈭𐈮𐈯𐈰𐈱𐈲𐈳𐈴𐈵𐈶𐈷𐈸𐈹𐈺𐈻𐈼𐈽𐈾𐈿𐉀𐉁𐉂𐉃𐉄𐉅𐉆𐉇𐉈𐉉𐉊𐉋𐉌𐉍𐉎𐉏𐉐𐉑𐉒𐉓𐉔𐉕𐉖𐉗𐉘𐉙𐉚𐉛𐉜𐉝𐉞𐉟𐉠𐉡𐉢𐉣𐉤𐉥𐉦𐉧𐉨𐉩𐉪𐉫𐉬𐉭𐉮𐉯𐉰𐉱𐉲𐉳𐉴𐉵𐉶𐉷𐉸𐉹𐉺𐉻𐉼𐉽𐉾𐉿𐊀𐊁𐊂𐊃𐊄𐊅𐊆𐊇𐊈𐊉𐊊𐊋𐊌𐊍𐊎𐊏𐊐𐊑𐊒𐊓𐊔𐊕𐊖𐊗𐊘𐊙𐊚𐊛𐊜𐊝𐊞𐊟𐊠𐊡𐊢𐊣𐊤𐊥𐊦𐊧𐊨𐊩𐊪𐊫𐊬𐊭𐊮𐊯𐊰𐊱𐊲𐊳𐊴𐊵𐊶𐊷𐊸𐊹𐊺𐊻𐊼𐊽𐊾𐊿𐋀𐋁𐋂𐋃𐋄𐋅𐋆𐋇𐋈𐋉𐋊𐋋𐋌𐋍𐋎𐋏𐋐𐋑𐋒𐋓𐋔𐋕𐋖𐋗𐋘𐋙𐋚𐋛𐋜𐋝𐋞𐋟𐋠𐋡𐋢𐋣𐋤𐋥𐋦𐋧𐋨𐋩𐋪𐋫𐋬𐋭𐋮𐋯𐋰𐋱𐋲𐋳𐋴𐋵𐋶𐋷𐋸𐋹𐋺𐋻𐋼𐋽𐋾𐋿𐌀𐌁𐌂𐌃𐌄𐌅𐌆𐌇𐌈𐌉𐌊𐌋𐌌𐌍𐌎𐌏𐌐𐌑𐌒𐌓𐌔𐌕𐌖𐌗𐌘𐌙𐌚𐌛𐌜𐌝𐌞𐌟𐌠𐌡𐌢𐌣𐌤𐌥𐌦𐌧𐌨𐌩𐌪𐌫𐌬𐌭𐌮𐌯𐌰𐌱𐌲𐌳𐌴𐌵𐌶𐌷𐌸𐌹𐌺𐌻𐌼𐌽𐌾𐌿𐍀𐍁𐍂𐍃𐍄𐍅𐍆𐍇𐍈𐍉𐍊𐍋𐍌𐍍𐍎𐍏𐍐𐍑𐍒𐍓𐍔𐍕𐍖𐍗𐍘𐍙𐍚𐍛𐍜𐍝𐍞𐍟𐍠𐍡𐍢𐍣𐍤𐍥𐍦𐍧𐍨𐍩𐍪𐍫𐍬𐍭𐍮𐍯𐍰𐍱𐍲𐍳𐍴𐍵𐍶𐍷𐍸𐍹𐍺𐍻𐍼𐍽𐍾𐍿𐎀𐎁𐎂𐎃𐎄𐎅𐎆𐎇𐎈𐎉𐎊𐎋𐎌𐎍𐎎𐎏𐎐𐎑𐎒𐎓𐎔𐎕𐎖𐎗𐎘𐎙𐎚𐎛𐎜𐎝𐎞𐎟𐎠𐎡𐎢𐎣𐎤𐎥𐎦𐎧𐎨𐎩𐎪𐎫𐎬𐎭𐎮𐎯𐎰𐎱𐎲𐎳𐎴𐎵𐎶𐎷𐎸𐎹𐎺𐎻𐎼𐎽𐎾𐎿𐏀𐏁𐏂𐏃𐏄𐏅𐏆𐏇𐏈𐏉𐏊𐏋𐏌𐏍𐏎𐏏𐏐𐏑𐏒𐏓𐏔𐏕𐏖𐏗𐏘𐏙𐏚𐏛𐏜𐏝𐏞𐏟𐏠𐏡𐏢𐏣𐏤𐏥𐏦𐏧𐏨𐏩𐏪𐏫𐏬𐏭𐏮𐏯𐏰𐏱𐏲𐏳𐏴𐏵𐏶𐏷𐏸𐏹𐏺𐏻𐏼𐏽𐏾𐏿𐐀𐐁𐐂𐐃𐐄𐐅𐐆𐐇𐐈𐐉𐐊𐐋𐐌𐐍𐐎𐐏𐐐𐐑𐐒𐐓𐐔𐐕𐐖𐐗𐐘𐐙𐐚𐐛𐐜𐐝𐐞𐐟𐐠𐐡𐐢𐐣𐐤𐐥𐐦𐐧𐐨𐐩𐐪𐐫𐐬𐐭𐐮𐐯𐐰𐐱𐐲𐐳𐐴𐐵𐐶𐐷𐐸𐐹𐐺𐐻𐐼𐐽𐐾𐐿𐑀𐑁𐑂𐑃𐑄𐑅𐑆𐑇𐑈𐑉𐑊𐑋𐑌𐑍𐑎𐑏𐑐𐑑𐑒𐑓𐑔𐑕𐑖𐑗𐑘𐑙𐑚𐑛𐑜𐑝𐑞𐑟𐑠𐑡𐑢𐑣𐑤𐑥𐑦𐑧𐑨𐑩𐑪𐑫𐑬𐑭𐑮𐑯𐑰𐑱𐑲𐑳𐑴𐑵𐑶𐑷𐑸𐑹𐑺𐑻𐑼𐑽𐑾𐑿𐒀𐒁𐒂𐒃𐒄𐒅𐒆𐒇𐒈𐒉𐒊𐒋𐒌𐒍𐒎𐒏𐒐𐒑𐒒𐒓𐒔𐒕𐒖𐒗𐒘𐒙𐒚𐒛𐒜𐒝𐒞𐒟𐒠𐒡𐒢𐒣𐒤𐒥𐒦𐒧𐒨𐒩𐒪𐒫𐒬𐒭𐒮𐒯𐒰𐒱𐒲𐒳𐒴𐒵𐒶𐒷𐒸𐒹𐒺𐒻𐒼𐒽𐒾𐒿𐓀𐓁𐓂𐓃𐓄𐓅𐓆𐓇𐓈𐓉𐓊𐓋𐓌𐓍𐓎𐓏𐓐𐓑𐓒𐓓𐓔𐓕𐓖𐓗𐓘𐓙𐓚𐓛𐓜𐓝𐓞𐓟𐓠𐓡𐓢𐓣𐓤𐓥𐓦𐓧𐓨𐓩𐓪𐓫𐓬𐓭𐓮𐓯𐓰𐓱𐓲𐓳𐓴𐓵𐓶𐓷𐓸𐓹𐓺𐓻𐓼𐓽𐓾𐓿𐔀𐔁𐔂𐔃𐔄𐔅𐔆𐔇𐔈𐔉𐔊𐔋𐔌𐔍𐔎𐔏𐔐𐔑𐔒𐔓𐔔𐔕𐔖𐔗𐔘𐔙𐔚𐔛𐔜𐔝𐔞𐔟𐔠𐔡𐔢𐔣𐔤𐔥𐔦𐔧𐔨𐔩𐔪𐔫𐔬𐔭𐔮𐔯𐔰𐔱𐔲𐔳𐔴𐔵𐔶𐔷𐔸𐔹𐔺𐔻𐔼𐔽𐔾𐔿𐕀𐕁𐕂𐕃𐕄𐕅𐕆𐕇𐕈𐕉𐕊𐕋𐕌𐕍𐕎𐕏𐕐𐕑𐕒𐕓𐕔𐕕𐕖𐕗𐕘𐕙𐕚𐕛𐕜𐕝𐕞𐕟𐕠𐕡𐕢𐕣𐕤𐕥𐕦𐕧𐕨𐕩𐕪𐕫𐕬𐕭𐕮𐕯𐕰𐕱𐕲𐕳𐕴𐕵𐕶𐕷𐕸𐕹𐕺𐕻𐕼𐕽𐕾𐕿𐖀𐖁𐖂𐖃𐖄𐖅𐖆𐖇𐖈𐖉𐖊𐖋𐖌𐖍𐖎𐖏𐖐𐖑𐖒𐖓𐖔𐖕𐖖𐖗𐖘𐖙𐖚𐖛𐖜𐖝𐖞𐖟𐖠𐖡𐖢𐖣𐖤𐖥𐖦𐖧𐖨𐖩𐖪𐖫𐖬𐖭𐖮𐖯𐖰𐖱𐖲𐖳𐖴𐖵𐖶𐖷𐖸𐖹𐖺𐖻𐖼𐖽𐖾𐖿𐗀𐗁𐗂𐗃𐗄𐗅𐗆𐗇𐗈𐗉𐗊𐗋𐗌𐗍𐗎𐗏𐗐𐗑𐗒𐗓𐗔𐗕𐗖𐗗𐗘𐗙𐗚𐗛𐗜𐗝𐗞𐗟𐗠𐗡𐗢𐗣𐗤𐗥𐗦𐗧𐗨𐗩𐗪𐗫𐗬𐗭𐗮𐗯𐗰𐗱𐗲𐗳𐗴𐗵𐗶𐗷𐗸𐗹𐗺𐗻𐗼𐗽𐗾𐗿𐘀𐘁𐘂𐘃𐘄𐘅𐘆𐘇𐘈𐘉𐘊𐘋𐘌𐘍𐘎𐘏𐘐𐘑𐘒𐘓𐘔𐘕𐘖𐘗𐘘𐘙𐘚𐘛𐘜𐘝𐘞𐘟𐘠𐘡𐘢𐘣𐘤𐘥𐘦𐘧𐘨𐘩𐘪𐘫𐘬𐘭𐘮𐘯𐘰𐘱𐘲𐘳𐘴𐘵𐘶𐘷𐘸𐘹𐘺𐘻𐘼𐘽𐘾𐘿𐙀𐙁𐙂𐙃𐙄𐙅𐙆𐙇𐙈𐙉𐙊𐙋𐙌𐙍𐙎𐙏𐙐𐙑𐙒𐙓𐙔𐙕𐙖𐙗𐙘𐙙𐙚𐙛𐙜𐙝𐙞𐙟𐙠𐙡𐙢𐙣𐙤𐙥𐙦𐙧𐙨𐙩𐙪𐙫𐙬𐙭𐙮𐙯𐙰𐙱𐙲𐙳𐙴𐙵𐙶𐙷𐙸𐙹𐙺𐙻𐙼𐙽𐙾𐙿𐚀𐚁𐚂𐚃𐚄𐚅𐚆𐚇𐚈𐚉𐚊𐚋𐚌𐚍𐚎𐚏𐚐𐚑𐚒𐚓𐚔𐚕𐚖𐚗𐚘𐚙𐚚𐚛𐚜𐚝𐚞𐚟𐚠𐚡𐚢𐚣𐚤𐚥𐚦𐚧𐚨𐚩𐚪𐚫𐚬𐚭𐚮𐚯𐚰𐚱𐚲𐚳𐚴𐚵𐚶𐚷𐚸𐚹𐚺𐚻𐚼𐚽𐚾𐚿𐛀𐛁𐛂𐛃𐛄𐛅𐛆𐛇𐛈𐛉𐛊𐛋𐛌𐛍𐛎𐛏𐛐𐛑𐛒𐛓𐛔𐛕𐛖𐛗𐛘𐛙𐛚𐛛𐛜𐛝𐛞𐛟𐛠𐛡𐛢𐛣𐛤𐛥𐛦𐛧𐛨𐛩𐛪𐛫𐛬𐛭𐛮𐛯𐛰𐛱𐛲𐛳𐛴𐛵𐛶𐛷𐛸𐛹𐛺𐛻𐛼𐛽𐛾𐛿𐜀𐜁𐜂𐜃𐜄𐜅𐜆𐜇𐜈𐜉𐜊𐜋𐜌𐜍𐜎𐜏𐜐𐜑𐜒𐜓𐜔𐜕𐜖𐜗𐜘𐜙𐜚𐜛𐜜𐜝𐜞𐜟𐜠𐜡𐜢𐜣𐜤𐜥𐜦𐜧𐜨𐜩𐜪𐜫𐜬𐜭𐜮𐜯𐜰𐜱𐜲𐜳𐜴𐜵𐜶𐜷𐜸𐜹𐜺𐜻𐜼𐜽𐜾𐜿𐝀𐝁𐝂𐝃𐝄𐝅𐝆𐝇𐝈𐝉𐝊𐝋𐝌𐝍𐝎𐝏𐝐𐝑𐝒𐝓𐝔𐝕𐝖𐝗𐝘𐝙𐝚𐝛𐝜𐝝𐝞𐝟𐝠𐝡𐝢𐝣𐝤𐝥𐝦𐝧𐝨𐝩𐝪𐝫𐝬𐝭𐝮𐝯𐝰𐝱𐝲𐝳𐝴𐝵𐝶𐝷𐝸𐝹𐝺𐝻𐝼𐝽𐝾𐝿𐞀𐞁𐞂𐞃𐞄𐞅𐞆𐞇𐞈𐞉𐞊𐞋𐞌𐞍𐞎𐞏𐞐𐞑𐞒𐞓𐞔𐞕𐞖𐞗𐞘𐞙𐞚𐞛𐞜𐞝𐞞𐞟𐞠𐞡𐞢𐞣𐞤𐞥𐞦𐞧𐞨𐞩𐞪𐞫𐞬𐞭𐞮𐞯𐞰𐞱𐞲𐞳𐞴𐞵𐞶𐞷𐞸𐞹𐞺𐞻𐞼𐞽𐞾𐞿𐟀𐟁𐟂𐟃𐟄𐟅𐟆𐟇𐟈𐟉𐟊𐟋𐟌𐟍𐟎𐟏𐟐𐟑𐟒𐟓𐟔𐟕𐟖𐟗𐟘𐟙𐟚𐟛𐟜𐟝𐟞𐟟𐟠𐟡𐟢𐟣𐟤𐟥𐟦𐟧𐟨𐟩𐟪𐟫𐟬𐟭𐟮𐟯𐟰𐟱𐟲𐟳𐟴𐟵𐟶𐟷𐟸𐟹𐟺𐟻𐟼𐟽𐟾𐟿𐠀𐠁𐠂𐠃𐠄𐠅𐠆𐠇𐠈𐠉𐠊𐠋𐠌𐠍𐠎𐠏𐠐𐠑𐠒𐠓𐠔𐠕𐠖𐠗𐠘𐠙𐠚𐠛𐠜𐠝𐠞𐠟𐠠𐠡𐠢𐠣𐠤𐠥𐠦𐠧𐠨𐠩𐠪𐠫𐠬𐠭𐠮𐠯𐠰𐠱𐠲𐠳𐠴𐠵𐠶𐠷𐠸𐠹𐠺𐠻𐠼𐠽𐠾𐠿𐡀𐡁𐡂𐡃𐡄𐡅𐡆𐡇𐡈𐡉𐡊𐡋𐡌𐡍𐡎𐡏𐡐𐡑𐡒𐡓𐡔𐡕𐡖𐡗𐡘𐡙𐡚𐡛𐡜𐡝𐡞𐡟𐡠𐡡𐡢𐡣𐡤𐡥𐡦𐡧𐡨𐡩𐡪𐡫𐡬𐡭𐡮𐡯𐡰𐡱𐡲𐡳𐡴𐡵𐡶𐡷𐡸𐡹𐡺𐡻𐡼𐡽𐡾𐡿𐢀𐢁𐢂𐢃𐢄𐢅𐢆𐢇𐢈𐢉𐢊𐢋𐢌𐢍𐢎𐢏𐢐𐢑𐢒𐢓𐢔𐢕𐢖𐢗𐢘𐢙𐢚𐢛𐢜𐢝𐢞𐢟𐢠𐢡𐢢𐢣𐢤𐢥𐢦𐢧𐢨𐢩𐢪𐢫𐢬𐢭𐢮𐢯𐢰𐢱𐢲𐢳𐢴𐢵𐢶𐢷𐢸𐢹𐢺𐢻𐢼𐢽𐢾𐢿𐣀𐣁𐣂𐣃𐣄𐣅𐣆𐣇𐣈𐣉𐣊𐣋𐣌𐣍𐣎𐣏𐣐𐣑𐣒𐣓𐣔𐣕𐣖𐣗𐣘𐣙𐣚𐣛𐣜𐣝𐣞𐣟𐣠𐣡𐣢𐣣𐣤𐣥𐣦𐣧𐣨𐣩𐣪𐣫𐣬𐣭𐣮𐣯𐣰𐣱𐣲𐣳𐣴𐣵𐣶𐣷𐣸𐣹𐣺𐣻𐣼𐣽𐣾𐣿𐤀𐤁𐤂𐤃𐤄𐤅𐤆𐤇𐤈𐤉𐤊𐤋𐤌𐤍𐤎𐤏𐤐𐤑𐤒𐤓𐤔𐤕𐤖𐤗𐤘𐤙𐤚𐤛𐤜𐤝𐤞𐤟𐤠𐤡𐤢𐤣𐤤𐤥𐤦𐤧𐤨𐤩𐤪𐤫𐤬𐤭𐤮𐤯𐤰𐤱𐤲𐤳𐤴𐤵𐤶𐤷𐤸𐤹𐤺𐤻𐤼𐤽𐤾𐤿𐥀𐥁𐥂𐥃𐥄𐥅𐥆𐥇𐥈𐥉𐥊𐥋𐥌𐥍𐥎𐥏𐥐𐥑𐥒𐥓𐥔𐥕𐥖𐥗𐥘𐥙𐥚𐥛𐥜𐥝𐥞𐥟𐥠𐥡𐥢𐥣𐥤𐥥𐥦𐥧𐥨𐥩𐥪𐥫𐥬𐥭𐥮𐥯𐥰𐥱𐥲𐥳𐥴𐥵𐥶𐥷𐥸𐥹𐥺𐥻𐥼𐥽𐥾𐥿𐦀𐦁𐦂𐦃𐦄𐦅𐦆𐦇𐦈𐦉𐦊𐦋𐦌𐦍𐦎𐦏𐦐𐦑𐦒𐦓𐦔𐦕𐦖𐦗𐦘𐦙𐦚𐦛𐦜𐦝𐦞𐦟𐦠𐦡𐦢𐦣𐦤𐦥𐦦𐦧𐦨𐦩𐦪𐦫𐦬𐦭𐦮𐦯𐦰𐦱𐦲𐦳𐦴𐦵𐦶𐦷𐦸𐦹𐦺𐦻𐦼𐦽𐦾𐦿𐧀𐧁𐧂𐧃𐧄𐧅𐧆𐧇𐧈𐧉𐧊𐧋𐧌𐧍𐧎𐧏𐧐𐧑𐧒𐧓𐧔𐧕𐧖𐧗𐧘𐧙𐧚𐧛𐧜𐧝𐧞𐧟𐧠𐧡𐧢𐧣𐧤𐧥𐧦𐧧𐧨𐧩𐧪𐧫𐧬𐧭𐧮𐧯𐧰𐧱𐧲𐧳𐧴𐧵𐧶𐧷𐧸𐧹𐧺𐧻𐧼𐧽𐧾𐧿𐨀𐨁𐨂𐨃𐨄𐨅𐨆𐨇𐨈𐨉𐨊𐨋𐨌𐨍𐨎𐨏𐨐𐨑𐨒𐨓𐨔𐨕𐨖𐨗𐨘𐨙𐨚𐨛𐨜𐨝𐨞𐨟𐨠𐨡𐨢𐨣𐨤𐨥𐨦𐨧𐨨𐨩𐨪𐨫𐨬𐨭𐨮𐨯𐨰𐨱𐨲𐨳𐨴𐨵𐨶𐨷𐨹𐨺𐨸𐨻𐨼𐨽𐨾𐨿𐩀𐩁𐩂𐩃𐩄𐩅𐩆𐩇𐩈𐩉𐩊𐩋𐩌𐩍𐩎𐩏𐩐𐩑𐩒𐩓𐩔𐩕𐩖𐩗𐩘𐩙𐩚𐩛𐩜𐩝𐩞𐩟𐩠𐩡𐩢𐩣𐩤𐩥𐩦𐩧𐩨𐩩𐩪𐩫𐩬𐩭𐩮𐩯𐩰𐩱𐩲𐩳𐩴𐩵𐩶𐩷𐩸𐩹𐩺𐩻𐩼𐩽𐩾𐩿𐪀𐪁𐪂𐪃𐪄𐪅𐪆𐪇𐪈𐪉𐪊𐪋𐪌𐪍𐪎𐪏𐪐𐪑𐪒𐪓𐪔𐪕𐪖𐪗𐪘𐪙𐪚𐪛𐪜𐪝𐪞𐪟𐪠𐪡𐪢𐪣𐪤𐪥𐪦𐪧𐪨𐪩𐪪𐪫𐪬𐪭𐪮𐪯𐪰𐪱𐪲𐪳𐪴𐪵𐪶𐪷𐪸𐪹𐪺𐪻𐪼𐪽𐪾𐪿𐫀𐫁𐫂𐫃𐫄𐫅𐫆𐫇𐫈𐫉𐫊𐫋𐫌𐫍𐫎𐫏𐫐𐫑𐫒𐫓𐫔𐫕𐫖𐫗𐫘𐫙𐫚𐫛𐫜𐫝𐫞𐫟𐫠𐫡𐫢𐫣𐫤𐫦𐫥𐫧𐫨𐫩𐫪𐫫𐫬𐫭𐫮𐫯𐫰𐫱𐫲𐫳𐫴𐫵𐫶𐫷𐫸𐫹𐫺𐫻𐫼𐫽𐫾𐫿𐬀𐬁𐬂𐬃𐬄𐬅𐬆𐬇𐬈𐬉𐬊𐬋𐬌𐬍𐬎𐬏𐬐𐬑𐬒𐬓𐬔𐬕𐬖𐬗𐬘𐬙𐬚𐬛𐬜𐬝𐬞𐬟𐬠𐬡𐬢𐬣𐬤𐬥𐬦𐬧𐬨𐬩𐬪𐬫𐬬𐬭𐬮𐬯𐬰𐬱𐬲𐬳𐬴𐬵𐬶𐬷𐬸𐬹𐬺𐬻𐬼𐬽𐬾𐬿𐭀𐭁𐭂𐭃𐭄𐭅𐭆𐭇𐭈𐭉𐭊𐭋𐭌𐭍𐭎𐭏𐭐𐭑𐭒𐭓𐭔𐭕𐭖𐭗𐭘𐭙𐭚𐭛𐭜𐭝𐭞𐭟𐭠𐭡𐭢𐭣𐭤𐭥𐭦𐭧𐭨𐭩𐭪𐭫𐭬𐭭𐭮𐭯𐭰𐭱𐭲𐭳𐭴𐭵𐭶𐭷𐭸𐭹𐭺𐭻𐭼𐭽𐭾𐭿𐮀𐮁𐮂𐮃𐮄𐮅𐮆𐮇𐮈𐮉𐮊𐮋𐮌𐮍𐮎𐮏𐮐𐮑𐮒𐮓𐮔𐮕𐮖𐮗𐮘𐮙𐮚𐮛𐮜𐮝𐮞𐮟𐮠𐮡𐮢𐮣𐮤𐮥𐮦𐮧𐮨𐮩𐮪𐮫𐮬𐮭𐮮𐮯𐮰𐮱𐮲𐮳𐮴𐮵𐮶𐮷𐮸𐮹𐮺𐮻𐮼𐮽𐮾𐮿𐯀𐯁𐯂𐯃𐯄𐯅𐯆𐯇𐯈𐯉𐯊𐯋𐯌𐯍𐯎𐯏𐯐𐯑𐯒𐯓𐯔𐯕𐯖𐯗𐯘𐯙𐯚𐯛𐯜𐯝𐯞𐯟𐯠𐯡𐯢𐯣𐯤𐯥𐯦𐯧𐯨𐯩𐯪𐯫𐯬𐯭𐯮𐯯𐯰𐯱𐯲𐯳𐯴𐯵𐯶𐯷𐯸𐯹𐯺𐯻𐯼𐯽𐯾𐯿𐰀𐰁𐰂𐰃𐰄𐰅𐰆𐰇𐰈𐰉𐰊𐰋𐰌𐰍𐰎𐰏𐰐𐰑𐰒𐰓𐰔𐰕𐰖𐰗𐰘𐰙𐰚𐰛𐰜𐰝𐰞𐰟𐰠𐰡𐰢𐰣𐰤𐰥𐰦𐰧𐰨𐰩𐰪𐰫𐰬𐰭𐰮𐰯𐰰𐰱𐰲𐰳𐰴𐰵𐰶𐰷𐰸𐰹𐰺𐰻𐰼𐰽𐰾𐰿𐱀𐱁𐱂𐱃𐱄𐱅𐱆𐱇𐱈𐱉𐱊𐱋𐱌𐱍𐱎𐱏𐱐𐱑𐱒𐱓𐱔𐱕𐱖𐱗𐱘𐱙𐱚𐱛𐱜𐱝𐱞𐱟𐱠𐱡𐱢𐱣𐱤𐱥𐱦𐱧𐱨𐱩𐱪𐱫𐱬𐱭𐱮𐱯𐱰𐱱𐱲𐱳𐱴𐱵𐱶𐱷𐱸𐱹𐱺𐱻𐱼𐱽𐱾𐱿𐲀

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Gnetaab) In Early Modern English, the letters Gn became a digraph that sounds like n. See Netaab (government) for further pronunciation notes.

(*Dee—gne-taab) See the 48 Claves. Likely three syllables, with an accent on the second syllable. The e likely takes a long sound.

Also:

Anetab (ay-NEE-tayb)	(In) Government
Netaab (nee-TAY-ab)	Your Governments
Netaaib (nee-TAY-ay-ib)	Government
Tabaam (tay-BAY-an)	Governor
Tabaord (tay-BAY-ord)	(Let) Be Governed
Tabaori (tay-BAY-oh-rii)	Govern
"Tabas" (tay-BAS)	Govern

Further:

Cab (kab)	Rod/Sceptor
Caba (ka-BA)	To Govern

Gnonp (non-pee) v. To Garnish

1.31 Whose seats I garnished with the fire . . .

Gohed (joh-ED)* prop. n.? "One Everlasting, All Things Descending Upon One"

Pronunciation Note:

(*Dee—Gohed, pronounced as Iohed . . .) See the Five Books, p. 304. Dee here shows the pronunciation of Iohed—showing the soft G (or j) sound. I have adopted the accent from similar words.

From Loagaeth:

(*Dee—Gohed, pronounced as Iohed, signifieth One Everlasting and all things Descending upon One, and Gohed Ascha is as much to say as One God.) See the Five Books, p. 304.

Also:

Geiad (jej-AYD)

Lord and Master

Iaisg (hay-IZH)

Everlasting One . . . God

Ioiad (joh-JAD)

Him That Liveth Forever

"Iadoias" (jad-oh-JAS)

Eternal God

Gohel (GOH-hel)* [Goho + El] comp.

Sayeth the First

𐌲𐌳𐌹𐌸

2.41 . . . arise, sayeth the First . . .Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Go hel) Two syllables, and the h is audible. I assume the e is a phonetic gloss, as it is in the word El (The First).

(Dee*—góhel) See 48 Claves. The first syllable is given an accent.

Note:

I am uncertain why the final o of Goho was dropped here. Angelical usually only drops a letter in a compound if it is repeated twice. Note, for example, the compound Zirenaiad, formed of the words Zir, Enay, and Iad. We can see that the final y of Enay and the initial I of Iad combine into one letter in the compound.

Gohia (goh-HII-a)* v.

(We) Say

𐌲𐌳𐌹𐌸

3.73 . . . in whom we say, move . . .Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Gohia) I assume three syllables, with a long i. I have adopted the accent from other versions of this word.

Note:

Although this word is similar to the compound word Gohoiad (sayeth god), it is apparent that Iad does not serve as a root here at all.

Also:

Goho (goh-HOH)

To Say

Gohol (goh-HOHL)

To Say

Gohon (goh-HON)

Have Spoken

Gohulim (goh-HOO-lim)

It Is Said

Gohus (goh-US)

(I) say

Goho (goh-HOH)* v.

To Say

𐀀𐀁𐀂𐀃𐀄𐀅

1.4 . . . sayeth the God of Justice . . .3.2 Behold, sayeth your God . . .Pronunciation notes:(Dee* 1.4—GOHO)(Dee* 3.2—Goho) Dee gives us little clue here. The initial G should take a hard sound when preceding an o. I suspect both o's take a long sound.(Dee* 1.4; 3.2—Gohó) See 48 Claves. The accent is shown on the second syllable.Compounds:

Gohoiad (goh-HOH-ii-ad) [Goho + Iad]

Sayeth God

Gohel (GOH-hel) [Goho + El]

Sayeth the First

Also:

Gohia (goh-HII-a)

(We) Say

Gohol (goh-HOHL)

To Say

Gohon (goh-HON)

Have Spoken

Gohulim (goh-HOO-lim)

It Is Said

Gohus (goh-US)

(I) say

Compare from Loagaeth:Goho, GohorGohoiad (goh-HOH-ii-ad) [Goho + Iad] comp.

Sayeth the Lord

𐀀𐀁𐀂𐀃𐀄𐀅𐀆𐀇𐀈𐀉𐀊𐀋

8.13 . . . sayeth the lord, whose long continuance . . .Pronunciation notes:(Dee*—Go hó i ad) This appears to be four syllables—though I find that it sounds more like three when spoken fluently. (Elsewhere, the word Iad is given the single-syllable pronunciation of “yad.”) There is an accent on the second syllable.

Note:

It is uncertain why this word "seems" to have Goho (to say) as a root. It may be a rare case of coincidentally similar spelling between unrelated Angelical words. Unfortunately, the English sense is not "uplifted voices" (see Farzem).

Compare from Loagaeth:

Gohor

Gohon (goh-HON)* v.

Have Spoken

𐌲𐌹𐌶𐌾𐌹𐌸𐌰

8.37 . . . the thunders have spoken . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Go hón) Two syllables. The accent mark is placed on the second syllable. The first o should take its long sound.

(*Dee—gohón) See the 48 Claves. This note essentially matches that from TFR.

Also:

Gohia (goh-HII-a)

(We) Say

Goho (goh-HOH)

To Say

Gohol (goh-HOHL)

To Say

Gohulim (goh-HOO-lim)

(It Is) Said

Gohus (goh-US)

(I) say

Compare from Loagaeth:

Goho, Gohonp

Gohulim (goh-HOO-lim)* v.

(It Is) Said

𐌸𐌹𐌶𐌾𐌹𐌸𐌰

30.12 . . . to you it is said, behold . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Go hú lim) Three syllables, with an accent on the second syllable.

(*Dee—gohúlim) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee again placed an accent over the second syllable.

Also:

Gohia (goh-HII-a)	(We) Say
Goho (goh-HOH)	To Say
Gohol (goh-HOHL)	To Say
Gohon (goh-HON)	Have Spoken
Gohus (goh-US)	(I) say

Compare from Loagaeth:GohoGohus (goh-US) v.

(I) Say

ᐱᐱᐱᐱᐱ

3.62 Lift up, I say, yourselves!12.24 Move, I say, and show yourselves.Pronunciation notes:(Dee* 3.62—Gohus) Two syllables. I suggest a short “u” sound.(Dee*—gohús) See the 48 Claves. Dee placed an accent on the second syllable.Also:

Gohia (goh-HII-a)	(We) Say
Goho (goh-HOH)	To Say
Gohol (goh-HOHL)	To Say
Gohon (goh-HON)	Have Spoken
Gohulim (goh-HOO-lim)	(It Is) Said

Compare from Loagaeth:*GohoGon (gon) prop. n.

Letter I/Y

ᐱᐱᐱ

Note:

The name of the Angelical letter for I/ Y. It is likely that these letter names have translations of their own. (For instance, note the Hebrew alphabet: the letter I is named Yod, but Yod also translates as “hand.”) However, such translations for the Angelical letters are never given. (See the Five Books, p. 270.)

Gono (gon-oh) n.

Faith (Trust/Loyalty)

𐄂𐄃𐄄𐄅

1.51 . . . and swore obedience and faith to him . . .

Note:

Also see Congamphlgh (Faith/Holy Ghost).

Gosaa (goh-say-ay)* n.

Stranger

𐄂𐄃𐄄𐄅𐄆𐄇

30.109 . . . let her be known, and another while a stranger.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Go sa a) Three syllables. The final a stands alone. The other two vowels also appear to take their long sounds.

(*Dee—gosâa) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed a circumflex over the first a to indicate its long sound.

Graa (gray)* n.

Moon

𐄂𐄃𐄄𐄅𐄆

1.16 . . . the moon is a through-thrusting fire . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—GRAA) Dee gives us little clue here. Likely, the double a indicates a long vowel, as we see in Early Modern English.

Compare from Loagaeth:

Gra

Graph (grakh-fa)* prop. n.

Letter *E

𐄂𐄃𐄄𐄅𐄆𐄇𐄈𐄉

Note:

The name of the Angelical letter for E. It is likely that these letter names have translations of their own. (For instance, note the Hebrew alphabet: the letter E is named Aleph, but Aleph also translates as “ox/bull.”) However, such translations for the Angelical letters are never given. (See the Five Books, p. 270.)

Pronunciation note:

(*Dee—The sound as Grakpha, in the throat.) Dee adds the k in the center of this word, likely to indicate a throaty “kh” sound just before the “f” sound. I normally pronounce the word along the lines of “grah-fa.”

Grosb (grozb)* n. or v.

(Bitter) Sting

ᚷᚱᚱᚱᚱᚱ

13.22 . . . is called amongst you a bitter sting . . .

Note:

Words 13.21 and 13.22 are both missing from Dee’s journals. We only have the English given for this Key on TFR, p. 193. However, they do appear in Dee’s 48 Claves.

Note that the word sting should be a verb (“to sting”), but it is used in this case as a noun (“a sting”).

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—GROSB) Likely one syllable.

Shared root:

“Quasb” (kwazb)

Destroy

Grsam (gur-sam)* n.

Admiration

ᚷᚱᚱᚱᚱᚱ

1.37 . . . beautified your garments with admiration . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—as Gursam) Usually, the G and r would combine to form a “Gr” sound. However, this should be followed by a vowel—such as in the words great and grant. In the case of Grsam, the first two letters are followed by a consonant. Therefore, the first two letters stand as a syllable of their own (“gur”), followed by the second syllable (“sam”).

Gru (groo) n. or v?

To Cause, Bring About, Result

286

From Corpus Omnium:

Found in the post-Crucifixion portion of the Table, in the phrase Gru Sor Iad (Cause of the Actions of God).

Na (H)

∞

Hagonel (hag-on-el) prop. n.

n/a

𐌺𐌿𐌶𐌵𐌶𐌴𐌹𐌺

Note:

See the Five Books, pp. 188–91. Hagonel is the title of the ruling Prince of the Heptarchia. (Not to be confused with the Son of the Sons of Light of the same name.) In Dee's lifetime, the Heptarchic Prince of Venus—Bagenol—held the title. Today, I presume it should be the Prince of Mercury—Blisdon—though I do not know if he would hold the same title.

(Also see Carmara, Ga, Galvah, Mapsama, Murifri, Nalvage, Vaa, and Za.)

Hamuthz (ham-oothz)

n/a

𐌺𐌿𐌶𐌵𐌶𐌴𐌹𐌺

Note:

See the Five Books, p. 161 (Hamuthz Gethog). Kelley is having a vision of the Seven Biblical Days of Creation at this point—during which the Seven Ensigns of Creation are revealed. Oddly, the reception of one Ensign was interrupted by the reception of another. This interruption was marked by the sudden speaking of the words Hamuthz Gethog. (Dee does not attribute these words to any particular Angel. Much of the content of these sessions are merely attributed to “a Voice.”) The “woman” who appears at these words creates the Sun, Moon, and stars, and then presents her Ensign. (This happens to be the Ensign from which is drawn one of the Seals of the Watchtowers.) She then exits, and the interrupted vision continues.

No translation is given for Hamuthz, but Gethog is recognizable as one of the Divine Names encoded upon the Seal of Truth.

Hardeh (har-day) v.?

To Read (?)

𐌺𐌿𐌶𐌵𐌶𐌴𐌹𐌺

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee—Amzes naghezes Hardeh—Note this to be pronounced roundly together.) Perhaps this means the three words should be pronounced as if they were one.

Note:

See the Five Books, pp. 324–25. Here Kelley sees what the Book of Loagath looks like from the outside. It is covered in blue silk, and has the title Amzes naghezes Hardeh painted upon it in gold. Kelley says this signifies “the universal name of Him that created universally be praised and extolled forever.”

However, also see TFR, p. 174, where the Angel Ave reveals that the title of Enoch's book was "Let Those That Fear God, and Are Worthy, Read." (Dee here notes: The title of Enoch's books expounded into English.) If this happens to be the real translation, then perhaps Hardeh indicates "to read."

Harg (harg)* v.

To Plant

6.9 . . . the first hath planted a torment . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee---Harg argenton) One syllable. Dee's phonetic note seems to be a form of the Latin argentum (silver). Both Patricia Shaffer (DeesPronunciationNotes.rtf) and my Latin dictionary suggest that g in Latin always takes the hard sound. Thus Harg has the sound of "arg" rather than "arj."

Helech (hel-ek)

n/a (?)

Note:

See TFR, p. 32. Here, the Angel Madimi has just interrupted the session to exorcise several demons from the body of Kelley. (See Carma.) These spirits came out of Kelley violently, scratching each other in the face and swarming about Madimi. To her, the spirits spoke in Angelical, “Gil de pragma kures helech.” Dee asks Madimi what this means, and she replies (in Latin), “We want to live here in our [friends].” (Madimi does not offer definitions for the individual words.)

When Dee asks who these “friends” are supposed to be, the spirits indicate Kelley as their place of habitation (probably meaning both Dee and Kelley.) Madimi then banishes these spirits.

Hoath (hohth)* n.

True Worshiper

(RFP . . . a true worshiper of the highest.)Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Call it Hoath.) One syllable, rhyming with the English word both. The oa letter combination in Early Modern English makes a long “o” sound—as in the English words boat and coat.

Holdo (hol-doh)* v.

To Groan

11.2 The mighty seat groaned . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Hol do) Two syllables. The first o is short, while the second o takes its long sound.

Holq (HOL-kwah)* v.

To Measure

1.20 . . . which measurcth your garments . . .11.23 . . . of whom it is measured . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 1.20—HOLQ as Holquu) The double u is literally a w. So, quu sounds like “kwah.”

(*Dee 11.23—Hól q) This note lets us know the word Holq has two syllables, with an accent on the first syllable.

(*Dee 1.20; 11.23—hol-q) See 48 Claves. Shows two syllables, with the q standing alone.

Compounds:

Chisholq (KIIS-hohl-kwa) [Chis + Holq]

Are Measured

Hom (hom) v.

To Live

1.54 . . . to him that liveth and triumpheth . . .

Shared root:

Homil (hom-il) Ages

Homin (hom-in) Age

Note:

Also see "Apila" (to live).

Homil (hom-il)* n.

(True) Ages

𐛀𐛁𐛂𐛃𐛄𐛅

3.41 . . . over 456, the true ages of time . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Homil) Likely two syllables.

Also:

Homin (hom-in) Age

Shared root:

Hom (hom) To Live

Homin (hom-in)* n.

Age

𐛀𐛁𐛂𐛃𐛄𐛅

14.13 . . . vexing all creatures of the earth with age . . .Pronunciation notes:

Likely two syllables.

Note:

The transmission of Key Fourteen is missing from Dee's journals. We only have the English for this Key given later (see TFR, p. 193). Plus, the word appears in this location in Dee's 48 Claves.

Also:

Homil (hom-il) Ages

Shared root:

Hom (hom) To Live

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Hubar) Likely two syllables. The long u is indicated in the phonetic note for Hubaro. I have adopted the accent from other versions of this word.

Also:

Hubaio (hoo-BAY-ii-oh)

Lanterns

Hubaro (hoo-BAY-roh)

(Living) Lamps

Compare from Loagaeth:

Hubra, Lubrah, Ubrah-ax, Vbrah, Subracah, Zubra, Zubrah

Hubaro (hoo-BAY-roh)* n.

(Living/Burning) Lamps

ⲗⲉⲥⲁⲩⲱⲣⲟ

17.11 . . . and hast 7336 living lamps going before . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Hu ba ro) Three syllables. I suggest long u, a, and o sounds—as both of them fall as the very end of their syllables. I have adopted the accent from Hubaio (lanterns).

(*Dee—hubâro) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed a circumflex over the a to indicate the long sound.

Also:

Hubaio (hoo-BAY-ii-oh)

Lanterns

Hubar (hoo-BAR)

Lamps

Compare from Loagaeth:

Hubra, Lubrah, Ubrah-ax, Vbrah, Subracah, Zubra, Zubrah

Hucacha (hoo-kay-cha)

n/a ⲕⲁⲥⲁⲕⲁ

Note:

See the Five Books, p. 310. Spoken during a longer prayer offered by “many voices”: “It is good, O God, for you are goodness itself. And great because of the size of greatness itself. Adgmach, adgmach, adgmach! I am, and this pace is, holy. Adgmach, adgmach, adgmach hucacha.” Dee notes that “Adgmach adgmach adgmach = Much Glory,” but he offers no definition for Hucacha. Could Hucacha mean “This Place Is Holy”?

Huseh (hoo-say)

n/a

᠋᠋7᠋2᠋᠋

Note:

See the Five Books, p. 415. Part of a prayer recited jointly by the Archangels Michael, Raphael, and Uriel: Huseh Huseh Huseh garmal, Peleh Peleh Peleh pacaduasam. No translations are suggested.

Gon (I/Y)

7/7

Note that several words in this section begin with Ged (G, J) rather than Gon (I/Y). However, Dee spelled these particular words in English with an initial I, as that was an acceptable alternative to J in Early Modern English (John = Iohan, Justice = Iustice. In fact, the J as we know it is simply an elongated I.) Because of this, I have included those words in this section.

I (ii)* v.

Is/Are

7

1.13 . . . the sun is as a sword . . .

10.76 . . . is, was, and shall be . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 1.13—a word by itself)

(*Dee 10.76—I) As we pronounce the word I.Compounds:

Dsi (dee-sii) [Ds + I]

Which Is

Icorsca (ii-KORS-kay) [I + Cors + “Ca”]

Is Such as

Idlugam (id-LOO-gam) [I + “Dlugam”]

Is Given

Iga (ii-ga) [I + “GA”]

Is 31

Il (ii-el) [I + L]

Is One

Inoas (in-OH-as) [I + Noas]

Are Become

Isalman (ii-SAYL-man) [I + Salman]

Is a House

Ita (ii-tay) [I + Ta]

Is as

Ivonph (ii-VONV) [I + Vonph]

Is Wrath

Ivonpovnph (ii-VON-foh-unv)

[I + “Vonpo” + “Vnph”]

Is Wrath in Anger

Pii (pii-ii) [“Pi” + I]

She Is

Ti (tii) [“T” + I]

It Is

Shared root:

Ip (ip)

Not

Ipam (ip-am)

Is Not

Ipamis (ip-am-is)

Can Not Be

Note:

The word I (is/are) appears to be a form of the verb “to be.” Also see Zir (am, were, was).

Also see Chis (are) and Geh (art).

Also note the Angel I, one of the Sons of Light. His name literally translates as “is,” “to be,” or “to exist.” (Perhaps “The Existent”?)

Ia (yah)

n/a?

𐤁𐤏

From Loagaeth:

This word is never given a definition. However, I have found it to be such a vital root word in the Angelical language, I decided to give it its own entry. It appears several times in Loagaeth. See Iad (God), Iadnah (Knowledge), Ialprg (Flame), etc. Ia appears to indicate many celestial or sacred concepts.

Note:

The similarity between this word and the Hebrew Ia (or Yah—God).

Compare from Loagaeth:

Iad, Iads, Ia-dron, Iaisg

Iad (yad)* prop. n.

God

𐤁𐤏𐤏

1.5 . . . sayeth the God of Justice . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Iad, as Yad) The I has the sound of “y” rather than “j.”

Compounds:

Bigliad (big-līi-ad) [“Bigl” + Iad?] (God) Our Comforter

Gohoiad (goh-HOH-ii-ad) [Goho + Iad] Sayeth the Lord

Iadbaloth (ii-ad-BAL-toh) [Iad + Balt + Toh] God (of) Righteousness

Iadoiasmomar (jad-oh-JAS-moh-mar)*

[“Iadoias” + “Momar”] God Eternally Crowned

Sobaiad (soh-BAY-ad) [Soba + Iad] Whose God

Zirenaiad (zii-er-NAY-ad) [Zir + Enay + Iad] I Am the Lord (Your) God

Also:

Geiad (jej-AYD)	Lord and Master
"Iadoias" (jad-oh-JAS)	Eternal God
Iadpil (ii-AD-pil)	(To) Him
Iaida (jay-II-da)	The Highest
Iaidon (jay-II-don)	All Powerful
Iaisg (jay-IZH)	Everlasting One and Indivisible God
Ioiad (joh-JAD)	Him That Liveth Forever
Oiad (oh-ii-AD)	Of God
Piad (pii-AD)	Your God

Note:

See notes for Iadbaltho (God of Righteousness).

Also see Mad (god, in the non-specific sense).

Probable root:

Ia (yah)	n/a
-----------------	-----

Iad as root? (Not referring to God):

Iadnah (yad-nah)	Knowledge
Iaiadix (yay-II-ad-iks)	Honor
Laiad (lay-II-ad)	Secrets of Truth

Note:

While this final group of words does not refer to God, the use of Iad as a root may indicate the lofty nature of these ideas.

Compare from Loagaeth:

Ia, Iad, Iads, Ia-dron

Compare from Corpus Omnium:

Iad appears in all four portions of the Table—taking up the cells in the outer corners. This is likely symbolic of the Horned Altars in the Tabernacle of Moses and the Temple of Solomon. (The same symbolism can be found upon Dee's Holy Table—which has the Angelical letter Veh [B] at the four corners.)

Iadbaltoh (ii-ad-BAL-toh)* [Iad + Balt + 'Toh] comp.

(Triumphant) God of Righteousness

𐌇𐌆𐌋𐌒𐌔𐌕𐌖𐌗𐌘𐌙𐌚𐌛𐌜𐌝𐌞𐌟

9.63 . . . The God of Righteousness rejoiceth in them.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—I ad bal toh) Four syllables. The initial I stands alone—although it tends to blend with the second syllable when this word is spoken fluently. The oh in the last syllable makes a long “o” sound. The other syllables are all short.

(*Dee—Iadbáltoh) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed an accent over the third syllable.

Also:

Baltle (bal-tayl)

Righteousness

Note:

The similarity between Iadbaltoh and the ancient Gnostic name and title for the Creator: Ialdabaoth, the God of Righteousness.

Iadnah (yad-nah)* n.

Knowledge

𐌇𐌆𐌔𐌕𐌖𐌗𐌘𐌙𐌚𐌛𐌜𐌝𐌞𐌟

1.46 . . . ark of knowledge . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—yadnah) The I in this case takes the “y” sound. (Also see the pronunciation given for Iad).

(*Dee—Jadnah) See 48 Claves. Here Dee indicates the “j” sound. I have settled upon the “y” sound instead, as it is closer to the sound of related words (as we can see in each of the following compounds and related words).

Compounds:

Iadnamad (yad-nay-mad) [Iadnah + Mad?]

Pure Knowledge

Probable root:

Ia (yah)

n/a

Iad (yad)

God

Probable shared root:

Iaiadix (yay-II-ad-iks)

Honor

Laiad (lay-II-ad)

Secrets of Truth

Compare from Loagaeth:Ia, IadIadnamad (yad-nay-mad) [Iadnah + Mad?] comp.?

Pure Knowledge

𐌌𐌆𐌃𐌆𐌆𐌆𐌆𐌆𐌆𐌆𐌆

30.157 . . . make us partakers of undefiled knowledge.

Pronunciation notes:(*Dee—Iad na mad) Three syllables. The a in the second syllable is likely long.(*Dee—Iadnâmad) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee places a circumflex over the second a to indicate its long sound.Note:This compound literally translates as “knowledge,” “God,” or “Godly Knowledge” (see Mad).“Iadoias” (jad-oh-JAS) prop. n.

Eternal God

𐌌𐌆𐌃𐌆𐌆𐌆𐌆𐌆𐌆𐌆𐌆

Compounds:

Iadoiasmomar (jad-oh-JAS-moh-mar)

[“Iadoias” + “Momar”]

God Eternally Crowned

Also:

Ioiad (joh-JAD)

Him That Liveth Forever

Shared root:

Geiad (jej-AYD)

Lord and Master

Gohed (joh-ED)

One Everlasting . . .

Ia (yah)

n/a

Iad (yad)

God

Iadpil (ii-AD-pil)

(To) Him

Iaida (jay-II-da)

The Highest

Iaidon (jay-II-don)

All Powerful

Oiad (oh-ii-AD)

(Of) God

Piad (pii-AD)

Your God

Probable root:

Ia (yah)

n/a

Iaiadix (yay-II-ad-iks)* n.

Honor

𐤒𐤒𐤓𐤕𐤔𐤕𐤔𐤕

15.17 . . . seal of honour . . .Note:

The transmission of Key Fifteen is missing from Dee's journals. We only have the English for this Key given later (see TFR, p. 193). Plus, the word appears in this location in Dee's 48 Claves.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—iaiâdix) See the 48 Claves. Dee placed an accent over the second i—which I assume is the second syllable. He also placed a circumflex over the second a to indicate its long sound. Compare to the pronunciation of Laiad (secrets of truth).

Probable shared root:

Ia (yah)

n/a

Iad (yad)

God

ladnah (yad-nah)

Knowledge

Laiad (lay-II-ad)

Secrets of Truth

Iaial (jay-yal)* v.

To Conclude (To Judge)

𐤒𐤔𐤕𐤔𐤕𐤕

5.50 . . . conclude us as receivers of your mysteries . . .Note:

"Conclude" or "judge"—especially in the sense of Divine Judgment. In this place in the Keys, the speaker is asking the Angels to judge him worthy of the higher mysteries.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ia ial) Two syllables. Other words similar to Iaial seem to indicate a “j” sound for the first syllable—thus I have spelled this word with an initial Ged (J). (See Iaida, Iaidon, etc.)

(*Dee—ia-ial) See the 48 Claves. This note matches that from TFR.

Possible compound:

Oxiayal (ox-jay-al) [Tox? + Iaial]

“The Mighty Seat”
(i.e., Divine Throne)

Compare from Loagaeth:

Iaialgh

Iaida (jay-II-da)* prop. n.

The Highest

𐌶𐌵𐌹𐌸𐌴

(RFP) . . . the true worshiper of the Highest . . .

30.10 . . . the judgment of the Highest . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 1.86—A word, Jaida)

(*Dee 30.10—Ia—i da Ya) There seem to be two pronunciations here—one taking the hard “j” sound and the other taking the soft “y” sound. I have settled on the “j” version in my pronunciation—along with an initial Ged (J) in the Angelical lettering—as that sound is found in many similar words. The note at 30.10 indicates three syllables, with the accent on the second syllable. Dee added the Ya to his notation to indicate the “y” sound for the initial I in that case.

(*Dee 1.RFP—Jaida) See 48 Claves. Dee indicates the “j” sound again.

(*Dee 13.RFP; 14.RFP; 15.RFP; 17.RFP; 18.RFP—I*ai*da) See the 48 Claves. In these places, Dee added a dieresis over the second i, indicating that it should not join its sound with the previous vowel.

(*Dee 16.RFP; 30.10—I*ai*da) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee again placed an accent on the i in the second syllable.

Also:

Geiad (jej-AYD)

Lord and Master

Iad (yad)

God

“Iadoias” (jad-oh-JAS)

Eternal God

Iadpil (ii-AD-pil)

(To) Him

Ja-dron

Iaisg (jay-IZH)* prop. n.

Everlasting One and Indivisible God

𐤒𐤓𐤕𐤓𐤕

Pronunciation note:

(*Dee—ia-isg) See the Five Books, p. 307. Two syllables, with an accent on the second. This word likely begins with the “j” sound (see Ioiad), thus I have spelled it in Angelical with an initial Ged (J).

From Loagaeth:

(Dee—Everlasting One and Indivisible God.) See the Five Books, p. 307.

Also:

Geiad (jej-AYD)

Lord and Master

Gohed (joh-ED)

One Everlasting, All Things Descending Upon One

Ioiad (joh-JAD)

Him That Liveth Forever

“Iadoias” (jad-oh-JAS)

Eternal God

Probable root:Ia (yah)

n/a

Compare from Loagaeth:Ia, Ia-dronIalpirgah (YAL-pur-jah)* [“Ialprt” + “Pirgah”] comp.“Flames of the First Glory”

𐤒𐤓𐤕𐤓𐤕𐤒𐤒𐤒𐤒𐤒𐤒𐤒𐤒

7.6 . . . amongst the Flames of the First Glory . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—IAL pir gah Yal) Three syllables. The first syllable likely takes an accent. Dee indicates that Ial should sound like “Yal.” The g should take a soft “j” sound, as seen in other versions of the word Prge.

(*Dee—ial-pîrgah) See the 48 Claves. Dee places a circumflex over the second i to indicate a long sound. However, the long i does not appear in any other phonetic notes, for this or related words.

Note:

“Pirgah” is obviously a form of the word Prge (fire), and must mean “the First Glory” (i.e., the Light of Divinity, and possibly a reference to the rising Sun).

Also see Ialpirt (light), which seems to indicate Light from celestial beings.

Also see Busd (glory), which seems to indicate glory as in “wondrous.”

Also see Adgmach (glory), which seems to indicate “adoration, praise.”

Ialpirt (YAL-pert)* n.

Light

18.3 . . . thou mighty light and burning flame . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ol pirt) The actual Angelical spelling of this word is not shown in Dee’s journals. We only have his phonetic note, which shows the first syllable as Ol. However, this is corrected by Illemese later in the journals:

(Illemese—al part) See TFR, p. 200. Two syllables. This word is obviously the same as “Ialprt” (flame). Illemese drops the initial I (though I have retained it in my pronunciation, with the sound of “y”). The second i should be a phonetic gloss—which Illemese indicates with an a in his note.

I have adopted the accent from similar words.

Also:

Ialpon (YAL-pon)

Burn

Ialpor (YAL-por)

Flaming

“Ialprt” (YAL-pert)

Flame

Note:

These words (including compounds with “Ialprt”) are used in the Keys to indicate Light as from a celestial being. The common-use nouns for a fire are Vep (flame) and Prge (fire). For verb forms, see Ialpor (flaming) and Ialpon (burn).

Ialpon (YAL-pon)* v.

To Burn

10.21 . . . which burn night and day . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Jal pon Yal) Two syllables. Dee appears to indicate that the initial I can take the “j” or “y” sound. I have settled upon the “y” sound, as it better matches other versions of this word. I have adopted the accent from similar words.

Also:

Ialpor (YAL-por)	Flaming
“ Ialprt ” (YAL-pert)	Flame
Ialpirt (YAL-pert)	Light

Note:

Ialpon (to burn) is a verb. Ialpor (flaming) is an adjective. The “Ialprt” / Ialpirt family of words (flame, light) are nouns—specifically referring to the Light of celestial beings. The common-use nouns for a fire are Vep (flame) and Prge (fire).

Compare from Loagaeth:

Ia, Alpon

ialpor (YAL-por)* adj.

Flaming

᠑ᠯᠠᠫᠣᠷ

9.5 . . . two edged swords flaming . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—I AL por yal) Dee indicates three syllables. However, the I must take the “y” sound. Because of this, it tends to blend with the second syllable (al) to make “yal.” Therefore, I have given the word only two syllables in my pronunciation. (Further supporting this, see the pronunciation notes for Ialpon.)

I have adopted the accent from similar words.

Also:

Ialpon (YAL-pon)	Burn
“ Ialprt ” (YAL-pert)	Flame
Ialpirt (YAL-pert)	Light

Note:

See note at Ialpon.

Also compare the name of the Part of the Earth (and its Governor), Yalpamb. This could even be a compound (Ialpor + Pambt), or “Unto the Flame.”

Compare from Loagaeth:

Ia

Ialprg (YAL-purj)* [“Ialprt” + “Prg”] comp., prop. n. Burning Flame

18.4 . . . burning flame of comfort . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Ial purg) Two syllables. The r takes its elongated “ur” sound. See “Prg”, *Prg*e, etc. for evidence that the final g should be soft. See Ialpurg for the accented first syllable.

Also:

Ialpurg (YAL-purj) [“Ialprt” + “Purg”] Burning Flame(s)

Note:

The u in Ialpurg is a phonetic gloss.

“Ialprt” (YAL-pert) n. Flame

Compounds:

Dialprt (dii-AL-purt) [D + “Ialprt”] Third Flame

Lialprt (el-YAL-purt) [L + “Ialprt”] First Flame

Vivialprt (viv-ii-AL-purt) [Viv + “Ialprt”] Second Flame

Further compounds:

Ialprg (YAL-purj) [“Ialprt” + “Prg”] Burning Flame(s)

Ialpirgah (YAL-pur-jah) [“Ialprt” + “Pirgah”] Flames of the First Glory

Ialpurg (YAL-purj) [“Ialprt” + “Purg”] Burning Flame(s)

Also:

Ialpirt (YAL-pert) Light

Ialpon (YAL-pon) Burn

Ialpor (YAL-por) Flaming

Note:

All of these words are nouns, and they are all used to indicate Light as if from a celestial being. The common-use nouns for a fire are Vep (flame) and Prge (fire). For a verb form, see Ialpon (to burn). See Ialpor (flaming) for an adjective.

Ialpurg (YAL-purj)* [“Ialprt” + “Purg”] comp., prop. n. Burning Flame(s)

ᵛᵛᵛᵛᵛᵛᵛᵛ

2.10 . . . burning flames have formed . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ial purg) Two syllables. The final g is likely soft—see the pronunciation notes for Prge (fire).

(*Dee—Iđl-prg) See 48 Claves. Two syllables, with an accent on the first syllable. As we can see, the u is a phonetic gloss.

Also:

Ialprg (YAL-purj) [“Ialprt” + “Prg”] Burning Flame(s)

Compare from Loagaeth:

Ia

Iaod (YAY-ohd)* n.

Beginning

ᵛᵛᵛᵛᵛᵛᵛᵛ

5.30 . . . the beginning of their own seats . . .

30.16 . . . the beginning of comfort . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 5.30; 30.16—I á od) This would appear to have three syllables. However, also see Iaodaf (in the beginning), which indicates the initial Ia stand together. The accent is placed on the first syllable.

(*Dee 5.30—íáod) See the 48 Claves. Accent on the first syllable.

(*Dee 30.16—Jáod) See the 48 Claves. Dee seems to indicate the “j” sound for the initial I. However, see Iaodaf (in the beginning), which clearly indicates a “y” sound instead.

Also:

Iaodaf (YAY-oh-daf) (In the) Beginning

Note:

Also see Acroodzi (beginning), Croodzi (beginning of things), Nostoah (it was in the beginning).

Compare from Loagaeth:

Ia

laodaf (YAY-oh-daf)* n.

(In the) Beginning

𐌂𐌆𐌔𐌕𐌆𐌔𐌕𐌆𐌔𐌕

30.41 . . . rose up in the beginning . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ia o daf Y) Dee here indicates three syllables, and shows that the initial I takes the “y” sound. The first a seems to take its long sound. (Note also that it is followed by an o—as in the English word chaos.) Plus, see the pronunciation notes for Iaod (beginning).

(*Dee—iáodaf) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed an accent upon the first syllable.

Also:

Iaod (YAY-ohd)

Beginning

Note:

Also see Acroodzi (beginning), Croodzi (beginning of things), Nostoah (it was in the beginning).

Yarry (YAR-ee)* n.

Providence

𐌂𐌆𐌔𐌕𐌆𐌔𐌕𐌆𐌔𐌕

30.37 . . . the providence of Him who sits upon the Holy Throne.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Yar ry) Two syllables. The initial Y should take the “yuh” sound, and the final y should take the “ee” sound. In Early Modern English, a double r is a regular “r” sound.

(*Dee—yárry) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee indicates an accent on the first syllable.

Ich (ik)* prop. n.

“The Eleventh Aethyr”

☞☞☞

30.3 . . . which dwell in the eleventh aethyr . . .

Note:

This (word 30.3) is the single space in the Key of the Aethyrs, which must be changed for each invocation—replacing word 30.3 with the name of the appropriate Aethyr. No established definitions were given for these names.

Ich contains the three Parts of the Earth Molpand, Usnarda, and Ponodol.

Also see TFR, pp. 34–35. This session is recorded entirely in Latin. Here we find this Angelical phrase spoken by “a Voice”: “Garil zed masch, ich na gel galaht gemp gal noch Cabanladan.” No translation or context is offered. (Note the word Ich.)

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee—ik*.) This means the ch in this word is hard, making a “kh” sound (as in the English word ache).

“Ichis” (jay-kiis) v.

Are

☞☞☞☞

Compounds:

Ichisge (jay-KIIS-jee) [“Ichis” + “Ge”]

Are Not

Also:

Chis (kiis)

Are

Chiis (kiis)

Are (They)

“Chisda” (kiis-da)

Are There

Chiso (kiis-oh)

Shall Be

“Gchis” (jee-kiis)

Are

Zchis (zohd-kiis)

(They) Are

Note:

“Ichis” and “Gchis” are likely the same word—thus I have spelled this word with an initial Ged (J). See note at Ichisge.

Also see Chis (are).

Ichisge (jay-KIIS-jee)* ["Ichis" + "Ge"] comp.

Are Not

767709E6

3.21 . . . who are, to are not, except mine own hand . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—I Chisge Kis) Likely three syllables. Dee is not clear on the proper sound of the initial I—which could take the sound of "y" or "j." However, see Gchisge (are not), which indicates that both Ichisge and Gchisge should start with a soft "g" or "j" sound. (Note I have spelled the word with an initial Ged [J].) Finally, Dee indicates the ch should take the harder "k" sound.

(*Dee—i-chis-ge) See the 48 Claves. This note confirms three syllables for this word.

See Gchisge (are not) for the accented syllable.

Also:

Gchisge (jee-KIIS-jee) ["Gchis" + "Ge"]

Are Not

Note:

The ungrammatical English phrase here—to are not—is probably a mistake on the part of Dee or Kelley. Apparently, the word to should read and, or perhaps or. However, the missing conjunction (and/or) is merely implied in the Angelical.

Also see Chis (are).

Icorsca (ii-KORS-kay)* [I + Cors + "Ca"] comp.

Is Such as

JE76LE7

9.72 . . . for the time is such as requireth comfort.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—I cors ca Ka) Three syllables. Dee indicates that the c in the last syllable should take the hard "k" sound. The initial I stands alone.

(*Dee—icórsca) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed an accent over the second syllable.

Note:

See the similar Corsta (such as). Note that ta becomes ca here. For more info, see Tabaam (Governor), which becomes Caba in Key One. Also see Ta (as).

Idlugam (id-LOO-gam)* [I + “Dlugam”] comp.

Is Given

ⲉⲃⲟⲕⲁⲛⲓⲗ

7.44 . . . this remembrance is given power . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Id lú gam) Three syllables, with an accent on the second syllable. The I does not stand alone in Dee’s note, and we know it takes the vowel sound (“i” rather than “j”), because it precedes a consonant.

(*Dee—idlúgam) See the 48 Claves. The accent is again shown on the second syllable.

Idoigo (ii-dee-oy-go)* prop. n.

“Him Who Sits Upon the Holy Throne”

ⲓⲃⲟⲓⲛⲓⲛⲓⲛ

30.38 . . . the providence of Him who sits upon the Holy Throne.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—I d oi go) Dee seems to indicate four syllables here—with the initial I and d each standing alone. The oi should make an “oy” sound—as in the English words oil and boil.

Note:

This word appears as a Name of God upon the Eastern Watchtower of the Great Table of the Earth, ruling the Angels of medicine. Also, the title “Him Who Sits Upon the Throne” is common in biblical and Merkavah literature—such as 1 Enoch and related texts like the Book of Revelation 4:9, 7:10, etc.

Ichusoz (jay-US-os)* n.

(God’s) Mercies

ⲓⲕⲏⲥⲟⲥ

3.65 . . . his mercies flourish . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Jehusoz) Three syllables. The initial I takes the consonant “J” sound—and I have thus spelled it with an initial Ged (J). The eh likely makes a long “a” sound, as in Early Modern English. No further long vowel sounds are indicated.

(*Dee—Iehúsoz) See the 48 Claves. Dee placed an accent on the second syllable.

Note:

The similarity between this word and Jesus in Greek (Iesous) and Hebrew (Ieshuah).

See also Rit, which probably stands for the more generalized concept of mercy.

Compare from Loagaeth:

Ihehudetha, Ihehudz, Ihehusch, Iehuscoth, Iehusa, Iehuded, Gehudan

Iga (ii-ga)* [I + “GA”] comp.

Is 31

𐌺𐌾𐌿

11.30 . . . whose number is 31.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—I ga) Two syllables. The I stands alone, and the g likely takes its hard sound.

Il (ii-el)* [I + L] comp.

Is One

𐌺𐌻

5.55 . . . our Lord and Master is all one.

Note:

Do not confuse this compound with the singular word “Yl” (thy).

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—i l) Two syllables—both letters stand alone.

(*Dee—i-L) See the 48 Claves. This note matches that from TFR.

"Yl" (yil) pron., sing.

Thy

Compounds:

Daxil (daks-il) ["Dax" + "Yl"]

Thy Loins

Pronunciation note:

The "l" in this word element should sound like "y." Both letters form one syllable together. See Yls, Ylsi, etc.

Also:

Yls (yils)

Thou

Note:

Do not confuse this word with the compound Il (is one).

Ili (Il-lii)* n.

(The) First/(At) First

3.28 In the first I made you . . .

Pronunciation note:

(Dee—IlI*) Dee give us little clue here.

(Dee—i-li*) See the 48 Claves. Dee indicates two syllables. For some reason, he has accent marks on both Is. (I have left the accent on the first syllable in my pronunciation.) Both Is are likely long vowels.

Note:

This word is a palindrome, spelled the same forward and backward.

Also see La (the First).

Probable root:

L (el)

First, One

Yls (yils)* pron., sing.

Thou

15.1 O thou the governor . . .

16.1 O thou second flame . . .

16.20 . . . great art thou . . .

17.1 O thou third flame . . .

18.1 O thou mighty light . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 17.1—ILS)

(*Dee 16.20—Yls as Yils)

(*Dee 18.1—Ils) One syllable. Dee sometimes wrote this word with an initial I. However, he shows us in word 16.20 that the “Y” sound is intended. (I have used the Y in all versions of the word in this Lexicon.)

Note:

The transmission of the first twelve words of Key Sixteen is missing from Dee’s journals. We have only the English given on TFR, p. 194. Illemese also gives word 16.1 later, on TFR, p. 200. Plus, the word appears in Dee’s 48 Claves.

Also:

“Yl” (yil)

Thy

Ylsi (yil-sii)

Thee

Note:

These words indicate “you” in a singular sense—such as, “I am speaking to you.” Also see Nonci, which indicates “you” in the plural sense—such as, “I am speaking to all of you.”

Probable root:

L (el)

First

Possible shared root:

Aqlo (AY-kwah-loh)

Thy

Bolp (bohlp)

Be Thou

Ylsi (yil-sii)* pron.

Thee

𐔀𐔁𐔂𐔃

17.13 . . . living lamps going before thee . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ylsi) Two syllables. The first syllable sounds like “yil,” as shown with the phonetic notes for the word Yls (thou). The final i should take a long sound.

Also:

“Yl” (yil)

Thy

Yls (yils)

Thou

Note:

These words indicate “you” in a singular sense.

Also see Nonci, which indicates “you” in the plural sense.

Probable root:

L (el)

First, One

Possible shared root:

Aqlo (AY-kwah-loh)

Thy

Bolp (bohlp)

Be Thou

Imvamar (im-vay-mar)* v

To Apply unto

ε ε ε ε ε 2 ε 7

3.77 . . . and apply yourselves unto us as unto partakers . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—It is Im ua mar) Likely three syllables. The u preceding an a likely takes the hard “v” sound.

(*Dee—Im-uâ-mar) See the 48 Claves. Dee places a circumflex over the first a to indicate the long vowel sound.

Note:

To “apply” something is to “bring it into action” or “put it into operation.” Perhaps even more important here, it also means “to employ diligently or with close attention.” (As in “to apply yourself to your studies.”) Both of these senses of the word fit perfectly in Angelic invocations such as the Keys.

Inoas (in-OH-as)* [I + Noas] comp.

Are / Have Become

7 ε 2 ε 7

7.11 . . . and they are become 28 living dwellings . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—In ó as) Three syllables, with an accent upon the second syllable. In Early Modern English, the oa letter combination makes a long “o” sound (as in the English words boat and coat). Dee represents this by having the o stand alone in his phonetic note.

(*Dee—inoás) See the 48 Claves. The accent is again shown on the second syllable.

“Insi” (in-sii) v.

To Walk

𐄂𐄃𐄄𐄅

Compounds:

Dsinsi (dee-sin-sii) [Ds + “Insi”]

Which Walkest

Ioiad (joh-JAD)* prop. n.

Him That Liveth Forever

𐄂𐄃𐄄𐄅𐄆𐄇

2.52 . . . I am of Him that liveth forever . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ioiad) Dee does not indicate a “y” sound here, nor does the I stand alone. Also note the existence of Geiad and Gohed—both starting with a soft “g” or “j” sound. Therefore I assume a “j” sound is intended for Ioiad, and I have spelled the word in Angelical with an initial Ged (J).

I have adopted the accent from similar words.

Also:

“Iadoias” (jad-oh-JAS)

Eternal God

Note:

I have found the title “He Who Lives Forever” attributed to God in 1 Enoch, 6:1.

Probable root:Ia (yah)

n/a

Iad (yad)

God

Shared root:Geiad (jej-AYD)

Lord and Master

Gohed (joh-ED)

One Everlasting . . .

Iadpil (ii-AD-pil)

(To) Him

Oiad (oh-ii-AD)

(Of) God

Piad (pii-AD)

Your God

Yolcam (yol-kam)* v.

Bring Forth (i.e., To Bear)

𐄂𐄃𐄄𐄅𐄆𐄇𐄈𐄉

30.127 Bring forth with those that increase.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Yol cam) Two syllables.

Also:

Yolci (yol-sii)

To Bring Forth

Yolci (yol-sii)* v.

To Bring Forth

𐤙𐤋𐤕𐤓

10.58 One rock bringeth forth 1000 . . .Pronunciation notes:(*Dee—Yol Ci) Two syllables. The c likely takes the softer “s” sound, as it precedes an i (as in the English words circle and circus).Also:

Yolcam (yol-kam)

Bring Forth

Yor (yor)* v.

To Roar

𐤙𐤓𐤕

10.40 . . . roar with a hundred mighty earthquakes . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Yor) One syllable, with an initial “Y” sound.

Ip (ip)* adv.

Not

𐤓𐤕

9.68 Come away, and not your vials.10.82 Come away, but not your noises.Pronunciation notes:(*Dee 9.68; 10.82—I_p) One syllable. The I should be short.Compounds:

Odipuran (ohd-II-pew-ran) [Od + Ip + “Puran”] And Shall Not See

Pageip (pay-jee-ip) [“Page” + Ip] Rest Not

Probable root:

I (ii)

Is

Note:

The word Ip appears to be a conjugation of I. The addition of the p accomplishes the transmutation of “to be”—or “is”—into “not be.” See also Ul (end)—an antonymic transmutation of L (the first).

Probable root for:

Ipam (ip-am) [I + “Pam”]	Is Not
Ipamis (ip-am-is) [I + “Pamis”]	Can Not Be
Ripir (rii-PIR)	No Place

Note:

Also see “Ge” (not), Ag (none), “Pam” (not) and “Pamis” (cannot).

“Ip” (ip) pron.

Her

Compounds:

Ixomaxip (iks-oh-MAKS-ip) [“Ix” + Omax + “Ip”] Let Her Be Known

In this example, the “Ip” obviously doesn’t indicate not. It is uncertain, but it may indicate her. There is only one relative example (see below), which is itself just as uncertain.

Also:

“Pi” (pii)	She
Pii (pii-ii) [“Pi” + I]	She Is

Note:

Also see Tilb (her).

Ipam (ip-am) [I + “Pam”] comp.

Is Not

1.57 . . . whose beginning is not . . .

The Angelical for “beginning” (Croodzi) does not appear here.

Also:

Ipamis (ip-am-is) [I + “Pamis”]	Cannot Be
---------------------------------	-----------

Note:

The word I (is/are) very likely stands for “is” in Ipam, and “be” in Ipa-mis. The change from “Pam” to “Pamis” seems to change the tense, and therefore the usage of I.

Probable shared root:

Ip (ip)

Not

Ipamis (ip-am-is)* [I + “Pamis”] comp.

Cannot Be

1.59 . . . nor end cannot be . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—the A pronounced short)

(Dee*—Ipâmis) See 48 Claves. Note the circumflex over the a—which should indicate a long sound. However, this conflicts with the short a Dee noted in TFR.

Also:

Ipam (ip-am) [I + “Pam”]

Is Not

Note:

The word I (is/are) very likely stands for “is” in Ipam, and “be” in Ipa-mis. The change from “Pam” to “Pamis” seems to change the tense.

Probable shared root:

Ip (ip)

Not

“Ipuran” (II-pew-ran) [Ip + “Puran”] comp.

Shall Not See

Compounds:

Odipuran (ohd-II-pew-ran) [Od + Ip + “Puran”] And Shall Not See

“Irgil” (ir-jil) comp.

How Many

Compounds:

Irgilchisda (ir-jil-KIIS-da) [“Irgil” + Chis + “Da”]

How Many Are There

Also see Plosi (as many).

How Many Are There

857709847687

8.21 . . . how many are there which remain . . .

(*Dee—Ir gil chis da) Four syllables, with an accent on the third syllable.

Also see Chis (are) for more pronunciation notes.

(*Dee—Irgil chí's da) See the 48 Claves. Dee again indicates the accent on the third syllable.

Division

£74287

30.48 . . . and let there be division in her . . .

(*Dee—Yr pó il) Three syllables, with an accent on the second syllable.

The r should likely take the “ur” sound. In Early Modern English, the oi letter combination should make an “oy” sound (as in the words oil and boil). See pronunciation notes for Poilyp (divided).

(Dee*—yrpóil) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee again placed the accent on the second syllable.

Poilyp (poylp)

Divided

Isalman (ii-SAYL-man)* [I + Salman] comp.

Is a House

222

7.2 . . . is a house of virgins . . .

(*Dee—I Sal man) Three syllables. The I stands alone. The capital S may indicate the accent.

(*Dee—isâلمان) See the 48 Claves. Dee placed a circumflex over the first a to indicate its long sound.

Isro (iz-roh)* comp.

Promise of

ⲉⲓⲣⲟ

13.15 . . . Behold the promise of God . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Is ro) Two syllables. I have represented the s as a z in my pronunciation, for a sound similar to the English word is. The final o is likely a long vowel.

Also:

Aisro (ay-ii-sroh)

Promise of

Note:

It is possible that the -o affix (of) is in use here.

Also see Sibsi (covenant), Surzas (sworn), and Znrza (swore).

Ita (ii-tay)* [I + Ta] comp.

Is as ⲉⲧⲁ

8.2 . . . is as the 3rd heaven . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—I ta) Two syllables. The initial I stands alone.

Iudra (jood-ra)

n/a ⲓⲟⲩⲣⲁ

Note:

See Five Books, p. 366. The Angel Illemese appears to Dee and Kelley with a bundle of empty boxes that he calls virtuous. When Dee asks for an explanation, Illemese says, “Will you have my bill? [. . .] I will show it. Serve it, where you list. Iudra galgol astel.” Dee states that he and Kelley do not understand, and wish to know how it can be served. But Illemese never offers definitions for these Angelical words.

Pronunciation notes:

Because the initial I precedes a u, I suspect this word should begin with the “j” consonant sound. I have spelled the word in Angelical with an initial Ged (J).

“Ium” (jay-um) v.

(Is) Called

㊄㊄㊄

Compounds:

Dsium (dee-sii-um) [Ds + “Ium”]

Which Is Called

Also:

Iumd (jay-umd)

(Is) Called

Note:

“Ium” / Iumd is translated as “is called.” However, it is unlikely that this is a compound word, and thus the I should not stand for “is.” (The pronunciation of the i as “j” may support this.) I have spelled this word in Angelical with an initial Ged (J).

Iumd (jay-umd)* v.

(Is) Called

㊄㊄㊄

13.20 . . . which is called amongst you . . .

18.18 . . . which is called in thy kingdom . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 13.20—J umbd)

(*Dee 18.18—I umd) Two syllables. The note Dee gave us with word 13.20 is the most useful. It lets us know that the initial I actually takes a “j” sound. For that reason, I have spelled this word in Angelical with an initial Ged (J). Then, Dee shows us that the first part of the second syllable sounds like “umb”—as in the English words dumb and numb. Therefore, the u takes its short sound.

Also:

“Ium” (jay-um)

(Is) Called

Note:

See the note at “Ium.”

Iurehoh (jur-AY-hoh)* n.?

"What Christ Did in Hell"

∞ 2 0 9 7 8 2 6

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—iurehoh) Because the initial I precedes a u, I suspect this word should begin with the "J" consonant sound. Thus, I have spelled this word in Angelical with an initial Ged (J). Then, the eh should make a long "a" vowel sound. Finally, the oh should combine to form a long "o" sound. Dee placed and accent over the e.

From Loagaeth:

(*Dee—This last word was hid a pretty while with a rim like a thin bladder before it. And when it was perfectly seen then there appeared a bloody cross over it. It is a word signifying what Christ did in hell.) See the Five Books, p. 323. This is a reference to an obscure Christian legend (called Descensus Ad Inferos) in which Christ—during his three days in the Tomb—actually descended into Hell. While there, he literally stormed the place—smashing open gates, knocking down bridges, and liberating a number of souls who had been wrongly entrapped there. This is a controversial legend, mentioned in passing in the Apostles' Creed.

Iusmach (jus-mak) adj.?

Begotten*

∞ 8 3 6 7 2 6

From Loagaeth:

(*Dee—Begotten.) See the Five Books, p. 319.

Pronunciation notes:

Because the initial I precedes a u, I suspect this word should begin with the "J" consonant sound. Thus, I have spelled it in Angelical with an initial Ged (J).

"Ix" (iks) v.

Let

77

Compounds:

Ixomaxip (iks-oh-MAKS-ip) ["Ix" + Omax + "Ip"] Let Her Be Known

Ixomaxip (iks-oh-MAKS-ip)* [“Ix” + Omax + “Ip”] comp.

Let Her Be Known

Ω Γ Γ * ε Γ Γ

30.107 . . . one while let her be known . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ix o máx ip) This is likely four syllables, with an accent on the third syllable. The o stands alone.

Note:

While the word for “her” (Tilb) does not appear here, and the -ip obviously can’t stand for “not,” I should point out that the word for “she” appears as Pi in another isolated case.

Also note that the omax (knowest) element of this word has the -ax suffix to indicate action.

Izazaz (ii-zay-zaz)* v.

To Frame (i.e., To Form)

P * P * P Γ

2.11 . . . burning flames have framed within the depths of my jaws . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Izazaz) Dee gives us little clue here.

(*Dee—I-zá-zaz) See 48 Claves. Three syllables. The initial I stands alone. The first a has a circumflex, indicating that it takes its long sound.

Izizop (iz-is-op)* n.

(Your?) Vessels

Ω Γ P Γ P Γ

3.44 . . . that from your highest vessels and the corners . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Izizop) Apparently three syllables. As we see in the pronunciation notes for Zizop (vessels), the second z takes on an “s” sound.

Note:

This is not a compound word, so the I does not indicate “is.” I have noted that the word I can sometimes conjugate Angelical words in various ways. Therefore, perhaps the addition of I in this case indicates “your”?

Also:

Zizop (zis-op)

Vessels

Ur (L)

κ

L (el)* prop. n.

The First, One

κ

- 2.8 . . . o you the second of the first . . .
 5.27 . . . brothers of the first and second . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 2.8—A word)

(*Dee 5.27—L) Pronounced as we would the name of the letter L.

Compounds:

Agltoltorn (ag-el-toi-torn) [Ag + L + "Toltorn"]	No One Creature
Crpl (krip-el) ["Crp" + L]	But One
Il (ii-el) [I + L]	Is One
Lcapimao (el-ka-Pii-may-oh) [L + "Capimao"]	One While
Lel (el-el) [L + El]	Same
Lialprt (el-YAL-purt) [L + "Ialprt"]	First Flame
Lnibm (el-nib-em) [L + "Nibm"]	One season
Lpatrax (el-PAY-traks) [L + "Patrax"]	One Rock
Lsmnad (els-mad) [L + "Smnad"]	One Another

Also:

El (el)	The First
La (lah or el-ah)	The First
"Lo" (loh)	The First
Lu (loo)	From One

Note:

Compare to the name of the Angel L (or El), one of the Sons of the Sons of Light. His name literally translates as "The First."

Possible root for:

Aqlo (AY-kwah-loh)	Thy
Bolp (bohlp)	Be Thou
Daxil (daks-il)	Thy Loins
Ili (ii-EL-ii)	At First
Yls (yils)	Thou
Lil (el-il)	"The First Aethyr"

Ol (ohl)	I
Qaal (kwah-AY-el)	Creator
Ul (yewl)	End
Uls (yewls)	Ends

La (lah or el-ah)* n.	The First
	✠ ✠

5.38 . . . the first, ends, and contents of time . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—La) Dee seems to indicate one syllable here. However, other words that have L (the first) as their root tend to pronounce the L as if it stands alone. I have offered both options in my pronunciation.

Also:

L (el)	The First
El (el)	The First
"Lo" (loh)	The First
Lu (loo)	From One

Note:

Also see Ili (at first).

Laiad (lay-ll-ad)* n.	Secrets of Truth
	✠ ✠ 7 ✠ ✠

18.13 . . . in whom the secrets of truth . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—La i ad) Three syllables. The first a is likely long. The i stands alone.

(*Dee—Laiad) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed an accent over the i in the second syllable.

Note:

Compare to the name of the Angel Laidrom, an Elder of the Southern Watchtower. It is possible that Laidrom is a compound of Laiad (secrets of truth) and Om (understand)—"He Who Understands the Secrets of Truth." (Unless, of course, Rom is a word unto itself.)

Probable root:

Ia (yah)	n/a
Iad (yad)	God

Probable shared root:

Iadnah (yad-nah)	Knowledge
Iaiadix (yay-II-ad-iks)	Honor

Lang (lang) prop. n.

Those Who Serve

From Corpus Omnium:

Associated with the post-Deluge quadrant of the Table. Translated in Latin as Ministrantes (Those Who Serve).

Compare from Loagaeth:*Lang, LangedNote:Also see Cnoqod (servants).Lansh (lonsh)* n.

Exalted Power

1.7 . . . *in power exalted above the firmaments . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—LANSH as Lonsh)

Also:

Lonsa (lon-sha)	Power
Lonshi (lon-shii)	Power
"Lonshin" (lon-shin)	Powers

Note:Also see Micalzo (power/mighty), Naneel (my power).Lap (lap)* conj.

For (Because)

(RFP) For, I am the servant . . .

2.32 For, you are become a building . . .

2.50 For, I am of him . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 1.81—Call it Lap)

(*Dee 2.32, 50—Lap)

Note:

Also see Bagle (for), Darsar (wherefore)

Compare from Loagaeth:

Lap

Larag (lay-rag)* conj.

Neither/Nor

ᵐᵃᵃᵃᵃ

10.51 . . . rest not neither know any (long) time here.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—La rag) Two syllables. The a is likely long. The final g is likely hard, as in the English words rag and bag.

Note:

The word neither can be a conjunction, adjective, or pronoun depending on use. Here in Key Ten, it is used as a conjunction.

“Las” (las) adj.

Rich

ᵐᵃᵃᵃ

Compounds:

Lasollor (las-OHL-or) [“Las” + “Ollor”]

Rich Man

Compare from Loagaeth:

Las, Laz

Lasdi (las-dii)* n.

(My) Feet

ᵐᵃᵃᵃᵃ

4.2 . . . I have set my feet in the south . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Las di) Two syllables. The final i is likely a long vowel.

Also:

Lusd (lus-dee)	Feet
Lusda (lus-da)	Feet
Lusdan (lus-dan)	Feet

Lasollor (las-OHL-or)* ["Las" + "Ollor"] comp.

Rich Man

9.32 . . . as the rich man doth his treasure . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Las ol lor) Three syllables. The o is likely long, while the other two vowels remain short. The two ls combine into a single sound, as in the English word lesson.

(*Dee—las óllor) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed an accent over the second syllable.

Lava (lav-ah) n.

Fervency/Humility?*

Note:

(*Dee—Laua Zuraah = Use humility in prayers to God, that is fervently pray. It signifieth, Pray Unto God.) See the Five Books, p. 324. Between lines 46 and 47 of Table One of Loagaeth, some kind of stormy interference erupted in the shewstone. A voice then said the phrase "Laua Zuraah." The two men then prayed as instructed, and the interference cleared. It would appear that Laua indicates a specific attitude in prayer, which might mean fervency or humility. I don't believe Laua would be the standard Angelical word for either "fervent" or "humility."

Also compare this word to the name of the Part of the Earth (and its Angelic Governor), Lauacon.

Compare from Loagaeth:LauaxLcapimao (el-kay-Pil-may-oh) [L + "Capimao"] comp.

One While

30.106 . . . one while let her be known . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—L ca pí ma o) Five syllables, with an accent on the third syllable. The initial L and the final o each stand alone. Finally, I assume the a in the fourth syllable is long, because it is followed by an o.

(*Dee—L capímao) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed a circumflex over the i to indicate its long sound.

Lea (lee-ay) prop. n.

"The Sixteenth Aethyr"

✠ 7 ✠

30.3 . . . which dwell in the sixteenth aethyr . . .

Note:

This (word 30.3) is the single space in the Key of the Aethyrs, which must be changed for each invocation—replacing word 30.3 with the name of the appropriate Aethyr. No established definitions were given for these names.

Lea contains the three Parts of the Earth Cucarpt, Lauacon, and Sochial.

Lel (el-el)* [L + El] adv.

Same

✠ ✠

30.73 . . . no creature upon or within her the same . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Lel) Dee gives us little clue here. This could be a word of one or two syllables, depending on whether or not the initial L should stand alone. Since I have assumed this is a compound involving the word L (first), I have decided to allow the initial L to stand alone. (Note I have also assumed the e is a phonetic gloss.)

Note:

The basic concepts behind L/El are both "beginning" and "singularity." Thus, I feel it is important that it appears twice in this word—to indicate that two (or more) things are actually "one" (the same).

The word same can be an adjective, pronoun, or adverb, depending on use. Here in Key Thirty, it is used as an adverb.

Note:

Also see Parach (equal).

Lephe (leef-ay)

n/a*

700 2 72

Note:

(*Dee—Life Lephe Lurfando is a strong charge to the wicked to tell the truth. This [the Angel] said to my demand of this phrase whereof I had mention many years since.) See the Five Books, p. 308. Life Lephe Lurfando is a perfect phrase for use in goetic evocations, but we are never given specific definitions for each word.

(*Dee—Pinzu-a lephe ganiurax kelpadman pacaph.) See the Five Books, p. 413. Kelley overhears many voices singing a song at some distance, and these are the words Dee recorded. No translations are suggested.

Compare from Loagaeth:

Lefa, Lefe, Leph, Life

Levithmong (lev-ith-mong)* n.

Beasts of the Field

63 2 600 7 2 72

30.99 Let them become caves for the beasts of the field.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Levith mong) Three syllables. I assume mong rhymes with the English word song.

Note:

The similarity between this word and Leviathan. Leviathan is a mythical sea creature mentioned in biblical literature (especially 1 Enoch), who is destined to battle a mighty land creature named Behemoth during the End Times (apparently representing a clash of land and sea). It would appear that Levithmong (beasts of the field) is a combination of the Leviathan and Behemoth concepts.

Lialprt (el-YAL-purt)* [L + "Ialprt"] comp.

First Flame

7 6 2 2 7 2

15.3 . . . the governor of the First Flame . . .

Note:

The transmission of Key Fifteen is missing from Dee's journals. We only have the English given for the Key on TFR, p. 193. However, Illemese gives the pronunciation later on TFR, p. 200. Plus, the word appears in Dee's 48 Claves.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Illemese—L al purt) See TFR, p. 200. Three syllables. Though Illemese seems to have dropped the sound of the i, I think this is merely because it barely makes a sound when this word is spoken fluently. I have retained it (sounding as "y") in my pronunciation.

(*Dee—Liálprt) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed an accent over the a in the second syllable.

Life (liif)

n/a*

𐛀𐛁𐛂

Note:

(*Dee—Life Lephe Lurfando is a strong charge to the wicked to tell the truth. This [the Angel] said to my demand of this phrase whereof I had mention many years since.) See the Five Books, p. 308. Life Lephe Lurfando is a perfect phrase for use in goetic evocations, but we are never given specific definitions for each word.

Compare from Loagaeth:

Lefa, Lefe, Leph, Life

Lil (el-il)* prop. n.

"The First Aethyr"

𐛀𐛁𐛂

30.3 . . . which dwell in the first aethyr . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Lil) Dee gives us little clue here. This could be a word of one or two syllables—depending on if the initial L should stand alone. Because this word indicates the First Aethyr and likely has L (the first) as its root, I will assume the L should stand alone.

Note:

Lil is the name—probably of a descriptive nature—of the first of the thirty Aethyrs. It holds the single space in the Key of the Aethyrs, which must be changed for each invocation, replacing Lil with the name of the next Aethyr, and then the next, and so on.

Lil contains the three Parts of the Earth Occodon, Pascomb, and Valgars.

Probable root:

L (el)

First

Lilonon (lil-loh-non)* n.

Branches

𐌌𐌌𐌌𐌌𐌌𐌌

10.10 . . . whose branches are 22 nests . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Li lo non) Three syllables. The i and the first o both appear to take their long sounds.

(*Dee—Lilōnon) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee uses a circumflex over the first o to indicate its long sound.

Limlal (lim-lal)* n.

Treasure

𐌌𐌌𐌌𐌌𐌌𐌌

9.34 . . . as the rich man doth his treasure.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Lim lal) Two syllables. Both vowels appear to take their short sounds.

Lin (lin) prop. n.

"The Twenty-Second Aethyr"

𐌌𐌌𐌌

30.3 . . . which dwell in the twenty-second aethyr . . .

Note:

This (word 30.3) is the single space in the Key of the Aethyrs, which must be changed for each invocation—replacing word 30.3 with the name of the appropriate Aethyr. No established definitions were given for these names.

Lin contains the three Parts of the Earth Ozidaia, Paraoan, Calzirg.

Lit (lit) prop. n.

"The Fifth Aethyr"

𐌹𐌿𐌲𐌰

30.3 . . . which dwell in the fifth aethyr . . .Note:

This (word 30.3) is the single space in the Key of the Aethyrs, which must be changed for each invocation—replacing word 30.3 with the name of the appropriate Aethyr. No established definitions were given for these names.

Lit contains the three Parts of the Earth Lazdixi, Nocamal, and Tiarpax.

Lnibm (el-nib-em)* [L + "Nibm"] comp.

One Season

𐌺𐌹𐌽𐌴𐌹𐌲𐌰

30.64 . . . one season, let it confound another . . .Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—L nib m) Three syllables. The L and m each stand alone.

"Lo" (loh) n.

The First

𐌹𐌰

Compounds:

Bazemlo (bas-em-loh) [Bazem + "Lo"]

The Midday the First

Talo (tay-el-oh) [Ta + "Lo"]

As the First

Also:

L (el)

First

El (el)

The First

La (lah or el-ah)

First

Lu (loo)

From One

Possible root for:

Aqlo (AY-kwah-loh)

Thy

Bolp (bohlp)

Be Thou

Ol (ohl)

I

Speech from God

(*Dee, recording the words of Galvah—"Touching the Book, it shall be called Logah: which in your language signifieth Speech from God. Write [it] after this sort: L O A G A E T H: it is to be sounded Logah. This word is of great signification, I mean in respect of the profoundness thereof.") See TFR, p. 19. In Early Modern English, the oa letter combination makes a long "o" sound (as in the English words boat and coat). Dee recorded Galvah's phonetic explanation by dropping the a (it shall be called Logah). At the same time, we see that the final eth are entirely silent.

This is the name of the Holy Book of forty-nine Tables transmitted to Dee and Kelley by the Archangel Raphael. It also appears as the first word of the forty-ninth Table in the Holy Book (see “Compare from Loagaeth” below).

Note the similarity between the Angelical Loagaeth, the Greek Logos (Word), and the Hebrew Eth (Spirit). It is interesting that both Loagaeth and Logos indicate “word/speech” and both are used in the biblical sense (as a reference to the God-Christ—see John 1, “In the Beginning was the Word . . . and the Word was God.”).

Logaah (loh-gay-ah)

n/a

Loagaeth, Loangah, Loggahah

“The Twelfth Aethyr”

30.3 . . . which dwell in the twelfth aethyr . . .

This (word 30.3) is the single space in the Key of the Aethyrs, which must be changed for each invocation—replacing word 30.3 with the name of the appropriate Aethyr. No established definitions were given for these names.

Loe contains the three Parts of the Earth Tapamal, Gedoons, and Ambriol.

Logaah (loh-gay-ah)

n/a

Possibly also:*Loagaeth (loh-gah)

Speech from God

Note:

See TFR, p. 22. Here, the guardian Angel of Lord Lasky of Poland says a prayer on Lasky's behalf, which ends with, "Grant this Camascheth gal-suagath garnastel zurah logaah luseroth." No translation is offered.

Loholo (LOH-hoh-loh)* v.

To Shine

1.61 . . . which shineth as a flame . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Call it Loholo. Long, the first syllable accented) I assume that Dee intended all the o's in this word to be long.

(*Dee—lôhôlo) See 48 Claves. The accent and circumflex match Dee's note from TFR.

"Lolcis" (LOL-sis) n.

Bucklers

Compounds:

Talolcis (tay-LOL-sis) [Ta + "Lolcis"]

As Bucklers

Loncho (lon-koh)* v.

To Fall

8.30 . . . until this house fall and the dragon sink.Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Lon cho or ko) Two syllables. Dee indicates that the ch takes the harder "k" (or "kh") sound.

Note:Also see Dobix (to fall).

Compare from Loagaeth:

Onchen

Londoh (lon-DOH)* n.

Kingdoms

𐌂𐌋𐌆𐌔𐌚𐌚𐌚

7.24 Whose kingdoms and continuance are as . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Lon dóh) This appears to be two syllables, with an accent upon the second syllable.

(*Dee—londóh) See 48 Claves. Accent still on the second syllable.

Compounds:

Osmondoh (os-LON-doh) [Os + Londoh]

12 Kingdoms

Note:

The similarity between this word and the word London. Dee was very dedicated to the cause of the English empire—and many scholars suspect this word of bias on Dee's part rather than the Angels. For a parallel case, see Madrid (iniquity).

Also:

Adohi (ay-DOH-hii)

Kingdom

Compare from Loagaeth:

Doh, Dohoh

Lonsa (lon-sha)* n.

Power

𐌂𐌋𐌔𐌚𐌚𐌚

3.37 . . . power successively over 456 . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Lonsa) Likely two syllables. Based on the other versions of this word, I assume the s should make the sh digraph.

Also:

Lansh (lonsh)

Exalted Power

Lonshi (lon-shii)

Power

“Lonshin” (lon-shin)

Powers

Lonshi (lon-shii)* n.

Power

𐌂𐌚𐌚𐌚𐌚𐌚𐌚

7.45 . . . this remembrance is given power . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Lon shi) Two syllables. The o should be a short vowel, while the final i likely takes a long sound.

Compounds:

Lonshitox (lon-shii-toks) [Lonshi + Tox]

His Power

Also:

Lansh (lonsh)

Exalted Power

Lonsa (lon-sha)

Power

“Lonshin” (lon-shin)

Powers

“Lonshin” (lon-shin) n.

Powers

𐌂𐌚𐌚𐌚𐌚𐌚𐌚

Compounds:

Odlonshin (ohd-lon-shin) [Od + “Lonshin”]

And Powers

Also:

Lansh (lonsh)

Exalted Power

Lonsa (lon-sha)

Power

Lonshi (lon-shii)

Power

Lonshitox (lon-shii-toks)* [Lonshi + Tox] comp.

His Power

𐌂𐌚𐌚𐌚𐌚𐌚𐌚

13.18 . . . God and his power . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Lon shi tox) Three syllables. The i is the only apparent long vowel.

(*Dee—Lon-shi-tox) See the 48 Claves. This note essentially matches that of TFR.

Lorslq (lors-el-kwah)* n.

Flowers

𐌂𐌚𐌚𐌚𐌚𐌚𐌚

2.1 . . . as the flowers in their beauty . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Lors l qua) Three syllables, with the l and the q standing alone.

(The q takes the sound of “kwah.”)

(*Dee—lors-l-q) See 48 Claves. This note matches Dee’s note from TFR.

Lpatralx (el-PAY-traiks)* [L + “Patralx”] comp.

One Rock

𐌲𐌱𐌰𐌶𐌵𐌹𐌰𐌶𐌴𐌹𐌰𐌶𐌴𐌹𐌰𐌶

10.57 . . . one rock bringeth forth 1000 . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—L Pá tralx El) Three syllables. The initial L stands alone, and Dee indicates that it sounds like “El.” The first a is likely a long vowel. The accent is place on the second syllable.

Lrasd (el-RAZD)* v.

To Dispose (To Place)

𐌲𐌹𐌶𐌰𐌴𐌹𐌶𐌴𐌹𐌶𐌴𐌹𐌶

30.34 . . . to dispose all things according to . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—L rásd) Two syllables, with an accent on the second syllable. The initial L stands alone.

(*Dee—Lrásd) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee again placed an accent on the second syllable.

Lring (el-ring)* v.

To Stir Up

𐌲𐌹𐌶𐌰𐌴𐌹𐌶𐌴𐌹𐌶𐌴𐌹𐌶

13.6 . . . 42 eyes to stir up wrath of sin . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—LRING) Dee does not indicate that the r should take its extended “ur” sound. Therefore, I suspect the L should stand alone in this word, making two syllables.

Note:

See also Zixlay (to stir up). I am not sure why these two words have the same definition.

Lsmnad (els-mad)* [L + "Smnad"] comp.

One Another

𐌲 𐌰 𐌱 𐌰 𐌲 𐌰 𐌲

30.87 . . . vex and weed out one another . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ls mnad) This note seems confusing at first. Dee indicates two syllables, yet there are still clusters of consonants in each one. In the first syllable, I assume the l is pronounced "el"—which allows it to combine naturally with the s. In the second syllable, I suspect the mn combines to form the same sound as in the English words column, autumn, and solemn (i.e., the n is effectively silent).

Note:

Also see Symp (another).

Lu (loo) prep.?

From One*

𐌲 𐌰

From Loagaeth:

(*Dee—Lu = From one.) See the Five Books, p. 322.

Also:

L (el)

The First, One

El (el)

The First

La (lah or el-ah)

The First

"Lo" (loh)

The First

Compare from Loagaeth:

Uloh

Luas (loo-akh)* prop. n.

Those Who Praise (or, the Triumphant)

𐌲 𐌰 𐌲 𐌰

From Corpus Omnium:

Associated with the pre-Deluge quadrant of the Table, translated in Latin as Laudantes (Those Who Praise). They can alternately be called Triumphantes (Those Who Triumph).

(*Dee—Lucifitias) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee again placed the accent on the second syllable. He also placed a circumflex over the second i to indicate its long sound.

Also:

Luciftian (loo-sif-TII-an)

(Ornaments of) Brightness

Note:

The similarity between this word and the Latin Lucifer (light-bearer). In Roman mythology, Lucifer was the name of the Venus star—which rose in the east just before dawn, thus heralding the approaching Sun. In Christian lore, Lucifer was the first and most beautiful among the Angels, but was cast down for his pride. The Angelical word Luciftias still represents brightness in the Heavens, and has no demonic connotations.

Luiahe (loo-JAY-hee)* n.

Song of Honor

709 3 6 2 2

6.40 . . . whose works shall be a song of honour . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Lu ia he) Three syllables, with an accent on the second syllable. Dee does not tell us if the i should take the sound of “y” or “j.” (I have settled upon the “j” sound., and spelled the word in Angelical with a Ged [J] in this place.) The final e is also uncertain. It should remain silent while making the a a long vowel. However, Dee’s phonetic note indicates three syllables—for which the e must make a sound along with the h. Whether the e should be long or short is unclear, although I have settled upon the long sound.

(*Dee—Lu-id-he) See the 48 Claves. This note matches that from TFR.

Note:

Also see Faaip (voicing/psalm).

Lulo (loo-loh) n.

Tartar (Mother of Vinegar)

1 2 2 2

From the Alchemical Cipher:

See TFR, pp. 387–89. The Angel Levanael says of this word, “Roxtan is pure and simple wine in herself. Lulo is her mother.” Dee replies,

"There may be in these words some ambiguity." So Levanael explains more simply, "Lulo is Tartar, simply of red wine." (Tartar is Mother of Vinegar.)

It is not likely that Lulo is strictly tartar of red wine—but Levanael had established earlier in this session that red Roxtan (wine) was to be used for this alchemical experiment.

Lurfando (lur-fan-doh)

n/a*

ⱭⱭⱭⱭⱭⱭⱭⱭⱭⱭ

Note:

(*Dee—Life Lephe Lurfando is a strong charge to the wicked to tell the truth. This [the Angel] said to my demand of this phrase whereof I had mention many years since.) See the Five Books, p. 308. Life Lephe Lurfando is a perfect phrase for use in goetic evocations, but we are never given specific definitions for each word.

In at least one case, Dee wrote that a u could make the sound of "f"—which was likely an indication of the "v" sound. Therefore, it is possible that Lurfando and Lurvandah are related.

Compare from Loagaeth:

Lurvandah

Lusd (lus-dee)* n.

(Your) Feet

ⱭⱭⱭⱭⱭⱭⱭⱭⱭⱭ

2.25 . . . stronger are your feet than the barren stone.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Lusd) It would appear the one syllable is intended here. However, other versions of this word all have two syllables.

Also:

Lasdi (las-dii)

(My) Feet

Lusda (lus-da)

(Their) Feet

Lusdan (lus-dan)

(With) Feet

Lusda (lus-da)* n.

(Their) Feet

𐌵𐌺𐌳𐌰

9.21 . . . have settled their feet in the west . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Lus da) Two syllables.

Also:

Lasdi (las-dii)

(My) Feet

Lusd (lus-dee)

(Your) Feet

Lusdan (lus-dan)

(With) Feet

Lusdan (lus-dan)* n.

(With) Feet

𐌵𐌺𐌳𐌰𐌴𐌹𐌺

16.13 . . . which walkest upon the earth with feet 876 . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Lus dan) Two syllables.

Also:

Lasdi (las-dii)

(My) Feet

Lusd (lus-dee)

(Your) Feet

Lusda (lus-da)

(Their) Feet

Luseroth (lus-er-oth)

n/a

𐌵𐌺𐌴𐌹𐌹𐌹𐌸

Note:

See TFR, p. 22. Here, the guardian Angel of Lord Lasky of Poland says a prayer on Lasky's behalf, which ends with, "Grant this Camascheth galsuagath garnastel zurah logaah luseroth." No translation is offered.

Compare from Loagaeth:

Luseth, Luza, Luzan, Luzath, Luzed, Lusaz, Luzez, Uzed

"Lzar" (el-ZAR) n.

Courses

᠘ᠵᠠᠷ

Compounds:

Sobolzar (soh-BOL-zar) ["Sobo" + "Lzar"]

Whose Courses

Also:

"Elzap" (el-ZAP)

Course

"Lzirn" (el-zirn) n.

Wonders

᠘ᠵᠢᠷᠨ

Compounds:

Vaulzirn (VOL-zern) ["Vau" + "Lzirn"]

Work Wonders

Note:

See also Sald (wonder), Busd (glory), and Peleh (Worker of Wonders?).

Also compare to the name of the Angel Lzinopo, an Elder of the Southern Watchtower. Perhaps his name means something akin to "He Who Works Wonders." Also compare to the name of the Angel Iznr or Izinr, an Angel of medicine also of the Southern Watchtower.

Tal (M)

M (em)^{*} conj. or prep.

Except

६

3.22 . . . except (by) mine own hand . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—EM it is a word) Likely just one syllable.

Note:

See Oq (but), “Crp” (but).

Maasi (may-ay-sii)* v.

Laid Up (i.e., Stored Up)

7755e

10.17 ...and weeping laid up for the earth ...

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee—Ma a si*) Three syllables. The double a should represent a long “a” sound in Early Modern English. Dee’s note indicates two long a’s, but they nearly blend into one when this word is spoken fluently. The final i is likely long.

(*Dee—maâsi) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee places a circumflex over the second a to indicate its long sound.

Mabberan (MAB-er-an) adv.

How Now(?)[★]

2 4 6 7 8 9

Pronunciation notes:

The first a of Mabberan is accented in Dee's journal. Also, I assume the first a takes its short sound, because it is followed by a double b (similar to the a in the English words rabble or babble).

Note:

(* Vors Mabberan – how now: what hast thou to do with us?) See the Five Books, p. 311. Here, several spirits appear and demand of Dee and Kelley, “Vors Mabberan?”—to which Dee makes his marginal notation above. Given the known definition of Vors (over, especially in a hierarchy), I assume this phrase is a challenge, as if to say, “What authority do you have over us?" On its own, it is possible that Mabberan has some meaning akin to "What do you want?" or "Why have you bothered us?"

Mabza (MAB-za)* n.

Coat

𐌂𐌆𐌔𐌆𐌂

8.43 . . . and the coat of him that is . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Mab za) Two syllables.

(*Dee—mábza) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee adds an accent to the first syllable.

Mad (mad)* n.

(Your) God, Pure/Undeified

𐌂𐌆𐌂

(RFP) . . . servant of the same your God . . .

3.60 . . . in the name of the same your God . . .

6.42 . . . the praise of your God . . .

13.16 . . . behold the promise of God . . .

30.15 . . . behold the face of your God . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 1.84—Call it Mad.)

(*Dee 3.60; 6.42; 13.16, 30.15—Mad.)

Compounds:

Madzilodarp (mad-ZII-loh-darp) [Mad + "Zilodarp"]

God of Conquest

Iadnamad (yad-nay-mad) [Iadnah + Mad?]

Pure Knowledge

Probable root for:

"Madriax" (MAY-drii-yaks)

Heavens

Madriiix (MAY-drii-yaks)

Heavens

Madrid (MAY-drid)

Iniquity

Note:

The proper Name of God in Angelical is Iad. Mad, on the other hand, indicates god in the generic sense. The word your is not directly indicated by the Angelical—though the change in spelling adequately suggests some other god as opposed to Iad Himself.

At the same time, note that Mad is used as a root in several cases to indicate things celestial or divine (Iadnamad, “Madriax,” and the antonymic Madrid).

Also see Piad (your God).

“Madriax”* (MAY-drii-yaks) n.

Heavens

Note:

(*Dee—I think this word wanted as may appear by Madriax, about 44 words from the end.) “Madriax” does not appear with this spelling in the Keys in TFR. Apparently, Dee did not receive the first word of the Key of the Aethyrs (word 30.1) until sometime after its transmission. (Illemese, who revealed this Key, gave only the English “O you heavens,” but gave no Angelical for the phrase.) Dee found the proper word later in the Key—*Madrii*ax (word 30.116). After adding *Madrii*ax (with the double i) into space 30.1, Dee made the above note in the margin, spelling the word as Madriax (with a single i). However, also note the word Oadriax (lower Heavens) which also uses a single i—so this spelling, Madriax, is likely acceptable.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 30.1—*Madrii*ax) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee spelled the word with only one i. He also placed a circumflex over the i to indicate its long sound.

See pronunciation notes for *Madrii*ax (Heavens).

Also:

*Madrii*ax (MAY-drii-yaks)

Heavens

Oadriax (oh-AY-drii-aks)

Lower Heavens

Probable root:

Mad (mad)

(Your) God, “Pure/Undefined”

Madriiax (MAY-drii-yaks)* n.

Heavens

𐌂𐌰𐌶𐌵𐌹𐌸𐌰𐌶𐌰𐌶𐌰𐌶

30.1 O you heavens that dwell in the first Aethyr . . .

30.116 O you heavens, arise!

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 30.116—Má dri iax yax) Three syllables, accent on the first syllable. The double i probably results in a long “i” sound in the second syllable. Dee places a “y” sound at the beginning of the third syllable, but it is barely audible when the word is spoken fluently.

(*Dee 30.1—Madriax) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee spelled the word with only one i. (See note at “Madriax.”) He also placed a circumflex over the i to indicate its long sound.

(*Dee 30.116—Mádríax) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee again placed an accent over the first syllable. He also placed a circumflex over the first i to indicate its long sound.

Note:

Note that the Heavens, in this case, are being addressed as living creatures. This is common in mystical systems such as Gnosticism or the Qabalah—where the Heavens (Aeons, Sephiroth) are treated as both celestial spheres and intelligent beings.

The Key of the Aethyrs is the only place where the Heavens are addressed as intelligent. Elsewhere, the standard word for “the Heavens” is Piripsol/Piripson.

Also see Calz (firmaments).

Also:

“Madriax” (MAY-drii-yaks)	Heavens
Oadriax (oh-AY-drii-aks)	Lower Heavens

Probable root:

Mad (mad)	(Your) God, Pure/Undefined
-----------	----------------------------

Note:

Also see Piripsol/Piripson (The Heavens).

Madrid (MAY-drid)* n.

Iniquity
 176116

9.38 Cursed are they whose iniquities they are.

10.75 . . . for her iniquity is, was, and shall be great.

Note:

These words appear to show that “Mal” indicates the idea of arrows, rising, shooting, increase, etc.

Also see Coazior (increase).

Also note the Angel Dmal, one of the Sons of Light. “Mal” (arrow, increase) appears to be the root of his name.

Compare from Loagaeth:

Mal

Malpirgi (mal-per-jii)* [“Mal” + “Pirgi”] comp. Fires of Life and Increase 76672222

3.52 . . . pouring down the Fires of Life and Increase . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Malpirgi) Likely three syllables, with a long i at the end. Also, the first i in Malpirgi is likely a phonetic gloss. See Malprg and Malpurg.

Also:

Malprg (mal-purj) [“Mal” + “Prg”] Through-thrusting Fire
 (i.e., Fiery Arrow)

Malpurg (mal-purj) [“Mal” + “Purg”] Fiery Arrows

Malprg (mal-purj)* [“Mal” + “Prg”] comp. Through-thrusting Fire
 (i.e., Fiery Arrow)
 662222

1.18 . . . the moon is a through-thrusting fire . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Malprg, as Malpurg) Dee here shows us where to place the vowel sound. Malprg is likely the radical spelling of this word. See Malpurg, Prge, and Malpirgi for phonetic glosses. (The case of Prge—which follows the g with an e phonetic gloss—gives the final g its soft sound.)

Also:

Malpirgi (mal-per-jii) [“Mal” + “Pirgi”] Fires of Life and Increase
Malpurg (mal-purj) [“Mal” + “Purg”] Fiery Darts (Arrows)

Malpurg (mal-purj)* [“Mal” + “Purg”] comp.

Fiery Darts / Arrows

᠓ᠤᠯᠫᠣᠷᠭᠠ

6.16 . . . fiery darts to van the earth . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Mal purg) Two syllables. The u is likely a phonetic gloss, and the final g should be soft. See pronunciation notes for Malprg and Malpirgi.

Also:

Malpirgi (mal-per-jii) [“Mal” + “Pirgi”]

Fires of Life and Increase

Malprg (mal-purj) [“Mal” + “Prg”]

Through-thrusting Fire

(i.e., Fiery Arrow)

Mals (Makhls)* prop. n.

Letter P/Ph

ᠮᠠᠯᠰ

Note:

The name of the Angelical letter for P/Ph. It is likely that these letter names have translations of their own. (For instance, note the Hebrew alphabet: the letter P/Ph is named Peh, but Peh also translates as “mouth.”) However, such translations for the Angelical letters are never given. (See the Five Books, p. 270.)

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—In sound machls.) This is likely a soft “kh” sound (like the ch in ache, only softer) made just before the “l” sound. However, Mals is only one syllable. I tend to pronounce this word along the lines of “mahls.”

Compare from Loagaeth:

Mals

Manin (man-in)* n.

(In the) Mind

ᠮᠠᠨᠢᠨ

2.38 . . . but in the mind of the All Powerful.

Pronunciation note:

(*Dee—Manin) Likely two syllables.

Maoffas (may-AHF-fas)* adj.

Measureless

ㄨ ㄝ ㄝ ㄝ ㄝ ㄝ ㄝ

18.23 . . . in thy kingdom Joy, and not to be measured.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—ma óf fas) Three syllables, with an accent on the second syllable. The first a should be long and the o should be short, as in the English word chaos. The two f's should combine into one sound, as we see in Early Modern English.

(*Dee—maóffas) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee again indicated the accent on the second syllable.

MAPM (map-em)*

9639

ㄟ ㄩ ㄝ ㄝ ㄝ

4.15 I have placed 9639 whom none hath yet . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Map m) Two syllables, the final m stands alone.

Mapsama (map-sam-a) prop. n.

He That Speaks*

ㄝ ㄟ ㄝ ㄟ ㄩ ㄩ ㄝ ㄝ

Note:

(*Dee records the words of Mapsama: "My name is called He That Speaks. I am one under Gabriel, and the name of Jesus I know and honour. My name is Mapsama.") See TFR, pp. 138–39, 145ff. The names of most of the Angels encountered by Dee and Kelley can be found in other parts of the Angelic system—such as the Heptarchia or Great Table (Watchtower) systems. However, Mapsama is one of the few entirely unique Angels to appear to the two men. Mapsama appears to be connected to the political ambitions of Lord Lasky of Poland. He is also the Angel who delivered the instructions for the Book of Silver, which Dee never accomplished. (See also Ga, Galvah, Murifri, Nalvage, Vaa, and Za.)

Marb (marb)* adj.

According to

ㄩ ㄟ ㄝ ㄝ ㄝ

30.36 . . . all things according to the providence . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Marb) One syllable.

Marmara (mar-mar-a) prop. n.

n/a

𐌹𐌺𐌺𐌺𐌺𐌺𐌺

Note:

This is a variation of Carmara, the title of the ruling King of the Hep-tarchia. See the entry for Carmara.

Possible shared root:

Carma (kar-ma)

To Come Out / To Arise

Masch (mask)

n/a

𐌺𐌺𐌺𐌺𐌺𐌺

Note:

See TFR, pp. 34–35. This session is recorded entirely in Latin. Here we find this Angelical phrase spoken by “a Voice”: “Garil zed masch, ich na gel galaht gemp gal noch Cabanladan.” No translation or context is offered.

Pronunciation note:

The sch letter combination should sound like “sk” (as in school). Note, also, that in the Book of Loagaeth, Dee gives the pronunciation for the word Zuresch as “zuresk”—further indicating the “sk” sound for sch.

Compare from Loagaeth:

Iemasch, Asch, Ascha, Aschah, Aschal, Ascham, Asche, Aschedh, Aschem, Ascheph, Aschi, Aschin, Aschma, Aschol, and probably Dasch, Gascheth, Hasche, Pasch, Pascha, Pascheph, and maybe Iemasch, Surascha, Vasheth

“Matastos” (MAT-az-tos)

n/a

𐌹𐌺𐌺𐌺𐌺𐌺𐌺

From Loagaeth:

See note at Donasdogamatastos.

Compounds:

Donadogamatastos (doh-NAS-dog-ay-MAT-az-tos)

[“Donasdog” + “Matastos”] “Hellfire”

Matb (may-teb) n.

One Thousand (1000)

V ʌ ʒ ɛ

10.45 . . . and a thousand times as many surges . . .10.59 One rock bringeth forth 1000 . . .Pronunciation notes:

Dee provided no phonetic notes for this word. See the pronunciation notes for Matorb (long, as in “period of time”).

Note:

I suspect this is the word for “one thousand” rather than the numeral 1000. Compare to Torb (one hundred) and Matorb (long period of time).

This word was not originally given with Key Ten. It was added later when Nalvage transmitted the English for the Key (see TFR, p. 192). This seems to have been the case with many of the numbers mentioned in the Keys.

Compounds:Matorb (may-torb) [Matb + Torb]

Long (Period of Time)

Matorb (may-torb)* [Matb + Torb] comp.

Long (Period of Time)

V ɛ ʌ ʒ ɛ

10.54 . . . neither know any (long) time here.Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ma torb) Two syllables. The a should take its long sound.

Note:

There was no English given for Matorb in Dee’s journals. However, it appears that the word is a compound of Matb (one thousand) and Torb (one hundred)—thus suggesting that the word is intended to indicate “a very long time.” Similar, perhaps, to the Egyptian phrase “millions of years,” which can indicate an eternity.

Maz (maz) prop. n.

“The Sixth Aethyr”

P ʒ ɛ

30.3 . . . which dwell in the sixth aethyr . . .

Note:

This (word 30.3) is the single space in the Key of the Aethyrs, which must be changed for each invocation—replacing word 30.3 with the name of the appropriate Aethyr. No established definitions were given for these names.

Maz contains the three Parts of the Earth Saxtomp, Vavaamp, and Zirzird.

Compare from Loagaeth:

Maz, Mazad

Med (med) prop. n.

Letter O

Ɱ 7 Ɱ

Note:

The name of the Angelical letter for O. It is likely that these letter names have translations of their own. (For instance, note the Hebrew alphabet: the letter O is named Vav, but Vav also translates as “stake” or “nail.”) However, such translations for the Angelical letters are never given. (See the Five Books, p. 270.)

(Dee—He said, Great is His Glory.) This is not likely a translation of the word Med. See the letter Ged, where another invocation is made along with the delivery of a letter.

Miam (mii-AM)* n.

Continuance

Ɱ 3 7 Ɱ

6.27 . . . in government and continuance.

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee—Miam*) This is likely two syllables. Dee gives us little clue, but I assume the i should take a long sound.

(Dee—miám*) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee places an accent over the a in the second syllable.

Compounds:

Odmiam (ohd-mii-AM) [Od + Miam]

And Continuance

Also:

"Mian"

Continuance

Note:

Seems to indicate "lifespan" or "continued existence."

"Mian" (mii-AN) n.

Continuance

𐄂𐄃𐄅𐄆

Pronunciation note:

I have adopted the accent from Miam (continuance).

Compounds:

Solamian (soh-LAY-mii-an) ["Sola" + "Mian"] Whose Continuance

Also:

Miam (mii-AM)

Continuance

MIAN (mii-AN)*

3663

𐄂𐄃𐄅𐄆

12.15 . . . bring down your train 3663 that the Lord . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Mi an) Two syllables. The I likely takes its long sound.

Note:

This word was not originally given with Key Twelve. It was added later when Nalvage transmitted the English for the Key (see TFR, p. 193).

This seems to have been the case with many of the numbers mentioned in the Keys.

Do not confuse this word with "Mian" from Solamian (whose continuance).

Micalp (mii-KALP)* adj.

Mightier

𐄂𐄃𐄅𐄆𐄇𐄈𐄉

2.28 . . . mightier are your voices . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Mi calp) Two syllables. The i is likely a long vowel. Also see Micalzo, where the accent is placed on the second syllable.

Also:

Gmicalzo (jee-mii-KAYL-zoh)	Power
Micalzo (mii-KAYL-zoh)	Mighty
Micaoli (mii-KAY-oh-lui)	Mighty
Micaolz (mii-KAY-ohlz or mii-KAY-ohl-zohd)	Mighty
Omicaolz (oh-mii-KAY-ohl-zohd)	(Be) Mighty

Possible shared root:

Miketh (mii-KETH)	"The True Measure of the Will of God in Judgment, Which Is by Wisdom" (?)
-------------------	---

Note:

Also see Umadea (strong towers), Umplif (strength), Ugeg (become strong), Vohim (mighty).

Micalzo (mii-KAYL-zoh)* n. or adj.

Mighty / Power

𐌓𐌱𐌰𐌶𐌵𐌰𐌺𐌰

2.46 . . . show yourselves in power . . .

6.5 . . . mighty in the firmaments of waters . . .

18.2 . . . thou mighty light and burning flame . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 2.46—Micalzo)

(*Dee 6.5—Micálzo) Likely three syllables, with an accent on the second syllable. Also see Micaolz, where the i of the first syllable and the a of the second syllable are long.

(*Dee 6.5—micálzo) See the 48 Claves. Again the accent is on the second syllable.

Note:

Word 18.2 was originally given as Micaolz (mighty). However, see TFR, p. 200, where Illemese gives the alternate pronunciation of "micalzo" (or Micalzo).

Also:

Gmicalzo (jee-mii-KAYL-zoh)	Power
-----------------------------	-------

Micalp (mii-KALP)	Mightier
Micaoli (mii-KAY-oh-lee)	Mighty
Micaolz (mii-KAY-ohlz or mii-KAY-ohl-zohd)	Mighty
Omicaolz (oh-mii-KAY-ohl-zohd)	(Be) Mighty

Possible shared root:

Miketh (mii-KETH)	"The True Measure of the Will of God in Judgment, Which Is by Wisdom" (?)
--------------------------	---

Note:

Also see Umadea (strong towers), Umplif (strength), Ugeg (become strong), Vohim (mighty).

Micaoli (mii-KAY-oh-lee)* adj.

Mighty

ㄩㄘㄌㄗㄌㄗ

9.1 A mighty sound . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Mi ca o li) Four syllables. All of the vowels in this word are indicated as long. They all fall at the ends of their syllables, and the o itself stands alone.

(Dee*—Mi-cá-ô-li) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed an accent on the second syllable. He also placed a circumflex over the o to indicate its long sound.

Also:

Gmicalzo (jee-mii-KAYL-zoh)	Power
Micalp (mii-KALP)	Mightier
Micalzo (mii-KAYL-zoh)	Mighty
Micaolz (mii-KAY-ohlz or mii-KAY-ohl-zohd)	Mighty
Omicaolz (oh-mii-KAY-ohl-zohd)	(Be) Mighty

Possible shared root:

Miketh (mii-KETH)	"The True Measure of the Will of God in Judgment, Which Is by Wisdom" (?)
--------------------------	---

Note:

Also see Umadea (strong towers), Umplif (strength), Ugeg (become strong), Vohim (mighty).

Micaolz (mii-KAY-ohlz or mii-KAY-ohl-zohd)* adj.

Mighty

PCLE

3.70 . . . become mighty amongst us . . .

18.2 . . . thou mighty light and burning flame . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 3.70—Mi ca olz)

(*Dee 18.2—Mi ca ol zod) This word can be three or four syllables—depending on whether or not one extends the z to “zohd.” (This word is further indication that the extended z is not a grammatical rule, but a phonetic flourish.) The i in the first syllable is likely long.

(*Dee 3.70—mi-cá-olz) See the 48 Claves. Dee places the accent on the second syllable.

(*Dee 18.2—Micaólz) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee indicates the accent on the third syllable instead. Also note that he has dropped the extended “z” sound.

Note:

For word 18.2, the Angel Illemese later gives an alternate pronunciation of “micalZo” (see Micalzo).

Compounds:

Chismicaolz (kiiis-mii-KAY-ohlz) [Chis + Micaolz]

Are Mighty

Also:

Gmicalzo (jee-mii-KAYL-zoh)

Power

Micalp (mii-KALP)

Mightier

Micalzo (mii-KAYL-zoh)

Mighty*

Micaoli (mii-KAY-oh-lii)

Mighty

Omicaolz (oh-mii-KAY-ohl-zohd)

(Be) Mighty

Possible shared root:

Miketh (mii-KETH)

“The True Measure of the Will of God in Judgment, Which Is by Wisdom” (?)

Note:

Also see Umadea (strong towers), Umplif (strength), Ugeg (become strong), Vohim (mighty).

Micma (mik-ma)* v.

Behold

𐌺𐌹𐌽𐌿𐌵

- 3.1 . . . Behold, sayeth your God . . .
 3.64 . . . Behold, his mysteries flourish . . .
 13.14 . . . Behold the promise of God . . .
 14.17 . . . Behold the voice of God . . .
 30.13 . . . Behold the face of your God . . .

Pronunciation notes:(*Dee 3.1, 64—Micma)(*Dee 13.14—Mic ma) Two syllables.(*Dee 30.13—Micma Mikma) The c has a hard ("k") sound.Note:

The transmission of Key Fourteen is missing from Dee's journals. We only have the English for this Key given later (see TFR, p. 193). Plus, the word appears in this location in Dee's 48 Claves.

Miinoag (mii-ii-noh-ayg)* n.

Corners (Boundaries)

𐌺𐌹𐌽𐌿𐌵

- 3.46 . . . and the corners of your governments . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Mi i no ag) This appears to be four syllables. Note that each i is pronounced, as we might see in Middle English.

(*Dee—miinoâg) See the 48 Claves. Dee placed a circumflex over the a, indicating its long sound.

Note:

Also see Unalah (skirts).

Miketh (mii-KETH) n.

"The True Measure of the Will of God in Judgment, Which Is by Wisdom" (?)

𐌺𐌹𐌽𐌿𐌵

Pronunciation note:

I have adopted the accent from similar words, such as Micaolz (mighty).

Note:

See the Five Books, p. 354. Here, the Angel Illemese says of the Book of Soyga, “Soyga signifieth not Agyos. Soyga alca miketh.” (Agyos is Greek for “holiness,” and is Soyga when spelled backward.) When Dee asked what these words meant, he was told, “The True Measure of the Will of God in Judgment, Which Is by Wisdom.” Based on context, I feel that the word Alca probably means “to signify”—while Miketh (related, perhaps by root, to Micaolz) is translated as “the True Measure of the Will of God, etc.”

Perhaps this long definition could be shortened to “God’s Will in Judgment.”

Possible shared root:

Micaolz (mii-KAY-olz or mii-KAY-ol-zohd)

Mighty

Mir (mir)* n.

Torment

ᵉᵗᵉ

6.10 . . . hath planted a torment to the wicked . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Mir) One syllable.

Note:

This word appears to be in noun form (“a torment”), rather than in verb form (“to torment”).

Mirc (mirk)* prep.

Upon

ᵝᵉᵗᵉ

9.54 . . . and upon their heads are marble . . .

14.7 . . . which sit upon 24 seats . . .

30.70 . . . no creature upon or within her . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 9.54; 30.70—Mirc Mirk) One syllable, with a hard c at the end.

Note:

The transmission of Key Fourteen is missing from Dee's journals. We only have the English for this Key given later (see TFR, p. 193). Plus, the word appears in Dee's 48 Claves.

Molvi (mol-vii)* n.

Surges

ㄌㄢㄌㄝ

10.48 . . . a thousand times as many surges . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Mol ui) Two syllables. The o takes its short sound. Dee originally wrote this word with a u—but the letter should make a “v” sound when preceding a vowel.

Mom (mom)* n.

Moss (i.e., Dross?)

ㄌㄢㄌㄝ

9.29 . . . gather up the moss of the earth . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Mom) One syllable. I suggest a short o.

Note:

I have seen it suggested that “moss of the earth” is a reference to the dead—but I have not verified that yet. I have found the word moss used poetically in many cases, as a synonym for dross. (As in, “A rolling stone gathers no moss” or “Clearing the moss from your mind.”) In just one case, I have found the phrase “I wish he would gather moss”—which appears to be a reference to death.

Also note this word is a palindrome, reading the same forward and backward.

Momao (MOH-may-oh)* n.

Crowns

ㄌㄢㄌㄝㄌㄝ

8.40 . . . for the crowns of the Temple . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Mo ma o) Three syllables. Both o's and the a should likely take their long sounds.

(*Dee—mómâo) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee added an accent on the first syllable. He also placed a circumflex over the a to indicate its long sound.

Also:

"Momar" (MOH-mar)

To Crown

"Momar" (MOH-mar) v.

To Crown

𐌓𐌆𐌆𐌔𐌕

Pronunciation note:

I have adopted the accent from Momao (crowns).

Compounds:

Iadoiasmomar (jad-oh-JAS-moh-mar) ["Iadoias" + "Momar"]

God Eternally Crowned

Also:

Momao (MOH-may-oh)

Crowns

Monasci (mon-ay-sii) n.

Great Name

𐌓𐌆𐌆𐌔𐌕𐌔𐌕𐌔𐌕

15.13 . . . which knowest the great name Righteousness . . .

Pronunciation note:

I assume the sci letter combination is the same as in the words science or scion.

Note:

The transmission of Key Fifteen is missing from Dee's journals. We only have the English for this Key given later (see TFR, p. 193). Plus, the word appears in this location in Dee's 48 Claves.

This likely indicates a Name of God.

Also see Dooain, which means name in the general sense.

Monons (moh-nons)* n.

Heart

ᵛᵛ 𐌂𐌂𐌂𐌂

10.61 . . . the heart of man . . .Pronunciation notes:(*Dee—Mo nons) Two syllables. The first o takes its long sound.Moooah (moh-oh-WAH)* v.

To Repent

𐌂𐌂𐌂𐌂 𐌂𐌂𐌂𐌂

30.104 For why? It repenteth me I made man.Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Mo o Oah) Three syllables. The second o stands alone. The third syllable is a bit obscure. The oa letter combination should make a long “o” sound (as in the English words boat and coat). However, Dee’s phonetic note seems to indicate that the a should join with the h, leaving the preceding o to sound alone. Under that circumstance, the only way Oah could form one syllable is to sound like “wah.” (Patricia Shaffer makes this suggestion in her DeesPronunciationNotes.rtf.)

(*Dee—Mooóâh) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed an accent over the third o (which should be the third syllable). The âh should indicate a short “o” sound (as in the English words father and fall).

“Mospleh” (mos-play) n.

Horns

𐌂𐌂𐌂𐌂 𐌂𐌂𐌂𐌂

Compounds:

Qmospleh (kwah-mos-play) [Q + “Mospleh”]

Or the Horns

Moz (moz or moz-ohd)* n.

Joy, Joy of God

𐌂𐌂𐌂

18.21 . . . called in thy kingdom Joy.Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Moz) Dee originally wrote this word as “Qzmoz.” However, his phonetic note excludes the letters qz. Likewise, Dee recorded the word as “MOZ” in his 48 Claves.

This exclusion is further supported by the appearance of Moz (to rejoice) on the Corpus Omnium Table. There, Nalvage reveals that Moz can also be pronounced with an extended z (see below)—so perhaps “Qz-moz” was a botched attempt to record the extended version of Moz.

Also From Corpus Omnium:

(*Dee—I pray you, is Mozod, a word of three letters or of five?

Nalvage: In wrote three, it is larger extended.

Dee: Z extended is Zod.

Nalvage: Moz in itself signifieth Joy, but Mozod extended, signifieth the Joy of God.)

Found in the Pre-Deluge portion of the Table, in the phrase Zir Moz Iad (I Am the Joy of God). Apparently, Nalvage pronounced the word Moz as “mozod”—prompting Dee to ask how many letters Moz should have. Nalvage confirms that it should be written with three letters, but that “Mozod” is an extended pronunciation, expanding the definition of the word from “joy” to “joy of God.” This is the first time we see such an extended z in Dee’s records, although it will recur throughout the 48 Claves.

Murifri (mur-if-rii) prop. n.

n/a

𐌓𐌺𐌹𐌹𐌹𐌹𐌹𐌹𐌹

Note:

See TFR, p. 3. The names of most of the Angels encountered by Dee and Kelley can be found in other parts of the Angelic system, such as the Heptarchia or Great Table (Watchtower) systems. However, Murifri is one of the few entirely unique Angels that appeared to the two men. He appeared to give further Heptarchic mysteries to Dee and Kelley—nearly the only Heptarchic information in TFR, concerning a talisman Dee wished to make for a sick woman. Murifri’s name is found among the Tablets of the Heptarchia, but he is not one of the forty-nine good Angels, nor is the name derived by any instructions that the Angels gave to Dee. (His name appears in Table Three, which is associated with council and nobility.) No etymology is offered for Murifri’s name.

(See also Ga, Galvah, Mapsama, Nalvage, Vaa, and Za.)

Drux (N)NA (en-ay) prop. n.

The Name of the Trinity,* Lord

From Loagaeth:

(*Dee—The Name of the Trinity, One separable for a while.) This means One God, but temporarily separable into Three. It appears many times throughout Loagaeth.

Note:

Also see the Five Books, p. 77. The Archangel Michael gives a small wafer marked NA as a Eucharist to Dee's Angel of profession.

See Agrippa's Three Books, Book III, chapter 11 (Of the Divine Names . . .): ". . . and the Name of God NA (Hebrew: Nun, Aleph) is to be invocated in perturbations and troubles."

Also:

Enay (en-ay)

Lord

Na (nakh)* prop. n.

Letter H

Note:

See the Five Books, p. 270. The name of the Angelical letter for H. It is likely that these letter names have translations of their own. (For instance, note the Hebrew alphabet: the letter H is named Heh, but Heh also translates as "window.") However, such translations for the Angelical letters are never given.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Hath./But in sound Nach as it were in the nose.) Could Hath be what Dee calls the letter H in this case? Most of the time, when a word uses the ch digraph, it results in a sound like the "ch" in the word ache (a "kh" sound made in the throat). However, in this case, Dee tells us to make the sound in the nose, which is a much softer sound. I tend to pronounce the word along the lines of a nasal "nah."

(Note, also, that this pronunciation gives us a good clue that words like Pa, Ga, Va, etc., should have an "ah" vowel sound.)

Note:

Also see the Five Books, p. 298. This was at the very end of a session, after the curtain had been pulled to Kelley's vision in the stone. A voice was heard to say, "Ne ne ne na Jabes." (Note the word na.) This is likely a praise of some sort, but no translation is offered.

Also see TFR, pp. 34–35. This session is recorded entirely in Latin. Here we find this Angelical phrase spoken by "a Voice": "Garil zed masch, ich na gel galaht gemp gal noch Cabanladan." (Note the word na.) No translation or context is offered.

Compare from Loagaeth:

Na, Nah

Naghezes (naj-eez-es) n.?

Worthiness(?)

ጥፃፃፃፃፃፃ

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee—Amzes naghezes Hardeh—Note this to be pronounced roundly together.)

Perhaps this means the three words should be pronounced as if they were one.

In the Angelical spelling above, I have assumed the h is a phonetic gloss and excluded it.

Note:

See the Five Books, pp. 324–25. Here Kelley sees what the Book of Loagaeth looks like from the outside. It is covered in blue silk, and has the title Amzes naghezes Hardeh painted upon it in gold. Kelley says this signifies "the universal name of Him that created universally be praised and extolled forever."

However, also see TFR, p. 174, where the Angel Ave reveals that the title of Enoch's book was "Let Those That Fear God, and Are Worthy, Read." (Dee, at that point, notes: "The title of Enoch's books expounded into English.") If this happens to be the real translation, then perhaps Naghezes indicates "to be worthy."

Nalvage (nal-vayj) prop. n.

Earth-Fleer

ጥፃፃፃፃፃፃ

Note:

See TFR, p. 62ff. The names of most of the Angels encountered by Dee and Kelley can be found in other parts of the Angelic system, such as the Heptarchia or Great Table (Watchtower) systems. However, Nalvage is one of the few entirely unique Angels that appeared to the two men. He is the Angel who delivered the Corpus Omnium, the forty-eight Keys, and the ninety-one Parts of the Earth to Dee and Kelley. He appeared to be an Angel directly under the direction of Gabriel. Later (see TFR, p. 68), the Angel Madimi explains that Nalvage is a “close kinsman” of her mother (Galvah) and his name means Fuga Terrestrium—“Earth-Fleer” or “Avoidance of Earthly Things.”

(See also Ga, Galvah, Mapsama, Murifri, Vaa, and Za.)

Nanaeel (nay-NAY-ee-el)* n.

(My) Power

✠ 7 7 ✠ ✠ ✠ ✠

3.50 . . . you might work my power.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Na na e el) Four syllables. The double ee actually makes the long “e” sound, followed by the final l which sounds like “el.”

(*Dee—na-ná-ê-el) See the 48 Claves. Dee shows an accent on the second syllable. He also placed a circumflex over the first e, indicating the long sound.

Note:

This line in Key Three is spoken by God. Nanaeel does not represent “power” in the conventional sense of “strength” and “might.” (See Micaolz.) Instead, Nanaeel is likely related to Ananael (secret wisdom)—meaning that Nanaeel is descriptive of a kind of divine power.

Possible shared root:

Ananael (an-AN-ee-el)

Secret Wisdom

Nanba (nan-ba)* n.

Thorns

✠ V ✠ ✠ ✠ ✠

17.6 . . . whose wings are thorns to stir up vexation . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Nan ba) Two syllables.

Napeai (nay-pee-ay)* n.

Swords

𐌒𐌕𐌔𐌕𐌕𐌕

13.1 . . . O you swords of the south . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Na pe ai) Three syllables. The first a and the e should take their long sounds. The ai (or ay) should make a long “a” sound, as in the English words day and play.

(*Dee—Napêai) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed a circumflex over the e to indicate its long sound.

Also:

Napta (nap-ta)

Two-edged Swords

Nazpsad (nayz-pee-sad)

Sword

Closely related root:

Nazarth (nay-zarth)

Pillars (of Gladness)

Nazavabh (nay-zay-VAB)

(Hyacinth) Pillars

Note:

Apparently the “Naz” root holds some indication of “straightness,” while “Nap” indicates “sharpness.” The two come together in Nazpsad (sword).

Also compare to the name of the Angel Bnapsen, the Heptarchic King of Saturday. Perhaps his name contains some etymology of sword.

Compare from Loagaeth:Nap, Napo, Napod

Napta (nap-ta)* n.

(Two-edged) Swords

𐌒𐌕𐌔𐌕𐌕𐌕

9.4 . . . with two-edged swords flaming . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Nap ta) Two syllables.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Na za vábh) Three syllables, with the accent on the third syllable. The first two a's should be long, while the third a takes the short sound. The bh makes a soft "b" sound.

(*Dee—nazâvâbh) See the 48 Claves. Dee placed a circumflex over the a in the second syllable to indicate its long sound. He again placed an accent on the last syllable.

Also:

Nazarth (nay-zarth)

Pillars (of Gladness)

Note:

Patricia Shaffer has suggested that "hyacinth" may be an indication of the stone lapis lazuli, rather than the plant.

Closely related root:

Napeai (nay-pee-ay)

Swords

Napta (nap-ta)

Two-edged Swords

Nazpsad (nayz-pee-sad)

Sword

Note:

See note at Napeai.

Nazpsad (nayz-pee-sad)* n.

Sword

⚔️⚔️⚔️⚔️⚔️⚔️⚔️⚔️⚔️⚔️

1.15 . . . the sun is as a sword . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—NAZPSAD) Dee gives us little clue here. Most likely, the p must stand alone, since it does not make a natural sound when combined with the z or the s in English. Thus the word might be of three syllables. I have assumed the a takes a long sound based upon closely related words.

Also:

Napeai (nay-pee-ay)

Swords

Napta (nap-ta)

Two-edged swords

Closely related root:

Nazarth (nay-zarth)

Pillars (of Gladness)

Nazavabh (nay-zay-VAB)

(Hyacinth) Pillars

Note:

There appear to be two roots at work in Nazpsad—both “Naz” (straight/pillar) and “Nap” (sword/sharp).

Ne (nee)

n/a

73

Note:

See the Five Books, p. 298. This was at the very end of a session, after the curtain had been pulled to Kelley’s vision in the stone. A voice was heard to say, “Ne ne ne na Jabes.” This is likely a praise of some sort, but no translation is offered.

Compare from Loagaeth:

Ne

Netaab (nee-TAY-ab)* n.

Government

V # 3 ✓ 73

3.34 . . . placed you in 12 seats of government . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Netaab) Dee gives us little clue here. Instead, see his 48 Claves:

(Dee*—ne-tâ-ab) See the 48 Claves. Dee indicates three syllables here. The e should take its long sound. The first a has a circumflex over it, indicating the long sound. See Gnetaab (your governments) for the accent on the second syllable.

Also:

Anetab (ay-NEE-tayb)

(In) Government

Gnetaab (nee-TAY-ab)

(Your) Governments

Netaaib (nee-TAY-ay-ib)

Government

Tabaam (tay-BAY-an)

Governor

Tabaord (tay-BAY-ord)

(Let) Be Governed

Tabaori (tay-BAY-oh-rii)

Govern

“Tabas” (tay-BAS)

Govern

Further:

Cab (kab)

Rod/Scepter

Caba (ka-BA)

To Govern

Netaaib (nee-TAY-ay-ib)* n.

Government

V 7 8 9 7 9

30.25 . . . provided you for the government of the earth . . .Pronunciation notes:(Dee—Ne tá a ib*) Four syllables, with an accent on the second syllable.(Dee—netââib*) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee again placed the accent on the second syllable. He also placed a circumflex over the second a to indicate its long sound.Also:

Anetab (ay-NEE-tayb)

(In) Government

Gnetaab (nee-TAY-ab)

(Your) Governments

Netaab (nee-TAY-ab)

Governments

Tabaam (tay-BAY-an)

Governor

Tabaord (tay-BAY-ord)

(Let) Be Governed

Tabaori (tay-BAY-oh-rii)

Govern

"Tabas" (tay-BAS)

Govern

Further:

Cab (kab)

Rod/Scepter

Caba (ka-BA)

To Govern

NI (nii)*

28

7 9

7.12 . . . they are become 28 living dwellings . . .

Pronunciation notes:(Dee—Ni*) Dee seems to indicate a single syllable. I suggest a long "i" sound.Note:

This word was not originally given with Key Seven. It was added later when Nalvage transmitted the English for the Key (see TFR, p. 199). This seems to have been the case with many of the numbers mentioned in the Keys.

Note:See also OB (28).

Nia (nii-a) prop. n.

"The Twenty-Fourth Aethyr"

✱ 7 3

30.3 . . . which dwell in the twenty-fourth aethyr . . .Note:

This (word 30.3) is the single space in the Key of the Aethyrs, which must be changed for each invocation—replacing word 30.3 with the name of the appropriate Aethyr. No established definitions were given for these names.

Nia contains the three Parts of the Earth Orcanir, Chialps, and Soageel.

"Nibm" (nib-em) n.

Season

ε V 7 3

Compounds:

Lnibm (el-nib-em) [L + "Nibm"]

One Season

Nidali (nii-day-lee)* n.

Noises

7 2 ✱ 5 7 3

10.83 Come away, but not your noises.Pronunciation note:

(*Dee—Ni da li) Three syllables. All vowels appear to take their long sounds.

(*Dee—nidâli) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee places a circumflex over the a to indicate its long sound.

Niis (nii-IS)* v.

Come (Here)

7 7 7 3

5.43 . . . come you, and obey . . .8.46 . . . come, appear to the terror of the earth . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 5.43—Ni is)

(*Dee 8.46—Ni is, small sound of i) Two syllables. The first i appears to take the long sound. Dee's note about the "small sound of I" likely indicates a short sound for the i in the second syllable.

I have adopted the accent from the other versions of this word.

Also:

Niisa (nii-II-sa) Come Away

Niiso (nii-II-soh) Come Away

Niisa (nii-II-sa)* v.

Come Away

𐌺𐌹𐌶𐌰𐌶𐌰𐌺

11.31 . . . come away! for I have prepared . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ni í sa) Three syllables, with an accent on the second syllable. Both i's take their long sound. The word tends to sound more like two syllables when spoken fluently. (The double i would have combined to make a long "i" sound in Early Modern English.)

Also:

Niis (nii-IS) Come (Here)

Niiso (nii-II-soh) Come Away

Niiso (nii-II-soh)* v.

Come Away

𐌺𐌹𐌶𐌰𐌶𐌰𐌺

8.34 . . . come away! for the Thunders have spoken . . .

8.38 . . . come away! for the crowns of the Temple . . .

9.66 . . . come away! and not your vials . . .

10.80 . . . come away! but not your noises . . .

11.15 . . . come away! and they gathered them together . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 8.34, 38, 11.15—Ni í so)

(*Dee 9.66; 10.80—Ni i so) Three syllables, with an accent on the second syllable. Both i's should take a long sound. The word tends to sound more like two syllables when spoken fluently. (The double i would have combined to make a long "i" sound in Early Modern English.)

(*Dee 8.34, 38; 9.66; 11.15—Niíso) See the 48 Claves. Dee again shows the accent over the second i.

Also:

Niis (nii-IS)

Come (Here)

Niisa (nii-II-sa)

Come Away

Noaln (noh-ahn)* v.

May Be

30.51 . . . that the glory of her may be always drunkenPronunciation note:

(*Dee—No aln) Two syllables.

Also:

Noan (noh-an)

To Become

Noar (noh-ar)

Has Become

Noas (noh-as)

Have Become

Noasmi (noh-ays-mii)

(Let) Become

Note:

Compare this word to Noalmr, a Name of God in the Northern Watch-tower, ruling the Angels of medicine. Thus, the name may contain an etymology of “to become.”

Noan (noh-AN)* v.

To Become

2.33 For you are become a building . . .3.5 . . . you are become the skirts of justice . . .Pronunciation note:

(*Dee 2.33—No an) Two syllables.

(*Dee 3.55—Noan)

(*Dee 2.33—noán) See 48 Claves. The accent is placed on the second syllable.

Also:

Noaln (noh-ahn)

May Be

Noar (noh-ar)

Has Become

Noas (noh-as)

Have Become

Noasmi (noh-ays-mii)

(Let) Become

Noar (noh-ar)* v.

(Is) Become

𐌵𐌶𐌵𐌶

3.69 His name is become mighty amongst us.Pronunciation note:

(*Dee—Noar) This would appear to rhyme with the English words “roar” and “boar.” However, see Noan and Noaln—both of which are given two syllables.

Also:

Noaln (noh-aln)

May Be

Noan (noh-an)

To Become

Noas (noh-as)

Have Become

Noasmi (noh-ays-mii)

(Let) Become

Noas (noh-as)* v.

To Become

𐌵𐌶𐌵𐌶

5.5 The mighty sounds . . . are become as olives . . .11.19 and became the house of death.Pronunciation note:

(*Dee 5.5—Noas) This would appear to have a sound similar to the English words “toast” or “roast.” However, see Noan and Noaln—both of which are given two syllables.

Note:

This word was not given during the transmission of Key Eleven. Nor does it appear in Dee’s 48 Claves. We have only the English for the Key given on TFR, p. 193. Patricia Shaffer suggests this word here, and I have to agree.

Compounds:

Inoas (in-OH-as) [I + Noas]

Are Become

Also:

Noaln (noh-aln)

May Be

Noan (noh-an)

To Become

Noar (noh-ar)

Has Become

Noasmi (noh-ays-mii)

(Let) Become

Noasmi (noh-ays-mii)* v.

(Let) Become

ㄴ ㄷ ㄹ ㅅ ㅁ ㅂ

30.97 His buildings, let them become caves . . .Pronunciation note:

(*Dee—No as mi) Three syllables. The final i is given its long sound—like the English word “my.”

(*Dee—noâsmi) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed a circumflex over the a to indicate its long sound.

Also:

Noaln (noh-ahn)

May Be

Noan (noh-an)

To Become

Noar (noh-ar)

Has Become

Noas (noh-as)

Have Become

Nobloh (noh-bloh)* n.

Palms (or, Palms of)

ㄴ ㄷ ㄹ ㅅ ㅁ ㅂ

1.27 . . . trussed you together as the palms of my hands . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Nobloh)

Note:

There is some possibility that the -o affix is in use here. If so, then the final h could be a phonetic gloss. Due to lack of evidence, I’ve stuck with Dee’s spelling.

Noch (nok)

n/a

ㄴ ㄷ ㄹ ㅅ ㅁ ㅂ

Note:

See TFR, pp. 34–35. This session is recorded entirely in Latin. Here we find this Angelical phrase spoken by “a Voice”: “Garil zed masch, ich na gel galaht gemp gal noch Cabanladan.” No translation or context is offered.

Compare from Loagaeth:

Nocas, Nochas

Noco (NOH-kwoh)* n.

Servant

𐤍𐤏𐤕𐤍

(RFP) . . . I am a servant of the same . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Call it Noco) Two syllables. Note that other versions of this word are spelled with a q or qu. It is even likely that the word Noco should properly be spelled Noqo—with a Ger (Q) instead of Veh (C).

I have adopted the accent from other versions of this word.

Also:

Cnoqod (see-NOH-kwod)

(Unto) Servants

Cnoquodi (see-noh-KWOH-dii)

(With) Ministers

Cnoquol (see-NOH-kwol)

Servants

Note:

"Noquo" or "Noqo" may be the root for all words meaning "servant."

Also see Lang (Those Who Serve).

Noib (noh-ib)* adv.

Yea (Yes)

𐤍𐤁𐤏𐤁

10.7 . . . woe, woe, yea woe be to the earth . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—No ib) Two syllables. The o and i do not combine into one sound in this case. The o should take a long sound, and the i is likely short.

Nomig (noh-mig)* adv. or adj.

Even (as)

𐤍𐤓𐤓𐤍𐤁

10.60 . . . bringeth forth 1000 even as the heart of man . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—No mig big) Two syllables. The o is likely a long vowel. The final g seems to take a hard sound, as in the English word big.

Nonca (non-sa)* pron., pl.

(To) You

𐤍𐤏𐤏𐤕𐤍

30.11 . . . to you it is said, behold . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Nonca sa) Two syllables. The c takes a soft sound.

Also:

Noncf (non-sef)	You
Nonci (non-sii)	You
Noncp (non-sef)	You

Note:

For you singular, see Yls (thou).

Noncf (non-sef)* pron., pl.

You

ㄣ ㄝ ㄟ ㄟ

30.24 . . . provided you for the government . . .

30.32 . . . furnishing you with a power . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 30.24—Noncf Nonsf)

(*Dee 30.32—Non cf Nonsf) Two syllables. Dee shows us here that the c takes it soft “s” sound. The f likely sounds like “ef,” and (based on Noncp) I assume the word should end with Mals (Ph) rather than Or (F).

Also:

Nonca (non-sa)	(To) You
Nonci (non-sii)	You
Noncp (non-sef)	You

Note:

For you singular, see Yls (thou).

Nonci (non-sii)* pron., pl.

You

ㄣ ㄝ ㄟ ㄟ

12.1 . . . O you that reign . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Non ci, si) Two syllables. Dee indicates a soft “s” sound for the c. The final i is likely a long vowel.

Also:

Nonca (non-sa)	(To) You
Noncf (non-sef)	You
Noncp (non-sef)	You

Note:

For you singular, see Yls (thou).

Noncp (non-sef)* pron., pl.

You

𐌲𐌹𐌸𐌹𐌺

11.34 . . . I have prepared for you . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Noncp Nonsp) Two syllables. Dee shows us here that the c takes it soft “s” sound. I suspect the p is actually the digraph “ph”—as evidenced by the word Noncf.

Also:

Nonca (non-sa)	(To) You
Noncf (non-sef)	You
Nonci (non-sii)	You

Note:

For you singular, see Yls (thou).

“Nor” (nor) n.

Son

𐌲𐌹𐌸

Compounds:

Norqrasahi (nor-kra-sa-hii) [“Nor” + “Qrasahi”] Sons of Pleasure

Also:

“Norm” (norm)	Son/Sons
Noromi (noh-ROM-ii)	Sons

Note:

“Nor” appears to be the root here.

Compare from Loagaeth:

Nor

"Norm" (norm) n.

Son/ Sons

᠑᠙᠑᠑

Compounds:

Normolap (nor-moh-lap) ["Norm" + "Olap"]

Sons of Men

Also:

"Nor" (nor)

Son

Noromi (noh-ROM-ii)

Sons

Note:

"Nor" appears to be the root here.

Compare from Loagaeth:NorNormolap (nor-moh-lap) ["Norm" + "Olap"] comp.

Sons of Men

᠑᠙᠑᠑᠑᠑᠑᠑᠑᠑

4.47 . . . amongst the sons of men.

Pronunciation note:(Dee—Nor mo lap*) Three syllables. The second o should take the long sound.(Dee—Nor-mô-lap*) See the 48 Claves. Also three syllables. Dee added a circumflex over the second o to indicate its long sound.Note:

"Nor" appears to be the root here.

Compare from Loagaeth:NorNoromi (noh-ROM-ii) n.

Sons

᠑᠙᠑᠑᠑᠑

14.1 *O you sons of fury . . .Note:

The transmission of Key Fourteen is missing from Dee's journals. We only have the English for this Key given later (see TFR, p. 193). However, Illemese gives the pronunciation later in the journals on TFR, p. 200. Plus, the word appears in Dee's 48 Claves.

Pronunciation notes:

(Illemese*—No Romi.) See TFR, p. 200. I suggest three syllables. The first o and the final i should take their long sounds.

(Dee*—Norómi) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed an accent over the second syllable.

Also:

"Nor" (nor)

Son

"Norm" (norm)

Son/Sons

Note:

"Nor" appears to be the root here.

Compare from Loagaeth:

Nor

Norquasahi (nor-kway-SAY-hii)* ["Nor" + "Qrasahi"] comp.

Sons of Pleasure

ᠨᠣᠷᠠᠰᠠᠬᠢ

4.33 Arise you sons of pleasure and visit the earth . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Nor qua sa hi) Four syllables. Dee originally wrote this word with an r after the q. However, he replaced the r with a u in his phonetic note (indicating that the q takes the sound of "kwah"—the u is obviously a phonetic gloss). He did the same in the 48 Claves:

(Dee*—Nor quasáhi) See the 48 Claves. Note the accent on the third syllable.

Norz (norz)* n.

Six

ᠨᠣᠷᠵᠠ

3.9 Six are the seats of living breath . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Norz) One syllable.

Note:

This appears to be the word for "six" rather than the numeral 6.

Nostoah (nah-stah) comp.

It Was in the Beginning*

From Loagaeth:

(*Dee—Nostah = It was in the beginning.) See the Five Books, p. 323. “Nostah” is likely the pronunciation of Nostoah.

Note:

This seems similar to the Hebrew Berashith (It Was in the Beginning), the first word of Genesis. Much importance was placed upon this word in Jewish mysticism. (However, note that the very first word of the Holy Book of Loagaeth is Zuresch.)

Also see Acroodzi (beginning), Croodzi (beginning of things), Iaod (beginning), Iaodaf (in the beginning)

Nothoa (noth-OH-a)* prep.

Amidst

1.22 . . . in the midst of my vestures . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Nothoa) Likely three syllables.

(*Dee—nothóa) See 48 Claves. The accent is shown on the second syllable.

Note:

Also see Zomdux (amidst).

Med (O)

L

O (oh)

5

L

11.5 . . . and they were 5 thunders which flew . . .

O (oh) v.

"Come, and Bear Witness"*

L

Note:

(*Dee—Befafes O, is to call upon him as on God. Befafes O, is as much to say, Come Befafes and bear witness.) See the Five Books, p. 310. Dee is here using the Angel Befafes as an example. Note that O, by itself, seems to indicate "Come and Bear Witness."

Also see the Five Books, p. 258. Here, Raphael offers a long prayer, the very end of which is, "How great and innumerable are your [God's] gifts? O remiges varpax. Kyrie eleyson."

Also:

Oh (oh)

"Come, and Bear Witness" (?)

Compare from Loagaeth:

O, Oh

"Oado" (oh-ay-doh) v.

To Weave

L L L L

Compounds:

Dsoado (dee-soh-ay-doh) [Ds + "Oado"]

Which Weave

Oadriax (oh-AY-drii-aks)* n.

Lower Heavens

L L L L L L

30.118 . . . the lower heavens beneath you . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—O adriax) Likely four syllables, with an accent on the second syllable. The initial O stands alone. The first a likely takes its long sound—based on the sound of similar words. The i likely takes a long sound, because it precedes an a (as in the English word dial).

(*Dee—oádriax) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee again placed an accent over the a in the second syllable.

Also:

"Madriax" (MAY-drii-yaks) Heavens

Madriiix (MAY-drii-yaks) Heavens

Probable root:

Mad (mad) (Your) God, "Pure / Undeified"

Note:

I have suggested that Mad is simply a modified form of Iad. The I of Iad (God) became the M of Mad (your God) to indicate something celestial and divine—yet not quite God Himself. Therefore, Mad is the root of "Madriax" (the Heavens). Now, with Oadriax, we seem to have a further progression of this same concept. The M of Mad gives way yet again in favor of the O, causing the word to indicate "the lower Heavens."

Oai* (oh-AY-ii) prep.

Amongst

ㄗㄣㄌ

Alternate spelling:

(*Dee 1.67—AAI The first a may be an A an O or an e) Thus, there are two alternate spellings for Aai (amongst).

Pronunciation notes:

See Aai (amongst), which Dee indicates has three syllables.

Also:

Aai (ay-AY-ii) Amongst (You)

Aaf (ay-AF) Amongst

Aaiom (ay-AY-om) Amongst (Us?)

Aao (ay-ay-OH) Amongst

Eai (ee-AY-ii) Amongst

Oali (OH-ay-lii)* v.

To Place

ㄗㄣㄌ

4.14 . . . under whom I have placed 9639 . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—O a li) Three syllables, the O and a each standing alone. I have adopted the accent from Aala (to place).

Also:

Aala (AY-ay-la) To Place

Probable shared root:

Alar (AY-lar) To Settle/Place

Aldi (AL-dii) Gathering

Aldon (AL-don) Gird Up

Allar (AL-lar) To Bind Up

Oanio (oh-AY-nii-oh)* n. Moment

ㄣ ㄗ ㄣ ㄣ

10.39 . . . in the 24th part of a moment . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—O a' ni o) Four syllables. All of these vowels are given their long sounds. Accent placed on the second syllable.

(*Dee—oánio) See the 48 Claves. Again, Dee indicates an accent on the second syllable, and a long “i” sound.

Probable shared root:

“Qanis” (kway-nis) Olives

Ooaona (oh-oh-AY-oh-na) Eyes

Ooanoan (oh-oh-AY-noh-an) (In Their?) Eyes

Note:

The similar spelling suggests these three words are connected. This might make sense for Ooaona (eyes); the word Taqanis (as olives) in Key Five appears to refer to the stars. In biblical literature, the word “eyes” is often used to indicate “stars.” (Such as in the visions of St. John and Ezekiel, both of whom saw celestial Angels with wings “full of eyes.”) If this is the case, then the shared root here may indicate “small units,” which would explain its use to indicate a “moment” (Oanio).

OB (ob)*

28

V L

12.6 . . . and are 28 the lanterns of sorrow . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ob) One syllable.

Note:

This word was not originally given with Key Twelve. It was added later when Nalvage transmitted the English for the Key (see TFR, p. 193). This seems to have been the case with many of the numbers mentioned in the Keys.

See also NI (28).

Obelison (oh-bel-is-on) *prop. n.*Pleasant Deliverer (a name of Befafes)*

J L V L K T V L

Note:(Befafes*: The Egyptians called me Obelison in respect of my nature.Dee: I pray you, what is the etymology of Obelison?

Befafes: A pleasant deliverer.) See the Five Books, pp. 234–45 (and the note added later by Dee on p. 201). Dee here encounters the Heptarchic Angel Befafes (Prince of Tuesday), who also claims the title Obelison (Pleasant Deliverer).

Also:

Obelisong (oh-bel-is-ong)

Pleasant Deliverers

Obelisong (oh-bel-is-ong)* n.

Pleasant Deliverers

G J L V L K T V L

4.44 . . . and show yourselves as pleasant deliverers . . .Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Obelisong) Likely four syllables. I am assuming a hard g at the end of the word, as it should combine naturally with the n, as in the English words song and wrong.

Also:

Obelison (oh-bel-is-on)

Pleasant Deliverer (a name of Befafes)

Obloc (ob-lok)* n.

Garland

𐍂𐍊𐍅𐍂

6.13 . . . and a garland to the righteous.Pronunciation notes:

(Dee—Ob loc*) Two syllables. The initial O seems to take the short sound (rather than standing alone).

Also:

Oboleh (OB-oh-lay)

Garments

Note:

Both a garland and a garment are dressings. Also see Qaa (garments/creation).

Oboleh (OB-oh-lay)* n.

Garments

𐍂𐍊𐍅𐍂

1.36 . . . beautified your garments with admiration . . .Pronunciation notes:

(Dee—óbóleh*) See 48 Claves. Likely three syllables, showing the accent on the first syllable. The second o carries a circumflex, indicating the long sound.

Also:

Obloc (ob-lok)

Garland

Note:

Take special note that the “garments” beautified in this part of Key One are likely the Heavenly Spheres (or celestial orbits). Generally depicted as a set of concentric circles, these could be easily represented poetically as “garlands.”

Also see Qaa (garments/creation).

Obza (ob-za)* n.

Half

𐍂𐍊𐍅𐍂

9.12 . . . for two times and a half.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ob za) Two syllables.

Od (ohd or od)* conj.

And

- 1.24 ...and trussed you together ...
- 1.65 ...and reigneth among you ...
- 1.71 ...righteousness and truth ...
- RFP ...and show yourselves ... or ...and appear ...
- 2.27 ...and mightier are your voices ...
- 2.47 ...and make me a strong seething ...
- 3.26 ...which sleep and shall rise ...
- 3.31 ...and placed you in 12 seats ...
- 3.45 ...and the corners of your government ...
- 3.67 ...and name is become mighty ...
- 3.76 ...descend and apply yourselves ...
- 4.4 ...and have looked around me ...
- 4.34 ...and visit the earth ...
- 5.4 ...and are become as olives ...
- 5.10 ...and dwelling in the brightness ...
- 5.18 ...and gave them vessels ...
- 5.24 ...and they are the brothers ...
- 5.29 ...and the beginning of their own seats ...
- 5.40 ...and the contents of time ...
- 5.44 ...come you and obey your creation ...
- 5.48 ...in peace and comfort ...
- 6.12 ...and a garland to the righteous ...
- 6.18 ...and 7699 continual workmen ...
- 6.26 ...and continuance as the second ...
- 6.29 ...second and third ...
- 6.35 ...and I moved you ...
- 7.10 ...and they are become 28 ...
- 7.17 ...and they are appareled ...
- 7.29 ...and places of comfort ...
- 7.39 ...and be mighty amongst us ...
- 7.46 ...and our strength waxeth ...
- 8.18 ...and like unto the harvest ...

- 8.31 . . . house fall and the dragon sink . . .
- 8.42 . . . the Temple, and the coat . . .
- 8.50 . . . and to our comfort . . .
- 8.52 . . . and of such as are prepared . . .
- 9.11 . . . two times and a half . . .
- 9.17 . . . and of the marrow of salt . . .
- 9.23 . . . and are measured of their ministers . . .
- 9.45 . . . and from their mouths run seas . . .
- 9.53 . . . and upon their heads . . .
- 9.67 . . . Come away, and not your vials.
- 10.4 . . . and are harboured in the north . . .
- 10.15 . . . lamentation and weeping . . .
- 10.23 . . . burn night and day . . .
- 10.25 . . . and vomit out the heads of scorpions . . .
- 10.29 . . . scorpions and live sulphur . . .
- 10.44 . . . and a thousand times as many . . .
- 11.3 . . . and they were five thunders . . .
- 11.10 . . . and the Eagle spake . . .
- 11.13 . . . and cried with a loud voice . . .
- 11.16 . . . and they gathered themselves together . . .
- 11.18 . . . and became the house of death . . .
- 11.24 . . . and it is as they are . . .
- 12.4 . . . and are 28 lanterns . . .
- 12.11 . . . and visit us . . .
- 13.17 . . . God and His power . . .
- 15.15 . . . and the seal of honour . . .
- *16.8 . . . and shalt comfort the just . . .
- 16.16 . . . understand and separate . . .
- 17.18 . . . and hearken . . .
- 18.22 . . . and not to be measured . . .
- 30.7 . . . and execute the judgment . . .
- 30.27 . . . and her unspeakable variety . . .
- 30.39 . . . and rose up in the beginning . . .
- 30.46 . . . and let there be division . . .
- 30.54 . . . drunken and vexed . . .
- 30.60 . . . and as a handmaid . . .
- 30.67 . . . and let there be no creature . . .
- 30.78 . . . and let there be no one creature . . .

- 30.85 . . . vex and weed out . . .
 30.88 . . . and the dwelling places . . .
 30.93 . . . and his pomp . . .
 30.136 . . . add and diminish . . .
 30.154 . . . and make us partakers . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 1.71—OD drawing the O long)

(*Dee 1.24—As before OD) Key One was transmitted backward, so 1.71 came before 1.24.

(*Dee 3.31; 8.18, 50, 52—OD)

(*Dee 30.78—Od Long, or short)

(*Dee 2.27, 47; 3.45, 67, 76; 4.4, 34; 5.4, 10, 18, 24, 29, 40, 44, 48; 6.12, 18, 35; 7.10, 17, 29, 39, 46; 8.31, 42; 9.11, 17, 23, 45, 53, 67; 10.4, 15, 23, 25, 29, 44; 11.3, 10, 13, 24; 12.4, 11; 13.17; 16.16; 17.18; 18.22; 30.7, 27, 39, 46, 54, 60, 67, 85, 88, 93, 154—Od)

(*Dee 6.26, 29—od) Taking all of these notes together, I suggest a single syllable. The O may be long or short, though the long “oh” sound appears to dominate.

Note:

Words 11.16 and 11.18 do not appear in Dee’s journals, nor in the 48 Claves. We have only the English given for the Key on TFR, p. 193. Patricia Shaffer suggests the words for 11.16–19, and I agree with her conclusion.

 The transmission of Key Fifteen is missing from Dee’s journals. We only have the English for this Key given later (see TFR, p. 193). Plus, the word appears in this location in Dee’s 48 Claves.

* The transmission of the first twelve words of Key Sixteen is missing from Dee’s journals. We only have the English given for it on TFR, p. 194. However, they do appear in Dee’s 48 Claves.

Compounds:

Odapila (ohd-ap-ii-la) [Od + “Apila”]	And Liveth
Odbrint (ohd-brint) [Od + “Brint”]	And Hast
Odacocasb (ohd-kay-KOH-kazb) [Od + “Cacocasb”]
	And Another While
Odchis (ohd-kiis) [Od + Chis]	And Are

Odecrin (oh-dee-KRIN) [Od + "Ecrin"]	And the Praise
Odes (ohd-es) [Od + "Es"]	And Fourth
Odfaorgt (ohd-fay-or-jet) [Od + "Faorgt"]	And the Dwelling Place
Odipuran (ohd-II-pew-ran) [Od + Ip + "Puran"]	And Shall Not See
Odmiam (ohd-MII-am) [Od + Miam]	And Continuance
Odlonshin (ohd-lon-shin) [Od + "Lonshin"]	And (Their) Powers
Odquasb (ohd-kwazb) [Od + "Quasb"]	And Destroy
Odugeg (ohd-yew-JEJ) [Od + Ugeg]	And Wax Strong
Odvoosan (ohd-vay-ohn) [Od + Vooan]	And Truth
Odzamran (ohd-zam-ran) [Od + Zamran]	And Appear

Also:

Ot (oht)	And
----------	-----

Compare from Loagaeth:

Od

Odapila (ohd-ap-ii-la)* [Od + "Apila"] comp.

And Liveth

𐄂𐄃𐄅𐄆𐄇𐄈𐄉𐄊

4.39 . . . God which is and liveth.

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Od api la) Likely four syllables. The final i in the second syllable is long.

(Dee*—od Apila) See the 48 Claves. Dee added a circumflex over the i to indicate its long sound.

Odbrint (ohd-brint)* [Od + "Brint"] comp.

And Has

𐄂𐄃𐄅𐄆𐄇𐄈𐄉𐄊

17.9 . . . and hast 7336 living lamps . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Od brint) Two syllables. The initial O is likely long (see Od), while the i is likely short.

Odcacocasb (ohd-kay-KOH-kazb)* [Od + "Cacocasb"] comp.

And Another While

ʋ ʌ ʃ ɛ ɫ ɛ ʃ ɛ ʌ ɫ

30.108 . . . and another while a stranger . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Od ca có casb) Four syllables, with an accent on the third syllable. The final letters sb can combine to make a sound—though it is an odd one to our modern language. I have rendered the sound in my pronunciation as "zb."

(*Dee—od cacócasb) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee again placed an accent over the third syllable.

Note:

See Cocasb (time).

Odchis (ohd-kiis)* [Od + Chis] comp.

And Are

ʌ ɫ ɔ ɛ ʌ ɫ

6.24 . . . and are in government and continuance . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Od chif kif) Two syllables. The ch takes the harder "k" (or "kh") sound. Dee originally wrote this word as "Odkif." However, we see elsewhere that the Angelical word for are is spelled as Chis. In Dee's time, the letter s was sometimes written in an elongated form that looks similar to a lowercase f. (See Chis or Chiis for further pronunciation notes.)

(*Dee—od chis) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee confirms that the f in TFR should actually be an s.

Odecrin (oh-dee-KRIN)* [Od + "Ecrin"] comp.

And the Praise (of)

ɔ ɫ ɛ ɛ ɾ ɫ

6.41 . . . a song of honour and the praise of your God . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—O de crín) Three syllables. The initial O stands alone. The e likely takes the long sound, as it rests at the end of its syllable. (Also see the

Note:

It seems obvious that Ip should stand for “not” or perhaps “shall not” in this word. However, the word Uran appears earlier in Key Eight as the word “elders.” Therefore, it is unlikely that this word is intended here as “see.” It might be that the word is “Puran”—with the two p’s (between “Ip” and “Puran”) combined as normal for Angelical compounds.

Odlonshin (ohd-lon-shin)* [Od + “Lonshin”] comp.

And Powers

𐄂𐄃𐄅𐄆𐄇𐄈𐄉𐄊𐄋𐄌𐄍

4.28 . . . and their powers are as the first 456 . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Od lonshin) Three syllables.

Note:

There is no Angelical for their in the above.

Odmiam (ohd-MII-am)* [Od + Miam] comp.

And Continuance

𐄂𐄃𐄅𐄆𐄇𐄈𐄉𐄊𐄋𐄌𐄍

7.25 . . . whose kingdoms and continuance . . .

7.32 . . . seats of mercy and continuance . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 7.25—Od mi am, or Od Nuám)

(*Dee 7.32—Od mí am) I suspect that Dee had some confusion over the sound of word 7.25. However, by word 7.32, he seems to have settled upon his first assumption. Three syllables, with an accent on the second. The i should take the long sound.

Odo (od-oh)* v.

To Open

𐄂𐄃𐄅𐄆

(RFP), 30.151 Open the mysteries of your creation . . .

18.7 . . . which openest the glory . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 1.77—Call it ODO.)

(*Dee 18.7; 30.151—Odo) I suggest two syllables, the last o long.

Note:

Dere here uses the fallen version of the word Vooan (truth). However, it should likely be the dignified version for the purpose of the Call. (See Vooan and Vaoan.)

Odzamran (ohd-zam-ran)* [Od + Zamran] comp.

And Appear

𐄂𐄃𐄅𐄆𐄇𐄈𐄉𐄊

4.43 . . . move and show yourselves . . .

30.143 . . . move and appear . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 30.143—Od zamran) Three syllables.

Oecrimi (oh-EE-kriim-ii)* v.

To Sing Praises

𐄂𐄃𐄅𐄆𐄇𐄈𐄉𐄊

7.4 . . . a house of virgins singing praises amongst . . .

7.37 . . . appear, sing praises unto the creator . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 7.4—O écri mi)

(*Dee 7.37—O é crimi) This appears to be four syllables. The initial O and e each stand alone. The accent is placed on the second syllable. The first i seems to take the long sound.

(*Dee 7.4—oécri mi) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee again shows the accent on the e, and places a circumflex over the first i to indicate its long sound.

(*Dee 7.37—oëcrimi) See the 48 Claves. Dee placed a dieresis over the e to indicate that it does not combine its sound with the preceding O.

Also:

"Ecrin" (EE-krin)

Praise

Ofafafe (oh-FAY-fay-fee)* n.

Vials

𐄂𐄃𐄅𐄆𐄇𐄈𐄉𐄊

9.69 Come away, and not your vials

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—O fa fa fe) Four syllables. The initial O stands alone. The two a's and the final e should take their long sounds.

(*Dee—ofáfáfefe) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed an accent over the a in the second syllable. He also placed a circumflex over the second a to indicate its long sound.

Also:

Efafafe (ee-FAY-fay-fee)

Vials

Oh (oh) v

Come, and Bear Witness(?)*

⌚

Note:

See TFR, p. 3. The Angel Murifri here speaks a prayer in Angelical, and Kelley can only overhear a few of the words: Oh Gahire Rudna gepna oh Gahire. It is unclear whether this represents a single Angelical phrase, or if they are disconnected words recorded by Dee as Kelley overheard them here and there in the prayer. No translations are suggested. (It seems likely, at least, that Oh Gahire is intended as a repeated phrase.)

Also:

O (oh)

Come, and Bear Witness*

Note:

(*Dee—Befafes O, is to call upon him as on God. Befafes O, is as much to say, Come Befafes and bear witness.) See the Five Books, p. 310. Dee is here using the Angel Befafes as an example. Note that O, by itself, seems to indicate "Come and Bear Witness." The same is likely true of Oh, so that Oh Gahire is an invocation, likely of an aspect of God. (See Gahire for more.)

Compare from Loagaeth:

O, Oh

Ohio (oh-hii-oh)* n.

Woe

⌚⌚⌚⌚

10.65–70, 72 Woe, woe . . . yea woe be to the earth.

Note:

The Angel in Key Ten utters seven woes for the earth.

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—O hi o) Three syllables. Both Os stand alone, and the i should take a long sound.

(*Dee—Ohío) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee places a circumflex over the i—confirming its long sound.

Ohorela (oh-hor-EL-a)* v.

To Legislate

782092

1.39 . . .to whom I made a law to govern the holy ones . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—call it Ohorela) I assume this should be four syllables.

(*Dee—ohoréla) See 48 Claves. The accent is places on the third syllable.

“Oi” (oh-ii) adj. or pron.

This

72

Compounds:

Oisalman (oh-ii-SAYL-man) [“Oi” + Salman]

This House

Note:

This can be a pronoun (as in “this is my cat”), but it is used in this case as an adjective (“...until this house fall”).

Oiad (oh-ii-AD)* n.

(Of) God

2572

14.4 . . . the daughters of the Just . . .

14.19 . . . behold the voice of God . . .

18.9 . . . openest the glory of God . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dec 18.9—O i ad) Three syllables. The O and i each stand alone.

(*Dee 14.4, 19; 18.9—oiad) See the 48 Claves. Dee placed a circumflex over the i to indicate its long sound.

I have adopted the accent from similar words.

Note:

The transmission of Key Fourteen is missing from Dee's journals. We only have the English for this Key given later (see TFR, p. 193). Plus, the word appears in these locations in Dee's 48 Claves.

Others have suggested that word 14.4 should be Balit (the just). I would agree that Balit better fits the English in a literal sense. On the other hand, "the Just" in Key Fourteen might be a direct reference to God (as in the God of Justice), so that the English might better read "...the daughters of God." If so, then Oiad does fit better here.

Also:

Geiad (jej-AYD)	Lord and Master
Iad (yad)	God
"Iadoias" (jad-oh-JAS)	Eternal God
Iadpil (ii-AD-pil)	(To) Him
Ioiad (joh-JAD)	Him That Liveth Forever
Piad (pii-AD)	Your God

Probable root:

Ia (yah)	n/a
----------	-----

Oisalman (oh-ii-SAYL-man)* ["Oi" + Salman] comp. This House

𐄂𐄃𐄄𐄅𐄆𐄇𐄈𐄉

8.29 . . . until this house fall . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—O i sal man) Four syllables. Both the initial O and the i stand alone. (Rather than making the combined sound of "oy.")

(*Dee—O isâlman) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed a circumflex over the first a to indicate its long sound.

I have adopted the accent from Isalman (is a house).

Ol (ohl)* pron.

I

𐄂𐄃

1.1 . . . I reign over you . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ol) One syllable.

Probable root:

L (el)

First, One

Probable shared root:

Aqlo (AY-kwah-loh)

Thy

Bolp (bohlp)

Be Thou

Note:

The pronoun Ol (I) is used only once in the Keys—as the very first word of Key One. I should point out, though it may or may not be important, that it is used by God to refer to Himself. It may also appear as a root in words like Aqlo (thy) and Bolp (be thou).

Compare from Loagaeth:

Ol

OL (oh-el)*

24

10.38 . . . 5678 times in the 24th part of a moment . . .

14.8 . . . which sit on seats 24 . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—O L) Seems to be two syllables, each letter standing alone.

Note:

The transmission of Key Fourteen is missing from Dee's journals. We only have the English for this Key given later (see TFR, p. 193). Plus, the word appears in this location in Dee's 48 Claves.

See Ol (I) above. These two words do not seem related. Note that OL (24) is given a different pronunciation than Ol (I).

Olani (oh-el-AY-nii)* adv.

Two Times (Twice)

9.10 . . . vials 8 of wrath for two times and a half.

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—O L a ni) Four syllables. The O, l, and a each stand alone. It is unclear why the l is written as a capital.

(*Dee—oláni) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed an accent over the a in the third syllable.

Also:

Pala (pay-la)

Two, separated

Pola (poh-la)

Two, together

Note:

Also see Viv (second).

“Olap” (oh-lap) n.

Men

♂♂♂♂

Compounds:

Normolap (nor-moh-lap) [“Norm” + “Olap”]

Sons of Men

Also:

Ollog (ohl-log)

Men

“Ollor” (ohl-or)

Man

Olora (oh-loh-ra)

(Of) Man

Note:

Also see Cordziz (mankind).

Olcordziz (ohl-KORD-ziz)* [Oln + Cordziz] comp.

Made Mankind

♂♂♂♂♂♂♂♂

30.105 . . . it rependeth me I made man . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ol cord ziz) Three syllables. All vowels appear to take their short sounds.

(*Dee—olcórdziz) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed an accent on the second syllable.

Note:

It is not clear why Oln drops its n when compounded to Cordziz. However, since the English sense of this word is “I made mankind,” it may be a play on words between Oln (made) and Ol (I).

Ollog (ohl-log)* n.

Men

U L L L

13.10 . . . making men drunken . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ol log) Two syllables. I suggest a long sound for the initial O.

Also:

“Olap” (oh-lap)

Men

“Ollor” (ohl-lor)

Man

Olora (oh-loh-ra)

(Of) Man

Note:Also see Cordziz (mankind).

It is a long shot, but perhaps there is a relationship between this word and Oloag, a Name of God in the Northern Watchtower, ruling the Angels of medicine. Perhaps this is the God “of Man.”

“Ollor” (ohl-lor) n.

Man

S L L L

Compounds:

Lasollor (las-OHL-or) [“Las” + “Ollor”]

Rich Man

Also:

Ollog (ohl-log)

Men

“Olap” (oh-lap)

Men

Olora (oh-loh-ra)

(Of) Man

Note:Also see Cordziz (mankind).

Oln (ohln)* v.

Made (of)

Y L L

8.4 . . . third heaven made of hyacinth pillars . . .

Pronunciation note:

(*Dee—Oln) Dee seems to indicate a single syllable here.

Compounds:

Olcordziz (ohl-CORD-ziz) [Oln + Cordziz]

Made Mankind

Note:See note at Olcordziz.Also:

Eol (ee-OHL)

Made

Eolis (ee-OH-lis)

Making

Compare from Loagaeth:Olna, Olnah, Olneh, OlnohOlor (oh-loh-ra) n.

(Of) Man

✠ ㊤ ㊤ ㊤

10.62 . . . as the heart of man doth his thoughts.Pronunciation notes:(Dee*—O lo ra) Three syllables. Both Os appear to take their long sounds.(Dee*—olôra) See the 48 Claves. Dee here placed a circumflex over the second o to indicate its long sound.Also:

Ollog (ohl-log)

Men

"Olap" (oh-lap)

Men

"Ollor" (ohl-lor)

Man

Note:Also see Cordziz (mankind).Also:See note at Ollog.Om (om)* v.

To Understand/Know

㊤ ㊤

2.4 . . . can the wings of the winds understand . . .10.52 . . . neither know at any time . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Om)

Compounds:

Dsom (dee-som) [Ds + Om]

That Understand

Ixomaxip (iks-oh-MAKS-ip) ["Ix" + Omax + "Ip"] Let Her Be Known

Also:

Omax (oh-MAKS)

Knowest

"Oma" (oh-ma)

(Of) Understanding

"Omp" (omp)

Understanding

Compare from Loagaeth:

Om

"Oma" (oh-ma) n.

(Of) Understanding

✚ ㄥ ㄹ

Compounds:

Gmicalzoma (jee-mii-KAYL-zoh-ma) [Gmicalzo + "Oma"]

Power of Understanding

Also:

Om (om)

Understand/Know

Omax (oh-MAKS)

Knowest

"Omp" (omp)

Understanding

Omaoas (oh-may-OH-as)* n.

Names

ㄴ ㄹ ㄹ ㄹ ㄹ ㄹ

30.91 . . . let them forget their names . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—O ma o as) Four syllables. Both Os stand alone. I suggest a long a at the end of the second syllable, because it is immediately followed by an o.

(*Dee—omaóas) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed an accent on the o in the third syllable.

Apparent shared root:

Dooaip (doo-OH-ip)

In the Name

Dooain (doo-OH-ay-in)

Name

Dooiap (doo-OY-ap)

In the Name

Note:

I assume that the combination of oa forms the root of these words.

Omax (oh-MAKS) v.

To Know

𐄂𐄃𐄄𐄅

15.12 . . . who knowest the great name . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—ômax) See the 48 Claves. Likely two syllables. Dee placed a circumflex over the initial O to indicate its long sound. I have adopted the accent from Ixomaxip (let her be known).

Note:

The transmission of Key Fifteen is missing from Dee's journals. We only have the English for this Key given later (see TFR, p. 193). Plus, the word appears in this location in Dee's 48 Claves.

This is likely an instance of the -ax suffix, indicating action.

Also:

Om (om)

To Understand/Know

"Oma" (oh-ma)

Understanding

"Omp" (omp)

Understanding

Compound:

Ixomaxip (iks-oh-MAKS-ip) ["Ix" + Omax + "Ip"] Let Her Be known

Omicaolz (oh-mii-KAY-ohl-zohd)* v.

(Be) Mighty

𐄂𐄃𐄄𐄅𐄆𐄇𐄈𐄉

7.40 . . . be mighty amongst us . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—O mi ca ol zod) Five syllables. The initial O stands alone. The i should likely take its long sound. The a should also take its long sound—as it is followed by an o (as in the English word chaos). The final z stands alone.

I have adopted the accent from other versions of this word.

Also:

Gmicalzo (jee-mii-KAYL-zoh)	Power
Micalzo (mii-KAYL-zoh)	Power/Mighty
Micaoli (mii-KAY-oh-lee)	Mighty
Micaolz (mii-KAY-ohlz or mii-KAY-ohl-zohd)	Mighty
Micalp (mii-KALP)	Mightier

Possible shared root:

Miketh (mii-KETH)	"The True Measure of the Will of God in Judgment, Which Is by Wisdom" (?)
-------------------	---

Note:

See also Vohim (mighty).

"Omp" (omp) n.	Understanding
	ΩεΖ

Compounds:

Omptilb (omp-tilb) ["Omp" + Tilb]	Her Understanding
-----------------------------------	-------------------

Also:

Om (om)	To Understand/Know
"Oma" (oh-ma)	(Of) Understanding
Omax (oh-MAKS)	Knowest

Note:

I am unsure if "Omp" is a proper element here, or if the compound should be Om + "Ptilb." (See "Ip" and "Pi"—both versions of "her.")

Omptilb (omp-tilb)* ["Omp" + Tilb] comp.	Her Understanding
	VxTΩεΖ

30.101 . . . confound her understanding with darkness . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Omp tilb) Two syllables. I find that this word, when spoken fluently, has a nearly silent p.

Note:

See note at "Omp."

Also:

See Om (know).

Ooanoan (oh-oh-AY-noh-an)* n.

Eyes

9.40 In their eyes are millstones . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—O o A no an) Five syllables—though I find the word sounds more like four syllables when spoken fluently. The first two *O*s and the first a each stand alone. Dee might have capitalized the A to indicate the accent.

(Dee*—oöánôan) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed a dieresis over the second o to indicate that it does not combine its sound with the previous vowel. He placed an accent over the a in the third syllable. Finally, he placed a circumflex over the third o to indicate its long sound.

Also:

Ooaona (oh-oh-AY-oh-na)

Eyes

Probable shared root:

"Qanis" (kew-ay-nis)

Olives

Oanio (oh-AY-nii-oh)

Moment

Note:

The similar spelling suggests these four words are connected. This might make sense for Ooanoan (eyes): the word Taqanis (as olives) in Key Five appears to refer to the stars. In biblical literature, the word "eyes" is often used to indicate "stars." (Such as in the visions of St. John and Ezekiel, both of whom saw celestial Angels with wings "full of eyes.")

If this is the case, then the shared root here may indicate small units, which would explain its use to indicate a moment (Oanio).

Also compare the name of the Part of the Earth (and its Angelic Governor), Ooanamb.

Ooaona (oh-oh-AY-oh-na)* n.

Eyes

✱ 3 2 ✱ 2 2

13.5 . . . which have 42 eyes to stir up wrath . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—O O Ao na.) Dee indicates here that the two first Os should stand alone. Next, there is no ao letter combination in Early Modern English. Instead, the letters must make two sounds—as in the word chaos. That makes this a word of five syllables (although the double Os do tend to blend when this word is spoken fluently). I assume the last a is short, and the accent is on the third syllable, as indicated in the word Ooanoan (their eyes).

(*Dee—ooáôna) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed the accent over the first a (which should be the third syllable). He also placed a circumflex over the third o to indicate its long sound.

Compounds:

Sabaoaona (say-bay-oh-oh-AY-oh-na) ["Saba" + Ooaona]

Whose Eyes

Also:

Ooanoan (oh-oh-AY-noh-an)

Eyes

Probable shared root:

"Qanis" (kew-ay-nis)

Olives

Oanio (oh-AY-nii-oh)

Moment

Ooge (oh-øj)* n.

Chamber

7 6 2 2

2.21 . . . for the chamber of righteousness . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ooge) Dee gives us little clue here. Though, the final e likely makes the preceding g soft.

(*Dee—öoge) See 48 Claves. Note the dieresis over the first O, showing that its sound does not combine with the following o. (I suggest the first O takes the long sound, and the second takes the short sound.) Thus, this is likely a word of two syllables.

OP (oh-pee)

22

10.12 . . . are 22 nests of lamentation . . .

Note:

This word was not originally given with Key Ten. It was added later when Nalvage transmitted the English for the Key (see TFR, p. 192). This seems to have been the case with many of the numbers mentioned in the Keys.

Oq (oh-kwah)* prep. or conj.

But/Except

2.37 . . . is not but in the mind of the all-powerful.

Pronunciation note:

(*Dee—O qua) Two syllables, each letter stands alone. (The q makes the sound of “kwah.”)

(*Dee—o-q) See 48 Claves. This note matches Dee’s note from TFR.

Note:

Oq (but) is a preposition. See Crip (but), which is a conjunction.

Or (or)* *prop. n.*Letter *FNote:

The name of the Angelical letter for F. It is likely that these letter names have translations of their own. (For instance, note the Hebrew alphabet: the letter F is named Peh, but Peh also translates as “mouth.”) However, such translations for the Angelical letters are never given. (See the Five Books, p. 270.)

Pronunciation note:

(*Dee—The voice seemed orh.) Dee likely added this note to distinguish the sound of Or from the sound of Ur. (See the note at Ur.)

Compare from Loagaeth:

Or

Orh (or) prop. n.

"A Spirit of Darkness"*

∞&L

From Loagaeth:

(*Dee—The spirit Orh is the second in the scale of imperfections of darkness.)

See the Five Books, p. 310.

Probable shared root:

Ors (ors)

Darkness

Compare from Loagaeth:

Orh, Orho

Oroch (oh-ROK) prep.

Under

∞E&L

14.15 . . . which have under you 1636.

Pronunciation notes:

I have adopted the accent from Orocha (beneath).

Note:

The transmission of Key Fourteen is missing from Dee's journals. We only have the English for this Key given later (see TFR, p. 193). Plus, the word appears in this location in Dee's 48 Claves.

Also:

Orocha (oh-ROH-ka)

Beneath

Possible shared root:

Orri (or-ii)

Barren Stone

Ors (ors)

Darkness

Orsba (ors-ba)

Drunken

Orscor (ors-kor)

Dryness

Orscatbl (ors-kat-bel)

Buildings

Orocha (oh-ROH-ka)* prep.

Beneath

*∞E&L

30.119 . . . the lower heavens beneath you, let them serve . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—O ro cha ka) Three syllables. The ch takes a hard “k” (or “kh”) sound, as in the English word ache.

(*Dee—orócha) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed an accent upon the second syllable.

Also:

Oroch (oh-ROK) Under

Possible shared root:

Orri (or-ii)	Barren Stone
Ors (ors)	Darkness
Orsba (ors-ba)	Drunken
Orscor (ors-kor)	Dryness
Orscatbl (ors-kat-bel)	Buildings

Orri (or-ii)* n. (Barren) Stone

ṚṚṚṚ

2.26 . . . stronger are your feet than the barren stone.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Orri) Likely two syllables. A double r in Early Modern English represents a single “r” sound. The final i likely takes the long vowel sound.

Possible shared root:

Oroch (oh-ROK)	Beneath
Orocha (oh-ROH-ka)	Under
Ors (ors)	Darkness
Orsba (ors-ba)	Drunken
Orscor (ors-kor)	Dryness
Orscatbl (ors-kat-bel)	Buildings

Ors (ors)* n. Darkness

ṚṚṚṚ

30.102 Confound her understanding with darkness.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ors) One syllable.

Also:

Orh (or)

A Spirit of Darkness

Possible shared root:

Oroch (oh-ROK)

Beneath

Orocha (oh-ROH-ka)

Under

Orri (or-ii)

Barren Stone

Orsba (ors-ba)

Drunken

Orscor (ors-kor)

Dryness

Orscatbl (ors-kat-bel)

Buildings

Compare from Loagaeth:

Oarz, Ors, Orse, Orze, Orsa, Orsat, Ors lah

Orsba (ors-ba)* adj.

Drunken

𐌵𐌹𐌰𐌸𐌰𐌹

13.11 . . . making men drunken which are empty.30.53 . . . may always be drunken and vexed . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 13.11; 30.53—Ors ba) Two syllables.

Possible shared root:

Oroch (oh-ROK)

Beneath

Orocha (oh-ROH-ka)

Under

Orri (or-ii)

Barren Stone

Ors (ors)

Darkness

Orscor (ors-kor)

Dryness

Orscatbl (ors-kat-bel)

Buildings

Compare from Loagaeth:

Oarz, Ors, Orse, Orze, Orsa, Orsat, Ors lah

Orscatbl (ors-kat-bel)* n.

Buildings

𐌵𐌹𐌰𐌸𐌰𐌹𐌰𐌹

30.96 His buildings, let them become caves . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ors cat bl) Three syllables. In order for the final bl to form one syllable, the l must sound as “el.”

Note:

It would seem that Ors (darkness) plays a role in this word—perhaps it is due to the comparison to caves. As far as I can tell, the root letters of Tilb (her) are not intended.

Also see Trof (a building).

Possible shared root:

Oroch (oh-ROK)	Beneath
Orocha (oh-ROH-ka)	Under
Orri (or-ii)	Barren Stone
Ors (ors)	Darkness
Orsba (ors-ba)	Drunken
Orscor (ors-kor)	Dryness

Compare from Loagaeth:

Oarz, Ors, Orse, Orze, Orsa, Orsat, Ors lah

Orscor (ors-kor) n.

Dryness

⚡⚡⚡⚡

15.10 . . . weave the earth with dryness . . .

Note:

The transmission of Key Fifteen is missing from Dee's journals. We only have the English for this Key given later (see TFR, p. 193). Plus, the word appears in this location in Dee's 48 Claves.

Possible shared root:

Oroch (oh-ROK)	Beneath
Orocha (oh-ROH-ka)	Under
Orri (or-ii)	Barren Stone
Ors (ors)	Darkness
Orsba (ors-ba)	Drunken
Orscatbl (ors-kat-bel)	Buildings

Compare from Loagaeth:

Oarz, Ors, Orse, Orze, Orsa, Orsat, Ors lah

OS (os)

12

Compounds:

Thilnos (thil-nos) ["Thiln" + Os]

12 Seats

Oslondoh (os-LON-doh) [Os + Londoh]

12 Kingdoms

Compare from Loagaeth:

Os

Osf (os-ef) n.

Discord

From Corpus Omnium:

Found in the Tribulation portion of the Table, in the phrase Osf Ser Iad (Discord and Sorrow of God).

Oslondoh (os-LON-doh)* [Os + Londoh] comp.

12 Kingdoms

3.8 . . . on whose hands stand 12 kingdoms.Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Os Lon doh [Os signifieth twelve.]) Dee notes that this is a compound word. It has three syllables.

(*Dee—Os Lón-doh) See the 48 Claves. Other versions of Londoh show the accent on the "doh" syllable. However, when compounded with Os, the accent moves to the "Lon" syllable.

Ot* (ot) conj.

And

Alternate spelling:

(*Dee 1.75—OD . . . or OT)

Also:

Od (ohd)

And

Othil (oh-THIL)* n. or v.

Seats (of)/To Set

3.11 . . . six are the seats of living breath . . .4.1 . . . I have set my feet in the south . . .Note:

Perhaps Key Four should literally read "the seats of my feet are in the south," but this is stated better in English just as it is written in Key Four.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 3.11—Othil)

(*Dee 4.1—O thil) Two syllables. The O stands alone.

(*Dee 3.11—óthil) See 48 Claves. Dee places the accent on the first syllable.(*Dee 4.1—Othil) See 48 Claves. Here, Dee places the accent on the second syllable. I have adopted this option in my pronunciation.Compounds:

Othilrit (oh-THIL-rit) (Othil + Rit)

Seats of Mercy

Also:

Thil (thil)

Seats

Thild (thild)

Seats

"Thiln" (thiln)

Seats

Othilrit (oh-THIL-rit)* [Othil + Rit] comp.

Seats of Mercy

7.3 . . . the seats of mercy and continuance . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—O thil rit) Three syllables. The O stands alone. The i's should both take a short sound.

(*Dee—Othilrit) See the 48 Claves. Dee places an accent on the second syllable.

Oucho (oh-yew-choh)* v.

To Confound

L O O B A L

30.65 One season, let it confound another.Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—O v Cho Chose) Dee shows us three syllables, with the O and the u/v standing alone. It is unlikely that Dee intended the u to sound like “vee,” because the letter precedes a consonant. (Further supporting this is the “u” sound in other versions of this word.) Finally, Dee adds “chose”—to show us that the ch in the last syllable should make the “tch” sound (as in church and chose), and the O should be long.

Also:

Unchi (un-kii)

To Confound

Urch (urk)

The Confusers

Note:

It would appear that “uch” serves as a common root between these words.

Ovoars (oh-voh-ars)* n.

Center

V E S L A L

18.10 . . . the glory of God to the center of the earth.Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—O vo ars) Three syllables. The initial O stands alone. Dee then shows a long “o” sound at the end of the second syllable. He may have mistakenly written an o in place of the a in the third syllable, or it is an error in TFR.

(*Dee—ouôars) See the 48 Claves. Dee places a circumflex over the second o to indicate its long sound. Note the a has returned to the third syllable.

Ovof (oh-vof)* v.

To Magnify

F L A L

12.18 . . . the Lord may be magnified whose name . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—O vof) Two syllables. The initial O stands alone.

OX (oks)*

26

ㄱㄴ

8.6 . . . made of hyacinth pillars 26 in whom . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ox) One syllable.

Note:

This word was not originally given with Key Eight. It was added later when Nalvage transmitted the English for the Key (see TFR, p. 192). This seems to have been the case with many of the numbers mentioned in the Keys.

Oxex (oks-eks)* v.

To Vomit (i.e., To Hurl Forth)

ㄱㄴㄴㄴ

10.26 . . . and vomit out the heads of scorpions . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ox ex) Two syllables. The vowels both appear to take their short sounds.

Note:

This is not the Angelical word for vomit (a noun). Instead, this word is a verb, as in a volcano “vomiting” lava or a cannon “vomiting” flame. I notice this word falls just short of the -ax suffix, indicating action.

This word may share the masculine “Ox” root with the following:

Possible shared root:

Oxiayal (oks-AY-al) [Tox? + Iaial]

Mighty Seat

Oxo (oks-oh)

“The Fifteenth Aethyr”

Tox (toks)

His

Oxiayal (oks-AY-al)* [Tox? + Iaial] comp. Mighty Seat (i.e., Divine Throne)

ㄱㄴㄴㄴㄴㄴ

11.1 The Mighty seat groaned . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ox i Ay al) Dee heard four syllables, with an accent on the second syllable. However, Illemese corrected this later:

(Illemese—Ox cai al. Sai) See TFR, p. 200. Three syllables. The c used in the second syllable of Illemese' phonetic note takes an "s" sound—which I believe indicates the second half of the sound of "x." It appears to me that the accented i in Dee's phonetic note is not sounded at all in Illemese's version. It is unclear if the i should also be removed from the Angelical spelling of the word as well. (I have decided to leave it in.) Next, the letters ai or ay combine to form a long "a" sound—as in the English words dais and day. Finally, I have left the accent on the second syllable.

Possible shared root:

Oxex (oks-eks)

To Vomit

Tox (toks)

His

Note:

This reference to laial (conclude or judge), combined with the root of Tox (him/his), seems to make perfect sense when describing the Holy Merkavah—the Throne or "Judgment-Seat" of God.

Oxo (oks-oh) prop. n.

"The Fifteenth Aethyr"

30.3 . . . which dwell in the fifteenth aethyr . . .

Note:

This (word 30.3) is the single space in the Key of the Aethyrs, which must be changed for each invocation—replacing word 30.3 with the name of the appropriate Aethyr. No established definitions were given for these names.

Note that this word is a palindrome, spelled the same forward and backward.

Oxo contains the three Parts of the Earth Tahamdo, Nociabi, and Tastoxo.

Possible shared root:

Oxex (oks-eks)

To Vomit

Tox (tox)

His

Ozazm (oz-az-em)* v.

To Make (Me)

ㄟPㄟPㄟ

2.48 . . . and make me a strong seething . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ozazm) Likely three syllables.

Also:

Ozazma (oz-az-ma)

To Make (Us)

Note:Also see Oln (made) and Eol (made).Ozazma (oz-az-ma)* v.

To Make (Us)

ㄟㄟPㄟPㄟ

30.155 . . . and make us partakers of undefiled knowledge.Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ozazma) Likely three syllables.

Also:

Ozazm (oz-az-em)

To Make (Me)

Note:Also see Oln (made) and Eol (made).Ozien (oh-ZEEN)* n.

(Mine Own) Hand

ㄟ7ㄟPㄟ

3.23 . . . except by mine own hand.Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ozien) I assume there should be two syllables here. The Early Modern English letter combination ie can make a long “e” sound. (It can also make a long “i” sound—but usually in combination with ght. So I have settled on the long “e” sound instead.)

(*Dee—ozien) See the 48 Claves. Dee places the accent on the i—or the second syllable.

Also:

Azien (az-EEN)	(On Whose) Hands
Zien (zeen)	Hands

Probable shared root:

Ozol (oh-ZOHL)	Hands
Zoi (zohd-OL)	Hands

Ozol (oh-ZOHL)* n.	Hands 𐤒𐤒𐤒𐤒
---------------------------	-----------------

9.55 . . . and upon their hands are marble . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—O zol) Two syllables. The first O stands alone. Note how the z is not extended to “zohd” in this version of the word. (Compare to Zol.) This further supports the theory that the extended z is not a grammatical rule, but a lyrical flourish.

(*Dee—ózó) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed accent marks over both syllables. It is unclear which syllable should take the accent. I have chosen the second syllable based on other versions of this word.

Note:

Ozol was translated as “heads” in Key Nine. However, this is apparently a mistake. Zol is elsewhere translated as “hands,” and this makes much more sense in the English given for the Key.

Also:

Zol (zohd-OL)	Hands
---------------	-------

Shared root:

Azien (az-EEN)	(On Whose) Hands
Ozien (oh-ZEEN)	(Mine Own) Hand
Zien (zeen)	Hands

Ozongon (OH-zohn-gon)* n.	Manifold Winds 𐤒𐤒𐤒𐤒𐤒𐤒𐤒𐤒
----------------------------------	----------------------------

2.31 . . . mightier are your voices than the manifold winds.

Pronunciation note:

(*Dee—Ozongon)

(*Dee—ôzôngon) See 48 Claves. Apparently three syllables. Dee places an accent on the first syllable. He also places a circumflex over the second o—indicating its long sound.

Also:

Zong (zong) Winds

Mals (P)

P (pee)

8

9.8 . . . which have 8 vials of wrath . . .

Pronunciation notes:

A letter standing alone sounds like the English name of that letter.

Note:

This word was not originally given with Key Nine. It was added later when Nalvage transmitted the English for the Key (see TFR, p. 191). This seems to have been the case with many of the numbers mentioned in the Keys.

Pa (pah) prop. n.

Letter B

Note:

The name of the Angelical letter for B. It is likely that these letter names have translations of their own. (For instance, note the Hebrew alphabet: the letter B is named Beth, but Beth also translates as “house” or “dwelling.”) However, such translations for the Angelical letters are never given. (See the Five Books, p. 270.)

Compare from Loagaeth:

Pa

“Paaox” (PAY-ay-oks) v.

To Remain

Compounds:

Dspaaox (dee-SPAY-ay-oks) [Ds + “Paaox”]

Which Remain

Also:

Paaox (PAY-ay-ox)

(Let) Remain

Note:

Compare this word to the name of the Angel Paax (an Angel of medicine of the Western Watchtower).

Paaoxt (PAY-ay-okst)* v

To Remain

30.133 No place, let it remain in one number.Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Pa a oxt) Three syllables. Both a's appear to make the long vowel sound. The accent on the first syllable is taken from Dspaaox.

Also:

“Paaox” (PAY-ay-oks)

To Remain

Note:

It is possible that the difference in spelling between “Paaox” and Paaoxt is merely a phonetic gloss.

Pacaduasam (pak-ad-yew-as-sam)

n/a

Note:

(Dee—Huseh Huseh Huseh garmal, Peleh Peleh Peleh pacaduasam.) See the Five Books, p. 415. This is part of a prayer recited jointly by the Archangels Michael, Raphael, and Uriel. No translations are suggested.

Possible shared root:Pacaph (pak-af)

n/a

Compare from Loagaeth:

Pacad, Pacadaah, Pacadabaah, Pacadura, Pachad, Pachadah, Pachadora, Pachadpha, and maybe Paxchadma

Pacaph (pak-af)

n/a

Note:

See the Five Books, p. 413. Kelley overhears many voices singing a song at some distance, and these are the words Dee recorded: Pinzu-a lephe ganiurax kelpadman pacaph. No translations are suggested.

Note:

The similarity between this word and the Hebrew Pachad (fear).

Possible shared root:

Pacaduasam (pak-ad-yew-as-sam)

n/a

Compare from Loagaeth:

Pacad, Pacadaah, Pacadabaah, Pacadura, Pachad, Pachadah, Pachadora, Pachadpha, and maybe Paxchadma

Padgze (paj)* n.

"Justice From Divine Power Without Defect"

7P6X#Ω

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Pagze/Pag.) See the Five Books, p. 316. I suspect that Dee is indicating that gze should combine into a soft "g" (or "dg") sound. Thus, the word is one syllable, suggested by Pag in Dee's phonetic note.

From Loagaeth:

(*Dee—Justice from Divine Power without defect.) See the Five Books, p. 316.

Paeb (pay-eb)* n.

Oak

V7#Ω

10.8 . . . an oak whose branches are 22 nests . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Pa eb) Two syllables. The a appears to take its long sound. The e should be short.

(*Dee—pæb) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee uses the "ash" (æ), which can make a short "a" sound or a long "e" sound. However, this conflicts with his two-syllable phonetic note in TFR. I have settled on the TFR version in this case.

"Page" (pay-jee) v.

To Rest

76#Ω

Compounds:

Pageip (pay-jee-ip) ["Page" + Ip]

Rest Not

Compare from Loagaeth:

Pagesgem, Pageh, Pagel, Arpagels, Arpaget, and maybe Nagel.

Pageip (pay-jee-ip)* [“Page” + Ip] comp.

Rest Not

Ω 7 7 6 ♯ Ω

10.50 . . . which rest not neither know any long time . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Pa ge ip) Three syllables. The a and e likely take long sounds. The g—preceding an e—should take the soft “j” sound.

(*Dee—pagêip) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed a circumflex over the e to indicate its long sound.

Paid (pay-id)* adv.

Always

Ω 7 ♯ Ω

30.52 . . . may be always drunken and vexed . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Pa id) Dee here indicates two syllables.

Pal (pal)* prop. n.

Letter X

Ω ♯ Ω

Note:

The name of the Angelical letter for X. It is likely that these letter names have translations of their own. (For instance, note the Hebrew alphabet: the digraph Tz is named Tzaddi, but Tzaddi also translates as “fish hook.”) However, such translations for the Angelical letters are never given. (See the Five Books, p. 270.)

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—The p being sounded remissly.) The Latin word remissus means “to relax”—from which we get the English word remiss (to neglect or ignore). Therefore, the P in Pal must be very relaxed—nearly silent.

Compare from Loagaeth:

Pal

Pala (pay-la) n.

Two, separated*

✱ ㄹ ㄱ ㄹ ㄴ

From Loagaeth:

(*Dee—Pola and Pala signify Two. Pola signifieth two together, and Pala signifieth two separated.) See Five Books, p. 304. Pola (two together, or couple) appears in Loagaeth, while Pala is mentioned only in the marginal note. See also Viv (second).

Also:

Olani (oh-el-AY-nii)

Two Times, Twice

Pola (poh-la)

Two-together

“Pam” (pam) adv.

Not

ㄴ ㄱ ㄴ

Compounds:

Ipam (ip-am) [I + “Pam”]

Is Not

Ipamis (ip-am-is) [I + “Pamis”]

Can Not Be

Note:

The words “Pam” and “Pamis” are very uncertain. In Angelical, the word I (is/are) becomes its own antonym in the form of Ip (not). However, both Ipam and Ipamis demand the essential form of the word I (for “is” and “be” respectively). That leaves “Pam” and “Pamis” as possible words. Of course, Ip could stand as a root here. See also “Ge” (not) and Ag (none).

Pambt (pamt)* prep.

Unto (Me)

ㄴ ㄴ ㄴ ㄱ ㄴ

18.26 Be thou a window of comfort unto me.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Pambt) One syllable. I suspect the a should take a short sound. The b in the letter combination mb is likely near-silent—as in the English words comb and bomb.

Note:

Also see Tia (unto) and Pugo (as unto).

"Pamis" (pam-is) v.

Cannot

ʌ ɹ ɛ ʃ ɹ

Compounds:

Ipam (ip-am) [I + "Pam"]

Is Not

Ipamis (ip-am-is) [I + "Pamis"]

Can Not Be

Note:

See note at "Pam."

Panpir (pan-per)* v.

To Pour Down (Rain)

ɛ ɹ ɹ ɹ ʃ ɹ

3.51 . . . pouring down the fires of life and increase . . .Pronunciation notes:(*Dee—Panpir) Likely two syllables.Paombd (pay-omd)* n.

Members (Parts, Appendages)

ɪ ʋ ɛ ɹ ʃ ɹ

30.75 All her members, let them differ . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Pa Ombd) Dee indicates two syllables. I assume the mb represents the same sound as in the English words comb, tomb, and bomb. As for the vowel sounds, the note indicates a long a immediately followed by a short o—as in the English word chaos.

Papnor (pap-nor)* n.

Remembrance (Memory)

ɛ ɹ ɹ ɹ ʃ ɹ

7.43 For to this remembrance is given power . . .Pronunciation notes:(*Dee—Pap nor) Two syllables. Both vowels are likely short.Par (par)* pron.

(In) Them

ɛ ʃ ɹ

9.65 . . . the God of Righteousness rejoiceth in them.

(Dee—Par*) One syllable.

Equal

30.81 . . . no one creature equal with another . . .

(*Dee—Pa rach Ah Ach) Two syllables. Dee seems to indicate that the final ch can take a softer “h” sound or a harder “kh” sound (as in the English word ache). I suggest a combination of the two, for a very soft “kh.” (Also note the pronunciation of Paraclede (wedding), which uses a hard “c” sound.)

I have adopted the accent from Paracelda.

Paracleda (par-AK-lee-da)

Wedding

Also see Lel (same).

Paracleda (par-AK-lee-da)* n.

Wedding

2.17 ... I have prepared as cups for a wedding ...

(Dee—Paracleda*) Should be four syllables. The c should take the hard sound when followed by an l—as in the English words clean and climb.

(Dee*—paráclêda) See 48 Claves. The accent is on the second syllable. The e has a circumflex, indicating its long sound.

Parach (pay-RAK)

Equal

Also see Pala (two together, couple).

Paradial (pay-ray-DII-al)* n.

Living Dwellings

7.13 . . . 28 living dwellings . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Pa ra di al) Four syllables, with an accent on the third syllable.

(*Dee—paradial) See the 48 Claves. The accent is again on the third syllable.

Note:

The word for "house" is given elsewhere as Salman. Here in Key Seven, however, this word is used after Paradiz (virgins) at 7.3. I assume these "living dwellings" are directly related to the Paradiz in some fashion.

Probable shared root:

Paradiz (pay-ray-DII-zohd)

Virgins

Paradiz (pay-ray-DII-zohd)* n.

Virgins

𐌱𐌴𐌹𐌶𐌴𐌺𐌰

7.3 The east is a house of virgins . . .

Note:

There seems to be some relationship between Paradiz here, and the word Paradial (living dwellings) that appears later in the same Key. Paradial is obviously a special case, as the word for "house" is given elsewhere as Salman.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Pa ra di zod) Four syllables. The z stands alone. Also, see Paradial (living dwellings) for the accent on the third syllable.

Probable shared root:

Paradial (pay-ray-DII-al)

Living Dwellings

Parm (parm)* v.

To Run

𐌱𐌴𐌹𐌶𐌴𐌺𐌰

9.47 . . . from their mouths run seas of blood.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Parm) One syllable.

Also:

Parmgi (parm-jii)

(Let) Run

Parmgi (parm-jii)* v.

(Let) Run

ᲛᲗᲔᲑᲑᲗᲚ

30.58 Her course, let it run with the heavens . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Parm gi) Two syllables. The g preceding an i likely takes the soft sound.

Also:

Parm (parm)

To Run

Pasbs (pas-bes) n.

Daughters

ᲛᲗᲔᲑᲑᲗᲚ

14.3 . . . the daughters of the just . . .

Note:

The transmission of Key Fourteen is missing from Dee's journals. We only have the English for this Key given later (see TFR, p. 193). Plus, the word appears in this location in Dee's 48 Claves.

"Patralx" (PAY-tralks) n.

Rock

ᲛᲗᲔᲑᲑᲗᲚ

Compounds:

Lpatralx (el-PAY-tralks) [L + "Patralx"]

One Rock

Paz (paz) prop. n.

"The Fourth Aethyr"

ᲛᲗᲔᲑᲑᲗᲚ

30.3 . . . which dwell in the fourth aethyr . . .

Note:

This (word 30.3) is the single space in the Key of the Aethyrs, which must be changed for each invocation—replacing word 30.3 with the name of the appropriate Aethyr. No established definitions were given for these names.

Paz contains the three Parts of the Earth Thotanp, Axziarg, and Pothnir.

PD (pee-dee)*

33

𐤑𐤎

4.10 . . . Thunders of Increase numbered 33 which reign . . .

Pronunciation notes:(*Dee—PD Pe De) Two syllables, each letter stands alone.

Peleh* (pee-lay)

Worker of Wonders(?)

𐤑𐤅𐤋𐤍

Note:

(*Dee—Huseh Huseh Huseh garmal, Peleh Peleh Peleh pacaduasam.) See the Five Books, p. 415. This is part of a prayer recited jointly by the Archangels Michael, Raphael, and Uriel. No translations are suggested.

Note:

The Divine Name “PELE” appears on Dee’s Ring of Solomon. This Name appears in Agrippa’s Three Books . . . , Book III, chapter 11: (Pele, signifieth with us, a worker or miracles, or causing wonders.) In Hebrew, it is spelled Peh, Lamed, Aleph. (Also see “Lzirn” —To Work Wonders).

Compare from Loagaeth:Peleh

PERAL (pee-AR-al)*

69636

𐤑𐤅𐤋𐤍

5.34 . . . lamps 69636 whose numbers are . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Pe ó al) Dee originally received this word as “Peoal,” but it was later corrected to Peral (see TFR, p. 191). For my pronunciation, I have retained the structure of Dee’s phonetic note, but applied it to the corrected word. It should therefore be three syllables, with an accent on the second. The r (instead of o) stands alone, and takes the accent.

(*Dee—Peóal) See the 48 Claves. This note essentially matches that from TFR. Dee did not correct the spelling of this word in the 48 Claves.

Phama (fama) v.

I Will Give*

𐌸𐌹𐌸𐌺𐌺𐌺

From Loagaeth:

(*Dee—Phamah/fama = I will give.) See the Five Books, p. 320.

“Pi” (pii) pron.

She

𐌺𐌺

Compounds:

Pii (pii-ii) [“Pi” + I]

She Is

Also:

“Ip” (ip)

Her

Note:

Also see Tilb (her).

Piad (pii-AD)* n.

(Your) God

𐌸𐌹𐌸𐌺𐌺

3.3 . . . behold, sayeth your God . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Pi ad) Two syllables. Likely a long “i” sound. I have adopted the accent from similar words.

Also:

Geiad (jej-AYD)

Lord and Master

Iad (yad)

God

“Iadoias” (jad-oh-JAS)

Eternal God

Iadpil (ii-AD-pil)

(To) Him

Ioiad (joh-JAD)

Him That Liveth Forever

Mad (mad)

(Your) God

Oiad (oh-ii-AD)

Of God

Probable root:

Ia (yah)

n/a

Piadph (pii-AD-ef)* n.

The Depths of (My) Jaws

𐌱𐌰𐌳𐌹𐌱𐌹𐌸

2.12 . . . burning flames have framed within the depths of my jaws . . .Pronunciation notes:(*Dee—Piadph) Dee gives us little clue here.(*Dee—pi-ādph) See 48 Claves. Likely three syllables. The i takes its long sound. The accent is on the second syllable.Note:

This reference may be similar to “from the bottom of my heart” or even “deep in my gut.” Otherwise, it may indicate “in my throat”—as the reference here in Key Two is to a song.

Piad (your God) does not appear to be intended in this case. It is perhaps a coincidental similarity in spelling.

“Piamol”

n/a

Note:

Not an Angelical word. Dee and Kelley experienced problems during the reception of this word—intended for position 1.70 (righteousness). The Angels blamed the difficulty on interference from false spirits. This resulted in the erroneous transmission of “Piatol”—apparently a combination of the word preceding it in the Key (1.69—Piap) and the word actually intended here (1.70—Baltle). Dee’s first attempt to correct the word—made while the false spirits continued to interfere—resulted in “Piamol.” The next day, the Angels corrected it to Baltle (a form of Balt). See Baltle.

Piap (pii-ap) n.

Balance

𐌱𐌰𐌳𐌹𐌱𐌹𐌸

1.69 . . . the balance of righteousness . . .“Piatol”

n/a

Note:

Not an Angelical word. Dee and Kelley experienced problems during the reception of this word—intended for position 1.70 (righteousness).

The Angels blamed the difficulty on interference from false spirits. This resulted in the erroneous transmission of “Piatol”—apparently a combination of the word preceding it in the Key (1.69—Piap) and the word actually intended here (1.70—Baltle). Dee’s first attempt to correct the word—made while the false spirits continued to interfere—resulted in “Piamol.” The next day, the Angels corrected it to Baltle (a form of Balt). See Baltle.

Pibliar (pib-lii-AR)* n.

Places of Comfort

⚡ 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7

7.30 . . . strong towers and places of comfort.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Pib li ar) Three syllables. The first i should take a short sound, while the second i should take its long sound.

(*Dee—pibliar) See the 48 Claves. Dee places a circumflex over the second i to indicate the long sound.

I have adopted the accent from Bliora (comfort).

Also:

“Bigl” (big-el)	Comforter
“Bliard” (blii-ARD)	Comfort
Blior (blii-OR)	Comfort
Bliora (blii-OH-ra)	Comfort
Bliorax (blii-OH-raks)	To Comfort
Bliorb (blii-ORB)	Comfort
Bliors (blii-ORS)	Comfort
“Bliort” (blii-ORT)	Comfort

Pidiai (pii-dii-ay-ii)* n.

Marble

7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7

9.57 . . . and upon their heads are marble sleeves.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Pi di a i) Four syllables. The a and final i each stand alone.

Pii (pii-ii)* ["Pi" + I] comp.

She Is

77Ω

30.111 . . . she is the bed of an harlot . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Pi i) Two syllables. I assume a long i in the first syllable. The i in the second syllable stands alone, also making a long "i" sound.

Pilah (pee-ii-lah)* adv.

Moreover

ΩΩ✱77Ω

1.47 Moreover, you lifted up your voices . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Three syllables. P is distinctly sounded by itself.)

(*Dee—Pilah) See 48 Claves. There is a dieresis placed over the i, to indicate that the vowel stands alone.

Pild (pild)* adv.

Continually

777Ω

3.54 . . . upon the earth continually.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Pild) Seems to be one syllable.

Note:

See also Cocasb (time), Capimali (successively), Cacacom (flourish).

Pilzin (pil-zin)* n.

Firmaments of Waters

77P77Ω

6.6 . . . mighty in the firmaments of waters . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Pilzin pilzen) Likely two syllables.

Shared root:

Zlida (zohd-lida)

To Water

Note:

Pilzin is a noun, while Zlida is a verb.

Pinzu (pin-zoo)*

n/a

אפזלנ

Note:

See the Five Books, p. 413. Kelley overhears many voices singing a song at some distance, and these are the words Dee recorded: Pinzu-a lephe ganiurax kelpadman pacaph. No translations are suggested.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—This “a” was sounded to the end of pinzu as we use in english ballads, as with this word “down” is sounded as “downa, down a down a,” etc.)

There is an extra “a” appended to Pinzu in Dee’s journal (pin-zoo-ah). His marginal note explains this is merely a melodic flourish in the song, and not part of the word itself.

Pir (per) n.

Holy (Ones)

ענ

1.41 . . . a law to govern the holy ones . . .

Note:

Apparently a reference to the celestial bodies/Angels.

Based on the words that seem to share Pir as their root, I suspect the i in Pir is a phonetic gloss.

Possible root for:

Piripsax (per-IP-saks)	The Heavens
Piripsol (per-IP-sol)	Heavens
Piripson (per-IP-son)	(Third?) Heaven
“Pirgah” (pur-jah)	The First Glory
“Pirgi” (pur-jii)	Fires
“Prg” (purj)	Flame
Prge (purj)	Fire
Prgel (pur-jel)	Fire
“Purg” (purj)	Flames

"Pirgah" (pur-jah) n.

"The First Glory" (lit., Flames)

ᠠᠢᠰᠢᠭᠠᠩ

Compounds:

lalpirgah (YAL-pur-jah) ["lalprt" + "Pirgah"] Flames of the First Glory

Also:

"Pirgi" (pur-jii) Fires

"Prg" (purj) Flame

Prge (purj) Fire

Prgel (pur-jel) Fire

"Purg" (purj) Flames

Possible root:

Pir (per) Holy Ones

Note:

"Pirgah" is obviously a form of the word Prge (fire), and must mean "the First Glory"—that is, the Light of Divinity. (Possibly a reference to the rising Sun.)

Also see lalpirt (light), which seems to indicate light from celestial beings.

Also see BUSD (glory), which seems to indicate "wondrous."

Also see Adgmach (glory), which seems to indicate "adoration, praise."

"Pirgi" (per-jii) n.

Fires

ᠠᠢᠰᠢᠭᠢ

Compounds:

Malpirgi (mal-per-jii) ["Mal" + "Pirgi"] Fires of Life and Increase

Also:

"Pirgah" (pur-jah) The First Glory

"Prg" (purj) Flame

Prge (purj) Fire

Prgel (pur-jel) Fire

"Purg" (purj) Flames

Possible root:

Pir (per) Holy Ones

Note:

See Prge (fire).

Piripsax (per-IP-saks)* n.

Heavens

30.59 . . . let it run with the heavens . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee—Pe rip sax*) Three syllables. Dee shows an e at the end of the first syllable, but it should take the short sound, as the letter is actually i.

(Dee—peripsax*) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee places an accent over the i in the second syllable.

Also:

Piripsol (per-IP-sol)

Heavens

Piripson (per-IP-son)

(Third?) Heaven

Note:

Also see "Madriax" (Heavens) and Oadriax (Heavens).

Possible shared root:

Pir

Holy Ones

Piripsol (per-IP-sol)* n.

Heavens

5.12 . . . the brightness of the heavens . . .

30.21 . . . the brightness of the heavens . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 5.12—Pir ipsol)

(*Dee 30.21—Pe ríp sol) Three syllables, accent on the second syllable. Dee's note at 30.21 seems to indicate a long "e" sound in the first syllable—but his note at 5.12 does not show such. I have settled upon the short "e" sound.

(*Dee 5.12—périp̄sol) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee moved the accent to the first syllable.

(*Dee 30.21—perípsol) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee moved the accent back to the second syllable.

Also:

Piripson (per-IP-son)

(Third?) Heaven

Piripsax (per-IP-saks)

The Heavens

Note:

Also see "Madriax" (Heavens) and Oadriax (lower Heavens).

Possible shared root:

Pir

Holy Ones

Piripson (per-IP-son)* n.

(Third?) Heaven

𐌱𐌹𐌺𐌱𐌺𐌹𐌺𐌹𐌺

8.3 . . . first, is as the third heaven . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Pi ríṑ son) Three syllables, with an accent on the second syllable. The first i seems to take a long sound in Dee's phonetic note. However, other versions of this word clearly indicate a short "i" sound instead (which I have shown in my pronunciation as a short "e" sound).

(*Dee—piripson) See the 48 Claves. The accent is again shown on the second syllable.

Note:

The word D (third) does not appear here. This could be a proper name for the third Heaven.

Also:

Piripsol (per-IP-sol)

Heavens

Piripsax (per-IP-saks)

The Heavens

Note:

Also see "Madriax" (Heavens) and Oadriax (lower Heavens).

Possible shared root:

Pir (per)

Holy Ones

Plapli (play-plii)* n.

Partakers (of) 𐌱𐌹𐌺𐌱𐌹𐌺𐌹𐌺𐌹𐌺

3.79 . . . partakers of the secret wisdom . . .

30.156 . . . make us partakers of undefiled knowledge.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 3.79—It is Plapli)

(*Dee 30.156—Pla pli) Two syllables, and none of these letters stand alone.

Plosi (ploh-sii)* idiom

As Many

ㄗ ㄛ ㄛ ㄛ ㄛ

10.47 . . . 1000 times as many . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Plo si) Two syllables. The o and i should take their long sounds.

Note:

Also see “Irgil” (how many)

Poamal (poh-mal)* n.

Palace

ㄗ ㄛ ㄛ ㄛ ㄛ ㄛ

1.64 . . . in the midst of your palace . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Poamal) The Early Modern English letter combination oa makes a long “o” sound (as in the English words boat and coat). Therefore, I suspect this word should have two syllables.

Poilp (poylp)* v.

To Divide

ㄛ ㄛ ㄗ ㄛ ㄛ ㄛ

8.45 . . . the crowns of the Temple and the coat of Him . . . are divided.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Poilp; one syllable) Dee indicates one syllable for this word. Therefore, the oi letter combination should make an “oy” sound—as in the English words boil and boy.

Also:

Yrpoil (yur-POY-il)

Division

Pola (poh-la) n.

Two together, Couple*

✱ ㄥ ㄹ ㄴ ㄴ

From Loagaeth:

(*Dee—Pola and Pala signify Two. Pola signifieth two together, and Pala signifieth to separated.) See Five Books, p. 304. Pola (two together, or couple) appears in Loagaeth, while Pala (two-separated) appears only in the marginal note.

See also Viv (second)

Also:

Olani (oh-el-AY-nii)

Two Times, Twice

Pala (pay-la)

Two, separated

Pop (pop) prop. n.

"The Nineteenth Aethyr"

ㄴ ㄴ ㄹ ㄴ

30.3 . . . which dwell in the nineteenth aethyr . . .

Note:

This (word 30.3) is the single space in the Key of the Aethyrs, which must be changed for each invocation—replacing word 30.3 with the name of the appropriate Aethyr. No established definitions were given for these names.

Also note this word is a palindrome, spelled the same forward and backward.

Pop contains the three Parts of the Earth Torzoxi, Abriond, and Omagrap.

"PraF" (praf) v

To Dwell

ㄹ ㄹ ㄷ ㄴ

Compounds:

Dspraf (dee-es-praf) [Ds + "PraF"]

Which Dwell

Pragma (prag-ma)

n/a (?)

✱ ㄷ ㄴ ㄹ ㄹ ㄷ ㄴ

Note:

See TFR, p. 32. Here, the Angel Madimi has just interrupted the session to exorcise several demons from the body of Kelley. (See Carma.) These spirits came out of Kelley violently, scratching each other in the face and swarming about Madimi. To her, the spirits spoke in Angelical, "Gil de pragma kures helech." Dee asks Madimi what this means, and she replies (in Latin), "We want to live here in our [friends]." (Madimi does not offer definitions for the individual words.)

When Dee asks who these "friends" are supposed to be, the spirits indicate Kelley as their place of habitation. (Probably meaning both Dee and Kelley.) Madimi then banishes these spirits.

Prdzar (purd-zar)* v.

To Diminish

᠎ᠠᠷᠳᠵᠠᠷ

30.137 Add and diminish until the stars be numbered.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Prd zar Pur) Two syllables. The r takes the "ur" sound.

(*Dee—prd-zar) See the 48 Claves. Dee again indicates two syllables.

Note:

Perhaps there is a relationship between this word and the Name of God Ardza, found on the Eastern Watchtower, ruling the Angels of medicine. If so, its attribute may be "to diminish" disease.

"Prg" (purj) n.

Flame

᠎ᠠᠷᠭᠠ

Pronunciation notes:

See note at Prge (Fire).

Compounds:

Ialprg (YAL-purj) ["Ialprt" + "Prg"]

Burning Flame

Malprg (mal-purj) ["Mal" + "Prg"]

Through-thrusting Fire

Also:

"Pirgah" (pur-jah)

The First Glory

"Pirgi" (pur-jii)

Fires

Prge (purj)

Fire

Prgel (pur-jel)

Fire

"Purg" (purj)

Flames

Possible root:

Pir (per)

Holy Ones

Note:

Both this word and Vep (flame) are nouns. For a verb form, see Ialpon (to burn). For an adjective form, see Ialpor (flaming). See also Ialpirt (light), which seems to indicate light from celestial beings.

Prge (purj)* n.

Fire

𐌱𐌸𐌵𐌺

1.32 . . . with the fire of gathering . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—as purge) The e in Prge is likely a phonetic gloss, giving the g its soft sound. See the following words for more of Dee's phonetic glosses upon "Prg."

Also:

"Pirgah" (pur-jah)

The First Glory

"Pirgi" (pur-jii)

Fires

"Prg" (purj)

Flame

Prgel (pur-jel)

Fire

"Purg" (purj)

Flames

Possible root:

Pir (per)

Holy Ones

Note:

See note at "Prg."

Prgel (pur-jel) n.

Fire

𐌱𐌸𐌵𐌺

9.3 A mighty guard of fire . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Pur gel) Two syllables. The r takes the extended “ur” sound. The g should be soft before the letter e. The e in this word is likely a phonetic gloss. See note at Prge (fire).

Also:

“Pirgah” (pur-jah)	The First Glory
“Pirgi” (pur-jii)	Fires
“Prg” (purj)	Flame
Prge (purj)	Fire
“Purg” (purj)	Flames

Possible root:

Pir (per)	Holy Ones
-----------	-----------

Note:

See note at “Prg.”

Priaz (prii-AYZ)* pron. or adj.

Those

𐀢𐀭𐀮𐀵𐀶

30.122 . . . govern those that govern . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Priáz) Likely two syllables, with the accent on the second syllable. I assume the i takes a long sound, because it is followed by an a (as in the English dial). I have given the a its long sound based on the pronunciation of Priazi (those).

(*Dee—priáz) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee again places the accent upon the second syllable.

Also:

Priazi (prii-AY-zii)	Those
----------------------	-------

Priazi (prii-AY-zii)* pron. or adj.

Those

𐀮𐀢𐀭𐀮𐀵𐀶

30.128 Bring forth with those that increase . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Pri á zi) Three syllables. The a stands alone in the second syllable and takes the accent.

Also:

Priaz (prii-AYZ)

Those

Pugo (pug-oh)* prep.

As unto

𐄂𐄂𐄂𐄂

3.78 . . . unto us as unto partakers of the secret wisdom . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—It is Pugo) Likely two syllables, and I suggest a short u and a long final o.

Note:

Also see Tia (unto) and Pambt (unto).

“Puin” (pew-in) n.

(Sharp) Sickles

𐄂𐄂𐄂𐄂

Compounds:

Tapuin (TAY-pew-in) [Ta + “Puin”]

As (Sharp) Sickles

“Puran” (pew-ran) v.

To See

𐄂𐄂𐄂𐄂𐄂

Compounds:

Odipuran (ohd-II-pew-ran) [Od + Ip + “Puran”]

And Shall Not See

“Purg” (purj) n.

Flames

𐄂𐄂𐄂

Compounds:

Iaipurg (YAL-purj) [“Ialprt” + “Purg”]

Burning Flames

Malpurg (mal-purj) [“Mal” + “Purg”]

Fiery Darts (Arrows)

Also:

“Pirgah” (pur-jah)

The First Glory

"Pirgi" (pur-jii)	Fires
"Prg" (purj)	Flame
Prge (purj)	Fire
Prgel (pur-jel)	Fire

Possible root:

Pir (per)	Holy Ones
-----------	-----------

Note:

See note at "Prg."

Ger (Q)

L

Q (kwah)* conj.

Or

L

30.71 . . . no creature upon or within her . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Q) One syllable. Likely takes the “kwah” sound.

Compounds:

Qmospleh [Q + “Mospheh”]

Or the Horns

Qta [Q + Ta]

Or as

Qaa (kwah-AY-ay)* n.

Creation (or “Garments”)

X X L

1.21 . . . measureth your garments . . .

(RFP) . . . open the mysteries of your creation . . .

30.153 Open the mysteries of your creation.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 1.21—QAA three syllables)

(*Dee 1.RFP—Call it QAA. Three syllables with accent on the last A)

(*Dee 30.153—Q á a) These notes tell us that each letter should stand by itself, making a word of three syllables. In one case (1.RFP), the accent is placed on the third syllable. Yet, elsewhere, it is placed on the second. I have opted for the second syllable accent, as we can also see in Qaan (creation).

(*Dee 1.21—Qa-a) See 48 Claves. Here, Dee indicates a word of two syllables instead.

(*Dee 11.RFP—Qaa) See 48 Claves. Dee indicates the accent on the third syllable.

(*Dee 12, 30.RFP—Qaa) See 48 Claves. Here, Dee indicates the accent on the second syllable.

(*Dee 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18.RFP—Qäa) See 48 Claves. Dee places a dieresis over the first a, giving it a long sound.

Note:

The first Key is the only place where Qaa is translated as “garments.” I get the impression that this rogue definition of Qaa is meant to indicate “created forms” instead of clothing. It has been common to Western mysticism (Platonism, Neoplatonism, Gnosticism) to refer to the physical body (the created form) as a “garment” worn by the soul. (See Layton’s The Gnostic Scriptures, p. 38, “Repentance and Elevation of Wisdom,” where the word garment is used to refer to the body.)

Note that the common word for “garment” (or clothing) in Angelical is given as Oboleh, and related to the word Obloch (garland)—indicating a dressing.

Note also that Zimz (vestures) is not a reference to clothing.

Compounds?:

Qaal (kwah-AY-el) (Qaa + L) Creator

Qadah (kwah-AY-dah) [Qaa + Iaida?] Creator

Also:

Qaan (kwah-AY-an) Creation

Qaaon (kwah-AY-ay-on) Creation

Qaas (kwah-AY-as) Creation

Qaal (kwah-AY-el)* [Qaa + L] comp. Creator

4.41 . . . in the name of the Creator . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Qa al) Appears to be two syllables. However, also see the 48 Claves:

(*Dee—Q-á-al) See the 48 Claves. Here Dee shows the proper three syllables, with an accent on the second syllable. The Q and the first a each stand alone.

Note:

The word Qaa is translated as “Creation.” Combining this with L implies “the First Creator.”

Also:

Qadah (kwah-AY-dah) [Qaa + Iaida?] Creator

Qaan (kwah-AY-an)* n.

Creation

𐄂 𐄃 𐄄 𐄅

3.81 . . . secret wisdom of your creation . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—It is q á an) Three syllables, with the accent on the second syllable.

(*Dee—Qáan) See the 48 Claves. The accent is again on the second syllable.

Also:

Qaa (kwah-AY-ay)

Creation (or Garments)

Qaaon (kwah-AY-ay-on)

Creation

Qaas (kwah-AY-as)

Creation

Qaaon (kwah-AY-ay-on)* n.

Creation

𐄂 𐄃 𐄄 𐄅

6.43 . . . your God in your creation . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Q a a on) Four syllables. The Q and both a's stand alone.

(*Dee—Q-a-a-on) See the 48 Claves. This note matches that from TFR.

I have adopted the accent from other versions of this word.

Also:

Qaa (kwah-AY-ay)

Creation (or Garments)

Qaaon (kwah-AY-an)

Creation

Qaas (kwah-AY-as)

Creation

Qaas (kwah-AY-as)* n.

Creation

𐄂 𐄃 𐄄 𐄅

5.46 . . . obey your creation . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Q á as) Three syllables, with an accent on the second syllable. The first a stands alone.

(*Dee—Q-á-as) See the 48 Claves. This note matches that from TFR.

Also:

Qaa (kwah-AY-ay)	Creation (or Garments)
Qaan (kwah-AY-an)	Creation
Qaaon (kwah-AY-ay-on)	Creation

Qadah (kwah-AY-dah)* [Qaa + Iaida?] comp. Creator

7.38 . . . sing praises unto the creator.

Note:

The word Qaa is translated as “Creation.” Combining this with Iaida may imply the Highest Creator.

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Q á dah) Three syllables, with an accent on the second syllable.

Both the Q and the a stand alone.

(Dee*—q-a-dah) See the 48 Claves. This note is essentially the same as that in TFR—without the accent mark.

Also:

Qaal (kwah-AY-el)	Creator
-------------------	---------

“Qanis” (kway-nis) n.

Olives

Compounds:

Taqanis (tay-kway-nis) [Ta + “Qanis”]	As Olives
---------------------------------------	-----------

Probable shared root:

Ooanoan (oh-oh-AY-noh-an)	(In Their?) Eyes
Ooaona (oh-ona)	Eyes
Oanio (oh-nii-oh)	Moment

Note:

The similar spelling suggests these three words are connected. This might make sense for Ooaona (eyes): the word Taqanis (as olives) in Key Five appears to refer to the stars. In biblical literature, the word “eyes” is often used to indicate “stars.” (Such as in the visions of St. John and Ezekiel—who both saw celestial Angels with wings “full of eyes.”)

If this is the case, then the shared root here may indicate “small units,” which would explain its use to indicate a “moment” (Oanio).
Also see Adroch (olive mount).

Qcocasb (kwah-KOH-kasb)* n.

Contents of Time

ᵛᵛᶞᶞᵛᵛᵛᵛᵛᵛ

5.41 . . . the first, ends, and contents of time . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Q có casb) Three syllables, with an accent on the second syllable. The o is likely long, as Dee shows it at the end of the second syllable.
(Dee*—Q-có-casb) See the 48 Claves. This note matches that from TFR.

Also:

Acocasb (ay-KOH-kasb)	Time
“Cacocasb” (kay-KOH-kasb)	Another While
Cocasb (KOH-kasb)	Time
Cocasg (KOH-kazh)	Times

Note:

Q translates in Angelical as “or,” which would not fit the phrase here. Therefore, Qcocasb is not likely a compound of Q + Cocasb.

Possible shared root:

Cacacom (kay-SAY-som)	Flourish
Cacrg (KAY-kurg)	Until
Casasam (kay-SAY-sam)	Abiding
Capimali (kay-pii-MAY-lii)	Successively
“Capimao” (kay-pii-MAY-oh)	While
Capimaon (kap-ii-MAY-on)	Number of Time
Capmiali (kap-mii-AY-lii)	Successively

Note:

Also see Pild (continually)

Qmospleh (kwah-mos-play)* [Q + “Mospleh”] comp.

Or the Horns

ᵛᵛᶞᶞᵛᵛᵛᵛᵛᵛ

3.16 . . . as sharp sickles: or the horns of death . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Q Mos Pleh as two words) Dee's statement indicates that Qmospleh is "as two words"—that is, a compound word. The Q stands alone.

(*Dee—Q mos-pleh) See the 48 Claves. This note matches the note in TFR.

"Qrasahi" (kra-sa-hii) n.

Pleasure

700 3 7 3 5 7

Compounds:

Norqrasahi (nor-kra-sa-hii) ["Nor" + "Qrasahi"]

Sons of Pleasure

Qta (kwah-tay)* [Q + Ta] comp.

Or as

3 7 7

2.18 . . . or as the flowers . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Quu Ta) Two syllables. The uu in Early Modern English is a "w" sound—indicating that the Q should sound like "kwah."

(*Dee—Q-ta) See 48 Claves. Indicates two syllables.

Qting (kwah-tinj)* n. or adj.?

Rotten

6 3 7 7 7

30.131 . . . and destroy the rotten.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Q ting dg) Two syllables. The final g takes a soft "dg" (or "j") sound.

Note:

The word rotten is usually an adjective. However, it is used in Key Thirty as a noun ("the rotten").

QUAR (kwar)

1636

3 3 2 7

14.16 . . . which have under you 1636.

Note:

The transmission of Key Fourteen is missing from Dee's journals. We only have the English for this Key given later (see TFR, p. 193). Plus, the word appears in this location in Dee's 48 Claves.

"Quasb" (kwazb) v.

To Destroy

𐄂𐄃𐄄𐄅

Compounds:

Odquasb (ohd-kwazb) [Od + "Quasb"]

And Destroy

Note:

I suspect the u is a phonetic gloss.

Shared root:

Grosb (grozb)

Bitter Sting

Quiin (kwii-in)* conj.

Wherein

𐄂𐄃𐄄𐄅

3.18 . . . wherein the creatures of the earth are . . .

7.7 . . . wherein the Lord hath opened his mouth . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 3.18; 7.7—Qui in) Two syllables. In Early Modern English, the double i makes a long "i" sound. The n essentially stands alone.

(*Dee 3.18—Qui-i-n) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee shows three syllables. The second i and the n each stand alone.

(*Dee 7.7—qui-in) See the 48 Claves. This note essentially matches Dee's note in TFR. I have settled upon this two-syllable version of the word.

Note:

I assume the u in this word is a phonetic gloss.

Qurlst (kurlst)* n.

Handmaid

𐄂𐄃𐄄𐄅

30.62 . . . as a handmaid let her serve them.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Qurlst Kurlst) Likely just one syllable. The Q appears to make a hard “k” sound, while the u combines with the r to make an “ur” sound. I suspect the u is a phonetic gloss.

“Qzmoz”

n/a

Note:

This is not likely an Angelical word at all. Dee originally wrote this word as “Qzmoz,” but his phonetic note only indicated Moz. He also recorded the word as “MOZ” in his 48 Claves. This same word (Moz) appears on the Corpus Omnium Table. There, Nalvage says that it can sound like “moz” or use the extended z for “mozod.” Perhaps “Qzmoz” was a botched attempt to record the sound of the extended “mozod.”

See Moz (joy, rejoice).

Don (R)Raas (ray-as)* n.

East

𐄂𐄃𐄄𐄅

7.1 The east is a house of virgins . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ra as) Two syllables. In Early Modern English, a double vowel indicated a long sound—which Dee seems to indicate in the first syllable.

Also:

Raasy (ray-ay-see)

East

Raasy (ray-ay-see)* n.

East

𐄂𐄃𐄄𐄅

11.9 . . . 5 thunders which flew into the east . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ra a sy) Three syllables. Both a's take their long sound—and tend to blend into one sound when the word is spoken fluently. (In Early Modern English, a double a would simply indicate a long “a” sound.) The final y should make the sound of a long e—as in the English words lazy and messy.

(*Dee—raâsy) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed a circumflex over the second a to indicate its long sound.

Also:

Raas (ray-as)

East

Raclir (ray-kler)* n. or v.

Weeping

𐄂𐄃𐄄𐄅

10.16 . . . lamentation and weeping laid up for the earth . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ra clir) Two syllables. The a likely takes its long sound. The c appears to take its hard (“k”) sound, as it combines with the l—as in the English words clean and climb.

Note:

Also compare with the name of the Angel Rocle, one of the Sons of the Sons of Light. If there is a connection, then Rocle's name has the etymology of "to weep."

Remiges (rem-ii-jes)

n/a ᵛᵛᵒᵒᵒᵒᵒᵒ

Note:

See the Five Books, p. 258. Here, Raphael offers a long prayer, the very end of which is, "How great and innumerable are your [God's] gifts? O remiges varpax. Kyrie eleyson."

No translation is offered for this phrase, although I wonder if it is perhaps the Angelical for the Greek Kyrie eleyson (Lord have mercy), often used in Catholic prayer.

Restil (rest-el)* v

To Praise (Him?)

ᵛᵛᵒᵒᵒᵒᵒᵒ

4.45 . . . that you may praise him amongst the sons of men.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Rest el) Two syllables.

(*Dee—rest-el) See the 48 Claves. This note matches the note in in TFR.

Note:

See also Oecrimi (sing praises) and Faaip (voices).

Rii (rii-ii) prop. n.

"The Twenty-Ninth Aethyr"

ᵛᵛᵒᵒᵒᵒᵒᵒ

30.3 . . . which dwell in the twenty-ninth aethyr . . .

Note:

This (word 30.3) is the single space in the Key of the Aethyrs, which must be changed for each invocation—replacing word 30.3 with the name of the appropriate Aethyr. No established definitions were given for these names.

Rii contains the three Parts of the Earth Vastrim, Odraxti, and Gomziam.

Rior (rii-or)* n.

Widow

εΖΛε

8.20 . . . like unto the harvest of a widow.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Rior) Dee gives us little clue here. I assume two syllables, with a long “i” sound.

Ripir (rii-PER)* n.

No Place

εΛΩΛε

30.132 . . . No place, let it remain in one number.Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ri pír) Two syllables, with the accent on the second syllable. I suggest a long i at the end of the first syllable.

(*Dee—Ripír) See the 48 Claves. Dee again placed an accent over the i in the second syllable.

Note:

This word is a palindrome, spelled the same forward and backward.

Possible root:

Ip

Not

Rit (rit)* n.

Mercy

✓Λε

7.34 O you servants of mercy . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Rit) One syllable, with a short vowel.

Compounds:

Othilrit (oh-THIL-rit) (Othil + Rit)

Seats of Mercy

Rlodnr (rel-oh-din-ur) n.

Alchemical Furnace / Athanor(?)

εβΩΛεε

Fam (S)S (es) n. or adj.

Fourth

Compounds:

Sdiu (es-DII-vee) [S + Div]

Fourth Angle

Also:

"Es" (es)

Fourth

Note:

This is the word for "fourth," but not the numeral 4. The word is used here (the fourth angle) as an adjective.

Saanir (say-AY-ner)* n.

Parts

S L S S S

30.5 . . . mighty in the parts of the earth . . .30.45 . . . let her be governed by her parts . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 30.5, 45—Sa á nir) Three syllables, accent on the second. The a stands alone in the second syllable.

(*Dee 30.5, 45—saánir) See the 48 Claves. Dee again placed an accent over the second syllable.

"Saba" (SAY-bay) adj.

Whose

S V S S

Pronunciation note:

I have adopted the accent from Asobam (whom).

Compounds:

Sabaoaona (say-bay-oh-oh-AY-oh-na) ["Saba" + Ooaona]

Whose Eyes

Also:

Asobam (ay-SOH-bam)

(On) Whom

Sobam (SOH-bam)

Whom

Sobca (SOB-kay)

Whose

"Sobha" (sob-ha)	Whose
Soba (soh-ba)	Whose
"Sobo" (SOH-boh)	Whose
Sobra (SOB-ray)	Whose
"Sola" (SOH-lay)	Whose

Whose Eyes

✱ ♪ ♪ ♪ ♪ ♪ ♪ ♪ ♪

30.18 . . . whose eyes are the brightness . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee—Sa ba o o áo na*) This may be a word of seven syllables—though it can sound more like six syllables when spoken fluently. (The two long “o” sounds run together.) The ao should make two sounds, as in the English word chaos. The accent is on the fifth syllable. The a’s in the first two syllables are long.

(*Dee—sabaoôôna) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee again placed the accent over the a in the fifth syllable. He also placed a circumflex over the following o to indicate its long sound (thereby confirming that it should stand alone).

Sach (sak) prop. n.

The Establishers/Supporters

四三六

From Corpus Omnium:

Associated with the post-Crucifixion portion of the Table, translated in Latin as Confirmantes (Those Who Establish).

Sagacor (say-GAY-kor)* n.

“In One Number”

62866667

30.134 . . . no place, let it remain in one number.

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee—Sa gá cor Kor*) Three syllables, with the accent on the second. It appears that Dee intended long a's in the first two syllables. The g should take its hard sound when preceding an a. Finally, Dee indicates that the c takes the hard “k” sound.

(*Dee—sagácor) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee again placed an accent upon the second syllable.

Note:

The phrase “in one number” seems to indicate something like “constant” or “consistent.”

Shared root:

Cormf (kormf)	Number
Cormfa (korm-FA)	Numbers
Cormp (kormf)	Numbered
Cormpo (korm-FOH)	Hath (Yet) Numbered
Cormpt (kormft)	Numbered

Salbrox (sal-broks)* n.

Live (i.e., Burning) Sulfur

𐛀𐛁𐛂𐛃𐛄𐛅𐛆𐛇

10.30 . . . scorpions and live sulphur mingled with poison.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Sal brox) Two syllables. Both vowels are short.

Note:

Also see Dlasod (sulfur). Where Salbrox is the kind of sulfur one would find on a match, Dlasod refers to alchemical sulfur.

Sald (sald)* n.

Wonder

𐛀𐛁𐛂𐛃𐛄𐛅𐛆𐛇

2.6 . . . your voicings of wonder . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Sald) One syllable.

Note:

Also see “Lzirn” (wonders) and Busd (Glory).

Salman (SAYL-man)* n.

House

𐄂𐄃𐄄𐄅𐄆𐄇

11.20 . . . the house of death . . .16.3 . . . the house of justice . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Sal man) Two syllables. Both a's appear to take their short sounds. However, see Isalman (is a house) and Oisalman (this house), which indicate a long sound for the first a. Finally, I have adopted the accent from Isalman.

Note:

The transmission of the first twelve words of Key Sixteen is missing from Dee's journals. We only have the English given for it on TFR, p. 194. However, they do appear in Dee's 48 Claves.

Compounds:Isalman (ii-SAYL-man) [I + Salman]

Is a House

Oisalman (oh-ii-SAYL-man) ["Oi" + Salman]

This House

Samhampors (sam-HAM-pors)*

n/a

𐄂𐄃𐄄𐄅𐄆𐄇𐄈𐄉𐄊𐄋𐄌𐄍𐄎𐄏𐄐𐄑𐄒

Pronunciation note:

(*Dee—samhampors) See the Five Books, p. 302. Dee placed an accent over the second a.

From Loagaeth:

See the Five Books, p. 302. Note the similarity between this word and the Hebrew Name of God Shem haMephoresh (Name of Extension). See the note at Semhaham.

Possible shared root:Sem (sem)

n/a

Semhaham (SEM-hah-ham)

n/a

Samvelj (sam-velj)* n.

The Righteous

𐄂𐄃𐄄𐄅𐄆𐄇𐄈𐄉𐄊𐄋𐄌𐄍𐄎𐄏𐄐𐄑𐄒

6.14 . . . and a garland to the righteous.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Samvelg) I assume this should be two syllables. Dee does not indicate a hard or soft sound for the final g. I have settled upon a soft sound.

Note:

See also Baltoh, Baltle, and Baeouib (all translated as “righteousness”).

Sapah (SAY-fah)* prop. n.

Mighty Sounds (i.e., Thunders)

5.1 The Mighty Sounds have entered . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Sá pah) Two syllables, with an accent on the first. Dee’s phonetic note seems to indicate a hard “p” sound for the second syllable. However, see TFR, p. 200, where the Angel Illemese suggests “Saphah” as a pronunciation.

(*Dee—Sapáh) See the 48 Claves. In this case, Dee placed the accent on the second syllable.

Note:

The Mighty Sounds mentioned here, and the Thunders mentioned elsewhere in the Keys, are groups of Angels. See Const (thunders), Avavago (Thunders), and Coraxo (Thunders). The so-called Sapah (Mighty Sounds) are mentioned only in the fifth Key, which appears to relate to the Southern Quarter of the Universe.

Compare from Loagaeth:

Sapoh, Sappoh, Sepah, Sephah

Sdiv (es-DII-vee)* [S + Div] comp.

Fourth Angle

6.2 The spirits of the fourth angle . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—S dí u es dí u) Three syllables, with an accent on the second syllable. The the initial S and the final u/v stand alone.

(*Dee—s diu) See the 48 Claves. The accent is again shown on the second syllable.

Sem (sem) n.?

In This Place*

ⲉⲩⲩ

From Loagaeth:

(*Dee—In this place.) See the Five Books, p. 308.

Note:

Perhaps this word is similar to the English word here—although Sem seems to have a much more formal tone. See also Emna (here).

Possible shared root:

Samhampors (sam-HAM-pors)

n/a

Semhaham (SEM-hah-ham)

n/a

Compare from Loagaeth:

Zem

Semhaham (SEM-hah-ham)

n/a*

ⲉⲩⲩⲩⲩⲩⲩⲩⲩ

Pronunciation note:

(*Dee—sémhaham) See the Five Books, p. 310. Dee indicates an accent over the e.

From Loagaeth:

(*Dee—This word hath 72 significations.) See the Five Books, p. 310. Note the similarity between this word and the Hebrew Shem haMephoresh (Name of Extension). This is a Qabalistic Name of God composed of seventy-two individual names. Interestingly, the Shem haMephoresh seems to have an association with the twenty-four Elders (or Seniors) that appear in the Great Table of the Earth (Watchtowers). See my article “Shem haMephoresh: the Divine Name of Extension.”

Possible shared root:

Sem (sem)

n/a

Samhampors (sam-HAM-pors)

n/a

Ser (ser) n.

Sorrow

𐄂𐄃𐄅

From Corpus Omnium:

Found in the Tribulation portion of the Table, in the phrase Osf Ser iad (Discord and Sorrow of God).

Note:

Also see Tibibp (sorrow).

Siaion (sii-AY-ii-on)* n.

Temple

𐄂𐄃𐄅𐄆𐄇𐄈

8.41 . . . the crowns of the temple and the coat . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Si a i on) Four syllables. Both i's and the a should take their long sounds.

(*Dee—siáion) See the 48 Claves. Dee added an accent over the a (second syllable). He also added a circumflex over the second i to indicate its long sound.

Note:

Perhaps there is some relationship between this word, and the name "Sion" (or Zion)—where the Holy Temple stood in Israel.

Siatris (sii-ay-TRIS)* n.

Scorpions

𐄂𐄃𐄅𐄆𐄇𐄈

10.28 . . . the heads of scorpions and live sulphur . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Si a tris) Three syllables, with the accent mark placed in the middle of the third syllable. The first i and the a should take their long sounds.

(*Dee—siâtris) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed a circumflex over the a to indicate its long sound.

Sibsi (sib-sii)* n.

Covenant

𐄂𐄃𐄅𐄆𐄇𐄈

30.145 . . . appear before the covenant of his mouth . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Sib si) Two syllables.

Note:

Also see Aisro / Isro (promise of), Surzas (sworn), and Znrza (swore).

“Smnad” (sem-en-ad) pron. or adj.

Another

𐌱𐌰𐌽𐌳

Compounds:

Lsmnad (el-sem-en-ad) [L + “Smnad”]

One Another

Probable shared root:

Asymp (ay-simp)

Another

Symp (simp)

Another

Note:

The root here may be “sm” or “sym.”

Soba (SOH-bay) adj.

Whose

𐌱𐌰𐌶𐌵

1.29 . . . whose seats I garnished . . .

1.56 . . . whose beginning is not . . .

5.35 . . . whose numbers are as the first . . .

7.23 . . . whose kingdoms and continuance . . .

10.9 . . . whose branches are 22 nests . . .

11.28 . . . whose number is 31 . . .

12.19 . . . whose name amongst you is wrath . . .

17.3 . . . whose wings are thorns . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 5.35; 10.9; 11.28; 12.19—So ba)

(*Dee 7.23;m 17.3—Soba) Two syllables. The o should take its long sound.

I have adopted the accent from Asobam (whom).

Compounds:

Sobaiad (soh-BAY-ad) [Soba + Iad]

Whose God

Sabaoaona (say-bay-oh-oh-AY-oh-na) ["Saba" + Ooaona]

Whose Eyes

Also:

Asobam (ay-SOH-bam)

(On) Whom

"Saba" (SAY-bay)

Whose

Sobam (SOH-bam)

Whom

Sobca (SOB-kay)

Whose

"Sobha" (SOB-hay)

Whose

"Sobo" (SOH-boh)

Whose

Sobra (SOB-ray)

Whose

"Sola" (SOH-lay)

Whose

Note:

Overall, the root of these words seems to be "Sob." However, Soba itself seems rather important in most cases.

See also Casarm (whom).

Compare from Loagaeth:

Sebas, Sebo, Sebra, Zeba

Sobaiaid (soh-BAY-ad)* [Soba + Iad] comp.

Whose God

𐌸𐌰𐌹𐌳𐌰𐌶𐌰𐌳𐌰𐌹𐌳

17.14 . . . whose God is wrath in anger . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—So bai ad) Three syllables. The o takes its long sound. Dee also indicates that the ai (or "ay") combine to form a long "a" sound—as in the English words day and play.

(*Dee—sobaiaid) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed an accent over the i in the second syllable.

Sobam (SOH-bam)* pron.

Whom

𐌸𐌰𐌹𐌳𐌰𐌶𐌰𐌹𐌳

2.9 . . . whom the burning flames . . .

4.16 . . . whom none hath yet numbered . . .

6.7 . . . whom the First hath planted . . .

Pronunciation notes:(*Dee 2.9—S o bam)(*Dee 4.16—So bam)

(*Dee 6.7—Sobam) It would appear that Dee heard three syllables in Key Two—so that the S took the sound of “es.” However, in later instances, the word had only two syllables. The three-syllable version of the word is likely a poetic or lyrical gloss, rather than a rule of pronunciation. I have adopted the accent from Asobam (whom).

Also:

Asobam (ay-SOH-bam)	(On) Whom
“Saba” (SAY-bay)	Whose
Soba (SOH-bay)	Whose
Sobca (SOB-kay)	Whose
“Sobha” (SOB-hay)	Whose
“Sobo” (SOH-boh)	Whose
Sobra (SOB-ray)	Whose
“Sola” (SOH-lay)	Whose

Also see:

Casarm (whom).

Sobca (SOB-kay)* adj.

Whose

𐌀𐌀𐌀𐌀𐌀

9.13 . . . whose wings are of wormwood . . .9.37 . . . cursed are they whose iniquities . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 9.13, 37—Sob ca ka) Two syllables. The c takes a hard “k” sound. I have adopted the accent from Asobam (whom).

Also:

Asobam (ay-SOH-bam)	(On) Whom
“Saba” (SAY-bay)	Whose
Soba (SOH-bay)	Whose
Sobam (SOH-bam)	Whom
“Sobha” (SOB-hay)	Whose
“Sobo” (SOH-boh)	Whose

Note:

See Soba (whose).

“Sobo” (SOH-boh) adj.

Whose

𐄂𐄃𐄄𐄅𐄆

Pronunciation note:

I have adopted the accent from Asobam (whom).

Compounds:

Sobolzar (soh-BOL-zar) [“Sobo” + “Lzar”]

Whose Courses

Also:

Asobam (ay-SOH-bam)

(On) Whom

“Saba” (SAY-bay)

Whose

Soba (SOH-bay)

Whose

Sobam (SOH-bam)

Whom

Sobca (SOB-kay)

Whose

“Sobha” (SOB-hay)

Whose

Sobra (SOB-ray)

Whose

“Sola” (SOH-lay)

Whose

Also see:

Casarm (whom).

Soboln (soh-bohln)* n.

West

𐄂𐄃𐄄𐄅𐄆𐄇

9.22 . . . settled their feet in the west . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—So boln) Two syllables, with a long o in the first syllable.

(*Dee—sobôln) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed a circumflex over the second o to indicate that it, also, takes its long sound.

Note:

The similar spelling of Soboln (west) and Sobolzar (whose courses) appears to be coincidental. Unless the “courses” (Sobolzar) mentioned in Key Six are westward moving.

Sobolzar (soh-BOL-zar)* ["Sobo" + "Lzar"] comp.

Whose Courses

᠑ᠰᠫᠤᠯᠵᠠᠷ

6.21 . . . whose courses visit with comfort . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Sobol zar) Should be three syllables.

(*Dee—sobólzar) See the 48 Claves. The accent is placed on the second syllable.

Note:

See note at Soboln (west).

Sobra (SOB-ray)* adj.

Whose

ᠰᠤᠪᠷᠠ

1.10 . . . in whose hands the sun is as a sword . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Sobra) Two syllables. The o appears short in this case. I have adopted the accent from Asobam (whom).

Also:

Asobam (ay-SOH-bam)

(On) Whom

"Saba" (SAY-bay)

Whose

Soba (SOH-bay)

Whose

Sobam (SOH-bam)

Whom

Sobca (SOB-kay)

Whose

"Sobha" (SOB-hay)

Whose

"Sobo" (SOH-boh)

Whose

"Sola" (SOH-lay)

Whose

Note:

Overall, the root of these words seems to be "sob." However, Soba itself seems rather important in most cases.

See also Casarm (whom).

Compare from Loagaeth:

Sebas, Sebo, Sebra, Zeba

"Sola" (SOH-lay) adj.

Whose

Pronunciation note:

I have adopted the accent from Asobam (whom).

Compounds:

Solamian (soh-LAY-mii-an) ["Sola" + "Mian"] Whose Continuance

Also:

Asobam (ay-SOH-bam)	(On) Whom
"Saba" (SAY-bay)	Whose
Soba (SOH-bay)	Whose
Sobam (SOH-bam)	Whom
Sobca (SOB-kay)	Whose
"Sobha" (SOB-hay)	Whose
"Sobo" (SOH-boh)	Whose
Sobra (SOB-ray)	Whose

Also see:

Casarm (whom).

Solamian (soh-LAY-mii-an)* ["Sola" + "Mian"] comp. Whose Continuance 8.14 . . . whose long continuance shall be . . .

Note:

The word long is not indicated by the Angelical.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—So lá mi an) Four syllables. The accent is placed on the second syllable. I assume the o, the first a, and the i are all given their long sounds—as they fall at the ends of their syllables.

Note:

The similarity between this word and the name of the solar Angel Salamian. He is found in the Heptameron—associated with that grimoire's "Call of Sunday." This Angel also appeared to Dee and Kelley in the Five Books, pp. 81–82. There, Salamian claims to "rule in the heavens, and bear sway upon Earth . . . My name is Salamian, Mighty in the Sonne, worker of worldly actions . . .” Salamian also tells Dee that he is under the direction of Michael—who is the Archangel of the Sun.

Solpeth (sol-peth)* v.

Harken (unto)/Listen to 6.32 Wherefore, harken unto my voice.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Sol peth)

(*Dee—sol-peth) See the 48 Claves. These notes indicate two syllables. Both vowels appear to take their short sounds.

Note:

See also Toatar (harken).

Sonf (sonv)* v.

To Reign

1.2 I reign over you, saith the God of Justice . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—sonf) Dee indicates a single syllable here. The nf tends to sound like “nv” when this word is spoken fluently.

Compounds:

Dsonf (dee-sonv) [Ds + Sonf]

That Reign

Note:

Also see Bogpa (to reign).

Sor (sor) n.

Action (especially that taken by a king)

From Corpus Omnium:

Found in the post-Crucifixion portion of the Table, in the phrase Gru Sor Iad (Cause of the Actions of God).

Surzas (sur-zas)* v.

To Swear (Promise)

30.148 . . . which he hath sworn unto us . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Sur zas) Two syllables. Based on the two forms of Surzas / Znrza, I suspect the u in this case is a phonetic gloss.

Also:

Znrza (snur-za)

Swore

Note:

Also see Aisro / Isro (promise of) and Sibsi (covenant).

Symp (simp)* pron. or adj.

Another

ΩεΤν

30.66 One season, let it confound another . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Symp) One syllable.

Also:

Asymp (ay-simp)

Another

Shared root:

"Smnad" (sem-en-ad)

Another

Note:

The root here may be "sm" or "sym."

Gisg (T) ✓“T” (tee) pron.

It ✓

Compounds:

Ti (tii) [“T” + I]

It Is

Ta (tay)* prep. or conj.

As

✱ ✓

1.14 . . . sun is as a sword . . .

1.17 . . . moon as a through-thrusting fire . . .

1.26 . . . as the palms of my hands . . .

1.68 . . . as the balance of righteousness . . .

2.15 . . . as cups for a wedding . . .

8.54 . . . of such as are prepared . . .

9.31 . . . as the rich man doth his treasure . . .

11.26 . . . as they are whose number is . . .

30.61 . . . as a handmaid let her serve them . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 1.14, 17, 26, 68—TA)

(*Dee 2.15; 8.54; 9.31; 11.26; 30.61—Ta) Ta is likely just one syllable. It is uncertain if the a should take a long or short sound. However, various compounds that begin with Ta indicate the long “a” sound.

Note:

For the most part, Ta (as) seems to be used as a preposition—often synonymous with the word like: i.e., “the sun is as a sword” = “the sun is like a sword.” A prepositional as can also mean “in the role of,” as we see in the phrase . . . who reigneth amongst you as the balance of righteousness and truth. Ta can also be a pronoun, when used in phrases like “Appear to our comfort . . . and such as are prepared.” (In this case, such as is the same as “those who.”)

Compounds:

Chista (kiis-tay) [Chis + Ta]

Are as

Chistad (kiis-tad) [Chis + Ta + D]

Are as (the) Third

Corsta (kors-tay) [Cors + Ta]

Such as

Ita (ii-tay) [I + Ta]	Is as
Qta (kwah-tay) [Q + Ta]	Or as
Tablior (TAY-blii-or) [Ta + Blior]	As (Continual) Comforters
Tage (tayj) [Ta + "Ge"]	As (Is) Not
Talo (tay-el-oh) [Ta + "Lo"]	As the First
Talolcis (tay-LOL-sis) [Ta + "Lolcis"]	As Bucklers
Taqanis (tay-kway-nis) [Ta + "Qanis"]	As Olives
Tapuin (tay-pew-in) [Ta + "Puin"]	As Sharp Sickles
Taviv (tay-viv) [Ta + Viv]	As the Second

Also:

"Ca" (kay)	As
------------	----

Further:

"Ta" (tay) conj.	And(?)
------------------	--------

Compounds:

Taviv (tay-viv) ["Ta" + Viv]	And(?) the Second
------------------------------	-------------------

Tabaan (or Tabaam) (tay-BAY-an)* n.

Governor

15.2 O thou, the governor of . . .

Note:

The transmission of Key Fifteen is missing from Dee's journals. We have only the English for the Key given on TFR, p. 193. However, this word is given later by Illemese, on TFR, p. 200.

It also appears in Dee's 48 Claves—where it is spelled with an n instead of an m (Tabaan).

I have adopted the accent from Tabaori (to govern).

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—tabáan) See the 48 Claves. Dee gives us little clue here. He only placed a circumflex over the second a to indicate its long sound. The first a is possibly long as well, based on other versions of this word. This likely makes a word of three syllables. (I have settled upon the Tabaan version of this word in my pronunciation, because the n appears in other versions of this word.)

Also:

Anetab (ay-NEE-tayb)	(In) Government
Gnetaab (nee-TAY-ab)	(Your) Governments
Netaab (nee-TAY-ab)	Governments
Netaaib (nee-TAY-ay-ib)	Government
Tabaord (tay-BAY-ord)	(Let) Be Governed
Tabaori (tay-BAY-oh-rii)	To Govern
"Tabas" (tay-BAS)	To Govern

Further:

Cab (kab)	Rod/Scepter
Caba (ka-BA)	To Govern

Tabaord (tay-BAY-ord)* v. (Be) Governed

ṭḗḇ ḷ ṽ ṽ ṽ

30.44 . . . let her be governed by her parts . . .

Note:

The word her is implied in the Angelical here only by context.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ta ba ord) Three syllables. The a preceding an o should take the long sound (as in the English word chaos). I have adopted the accent from Tabaori (to govern).

Also:

Anetab (ay-NEE-tayb)	(In) Government
Gnetaab (nee-TAY-ab)	(Your) Governments
Netaab (nee-TAY-ab)	Governments
Netaaib (nee-TAY-ay-ib)	Government
Tabaam (tay-BAY-an)	Governor
Tabaori (tay-BAY-oh-rii)	To Govern
"Tabas" (tay-BAS)	To Govern

Further:

Cab (kab)	Rod/Scepter
Caba (ka-BA)	To Govern

Tabaori (tay-BAY-oh-rii)* v.

To Govern

ᵀᵇᵃᵒᵣᵢ

30.121 . . . govern those that govern . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Tabá o ri) Four syllables, with an accent on the second syllable. The first a should take a long sound, as seen in other versions of this word. The second a takes the long sound when preceding an o (as in the English word chaos). Dee shows that the o stands alone—taking its long sound.

(*Dee—Tabáôri) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee again placed the accent on the second syllable. He also placed a circumflex over the o to indicate its long sound.

Also:

Anetab (ay-NEE-tayb)

(In) Government

Gnetaab (nee-TAY-ab)

(Your) Governments

Netaab (nee-TAY-ab)

Governments

Netaaib (nee-TAY-ay-ib)

Government

Tabaam (tay-BAY-an)

Governor

Tabaord (tay-BAY-ord)

(Let) Be Governed

"Tabas" (tay-BAS)

To Govern

Further:

Cab (kab)

Rod/Scepter

Caba (ka-BA)

To Govern

"Tabas" (tay-BAS) v.

To Govern

ᵀᵇᵃᵘ

Pronunciation note:

I have adopted the accent from Tabaori (to govern).

Compounds:

Artabas (ar-tay-bas) [Ar + "Tabas"]

That Govern

Also:

Anetab (ay-NEE-tayb)

(In) Government

Gnetaab (nee-TAY-ab)

(Your) Governments

Netaab (nee-TAY-ab)

Governments

Netaaib (nee-TAY-ay-ib)	Government
Tabaam (tay-BAY-an)	Governor
Tabaord (tay-BAY-ord)	(Let) Be Governed
Tabaori (tay-BAY-oh-rii)	To Govern

Further:

Cab (kab)	Rod/Scepter
Caba (ka-BA)	To Govern

Note:

Compare to the name of the Part of the Earth (and its Angelic Governor) Tabitom. Perhaps this shares the "tab" root, and is perhaps even a compound with the word Om as well. Thus the name would mean "Governor of knowledge" or "wise Governor."

Tabges (tab-jes)* n.

Caves

ᵀᵁᵁᵁᵁᵁ

30.98 . . . let them become caves for the beasts . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Tab ges) Two syllables. The g followed by an e is likely soft.

Tablior (TAY-blii-or)* [Ta + Blior] comp.

As Comforters

ᵀᵁᵁᵁᵁᵁ

5.13 . . . as continual* comforters unto whom I have fastened . . .

Note:

(*The word continual is not represented in the Angelical.)

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Tá blior) Likely three syllables, with an accent on the first. See pronunciation notes for Blior (comfort) for the long "i" sound.

"Tad" (tad) [Ta + D] comp.

As the Third

ᵀᵁᵁᵁᵁ

Compounds:

Chistad (kiis-tad)* [Chis + Ta + D]

Are as the Third

Tage (tayj)* [Ta + "Ge"] comp.

As (Is) Not

763✓

2.36 . . . such as is not but in the mind . . .

Pronunciation note:

(*Dee—Tage) Appears to be one syllable. The final e would be silent, and it would make the a long. Rhymes with the English words cage and rage.

Tal (tzall)* prop. n.

Letter M*

763✓

Note:

The name of the Angelical letter for M. It is likely that these letter names have translations of their own. (For instance, note the Hebrew alphabet: the letter M is named Mem, but Mem also translates as "water.") However, such translations for the Angelical letters are never given. (See the Five Books, p. 270.)

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—In sound stall or xtall) I suspect that Dee's "xt" is similar to the "tz" sound (as in Hebrew Tzedek)—which is somewhere between a "t" sound and a "z" sound ("tzuh").

Compare from Loagaeth:

Tal

Talho (tal-ho)* n.

Cups

763✓

2.16 . . . I have prepared as cups for a wedding . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Talho)

Talo (tay-el-oh)* [Ta + "Lo"] comp.

As the First

763✓

4.30 . . . are as the first 456 . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ta l o) Three syllables. The l and o stand alone.

Talolcis (tay-LOL-sis)* [Ta + “Lolcis”] comp.

As Bucklers

ʌ 7 B ʌ ʌ ʌ ʌ ʌ

8.16 . . . shall be as bucklers to the stooping dragons . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ta lol cis or sis) Three syllables. Dee indicates that the c should take a soft (“s”) sound.

(*Dee—ta lol-cis) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee places an accent on the second syllable.

Tan (tan) prop. n.

“The Seventeenth Aethyr”

ʌ ʌ ʌ

30.3 . . . which dwell in the seventeenth aethyr . . .

Note:

This (word 30.3) is the single space in the Key of the Aethyrs, which must be changed for each invocation—replacing word 30.3 with the name of the appropriate Aethyr. No established definitions were given for these names.

Tan contains the three Parts of the Earth Sigmorf, Avdropt, and Tocarzi.

Tapuin (TAY-pew-in)* [Ta + “Puin”] comp.

As (Sharp) Sickles

ʌ 7 ʌ ʌ ʌ ʌ ʌ

3.15 . . . the rest are as sharp sickles . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ta pu in) Three syllables. Dee originally spelled Tapuin with a v instead of a u. However, he indicates the “u” sound in his phonetic note.

(*Dee—tá pû-im) See 48 Claves. Note the accent on the first syllable. Dee added a circumflex over the u to indicate its long sound. Also note that Dee seems to have mistakenly spelled this word with a final m instead of an n.

Taqanis (tay-kway-nis)* [Ta + "Qanis"] comp.

As Olives

ᵀᵀᵀᵀᵀᵀᵀᵀ

5.6 . . . as olives in the olive mount . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ta qu a nis) This appears to be four syllables. I believe Dee's qu makes the same sound as q standing alone—"kwah." However, the qu a (or "kwah-ay") tends to blend into one sound when this word is spoken fluently.

(*Dee—ta qa-a-nis) See the 48 Claves. This note matches that from TFR.

Tastax (tas-taks)* v.

Going Before (To Precede)

ᵀᵀᵀᵀᵀᵀᵀ

17.12 . . . lamps living going before thee.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Tas tax) Two syllables. Both a's take their short sounds.

Note:

This is likely an instance of the -ax suffix, indicating action.

Also compare this word with the name of the Part of the Earth (and its Angelic Governor) Tastoxo. This could even be a compound (Tastax + Tox) for "Going Before Him" or "He Who Precedes."

Tatan (tay-tan)* n.

Wormwood

ᵀᵀᵀᵀᵀᵀᵀ

9.16 . . . whose wings are of wormwood . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ta tan) Two syllables. The first a is likely a long vowel.

Note:

Wormwood is a biblical reference to poison. In the Book of Revelation, a star named Wormwood falls to the Earth, and thereby poisons a third of the world's water supply.

See also Faboan (poison).

Compare from Loagaeth:Tantas, TantatTaviv (tay-viv) [Ta + Viv] comp.

As the Second

a 7 a x ✓

6.28 . . . and continuance as the second and third . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ta viv) Dee indicates two syllables here.

Further:Taviv (tay-viv)* [“Ta” + Viv] comp.

And(?) Second

5.28 . . . brothers of the first and second . . .Note:

Here is the only case where Ta (as) is strangely translated as “and.” Could this be a mistake on the part of Dee or Kelley? Perhaps this word should be Odviv.

Also see Taviv (as the second).Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ta ui u) Looks like three syllables, but it is most likely only two. Dee originally wrote this word with u’s instead of v’s—however, it is unlikely that he intended “u” sounds in this case. Instead, see word 6.28 (Taviv), which indicates the “v” sounds.

TAXS (taks-is)*

7336

7 7 x x ✓

17.10 . . . and hast 7336 lamps living going before thee.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Taks) Probably two syllables, as in the English taxes. Also, see the following note:

Note:

(*Dee—Faxes or Faxis to be sounded. I find in the Call Taxs. I find also in some words T and F are indifferently used.) See TFR, p. 194. This is an interesting

09 3 2 4 7 ✓

098447✓

Death

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ti) One syllable. The i is likely a long vowel.

Tia (tii-a)* prep.

Unto (Us)

✱ ㄗ ㄗ

30.149 . . . he hath sworn unto us in his justice.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Tia) Likely two syllables. I suggest a long i—because it is followed by an a (as in the English word dial).

Note:

Also see Pambt (unto) and Pugo (as unto).

Tianta (tii-AN-ta)* n.

Bed

✱ ㄗ ㄗ ㄗ ㄗ

30.112 . . . she is the bed of an harlot . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ti án ta) Likely three syllables, with an accent in the middle of the second syllable. In the first syllable, I suggest a long i—because it is followed by an a (as in dial).

Tibibp (tib-ib-ip)* n.

Sorrow

ㄗ ㄗ ㄗ ㄗ ㄗ

12.8 . . . the lanterns of sorrow . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Tibibp) Dee gives us little clue for this word. I assume it should be three syllables. I would have assumed the final p stands alone, though Dee does not indicate such. Therefore, I have simply combined the b and p into the sound of “bip.”

Note:

Also see Ser (sorrow).

Tilb (tilb)* adj. or pron.

Her

ㄗ ㄗ ㄗ

30.28 . . . her unspeakable variety . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Tilb) One syllable.

Also:

Tiobl (tii-AHB-el)

(Within) Her

Compounds:

Busdirtilb (buz-der-tilb) [Busdir + Tilb]

Glory (of) Her

Elzaptilb (el-ZAP-tilb) ["Elzap" + Tilb]

Her Course

Omptilb (omp-tilb) ["Omp" + Tilb]

Her Understanding

Note:

Also see "Ip" (her) and "Pi" (she).

Tiobl (tii-AHB-el)* pron.

(Within) Her

𐌲 𐌴 𐌵 𐌹 𐌵 𐌶

30.49 . . . let there be division in her . . .

30.72 . . . no creature upon or within her . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 30.49—Ti óbil)

(*Dee 30.72—Ti ob l) Three syllables, with an accent on the second syllable. The o is not shown standing by itself, thus I assume it has a short sound. The second phonetic note (word 30.72) indicates the l stands alone.

(*Dee 30.49, 72—tióbl) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee again placed an accent on the second syllable.

Also:

Tilb (tilb)

Her

Note:

Also see "Pi" (she).

Tliob (tlíi-ob)* v.

To Separate (Classify?) Creatures

𐌴 𐌵 𐌹 𐌵 𐌶 𐌲

16.17 . . . that understand and separate creatures.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Tli ob) Dee indicates two syllables—forcing the Tl to combine grudgingly into one sound. The i likely takes its long sound.

Note:

“To separate creatures” as into differing classifications. The entire phrase “that understand and separate creatures” appears to indicate intelligence or logical thought.

Toatar (toh-AY-tar)* v.

Harken (To Listen)

ᄃᄃᄃᄃᄃᄃ

17.19 Gird up thy loins and harken.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—To a tar) Three syllables. The o takes its long sound. The first a seems to stand alone.

(*Dee—toátar) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed an accent over the a in the second syllable.

Note:

See also Solpeth (harken unto).

Also compare to the name of the Angel Autotar, an Elder of the Eastern Watchtower. Perhaps his name means “He Who Listens.”

Tofglo (TOF-gloh)* n.

All (Things)

ᄃᄃᄃᄃᄃᄃ

30.35 . . . to dispose all things according to . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Tóf glo) Two syllables, with the accent on the first syllable.

(*Dee—tófglo) See the 48 Claves. This note is essentially the same as that in TFR.

Note:

Also see Ton (all).

Toh (toh)* v.

To Triumph

ᄃᄃᄃᄃᄃᄃ

1.55 . . . him that liveth and triumpheth . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—tóh) See 48 Claves. Note the accent mark over the o. (The previous word in the Key—Hom—is just one syllable without an accent. Thus, both words are likely to be taken together, with the accent on Toh.)

Possible compounds:

Baltoh (bal-toh) [Balt + Toh]	Righteousness
Iadbaloth (ii-ad-BAL-toh) [Iad + Balt + Toh]	God of Righteousness

Also:

"Toha"	Triumph?
--------	----------

"Toha" (toh-ha) n.	(My) Triumph?
--------------------	---------------

✂ ∞ ♪ ♪

Compounds:

Baltoha (bal-toh-ha) [Balt + "Toha"]	(My?) Righteousness
--------------------------------------	---------------------

Note:

The -a could be an affix added to the word Toh (triumph).

Also:

Toh (toh)	Triumph
-----------	---------

Tohcoth (toh-koth) n.	"Nature Spirits"*
------------------------------	-------------------

∞ ♪ ♪ ♪ ∞ ♪ ♪

From Loagaeth:

(*Dee—This name comprehendeth the number of all the fairies—who are devils next to the state of man.) See the Five Books, p. 315. In other words, Tohcoth indicates earthbound nature spirits. (Also see Gah, which likely means "pure spirits.")

Also see:

Tolham (tol-HAYM)	All Creatures
Tolhami (tol-HAY-mii)	(Upon) All Creatures
Toltorg (tol-TORJ)	Creatures
Toltorgi (tol-TOR-jii)	With (Her) Creatures
"Toltorn" (tol-TORN)	Creature

Tolham (tol-HAYM) n.

All Creatures

14.11 . . . vexing all creatures of the earth with age . . .Pronunciation notes:I have adopted the accent from Tolhami.Note:

The transmission of Key Fourteen is missing from Dee's journals. We only have the English for this Key given later (see TFR, p. 193). Plus, the word appears in this location in Dee's 48 Claves.

Here, the Angelical word Caosgo (of the earth) follows Tolham. See Toltorg.

Also:

Tolhami (tol-HAY-mii)

(Upon) All Creatures

Toltorg (tol-TORJ)

Creatures

Toltorgi (tol-TOR-jii)

With (Her) Creatures

"Toltorn" (tol-TORN)

Creature

Compare from Loagaeth:TohcothTolhami (tol-HAY-mii) n.

(Upon) All Creatures

7.22 . . . such as work wonders on all creatures.Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Tol há mi) Three syllables, with an accent on the second syllable. The a and the final i likely take their long sounds.

(*Dee—tol-hâ-mi) See the 48 Claves. Note the circumflex over the a—indicating its long sound.

Also:

Tolham (tol-HAYM)

All Creatures

Toltorg (tol-TORJ)

Creatures

Toltorgi (tol-TOR-jii)

With (Her) Creatures

"Toltorn" (tol-TORN)

Creature

Compare from Loagaeth:TohcothToltorg (tol-TORJ) n.

Creatures

ⱮⱮⱮⱮⱮⱮⱮ

3.19 . . . wherein the creatures of the earth are . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Toltorg org as in george) Likely two syllables, with a soft g at the end. I have adopted the accent from other versions of this word.

Note:

The Angelical for “of the earth” (Caosgo) does not appear here. See Tolham.

Also:

Tolham (tol-HAYM)

All Creatures

Tolhami (tol-HAY-mii)

(Upon) All Creatures

Toltorgi (tol-TOR-jii)

With (Her) Creatures

“Toltorn” (tol-TORN)

Creature

Compare from Loagaeth: TohcothToltorgi (tol-TOR-jii) n.

(With) Creatures

ⱮⱮⱮⱮⱮⱮⱮ

5.23 . . . to water the earth with her creatures . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Toltórgi) Likely three syllables, with an accent on the second syllable. The g preceding an i should take the soft (“j”) sound.

(Dee*—toltórgi) See the 48 Claves. This note matches that from TFR.

Also:

Tolham (tol-HAYM)

All Creatures

Tolhami (tol-HAY-mii)

(Upon) All Creatures

Toltorg (tol-TORJ)

Creatures

“Toltorn” (tol-TORN)

Creature

Compare from Loagaeth:*Tohcoth"Toltorn" (tol-TORN) n.

Creature

ʒ ʒ ʒ ʒ ʒ ʒ ʒ

Pronunciation note:

I have adopted the accent from other versions of this word.

Compounds:

Agtoltorn (ay-jee-tol-torn) [Ag + "Toltorn"] No Creature

Agltoltorn (ag-el-tol-torn) [Ag + L + "Toltorn"] No One Creature

Also:

Tolham (tol-HAYM) All Creatures

Tolhami (tol-HAY-mii) (Upon) All Creatures

Toltorg (tol-TORJ) Creatures

Toltorgi (tol-TOR-jii) With Creatures

Ton (ton)* adj.

All

ʒ ʒ ʒ

30.74 All her members, let them differ . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ton) One syllable.

Note:Also see Tofglo (all things).Also see Vomsarg, which is "All" (or Every One) used as a pronoun.Tonug (too-nuj)* v.

To Deface

ʒ ʒ ʒ ʒ ʒ

30.95 . . . the work of man and his pomp, *let them be defaced.Pronunciation notes:(*Dee—To nug g dg) Two syllables. The final g takes the soft "j" sound.

Toat (toh-OH-at)* v.

To Furnish

✓✱L✓

30.31 . . . her unspeakable variety, furnishing you with . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—To ó at) Three syllables, with an accent on the second syllable.

The o stands alone in the second syllable.

(*Dee—toóat) See the 48 Claves. Dee again placed the accent over the o in the second syllable.

Tor (tor) prop. n.

"The Twenty-Third Aethyr" (To Rise?)

SL✓

30.3 . . . which dwell in the twenty-third aethyr . . .

Note:

This (word 30.3) is the single space in the Key of the Aethyrs, which must be changed for each invocation—replacing word 30.3 with the name of the appropriate Aethyr. No established definitions were given for these names.

Tor contains the three Parts of the Earth Ronoomb, Onizimp, and Zaxanin.

Possible shared root:

Torgu (tor-GOO)

Arise

Torzu (tor-ZOOL)

Arise

Torzul (tor-ZOOL)

Shall Rise

Torzulp (tor-ZOOLP)

To Rise

Torb (torb) n.

One Hundred

VSL✓

10.41 . . . roar with a hundred mighty earthquakes . . .

Note:

This word was not originally given with Key Ten. It was added later when Nalvage transmitted the English for the Key (see TFR, p. 192). This seems to have been the case with many of the numbers mentioned in the Keys.

This would appear to be the word for “one hundred” and not the numeral 100.

Compounds:

Matorb (may-torb) [Matb + Torb]

Long (period of time)

Torgu (tor-GOO)* v.

Arise

ⲁⲧⲉⲗ

4.32 Arise, you sons of pleasure . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Torgu) Likely two syllables. I assume the g should have a hard sound in front of a u, as in the English words gulp and gun. The final u itself likely has a long sound.

(*Dee—Torgú) See the 48 Claves. Note the accent on the last syllable.

Also:

Torzu (tor-ZOO)

Arise

Torzul (tor-ZOOL)

Shall Rise

Torzulp (tor-ZOOLP)

To Rise

Possible shared root:

Tor (tor)

“The Twenty-Third Aethyr”

Torzu (tor-ZOO)* v.

Arise

ⲁⲡⲉⲗ

2.40 Arise sayeth the First.

30.117 O you heavens, arise . . .

30.141 Arise, move, and appear . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 2.40—Torzú) Dee places an accent on the final syllable.

(*Dee 30.117, 141—Tor zu) Two syllables.

Also:

Torgu (tor-GOO)

Arise

Torzul (tor-ZOOL)

Shall Rise

Torzulp (tor-ZOOLP)

To Rise

Possible shared root:

Tor (tor)

"The Twenty-Third Aethyr"

Note:

Compare to the name of the Part of the Earth (and its Angelic Governor) Torzoxi. It would appear that this name is a compound (Torzu + Tox), or "He Who Rises."

Torzul (tor-ZOOL)* v.

(Shall) Arise

ᲛᲚᲗᲠᲚᲗ

3.27 . . . which sleep and shall rise.Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—TORZUL) Dee gives us little clue here. See pronunciation note for Torzu (arise). I have adopted the accent from other versions of this word.

Also:

Torgu (tor-GOO)

Arise

Torzu (tor-ZOO)

Arise

Torzulp (tor-ZOOLP)

To Rise

Possible shared root:

Tor (tor)

"The Twenty-Third Aethyr"

Torzulp (tor-ZOOLP)* v.

To Rise

ᲛᲚᲗᲠᲚᲗ

30.40 . . . and rose up in the beginning . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Tor zulp) Two syllables. Based on the other versions of this word, I assume the u should have a long vowel sound.

I have adopted the accent from other versions of this word.

Also:

Torgu (tor-GOO)

Arise

Torzu (tor-ZOO)

Arise

Torzul (tor-ZOOL)

Shall Rise

Possible shared root:

Tor (tor)

“The Twenty-Third Aethyr”

Tox (toks) pron. or adj.

His/Him

14.21 . . . the promise of him which is called . . .Note:

The transmission of Key Fourteen is missing from Dee's journals. We only have the English for this Key given later (see TFR, p. 193). Plus, the word appears in this location in Dee's 48 Claves.

Compounds:

Lonshitox (lon-shii-toks) [Lonshi + Tox]

His Power

Avavox (ay-vay-voks) ["Avav" + Tox]

His Pomp

Oxiayal (oks-AY-al) [Tox? + Iaial]

The Mighty Seat

Possible shared root:

Oxex (oks-eks)

To Vomit

Oxo (oks-oh)

“The Fifteenth Aethyr”

Note:

The root of these words may be “ox.”

Tranan (tray-nan)* n.

Marrow

9.18 . . . and of the marrow of salt . . .Pronunciation notes:(*Dee—Tra nan) Two syllables. The first a is likely a long vowel.Trian (TRII-an)* v.

Shall Be

6.39 . . . whose works shall be a song of honour . . .8.15 . . . whose long continuance shall be as bucklers . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 6.39—Trian)

(*Dee 8.15—Tri an) Two syllables. The i is likely a long vowel, followed by a short a.

(*Dee 6.39—trian) See the 48 Claves. The accent is placed on the first syllable.

Note:

Also see Chiso (shall be).

Trint (trint) v.

To Sit

ᵀᵀᵀᵀᵀᵀ

14.6 . . . which sit upon 24 seats . . .

Note:

The transmission of Key Fourteen is missing from Dee's journals. We only have the English for this Key given later (see TFR, p. 193). Plus, the word appears in this location in Dee's 48 Claves.

Trof (trof)* n. or v.?

A Building

ᵀᵀᵀᵀᵀᵀ

2.34 . . . you are become a building such as . . .

Pronunciation note:

(*Dee—Trof) Likely one syllable, as "Tr" makes a natural sound in English (as in trial, try, and trouble).

Note:

Also see Orscatbl (buildings). I suspect that Trof can also stand as the verb "to build."

· Turbs (turbs)* n.

(In) Beauty

ᵀᵀᵀᵀᵀᵀ

2.20 . . . as the flowers in their beauty . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Turbs) Likely one syllable.

Also:

Urbs (yurbs)

Beautified

Van (U/V)Vaa (vay) prop. n.

n/a

✱ ✱ ✱

Pronunciation note:

The double a in Early Modern English should indicate a long vowel sound.

Note:

See TFR, pp. 228–29. The names of most of the Angels encountered by Dee and Kelley can be found in other parts of the Angelic system—such as the Heptarchia or Great Table (Watchtower) systems. However, Vaa is one of the few entirely unique Angels that appeared to the two men. It was very late in the Angelic journals, after all of the essential Angelic magick had been transmitted. One day, Kelley saw three little creatures running around the floor of the room. It turned out that they were Angels from the Great Table (Watchtowers)—but their names were not derived according to the instructions Ave had previously given to Dee.

Note:

Vaa says of himself: “I am the last of the first, of the fourth.* And I have power to gather up the blessings of God, and to set them (if they be disdained) in a better soil.” Dee notes, in Latin: “Transplanter of Gifts.” And, a little further down the page: “Vaa—It is my duty to transplant the gifts of God.”

The three Angels, apparently jointly, say, “For even as the father, son and holy spirit are one, but of themselves and being dilated, is full of power, and many. So are we one particularly in power, but separated. Notwithstanding, spiritually of, and amongst, others, and dilated in the will of God, and into the branches of his determinations. But, particularly living, and jointly praising God.”

Note:

*Dee notes the Angels are numbering the Watchtowers in an odd fashion. So that in this case, he points out, the numbering should follow: First = eastern, Second = western, Third = southern, and Fourth = the northern Watchtower. Vaa is found as the last three letters on the first line of the Northern Watchtower Tablet.

(On the next page Dee notes: The three names make one name of 7 letters—Gazavaa.) Further, I note that all three of these names begin with capital letters on the Great Table (Watchtowers). Also, each one of them terminates once it hits the Great Cross, Black Cross, or the end of the Watchtower. We may have discovered an entirely new Angelic system in the Watchtowers.

(See Ga and Za. Also see Galvah, Mapsama, Murifri, and Nalvage.)

Vabzir (vab-zer)* n.

The Eagle

⚡⚡⚡⚡⚡

11.11 . . . and the Eagle spake and cried . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Vab zir) Two syllables. Both vowels appear to take their short sounds.

Note:

This is a direct reference to one of the four Beasts of the Apocalypse. See Revelation, chapters 4ff.

Van (van) prop. n.

Letter U/V

⚡⚡⚡

Note:

See the Five Books, p. 270. The name of the Angelical letter for U/V. It is likely that these letter names have translations of their own. (For instance, note the Hebrew alphabet: the letter U/V is named Vav, but Vav also translates as “nail” or “stake.”) However, such translations for the Angelical letters are never given.

Compare from Loagaeth:

Van

“Vaoan” (vay-oh-AN)* n.

Truth

⚡⚡⚡⚡⚡

1.72 . . . the balance of righteousness and truth.

Vasedg (vay-sej) prop. n.

n/a

65778a

Note:

See the Five Books, p. 160. (A voice: “Come, O Vasedg.”) Kelley is having a vision of the Seven Biblical Days of Creation at this point—where the Seven Ensigns of Creation are revealed. The call to Vasedg is answered by “a woman” who emerges from the darkness—except for her head—and presents a magickal tablet that produces “many things creeping out of it.” She is then, temporarily, eclipsed by another woman who creates the Sun, Moon, and stars. When this other woman leaves, Vasedg steps fully into the light—revealing herself as an old crone. She retrieves clay from her tablet and creates birds with it. Finally, she says, “They are multiplied for your use” and exits the vision.

Note:

Compare this name to the name Vasg, an Angel of medicine of the Northern Watchtower.

“Vau” (vah) v.

To Work

282

Compounds:

Vaulzirn (VOL-zern) [“Vau” + “Lzirn”]

Work Wonders

Also:

Vaun (von)

To Work

. Vaulzirn (VOL-zern)* [“Vau” + “Lzirn”] comp.

Work Wonders

987Pca#a

7.21 . . . such as work wonders on all creatures.

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Vául zirn) Two syllables, with an accent on the first syllable. In Early Modern English, the au letter combination produces a short “o” sound (as in the English words auburn and autumn).

Vaun (von)* v.

To Work

ʒ a ʒ a

3.49 . . . you might work my power . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Vaun) One syllable. In Early Modern English, the au letter combination produces a short “o” sound (as in the English words auburn and autumn).

Also:

“Vau” (vah)

To Work

Ucim (yew-sim)* v.

Frown Not (To Smile)

ɛ ʌ ʒ a

9.61 Happy is he upon whom they frown not.Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—U cim) Two syllables. The U stands alone. The c should take its soft “s” sound when preceding an i (as in the English words circus and circle.)

Also:

Ulcinin (yewl-sii-nin)

Happy (Is He)

Udl* (yew-del) n.

The Rest

ɛ ʌ ʒ a

Alternate spelling:

(*Dee 3.13—Vndl It may be VdL or VndL”) This is an alternate spelling for Undl (the rest).

Also:

Undl (und-el)

The Rest

Veh (vay) prop. n.

Letter C/Ch/K

œ ʒ a

Note:

The name of the Angelical letter for C/K. It is likely that these letter names have translations of their own. (For instance, note the Hebrew alphabet: the letter C/K is named Kaph, but Kaph also translates as “fist” or “cupped hand.”) However, such translations for the Angelical letters are never given. (See the Five Books, p. 270.)

Vep (vɛp)* n.

Flame

1.62 . . . which shineth as a flame . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—It is called Vep) I assume the e in this word is a phonetic gloss. See the word Vp in Loagaeth.

Note:

Both Vep and Prge (fire) are nouns. For a verb form, see Ialpon (to burn). For an adjective, see Ialpor (flaming).

Compare from Loagaeth:

Vp

Ugear (yew-JEE-ar)* n.

Strength (of Men)

7.15 . . . in whom the strength of men rejoiceth . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—V gé ar) Three syllables. The accent is on the second syllable. Dee originally wrote this word with an initial V—however, it should take the “u” sound, as it precedes a consonant. The g is likely soft, as it precedes an e (as in the English words gentle and gender). Also, the e in the second syllable appears to take a long sound (likely due to the ea letter combination—as in the English words eat and seat).

(*Dee—vgéar) See the 48 Claves. The accent is again shown on the second syllable.

Also:

Ugeg (yew-JEJ)

Become Strong

Ugegi (yew-JEE-jii)

Waxeth Strong

Note:

Also see Umadea (strong towers), Umplif (strength), and Vohim (mighty).

Note how all these words for “strength” begin with U/V. But, also see Micaolz (mighty).

Ugeg (yew-JEJ)* v.

Become Strong

6762

8.10 . . . the Elders are become strong . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—V geg) Two syllables. Dee originally wrote this word with an initial V—however, it should take the “u” sound, as it precedes a consonant. The accent on the second syllable is found in the pronunciation notes at Ugear (strength of men). The first g should be soft, as it precedes an e. The final g is indicated as soft in Dee’s phonetic notes for Odugeg (and wax strong).

Compounds:

Odugeg (ohd-yew-JEJ) [Od + Ugeg]

And Wax Strong

Also:

Ugear (yew-JEE-ar)

Strength (of Men)

Ugegi (yew-JEE-jii)

Waxeth Strong

Note:

See note at Ugear.

Ugegi (yew-JEE-jii)* v.

To Wax (Become) Strong

76762

7.48 . . . our strength waxeth strong in our comforter.

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—V Ge gi) Three syllables. Dee originally wrote this word with an initial V—however, it should take the “u” sound, as it precedes a consonant. The accent falls upon the second syllable, which Dee capitalized

(see pronunciation notes for Ugear). The e is likely long. The second g should take the soft “j” sound, as it precedes an i (as in the English words giant and gyrate).

(Dee*—vgêgi) See the 48 Claves. Note the circumflex over the e to indicate its long sound.

Also:

Ugear (yew-JEE-ar)

Strength (of Men)

Ugeg (yew-JEj)

Become Strong

Note:

See note at Ugear.

Viiv (vii-iv)* n.

Second

2 7 2

2.7 . . . O you the second of the first . . .

Note:

The words O you are not indicated in the Angelical.

Also, this is the word for “second,” but not the numeral 2.

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Vi iv) Two syllables—although, when spoken fluently, they tend to blend together. In Early Modern English, a double i indicated a long “i” sound. (I suspect the second i in Viiv is just a phonetic gloss.)

(Dee*—vi-iv) See 48 Claves. This note matches the one from TFR.

Also:

Viv (vii-iv)

Second

Virq (vir-kwah)* n.

Nests

1 5 7 2

10.13 . . . are 22 nests of lamentation . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Vir q quu) Two syllables. The q stands alone, and Dee indicates that it should sound like “kwah.” (The uu is the same in Early Modern English as our modern w—so Dee’s note indicates “quu” or “qw” as the sound of the second syllable.)

Viv (viv) n.

Second

a 7 a

Compounds:

Taviv (tay-viv) [Ta + Viv]

As the Second

Taviv (tay-viv) ["Ta" + Viv]

And(?) Second

Vivialprt (viv-ii-AL-purt) [Viv + "Ialprt"]

Second Flame

Vivdiv (viv-DII-vee) [Viv + Div]

Second Angle

Also:

Viiv (vii-iv)

Second

Note:

This is the word for "second," but not the numeral 2.

Compare this word to the name of the Part of the Earth (and its Angelic Governor) Vivipos.Vivdiv (viv-DII-vee)* [Viv + Div] comp.

Second Angle

a 7 a a 7 a

4.12 . . . which reign in the second angle . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Vi v di v) Seems to be four syllables. The second and third v's appear to stand alone.

(*Dee—viv-di-v) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee indicates three syllables instead.I have adopted the accent from Sdiu (fourth angle).Vivialprt (viv-ii-AL-purt)* [Viv + "Ialprt"] comp.

Second Flame

v e n c e 7 a 7 a

16.2 O thou Second Flame . . .Note:*The transmission of the first twelve words of Key Sixteen is missing from Dee's journals. We only have the English given for it on TFR, p. 194. However, Illemese gives his phonetic note for this word later, on TFR, p. 200. It also appears in Dee's 48 Claves.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Illemese—vivi a purt) See TFR, p. 200. Four syllables. The r takes the “ur” sound. Although Illemese drops the sound of the l, I have retained it in my pronunciation. Also see pronunciation notes for Ialprg (burning flames).

(*Dee—viuiálprrt) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed an accent over the second i—which should be the second syllable. He also placed a circumflex over the a to indicate a long vowel. However, all other versions of “Ialprt,” Ialprg, etc., indicate a short a in the same place. (I have settled upon the short a sound in my pronunciation.)

I have adopted the accent from similar words.

Ul (yewl)* n.

End

𐌺 𐌹

1.58 . . . nor end cannot be . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Call it UL, with such sound to U as we pronounce yew, whereof bows are made.) It is hard to tell if Dee intended one or two syllables for this word. I have settled upon a single syllable.

Also:

Uls (yewls)

Ends

Probable root:

L (el)

First

Note:

The two instances of end are interesting. L by itself indicates the first or beginning, while its usage here is antonymic. See also I (is/are), which transmutes into its antonym by the addition of the letter p: Ip (not)

Ulcinin (yewl-SII-nin)* adj.

Happy

𐌹 𐌺 𐌹 𐌺 𐌹 𐌺 𐌹 𐌺 𐌹

9.59 Happy is he upon whom they frown not.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Ul ci nin) Three syllables. Dee originally wrote this word with an initial V—but he clearly shows the “u” sound in his phonetic note.

(The U/V precedes a consonant, so it should take the “u” sound.) The c should take its soft “s” sound when preceding an i. The first i should be long, while the second i is short.

(Dee—vlcínin*) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed an accent over the i in the second syllable.

Also:

Ucim (yew-sim)

Frown Not (Smile)

Uls (yewls)* n.

Ends

ʌ ɛ ɔ

5.39 . . . first, ends, and contents of time . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee—Uls*) One syllable. Dee originally wrote this word as “Vls”—but his note clearly shows the “u” sound. See the pronunciation note at Ul (end) for more info.

Also:

Ul (yewl)

End

Probable root:

L (el)

First

Note:

See note at Ul.

Umadea (yew-MAY-dee-a)* n.

Strong Towers

ʌ 7 ɪ ʌ ɛ ɔ

7.28 . . . strong towers and places of comfort . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee—V má de a*) Dee originally wrote this word as “Vmadea.” However, in Early Modern English, a v followed by a consonant would have to take the “u” sound. (This is further supported by the related word Umplif.) Umadea appears to be four syllables, with an accent on the second syllable. The V/U stands alone. The e should likely take the long sound, as the ea letter combination does result in a long e (as in the English words reading and seat). I suspect the final a (though it is written by itself) makes a short sound.

(*Dee—vmádêa) See the 48 Claves. The accent is still on the second syllable. The e has a circumflex over it to indicate the long sound.

Probable shared root:

Umplif (um-plif)

Strength

Note:

Also see Ugeg (become strong), Vohim (mighty). Note how all these words for “strength” begin with a U/V. But, also see Micaolz (mighty).

Uml (um-el)* v.

To Add

⚔️⚔️⚔️

30.135 Add and diminish until the stars . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Vm l) Two syllables. The l stands alone. Dee originally spelled this word with a V—but the pronunciation note indicates that it should combine with the m in a single syllable. If so, then it could make the sound of “vem” or it could simply take the sound of “um” instead. Since Dee offers no clue, I have opted for the “u” sound instead of “v.”

Umplif (um-plif)* n.

Strength

⚔️⚔️⚔️⚔️⚔️

7.47 . . . and our strength waxeth strong . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Umplif) Dee originally wrote this word as Vmplif. However, his phonetic note clearly indicates the “u” sound. Likely two syllables, with short vowel sounds.

Probable shared root:

Umadea (yew-MAY-dee-a)

Strong Towers

Note:

Also see Givi (stronger), Umadea (strong towers), Ugeg (become strong), and Vohim (mighty). Note how all these words for “strength” begin with U/V.

Un (und)* prop. n.

Letter A

𐌰 𐌱

Note:

See the Five Books, p. 270. The name of the Angelical letter for A. It is likely that these letter names have translations of their own. (For instance, note the Hebrew alphabet: the letter a is named Aleph, but Aleph also translates as “ox/bull.”) However, such translations for the Angelical letters are never given.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—The sound seemed und.) Likely just one syllable. The u in Dee’s phonetic note could indicate a “yew” sound (as in ubiquitous) or an “uh” sound (as in under). I am unsure which is intended, but I have chosen to go with the “uh” sound.

Compare from Loagaeth:UnUnal (yew-NAL) pron.

These

𐌰 𐌵 𐌶 𐌱

9.27 These gather up the moss of the earth . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—V nal) Two syllables. Dee wrote this word with a “V”—though the letter should take a “u” sound because it precedes a consonant.

(*Dee—Undl) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed an accent over the second syllable. He also confirms the “u” sound for the initial letter.

Note:

The word these can be an adjective (as in “these books”). However, it is used in the Keys as a pronoun, being used in place of the subject noun.

Compounds:

Unalchis (yew-nal-kiis) [Unal + Chis]

These Are

Unalah (un-al-ah)* n.

Skirts

3.56 . . . you are become the skirts of justice and truth.Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Unalah) Likely three syllables. Dee did not write the U standing alone, which seems to indicate that it combines with the n (making a short “u” sound).

Note:

Also see Miinoag (corners/boundaries).

Unalchis (yew-nal-kiis)* [Unal + Chis] comp.

These Are

10.33 . . . these be the Thunders . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Unalckis) Three syllables. The initial U stands alone. The ch in the final syllable takes a hard “ck” sound. (See Chis for further pronunciation notes.)

(*Dee—Vnāl-chis) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee placed a circumflex over the a to indicate a long vowel sound. The initial V takes the “u” sound.

Note:

See note at Unal.

Unchi (un-kii)* v.

To Confound

30.100 Confound her understanding . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Unchi Ki) Two syllables. The ch in the second syllable takes the harder “kh” sound—as in the English word ache.

Also:

Oucho (oh-yew-choh)

(Let) Confound

Urch (yurk)

The Confusers

Note:

It would appear that “uch” serves as a common root between these words.

Undl (und-el)* n.

The Rest

𐌲𐌺𐌹𐌳

3.13 . . . the rest are as sharp sickles . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Vnd L) Two syllables. Dee originally wrote this word with an initial V. The V likely takes the sound of “u”—because it precedes a consonant. The l stands alone.

(*Dee—und-l) See 48 Claves. Here, Dee confirms the initial “u” sound as well as the stand-alone l.

Also:

Udl (yew-del)

The Rest

Unig (yew-nig)* v.

To Require

𐌲𐌺𐌹𐌳

9.73 . . . the time is such as requireth comfort.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—V nig) Two syllables. Dee wrote this word with an initial V. However, because it precedes a consonant, it more likely takes the “u” sound.

Uniglag (yew-nii-glag)* v.

To Descend

𐌲𐌺𐌹𐌳𐌺𐌹𐌳

3.75 . . . move, descend, and apply yourselves . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Uniglag) I assume three syllables here, with a hard g in the second and third syllables.

(*Dee—𐌹niglag) See the 48 Claves. Dee placed a circumflex over the i to indicate the long sound.

I have adopted the long “u” sound from the similarly spelled Unig (to require).

“Vnph” (unv) n.

Anger

Pronunciation note:

Following the n, the ph likely has a soft “v” sound. (See the pronunciation notes for Sonf.)

Compounds:

Ivonpovnph (ii-VON-foh-unv) [I + “Vonpo” + “Vnph”]

Is Wrath in Anger

“Vonpovnph” (VON-foh-unv) [“Vonpo” + “Vnph”] Wrath in Anger

Also:

Vonph (vonv)

Wrath

Vonpho (von-foh)

(Of) Wrath

“Vonpo” (von-foh)

Wrath

Possible shared root:

Vohim (VOH-im)

Mighty

“Vonin” (voh-NIN)

Dragon

Vonph (vonv)

Wrath

“Vovim” (voh-VIM)

Dragon

Vovina (voh-VII-na)

Dragon

. Vohim (VOH-im)* adj.

Mighty

10.42 . . . with a hundred mighty earthquakes . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Vóh-im) Two syllables, with an accent on the first syllable.

(Dee*—vóhim) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee again indicates the accent on the first syllable.

Possible shared root:

“Vnph” (unv)

Anger

"Vonin" (voh-NIN)	Dragon
Vonph (vonv)	Wrath
Vonpho (von-foh)	(Of) Wrath
"Vonpo" (von-foh)	Wrath
"Vovim" (voh-VIM)	Dragon
Vovina (voh-VII-na)	Dragon

Note:

Also see Umadea (strong towers), Umplif (strength), Ugeg (become strong). Note how all these words for "strength" begin with U/V. But, also see Micaolz (mighty).

Compare from Loagaeth:

Voh, Voha

Vomzarg (vom-sarj)* pron.

Every One / All

UÉ#PELL

3.36 . . . giving unto every one of you power . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Vomsarg, arg as in barge) Likely two syllables, with a soft g at the end.

Note:

The word all can be an adjective ("all books") or a pronoun ("justice for all"). The word every is simply an adjective—but the word Vomzarg translates as "every one," which is synonymous with all used as a pronoun.

See also Ton, which is "all" used as an adjective.

"Vonin" (voh-NIN) n.

Dragons

373LL

Pronunciation note:

I have adopted the accent from Vovina (dragon).

Compounds:

Abaivonin (ay-bay-II-voh-nin) ["Abai" + "Vonin"] Stooping Dragons

Note:

Stooping here means “diving,” as an eagle stooping for its prey.

Also:

“Vovim” (voh-VIM)	Dragon
Vovina (voh-VII-na)	Dragon

Possible shared root:

Vohim (VOH-im)	Mighty
“Vnph” (unv)	Anger
Vonph (vonv)	Wrath
Vonpho (von-foh)	(Of) Wrath
“Vonpo” (von-foh)	Wrath

Vonph (vonv)* n.

Wrath

13.7 . . . to stir up wrath of sin . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Vonph) One syllable. I assume the nph is similar to the nf we see in words like Sonf (reign). I have indicated this in my pronunciation with “nv.” The v indicates a sound somewhere between a hard f and a very soft v.

Compounds:

Ivonph (ii-VONV) [I + Vonph]	Is Wrath
------------------------------	----------

Also:

“Vnph” (unv)	Anger
Vonpho (von-foh)	(Of) Wrath
“Vonpo” (von-foh)	Wrath

Possible shared root:

Vohim (VOH-im)	Mighty
“Vonin” (voh-NIN)	Dragon
“Vovim” (voh-VIM)	Dragon
Vovina (voh-VII-na)	Dragon

Vonpho (von-foh)* n.

(Of) Wrath

𐄂𐄂𐄂𐄂𐄂𐄂

1.9 . . . the firmaments of wrath . . .9.9 . . . vials eight of wrath . . .Pronunciation notes:(*Dee 1.9—Vonpho)(*Dee 9.9—Von pho) Two syllables.Also:

Vonph (vonv)

Wrath

"Vnph" (unv)

Anger

"Vonpo" (von-foh)

Wrath

Possible shared root:

Vohim (VOH-im)

Mighty

"Vonin" (voh-NIN)

Dragon

"Vovim" (voh-VIM)

Dragon

Vovina (voh-VII-na)

Dragon

"Vonpo" (von-foh) n.

Wrath

𐄂𐄂𐄂𐄂𐄂𐄂

Compounds:

Ivonpovnph (ii-VON-foh-unv) [I + "Vonpo" + "Vnph"] Is Wrath in Anger

"Vonpovnph" (VON-foh-unv) ["Vonpo" + "Vnph"] Wrath in Anger

Also:

"Vnph" (unv)

Anger

Vonph (vonv)

Wrath

Vonpho (von-foh)

(Of) Wrath

Possible shared root:

Vohim (VOH-im)

Mighty

"Vonin" (voh-NIN)

Dragon

"Vovim" (voh-VIM)

Dragon

Vovina (voh-VII-na)

Dragon

“Vonpovnph” (VON-foh-unv) [“Vonpo” + “Vnph”] comp. Wrath in Anger

∞ ∞ ∞ ∞ ∞ ∞ ∞ ∞

Compounds:

[vonpovnph (ii-VON-foh-unv) [I + “Vonpo” + “Vnph”]

Is Wrath In Anger

Vooan (voo-AN)* n.

Truth

∞ ∞ ∞ ∞ ∞

1.72 . . . the balance of righteousness and truth.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee, recording the words of Nalvage—It is Vooan. It may be sounded Vaoan. Vooan is spoken with them that fall, but Vaoan with them that are, and are glorified. The devils have lost the dignity of their sounds.) Thus, there are two acceptable spellings for Vooan. When working with earthbound or infernal spirits, the word should start with Vo (Vooan)—sounding akin to “voo-an.” However, when working with Angels, the word should start with Va (“Vaoan”)—sounding akin to “vay-oh-an.”

(*Dee—vaoan) See the 48 Claves. Here, Dee uses the “Vaoan” spelling of the word, even though Vooan was given in TFR. (See Odvooan for the accented syllable.)

Note:

(*Dee recording the words of Nalvage—The word is, by interpretation, Ignus vera mater. The vain Philosophers do think it doth beget bodies. But, in truth, it concieveth and bringeth forth.”) See TFR, p. 80. It seems that Nalvage accuses the “vain Philosophers” of regarding Vooan (Truth) as a male force (begetting bodies), but that Truth is in fact a feminine force (conceiving and bringing forth)—probably associating Truth with Gnostic images of Wisdom (Sophia). The Latin that Nalvage uses to interpret the word—Ignus vera mater—seems to mean the “Fiery Truth of the Mother/Source.”

Compounds:

Odvooan (ohd-voo-AN) [Od + Vooan]

And Truth

Also:

“Vaoan” (vay-oh-AN)

Truth

Vors (vorz)* prep.

Over

ʌ ɛ ʌ ʌ

3.39 . . . power successively over 456 . . .Pronunciation notes:(*Dee—VORS) One syllable. See the pronunciation note for Vorsg.Also:

Vorsg (vorzh)

Over (You)

Note:

Also see the Five Books, p. 311. Here, several spirits appear and demand of Dee and Kelley, “Vors Mabberan?” Dee records (Vors Mabberan = how now: what hast thou to do with us?) Given the known definition of Vors (over—especially in a hierarchy), I assume this phrase is a challenge as if to say, “What authority do you have over us?” Dee responds by reciting a prayer that sends these spirits fleeing.

Compare from Loagaeth:Vor, Vors, Vorza, Vorzad, VorzedVorsg (vorzh) prep.

Over (You)

ʊ ʌ ɛ ʌ ʌ

1.3 . . . I reign over you, sayeth the God of Justice . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Vorsg) It is unclear if Dee intends this word to be one syllable or not. The g may stand alone, or it could combine with the s to make a kind of “zhuh” digraph. I have chosen the latter, and have presented it as “zh” in my pronunciation.

Also:

Vors (vorz)

Over

Compare from Loagaeth:Vor, Vors, Vorza, Vorzad, Vorzed

"Vovim" (voh-VIM) n.

Dragon

ε 7 2 2 2

Pronunciation note:

I have adopted the accent from Vovina (dragon).

Compounds:

Telocvovim (tee-LOCH-voh-vee-im) [Teloch + "Vovim"] Death Dragon

Also:

"Vonin" (voh-NIN)

Dragons

Vovina (voh-VII-na)

Dragon

Possible shared root:

Vohim (VOH-im)

Mighty

"Vnph" (unv)

Anger

Vonph (vonv)

Wrath

Vonpho (von-foh)

(Of) Wrath

"Vonpo" (von-foh)

Wrath

Vovina (voh-VII-na)* n.

Dragon

ε 7 2 2 2

8.32 . . . until this house fall and the dragon sink . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Vo uí na) Three syllables, with an accent on the second syllable.

The o and the i should take their long sounds. Dee originally wrote this word with a U in the second syllable. However, the U/V should take the "v" sound when preceding a vowel. (Further supporting this, see the pronunciation notes for Taviv, as well as other versions of Vovina.)

(*Dee—Vouína) See the 48 Claves. Dee again indicates the accent on the second syllable.

Also:

"Vonin" (voh-NIN)

Dragon

"Vovim" (voh-VIM)

Dragon

Possible shared root:

Vohim (VOH-im)

Mighty

"Vnph" (unv)

Anger

Vonph (vonv)

Wrath

Vonpho (von-foh)

(Of) Wrath

"Vonpo" (von-foh)

Wrath

Upaah (yew-pay-ah)* n.

Wings

2.2 Can the wings of the winds understand . . .9.14 . . . whose wings are of wormwood . . .17.4 . . . whose wings are thorns to stir up vexation . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 2.2; 9.14; 17.4—V pa ah) Three syllables. Dee originally wrote this word with an initial V. However, it should take the "u" sound because it precedes a consonant. The second syllable probably has a long a.

(*Dee 2.2—v-pa-âh) See 48 Claves. Three syllables. Note the circumflex over the second a. This is not the only case where "âh" seems to indicate the short "o" sound (as in the English words father and fall).

(*Dee 9.14; 17.4—vpâah) See 48 Claves. Here, Dee places the circumflex on the first a instead.

Also:

Upaahi (yew-pay-hii)

Wings

Upaahi (yew-pay-hii)* n.

Wings

15.5 . . . under whose wings are 6739 . . .

Note:

The transmission of Key Fifteen is missing from Dee's journals. We only have the English for this Key given later (see TFR, p. 193). Plus, the word appears in this location in Dee's 48 Claves.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—vpââhi) See the 48 Claves. Likely three syllables. Dee originally wrote this word with an initial V. However, it should take the "u" sound because it precedes a consonant. He placed an accent over the second a, which is possibly the second syllable. In Early Modern English, a double a should indicate the long "a" sound.

Also:

Upaah (yew-pay-ah)

Wings

Ur (owr)* *prop. n.*Letter L

𐌺 𐌽

Note:

The name of the Angelical letter for L. It is likely that these letter names have translations of their own. (For instance, note the Hebrew alphabet: the letter L is named Lamed, but Lamed also translates as “ox-goad.”) However, such translations for the Angelical letters are never given. (See the Five Books, p. 270.)

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—In sound our or ourh.) I would assume this word rhymes with the English word hour.

Compare from Loagaeth:VrUran (yew-RAN)* n.

Elders

𐌺 𐌹 𐌺 𐌽

8.8 . . . in whom the Elders are become strong . . .

Note:

This is apparently a direct reference to the twenty-four Elders of the Apocalypse (see Revelation, chapter 4).

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—V rán) Two syllables, with the accent on the second syllable. Dee shows a V at the beginning of this word—however, in Early Modern English, a U/V before a consonant should take the vowel (“u”) sound. (Dee*—Vrán) See the 48 Claves. Again the accent is placed on the second syllable.

Compare from Loagaeth:Uran

Urbs (yurbs) v.

To Beautify

ᵛᵛᵉᵃ

1.35 . . . which beautified your garments . . .Also:

Turbs (turbs)

In Beauty

Urch (yurk) prop. n.

The Confusers

ᵛᵛᵉᵃ

From Corpus Omnium:

Associated with the Tribulation portion of the Table, translated in Latin as Confundantes (The Confusers)—which has a connotation of “to dissolve back to chaos.”

Also:

Oucho (oh-yew-choh)

(Let) Confound

Unchi (un-kii)

Confound

Note:

It would appear that “uch” is the shared root between these words.

Compare from Loagaeth:UrchanUrelp (yer-elp) n.

(A Strong) Seething

ᵛᵛᵉᵃ

2.49 . . . and make me a strong seething . . .Pronunciation note:

(Dee—Vrelp*) This seems to be two syllables, which means the initial V likely takes its soft “u” sound.

Note:

There have been suggestions that this word should be translated as “seething,” indicating that the speaker of the Key is asking to be granted visions. I find this unlikely. The speaker of the Key is attempting to “stir up” the Angels, and the English might thus better read “. . . and make (for) me a strong seething.”

Also note that seething would normally be an adjective (as in “he displayed a seething anger”). However, in Key Two, it is used as a noun.

Uta (yew-tay) prop. n.

“The Fourteenth Aethyr”

✱ 12

30.3 . . . which dwell in the fourteenth aethyr . . .

Note:

This (word 30.3) is the single space in the Key of the Aethyrs, which must be changed for each invocation—replacing word 30.3 with the name of the appropriate Aethyr. No established definitions were given for these names.

Uta contains the three Parts of the Earth Tedoond, Vivipos, and Ooanamb.

Uti (yew-tii) prop. n.

“The Twenty-Fifth Aethyr”

7 12

30.3 . . . which dwell in the twenty-fifth aethyr . . .

Note:

This (word 30.3) is the single space in the Key of the Aethyrs, which must be changed for each invocation—replacing word 30.3 with the name of the appropriate Aethyr. No established definitions were given for these names.

Uti contains the three Parts of the Earth Mirzind, Obvaors, and Ran-glam.

UX (yewks)*

42

12

13.4 . . . which have 42 eyes to stir up . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee—Ux*) Likely just one syllable. It is unclear if the U should be long or short. I have settled upon the long sound.

Note:

This word was not originally given with Key Thirteen. It was added later when Nalvage transmitted the English for the Key (see TFR, p. 193). This seems to have been the case with many of the numbers mentioned in the Keys.

Pal (X)

There are no Angelical words (to date) that begin with the letter Pal (X). Usually, a word beginning with an X will take a “z” sound (as in the English words xylophone and xenophobe). Therefore, I assume that any such word in Angelical would begin with a Ceph (Z) instead.

Ceph (Z)

Za (zay)* prop. n.

n/a

Pronunciation note:

(Dee: Zaa*) Dee spells the Angel Za’s name with two a’s in a marginal notation (see the note below), which may indicate the long “a” sound.

Note:

See TFR, pp. 228–29. The names of most of the Angels encountered by Dee and Kelley can be found in other parts of the Angelic system, such as the Heptarchia or Great Table (Watchtower) systems. However, Za is one of the few entirely unique Angels that appeared to the two men. It was very late in the Angelic journals, after all of the essential Angelic magick had been transmitted. One day, Kelley saw three little creatures running around the floor of the room. It turned out that they were Angels from the Great Table (Watchtowers), but their names were not derived according to the instructions Ave had previously given to Dee.

Za says of himself: “I am the second of the third,* which dwell in the spirit, and power of God in earth. I have power to scourge them that resist the power, will and commandment of God. And I am one of those that stand, and is perpetual.” Dee notes, in Latin: “Zaa—Scourger of resistance to the power, will and commandment of God.”

The three Angels, apparently jointly, say, “For even as the father, son, and holy spirit are one, but of themselves and being dilated, is full of power, and many. So are we one particularly in power, but separated. Notwithstanding, spiritually of, and amongst, others, and dilated in the will of God, and into the branches of his determinations. But, particularly living, and jointly praising God.”

Note:

*Dee notes the Angels are numbering the Watchtowers in an odd fashion. So that in this case, he points out, the numbering should follow: First = eastern, Second = western, Third = southern, and Fourth = the northern Watchtower. Za is found as the last two letters in the upper-left subquadrant of the Southern Watchtower Tablet.

In Dee's diagram of the Holy City (see Geoffrey James' Enochian Magick of Dr. John Dee, p. 103), the Southern Gates are associated with the zodiacal triplicity of Earth.

( On the next page Dee notes: The three names make one name of 7 letters—Gazavaa.) I note that all three of these names begin with capital letters on the Great Table (Watchtowers). Also, each one of them terminates once it hits the Great Cross, Black Cross, or the end of the Watchtower. We may have discovered an entirely new Angelic system in the Watchtowers.

(See Ga and Vaa. Also Galvah, Mapsama, Murifri, and Nalvage.)

Zaa (zay) prop. n.

"The Twenty-Seventh Aethyr"

⌘ ⌘ ⌘

30.3 . . . which dwell in the twenty-seventh aethyr . . .

Note:

This (word 30.3) is the single space in the Key of the Aethyrs, which must be changed for each invocation—replacing word 30.3 with the name of the appropriate Aethyr. No established definitions were given for these names.

Zaa contains the three Parts of the Earth Saziemi, Mathula, and Orpanib.

Zacam (ZAY-kam) v.

To Move

⌘ ⌘ ⌘ ⌘

6.36 . . . I have talked of you and I move you . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Za cam) Two syllables. I would suggest the a takes a long sound, as it falls as the end of its syllable.

(*Dee—zácám) See the 48 Claves. The accent is placed on the first syllable.

Note:

Remember that both I and you are generally implied in Angelical. Neither of these pronouns is indicated in the word itself.

Also:

Zacar (ZAY-kayr or ZOHD-ay-kayr) Move

Zacar (ZAY-kayr or ZOHD-ay-kayr)* v. Move

SSRP

- 1.73 . . . move, therefore . . .
- 2.42 . . . move, therefore . . .
- 3.74 . . . move, descend . . .
- 4.42 . . . move, and show yourselves . . .
- 7.35 . . . move, appear . . .
- 12.23 . . . move, I say . . .
- (RFP) . . . move, and show yourselves . . .
- 30.142 . . . move and appear . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 1.73—Call it Zacar. E must come after R: but without number, and so it is Zacre) Nalvage was still giving numbers with each letter of the words at this point. However, the letter e was not drawn from the Tables of Loagaeth, so it is “without number.” Instead, it was only appended to the word in Dee’s phonetic note to indicate that the preceding a should be long. It is purely a phonetic gloss.

(*Dee 2.42; 4.42; 30.142—Zacar)

(*Dee 7.35—Za car) This note suggests two syllables.

(*Dee 3.74—Zod a car) Here, Dee indicates that the Z should stand alone, making the “zohd” sound (producing three syllables instead of two). Since this is not indicated in other instances of the word, I suspect the extended Z is a poetic or lyrical gloss, rather than a rule of pronunciation. Finally, note that words 7.35 and 3.74 each indicate a long a in the first syllable.

(*Dee 1.73; 11.RFP—ZACARe) See the 48 Claves. In these places, Dee placed a lowercase e at the end of the word—supporting the note in TFR, word 1.73.

Finally, I have adopted the accent from the word Zacam (to move).

Note:

Could there be a relationship between this word and the name of Acar, an Angel of fire in the Northern Watchtower?

Also:

Zacam (ZAY-kam)

To Move

Zamran (zam-ran)* v.

To Appear

ጸ ጸ ፍ ፍ ጸ ጸ

- 1.76 ...move, therefore, and show yourselves...
- 2.45 ...move, therefore, and show yourselves...
- (RFP) ...move, therefore, and show yourselves...
- 7.36 ...move, appear, sing praises...
- 8.47 ...appear to the terror of the earth...
- 11.35 ...move, therefore, and show yourselves...
- 12.26 ...move, I say, and show yourselves...

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 1.76—Call it Zamran)

(*Dee 2.45—Zamran)

(*Dee 7.36; 8.47—Zam ran) Two syllables

Note:

The wording of the RFP does change slightly in some of the Keys. See either the Angelical Keys cross-reference (chapter 2) or the Angelical Psalter (in volume I).

Compounds:

Odzamran (ohd-zam-ran) [Od + Zamran]

And Appear

Zax (zaks) prop. n.

"The Tenth Aethyr"

ጸ ጸ ጸ

30.3 . . . which dwell in the tenth aethyr . . .

Note:

This (word 30.3) is the single space in the Key of the Aethyrs, which must be changed for each invocation—replacing word 30.3 with the name of the appropriate Aethyr. No established definitions were given for these names.

Zax contains the three Parts of the Earth Lexarph, Comanan, and Tabitom.

Zchis (zohd-kiis)* v.

(They) Are

ᶇᶘᶑᶑᶑᶑᶑᶑ

5.25 . . . they are the brothers . . .

9.39 . . . whose iniquities they are . . .

11.27 . . . as they are whose number is 31 . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee* 5.25; 11.27—Zod chis)

(Dee* 9.39—Zod Chis kis) Two syllables. The ch makes the harder “k” (or “kh”) sound. See the pronunciation notes for Chis (are) for the long “i” sound.

(Dee* 5.25; 11.27—z-chis) See the 48 Claves. Notes two syllables, with the Z standing alone.

Also:

Chis (kiis)

Are

Chiis (kiis)

Are (They)

“Chisda” (KIIS-da)

Are There

Chiso (kiis-oh)

Shall Be

“Gchis” (jee-kiis)

Are

“Ichis” (jjay-kiis)

Are

Zed (zed)

n/a ᶇᶘᶑᶑᶑᶑᶑᶑ

Note:

See TFR, pp. 34-35. This session is recorded entirely in Latin. Here we find this Angelical phrase spoken by “a Voice”: “Garil zed masch, ich na gel galaht gemp gal noch Cabanladan.” No translation or context is offered.

Zen (zen) prop. n.

“The Eighteenth Aethyr”

𐄂 7 P

30.3 . . . which dwell in the eighteenth aethyr . . .Note:

This (word 30.3) is the single space in the Key of the Aethyrs, which must be changed for each invocation—replacing word 30.3 with the name of the appropriate Aethyr. No established definitions were given for these names.

Zen contains the three Parts of the Earth Nabaomi, Zafasai, and Yalpamb.

Zid (zid) prop. n.

“The Eighth Aethyr”

𐄂 7 P

30.3 . . . which dwell in the eighth aethyr . . .Note:

This (word 30.3) is the single space in the Key of the Aethyrs, which must be changed for each invocation—replacing word 30.3 with the name of the appropriate Aethyr. No established definitions were given for these names.

Zid contains the three Parts of the Earth Zamfres, Todnaon, and Pristac.

Zien (zeen)* n.

Hands

𐄂 7 7 P

1.28 . . . the palms of my hands . . .Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Zien) I assume there should be one syllable here. The Early Modern English letter combination ie makes a long “e” sound—as in the English words grieve and believe.

Also:

Azien (az-EEN)

(On Whose) Hands

Ozien (oh-ZEEN)

(Mine Own) Hand

Probable shared root:

Ozol (oh-ZOHL)

Hands

Zol (zohd-OL)

Hands

Zildar (zil-dar)* v

Fly into

ᠵᠢᠯᠳᠠᠷ

11.8 . . . Thunders which flew into the east . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Zil dar) Two syllables. Both vowels appear to take their short sounds.

Possible shared root:

Zylna (zil-na)

“Within”

“Zilodarp” (ZII-loh-darp)

Stretch Forth/Conquest

Note:

Compare this word to the name of the Part of the Earth (and its Angelic Governor), Zildron. Thus, there is an etymology of “to fly” in his name.

“Zilodarp” (ZII-loh-darp) n.

Stretch Forth/Conquest

ᠵᠢᠯᠣᠳᠠᠷᠫᠤ

Compounds:

Madzilodarp (mad-ZII-loh-darp) [Mad + “Zilodarp”]

God of Conquest

Note:

I have simplified “stretch forth and conquer” into the obvious: “conquest.” However, based upon the words that might share a root with this word, I suggest that “stretch forth” is the base of “Zilodarp.”

Possible shared root:

Zildar (zil-dar)

Fly into

Zylna (zil-na)

“Within”

Zim (zim) prop. n. “The Thirteenth Aethyr” (Entrance or Territory?)

€ 7 P

30.3 . . . which dwell in the thirteenth aethyr . . .

Note:

This (word 30.3) is the single space in the Key of the Aethyrs, which must be changed for each invocation—replacing word 30.3 with the name of the appropriate Aethyr. No established definitions were given for these names.

Zim contains the three Parts of the Earth Gecaond, Laparin, and Docepax.

Possible shared root:

Zimii (ZII-mii) To Enter

Zimz (zimz) Vestures (Territories)

Zimii (ZII-mii)* v.

To Enter

7 7 € 7 P

5.2 The Mighty Sounds have entered into the third angle . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Zi mii) Two syllables. The first i is likely a long sound. The double i's in the second syllable would form a long “i” sound in Early Modern English.

(*Dee—zímmi) See the 48 Claves. Note the accent on the first syllable.

Possible shared root:

Zim (zim) “The Thirteenth Aethyr”

Zimz (zimz) Vestures (Territories)

Zimz (zimz)* n.

Vestures (Territories)

P € 7 P

1.23 . . . in the midst of my vestures . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Zimz) Probably one syllable.

Note:

The word vestures would not have indicated clothing to Dee and Kelley. Instead, it would have indicated property or territories—especially those given by a king. (It is the root of our modern words investiture and investment.)

Note that the word garment in Angelical is given as Oboleh, and related to the word Obloch (garland)—indicating a wrapping. Also see Qaa (creation).

Possible shared root:

Zim (zim)

“The Thirteenth Aethyr”

Zimii (ZII-mii)

To Enter

Zip (zip) prop. n.

“The Ninth Aethyr”

Ω 7 P

30.3 . . . which dwell in the ninth aethyr . . .

Note:

This (word 30.3) is the single space in the Key of the Aethyrs, which must be changed for each invocation—replacing word 30.3 with the name of the appropriate Aethyr. No established definitions were given for these names.

Zip contains the three Parts of the Earth Oddiorg, Crالpir, and Doanzin.

Zir (zer)* v.

Am, Were, Was

§ 7 P

2.51 ...I am of him...

3.4 ...I am a circle...

Pronunciation note:

(*Dee 2.51; 3.4—Zir) One syllable.

Note:

As is most often the case in Angelical, the pronoun (I) is simply implied.

Compounds:

Zirenaiad (zii-er-NAY-ad) [Zir + Enay + Iad]

I Am The Lord (Your) God

bination ai (or “ay”) makes the long “a” sound—as in the English words dais and day.

(Dee—Zirendiád*) See the 48 Claves. Note the accent on the third syllable.

Note:

The e and a in “enay” are phonetic glosses. See Enay (Lord).

Zirom (zer-OM)* v.

Were

ㄗㄹㄷㄹ

11.4 . . . they were five thunders . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee—Zir om*) Two syllables. Both vowels seem to take their short sounds. I have adopted the accent from Zirop (was).

Also:

Zir (zer)

Am

Zirido (zer-DOH)

Am

Zirop (zii-ROP)

Was

Zirop (zii-ROP)* v.

Was

ㄗㄹㄷㄹ

10.77 . . . is, was, and shall be great . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee—Zi róp*) Two syllables. The accent mark is on the second syllable. The i should be long, while the o is likely short.

(Dee—ziróp*) See the 48 Claves. Again shows an accent over the second syllable.

Also:

Zir (zer)

Am

Zirido (zer-DOH)

Am

Zirom (zer-OM)

Were

Zixlay (ziks-lay)* v.

To Stir Up

𐌵𐌰𐌶𐌵𐌹𐌺𐌰

17.7 . . . thorns to stir up vexation . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Zix lay) Two syllables. The i is short, but the ay combine to form a long “a” sound.

Note:

Also see Lring (to stir up).

Zizop (zis-op)* n.

Vessels

𐌵𐌰𐌶𐌵𐌹𐌺𐌰

5.20 . . . gave them vessels to water the earth . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Zisop) Appears to be three syllables. Note the second z takes on more of an “s” sound in pronunciation.

Also:

Izizop (iz-is-op)

(Your?) Vessels

Note:

Compare this word to the name Sisp (or Siosp), an Angel of Water in the Northern Watchtower. I find it interesting that the name of an Angel of Water is similar to the Zizop (vessels) that are used in Key Five “to water the earth.”

Also compare the names Ziza, Izaz, Zazi, and Aziz, the four Angels of Secrets from the Northern Watchtower.

Zlida (zohd-lid-a)* v.

To Water

𐌵𐌰𐌶𐌵𐌹𐌺𐌰

5.21 . . . vessels to water the earth . . .

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Zod-lida. It is a Word and a letter. Zod lida. Z lida) There was some confusion at this point in the session, so Dee ended up writing three distinct phonetic notes for this word. All of them indicate the same thing: the initial Z stands alone (. . . and a letter)—probably because it is followed by a consonant.

(*Dee—z-lida) See the 48 Claves. This note matches that in TFR.

Shared root:

Pilzin (pil-zin)

Waters

Note:

Zlida is a verb, while Pilzin is a noun.

Zna (snay) adj.

Motion (Action)

𐤆𐤏𐤏

From Corpus Omnium:

Found in the post-Deluge portion of the Table, in the phrase Zna Bab Iad (Moving Dominion of God).

Pronunciation notes:

Dee may have intended Zn to make a unified sound akin to “sn” (as in snake, snap, etc.). See the pronunciation given for Znurza (swore).

Znrza (snur-za)* v.

To Swear

𐤆𐤏𐤏𐤏𐤏

1.49 . . . you lifted up your voices and swore obedience.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—as Znursa) It is difficult to be certain, but it would appear Dee intended for the Zn to make a sound akin to “sn” (as in snake, snap, etc.). Then, the r takes the “ur” sound when surrounded by consonants with which it can’t combine (in this case, n and Z).

Also:

Surzas (sur-zas)

Sworn

Note:

Also see Aisro / Isro (promise of) and Sibsi (covenant).

Zol (zohd-OL)* n.

Hands

1.11 . . . in whose hands the sun is as a sword . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Zol . . . zod, as ol) Indicates that the Z should possess its extended “zohd” sound. This extension is likely a poetic or lyrical gloss, rather than a grammatical rule. (Note that other versions of the word do not have the extended “zohd” sound.)

(*Dee—z-ol) See 48 Claves. Two syllables, with the Z standing alone.

I have chosen to place the accent on the second syllable for two reasons. First, both Asien (hands) and Ozien (hand) are accented on the second syllable. Second, the extended “zohd” sound is likely a lyrical gloss, and not an inherent part of the word itself.

Also:

Ozol (oh-ZOHL)

Hands

Probable shared root:

Azien (az-EEN)

(On Whose) Hands

Ozien (oh-ZEEN)

(Mine Own) Hand

Zien (zeen)

Hands

Zom (zom) prop. n.

“The Third Aethyr” (To Encompass?)

30.3 . . . which dwell in the third aethyr . . .Note:

This (word 30.3) is the single space in the Key of the Aethyrs, which must be changed for each invocation—replacing word 30.3 with the name of the appropriate Aethyr. No established definitions were given for these names.

Zom contains the three Parts of the Earth Samapha, Virooli, and An-dispi.

Possible shared root:

Zomdux (zom-dooks)

Amidst (i.e., “encompassed by”)

Zomdux (zom-dooks) prep.

Amidst (i.e., "encompassed by")

𐌵𐌶𐌵𐌶𐌵𐌶𐌵

1.63 . . . shineth as a flame in the midst of your palace.Possible shared root:

Zom (zom)

"The Third Aethyr"

Note:Also see Nothoa (Amidst).Zonac (zoh-nak)* v.

Appareled (with)

𐌵𐌶𐌶𐌶𐌶𐌶

7.18 . . . and they are appareled with ornaments . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Zo nac) Two syllables. The o is likely long, while the A should take a short sound. I assume the c at the end of a word would take its hard sound.

Zong (zong)* n.

Winds

𐌵𐌶𐌶𐌶𐌶

2.3 Can the wings of the winds understand . . .Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Zong)

Also:

Ozongon (oh-zong-on)

Manifold Winds

Zonrensg (zon-renj) v.

To Deliver

𐌵𐌶𐌶𐌶𐌶𐌶𐌶

1.43 . . . delivered you a rod . . .Zorge (zorj)* v.

Be Friendly unto Me

𐌵𐌶𐌶𐌶𐌶𐌶

(RFP) Be friendly unto me.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee 1.RFP—Call it Zorge [Of one syllable]) The final e indicates a soft “g” sound. It probably rhymes with George and gorge.

Zumvi (zum-vii)* n.

Seas

ṽaεaP

9.48 . . . from their mouths run seas of blood.

Pronunciation notes:

(*Dee—Zum vi) Two syllables. The u should take its short sound. The final i should take a long sound.

Zuraah (zur-AY-ah) n.?

Prayer?*

oʔʔεaP

Note:

(*Dee—Laua Zuraah = Use humility in prayers to God, that is fervently pray. It signifieth, Pray Unto God.) See the Five Books, p. 324. Between lines 46 and 47 of Table One of Loagaeth, some kind of stormy interference erupted in the shewstone. A voice then said the phrase “Laua Zuraah.” The two men then prayed as instructed, and the interference cleared. It would appear that Zuraah indicates prayer to the Highest God.

Pronunciation notes:

The first a of Zuraah is accented in Dee’s journal. The double a should result in a long “a” sound.

Possibly also:

Zurah (zur-AH) n/a

Zure (zur-AY) n/a

Zuresch (zur-ESK) n/a

Compare from Loagaeth:

Zurad, Zuram, Zurath, Zureheffa, Zurehoh, Zureoch, Zuresch, and Zureth

Zurah (zur-AH)

n/a

oʔʔεaP

Pronunciation note:

I have adopted the accent from Zuraah.

Note:

See TFR, p. 22. Here, the guardian Angel of Lord Lasky of Poland says a prayer on Lasky's behalf, which ends with, "Grant this Camascheth galsuagath garnastel zurah logaah luseroth." (Note the word Zurah.) No translation is offered.

Possibly also:

Zuraah (zur-AY-ah)	Prayer?
Zure (zur-AY)	n/a
Zuresch (zur-ESK)	n/a

Compare from Loagaeth:

Zurad, Zuram, Zurath, Zureheffa, Zurehoh, Zureoch, Zuresch, and Zureth

Zure (zur-AY)	n/a
	762P

Pronunciation note:

I have adopted the accent from Zuraah.

Note:

See the Five Books, p. 276. Here, Kelley is once again convinced the Angels are evil devils sent to lead humans astray. The Archangel Raphael holds his hands to Heaven (in what appears to be exasperation) and exclaims, "Camikas Zure!" No translation is suggested.

Possibly also:

Zuraah (zur-AY-ah)	Prayer?
Zurah (zur-AH)	n/a
Zuresch (zur-ESK)	n/a

Compare from Loagaeth:

Zurad, Zuram, Zurath, Zureheffa, Zurehoh, Zureoch, Zuresch, and Zureth

Zuresch (zur-ESK)	n/a
	00E7762P

Pronunciation note:

I have adopted the accent from Zuraah.

From Loagaeth:

See the Five Books, pp. 288 and 291. This is one of the thousands of untranslated words from the Tables of Loagaeth. I have included it here merely because I have discussed it more than once in the text of this study. It is the first word of Loagaeth itself (Table One, side A, Word 1), and Raphael made a point that it was to be of seven letters.

Possibly also:

Zuraah (zur-AY-ah)	Prayer?
Zurah (zur-AH)	n/a
Zure (zur-AY)	n/a

Compare from Loagaeth:

Zurad, Zuram, Zurath, Zureheffa, Zurehoh, Zureoch, Zuresch, and Zureth

Zylna (zil-na)* prep.

Within (Itself)

𐌵𐌶𐌰𐌸

30.56 . . . may be always drunken and vexed in itself.

Pronunciation notes:

(Dee*—Zyl na) Two syllables. Remember the y could also be written as an i—so the word could also appear as Zilna.

Possible shared root:

Zildar (zil-dar)	Fly into
"Zilodarp" (Zil-loh-darp)	Stretch Forth/Conquest

An English to Angelical Dictionary

If you are using this Lexicon to create new prayers and invocations (or to convert existing texts into Angelical), then you are likely to begin here. Simply look up the English word you wish to translate, and you will find the Angelical word, all of its alternate versions, and reference pointers to similar, related, or synonymous words. Decide which version best fits your intent, and then look up the word in the Lexicon itself to see how it is properly used—and much more.

This dictionary is expanded. Because of the fluid definitions associated with Angelical words, I was able to use a thesaurus to generate a larger pool of interrelated words and concepts. This makes it more likely that you will find the word you are looking for, or at least something closely related.

Tips on Translating English into Angelical

Based on my overall study of the language, I would like to offer some basic tips on translating English texts into Angelical. First of all, write out the text as it exists in English. Then follow these steps:

- Mark out articles (a, an, and the). Articles do not exist at all in Angelical. The word of is also unnecessary most of the time, although there does exist an Angelical word for it (De), so it can be used if you feel it is unavoidable.
- Mark out most adjectives. You can check the English to Angelical to see if your adjective—or something similar—exists. If it does not, you can drop the adjective, and consider it implied in the Angelical. As an example, if you want to translate the words a bitter sting, you would only need to look up the word sting. There is no Angelical word for bitter, but that adjective is implicit in the Angelical word Grosb (bitter sting). The same word might translate as “horrible sting,” “painful sting,” “poisonous sting,” and so forth.
- Also remember that Angelical compounds are often formed between nouns and the possessive adjectives (his, her, their), demonstrative and relative pronouns (which/that, this, those), conjunctions (and, or, but), and the forms of to be (is, are, were) that indicate them. Therefore, try linking these words together in the English text, and see if they form natural compounds in Angelical.

- You can take most noun phrases and verb phrases and reduce them to their basic concepts. For instance, consider the sentence He was running swiftly. The verbal phrase was running swiftly might be represented sufficiently by the Angelical for “to run.” Thus He was running swiftly could be represented with the single Angelical word Parm. Or, another example: The great sea of the western region would become just three words: Drilpa zumvi soboln (“great sea west”). (Especially look at column 4 of the Angelical cross-reference, to see how simple Angelical translates into elaborate English.)
- If you’ve written something for which there is no (current) Angelical translation, try re-wording your text. Endeavor to say the same thing in a different way, and see if the Angelical exists for such alternate wording. (A thesaurus can be a big help in this process.) At the same time, you can browse through this English-to-Angelical section for alternate words that might fit your intent.

These are just a few simple suggestions that will allow you to convert English text into a format easily translatable into Angelical. I also strongly suggest that you study the “Angelical Linguistics” chapter, in order to get a better feel for how Angelical grammar works. With these tools at your disposal, you should have little trouble writing and translating Angelical texts.

1	19	1636
See First, One	AF	QUAR
2	22	3663
See Second	OP	MIAN
3	24	5678
See Third	OL	DAOX
4	26	6332
See Fourth	OX	ERAN
5	28	6739
O	OB, NI	DARG
6	31	7336
See Six	"GA"	TAXS
8	33	7699
P	PD	ACAM
9	42	8763
See Nine	UX	EMOD
12	100	9639
OS	See Hundred	MAPM
12 Kingdoms	456	9996
Os londoh	CLA	CIAL
12 Seats	1000	69636
Thilnos	See Thousand	PERAL

A (Un)Abide

Casasam (Abiding)

See also Continue, Dwell, Remain

Able

See Can

Abound

See Flourish

Accomplish

See Execute

According

Marb (According to)

Achieve

See Execute

Action

Sor (Action, especially that taken by a king)

Zna (Motion, Action)

See also Move, Motion, Rest Not, Stir

Add

Uml (To Add)

See also Increase

Administer

See Apply

Admiration

Grsam (Admiration)

See also Adoration, Glory, Praise

Adoration

Adgmach (Glory, Adoration, Praise)

See also Glory, Praise, Admiration

Adornment

See Garnish

Advance

"Ar" (To Advance Upon)

Aeon

See Age

Affix

See Bind, Fasten, Truss Together

Afflict/Affliction

See Torment

Age

Homil (Ages)

Homin (Age)

See also While, Period, Season, Time

Agony

See Torment

Ahead

See Before

All

Tofglo (All Things)

Ton (All)

See also Every One

"All Powerful"

Iaidon (the All Powerful God)

See also God, Lord

Always

Paid (Always)

Am

Zir (I Am)

Zirdo (I Am)

See also Are, Is, Was, Were

Amidst

Nothoa (Amidst)

Zomdux (Amidst/Encompassed by)

See also Among, Center

Among

Aai (Amongst You)

Aaf (Amongst)

Aaiom (Amongst Us)

Aao (Amongst)

Eai (Amongst)

Oai (Amongst)

See also Amidst, Center

Amplify

See Magnify

And

Ds (And?)

Od (And)

Ot (And)

And Another While

Odcacocasb

And Appear

Odzamran

And Are

Odchis

And Continuance

Odmiām

And Destroy

Odquasb

And the Dwelling Place

Odfaorgt

And Fourth

Odes

And Has

Odbrint

And Liveth

Odapila

And Powers

Odlonshin

And the Praise

Odecrin

And the Second

Taviv(?)

And Shall Not See

Odipuran

And Truth

Odvo oan

And Wax Strong

Odugeg

Angels/Angelic Orders

(It is unclear if these are Angelic Orders or simply different Angelical words for Angel.)

Avavago (Thunders of Increase)

Const (Thunders)

Coraxo (Thunders of Judgment and Wrath)

Ialpurg (Burning Flames)

Lang (Those Who Serve)

Luas (Those Who Praise, or The Triumphant)

Pir (Holy Ones)

Sach (The Establishers/Supporters)

Sapah (Mighty Sounds)

Urch (The Confusers)

See also Divine Names, Spirits. (Also see Star, a common biblical term for an Angel.)

Anger

"Vnph" (Anger)

See also Fury, Wrath

Angle

Div

Animal

See Beast, Creature

Another

Asymp (Another)

"Smnad" (Another)

Symp (Another)

Any

DroIn (Any)

Apparel

Zonac (Appareled with, Cloathed)

See also Garment, Garland

Appear

Zamran (To Appear)

See also Arise

Appendage

See Member

Apply

Imuamar (To Apply unto)

Are

Chiis (Are)

Chis (Are)

"Gchis" (Are)

Geh (Are / Art)

I (Is, Are)

"Ichis" (Are)

Zchis (They Are)

See also Is, May Be, Shall Be, Was,

Were

Are as

Chista

Are as the Third

Chistad

Are Become

Inoas

Are Measured

Chisholq

Are Mighty

Chismicaolz

Are Not

Gchisge (Are Not)

Ichisge (Are Not)

Are There

"Chisda"

Arise/Rise

Torgu (Arise)

Torzu (Arise)

Torzul (Shall Rise)

Torzulp (To Rise)

See also Lift Up, Appear

Ark

Ern (Ark)

See also Harbor

Arrogance

See Pomp

Arrow

"Mal" (Thrust, Arrow, Increase)

Art

See Are

As

“Ca” (As?)

Ta (As)

As Bucklers

Talolcis

As Comforters

Tablior

As the First

Talo

As Many

Plosi (As Many)

See also Many

As is Not

Tage

As Olives

Taqanis

As the Second

Taviv

As Sickles

Tapuin

As the Third

“Tad”

Assortment

See Variety

Asylum

See Ark, Harbor

Athamor (Alchemical Furnace)

Rlodnr (Alchemical Furnace or Heat)

Attach

See Bind, Fasten, Truss Together

Attend

See Apply, Appear

Attire

See Apparel, Garment, Garland

Attractive

See Beauty

Authority

See Dominion

“Avoidance of Earthly Things”

See “Earth-Fleer”

B (Pa)Balance

Piap (Balance)

Bane*See* TormentBarbSee* ThornBarrierSee* BucklerBeSee* Am, Are, Become, Is, Let There

Be, Not, Shall Be, Was, Were

Bear*See* Bring ForthBear Witness

O (Come and Bear Witness)

Oh (Come and Bear Witness?)

Beast

Levithmong (Beasts of the Field)

See also CreatureBeauty

Turbs (Beauty)

Urbs (Beautified)

Because

Bagle (For, Wherefore, Because)

Baglen (Because)

See also For, Therefore, WhereforeBecome

Inoas (Are/Have Become)

Noaln (May Be)

Noan (To Become)

Noar (Has Become)

Noas (Have Become)

Noasmi (Let Become)

Become Strong

Ugeg (Become Strong)

Ugegi (Become/Grow Strong)

See also StrongBed

Tianta (Bed)

Before

Aspt (Before, In Front)

See also PrecedeBe Friendly unto Me

Zorge (Be Friendly unto Me)

Beginning

Acroodzi (Beginning)

Amgedpha (I Will Begin Anew)

Croodzi (Beginning of Things)

Iaod (Beginning)

Iaodaf (In the Beginning)

Nostoah (It Was in the Beginning)

Begotten

Iusmach (Begotten)

Behold

Micma (Behold)

See also Look, SeeBe It Made with Power

Chramsä

See also Let There BeBeneath

Oroch (Under)

Orocha (Beneath)

See also Under

Between

See Amidst, Among

Bind

Alar (To Settle, To Place)

Allar (To Bind Up)

See also Set, Settle, Place, Plant

Blood

Cnila (Blood)

Boil

See Seethe

Bolt

See Arrow

Born

See Begotten

Boundaries

See Corners

Branch

Lilonon (Branches)

Breath

Gigipah (Living Breath)

Brightness

Luciftian (Ornaments of Brightness)

Luciftias (Brightness)

See also Light, Shine

Bring Down

Drix (To Bring Down)

See also Cast Down

Bring Forth

Yolcam (To Bring Forth/Bear)

Yolci (To Bring Forth)

Brother

Esiasch (Brothers)

Buckler

"Lolcis" (Bucklers)

Building

Orscatbl (Buildings)

Trof (Building)

See also House, Dwelling

Bulwark

See Buckler

Burn

Ialpon (To Burn)

Ialpor (Flaming)

See also Fire, Flame, Shine

Burning Flame

Ialprg (Burning Flame)

Ialpurg (Burning Flames)

But

Crip (But)

"Crp" (But)

Oq (But/Except)

See also Except

But One

Crpl

C (Veh)Call

"Ium" (Is Called)

Iumd (Is Called)

Can

Adgt (Can)

Cannot

"Pamis" (Cannot)

Ipamis (Cannot Be)

See also No/None, Not

Carry Out

See Execute

Cast Down

Adrpan (Cast Down)

See also Bring Down

Cause

Gru (To Cause, Bring about, Result)

Cave/Cavern

Tabges (Caves)

Celebrate

See Rejoice

Center

Ovoars (Center)

See also Amidst

Chamber

Ooge (Chamber)

Characteristic

See Quality

Christ in Hell

Iurhoh (What Christ Did in Hell)

Churn

See Mingle, Seethe

Circle

Comselh (Circle)

Classify

See Separate Creatures

Clothed

See Apparel, Garment, Garland

Coat

Mabza (Coat)

Come

Carma (Come Out)

Niis (Come Here)

Niisa (Come Away)

Niiso (Come Away)

Come and Bear Witness

O (Come and Bear Witness)

Oh (Come and Bear Witness?)

Comfort

"Bigl" (Comforter?)

Bigliad (In Our Comforter)

"Bliard" (Comfort)

Blior (Comfort)

Bliora (Comfort)

Bliorax (To Comfort)

Bliorb (Comfort)

Bliors (Comfort)

"Bliort" (Comfort)

Pibliar (Places of Comfort)

Command

See Dominion, Government

Conceit

See Pomp

Conclude

Iaial (To Conclude, Judge)

See also Judgment

Conflict

See Differ, Discord

Confound

Oucho (Confound)

Unchi (To Confound)

Urch (The Confusers)

See also Confuse

Confuse

Urch (The Confusers)

See also Confound

Connect

See Fasten, Truss Together

Conquer

See Stretch Forth/Conquest

Conquest

See Stretch Forth/Conquest

Consistent/Constant?

See "In One Number," Always

Container

See Cup, Vessel, Vial

Continue

Miam (Continuance)

"Mian" (Continuance)

Pild (Continually)

See also Successive, Abide, Remain

Corner

Miinoag (Corners—Boundaries)

See also Skirt

Corrupt

See Rotten

Count

See Number (especially "Numbered")

Countenance

See Face

Couple

Pola (Two, together/Couple)

See also Together, Two, Wedding

Course

"Elzap" (Course)

"Lzar" (Courses)

Covenant

Sibsi (Covenant)

See also Promise, Swear

Cover

Ethamz (To Cover)

Creation

Qaa (Creation/Garments)

Qaan (Creation)

Qaaon (Creation)

Qaas (Creation)

See also Creator

Creator

Qaal (Creator)

Qadah (Creator)

See also Creation

Creature

Tolham (All Creatures)

Tolhami (Upon All Creatures)

Toltorg (Creatures)

Toltorgi (With Creatures)

"Toltorn" (Creature)

See also BeastCrown

Momaο (Crowns)

"Momar" (To Crown)

Cry

Bahal (Cry Loudly)

See also WeepCup

Talho (Cups)

See also Vessel, VialCurse

Amma (Cursed)

See also Wicked

D (Gal)

Damn/Damned

See Curse

Dark

Ors (Darkness)

Dart

See Arrow, Fiery Arrow/Dart

Daughter

Pasbs (Daughters)

Dawning

See Beginning

Day

Basgim (Day)

See also Midday

Death

Teloah (Death)

Teloch (Death)

Death Dragon

Telocvovim (Death Dragon, "Him
That Is Fallen")

See also Devil, Lucifer, Satan

Decorate

See Garnish

Deep

See Sea

Deface

Tonug (To Deface)

See also Destroy

Defense

See Buckler

Deliver

Zonrensg (To Deliver)

Obelison (Pleasant Deliverer, the

Angel Befafes)

Obelisong (Pleasant Deliverers)

See also Bring Forth

Demand

See Require

Depths of My Jaws

Piadph (Depths of My Jaws)

Descend

Uniglag (To Descend)

See also Fall, Sink, Stoop

Destroy

"Quasb" (To Destroy)

See also Deface

Devil, The

Coronzom

Githgulcag

Telocvovim (Death Dragon, "Him
That Is Fallen")

See also Satan, Lucifer

Devoid

See Empty

Diamond

Achildao (Diamond)

Differ

Dilzmo (To Differ)

Diminish

Prdzar (To Diminish)

Discord

Osf (Discord)

Dispose

Lrasd (To Dispose, To Place)

Dive

See Sink, Stoop, Fall

Diversity

See Variety

Divide

Poilp (Divided)

Yrpoil (Division)

See also Separate

Divine Names

Baeovib (Righteousness)

El (The First)

Enay (Lord)

Gahoachma (I Am That I Am)

Galsagen (Divine Power Creating the Angel of the Sun)

Galvah (The End/ Omega)

Geiad (Lord and Master)

Gohed (One Everlasting, All Things Descending Upon One)

Iad (God)

"Iadoias" (Eternal God)

Iadpil (Unto Him)

Iaida (The Highest)

Iaidon (The All Powerful)

Ia-isg (Everlasting One and Indivisible
God)

Iidoigo (Him Who Sits upon the Holy Throne)

Ioiad (Him That Liveth Forever)

L (The First, One)

NA (The Trinity, Lord)

See also Angelic Orders

"Divine Power Creating the Angel of the Sun"

Galsagen

Divine Throne, The

See Mighty Seat

Division

See Divide

Do/Does (Doth)

Gnay (Doth)

Dominance

See Dominion

Dominion

Bab (Dominion)

See also Government, Kingdom

Doth

See Do/Does

Dragon

"Vonin" (Dragons)

"Vovim" (Dragon)

Vovina (Dragon)

Dress

See Apparel, Garment, Garland

Dross

See Moss

Drunk

Orsba (Drunken)

Dry

Orscor (Dryness)

Dwell/Dwelling

Faonts (To Dwell within)

"Faorgt" (Dwelling Place)

Fargt (Dwelling Places)

"Praf" (To Dwell)

See also Living Dwellings, Building, House

E (Graph)

Eagle

Vabzir (Eagle)

Earth

Caosg (Earth)

Caosga (Earth)

Caosgi (Earth)

Caosgin (Earth)

Caosgo (Of the Earth)

Caosgon (Unto the Earth)

“Earth-Fleer”

Nalvage (Earth-Fleer, or Avoidance of Earthly Things)

Earthquakes

Gizyax (Earthquakes)

East

Raas (East)

Rassy (East)

Elder

Uran (Elders)

Empty

Affa (Empty)

End

Ul (End)

Uls (Ends)

See also Omega

Endure

See Abide

Enigma

See Mystery

Enjoyment

See Pleasure, Joy

Enlarge

See Magnify

Enter

Zimii (To Enter)

Eon

See Age

Equal

Parach (Equal)

See also Same

Era

See Age

Essence

See Marrow

Establish

Sach (The Establishers)

Eternal God

“Iadoias” (Eternal God)

See also Everlasting, Him That Liveth Forever, God, Lord

Even

Nomig (Even as)

Everlasting

Ia-isg (Everlasting One and Indivisible
God)

Gohed (One Everlasting...)

See also God, Eternal God, Him That Liveth Forever, Lord

Every One

Vomzarg (Every One / All)

See also All

Everything*See* AllExaltedSee* GreatExcept

Oq (But/Except)

M (Except)

See also ButExciteSee* StirExecute

Fisis (To Execute, Carry Out)

Eye

Ooanoan (Eyes)

Ooaona (Eyes)

F (Or)

Face

Adoian (Face)

Faith

Congamphlgh (Faith/Holy Ghost)

Gono (Faith/Trust/Loyalty)

Fall

Dobix (To Fall)

Loncho (To Fall)

See also Descend, Sink, Stoop

Fashion

See Frame

Fasten

Amipzi (To Fasten)

See also Truss Together

Fate

See Providence

Fear God

Hoxmarch (To Fear God)

See also Those That Fear God

Feet

Lasdi (Feet)

Lusd (Feet)

Lusda (Feet)

Lusdan (Feet)

"Fervency"

Laua (Fervency/Humility—an attitude in prayer?)

Fiery Arrow/Dart

Malprg (Through-thrusting Fire, Fiery Arrow)

Malpurg (Fiery Arrows)

See also Fires of Life and Increase

Fire

"Pirgi" (Fires)

Prge (Fire, Flame, Flames)

Prgel (Fire)

See also Burn, Flame, Light

Fires of Life and Increase

Malpirgi

See also Fiery Arrow, Through-thrusting Fire

Firmament

Calz (Firmaments)

See also Heaven, Firmaments of Waters

Firmaments of Waters

Pilzin (Firmaments of Waters)

See also Firmament, Heaven, Water

First

El (The First, God)

"Elo" (The First)

Ili (The First)

L (One, The First, God)

La (The First)

Lu (From One)

First Flame

Lialprt

First Glory

"Pirgah" (The First Glory)

See also Flame, Fire

Flame

Ialpirt (Light, Flame)

Ialpor (Flaming)

"Ialprt" (Light, Flame)

"Prg" (Fire, Flame, Flames)

Prge (Fire, Flame, Flames)

"Purg" (Fire, Flame, Flames)

Vep (Flame)

See also Burn, Fire, Light

Flames of the First Glory

Ialpirgah

Flourish

Cacacom (To Flourish)

Flower

Lorslq (Flowers)

Fly Into

Zildar (Fly into)

See also Within

Foot

See Feet

For

Bagle (For, Wherefore, Because)

Lap (For)

See also Therefore, Wherefore,
Because

Forget

Bams (To Forget)

Form

See Frame

Fourth

"Es" (Fourth)

S (Fourth)

Fourth Angle

Sdiv

Frame

Izazaz (To Frame, To Form)

Friendly

See Be Friendly unto Me

Front

Aspt (Before, In Front)

See also Face

Frown Not

Ucim (Frown Not)

See also Happy

"Furious and Perpetual Fire
Enclosed for the Punishment of Them That Are Banished From the Glory"

See Hellfire

Furnace

See Athanor (Alchemical Furnace)

Furnish

Tooat (To Furnish)

See also Provide

Fury

Bagie (Fury)

Baltim (Fury, or Extreme Justice)

See also Anger, Wrath

G (Ged)

Garb

See Apparel, Garment, Garland

Garland

Obloc (Garland)

See also Garment

Garment

Oboleh (Garments)

Qaa (Garments/Creation)

See also Apparel, Garland

Garnish

Gnonp (To Garnish)

Gather

Aldi (To Gather)

Aldon (Gird Up, Gather Together)

See also Gird, Harvest

Gird

Aldi (To Gather)

Aldon (Gird Up, Gather Together)

See also Gather, Bind

Girdle

Atraah (Girdles)

Give

Dluga (To Give)

"Dlugam" (Given)

Dlugar (To Give)

Phama (I Will Give)

Glory, Glorious

Adgmach (Glory, Adoration, Praise)

Busd (Glory, Glorious)

Busdir (Glory, Glorious)

"Pirgah" (Glory)

See also Admiration, Adoration,
Praise, Magnify, Wonder

Glory of Her

Busdirtilb

Go Before

See Precede

God

Geiad (Lord and Master)

Iad (God)

"Iadoias" (Eternal God)

Iadpil (To Him)

Iaida (The Highest)

Iaidon (All Powerful)

Ia-isg (Everlasting One and Indivisible
God)

Idoigo (Him Who Sits upon the Holy Throne)

Ioiad (Him That Liveth Forever)

Mad (A God, Your God)

Oiad (Of God)

Piad (Your God)

See also First, God of Righteousness,
Lord, Worker of Wonders

God Eternally Crowned

Iadoiasmomar (God Is, Was, and Shall Be Crowned)

God Is, Was, and Shall Be Crowned

See God Eternally Crowned

God of Righteousness

Iadbaltoh

See also God, Lord

God of Stretch Forth and Conquer

Madzilodarp (God of Conquest)

Gold

Audcal (Alchemical Gold, Alchemical Mercury)

Govern/Government/Governor

Anetab (In Government)

Caba (To Govern)

Gnataab (Your Governments)

Netaab (Governments)

Netaaib (Government)

Tabaam (Governor)

Tabaord (Be Governed)

Tabaori (To Govern)

"Tabas" (To Govern)

See also Steward, Dominion, Reign

Great

Drilpa (Great)

Drilpi (Greater Than)

Great Name

Monasci (Great Name)

Groan

Holdo (To Groan)

Grow

See Flourish

Grow Strong

Ugeg (Become Strong)

Ugegi (Become / Grow Strong)

See also Strong

Guard

Bransg (A Guard)

H (Na)

Half

Obza (Half)

Hand

Azien (Hands)

Ozien (My Own Hand)

Ozol (Hands)

Zien (Hands)

Zol (Hands)

Handmaid

Qurlst (Handmaid)

See also Minister, Servant

Happy

Ulcinin (Happy)

See also Frown Not

Harbor

Blans (To Harbor)

See also Ark

Harlot

Ababalond (Harlot)

Harmony

See Balance

Harvest

"Giar" (Harvest)

See also Gather

Has

See Have/Has

Have/Has

"Brin" (Have)

"Brint" (Has)

Brints (To Have)

Haven

See Ark, Harbor

He

See Him, His

"He That Speaks"

Mapsama

Head

Dazis (Heads)

Hear

See Listen

Hearken

See Listen

Heart

Monons (Heart)

Heaven

"Madriax" (Heavens)

Madriiix (Heavens)

Oadriax (Lower Heavens)

Piripsax (Heavens)

Piripsol (Heavens)

Piripson ('Third? Heaven)

See also Firmament

Hellfire

Donasdogamatastos (The Furious and

Perpetual Fire Enclosed for the Punishment of Them That Are Banished From the Glory)

Her

"Ip" (Her)

Tilb (Her)

Tiobl (Within Her)

See also She

Her Course

Elzaptilb (Her Course)

Her Understanding

Omptilb

Here

Emna (Here)

Sem (In This Place)

Highest

Iaida (The Highest)

See also God, Lord

Him

Iadpil (Unto Him—God)

Tox (His, Him)

See also His

“Him That Is Fallen”

Telocvovim (Death Dragon, “Him That Is Fallen”)

See also Devil, Lucifer, Satan

“Him That Liveth Forever”

Ioiad (Him That Liveth Forever)

See also Eternal God, God, Lord

“Him Who Sits upon the Holy Throne”

Idoigo (Him Who Sits upon the Holy Throne)

See also God, Lord

His

Tox (His, Him)

See also Him

His Pomp

Avavox

His Power

Lonshitox

Hollow

See Empty

Holy

Pir (Holy Ones)

See also Angels

“Holy Ghost”

Congamphlgh (Faith/Holy Ghost)

Honor

Iaiadix (Honor)

Horn

“Mospleh” (Horns)

House

Salman (House)

See also Building, Dwelling

How Many

“Irgil” (How Many)

See also Many

How Many Are There

Irgilchisda

How Now

Mabberan (How Now?)

Humility

Laua (Fervency/Humility—an attitude in prayer?)

Hundred

Torb (One Hundred)

Hyacinth Pillars

See Pillar

I (Gon)I

Ol (I)

"I Am That I Am"

Gahoachma

I Am the Lord (Your) God

Zirenaiad

"I Desire Thee, O God"

Arphe

In Front*See* Before"In One Number"

Sagacor (In One Number)

"In This Place"

Sem

See also HereIncrease

"Coazior" (To Increase)

"Mal" (Thrust, Arrow, Increase)

See also AddIneffableSee* UnspeakableIniquity

Madrid (Iniquity)

See also SinIntent

Fafen (Intent, Train)

Is

I (Is, Are)

See also Am, Are, Is Not, May Be,

Shall Be, Let There Be, Was, Were

Is 31

Iga

Is As

Ita

Is Given

Idlugam

Is a House

Isalman

Is Not

Ipam (Is Not)

Ipamis (Cannot Be)

See also No/None, NotIs One

Il

Is Such As

Icorsca

Is Wrath

Ivonph

See also Is Wrath in AngerIs Wrath in Anger

Ivonpovnph

See also Is WrathIt

"T" (It)

It Is

Ti

J (Ged)Join

See Fasten, Truss Together

Joy

Moz (Joy, Joy of God)

See also Pleasure

Judgment

Balzizras (Judgment)

See also Conclude

K (Veh)Kindness

See Mercy

Kingdom

Adohi (Kingdom)

Londoh (Kingdom)

See also Dominion

Just/Justice

Balit (The Just)

Balt (Justice)

Baltan (Justice)

Baltim (Extreme Justice, or Fury)

Padgze (Justice From Divine Power

Without Defect)

Know

See Knowledge, Understand

Knowledge

Iadnah (Knowledge)

Iadnamad (Pure Knowledge)

See also Understand

L (Ur)Laborer

See Workmen

Laid Up

Maasi (Laid up, Stored)

Lamentation

Eophan (Lamentation)

See also Sorrow, Woe

Lamp, Lantern

Hubaio (Lanterns)

Hubar (Lamps)

Hubaro (Living Lamps)

See also Lantern

Law

See Legislate

Lead

See Before

Legislate

Ohorela (To Legislate)

Let

"Ix" (Let)

Let Her Be Known

Ixomaxip

Let There Be

Christeos (Let There Be)

See also Are, Shall Be

Lift Up

Goholor (Lift Up)

See also Arise

Light

Ialpirt (Light, Flame)

"Ialprt" (Light, Flame)

See also Brightness, Flame, Shine

Like

"Azia" (Like unto)

Aziazor (Likeness of)

Like unto the Harvest

Aziagiar

Limb

See Branch, Member

Limitless

Maoffas (Measureless)

Listen

Solpeth (Hearken, To Listen)

Toatar (Hearken, To Listen)

Live

"Apila" (To Live)

Hom (To Live)

Living Breath

Gigipah (Living Breath)

Living Dwellings

Paradial (Living Dwellings)

See also Dwell/Dwelling

Loathsome

See Rotten

Loins

"Dax" (Loins)

Long

See Age, Period, Time, While

Look

Dorpha (To Look about)

Dorphal (Looking with Gladness
Upon)

See also Behold, See

Lord

Enay (Lord)

Geiad (Lord and Master)

NA (Lord, the Trinity)

See also God

Lower Heavens

Oadriax (Lower Heavens)

See also Heaven

Loyalty

See Faith

Lucifer

Coronzom

Githgulgag

Telocvovim (Death Dragon, "Him
That Is Fallen")

See also Devil, Satan

M (Tal)

Made/Make

Eol (Made)

Eolis (Making)

Oln (Made of)

Ozazm (To Make)

Ozazma (To Make)

Made a Law

See Legislate

Made Mankind

Olcordziz

Magnify

Ovof (To Magnify)

See also Adoration, Glory, Praise

Make

See Made/Make

Man

"Olap" (Men)

Ollog (Men)

"Ollor" (Man)

Oloro (Of Man)

See also Mankind, Work of Man

Mankind

Cordziz (Mankind)

See also Man

Mansion

See Palace

Many

"Irgil" (How Many)

Plosi (As Many)

Marble

Pidiai (Marble)

Marrow

Tranan (Marrow)

Master

Geiad (Lord and Master)

See also Lord

May Be

Noaln (May Be)

See also Are, Become, Let There Be,
Shall Be

Measure

Holq (To Measure)

Maoffas (Measureless)

Member

Paombd (Members, Parts, Appendages)

See also Part

Memory

See Remember

Men

See Man, Mankind

Mercury

Audcal (Alchemical Gold, Alchemical Mercury)

Mercy

Iehusoz (God's? Mercies)

Rit (Mercy)

Midday

"Bazem" (Midday)

Bazemlo (Midday the First)

See also Day

Middle

See Amidst, Center

Midst*See* AmidstMightyCanse* (Mighty)Cruscanse (More Mighty)Micalp (Mightier)Micalzo (Mighty, Power)Micaoli (Mighty)Micaolz (Mighty)Omicaolz (Be Mighty)Vohim (Mighty)See also Strong, PowerMighty SeatOziayal* (Mighty Seat—Throne of God)See also "Him Who Sits upon the Holy Throne"MillstoneAviny* (Millstones)MindManin* (In the Mind)MingleCinxir* (To Mingle)MinisterCnoquodi* (Ministers)See also Handmaid, ServantMiserySee* TormentMixSee* MingleMomentOanio* (Moment)MoonGraa* (Moon)More"Crus"* (More, Greater?)More MightyCruscanseMoreoverPilah* (Moreover)MossMom* (Moss, Dross?)"Mother of Vinegar"See* TartarMotionZna* (Motion, Action)See also Action, Move, Rest Not, StirMount of OlivesSee* Olive MountMourningSee* Sorrow, LamentationMouthButmon* (Mouth)Butmona (Mouth)Butmoni (Mouths)MoveZacam* (To Move)Zacar (Move)See Action, Motion, Rest Not, StirMysteryCicle* (Mysteries)Cicles (Mysteries)See also Secret

N (Drux)

Name

Dooain (Name)

Dooaip (In the Name)

Dooiap (In the Name)

Monasci (Great Name)

Omaoas (Names)

Need

See Require

Neither

Larag (Neither/Nor)

See also No/None, Not

Nest

Virq (Nests)

Night

Dosig (Night)

Nine

Em (Nine)

No/None

Ag (No, None)

See also Not, Neither

No Creature

Ågtoltorn

Noise

Nidali (Noises)

None

See No, Neither

Noon

See Midday

No One

“AgI”

No One Creature

Ågtoltorn

No Place

Ripir (No Place)

“Nor”

See Neither

North

Lucal (North)

Not

“Ge” (Not)

Ip (Not)

Ipam (Is Not)

Ipamis (Can Not Be)

“Pam” (Not)

“Pamis” (Cannot)

See also Cannot, Neither, No/None

Number

Capimaon (Number of Time)

Cormf (Number)

Cormfa (Numbers)

Cormp (Numbered)

Cormpo (Hath Yet Numbered)

Cormpt (Numbered)

Sagacor (“In One Number”—Consistent/Constant?)

See also Successive

O (Med)Oak

Paeb (Oak)

Obedience

Adna (Obedience)

See also Obey

Obey

Darbs (Obey)

See also Obedience

Ocean

See Sea

Of

De (Of)

Olive

"Qanis" (Olives)

Olive Mount

Adroch (Olive Mount)

Omega (The End)

Galvah (The End—prop. n.)

See also End

One

L (One, The First—God)

Lu (From One)

See also First

One Another

Lsmnad

"One Everlasting, All Things Descending Upon One"

Gohed

See also One, Lord, God

One Rock

Lpatralx

One Season

Lnibm

One While

Lcapimao

Only

See But

Open

Odo (To Open)

Or

Q (Or)

Or as

Qta

Organize

See Dispose

Or the Horns

Qmospleh

Over

Vors (Over)

Vorsg (Over You)

P (Mals)

Pair

See Couple

Palace

Poamal

Palm

Nobloh (Palms of the Hands)

Part

Saanir (Parts)

See also Member

Partake

Plapli (Partakers)

Peace

"Etharzi" (Peace)

Perform

See Execute

Period

Matorb (Long, period of time)

See also Age, Time, While

Persecute

See Torment

Persist

See Abide

Philosopher's Stone

Darr (The Philosopher's Stone)

Pillar

Nazarth (Pillars of Gladness)

Nazavabh (Hyacinth Pillars)

See also Strong Towers

Place

Aala (To Place)

Oali (To Place)

See also Bind, Dispose, Set, Settle, Sit,
Plant

Places of Comfort

Pibliar (Places of Comfort)

Plant

Harg (To Plant)

See also Bind, Place, Set, Settle, Sit

Pleasant Deliverer

Obelisong (Pleasant Deliverers)

Obelison (Pleasant Deliverer, the Angel Befafes)

Pleasure

"Qrasahi" (Pleasure)

See also Joy

Plummet

See Fall, Sink, Stoop

Poison

Faboan (Poison)

See also Wormwood

Pomp

"Avav" (Pomp)

Pour

Panpir (To Pour Down)

Power

Gmicalzo (In Power)

Iaidon (The All Powerful—God)

Lansh (Exalted Power)

Lonsa (Power)

Lonshi (Power)

"Lonshin" (Powers)

Micalzo (Power, Mighty)

Nanaeel (My Power)

See also Mighty, Strong

Power of Understanding

Gmicalzoma

Praise

Adgmach (Glory, Adoration, Praise)

“Ecrin” (Praise)

Luas (Those Who Praise or The Triumphant)

Oecrimi (To Sing Praises)

Restil (To Praise Him?)

See also Admiration, Adoration,
Glory, Magnify

Pray/Prayer

Zuraah (Prayer?)

Precede

Tastax (Going Before, To Precede)

See also Before

Prepare

Abramig (To Prepare)

Abramg (To Prepare)

See also Provide

Pretty

See Beauty

Pride

See Pomp

Q (Ger)

Quality

Aspian (Qualities, Characteristics)

Produce

See Bring Forth

Promise

Aisro (To Promise)

Isr (Promise?, A Son of the Sons of Light)

Isro (Promise of)

See also Covenant, Swear

Prosper

See Flourish

Prostitute

See Harlot

Provide

Abraassa (To Provide)

See also Prepare, Furnish

Providence

Yarry (Providence)

Psalm

See Song

Pure (Undefiled)

Mad (Your God, “Pure/Undefiled”)

Pure Knowledge

Iadnamad

Put

See Place

R (Don)Rage

See Fury, Wrath

Rain

See Pour

Raise

See Lift Up, Arise

Read

Hardch (To Read?)

"Reasonable Creature"

See Man, Mankind

Receive

Ednas (Receivers)

Recollection

See Remember

Refuge

See Ark, Harbor

Regret

See Repent

Reign

Bogpa (To Reign)

Sonf (To Reign)

See also Govern

Rejoice

Chirlan (To Rejoice)

Remain

"Paox" (To Remain)

Paoxt (Let Remain)

See also Abide, Continue

Remainder

See Rest

Remember

Papnor (Remembrance, Memory)

Repent

Moooah (To Repent)

Require

Unig (To Require)

Rest

"Page" (To Rest)

Udl (The Rest)

Undl (The Rest)

See also Sleep

Rest Not

Pageip

See also Action, Move

Rich

"Las" (Rich)

Rich Man

Lasollor

Righteous

Baeovib (Righteousness)

Baltle (Righteousness)

Baltoh (Righteousness)

Baltoha (My Righteousness)

Samvelg (The Righteous)

Rise

See Arise

Roar

Yor (To Roar)

Rock

"Patralx" (Rock)

See also Stone

Rod

Cab (Rod/Scepter)

Room

See Chamber

Rotten

Qting (Rotten)

Rule

See Govern, Reign

Run

Parm (To Run)

Parmgi (Let Run)

S (Fam)

Safeguard

See Buckler

Salt

Balye (Salt)

Same

Lel (Same)

See also Equal

Sanctuary

See Ark, Harbor

Satan

Coronzom

Githgulcag

Telocvovim (Death Dragon, "Him
That Is Fallen")

See also Devil, Lucifer

Say

Gohia (We Say)

Goho (To Say)

Gohol (To Say)

Gohon (Have Spoken)

Gohulim (It Is Said)

Gohus (I Say)

See also Speak, Talk

Sayeth the First

Gohel

Sayeth the Lord

Gohoiad

Scepter

See Rod

Scorpion

Siatrix (Scorpions)

Scourge

See Torment

Scythe

See Sickle

Sea

Zumvi (Seas)

Seal

Emetgis (Seal)

Season

"Nibm" (Season)

See also Period, Age

Seat

Othil (Seats)

Thil (Seats)

Thild (Seats)

"Thiln" (Seats)

See also Mighty Seat

Seats of Mercy

Othilrit

See also Mighty Seat

Second (2nd)

Viiv (Second)

Viv (Second)

See also Two

Second (unit of time)

See Moment

Second Angle

Vivdiv

Second Flame

Vivialprt

Secret

Ananael (Secret Wisdom)

Laiad (Secrets of Truth)

See also Mystery

Secrets of Truth

Laiad (Secrets of Truth)

Secret Wisdom

Ananael (Secret Wisdom)

See

“Puran” (To See)

See also Behold, Look

Seethe

Vrelp (Strong Seething)

Senior

See Elder

Separate

Pala (Two, separated)

See also Two, Divide, Separate Creatures

Separate Creatures

Tliob (To Separate Creatures, Classify?)

See also Separate

Servant

Cnoqod (Servants)

Cnoquol (Servants)

Lang (Those Who Serve)

Noco (Servant)

See also Handmaid, Minister, Serve

Serve

Aboapri (To Serve)

Booapis (To Serve)

See also Servant

Set

Othil (To Set / Seat)

See also Bind, Place, Plant, Settle, Sit

Settle

Alar (To Settle, To Place)

Allar (To Bind Up)

See also Set, Sit, Bind, Place, Plant

Shall Be

Chiso (Shall Be)

Trian (Shall Be)

See also Are, Let There Be, May Be

Shall Not See

“Ipuran”

She

“Pi” (She)

See also Her

Sheath

See Sleeve

She Is

Pii

Shelter

See Harbor, Ark

Shine

Loholo (To Shine)

See also Burn, Brightness

Show Yourself

See Appear

Sibling

See Brother

Sickle

“Puin” (Sickles)

Signify

Alca (To Signify?)

Sin

Doalim (Sin)

See also Iniquity

Sing Praises

Oecrimi (To Sing Praises)

See also Praise

Sink

Carbaf (Sink)

See also Fall, Descend, Stoop

Sit

Trint (To Sit)

See also Place, Set, Settle

Six

Norz (Six)

Skirt

Unalah (Skirts)

See also Corner

Sleep

Brgda (To Sleep)

See also Rest

Sleeve

Collal (Sleeves/Sheaths)

“Slimy Things Made of Dust”

Apachana (The Slimy Things Made of Dust)

Smile

See Frown Not

See also Happy

Sol

See Sun

Son

“Nor” (Son)

“Norm” (Son/Sons)

Noromi (Sons)

Song

Faaip (Voicings, as in Songs or Psalms)

Luaiahe (Song of Honor)

Sons of Men

Normolap

Sons of Pleasure

Norquasahi

Sorrow

Ser (Sorrow)

Tibibp (Sorrow)

See also Lamentation, Woe

South

Babage (South)

Babagen (South)

Speak

Brita (To Speak of, Talk About)

Camliax (Spake, Spoke)

See also “He That Speaks,” Talk, Say

Speech from God

Loagaeth (Speech from God—the Holy Book)

Spirit

Gah (Spirits—Angels?)

Tohcoth (Nature Spirits)

Staff

See Rod

Stand

Biab (To Stand)

Star

Aoiveae (Stars)

Start*See* BeginningSteward

Balzarg (Stewards)

See also GovernorSting

Grosb (Bitter Sting)

Stir

Lring (To Stir Up)

Zixlay (To Stir Up)

See also Action, Mingle, Motion, Move, Rest Not, SeetheStone

Orri (Barren Stone)

See also Rock, Philosopher's StoneStoop

"Abai" (Stoop)

See also Fall, Descend, SinkStooping Dragons

Abaivonin

Store*See* Laid upStranger

Gosaa (Stranger)

Strength

Umplif (Strength)

Ugear (Strength of Men)

See also StrongStretch Forth/Conquest

"Zilodarp" (Stretch Forth/Conquest)

Strong

Givi (Stronger)

Ugear (Strength of Men)

Ugeg (Become Strong)

Ugegi (Become / Grow Strong)

Umadea (Strong Towers)

Umplif (Strength)

See also Mighty, Power, StrengthStrong Towers

Umadea (Strong Towers)

See also PillarSubtractSee* DiminishSuccessive

Capimali (Successively)

Capmiali (Successively)

See also NumberSuch

Cors (Such)

Corsi (Such)

Such As

Corsta

Sulfur

Dlasod (Alchemical Sulfur)

Salbrox (Live Sulfur)

Sun

Ror (Sun)

Surge

Molvi (Surges)

Surround*See* CircleSurroundedSee* Amidst, Among

Swear

Surzas (To Swear)

Znrza (Swore)

See also Covenant, Promise

Sword

Napeai (Swords)

Napta (Two-edged Swords)

Nazpsad (Sword)

T (Gisg)Talk

Brita (To Speak of, Talk about)

See also Speak, Say

Tartar

Lulo (Tartar, Mother of Vinegar)

Temple

Siaion (Temple)

Territories

See Vestures

Terror

Ciaofi (Terror)

That

Ar (That)

Ds (Which/That)

See also Which, These, Those

That Govern

Artabas

That Increase

Arcoazior

That Understand

Dsom

Thee

See You

Them

Par (Them)

There

"Da" (There)

Geta (There)

Therefore

"Ca" (Therefore)

Darsar (Wherefore, Therefore)

See also For, Because, Wherefore

These

Unal (These)

See also This, Those

These Are

Unalchis

They

See Them

Third

D (Third)

Third Angle

Duiv

Third Flame

Dialprt

This

"Oi" (This)

See also That, These, Those

This House

Oisalman

Thorn

Nanba (Thorns)

Those

Priaz (Those)

Priazi (Those)

See also That, This, These

Those That Fear God

Amzes ("Those That Fear God")

See also Fear God

Thou

See You, Yourself

Thought

Angelard (Thoughts)

Thousand

Matb (One Thousand)

Throne (of God)

See Mighty Seat

Through-thrusting Fire

See Fiery Arrow

Thrust

"Mal" (Thrust, Arrow, Increase)

Thunder

Avavago (Thunders of Increase)

Const (Thunders)

Coraxo (Thunders)

Sapah (Mighty Sounds)

Thy

Aqlo (Thy)

"Yl" (Thy)

See also You, Yourself

Time

Acocasb (Time)

Capimaon (Number of Time)

Cocasb (Time)

Cocasg (Times)

Qcocasb (Contents of Time)

See also Age, Period, Season, While

To

See Unto

Together

Pola (Two, together/Couple)

See also Couple, Two, Wedding

Torment

Mir (Torment)

See also Vex

Torture

See Torment

Tower

See Strong Towers, Pillar

Train

Fafen (Train, Intent)

Treasure

Limlal (Treasure)

Trinity

NA (Lord, Trinity)

Triumph

Luas (Those Who Praise or The Triumphant)

Toh (To Triumph)

"Toha" (Triumph)

Troop

See Guard

"True Measure of the Will of God in Judgment, Which is by Wisdom"

Miketh

True Worshiper

Hoath (True Worshiper)

Truss Together

Commah (To Truss Together/Join)

See also Fasten, Bind

Trust

See Faith

Truth

"Vaoan" (Truth—Higher)

Vooan (Truth—Lower)

Two

Pala (Two-separated)

Pola (Two-together, Couple)

Olani (Two Times, Twice)

See also Second

Twice

See Two

U (Van)

Undefined

See Pure

Under

Oroch (Under)

Orocha (Beneath)

See also Beneath

Understand

Om (To Understand / Know)

"Oma" (Of Understanding)

Omax (To Know)

"Omp" (Understanding)

See also Knowledge

Unspeakable

Adphaht (Unspeakable)

Until

Cacrg (Until)

Unto

Pambt (Unto Me)

Pugo (As unto)

Tia (Unto Us)

Upon

Mirc (Upon)

V (Van)VacantSee* EmptyVan

"Ar" (To Van, i.e., to Advance Upon)

Van the Earth

Arcaosgi (To Van the Earth)

Vanity*See* PompVariety

Damploz (Variety)

Vessel

Izizop (Your Vessels)

Zizop (Vessels)

See also Cup, VialVestmentSee* Apparel, Garment, GarlandVesture

Zimz (Vestures, Territories)

See also GarmentVex

Dodpal (To Vex)

Dodrmni (Vexed)

Dods (To Vex)

Dodsih (Vexation)

See also TormentVial

Efafafe (Vials)

Ofafafe (Vials)

See also Cup, VesselVictorySee* TriumphVinegar, Mother ofSee* TartarVirgin

Paradiz (Virgins)

Visage*See* FaceVisit

Ef (Visit)

F (Visit)

Visit in Peace

Fetharzi

Visit the Earth

Fcaosga

Visit with Comfort

Fbliard

Voice

Bia (Voices)

Bial (Voice)

Bien (My Voice)

Bahal (Cry with a Loud Voice)

Faaip (Voicings—as in Songs or Psalms)

Farzem (Uplifted Voices)

Void*See* EmptyVomit

Oxex (To Vomit)

W

Walk

"Insi" (To Walk)

Want

See Require

Was

Zirop (Was)

See also Am, Are, Is, Were

Water

Pilzin (Waters)

Zlida (To Water)

Wax Strong

Ugeg (Become Strong)

Ugegi (Become / Grow Strong)

See also Strong

Wealthy

See Rich

Weave

"Oado" (To Weave)

Wedding

Paraclea (Wedding)

See also Couple, Together

Weed Out

Fifalz (Weed Out)

Weep

Raclir (Weeping)

Were

Zirom (They Were)

See also Am, Are, Is, Was

West

Soboln (West)

Wherefore

Bagle (For, Wherefore, Because)

Darsar (Wherefore, Therefore)

See also For, Because, Therefore

Wherein

Quiin (Wherein)

Which

Ds (Which / That)

Dst (Which Also)

See also That, This

Which Are

Dschis

Which Dwell

Dspraf

Which Have

Dsbrin

Which Is

Dsi

Which Is Called

Dsium

Which Prepared

Dsabramg

Which Reign

Dsonf

Which Remain

Dspaaox

Which Walkest

Dsinsi

Which Weave

Dsoado

While

"Cacocasb" (Another While)

"Capimao" (While)

See also Age, Period, Season, Time

Whom/Whose

Asobam (On Whom)

Casarm (Whom)

Casarma (Whom)

Casarman (Whom/Under Whose)

Casarmg (In Whom)

Casarmi (Under Whom)

"Saba" (Whose)

Soba (Whose)

Sobam (Whom)

Sobca (Whose)

"Sobha" (Whose)

"Sobo" (Whose)

Sobra (Whose)

"Sola" (Whose)

Whore

See Harlot

Whose Continuance

Solamian

Whose Courses

Sobolzar

Whose Eyes

Sabaoaona

Whose God

Sobaiad

Whose Works

Sobhaath

Why

See Wherefore

"Why Didst Thou So?"

Gascampho

Wicked

Babalon (Wicked)

See also Curse

Widow

Rior (Widow)

Will

See Your Will Be Done

Wind

Ozongon (Manifold Winds)

Zong (Winds)

Window

"Como" (Window)

Window of Comfort

Comobliort

Wine

Roxtan (Rectified Wine)

Wing

Upaah (Wings)

Upaahi (Wings)

Winnow

See Van

Wisdom

See Secret Wisdom, Knowledge,

Understand

"With Humility We Call Thee, with Adoration of the Trinity"

Argedco

Within

Zylna (Within Itself)

Woe

Ohio (Woe)

See also Sorrow, Lamentation

Wonder

Sald (Wonder)

"Lzirn" (Wonders)

See also Glory

Work

"Aath" (Works)

"Vau" (To Work)

Vaun (To Work)

Work of Man

Conisbra (The Work of Man)

See also Man, Mankind

Workmen

Canal (Workmen)

Work Wonders

Vaulzirn

Worker of Wonders

PELE (Worker of Wonders)

Peleh (Worker of Wonders?)

See also God

World

See Earth

Wormwood

Tatan (Wormwood)

See also Poison

Worship

See True Worshiper

Worthy

Naghezes (To Be Worthy?)

Wrath

Vonph (Wrath)

Vonpho (Of Wrath)

"Vonpo" (Wrath)

See also Anger, Fury

Wrath in Anger

"Vonpovnph"

X (Pal)

There are no Angelical words in Dee's records that translate into English words beginning with the letter X.

Y (Gon)

Yea

See Yes

Yell

See Cry

Yes

Noib (Yea, Yes)

You (pl.)

Nonca (You)

Noncf (You)

Nonci (You)

Noncp (You)

See also You (sing.), Yourself

You (sing.)

Bolp (Be Thou)

Yls (Thou)

Ylsi (Thee)

See also You (pl.), Yourself, Thy

Your

See Thy

Your Loins

Daxil

Yourself

Amiran (Yourselves)

See also You (sing.)

Your Will Be Done

Gemeganza

Z (Ceph)

There are no Angelical words in Dee's records that translate into English words beginning with the letter Z.

Bibliography

Adler, Aufsteigender. Soyga/Agyos: Tractatus Astrologico Magicus Aldaraia sive Soyga Vocor, Flight of the Condor—Contemporary Shamanism (2001) (Online at http://www.kondor.de/enoch/soyga/Soyga_starte.htm.)

Agrippa, Henry C. (edited by Stephen Skinner and trans. by Robert Turner). The Fourth Book of Occult Philosophy. Berwick, ME: Ibis Press, 2004.

———. (edited by Donald Tyson and trans. by James Freake). Three Books of Occult Philosophy. St. Paul, MN: Llewellyn, 1992.

Allan, Jim, ed. An Introduction to Elvish. Hayes, UK: Bran's Head Books, 1978.

Ashe, Steven. Qabalah of 50 Gates. Glastonbury, UK: Glastonbury Books, 2006.

Bible, The. King James Version. (See BibleGateway.com, <http://www.biblegateway.com>.)

Bouwsma, William J. Concordia Mundi: The Career and Thought of Guillaume Postel, 1510–1581. Cambridge, MA: Harvard University Press, 1957.

Budge, E. A. Wallis, trans. The Egyptian Book of the Dead: The Papyrus of Ani in the British Museum. New York: Dover, 1967.

- Charles, R. H., ed., and W. R. Morfill, trans. The Book of the Secrets of Enoch. Escondido, CA: Book Tree, 1999. First published in 1896. (This is 2 Enoch, "The Slavonic Book of Enoch.")
- Charlesworth, James H., ed. The Old Testament Pseudepigrapha, vol. 1. Garden City, NY: Doubleday, 1983. (Includes 1 Enoch, "The Ethiopic Book of Enoch"; 2 Enoch, "The Slavonic Book of Enoch"; and 3 Enoch, "The Hebrew Book of Enoch.")
- Clulee, Nicholas H. John Dee's Natural Philosophy: Between Science and Religion. London: Routledge, 1988.
- Dalley, Stephanie. Myths from Mesopotamia : Creation, the Flood, Gilgamesh, and Others. Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1998.
- Dan, Joseph. The Ancient Jewish Mysticism. Tel Aviv, Israel: MOD Books, 1993.
- Davidson, Gustav. A Dictionary of Angels, Including the Fallen Angels. Reissue edition. New York: Free Press, 1994.
- Dee, John. A True and Faithful Relation of What Passed For Many Years Between Dr. John Dee [. . .] and Some Spirits. New York: Magickal Childe, 1992. First published in 1659. Other editions also available. A PDF version is available at The Magickal Review, <http://www.themagickalreview.org/enochian/tfr.php> (accessed March 1, 2010).
- Dee, John. (Peterson, Joseph H., ed.). John Dee's Five Books of Mystery: Original Sourcebook of Enochian Magic. Boston: Weiser, 2003.
- . Mysteriorum Libri Quinti: or, Five Books of Mystical Exercises of Dr. John Dee. Magnum Dyfed, UK: Opus Hermetic Sourceworks, 1985.
- Eliade, Mircea. Shamanism: Archaic Techniques of Ecstasy. Princeton, NJ: Princeton University Press, 2004.
- "Enochian-I" (e-mail list). <http://www.gnostica.net/mailman/listinfo/enochian-l>.
- Ginzberg, Louis. Legends of the Bible. New York: Simon and Schuster, 1956.
- Godwin, Malcolm. Angels: An Endangered Species. New York: Simon and Schuster, 1990.

- Harkness, Deborah E. John Dee's Conversations with Angels: Cabala, Alchemy, and the End of Nature. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 1999.
- . The Scientific Reformation: John Dee and the Restitution of Nature. (Unpublished PhD thesis, University of California, Davis, 1994.)
- Heidrick, Bill. "The Star Sponge and the Fifty Gates, Two Passages to Attainment." Thelema Lodge Calendar, 5/90 e.vol. "From the Out Basket" (copyright 1975 and 1990). Online at <http://www.digital-brilliance.com/kab/50gates.txt> (accessed March 1, 2010).
- Heinlein, Robert. Stranger in a Strange Land. New York: Putnam, 1961.
- James, Geoffrey. The Angel Summoner. St. Paul, MN: Llewellyn, 1998.
- . The Enochian Magick of Dr. John Dee. St. Paul, MN: Llewellyn, 1994.
- Kaplan, Aryeh. Sepher Yetzirah: The Book of Creation. York Beach, ME: Weiser, 1997.
- Kircher, Athanasius. Oedipus Aegyptiacus. Online at <http://www.billheidrick.com/Orpd/AKir/AKOeAeII.htm> (accessed March 1, 2010).
- Krakovsky, Levi Isaac. Kabbalah: The Light of Redemption. Brooklyn, NY: Kabbalah Foundation, 1950.
- Laurence, Richard, trans. The Book of Enoch the Prophet. Bensenville, IL: Lushena Books, 2001. First published in 1883. Also online at <http://www.livius.org/ei-er/enoch/enoch.htm>.
- Laycock, Donald. The Complete Enochian Dictionary: A Dictionary of the Angelic Language as Revealed to Dr. John Dee and Edward Kelley. Revised edition. York Beach, ME: Red Wheel/Weiser, 2001.
- Layton, Bentley, trans. The Gnostic Scriptures. New York: Doubleday, 1995.
- Leitch, Aaron. "The Angelic Alphabet." Found online at http://kheph777.tripod.com/art_angelical_alphabet.pdf.
- . "Gnosticism: Sethian to Valentinian." Diamond Fire magazine, Winter 2003. (Also online at <http://kheph777.tripod.com/>)

- . "Introduction to the Hebrew Alphabet." Diamond Fire magazine, Summer 2004. Also online at <http://kheph777.tripod.com/>.
- . John Dee's Journals Abridged: The Angelic Language, Loagaeth, the Parts of the Earth and the Great Table of the Earth. (working title) Unpublished manuscript, 2004.
- . Secrets of the Magical Grimoires: The Classical Texts of Magick Deciphered. St. Paul, MN: Llewellyn, 2005.
- . "Shem haMephoresh: Divine Name of Extension." Diamond Fire magazine, Fall 2003. Also online at <http://kheph777.tripod.com/>.
- , (moderator). The Solomonic Yahoo Group. <http://groups.yahoo.com/group/solomonic>.
- Liber Loagaeth*. Online at <http://www.geocities.com/peripsol/Enoch/5LiberLoagaeth.htm>.
- Magickal Review, The*. <http://www.themagickalreview.org/>
- , ed. Enochian Manuscripts Online. Digital scans of the British Library microfilms: MSS. Sloane 3188, 3189, 3191, and Cotton Appendix MS. XLVI Parts I and II. (Online at <http://themagickalreview.org/enochian/>)
- Mastros, Sara Leanne. "The Fifty Gates of Understanding." Online at <http://www.ugcs.caltech.edu/~abszero/mine.html>.
- Mathers, S. L. MacGregor, ed. and trans. The Key of Solomon the King. Mineola, NY: Dover, 2009.
- McLean, Adam, ed. A Treatise on Angel Magic. San Francisco: Weiser, 2006.
- Odeberg, Hugo, trans. and ed. 3 Enoch; or the Hebrew Book of Enoch. New York: Ktav Publishing, 1973.
- Orwell, George. Nineteen Eighty-Four. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1949.
- Peterson, Joseph H., ed. John Dee's Five Books of Mystery. York Beach, ME: Weiser, 2003.

- . Liber Loagaeth or Liber Mysteriorum, Sextus et Sanctus, 1997. Online at <http://www.esotericarchives.com/dee/sl3189.htm> (accessed October 22, 2009). The full text of Loagaeth can be purchased on CD from this webpage.
- . Twilit Grotto: Archives of Western Esoterica. Online at <http://www.esotericarchives.com> (accessed October 22, 2009).
- Radiant, Callisto, ed. Enochian Linguistics. Online at <http://www.madimi.com/enochlng.htm> (accessed October 22, 2009).
- Reeds, Jim. "Breakthrough in Renaissance Cryptography: A Book Review." Cryptologia magazine, January 1999. Available online at http://findarticles.com/p/articles/mi_qa3926/is_199901/ai_n8848725/ (accessed October 22, 2009).
- . "John Dee and the Magic Tables in the Book of Soyga." In Clucas, Stephen, ed. John Dee: Interdisciplinary Studies in English Renaissance Thought. Dordrecht, The Netherlands: Springer, 2006. Also available online at <http://www.dtc.umn.edu/~reedsj/soyga> (accessed October 22, 2009).
- . "Solved: The Ciphers in Book III of Trithemius's Steganographia," Cryptologia magazine, October 1998. Available online at <http://www.dtc.umn.edu/~reedsj/steg.html> (accessed October 22, 2009).
- Reuchlin, Johann. On the Art of the Kabbalah: De Arte Cabalistica. Trans. by Martin Goodman and Sarah Goodman. Lincoln, NE: University of Nebraska Press, 1993.
- Rogers, William E., and Diana Ervin. The History of English Phonemes. Online at <http://alpha.furman.edu/~wrogers/phonemes/> (Greenville, SC: Furman University, 2000). See particularly the section entitled "Early Modern English: 1500–1800 C.E.," online at <http://alpha.furman.edu/~wrogers/phonemes/phone/eme> (accessed October 22, 2009).
- Rowe, Benjamin. "A Note on Fifteenth Century Syntax and Interpretation." Originally posted to the "Enochian-I" e-mail list. Also avail-

- able online at <http://www.madimi.com/syntint.htm> (accessed March 1, 2010).
- Sandars, N. K., trans. The Epic of Gilgamesh: An English Version with an Introduction. London: Penguin, 1972.
- Scholem, Gershom (trans. by Ralph Manheim). On the Kabbalah and Its Symbolism. (Original German title: Zur Kabbala und ihrer Symbolik.) New York: Schocken, 1996.
- Scrolls From the Dead Sea*. Library of Congress exhibition (2002). Online at <http://www.loc.gov/exhibits/scrolls/toc.html> (accessed October 29, 2009).
- Shaffer, Patricia. DeesPronunciationNotes.RTF. Online at <http://kheph777.tripod.com/DeesPronNotes.doc> (accessed March 1, 2010).
- Sichos in English.org. Chasidic Discourses. Online at <http://www.sichosinenglish.org/cgi-bin/calendar?holiday=pesach10441> (accessed March 1, 2010).
- Simpson, D. P. Cassell's Latin Dictionary: Latin-English, English-Latin. London: Cassell, 1977.
- Skinner, Stephen, and David Rankine. The Practical Angel Magic of Dr. John Dee's Enochian Tables. Singapore: Golden Hoard Press, 2005.
- A Specimen of the Tables or Book of Enoch*. Online at <http://www.geocities.com/peripsol/Enoch/5SampleTable.html>.
- Szönyi, György E. John Dee's Occultism: Magical Exaltation Through Powerful Signs. Albany, NY: State University of New York Press, 2004.
- Tolkien, J. R. R. The Hobbit. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1997. First published in 1937.
- . The Lord of the Rings. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1993. First published in 1955.
- Typo.cz and DesignIQ.cz. Diacritics: All You Need to Design a Font with Correct Accents. Online at <http://diacritics.typo.cz/index.php> (accessed October 22, 2009).

- Tyson, Donald. Enochian Magic for Beginners: The Original System of Angel Magic. St. Paul, MN: Llewellyn, 2002. First published in 1997.
- . The Power of the Word: The Secret Code of Creation. St. Paul, MN: Llewellyn, 2004.
- . Tetragrammaton: The Secret to Evoking Angelic Powers and the Key to the Apocalypse. St. Paul, MN: Llewellyn, 2002.
- Vinci, Leo. GMICALZOMA!: An Enochian Dictionary. London: Regency Press, 1976.
- Warnock, Christopher. Renaissance Astrology. Online at <http://www.renaissanceastrology.com/> (accessed October 22, 2009).
- Westcott, W. Wynn, trans. (Edited by Darcy Kuntz.) Sepher Yetzirah: The Book of Formation and the Thirty-Two Paths of Wisdom with Hebrew Text. Sequim, WA: Holmes, 1996.
- Wheelock, Frederic M. Wheelock's Latin, Sixth Edition Revised. New York: HarperResource, 2005.
- Whitaker, William. Words, Latin to English (a Latin-to-English dictionary). Online at <http://lysy2.archives.nd.edu/cgi-bin/words.exe> (accessed October 22, 2009).
- Whitby, Christopher. John Dee's Actions with Spirits: 22 December 1581 to 23 May 1583. New York: Garland, 1988.
- Wilson, Robert Anton. Prometheus Rising (reprint edition). Phoenix, AZ: New Falcon, 1992.
- Yahsanet Studies. The Fifty Gates of Understanding (in A Study of the Book of Revelation). Online at <http://www.yashanet.com/studies/revstudy/fifty-gates.htm> (accessed March 1, 2010).
- Yates, Frances A. The Rosicrucian Enlightenment. London: Routledge, 2001.
- Zalewski, Pat. Golden Dawn Enochian Magic. St. Paul, MN: Llewellyn, 1990.
- . The Kabbalah of the Golden Dawn. St. Paul, MN: Llewellyn, 1993.

Original Manuscripts

The following manuscripts are included for reference. All of these manuscripts can be found, under the manuscript numbers given here, at the British Museum in London:

Cotton Appendix 46, parts 1–2 (Published as A True and Faithful Relation . . ., Casaubon.)

“Sloane MS 3188” (Published as John Dee’s Five Books of Mystery, Peterson.)

“Sloane MS 3189” (Kelley’s handwritten copy of the Book of Loagaeth. See Peterson and The Magickal Review.)

“Sloane MS 3190” (A copy of A True and Faithful Relation . . ., unpublished.)

“Sloane MS 3191” (Dee’s grimoire. Published as The Enochian Magick of Dr. John Dee, James.)

Further Reading

These texts also come highly recommended in the study of general Enochiana and the occult world of Dr. John Dee and Sir Edward Kelley:

Chase, Steven, trans. Angelic Spirituality: Medieval Perspectives on the Ways of Angels. New York: Paulist Press, 2002.

Clucas, Stephen, ed. John Dee: Interdisciplinary Studies in English Renaissance Thought. Dordrecht, The Netherlands: Springer, 2006. (Includes Jim Reeds’ “John Dee and the Magic Tables in the Book of Soyga.”)

Eco, Umberto. The Search for the Perfect Language. Oxford, UK: Blackwell, 1997.

Farmer, S. A. Syncretism in the West: Pico’s 900 Theses (1486): The Evolution of Traditional Religious and Philosophical Systems. Tempe, AZ: MRTS, 1998.

French, Peter J. John Dee: The World of an Elizabethan Magus. London: Routledge, 1987.

Karr, Don. Notes on Editions of Sepher Yetzirah in English (1991, 2007).

Online at <http://www.digital-brilliance.com/kab/karr/syie.pdf>.

Pseudo-Dionysius, the Areopagite. (Translated by Colm Luibheid.)

Pseudo-Dionysius: The Complete Works. New York: Paulist Press, 1987.

VanderKam, James C. Enoch: A Man for All Generations. Columbia, SC:

University of South Carolina Press, 1995.

Woolley, Benjamin. The Queen's Conjuror: The Science and Magic of Dr.

John Dee, Adviser to Queen Elizabeth I. New York: Henry Holt, 2001.

January 7, 1998 - HTML version 0.9 by Merk
Converted from text to HTML but lacked a hard copy for detailed comparison and further proofing.
Contact at ideomagi@datasync.com.

February 20, 1989 e.v. key entry by Rusty Sporer and Bill Heidrick
Has been proof read but needs further proof reading
Copyright (c) Ordo Templi Orientis

O.T.O.
P.O.Box 430
Fairfax, CA 94930
USA

(415) 454-5176 ---- messages only.

LIMITED LICENSE Except for notations added to the history of modification, the text on this diskette down to the next row of asterisks must accompany all copies made of this file. In particular, this paragraph and the copyright notice are not to be deleted or changed on any copies or print-outs of this file. With these provisos, anyone may copy this file for personal use or research. Copies may be made for others at reasonable cost of copying and mailing only, no additional charges may be added.

Note: In various footnotes to the text, Crowley makes correspondences to Enochian letters and Astrological symbols. An ambiguity exists in regard to the letter "T". The Germer/Thelema Publishing Edition of 1952 e.v. makes extensive use of symbols for Astrological concepts, and it is not possible to clearly differentiate the signs for Leo and Caput Draconis in all instances, since the handwritten symbols for these two correspondences are usually indistinguishable in the Germer edition. Enochian corresponds directly to English letters, while the astrological correspondences come from correspondences to Hebrew letters. There are two letters in Hebrew which are loosely rendered "T" in English/Enochian; Tet = Leo and Taw = Caput Draconis/Saturn. Crowley uses both Leo and Caput Draconis for the Enochian "T" in his notes. Where Leo or Caput Draconis is made clear by the context of the note, the rendering has been duplicated here. Where this is ambiguous, T is assumed to be matched to Leo in this text. F.I.Regardie, in his edition, usually renders the Enochian "T" as Caput Draconis, a practice reversed in this present version. A concise edition should therefore be made only after careful examination of the notations for every instance of the use of the Enochian "T", with citation of uncertainty in regard to Leo or Caput Draconis where Crowley's intention is unclear.

---- WEH = Bill Heidrick (William E. Heidrick, TG OTO)

LIBER XXX AERUM

Vel Saecvli

Svb Figvra CCCCXVIII

Being of the Angels of the 30 Aethyrs

THE VISION AND THE VOICE

With COMMENTARY by THE MASTER THERION

THELEMA PUBLISHING COMPANY

October 12 1952

A{.'} A{.'} Publication in Class A B

Imprimatur:

D.D.S. 7x = 4{square x} Praemonstrator

O.S.V. 6x = 5{square x} Imperator

N.S.F. 5x = 6{square x} Cancellarius

I N T R O D U C T I O N

The Vision and the Voice of the Angels of the thirty Aethyrs, reprinted from the Equinox, Volume 1, Supplement to No. 5, but here represented for the first time with an elaborate commentary by the MASTER THERION, is unique in that it attempts to describe in a perfectly sane and scientific manner spiritual experiences, and the investigations of the more subtle planes.

The first attempts to obtain these visions were made in 1900, in Mexico, where FRATER PERDURABO had journeyed in his efforts to obtain a perfect understanding of the mystic traditions and methods of attainment of every race and clime. The first two Aires were investigated on November 14 and 17, 1900. The Vision and the Voice was mysterious and terrific in character. But what he saw was not altogether beyond his previous experiences; what he heard was as unintelligible to him as William Blake to a 7th Day Adventist. He was encouraged by the evident importance of these results, but found that he was absolutely unable to proceed with the 28th Aethyr. It became evident, some 9 years later, that what stopped his further exploration of the Aethyrs in 1900 was simply that his Grade did not entitle him to go further than the 29th. In fact only a Master of the Temple, $8x = 3\{\text{square } x\}$, can penetrate beyond a certain point, and further, as sections of the Comment point out, even a Master of the Temple cannot pierce through the veils surrounding the outer of these Aires.

The Seer had not thought of continuing this work for nearly 9 years. It is not at all clear how the idea came to him in 1909, during a walk through the Desert with Frater O.V., (Victor Neuburg) a Probationer of the A{.'.} A{.'.}, but at Aumale a Hand suddenly smote its lightning into his heart, and he knew that now, that very day, he must take up The Vision and the Voice from the point where he had laid it down in 1900. Parallel to this, it is also possible that he had in his ruck sack one of his earliest Magical Note Books, where he had copied with infinite patience the 19 Calls or Keys obtained by Sir Edward Kelly from certain Angels and written down by Queen Elizabeth's astrologer, Dr. John Dee.

The facts that stamp these Keys or Calls are these. Over 100 squares filled with letters were obtained by these two Magicians, in a manner which no one yet has quite understood. Dee would have one or more of these tables (as a rule 49 by 49) --- some full, others lettered only on alternate squares --- before him on a writing table. Kelly would sit at what they called the Holy Table, and gaze into a "Shewstone" in which he would see an Angel, who would point with a wand to letters on one of these charts in succession. Kelly would report, for example, "He points to column 6, rank 31", and so on, apparently not mentioning the letter, which Dee found and wrote down from the "Table" before him. When the Angel had finished, the message was rewritten backwards. It had been dictated backwards as being too dangerous to communicate forwards --- each word being in its nature so powerful that its direct communication would have evoked forces which were not wanted at that time.

- page 1 -

These Keys being re-written backwards, there then appeared conjurations in a language which they called "Enochian", or "Angelic". It is not a jargon; it has a grammar and a syntax of its own. It is far more sonorous, stately and impressive than even Greek or Sanskrit and the English translations, though in places difficult to understand, contain passages of a sustained sublimity that Shakespeare, Milton and the Bible do not surpass.

"Can the Wings of the Wind understand your voices of Wonder? O Ye!
The Second of the First! whom the burning flames have framed in the depths of my Jaws! Whom I have prepared as cups for a wedding, or as flowers in their beauty for the chamber of Righteousness!
Stronger are your feet than the barren stone! and mightier are your voices than the manifold winds! For you are become a building such as is not, save in the mind of the All-Powerful."
(Second Key)

There are nineteen of these Keys: the first two conjuring the element called Spirit; the next sixteen invoke the Four Elements; each sub-divided into four; the nineteenth, by changing two names, may be used to invoke any one of what are called the thirty "Aethyrs" or "Aires".

The genuineness of these Keys, altogether apart from any critical observation, is guaranteed by the fact that anyone with the smallest capacity for Magick finds that they work. The Seer had used these Keys a great deal, --- always with excellent effect. It was in Mexico that the idea occurred to him to discover for himself what these Aethyrs really were, by invoking them in turn by means of the nineteenth key, and, by skrying in the Spirit Vision, judge their nature by what he saw and heard.

It was then in Aumale, that he prepared to commence once more the investigations of these Aethyrs, and accordingly bought a number of notebooks. After dinner, on the 23rd of November, 1909, he invoked the 28th Aethyr by means of this 19th Key. When it was compared with those of the 29th and 30th Aethyrs, --- lo and behold, there were exhibited the same peculiarities of subject and style. This is true also of the 27th, and so on to the 24th; yet there is a continuous advance towards coherence both in each Aethyr itself, and as regards its neighbour. The subject shows solemnity and sublimity, as well as the tendency to fit in with those conceptions of the Cosmos, those mystic Laws of Nature, and those ideas of transcendental Truth which had already been foreshadowed in _The Book of the Law_ (Vernal Equinox, 1904), and the more exalted of the trances which the Seer had experienced prior to this date.

The Method of obtaining _The Vision and the Voice_ was as follows.

- page 2 -

The Seer had with him a great golden topaz (set in a Calvary Cross of six squares, made of wood, and painted vermillion) which was engraved with a Greek Cross of five squares charged with the Rose of 49 petals. He held this, as a rule, in his hand. After choosing a spot where he was not likely to be disturbed he would take this stone and recite the Enochian Call, and after satisfying himself that the forces invoked were actually present, made the topaz play a part not unlike that of the looking glass in the case of Alice. (He had long learned not to trouble himself to travel to any particular place in his Body of Light. He realized that Space was not a thing in itself, but merely a convenient category [one of many such] by reference to which we can distinguish objects from each other.) He would then describe what he saw and repeat what he heard, and Frater O.V., the Scribe, would write down his words, and incidentally observe any phenomena which struck him as peculiar. (For instance, He would at times pass into a deep trance so that many minutes might pass between two successive sentences, as the text to the later Aethyrs shows.)

They walked steadily through the Desert, invoking the Aethyrs, one by one, at convenient times and places, or when the Spirit moved them. As a rule, one Aethyr was obtained every day. Bou-Sada was reached on November 30th; on December 8th they started again through the desert for Biskra which they reached on December 16th, completing the work on the 19th. By the time Bou-Sada was reached, and they had arrived at the 20th Aethyr, the Seer began to understand that these visions were, so to speak, cosmopolitan. They brought all systems of Magical doctrine into harmonious relation. The symbolism of Asiatic cults; the ideas of the Qabalah, both Jewish and Greek; the Arcana of the Gnostics; the Pagan Pantheon, from Mithras to Mars; the Mysteries of Ancient Khem; the Rites of Eleusis; the Scandinavian Sagas; Celtic and Druidical ritual; Mexican and Polynesian traditions; the Mysticism of Molinos no less than that of Islam,--- all these fell into their proper places without the slightest tendency to quarrel. The whole of the past Aeon, in short, appeared in detailed perspective, and each element therefore surrendered its sovereignty to Horus, the Crowned and Conquering Child, the Lord of the Aeon announced in _The Book of the Law_

Love is the law, love under will.

Frater E{.'.}N{.'.}L{.'.}

- page 3 -

The titles of the Thirty AEthyr's whose dominion extendeth in ever widening circles without and beyond the Watch Towers of the Universe

(The first is Outermost)

1 LIL	16 LEA
2 ARN	17 TAN
3 ZOM	18 ZEN
4 PAZ	19 POP
5 LIT	20 KHR
6 MAZ	21 ASP
7 DEO	22 LIN
8 ZID	23 TOR
9 ZIP	24 NIA
10 ZAX	25 VTI
11 ICH	26 DES
12 LOE	27 ZAA
13 ZIM	28 BAG
14 UTA	29 RII
15 OXO	30 TEX

THE CALL OR KEY OF THE THIRTY AETHYRS

MADARIATZA das perifa LIL{SUP:1}cahisa micaolazoda saanire caosago od fifisa balzodizodarasa Iaida. Nonua gohulime: Micama adoianu MADA faoda beliorebe, soba ooaona cahisa luciftias peripesol, das aberaasasa nonuafe netaaibe caosaji od tilabe adapehaheta damepelozoda, tooata nonuafe jimicalazodoma larasada tofejilo marebe yareryo IDOIGO{SUP:2}; od torezodulape yaodafe gohola, Caosaga, tabaoreda saanir od caharisateosa yorepoila tiobela busadire, tilabe noalanu paida oresaba, od dodaremeni zodayolana. Elazodape tilaba paremeji peripesatza, od ta qurelesata booapisa. Ianibame oucaho sayomepe, od caharisateosa ajitoltorenu, mireca qo tiobela lela. Tonu paomebeda dizodalamo asa pianu, od caharisateosa aji-la-tore-torenu paracahe a sayomepe. Coredazodizoda dodapala od fifalazoda, lasa manada, od faregita bamesa omaoasa. Conisabera od auauotza tonuji oresa; catabela noasami tabejesa leuitahemonuji. Vanucahi omepeetilabe oresa! Bagile? Mooabe OL coredazodizoda. El capimao itzomatziipe, od cacocasabe gosaa. Bajilenu pii tianuta a babalanuda, od faoregita teloca uo uime.

Madariiatza, torezodu!!! Oadariatza orocaha aboaperi! Tabaori periazoda aretabasa! Adarepanu coresata dobitza! Yolacame periazodi arecoazodiore, od quasabe qotinuji! Ripire paaotzata sagacore!

-
1. Or other Aire as may be willed.
 2. This name may be appropriately varied with the Aire.

- page 4 -

Umela od peredazodare cacareji Aoiveae coremepeta! Torezodu! Zodacare od Zodameranu, asapeta sibesi butamona das surezodasa Tia balatanu. Odo cicale Qaa, od Ozodazodama pelapeli IADANAMADA!

THE CALL OR KEY OF THE THIRTY AETHYRS

O Ye Heavens which dwell in the first Aire{SUP:1}, ye are mighty in the parts of the Earth, and execute therein the Judgment of the Highest! Unto you it is said: Behold the Face of your God, the beginning of Comfort, whose eyes are the brightness of the Heavens, which provided you for the Government of the Earth, and her unspeakable variety, furnishing you with the power of understanding to dispose of all things according to the Foresight of Him that Sitteth on the Holy Throne{SUP:2}, and rose up in the Beginning, saying: The Earth, let her be governed by her parts, and let there be Division in her, that the glory of her may be always ecstasy and imitation of orgasm. Her course, let it run with the Heavens; and as an handmaid let her serve them. One season, let it confound another, and let there be no creature upon or within her the same. All her members, let them differ in their qualities, and let there be no one Creature equal with another. The reasonable Creatures of the Earth, and Men, let them vex and weed out one another; and their dwelling-places, let them forget their Names. The work of man and his pomp, let them be defaced. His building, let it be a Cave for the Beast of the Field! Confound her understanding with darkness! For why? It repenteth me concerning the Virgin and the Man. One while let her be known, and another while a stranger: because she is the bed of an Harlot, and the dwelling-place of him that is fallen.

O ye Heavens arise! The lower heavens beneath you, let them serve you! Govern those that govern! Cast down such as fall. Bring forth with those that increase, and destroy the rotten. No place let it remain in one number. Add an diminish until the stars be numbered. Arise! Move! and appear before the Covenant of His mouth, which He hath sworn unto us in His Justice. Open the Mysteries of your Creation, and make us partakers of THE UNDEFINED KNOWLEDGE.

-
1. Or other Aire as may be willed.
 2. This name may be appropriately varied with the Aire.

- page 5 -

This page is intentionally blank

BRIEF SYNOPSIS OF THE CONTENTS OF THE CALLS OF THE THIRTY AIRES OR AETHYRS

Aethyr

30. "Exordium of the Equinox of the Gods."
29. "The Disruption of the Aeon of Osiris."
28. "The Vision of the Dawn of the Aeon of Horus (Atu XVII)"
27. "The Vision of the Initiation of Hecate (Atu XIV)
The Redemption of the Woman of Witchcraft by Love."
26. "The Slave-Gods superseded (The Vision of Atu XX, the Stl)
The Vision of the Stl of Revealing, abolishing the Aeon of the Slave-Gods."
25. "The Path of Teth (Atu XI. The Fire-Kerub in the Initiation).
The Vision of the Fruit of the Great Work of the Beast -
666. The Lion."
24. "The Rose. (The Woman of Atu XIV. Minister of Babalon;
The Water-Kerub in the Initiation.) The First Kiss
Of the Lady of Initiation."
23. "The Kerubim of Earth and Air (Minor officers in the Initiation to $8x = 3\{square\ x\}$.) The Vision of the Interplay
And Identity of Earth and Air."
22. "The 49-fold Table (First appearance of the Crowned and Conquering Child to the Exempt Adept as in the Pastos)
The Vision of the Rose, the Heart of BABALON and of The Birth of the Universe."
21. "Kether. (The Hierophant prepares the Candidate). The Vision of the Ineluctable Destiny."
20. "The Path of Kaph (Atu X). The Hieres prepares the Candidate). The Vision of the Wheel of Fortune. The Three Energies of the Universe."
19. "The Path of Gimel (The Hegemone between the Pillars.
Preliminary: The Vision of the Unguided Universe.)"

18. "Tiphereth. (The King's Chamber. The Vision of the holy Guardian Angel.) The Instruction concerning the Obtaining of the Vision and the Voice of the Thirty Aethyrs. The Preparation of the Candidate."

- page 7 -

Aethyr

17. "The Path of Lamed. (The combination Gimel, Lamed, Samech. The Vision of the Justice or Balance of the Universe."
16. "Keter. (Path of Pe.) The Overthrow of the Slave-Gods by The Beast 666."
15. "The Vision of the rose of 49 petals, and of the Holy 12-fold Table. Examination of the Candidate for M.T."
14. "The Vision of the City of the Pyramids. The Reception Of the Master of the Temple."
13. "The Garden of Nemo. The Work of the Magister Templi."
12. "The Path of Cheth. The Bearer of the Sangraal. The Black Brothers."
11. "Yesod. The Frontier of the Abyss."
10. "The Abyss. Choronzon, his Nature."
9. "Malkuth. (The Pure Virgin.) The reward of the Magister Templi."
8. "The Holy Guardian Angel. His instruction."
7. "The Path of Daleth. The Black Brothers."
6. "The Vision of the Urn. The Magus $9x = 2\{\text{square } x\}$. The Three Schools of Magick."
5. "The Vision of the Middle Pillar. (Arrow). The Mystery Of Atheism."
4. "The Marriage of Yod and He. (The common Tibetan Symbol.)

The Seer identifies himself with it."

3. "The Magus of the Tarot. (Atu 1). Mayan, the Maker of Illusion. The Seer in Illusion (Lilith)."
2. "The Marriage of the Seer with BABALON. (Atu VI)."
1. "The Vision of The Crowned and Conquering Child, the Lord Of the Aeon."

- page 8 -

THE VISION AND THE VOICE

The Cry of the Thirtieth or Inmost Aire or Aethyr,
Which is Called TEX^{SUP:1}

I AM in a vast crystal cube in the form of the Great God Harpocrates. This cube is surrounded by a sphere^{SUP:2}. About me are four archangels in black robes, their wings and armour lined out in white.

In the North^{SUP:3} is a book on whose back and front are A.M.B.Z. ^{SUP:4} in Enochian characters. ({ENO:z}{ENO:b}{ENO:m}{ENO:a})

Within it is written:

I AM, the surrounding of the four.

Lift up your heads, O Houses of Eternity: for my Father goeth forth to judge the World. One Light, let it become a thousand, and one sword ten thousand, that no man hide him from my Father's eye in the Day of Judgment of my God. Let the Gods hide themselves: let the Angels be troubled and flee away: for the Eye of My Father is open, and the Book of the Aeons is fallen.

Arise! Arise! Arise! Let the Light of the Sight of Time be extinguished: let the Darkness cover all things: for my Father goeth forth to seek a spouse to replace her who is fallen and defiled.

Seal the book with the seals of the Stars Concealed: for the Rivers have rushed together and the Name {HEB:Heh}{HEB:Vau}{HEB:Heh}{HEB:Yod} is broken in a thousand pieces (against the Cubic Stone).

Tremble ye, O Pillars of the Universe^{SUP:5}, for Eternity is in travail of a Terrible Child; she shall bring forth an universe of Darkness, whence shall leap forth a spark that shall put his father to flight.

The Obelisks are broken; the stars have rushed together: the Light hath plunged into the Abyss: the Heavens are mixed with Hell.

My Father shall not hear their Noise: His ears are closed: His eyes are covered with the clouds of Night.

1. {Leo}{Virgo}{Spirit}

2. cf. AL, II, 7

3. North: Destruction = the Old Formula is abrogated.

4. {Taurus}{Aquarius}{Aries}{Leo}. The Forthsayings of the New Aeon.

5. cf. AL, III, 71. Also LIL.

- page 9 -

The End! the End! the End: For the Eye of Shiva He hath opened: the Universe is naked before Him: for the Aeon of Saturn leaneth toward the Bosom of Death{SUP:1}.

[Figure: This is an isosceles triangle with height about 7 times the base. It extends with base on a true vertical from the left. A line extends vertically upward from the apex, equal to the length of the base. A trefoliate of three isosceles triangles of base slightly smaller than the first triangle and sides equal to the first triangle is created at the upper tip of the line. The three component triangles of the trefoliate meet the upper tip of the line with their apices --- one vertically and two to right and left.]{SUP:2}

The Angel of the East{SUP:3} hath a book of red written in letters of Blue A.B.F.M.A.{SUP:4} in Enochian ({ENO:a} {ENO:m} {ENO:f} {ENO:b} {ENO:a}). The Book grows before my eyes and filleth the Whole Heaven.

Within: "It is Written, Thou shalt not tempt the Lord Thy God."

I see above the Book a multitude of white-robed Ones from whom droppeth a great rain of Blood{SUP:5}; but above them is a Golden Sun, having an eye, whence a great Light{SUP:6}.

I turned me to the South{SUP:7}: and read therein:

Seal up the Book! Speak not that which thou seest and reveal it unto none: for the ear is not framed that shall hear it: nor the tongue that can speak it!

O Lord God, blessed, blessed, blessed be Thou for ever!

Thy Shadow is as great Light.

Thy Name is as the Breath of Love across all Worlds.

[Figure: This is a swastika or fylfot cross. It is widdershins, with each bend going to the right when viewed down one arm from the center. All elements are either vertical or horizontal, none diagonal.]{SUP:8}

-
1. {Saturn} = 400 Death = 50 400 + 50 = 450 {GRK:Nu}{GRK:Upsilon} etc.
 2. Represents the formula of Drawing all to a point: whence blooms erect a Triple Triad.
 3. East. Adepts: cleansed of their Blood, and brought to Light. =
There is a way to light through giving up one's Blood. (See 12th Aethyr)
 4. {Taurus}{Aries}{Cauda Draconis}{Aquarius}{Taurus} = Opening of New Aeon.
 5. Symbolism of the Cup of Babalon.
 6. This refers to Kether --- Horus.
 7. South. Silence. Marriage in Binah. = This leads to the Rapture of the Ineffable Union. Closing of Old Aeon.
 8. The Swastika has 17 squares out of 25, The Pentagram, or Human square. It is also {HEB:Aleph} = Harpocrates, Bacchus Diphues, Parzival, etc., the Pure Fool, the Wanderer, who weds the King's Daughter.

- page 10 -

(A vast Svastika is shewn unto me behind the Angel with the Book.)

Rend your garments, O ye clouds! Uncover yourselves! for the Love of My Son!

Who are they that trouble thee?

Who are they that slew thee?

O Light! Come thou, who art joined with me to bruise the Dragon's head{SUP:1}. We, who are wedded, and the Earth perceiveth it not!

O that Our Bed were seen of Men, that they might rejoice in My Fertility: that My Sister might partake of My Great Light.

O Light of God, when wilt thou find the heart of man --- write not! I would not that men know the Sorrow of my Heart, Amen!

I turned me to the West{SUP:2}, and the Archangel bore a flaming Book, on which was written AN{SUP:3} in Enochian ({ENO:n}{ENO:a}). Within was drawn a fiery scorpion, yet cold withal{SUP:4}.

Until the Book of the East be opened!

Until the hour sound!

Until the Voice vibrate!

Until it pierce my Depth;

Look not on High!

Look not Beneath!

For thou wilt find a life which is as Death: or a Death which should be infinite.

For Thou art submitted to the Four: Five thou shalt find, but Seven is lone and far{SUP:5}.

1. Means the Stooping Dragon (see $4x = 7\{\text{square } x\}$ ritual): but also the phrase = break the Maidenhead of Draco (Nuit).

2. West. Fate (Refusing Initiation.) = The alternative is despair --- of loneliness.

3. {Taurus}{Scorpio} AN (Hebrew) means Pain: NA = Failure. These = $51 = 3 \times 17$.

Note the Three Vibrations as spoiling the ideas of 17 (IAC). The Doom of the Old Aeon.

4. {Scorpio} = {HEB:Nun} = Fish = Jesus.

5. Tetragrammaton --- the blind forces of the Elements --- bind the Uninitiate. He may attain to the Pentagram --- Jeheshua --- the Man Master of those Elements. But he cannot reach Seven --- Babalon. (See Sigil of A{.'.} A{.'.} $77 + _7 + 7_ + 77 = 156$ Babalon)

7

For she is "lone and far", i.e., beyond the Abyss.

- page 11 -

O Lord God, let Thy Spirit hither unto me!

For I am lost in the night of infinite pain: no hope: no God: no resurrection: no end: I fall: I fear.

O Saviour of the World, bruise Thou my Head with Thy foot to save the world, that once again I touch Him whom I slew, that in my death I feel the radiance and the heat of the moving of Thy Robes!

Let us alone! What have we to do with Thee, Thou Jesus of Nazareth?

Go! Go!

If I keep silence --- Or if I speak each word is anguish without hope.

And I heard the Aethyr cry aloud "Return! Return! Return! For the work is ended; and the Book is shut; and let the glory be to God the Blessed for ever in the Aeons, Amen." Thus far is the voice of TEX and no more.

The Cry of the Twenty and Ninth Aire or Aethyr,
Which is Called RII{SUP:1}

The sky appears covered with stars of gold; the background is of green. But the impression is also of darkness.

An immense eagle-angel is before me. His wings seem to hide all the Heaven{SUP:2}.

He cried aloud saying: The Voice of the Lord upon the Waters: the Terror of God upon Mankind. The voice of the Lord maketh the Skies to tremble: the Stars are troubled: the Aires fall. The First Voice Speaketh and saith: Cursed, cursed be the Earth, for her iniquity is great. Oh Lord! Let Thy Mercy be lost in the great Deep! Open thine eyes of Flame and Light, O God, upon the wicked! Lighten thine Eyes! The Clamour of Thy Voice, let it smite down the Mountains!

Let us not see it! Cover we our eyes, lest we see the End of Man.

1. {Pisces}{Sagittarius}{Sagittarius} = {HEB:Qof}{HEB:Samekh}{HEB:Samekh} = 220. 220 is the number of verses of _The Book of the Law_: And this book brings about the disruption described in this Aethyr.
2. In the East. He thus represents the immediate future: and this is dark, Bewildering, and terrifying.

- page 12 -

Close we our ears, lest we hear the cry of Woman.

Let none speak of it: let none write it: I, I am troubled, my eyes are moist with dews of terror: surely the Bitterness of Death is past.

And I turned me to the South and lo! a great lion{SUP:1} as wounded and perplexed.

He cried: I have conquered! Let the Sons of Earth keep silence; for my Name is become as That of Death!

When will men learn the Mysteries of Creation?

How much more those of the Dissolution (and the Pang of Fire)?

I turned me to the West and there was a great Bull{SUP:2}; White with horns of White and Black and Gold. His mouth was scarlet and his eyes as Sapphire stones. With a great sword he shore the skies asunder, and amid the silver flashes of the steel grew lightnings and deep clouds of Indigo.

He spake: It is finished! My mother hath unveiled herself!

My sister hath violated herself! The life of things hath disclosed its Mystery.

The work of the Moon is done! Motion is ended for ever!

Clipped are the eagle's wings: but my Shoulders have not lost their strength.

I heard a Great Voice from above crying: Thou liest! For the Volatile hath indeed fixed itself; but it hath arisen above thy sight. The World is desert: but the Abodes of the House of my Father are peopled; and His Throne is crusted over with white Brilliant Stars, a lustre of bright gems.

In the North is a Man upon a Great Horse, having a Scourge and Balances{SUP:3} in his hand (or a long spear glitters at his back or in his hand). He is clothed in black velvet and his face is stern and terrible.

1. {Leo}. This is the Beast 666 as yet unprepared for his Work. But already (1900 e.v.) He was dreaded by his fellow Magicians. South: proper place of {Sun} in his strength.
2. The Bull is Osiris or Jesus: he complains of the terrible things that are Happening, especially the Freedom (which he thinks shamelessness) or Woman. He does not understand the New Aeon, or that he is about to be destroyed. He is in the West, i.e. going into Oblivion. Cr. West in the 30th Aethyr.
3. The severest aspect of Justice. Libra.

- page 13 -

He spake saying: I have judged! It is the end: the gate of the beginning. Look in the Beneath and thou shalt see a new world!

I looked and saw a great abyss and a dark funnel of whirling waters or fixed airs, wherein were cities and monsters and trees and atoms and mountains and little flames (being souls) and all the material of an universe.

And all are sucked down one by one, as necessity hath ordained. For below is a glittering jewelled globe of gold and azure, set in a World of Stars{SUP:1}.

And there came a Voice from the Abyss, saying: "Thou seest the Current of Destiny! Canst thou change one atom in its path? I am Destiny. Dost thou think to control me? for who can move my course?"

And there falleth a thunderbolt therein: a catastrophe of explosion: and all is shattered. And I saw above me a Vast Arm reach down, dark and terrible, and a voice cried: I AM ETERNITY.

And a great mingled cry arose: "No! no! no! All is changed; all is confounded; naught is ordered: the white is stained with blood: the black is kissed of the Christ! Return! Return! It is a new chaos that thou findest here: chaos for thee: for us it is the skeleton of a New Truth!"

I said: Tell me this truth: for I have conjured ye by the Mighty Names of God, the which ye cannot but obey.

The voice said:

Light is consumed as a child in the Womb of its Mother to develop itself anew. But pain and sorrow infinite, and darkness are invoked. For this child riseth up within his Mother and doth crucify himself within her bosom. He extendeth his arms in the arms of his Mother and the Light becometh fivefold{SUP:2}.

Lux in Luce,

Christus in Cruce;

1. Nuit.

2. The LVX Cross hidden in the Svastika is probably the Arcanum here connoted. This Cross on Mars square adds to 65 Adonai, Shone, Gloried, ha-Yekal HS = keep silence. Svastika itself adds to 231 = 0 + 1 + 2 + ... + 21, the 21 Keys. The cubical Svastika regarded as composed of this LVX Cross and the arms has a total of 78 Faces Tarot and Mezla.

- page 14-

Deo Duce

Sempiterno{SUP:1}.

And be the glory for ever and ever unto the Most High God, Amen!

Then I returned within my body, giving glory unto the Lord of Light and of the Darkness. In Saecula Saeculorum. Amen!

(On composing myself to sleep, I was shewn an extremely brilliant {HEB:Dalet}{SUP:2} in the Character of the Passing of the River, in an egg of white light. And I take this as the best of Omens. The letter was extremely vivid and indeed apparently physical. Almost a Dhyana.)

November 17, 1900, Die.

A NOTE{SUP:3}

Concerning the thirty Aethyrs:

The Visions of the 29th and 30th Aethyrs were given to me in Mexico in August{SUP:4}, 1900, and I am now (23.11.9) trying to get the rest. It is to be remarked that the last three aethyrs have ten angels attributed to them{SUP:5}, and they therefore represent the ten Sephiroth. Yet these ten form but one, a Malkuth-pendant to the next three, and so on, each set being, as it were, absorbed in the higher. The last set consists, therefore, of the first three aethyrs with the remaining twenty-seven as their Malkuth. And the letters of the first three aethyrs are the key- sigils of the most exalted interpretation of the Sephiroth.

I is therefore Kether;

L, Chokmah and Binah;

1. This is but the beginning of a sort of hymn. It was never written down, the Seer being unable to hear it properly. These four lines are in fact probably incorrect, certainly incomplete. There were four more lines which he failed to hear --- from fear of getting hem wrong.
2. Daleth = the Gateway.
3. This note, written before invoking the 28th Aire, represents a crude and imperfect view. It is retained so as to show how very inadequate was the Understanding of the Seer; therefore the immense superiority of the communicating Intelligences and Their separate individual Consciousness.
4. Query: November ? See above.
5. See _Equinox_ I, VII, pp. 242-3.

- page 15 -

A, Chesed;

N, Geburah;

R, Tiphereth;

Z, Netzach;

N, Hod;

O, Jesod.

The geomantic correspondences of the Enochian alphabet form a sublime commentary.

Note that the total angels of the aethyrs are 91, the numeration of Amen.

The Cry of the 28th Aethyr, Which is Called BAG{SUP:1}

There cometh an Angel into the stone with opalescent{SUP:2} shining garments like a wheel{SUP:3} of fire on every side of him, and in his hand is a long flail of scarlet lightning{SUP:4}; his face is black{SUP:5}, and his eyes white without any pupil or iris{SUP:6}. The face is very terrible indeed to look upon. Now in front of him is a wheel{SUP:7}, with many spokes, and many tyres; it is like a fence{SUP:8} in front of him.

And he cries: O man, who art thou that wouldst penetrate the Mystery{SUP:9}? for it is hidden unto the End of Time{SUP:10}.

And I answer him: Time{SUP:11} is not, save in the darkness of Her womb by whom evil came.

And now the wheel breaks away, and I see him as he is. His garment is black beneath the opal veils, but it is lined with white, and he has the shining belly of a fish, and enormous wings of black and white feathers, and innumerable little legs and claws like a

1. {Aries}{Taurus}{Cancer} = {HEB:Heh} + {HEB:Vau} + {HEB:Chet} = 19.
{HEB:Heh}{HEB:Vau}{HEB:Chet} = Eve = to manifest, to shew forth.
2. Opal = rainbow = {Sagittarius}
3. XIX = The Wheel of the Sun, symbolic of universally radiating energy; and 19 is the glyph of the circle.
4. 19 = Angel L.T.D. Of {Sagittarius}
5. 19 = {HEB:Heh}{HEB:Yod}{HEB:Dalet} was black.
6. References to Binah.
7. See above, note 3.
8. {HEB:Chet} = Fence.
9. And 10. Binah = Eve. 19 is the Great Glyph of the Feminine.
11. {HEB:Taw} Time = {Saturn} = Binah.

- page 16 -

centipede, and a long tail like a scorpion. The breasts are human, but they are all scored with blood; and he cries: O thou who hast broken down the veil, knowest thou not that who cometh where I am must be scarred by many sorrows{SUP:1}?

And I answer him: Sorrow{SUP:2} is not, save in the darkness of the womb of Her by whom came evil.

I pierce the Mystery{SUP:2} of his breast{SUP:2}, and therein is a jewel{SUP:2}. It is a sapphire as great as an ostrich egg{SUP:2}, and thereon is graven this sigil:

[Figure: This is in the form of two "U" shapes, very elongated in the risers. The one to the right is lower than the first, and its left riser extends 2/3's of the way up inside the center of the one to the left. The left "U" turns back down to the far left, ending 1/5th the way down in a tiny circle. The right bends abruptly horizontally left across the other and also ends there in a tiny circle.]

But there is also much writing on the stone, very minute characters carved. I cannot read them. He points with his flail to the sapphire, which is now outside him and bigger than himself{SUP:3}; and he cries:

Hail! warden of the Gates of Eternity who knowest not{SUP:4} thy right hand from thy left{SUP:5}; for in the aeon of my Father is a god with clasped hands wherein he holdeth the universe, crushing{SUP:6} it into the dust that ye call stars.

Hail unto thee who knowest not thy right eye{SUP:5} from thy left; for in the aeon of my Father there is but one light.

Hail unto thee who knowest not thy right nostril{SUP:5} from thy left; for in the aeon of my Father there is neither life nor death.

Hail unto thee who knowest not thy right ear{SUP:5} from thy left; for in the aeon of my Father there is neither sound nor silence.

Whoso hath power to break open this sapphire stone shall find therein four elephants having tusks of mother-of-pearl, and upon whose backs are castles, those castles which ye call the watch-towers

1. i.e. must attain to $8x = 3\{\text{square } x\}$
2. All are references to Binah.
3. Binah absorbs all.
4. Binah destroys knowledge.
5. Hands: {Mercury}: for Hand is Iod, Virgo. Also the two hands are the Twin Serpents. Eyes {Sun} & {Moon} The Positive and Negative. Executive currents of the Logos. Nostrils {Mars} & {Venus} The mouth attributed the Mercury in the usual system, cannot be used in this phrase; for the Ears {Jupiter} & {Saturn} Mouth is One, not Two, being the Logos itself. And the Lodgos is essentially an Unity, although manifested through Vibration. It is therefore not destroyed with the other objects of Knowledge, though its dual modes of expression, the hands, are no longer known apart.
6. See _Liber AL_, III, v. 72.

- page 17 -

of the Universe{SUP:1}.

Let me dwell in peace within the breast of the Angel that is warden of the aethyr. Let not the shame of my Mother be unveiled. Let not her be put to shame that lieth among the lilies that are beyond the stars.

O man, that must ever be opening, when wilt thou learn to seal up the mysteries of the creation? to fold thyself over thyself as a rose in the embrace of night? But thou must play the wanton to the sun, and the wind must tear thy petals from thee, and the bee must rob thee of thy honey, and thou must fall into the dusk of things. Amen and Amen.

Verily the light is hidden, therefore he who hideth himself is like unto the light; but thou openest thyself; thou art like unto the darkness that bindeth the belly of the great goddess{SUP:2}.

OLAHO VIRUDEN MAHORELA ZODIREDA! ON PIREDA EXENTASER; ARBA PIRE GAH

GAHA GAHAL GAHALANA VO ABRA NA GAHA VELUCORSAPAX{SUP:3}.

And the voice of the aeon cried: Return, return, return! the time sickeneth, and the space gapeth, and the voice of him that is, was and shall be crowned rattles in the throat of the mighty dragon of eld{SUP:4}. Thou canst not pass by me, except thou have the mystery of the word of the abyss.

Now the angel putteth back the sapphire stone into his breast; and I spake unto him and said, I will fight with thee and overcome thee, except thou expound unto me the word of the abyss.

Now he makes as if to fight with me. (It is very horrible, all the tentacles moving and the flail flashing, and the fierce eyeless face, strained and swollen.) And with the Magic sword I pierce through his armour to his breast. He fell back, saying: Each of these my scars was thus made, for I am the warden of the aethyr. And he would have said more; but I cut him short, saying: expound the word of the Abyss. And he said{SUP:5}: Discipline is sorrowful and ploughing is laborious and age is weariness.

Thou shalt be vexed by dispersion{SUP:6}.

-
1. The Elements are hidden in Binah.
 2. In the light of the cry of LOE, this passage seems to mean precisely the opposite of its apparent meaning. The whole cry, from "Let me dwell ..." is an Invocation of Binah. It is a foreshadowing of the Mysteries of the Crossing of the Abyss.
 3. The translation of this is in my private copy (white and gold binding). Possibly also in the Cefalu set which was copied from that (?) by Estai. (?)
 4. Binah or Nuit = Draco, the Dragon.
 5. See the 14th and 13th Aethyr.
 6. See the 10th Aethyr. These statements are prophetic.

- page 18 -

But now, if the sun arise{SUP:1}, fold thou thine arms{SUP:1}; then shall God smite thee into a pillar of salt{SUP:2}.

Look not so deeply into words and letters; for this Mystery hath been hidden by the Alchemists. Compose the sevenfold into a fourfold regimen{SUP:3}; and when thou hast understood thou mayest make symbols{SUP:4}; but by playing child's games with symbols thou shalt never understand{SUP:5}. Thou hast the signs; thou hast the words; but there are many things that are not in my power, who am but the warden of the 28th Aethyr.

Now my name thou shalt obtain in this wise. Of the three angels of the Aethyr, thou shalt write the names from right to left and from left to right and from right to left, and these are the holy letters:

The first 1, the fifth 2, the sixth 3, the eleventh 4, the seventh 5, the twelfth 6, the seventeenth 7.

Thus hast thou my name{SUP:6} who am above these three, but the angels of the 30th Aethyr are indeed four, and they have none above them; wherefore dispersion and disorder{SUP:7}.

Now cometh from every side at once a voice, terribly great, crying: Close the veil; the great blasphemy hath been uttered; the face of my Mother{SUP:8} is scarred by the nails of the devil. Shut the book, destroy the breaker of the seal!

And I answered: Had he not been destroyed he had not come hither, for I am not save in the darkness in the womb of Her{SUP:9} by whom came evil into the world.

And this darkness swallows everything up{SUP:10}, and the angel is

1. Tiphereth; and the sign of Osiris risen in $5x = 6\{\text{square } x\}$.
2. Prophetic of the $8x = 3\{\text{square } x\}$ attainment; the pillar is phallic, and salt is {Salt}, of Binah, the Great Sea. Cf. _Lib. LXV_, Cap. V, vv. 5, 23, 25.
3. The completed system which is made by the $7x = 4\{\text{square } x\}$.
4. The $8x = 3\{\text{square } x\}$ may devise a new Qabalah.
5. One cannot become $8x = 3\{\text{square } x\}$ by intellectual manipulations.
6. This would appear to be:
PXINBAL <---?
FCCISNI --->C = LIXIPSP = {Cancer}{Sagittarius}{Spirit}{Sagittarius}
{Leo}{Gemini}{Leo} = {HEB:Chet}{HEB:Samekh}{HEB:Taw}{HEB:Samekh} {HEB:Tet}{HEB:Zain}{HEB:Tet} = 553 =
RAPOLXD <---Y
{HEB:Lamed}{HEB:Vau}{HEB:Dalet}{HEB:Gemel}{HEB:Heh}{HEB:Yod}
{HEB:Nun}{HEB:Taw} = Draco Magnus, the Mighty Dragon. This is the symbol of Nuit or Binah. The whole symbolism of this Angel is therefore exactly confirmed through a Qabalistic equation of which the Seer had no idea at the time. N.B. He is above the dispersion and disorder just as Binah is above the Abyss of Choronzon.
7. The four elements unharmonized break up into Choronzon.
8. Further reference to Binah.
9. Binah.
10. Typical gesture of Binah.

- page 19 -

gone from the stone{SUP:1}; and there is no light therein, save only the light of the Rose and of the Cross{SUP:2}.

Aumale, Algeria.

November 23, 1909, between 8 and 9 p.m.

The Cry of the 27th Aethyr, Which is Called ZAA{SUP:3}

There is an angel with rainbow wings, and his dress is green{SUP:4} with silver, a green veil over silver{SUP:5} armour. Flames of many- coloured fire dart from him in all directions. It is a woman of some thirty years old, and she has the moon for a crest, and the moon is blazoned on her heart, and her sandals are curved silver, like the moon.

And she cries: Lonely am I and cold in the wilderness of the stars{SUP:7}. For I am the queen of all them that dwell in Heaven, and the queen of all them that are pure upon earth, and the queen of all the sorcerers of hell{SUP:8}.

I am the daughter of Nuit, the lady of the stars. And I am the Bride of them that are vowed unto loneliness{SUP:9}. And I am the mother of the Dog Cerberus{SUP:10}. One person am I, and three gods{SUP:11}.

And thou who hast blasphemed me shalt suffer knowing me. For I am cold as thou art cold, and burn with thy fire{SUP:12}. Oh, when shall the war of the Aires and the elements be accomplished{SUP:13}?

1. The general attribution of this Aethyr is to Atu XVII.
2. Binah being gone, the seer descends to his normal place in Tiphereth.
3. ZAA = {Leo}{Taurus}{Taurus} = {HEB:Tet}{HEB:Vau}{HEB:Vau} = 21. A mystery of Atu XVIII, "The Moon". {Pisces} in which {Venus} is exalted.
4. Possibly the traditional green of the huntress.
5. Colour of {Moon}.
6. The green of Venus is perhaps the natural veil of Luna, her external show.
7. For {Moon} is virgin, and the path of {HEB:Gemel} crosses the wilderness of the Abyss.
8. Diana Trivia is thus described. She is the Virgin Goddess of Pure Love; and the Lady of Heaven. She is the Virgin Goddess of Pure Love; and she is Hecate, the waning Moon, presiding over Witchcraft. (See Macbeth, etc.)
9. {Virgo} = IX = The Hermit (opposite {Pisces} in the Zodiac).
10. The Jackals of Atu XVIII.
11. {Moon} = {HEB:Gemel} = 3. Cerberus has three heads.
12. For the {Moon} is the Sensorium; she reflects man's spiritual state in terms of sensuous experiences.
13. i.e. the coefficients of the Circle and the Square be commensurable. "When" means "Through what mode of resolution?" --- "On what plane?"

- page 20 -

Radiant are these falchions of my brothers, invisibly about me, but the might of the aethyrs beneath my feet beareth me down. And they avail not to sever the Kamailow{SUP:1}. There is one in green armour, with green eyes, whose sword is of vegetable fire{SUP:2}. They shall avail me. My son is he{SUP:3}, ---and how shall I bear him that have not known man?

All this time intolerable rays are shooting forth to beat me back or destroy me; but I am encased in an egg of blue-violet, and my form is the form of a man with the head of a golden hawk{SUP:4}. While I have been observing this, the goddess has kept up a continuous wail, like the baying of a thousand hounds{SUP:5}; and now her voice is deep and guttural and hoarse, and she breathes very rapidly words that I cannot hear. I can hear some of them now.

UNTU LA LA ULULA UMUNA TOFA LAMA LE LI NA AHR IMA TAHARA ELULA ETFOMA
UNUNA ARPETI ULU ULU ULU MARABAN ULULU MAHATA ULU ULU
LAMASTANA{SUP:6}.

And then her voice rises to a shriek, and there is a cauldron{SUP:7} boiling in front of her; and the flames under the cauldron are like unto zinc flames{SUP:8}, and in the cauldron is the Rose, the Rose of 49 petals{SUP:9}, seething in it. Over the cauldron she has arched her rainbow wings; and her face is bent over the cauldron, and she is blowing opalescent silvery rings on to the Rose; and each ring as it touches the water bursts into flame, and the Rose takes new colours{SUP:10}.

And now she lifts her head, and raises her hands to heaven,

1. {GRK:Kappa}{GRK:alpha}{GRK:mu}{GRK:eta}{GRK:lambda}{GRK:omicron}{GRK:sigma}, a camel, i.e. {HEB:Gemel} Jimmel. {GRK:Kappa}{GRK:alpha}{GRK:mu}{GRK:alpha}{GRK:iota}{GRK:lambda}{GRK:omicron}{GRK:sigma}, a rope. And Jimmel is likened to a rope, a threefold ({HEB:Gemel} = 3) cord linking Kether and Tiphereth.
2. The Angel of {HEB:Dalet} = {Venus} who is green, and {HEB:Dalet} "avails" {HEB:Gemel}, crossing it on the Tree by joining Chokmah and Binah. That is, the Love of these Supernals balances the Isolation of the Virgin Moon.
3. {Moon} in 20x {Pisces} at nativity of 666.
4. i.e. I assume the god-form of Horus, Sol in the Womb of the Night-sky blue of Binah, who is the Mother of all Stars and thus is potent against Hecate.
5. The hounds that follow Hecate. The jackals of Atu XVIII. Quote A.C. "Ode to Hecate".
6. The Lunar language. "Ye hounds! Ho! Ho! Tally-ho! sent the poison of the path --- Here! There! Bark! Sweep around! There goes the quarry down the glade of mossy rock. The foremost has caught him. Tally ho! Tally ho! Tally ho! pull him down! Tally-ho boys! Wind the mort! Tally ho! Tally ho! The hunt is ended." ULU = "Hail" plus "come" = very nearly "Ahoy!"
7. The witches' cauldron.
8. Ultra violet of {Pisces}.
9. {Venus} in {Pisces}.
10. All this paragraph refers to Atu XIV Sagittarius, for she is now in her huntress form. Hence the Alchemical and rainbow symbolism.

- page 21 -

and cries: O Mother{SUP:1}, wilt thou never have compassion on the children of earth? Was it not enough that the Rose should be red with the blood of thine heart{SUP:2}, and that its petals should be by 7 and by 7?

She is weeping, weeping{SUP:3}. And the tears grow and fill the whole stone with moons{SUP:4}. I can see nothing and hear nothing for the tears, though she keeps on praying. "Take of these pearls{SUP:5}, treasure them in thine heart. Is not the Kingdom of the Abyss accurst?" She points downward to the cauldron; and now in it there is the head of a most cruel dragon{SUP:6}, black and corrupted. I watch, and watch; and nothing happens.

And now the dragon rises out of the cauldron, very long and slim (like Japanese Dragons, but infinitely more terrible), and he blots out the whole sphere of the stone{SUP:7}.

Then suddenly all is gone, and there is nothing in the stone save brilliant white light and flecks like sparks of golden fire; and there is a ringing, as if bells were being used for anvils. And there is a perfume which I cannot describe; it is like nothing that one can describe, but the suggestion is like lignum aloes{SUP:8}. And now all these things are there at once in the same place and time{SUP:9}.

Now a veil of olive and silver{SUP:10} is drawn over the stone, only I hear the voice of the angel{SUP:11} receding, very sweet and faint and sorrowful, saying: Far off and lonely in the secret stone is the unknown, and interpenetrated is the knowledge with the will and the understanding. I am alone. I am lost, because I am all and in all; and my veil is woven of the green earth and

1. She appeals to Binah, the highest form of Luna.
2. This is the use to which BABALON puts the Blood of the Masters of the Temple (see 12th Aethyr) to vivify the rose of Universal Creation, i.e. The Attainment of the Master of the Temple fills the World with Life and Beauty. Hecate does not understand this, or else she regards it as hostile to her own Formula.
3. {Water} of {Pisces}.
4. She can produce nothing but images of herself.
5. Pearls, the M.T.'s secreted by Binah round the specks of dust which they have become.
6. A veil or mask of Khephra (in Atu XVIII).
7. All Hecate can see of the Great Work of $8x = 3\{\text{square } x\}$ is the Black Brotherhood; i.e., the failure of that Work.
8. Sagittarius (Atu XIV) again. The phenomena are the experiences of the attained Master of the Temple.
9. The attainment has destroyed the conditions of physical manifestation.
10. Olive --- Water in Malkuth (Queen Scale) also Water (Emperor Scale). Silver is Luna in Queen Scale.
11. Hecate now aspires to Binah, accepts the Formula of Love (kisses), surrenders her nature ("Fall back" etc.) and so finds the Word.

- page 22 -

the web of stars. I love; and I am denied, for I have denied myself. Give me those hands, put them against my heart. Is it not cold? Sink, sink, the abyss of time remains. It is not possible that one should come to ZAA. Give me thy face. Let me kiss it with my cold kisses. Ah! Ah! Ah! Fall back from me. The word, the word of the aeon is MAKHASHANAH{SUP:1}. And these words shalt thou say backwards: ARARNAY OBOLO MAHARNA TUTULU NOM LAHARA EN NEDIEZO LO SAD FONUSA SOBANA ARANA BINUF LA LA LA ARPAZNA UOHULU{SUP:2}. when thou wilt call my burden unto appearance, for I who am the Virgin goddess am the pregnant goddess, and I have cast down my burden even unto the borders of the universe{SUP:3}. They that blaspheme me are stoned, and my veil{SUP:4} is fallen about me even unto the end of time{SUP:5}.

Now there arises a great raging of thousands and thousands of mighty warriors flashing through the aethyr so thickly that nothing is to be seen but their swords, which are like blue-gray plumes. And the noise is confused, thousands of battle-cries harmonizing

1. {HEB:Heh}{HEB:Nun}{HEB:Aleph}{HEB:Shin}{HEB:Aleph}{HEB:Koph}{HEB:Aleph} {HEB : Mem} = 418. A word of 8 letters is necessary to perform the Great work on one whose Formula is $3: 8x = 3\{\text{square } x\}$. The Seer "knew" that this Word was not the correct Word, which is Abrahadabra = 418. But on writing it down in Hebrew, as above, he saw that it was the correct word after all. Observe that this proves the Angel to have been an Intelligence not of the Seer's conscious mind. Had he given the Word which the Seer knew, it might have been derived from his subconscious Self. Furthermore, this Word contains more than the mere 418 because of its 8 letters suiting the special Formula required by this particular Angel, whereas the other Word is a general Formula, being of 11 letters, all Magick being referred to 11. so far as ABRAHADABRA is specialized, it refers to the Work of $5x = 6\{\text{square } x\}$, there being 5 alephs and 6 other letters. In the Latin script also Makhashanah does have 11 letters. Again, the operation of the Cauldron (above) is described by the 5 consonants of this Word.

{HEB:Mem} = {Water} (Water)

{HEB:Koph} = Wheel (Rose)

{HEB:Shin} = Fire {Dee}

{HEB:Nun} = {Scorpio}

{HEB:Heh} = Binah

2. Translation: "Hither, O Holy one/ whose burden pulls at thy spine/ Ho! Ho! Ho! The two-headed God (Janus) ploughs thy back/ sows habitations upon thy back/ thou many-phallused queen/ of princely loves/ which are all sodomies/ so that the holy ones laugh and shake with laughter/ while the lords of mischief/ spend upon thee/ TUTULU (this word cannot be translated. See Liber VII). down bounces from thy back/ the merry mad foetus-faces/ an emission/ Gather ye sun-roses, sun-roses gather ye from the split backside of the Virgin (Earth).

3. The Word of the Master has gone forth into every part of the world. Therefore it is always possible to call Him forth to one's assistance by the proper use of the above Formula.

4. and 5. Symbols of Binah.

- page 23 -

to a roar, like the roar of a monstrous river in flood. And all the stone is dull, dull gray. The life is gone from it{SUP:1}.

There is no more to see.

Sidi Aissa, Algeria.

November 24, 1909, 8-9 p.m.

The Cry of the 26th Aethyr, Which is Called DES{SUP:2}

There is a very bright pentagram: and now the stone is gone, and the whole heaven is black, and the blackness is the blackness of a mighty angel{SUP:3}. And though he is black (his face and his wings and his robe and his armour are all black), yet is he so bright that I cannot look upon him. And he cries: O ye spears and vials of poison and sharp swords and whirling thunderbolts that are about the corners of the earth{SUP:4}, girded with wrath and justice, know ye that His name is Righteousness in Beauty{SUP:5}? Burnt out are your eyes, for that ye have seen me in my majesty. And broken are

1. Many of these Visions end in some way unconnected with the substance of the Aethyr. One must not look for coherence in such places. They are merely episodes on the return journey, useful to break the shock. analogy: one might see a cab accident while returning to one's house from the theatre. This spectacle need have no connection with either the play or one's home life.
2. DES = <{Virgo}{Gemini} = {HEB:Zain}{HEB:Yod}{HEB:Dalet} = 31 + 10 + 7 = 48 = {HEB:Bet}{HEB:Koph}{HEB:Vau}{HEB:Koph} = Kokab, the sphere of {Mercury}. This Aethyr describes the supersession of the Aeon of Jehovah and Jesus. The Stele of Revealing, which led to _The Book of the Law_, whose key number is 31. {HEB:Dalet} = D = < = 31. I = {HEB:Yod} = {Virgo} = Nuit and the Point, Hadit. S = {HEB:Zain} = {Gemini} = the twins, Ra-Hoor-Khuit and Hoor-Paar-Kraat combined in Heru-Ra-Ha, the Lord of the Aeon. Also {Virgo} & {Gemini} are the Houses of {Mercury}, the Logos. Thus the name of the Aethyr actually means: The Sacred Secret Keyletter of _The Book of the Law_ of Thelema, appearing through the Operation of Mercury as well as gibing a complete symbolical description of the Stele itself. The Arcanum is of Atu XX = {HEB:Shin} = < + {Dee} = "The Last Judgment" or "The Angel". The old form of XX shows the Resurrection Formula of the Old Aeon: the new form shews the Stele of Revealing = 718.
3. The Pentagram indicates that the subject of the Vision is to be the Destiny of Man. The blackness, which is bright, is Solar. The context shows that Binah is not here implied.
4. All symbols of division and destruction, also extending only to the Blind Four Elements.
5. Righteousness = Jupiter --- Jehovah --- Beauty = Osiris --- Jesus. These are the qualities they claimed; Their failure is that they never even had the idea of the Supernals beyond the Abyss.

- page 24 -

the drum-heads of your ears{SUP:1}, because my name is as two mountains of fornication, the breasts of a strange woman{SUP:2}; and my Father is not in them.

Lo! the pools of fire and torment mingled with sulphur! Many are their colours, and their colour is as molten gold, when all is said. Is not He one, one and alone, in whom the brightness of your countenance is as 1,728 petals of fire{SUP:3}.

Also he spake the curse, folding his wings across and crying: Is not the son the enemy of his father? And hath not the daughter stolen the warmth of the bed of her mother{SUP:4}? therefore is the great curse irrevocable. Therefore there is neither wisdom nor understanding nor knowledge in this house, that hangeth upon the edge of hell{SUP:5}. Thou art not 4 but 2, O thou blasphemy spoken against 1{SUP:6}.

Therefore whoso worshippeth thee is accursed. He shall be brayed in a mortar and the powder thereof cast to the winds, that the birds of the air may eat thereof and die; and he shall be dissolved in strong acid and the elixir poured into the sea, that the fishes of the sea may breathe thereof and die. And he shall be mingled with dung and spread upon the earth, so that the herbs of the earth may feed thereof and die; and he shall be burnt utterly with fire, and the ashes thereof shall calcine the children of flame, that even in hell may be found an overflowing lamentation.

And now on the breast of the Angel is a golden egg between the blackness of the wings, and that egg{SUP:7} grows and grows all over the aethyr. And it breaks, and within there is a golden eagle.

And he cries: Woe! woe! woe! Yea, woe unto the world! For there is no sin, and there is no salvation{SUP:8}. My plumes are like waves of gold upon the sea. My eyes are brighter than the sun. My tongue is swifter than the lightning.

Yet am I hemmed in by the armies of night, singing, singing

1. Hearing pertains to Spirit, as sight to fire. These gods have deprived man of his highest faculties.
2. See the 10th Key.
3. The Zodiac brought down to the material plane. 12{SUP:3}
4. The Oedipus complex. Christianity.
5. The Cult of Jehovah cannot even reach to Dath.
6. i.e. Jehovah is not even the true Chesed, but the evil Dyad, (as opposed to the true Dyad of Chokmah, which interprets Keter in terms of Vibration, the Logos.)
7. The promise of breaking the tyranny of Jehovah, who was the evil 4 in the Aeon of the true 4, Isis, by the Solar (golden) Jesus. He appears as an eagle, the bird of Jupiter. so that despite the glittering hope, it was only the old Aeon all over again.
8. He knows this truth, which destroys the whole idea of his formula. Nobody will bother about him, it they are not sinners, and need no saviour.

- page 25 -

phrases unto Him that is smitten by the thunderbolt of the abyss. Is not the sky clear behind the sun? These clouds that burn thee up, these rays that scorch the brains of men with blindness; these are heralds before my face of the dissolution and the night.

Ye are all blinded by my glory; and though ye treasure in your heart the sacred word that is the last lever of the key to the little door beyond the abyss, yet ye gloss and comment thereupon; for the light itself is but illusion. Truth itself is but illusion. Yea, these be the great illusions beyond life and space and time.

Let thy lips blister with my words! Are they not meteors in thy brain? Back, back from the face of the accursed one, who am I; back into the night of my father, into the silence; for all that ye deem right is left, forward is backward, upward is downward{SUP:1}.

I am the great god adored of the holy ones. Yet am I the accursed one, child of the elements and not their father{SUP:2}.

O my mother! wilt thou not have pity upon me? Wilt thou not shield me? For I am naked, I am manifest, I am profane. O my father! wilt thou not withdraw me? I am extended, I am double, I am profane.

Woe, woe unto me! These are they that hear not prayer. It is I that have heard all prayer alway, and there is none to answer _me_. Woe unto me! Woe unto me! Accursed am I unto the aeons!

All this time this brilliant eagle-headed god has been attacked, seemingly, by invisible people{SUP:3}, for he is wounded now and again, here and there; little streams of fresh blood come out over the feathers of his breast. And the smoke of the blood is gradually filling the Aethyr with a crimson veil. There is a scroll over the top, saying: _Ecclesia abhorret a sanguine_{SUP:4}; and there is another scroll below it in a language of which I do not know the sounds. The meaning is, Not as they have understood{SUP:5}.

1. Observe the loud words, the confusion of the thought, throughout this excited passage.
2. He knows that he is not an image of the Simple, Sublime, Self, but an ill-concocted mess of Blind Forces.
3. Jesus has been destroyed by myriads of minute facts; the observations of Nature which have broken down the theories on which his existence depended. His blood is spilt, and veils Truth; whereas the Blood of the Master of the Temple is gathered in the Cup of BABALON, and floods the world with Life and Beauty. (See 27th Aire, footnote 3, page 19).
4. The Christian, incapable of the formula of the Master of the Temple, abhors the shedding of blood. He fears to lose his vile life.
5. i.e. The meaning of the Latin is that given above, not the traditional ecclesiastical interpretation. Cf. also, AL 1, vv. 45048.

-page 26 -

The blood is thicker and darker now, and it is becoming clotted and black, so that everything is blotted out; because it coagulates, coagulates. And then at the top there steals a dawn of pure night- blue {SUP:1}, --- Oh, the stars, the stars in it deeply set! --- and drives the blood down; so that all round the top of the oval gradually dawns the figure of our Lady Nuit, and beneath her is the flaming winged disk, and below the altar of Ra-Hoor-Khuit, even as it is upon the Stele of Revealing{SUP:2}. But below is the supine figure of Seb, into whom is concentrated all that clotted blood{SUP:3}.

And there comes a voice: It is the dawn of the aeon. The aeons of cursing are passed away. Force and fire, strength and sight, these are for the servants of the Star and the Snake.

And now I seem to be lying in the desert, exhausted{SUP:4}.
The Desert, near Sidi Aissa.

November 25, 1909. 1:10 - 2 p.m.

The Cry of the 25th Aethyr, Which is Called VTI{SUP:5}

There is nothing in the stone but the pale gold of the Rosy Cross.

Now there comes an Angel with bright wings, that is the Angel of the 25th Aire. And all the aire is a dark olive about him, like an alexandrite {SUP:6} stone. He bears a pitcher{SUP:7} or amphora{SUP:8.} And

-
1. Not only symbolic, but actually visible even to the physical eyes, when Nuit is manifested. Also when Ra-Hoor-Khuit is invoked, or Aiwass.
 2. See the various special accounts of the Stele. The New Atu XX - 718.
 3. Earth has absorbed all the ruin wrought by Jesus, to rebuild life through putrefaction, by her regular formula --- as opposed to the Higher Magick.
 4. This vision, being so close to the physical plane, required no intermediate stations on the way back. The exhaustion was due to the same cause. Communion with high spiritual forces renews the vitality of the Seer.
 5. VTI = {Capricorn}{Leo}{Sagittarius} = Caput Draconis, the head of the Lion-Serpent, the Beast 666. His father is {Capricorn} Set or Pan; his mother, the woman clothed with the Sun as in Atu XIV. See 27th Aethyr. He is the burden of the Moon, sanctified by 418. Atu XI (a partial form) with Atu XX (XI + XX = XXXI) gives the Key of the New Aeon.
 6. The stone of Gemini, the twins, composing Heru-Ra-Ha, his Lord. Also the house of {Mercury}; that is, his form is Oracular.
 7. The angel is an avatar of BABALON.
 8. {GRK:alpha}{GRK:mu}{GRK:phi}{GRK:omicron}{GRK:rho}{GRK:eta} = 719. This Angel is a veil for 156, the Woman who closes the mouth of the lion in the old Atu XI, and is the Scarlet Woman who rides upon him in the new form.

- page 27 -

now there comes another Angel upon a white horse{SUP:1}, and yet again another Angel upon a black bull{SUP:2}. And now there comes a lion{SUP:3} and swallows the two latter angels up. The first angel goes to the lion and closes his mouth{SUP:4}. And behind them are arrayed a great company of Angels with silver spears, like a forest. And the Angel says: Blow, all ye trumpets, for I will loose my hands from the mouth of the lion, and his roaring shall enkindle the worlds{SUP:5}.

Then the trumpets blow, and the wind rises and whistles terribly. It is a blue wind with silver specks; and it blows through the whole Aethyr. But through it one perceives the lion, which has become as a raging flame{SUP:6}.

And he roareth in an unknown tongue. But this is the interpretation thereof: Let the stars be burnt up in the fire of my nostrils{SUP:7}! Let all the gods and the archangels and the angels and the spirits that are on the earth, and above the earth, and below the earth, that are in all the heavens and in all the hells, let them be as motes dancing in the beam of mine eye{SUP:8}!

I am he that swalloweth up death{SUP:9} and victory{SUP:10}. I have slain the crowned goat{SUP:11}, and drunk up the great sea{SUP:12}. Like the ash of dried leaves the worlds are blown before me. Thou hast passed by me, and thou hast not known me. Woe unto thee, that I have not devoured thee altogether!

On my head is the crown, 419 rays{SUP:13} far-darting. And my body is the body of the Snake{SUP:14}, and my soul is the soul of the Crowned Child{SUP:15}. Though an Angel in white robes leadeth me{SUP:16},

1. The sorrow of Death.
2. This represents Jehovah and Jesus. The Pain of Toil. (Sin is Restriction).
3. Symbol of the Beast, 666.
4. See Atu XI. Babalon and the Beast conjoined.
5. BABALON prepared 666 (in a certain very secret manner) to utter the word {GRK:Theta}{GRK:epsilon}{GRK:lambda}{GRK:eta}{GRK:mu}{GRK:alpha}.
6. i.e. 666 is now inspired.
7. Nostrils = {Mars} and {Venus}. Energy and passion, also Breath of the Word.
8. Eye = Creative Light, i.e. of the Word.
9. Scorpio.
10. Netzach.
11. Capricornus.
12. Hod (the mercurial water): in all the Sephiroth below Tiphereth, out of balance, and the paths leading from them/
13. Leo = {Leo} = {HEB:Tet} = {HEB:Taw}{HEB:Yod}{HEB:Tet} = 419. t = {Leo}. {HEB:Tet} = snake by meaning. {Leo} = Horus.
14. The magical image of the 1st Decan of Leo, rising at the birth of 666, is a lion-headed serpent.
15. Horus, the Lord of 666.
16. The Avatar of Binah, in the opening of this Aethyr.

- page 28 -

who shall ride upon me but the Woman of Abominations{SUP:1}? Who is the Beast{SUP:2}? Am not I one more than he{SUP:3}? In his hand is a sword that is a book{SUP:4}. In his hand is a spear that is a cup of fornication{SUP:5}. Upon his mouth is set the great and terrible seal{SUP:6}. And he hath the secret of V{SUP:7}. His ten horns spring from five points{SUP:8}, and his eight heads{SUP:9} are as the charioteer of the West{SUP:10}. Thus doth the fire of the sun temper the spear of Mars{SUP:11}, and thus shall he be worshipped, as the warrior lord of the sun{SUP:12}. Yet in him is the woman that devoureth with her water all the fire of God{SUP:13}.

Alas! my lord, thou art joined with him that knoweth not these things{SUP:14}.

When shall the day come that men shall flock to this my gate, and fall into my furious throat, a whirlpool of fire? This is hell unquenchable, and all they shall be utterly consumed therein. Therefore is that asbestos unconsumable made pure{SUP:15}.

Each of my teeth{SUP:16} is a letter of the reverberating name. My tongue is a pillar of fire{SUP:17}, and from the glands of my mouth arise four pillars of water{SUP:18}.TAOTZEM{SUP:19} is the name by which

-
1. BABALON. See Atu XI.
 - 2 and 3. 419-418=1. Or 667-666=1. 667 = {GRK:eta}{GRK:kappa}{GRK:omicron}{GRK:kappa}{GRK:kappa}{GRK:iota}{GRK:sigma}{GRK:eta}{GRK:gamma}{GRK:upsilon}{GRK:nu}{GRK:eta}, the Scarlet Woman. (WEH note: This is the correct Greek 667 entry from _Liber MCCLXIV_).
 4. _Liber AL_, his weapon.
 5. This allusion must remain secret.
 6. This seal is that of BBABALON. The Seal of the A{'.} A{'.} See the _Book of Lies_, {GRK:Kappa}{GRK:epsilon}{GRK:phi}. {GRK:Mu}{GRK:theta} (Cap. 49).
 7. His motto as a Master of the Temple is this V.V.V.V.V. (Vi Veri Vniversum Vivus Vici).
 8. V.V.V.V.V. Has 10 horns that spring from 5 points. 9. See the _Book of Lies_, Cap. {GRK:Mu}{GRK:theta}, 49. But there is One Eighth Head too Sacredly terrible to mention.
 10. Refers to Atu VII. {HEB:Chet} = The Chariot = 8. the Bearer of the Sangraal.
 11. The Mystery $5x = 6\{\text{square } x\}$ and $6x = 5\{\text{square } x\}$, Heru-Ra-Ha is the Martial aspect of Sol.
 12. See AL, Cap. III, v. 74.
 13. Again a secret allusion. (WEH note: Join O.T.O. and attain to the mystery).
 14. The Seer was not yet a full initiate, and was hampered by A.C.
 15. This paragraph prophesies the purging of the worldly Fire in the Aeon of Horus. "Hell" is the pure Inmost Self of Man, that suffereth not extinction, but consumeth all the experiences of Life, coming thereby to know its own Perfection.
 16. 32 teeth; hence the Name is {HEB:Heh}{HEB:Vau}{HEB:Heh}{HEB:Yod}{HEB:Heh}{HEB:Aleph} = 32. Macroprosophus interfused with Microprosophus.
 17. The tongue is the instrument of the Logos and so a Phallic or creative organ. Chokmah the logos, is the Root of Fire, and the Masculine Energy.
 18. These are the "Four Rivers of Eden". It is the fourfold understanding of the Logos. These reflect Him so perfectly that they reproduce His Form.
 19. {HEB:Mem}{HEB:Tzaddi}{HEB:Ayin}{HEB:Taw} = 600. A "great number" of Sol, normally 6. 600 = Kosmos. The blasphemy is in taking the material for the Spiritual Sun.

- page 29 -

I am blasphemed. My name thou shalt not know, lest thou pronounce it and pass by.

And now the Angel comes forward again and closes his mouth.

All this time heavy blows have been raining upon me from invisible angels, so that I am weighed down as with a burden greater than the world{SUP:1}. I am altogether crushed. Great millstones are hurled out of heaven upon me{SUP:2}. I am trying to crawl to the lion{SUP:3}, and the ground is covered with sharp knives. I cut myself at every inch{SUP:4}.

And the voice comes: Why art thou there who art here{SUP:5}? Hast thou not the sign of the number{SUP:6}, and the seal of the name{SUP:7}, and the ring of the eye{SUP:8}? Thou wilt not{SUP:9}.

And I answered and said: I am a creature of earth, and ye would have me swim.

And the voice said: Thy fear is known; thine ignorance is known; thy weakness is known; but thou art nothing in this matter. Shall the grain which is cast into the earth by the hand of the sower debate within itself, saying, am I oats or barley? Bondslave of the curse, we give nothing, we take all. Be thou content. That which thou art, thou art. Be content{SUP:10}.

And now the lion passeth over through the Aethyr with the crowned beast upon his back, and the tail of the lion goes on instead of stopping, and on each hair of the tail is something or other --- sometimes a little house, sometimes a planet, at other times a town. Then there is a great plain with soldiers fighting upon it, and an enormously high mountain carved into a thousand temples, and more houses and fields and trees, and great cities with wonderful buildings in them, statues and columns and public buildings generally. This goes on and on and on and on and on and on and on all on the hairs of this lion's tail{SUP:11}.

And then there is the tuft of his tail, which is like a comet, but the head is a new universe, and each hair streaming away from it is a Milky Way.

-
1. "The Sin of the whole world". See the Mediterranean Manifesto.
 - 2-4. Prophetic of the pains, the initiation to $9x = 2\{square\ x\}$, undergone by 666 in order to become himself.
 5. i.e. "Why art Thou not consciously identical with 666?"
 6. The Qabalistic Proofs (of the truth of Aiwass) given by the virtues of 93.
 7. 666.
 8. The ring of V.V.V.V.V., mentioned in LXV, v. 16.
 9. My resistance to the Great Work.
 10. The Angel promises the Seer that he shall be 666 in all truth, and counsels him to await His Hour in perfect confidence.
 11. Prophetic of the results of the Great Work delivered by 666.

And then there is a pale stern figure, enormous, enormous, bigger than all that universe is, in silver armour, with a sword and a pair of balances{SUP:1}. That is only vague. All has gone into stone-gray, blank.

There is nothing.

Ain el Hajel.

November 25, 1909. 8:40-9:40 p.m.

(There were two voices in all this Cry, one behind the other --- or, one was the speech, and the other the meaning. And the voice that was the speech was simply a roaring, one tremendous noise, like a mixture of thunder and water-falls and wild beasts and bands and artillery. And yet it was articulate, though I cannot tell you what a single word was. But the meaning of the voice --- the second voice --- was quite silent, and put the ideas directly into the brain of the Seer, as if by touch. It is not certain whether the millstones and the sword-strokes that rained upon him were not these very sounds and ideas.)

The Cry of the 24th Aethyr, Which is Called NIA{SUP:2}

An angel comes forward into the stone like a warrior clad in chain- armour. Upon his head are plumes of gray{SUP:3}, spread out like the fan of a peacock{SUP:4}. About his feet a great army of scorpions and dogs, lions, elephants, and many other wild beasts. He stretches forth his arms to heaven and cries; In the crackling of the lightning, in the rolling of the thunder, in the clashing of the swords and the hurling of the arrows{SUP:5}: be thy name exalted!

Streams of fire come out of the heavens, a pale brilliant

1. This refers to the Aeon which is to follow this of Horus. See _Liber AL_, Cap. III, v. 34. Its Lord is "the double-wanded one" "Thmaist --- Justice."
2. NIA = {Scorpio}{Sagittarius}{Taurus} = 116. She is Atu XIV --- "The Woman clothed with the Sun", see 27th Aire, between {Scorpio}, Love as the instrument of change by Putrefaction, and {Taurus}, the heavenly Isis. But cf. also AL III, v. 72 -- Coph Nia. This completes the Mystery of Atu XI by the Vision of 156, also in a partial form. The Beast and the Scarlet Woman at attributed to {Leo} and Water {Scorpio}. They are the two-in-one Chief Officers, of the Temple of the New Aeon of Heru-Ra-Ha. (Note: The Eagle Kerub in the 23rd Aire is Aquarius {Aquarius}. Scorpio is the Woman-Serpent. This is important; for the old attribution is of the Eagle to {Scorpio})
3. The Ajna-Chakra --- Chokmah.
4. Sacred to Juno.
5. Arrows of {Sagittarius} the rainbow which follows this storm.

- page 31 -

blue{SUP:1}, like plumes. And they gather themselves and settle upon his lips. His lips are redder than roses, and the blue plumes gather themselves into a blue rose{SUP:2}, and from beneath the petals of the rose come brightly coloured humming-birds{SUP:3}, and dew falls from the rose- honey-coloured dew{SUP:4}. I stand in the shower of it.

And a voice proceeds from the rose: Come away! Our chariot is drawn by doves{SUP:5}. Of mother-of-pearl and ivory is our chariot{SUP:6} and the reins thereof are the heart-strings of men. Every moment that we fly shall cover an aeon. And every place on which we rest shall be a young universe rejoicing in its strength; the meadows thereof shall be covered with flowers. There shall we rest but a night, and in the morning we shall flee away, comforted.

Now, to myself, I have imagined the chariot of which the voice spake, and I looked to see who was with me in the chariot. It was an Angel of golden hair and golden skin, whose eyes were bluer than the sea, whose mouth was redder than the fire, whose breath was ambrosial air. Finer than a spider's web were her robes. And they were of the seven colours{SUP:7}.

All this I saw; and then the hidden voice went on low and sweet: Come away! The price of the journey is little, though its name be death. Thou shalt die to all that thou fearest and hopest and hatest and lovest and thinkest and art. Yea! thou shalt die, even as thou must die. For all that thou hast, thou hast not; all that thou art, thou art not{SUP:8}!

NENNI OFEKUFA ANANAEL LAIADA I MAELPEREJI NONUKA AFAFA ADAREPEHETA PEREGI ALADI NIISA NIISA LAPE OL ZODIR IDOIAN{SUP:9}.

And I said: ODO KIKALE QAA. Why art thou hidden from me, whom I hear?

And the voice answered and said unto me: Hearing is of the

1. Blue of Sagittarius (Atu XIV).
2. Woman in {Sagittarius}.
3. Sacred to Venus.
4. Distilled from Cauldron in Atu XIV. The Elixir. In this Aire is a Mystery of the IXx of the O.T.O.
5. Sacred to {Venus}. This woman combines {Jupiter} (Juno) and {Venus}; but she is more than all this, the Quintessence of Scorpio, the Lady of the Cup.
6. Chariot = Atu VII = {Cancer} cardinal sign of {Water}. Mother of Pearl is sacred to {Water}; cups symbolize Pleasure, especially sexual pleasure. Ivory comes from the tusks of the Elephant: teeth pertain to {HEB:Shin}, the fire of the Spirit. Ivory is thus a symbol of the hard gleaming militant delight of sexual energy, which bears Love in her Chariot through Heaven.
7. All typical of {Venus}.
8. Prophetic of the $8x = 3\{\text{square } x\}$ Initiation. Love is the motive power which makes the Adeptus Exemptus take the plunge into the Abyss.
9. Enochian.

- page 32 -

spirit alone{SUP:1}. Thou art a partaker of the five-fold mystery{SUP:2}. Thou must roll up the ten divine ones like a scroll, and fashion therefrom a star{SUP:3}. Yet must thou blot out the star in the heart of Hadit{SUP:4}.

For the blood of my heart is like a warm bath of myrrh and ambergris; bathe thyself therein. The blood of my heart is all gathered upon my lips if I kiss thee, burns in my fingertips if I caress thee, burns in my womb when thou art caught up into my bed. Mighty are the stars; mighty is the sun; mighty is the moon; mighty is the voice of the ever-living one, and the echoes of his whisper are the thunders of the dissolution of the worlds. But my silence is mightier than they. Close up the worlds like unto a weary house; close up the book of the recorder, and let the veil swallow up the shrine, for I am arisen, O my fair one, and there is no more need of all these things.

If once I put thee apart from me, it was the joy of play. Is not the ebb and flowing of the tide a music of the sea? Come, let us mount unto Nuit our mother and be lost! Let being be emptied in the infinite abyss! For by me only shalt thou mount; thou hast none other wings than mine{SUP:5}.

All this while the Rose has been shooting out blue flames, coruscating like snakes through the whole Aire. And the snakes have taken shapes of sentences. One of them is: _Sub umbra alarum tuarum Adonai quies et felicitas_{SUP:6}. And another: _Summum bonum, vera sapientia, magnanima vita, sub noctis nocte sunt_{SUP:7}. And another is: _Vera medicina est vinum mortis_{SUP:8}. And another is: _Libertas__evangelii per jugum legis ob gloriam dei intactam ad vacuum nequaquam tendit_{SUP:9}. And another is: _Sub aqua lex terrarum_{SUP:10}. And another is: _Mens edax rerum, cor__umbra rerum; intelligentia via summa_{SUP:11}. And another is: _Summa via lucis: per Hephaestum_

-
1. The traditional attribution.
 2. i.e. of the Pentagram.
 3. The ten Sephiroth form the Flaming Sword. The idea is to make a perfect Man. (the Pentagram) by folding up his 10 consecutive qualities into a single symmetrical symbol.
 4. This star must itself be blotted out in the Point-of View, the Quintessence of Individuality.
 5. The totality of experiences has amounted to Perfection. There is then no more need of a manifested Universe. See AL. I, v. 29, for the Object of Division.
 6. Refers to $5x = 6\{square x\}$ initiation.
 7. Refers to the Night of Pan (see later Aires) and so to $8x = 3\{square x\}$ which with $5x = 6\{square x\}$ make the two initiated steps.
 8. Cf. the general doctrine about Death. AL II, vs. 72-74, et al.
 9. Combines the four sentences in this order {Aquarius}{Taurus}{Leo}{Scorpio} on the circular altar in the vault of Christian Rosencreutz. The meaning is: Liberty, Law, Light fill the Universe.
 10. S.A.L.T.
 11. M.E.R.C.U.R.I.U.S. Meaning: the mind destroys the external (by abstracting its reality: see any good Yoga treatise). The heart is their shadow (i.e. Reality only appears as impressions). Binah ($8x = 3\{square x\}$) is the Highest Way.

- page 33 -

undas regas{SUP:1}. And another is: _Vir introit tumulum regis, invenit oleum lucis_{SUP:2}.

And all round the whole of these things are the letters TARO; but the light is so dreadful that I cannot read the words. I am going to try again. All these serpents are collected together very thickly at the edges of the wheel, because there are an innumerable number of sentences. One is: _tres annos regimen oraculi_{SUP:3}. And another is: _terribilis ardet rex_{HEB:Nun-final}{HEB:Vau}{HEB:Yod}{HEB:Lamed}{HEB:Ayin}{SUP:4}. And another is: _Ter amb_ (amp?) (can't see it) _Rosam oleo_ (?)_{SUP:5}. And another is: _Tribus annulis regna olisbon_{SUP:6}. And the marvel is that with those four letters you can get a complete set of rules for doing everything, both for white magic and black.

And now I see the heart of the rose again. I see the face of him that is the heart of the rose, and in the glory of that face I am ended. My eyes are fixed upon his eyes; my being is sucked up through my eyes into those eyes. And I see through those eyes, and lo! the universe, like whirling sparks of gold, blown like a tempest. I seem to swell out again into him. My consciousness fills the whole Aethyr. I hear the cry NIA, ringing again and again from within me. It sounds like infinite music, and behind the sound is the meaning of the Aethyr. Again there are no words.

All this time the whirling sparks of gold go on, and they are like blue sky, with a lot of rather thin white clouds in it, outside. And now I see mountains round, far blue mountains, purple mountains. And in the midst is a little green dell of moss, which is all sparkling with dew that drips from the rose. And I am lying on that moss with my face upwards, drinking, drinking, drinking, drinking, drinking of the dew.

I cannot describe to you the joy and the exhaustion of everything that was, and the energy of everything that is, for it is only a corpse that is lying on the moss. I am the soul of the Aethyr{SUP:7}.

1. S.U.L.P.H.U.R. An alchemical injunction; a reference to AL, Cap. 2, v. 57.
2. V.I.T.R.I.O.L. Reference to IXx O.T.O.
3. Refers to time required to assimilate the Initiation of $8x=3\{\text{squarex}\}$ For three years is 156 weeks; and $156 = \text{BABALON}$.
4. Elyon: the exalted one, nVLI (?). 156, a name of BABALON, (see the Urn) with with the Phallic Yod in the midst.
5. Meaning: the Rose must be thrice anointed (?) with oil. (That is, with the oil.)
6. Refers to the Tree of Life; to be ruled by the three reciprocating Paths, {HEB:Dalet}, {HEB:Tet}, {HEB:Peh}; that is, by the supernal love, by the Formula of Babalon and the Beast conjoined, and by that Formula at which is hinted in Liber AL. 1,2,3,4. all T.A.R.O.
7. This passage describes an Initiation, the first of this series. It is the exhaustion of the lower Self of the Seer in his first union with BABALON.

- page 34 -

Now it reverberates like the swords of archangels, clashing upon the armour of the damned; and there seem to be the blacksmiths of heaven beating the steel of the worlds upon the anvils of hell, to make a roof to the Aethyr{SUP:1}.

For if the great work were accomplished and all the Aethyrs were caught up into one, then would the vision fail; then would the voice be still.

Now all is gone from the stone.

Ain el Hajel.

November 26, 1909. 2-3:25 p.m.

The Cry of the 23rd Aethyr, Which is Called TOR{SUP:2}.

In the brightness of the stone are three lights, brighter than all, which revolve ceaselessly{SUP:3}. And now there is a spider's web of silver{SUP:4} covering the whole of the stone. Behind the spider's web is a star of twelve rays{SUP:5}; and behind that again, a black bull, furiously pawing up the ground. The flames from his mouth increase and whirl, and he cries: Behold the mystery of toil, O thou who art taken in the toils of mystery{SUP:6}. For I who trample the earth thereby make whirlpools in the air; be comforted, therefore, for though I be black, in the roof of my mouth is the sign of the Beetle{SUP:7}. Bent are the backs of my brethren, yet shall they gore the lion with their horns. Have I not the wings of the eagle, and the face of the man?

And now he is turned into one of those winged Assyrian bull-men.

-
1. This roof seems to be the Path of {HEB:Peh} (Mars, blacksmiths, steel, etc., the first ring that binds the {GRK:omicron}{GRK:lambda}{GRK:iota} {GRK:omicron}{GRK:beta}{GRK:omicron}{GRK:sigma}). The union with his Mate first occurs In Yesod, of which {HEB:Peh} may be called the roof. Later we shall find the other marriages of {HEB:Tet} and {HEB:Dalet}.
 2. TOR = {Leo}{Libra}{Pisces}.
 3. The Three Gunas, Sattvas, Rajas, Tamas. This is an Introit to the Aethyr. As we proceed, we find more and more obstacles to entering.
 4. More introit; veils to the true Vision.
 5. Tamas, Kerub of Earth. He and the Eagle of Air make up the 4 Officers of the New Temple.
 6. A warning to the Seer not to allow himself to ignore or despise the plain facts of life. Mysteries --- nay, even The Mysteries themselves! are apt to seduce the Aspirant. He becomes exalt (as the cold rational French, observing these errors, call him) instead of exalted.
 7. The tradition of the Bull Apis. The Beetle is the Midnight Sun, the hidden hope of Earth.

- page 35 -

And he sayeth: The spade of the husbandman is the sceptre of the king{SUP:1}. All the heavens beneath me, they serve me. They are my fields and my gardens and my orchards and my pastures.

Glory be unto thee, who didst set thy feet in the North{SUP:2}; whose forehead is pierced with the sharp points of the diamonds in thy crown {SUP:3}; whose heart is pierced with the spear of thine own fecundity {SUP:4}.

Thou art an egg of blackness, and a worm of poison. But thou hast formulated thy father, and made fertile thy mother.

Thou art the basilisk whose gaze turns men to stone, and the cockatrice at the breast of an harlot that giveth death for milk. Thou art the asp that has stolen into the cradle of the babe. Glory unto thee, who art twined about the world as the vine that clingeth to the bare body of a bacchanal{SUP:5}.

Also, though I be planted so firmly upon the earth, yet is my blood wine and my breath fire of madness. With these wings, though they be but little, I lift myself above the crown of the yod{SUP:6}, and being without fins I yet swim in the inviolate fountain{SUP:7}.

I disport myself in the ruins of Eden, even as Leviathan in the false sea{SUP:8}, being whole as the rose at the crown of the cross. Come ye unto me, my children, and be glad. At the end of labour is the power of labour{SUP:10}. And in my stability is concentrated eternal change {SUP:11}.

For the whirlings of the universe are but the course of the blood in my heart. And the unspeakable variety thereof is but my divers hairs, and plumes, and gems in my tall crown. The change which ye lament is the life of my rejoicing, and the sorrow that blackeneth your hearts is the myriad deaths by which I am renewed.

1. The King rules by virtue of the labour of his people. Even {Taurus} Earth is necessary as the support of Heaven. Nuit is upheld by Shu, who stands on Seb. Neglect to understand this causes many "pure Mystics" to fall lamentably. They "go off their base" in the significant slang of common-sense folk.
2. The Bull is stationed in the North.
3. The Bull is sacred to Osiris. This refers to the Crown of Thorns.
4. Again a reference to the Formula of Osiris. The Spear (Sacred Lance, Phallus) pierces the heart of the Dying God.
5. These two paragraphs declare the identity of the Bull with his Zodiacal opposite, Scorpio.
6. The Crown of Yod (as a path on the Tree) is Chesed. It leads thither from Tiphereth. The path of the Bull leads from Chokmah down to Chesed.
7. Refers to the Symbol of the woman and the Bull. See 16th Aire.
8. See Knorr von Rosenroth on the Qlipoth.
9. "The Rose of Earth" surmounts the Cross of Fire in the symbol {Venus}.
10. Toil creates kinetic energy.
11. See 11th Aire.

- page 36 -

And the instability which maketh ye to fear, is the little waverings of balance by which I am assured{SUP:1}.

And now the veil of silver tissue-stuff closes over him, and above that, a purple veil, and above that, a golden veil, so that now the whole stone is like a thick mat of woven gold wires; and there come forth, one from each side of the stone, two women, and grasp each other by both hands, and kiss, and melt into one another; and melt away{SUP:2}. And now the veils open again, the gold parts, and the purple parts, and the silver parts, and there is a crowned eagle, also like the Assyrian eagles.

And he cries: All my strength and stability are turned to the use of flight{SUP:3}. For though my wings are of fine gold, yet my heart is the heart of a scorpion{SUP:4}.

Glory unto thee, who being born in a stable didst make thee mirth of the filth thereof, who didst suck in iniquity from the breast of thy mother the harlot; who didst flood with iniquity the bodies of thy concubines.

Thou didst lie in the filth of the streets with the dogs; thou wast tumbled and shameless and wanton in a place where four roads meet. There wast thou defiled, and there wast thou slain, and there wast thou left to rot. The charred stake was thrust through thy bowels, and thy parts were cut off and thrust into thy mouth for derision{SUP:5}.

All my unity is dissolved; I live in the tips of my feathers{SUP:6}. That which I think to be myself is but infinite number{SUP:7}. Glory unto the Rose and the Cross, for the Cross is extended unto the uttermost end beyond space and time and being and knowledge and delight! Glory unto the Rose that is the minute point of its center! Even as we say; glory unto the Rose that is Nuit the circumference of all, and glory unto the Cross that is the heart of the Rose{SUP:8}!

1. All this paragraph explains this doctrine of Stability = Change. (Yesod, Support of the Tree, is also {Air} & {Moon}).
2. These are intended to show symbolically that the Bull is the same as the Eagle.
3. This transformation into Air shows the identity (in ultimate philosophy) of the two forces of change which constitute the Lesser Mysteries of the Sword and the Disk.
4. Refers to the Scorpion in the Symbol of the Bull of Mithras.
5. These two paragraphs refer to the Formula of the Dying God, its perversion and profanation at the hands of those who abused it.
6. Air has a peripheral consciousness.
7. The True Unity does not exist in any particular number, but in {HEB:Aleph}x as a whole.
8. The Rose and Cross are not merely symbols of definite types of energy, female and male. They are extended in the correlative symbols of Infinity: Nuit and Hadit.

- page 37 -

Therefore do I cry aloud, and my scream is the treble as the bellowing of the bull is the bass{SUP:1}. Peace in the highest and peace in the lowest and peace in the midst thereof! Peace in the eight quarters, peace in the ten points of the Pentagram! Peace in the twelve rays of the seal of Solomon, and peace in the four and thirty whirlings of the hammer of Thor{SUP:2}! Behold! I blaze upon thee. (The eagle is gone; it is only a flaming Rosy Cross of white brilliance.) I catch thee up into rapture. FALUTLI, FALUTLI{SUP:3}!

... O it dies, it dies.

Bou Sada.

November 28, 1909. 9:30-10:15 A.M.

The Cry of the 22nd Aethyr, Which is Called LIN{SUP:4}

There comes first into the stone the mysterious table of forty-nine squares{SUP:5}. It is surrounded by an innumerable company of

1. Air and Earth are harmonious vibrations, complementary.
2. The vibrations of Tetragrammaton, Jeheshua, the Hexagram, and the Swastika are Swastika re duplicated, being complete in each of the two Series, Air and Earth, the lower forms of Masculine and Feminine.

3. See Liber VII, Cap. V, v. 30. It is the cry of the consummated rapture of the Dissolution of any symbol by virtue of Love. FAL is Aleph (AFL, thick darkness; PLA, the Hidden Wonder, a title of Kether.) The whole symbolism of Aleph, 111, must be studied thoroughly. It is especially the equations: One = Zero; and Three = One. Aleph is Iacchus, Lord of Ecstasy; Harpocrates, Lord of Silence: Zeus Arrhenothelus; Bacchus Diphues, Baphomet, etc. Lord of the Two-in-One Love; Parsifal, The Pure Fool, the Wandering Spirit of God, who impregnates the King's Daughter. UT is the title of the Holy Guardian Angel in the Upanishads. C.q.v. also the poem of "UT" in "The Winged Beetle". LI is the Hebrew for "to me". See AL I, v. 51, 53, 61, 62, 63. (L is Atu VIII = {HEB:Lamed} = the Satisfied Woman; I is {HEB:Yod}, Atu IX, the Hermit). See AL II, v. 24 --- The Hidden Virtue which satisfies Her. {GRK:Phi}{GRK:Alpha}{GRK:Lambda}{GRK:Upsilon}{GRK:Tau}{GRK:Lambda}{GRK:Iota} = 1271 = 2542/2. 2542 = {GRK:Theta}{GRK:epsilon}{GRK:lambda}{GRK:eta}{GRK:mu}{GRK:alpha} spelt in full.

4. LIN = {Cancer}{Sagittarius}{Scorpio}{HEB:Nun-final}{HEB:Samekh}{HEB:Chet} is Chassan, ruler of Air; also, Strength. 118 = 2 x 59. 59 = Brethren (referred especially to Lilith and Samael). LIN declares therefore the Twins concealed in Heru-Ra-Ha. 118 is also "to change, pass, renew" and "to ferment"; indicating the Formula of Horus; His first Formula is that of BABALON, for He is as yet within Her womb. But see note on 10th Aire, regarding PARAOAN.

5. See The Equinox, I, VII, page 231. This table contains the names of the Angels of the Seven Planetary Spheres: Shabathiel, Tzedquiel, Madimiel, Shemashiel, Negahal, Kokabiel, and Levaniel. This seven-fold arrangement is of the Sigil of A{'.} A{'.} Babalon. See Book of Lies, Cap. 49. And she is the Mother of Heru-Ra-Ha.

- page 38 -

angels; these angels are of all kinds, --- some brilliant and flashing as gods, down to elemental creatures. The light comes and goes on the tablet; and now it is steady, and I perceive that each letter of the tablet is composed of forty-nine other letters, in a language which looks like that of Honorius; but when I would read, the letter that I look at becomes indistinct at once.

And now there comes an Angel, to hide the tablet with his mighty wing. This Angel has all the colours mingled in his dress; his head is proud and beautiful; his headdress is of silver and red and blue and gold and black, like cascades of water, and in his left hand he has a pan-pipe of the seven holy metals, upon which he plays{SUP:1}. I cannot tell you how wonderful the music is, but it is so wonderful that one only lives in one's ears; one cannot see anything any more.

Now he stops playing and moves with his finger in the air. His finger leaves a trail of fire of every colour, so that the whole Aire is become like a web of mingled lights. But through it all drops dew{SUP:2}.

(I can't describe these things at all. Dew doesn't represent what I mean in the least. For instance, these drops of dew are enormous globes, shining like the full moon, only perfectly transparent, as well as perfectly luminous.)

And now he shows the tablet again, and he says: As there are 49 letters in the tablet, so are there 49 kinds of cosmos in every thought of God. And there are 49 interpretations of every cosmos, and each interpretation is manifested in 49 ways. Thus also are the calls 49{SUP:3}, but to each call there are 49 visions. And each vision is composed of 49 elements, except in the 10th Aethyr, that is accursed, and that hath 42{SUP:4}.

All this while the dewdrops have turned into cascades of gold finer than the eyelashes of a little child{SUP:5}. And though the extent of the Aethyr is so enormous, one perceives each hair separately, as well as the whole thing at once{SUP:6}. And now there is a

1. This "Angel" is in fact PAN. See the 9th Aire "unto All hath she born him."
2. This "dew" is the Supernal Lion-Serpent in his Menstruum of liquid Pearl.
3. 42 is the number of the Demiurge (see Genesis I), of the Assessors of the Dead (see any book on Egyptian religion), of the Sterile Mother {HEB:Aleph}{HEB:Mem}{HEB:Aleph}, of Terror and Destruction {HEB:Heh}{HEB:Heh}{HEB:Lamed}{HEB:Bet}, of loss ({HEB:Yod}{HEB:Lamed}{HEB:Bet}), of the verb "to cease" ({HEB:Lamed}{HEB:Dalet}{HEB:Chet}), and of {HEB:Dalet}{HEB:Lamed}{HEB:Tzaddi-final}, the Earth of Malkuth. It is connected with the 10th Aethyr. See _Equinox_ I, VII, pages 229-243, for the whole symbolism.
4. See _Equinox_ I, VIII, pp. 99-128.
5. The Solar Child develops from the "Dew".
6. These violations of Normal Logic are stigmatic of most of the higher types of Spiritual Experience. There must be no muddle; that is the usual mistake made by most Mystics. Confused thought is the evil and averse image of the One Clear Light.

- page 39 -

mighty concourse of angels rushing toward me from every side, and they melt upon the surface of the egg in which I am standing in the form of the god Kneph{SUP:1}, so that the surface of the egg is all one dazzling blaze of liquid light.

Now I move up against the tablet, --- I cannot tell you with what rapture. And all the names of God, that are not known even to the angels{SUP:2}, clothe me about.

All the seven senses are transmuted into one sense, and that sense is dissolved in itself ...{SUP:3} (Here occurs Samadhi.) ... Let me speak, O God; let me declare it ... all. It is useless; my heart faints, my breath stops. There is no link between me and P . . .{SUP:4} I withdraw myself. I see the table again.

(He was behind the table for a very long time{SUP:5}. O.V.)

And all the table burns with intolerable light; there has been no such light in any of the Aethyrs until now. And now the table draws me back into itself; I am no more.

My arms were out in the form of a cross, and that Cross was extended, blazing with light into infinity. I myself am the minutest point in it. This is _the birth of form_{SUP:6}.

I am encircled by an immense sphere of many-coloured bands; it seems it is the sphere of the Sephiroth projected in the three dimensions. This is _the birth of death_{SUP:7}.

Now in the centre within me is a glowing sun. That is _the birth of hell_{SUP:8}.

Now all that is swept away, washed away by the table. It is the virtue of the table to sweep everything away. It is the letter

-
1. The winged Egg, the omniform Zero (0x) from which all positive manifestation comes.
 2. This experience is perfectly clear and definite, to the peculiar type of higher consciousness which is aware of it.
 3. These are those of the Table itself, read across or down, instead of diagonally, as is done to obtain the names given in note 5, p. 32. See also LXXXIV (page 231).
 4. Perdurabo, the Motto (in the Outer Order) of the Seer. Even below the True Consciousness with the material and intellectual basis of him.
 5. i.e. The Seer was in Samadhi; the Table had been a Veil of the Infinite.
 6. Form is the conception of the Self in extension.
 7. Death is the conception of the Self extended, not into the positive balanced cross, but into the negative circle (or sphere) of Nuit.
 8. For Hell, see Liber Aleph. Hell, is the Secret Centre of the Self. One perceives one's Star as one's True Self.

- page 40 -

I in this Aethyr that gives this vision, and L is its purity, and N is its energy{SUP:1}. Now everything is confused, for I invoked the Mind, that is disruption{SUP:2}. Every Adept who beholds this vision is corrupted by mind. Yet it is by virtue of mind that he endures it, and passes on, if so be that he pass on. Yet there is nothing higher than this, for it is perfectly balanced in itself. I cannot read a word of the holy Table, for the letters of the Table are all wrong. They are only the shadows of shadows. And whoso beholdeth this Table with this rapture, is light. The true word for light hath seven letters. They are the same as ARARITA, transmuted{SUP:3}.

There is a voice in this Aethyr, but it cannot be spoken. The only way one can represent it is as a ceaseless thundering of the word Amen. It is not a repetition of Amen, because there is no time. It is one Amen continuous{SUP:4}.

Shall mine eye fade before thy glory? I am the eye. That is why the eye is seventy{SUP:5}. You can never understand why, except in this vision{SUP:6}.

And now the table recedes from me. Far, far it goes, streaming with light. And there are two black angels bending over me, covering me with their wings, shutting me up into the darkness; and I am lying in the Pastos of our Father Christian Rosenkreutz, beneath the Table in the Vault of seven sides. And I hear these words:

The voice of the Crowned Child, the Speech of the Babe that is hidden in the egg of blue{SUP:7}. (Before me is the flaming Rosy Cross.) I have opened mine eye, and the universe is dissolved

1. {ENO:j} = {Sagittarius}. The Rainbow is connected with the Sevenfold projection. {ENO:l} = {Moon} decreasing in {Cancer}. Luna, when active, always purifies. It is the passive Moon that may be "evil"; i.e. when she reflects not the Sun, her Lord, but divers spectres of the Night. {ENO:n} = {Mars} in {Scorpio}, the type of energy which informs Vision. {Mars} in {Taurus} would cause action.
2. The Seer had begun to analyze the conceptions presented to him by the Vision. Instantly the internal coherence of its Unity was destroyed. The next two phrases show that this is a difficulty peculiar to this Vision.
3. {HEB:Resh}{HEB:Aleph}{HEB:Yod}{HEB:Aleph}{HEB:Vau}{HEB:Taw}
 {HEB:Aleph}{HEB:Yod} the essence of the Yod girt by Sun's tending inwardly upon it.
 {HEB:Resh}{HEB:Aleph}{HEB:Yod}{HEB:Aleph}{HEB:Resh} (?) = 412 =
 {HEB:Taw}{HEB:Yod}{HEB:Bet} = {HEB:Bet} = {Mercury}. For ultimately Kether and Sol are not Light. Light is a duplex vibration, energized by Them and is, _therefore_, of their Messenger, Mercury. (Alostrael's notebook has a different version from Yorke's "...energized by Them and is {'.}' of their Messenger Mercury." --- Copyist's note.)
4. AUMGN (See explanation in _Book 4_, Part III).
5. {HEB:Nun-final}{HEB:Yod}{HEB:Ayin} = an Eye = {HEB:Ayin} = 70.
6. The general idea is perhaps this: 70 = {HEB:Heh}{HEB:Samekh}{HEB:Heh} Hush! and {HEB:Lamed}{HEB:Yod}{HEB:Lamed}, Night, and {HEB:Dalet}{HEB:Vau}{HEB:Samekh} The Secret. The Glory is so great that it cannot be manifested by any positive means.
7. Heru-Ra-Ha.

- page 41 -

before me, for force is mine upper eye-lid and matter is my lower eye- lid{SUP:1}. I gaze into the seven spaces, and there is naught{SUP:2}.

The rest of it comes without words; and then again:

I have gone forth to war, and I have slain him that sat upon the sea, crowned with the winds{SUP:3}. I put forth my power and he was broken. I withdrew my power and he was ground into fine dust.

Rejoice with me, O ye Sons of the Morning; stand with me upon the Throne of Lotus{SUP:4}; gather yourselves up unto me, and we shall play together in the fields of light. I have passed into the Kingdom of the West after my Father{SUP:6}.

Behold! where are now the darkness and the terror and the lamentation? For ye are born into the new Aeon; ye shall not suffer death{SUP:7}. Bind up your girdles of gold! Wreath yourselves with garlands of my unfading flowers! In the nights we will dance together, and in the morning we will go forth to war; for, as my Father liveth that was dead, so do I live and shall never die{SUP:8}.

And now the table comes rushing back. It covers the whole stone, but this time it pushes me before it, and a terrible voice cries: Begone! Thou hast profaned the mystery; thou hast eaten of the shew-bread; thou hast spilt the consecrated wine{SUP:9}! Begone! For the Voice is accomplished. Begone! For that which was open is

1. These ideas are complementary; when they combine they produce positive manifestation, which covers up the Glance of the Eye of Shiva, which annihilates all external existence.
2. The Seven spaces are the "Palaces" which contain the Sephiroth.
3. This is the foe of Horus, the Dweller of Nile. The winds which crown him are not the pure powers of Air of Libra, but the cloudy (mixed) forces of Aquarius, opposite in the Zodiac to Leo, the sign of Horus.
4. The Energy of Horus destroys indeed, but must be withdrawn to complete the work, for His rays, if left in their object, would keep it vitalized. The coherence of the broken matter must be withdrawn.
5. Harpocrates stands or sits upon the Lotus, his fortress against the malice of the Water-demon.
6. Osiris has been chased into Amennti by Horus, who follows him thither, that his reign may be established even in the realms of "Death". In the New Aeon, Death is become Life Triumphant, not through Resurrection, but in its own Essence.
7. See last note. The Thelemite does not "suffer death". He is eternal and perceives Himself the Universe, by virtue of the _categories_ of Life and Death, which are not real but subjective forms of his artistic presentation.
8. Osiris, tricked into the belief in death, had to overcome it by Magick, the Formula IAO.
9. The Seer has erred, it seems, by translating the Doctrine into intelligible symbols. for this is likely to cause a new "Fall" into the barren kingdoms of Ratiocination.

- page 42 -

shut. And thou shalt not avail to open it, saving by virtue of him whose name is one, whose spirit is one, whose individuum is one, and whose permutation is one{SUP:1}; whose light is one, whose life is one, whose love is one. For though thou art joined to the inmost mystery of the heaven, thou must accomplish the sevenfold task of the earth, even as thou sawest the Angels from the greatest unto the least. And of all this shalt thou take back with thee but a little part, for the sense shall be darkened, and the shrine re-veiled. Yet know this for thy reproof, and for the stirring up of discontent in them whose swords are of lath{SUP:2}, that in every word of this vision is concealed the key of many mysteries, even of being, and of knowledge, and of bliss{SUP:3}; of will, of courage, of wisdom, and of silence{SUP:4}, and of that which, being all these, is greater than all these. Begone! For the night of life is fallen upon thee. And the veil of light hideth that which is.

With that, I suddenly see the world as it is, and I am very sorrowful.

Bou-Sada.

November 28, 1909. 4-6 p.m.

(_Note_. --- You do not come back in any way dazed; it is like going from one room into another. Regained normal consciousness completely and immediately.)

1. ARARITA (--- a name of God, which is a Notariqon of the sentence: "One is His beginning; One is his Individuality; His Permutation One.") The use of this Name and Formula is to equate and identify every idea with its opposite; thus being released from the obsession of thinking any one of them as "true" (and therefore binding); one can withdraw oneself from the whole sphere of the Ruach. See _Liber 813, vel Ararita._ Contrast each verse of Cap. I with the corresponding verse of Cap. II for the first of these methods. Thus in Cap. III (stil verse by verse correspondence) the Quintessence of the ideas is extracted; and in Cap. IV they are withdrawn each one into the one beyond it. In Cap. V they have disappeared into the Method itself. In Cap. VI they reappear in the Form appointed by the Will of the Adept. Lastly, in Cap. VII they are dissolved, one into the next until all finally disappear in the Fire Qadosh, the Quintessence of Reality.

2. Those whose analytical methods are incapable of destroying Illusion. This insistence on the Virtue of the Vision is intended to encourage them to make greater efforts.

3. Sat-Chit-Ananda.

4. The Sphinx.

- page 43 -

The Cry of the 21st Aethyr, Which is Called ASP{SUP:1}.

A mighty wind rolls through all the Aethyr; there is a sense of absolute emptiness; no colour, no form, no substance. Only now and then there seem as it were, the shadows of great angels, swept along. No sound; there is something very remorseless about the wind, passionless, that is very terrible. In a way, it is nerve-shaking. It seems as if something kept on trying to open behind the wind, and just as it is about to open, the effort is exhausted. The wind is not cold or hot; there is no sense of any kind connected with it. One does not even feel it, for one is standing in front of it.

Now, the thing opens behind, just for a second, and I catch a glimpse of an avenue of pillars, and at the end a throne, supported by sphinxes. All this is black marble{SUP:2}.

Now I seem to have gone through the wind, and to be standing before the throne; but he that sitteth thereon is invisible. Yet it is from him that all this desolation proceeds{SUP:3}.

He is trying to make me understand by putting tastes in my mouth, very rapidly one after the other. Salt, honey, sugar{SUP:4},

1. ASP = {Taurus}{Virgo}{Leo} = {HEB:Vau}{HEB:Yod}{HEB:Tet} = 25 = {HEB:Dalet}{HEB:Vau}{HEB:Heh}{HEB:Yod} = Jehevid, God of Geburah of Briah = {HEB:Aleph}{HEB:Vau}{HEB:Yod}{HEB:Chet} The Beast. The aire shows the supplanting of that by this. (A's MS. has "Mythus (?)\" for "by this".) Taurus is Osiris. Virgo the Virgin (the lonely one). These are the Dying God symbols, which Leo --- the Lion, Atu XI, The Beast --- replaces.

2. This setting symbolizes the Way of Time in the Temple of Inscrutable Destiny.

3. This Deity is Necessity or Fate. This whole Aire is of a metaphysic more difficult to understand than any of the earlier. The student must have finally shut out of his mind not only the crude ideas of Good and Evil, but the most fundamental logical conceptions, such as that of being obliged to think of a state of mind, or an individual, as being true to itself. This God is at the same time an Abomination and a supreme Overlord. One may indeed say that the student ought to be in a state not far from Samadhi before meditating the meaning of the Aire.

4. Salt Water or Earth, probably M

Honey Bees: feminine symbol. Binah. Probably E

(This E is not a real vowel. It enables consonants to join with the minimum of disturbance. This is exactly the role of the feminine passive element.)

 Sugar Venus D
 Assafoetida Saturn --- Capricornus = {HEB:Ayin} {Taurus}
 Bitumen Fiery --- Water = {HEB:Nun-final} N
 Honey E
 Unknown Possibly Kether St
 Garlic Saturnian element of Venus L
 (footnote continues on next page)

- page 44 -

assafoetida, bitumen, honey again, some taste that I don't know at all; garlic, something very bitter like nux vomica, another taste, still more bitter; lemon, cloves, rose-leaves, honey again; the juice of some plant, like a dandelion, I think; honey again, salt, a taste something like phosphorus, honey, laurel, a very unpleasant taste which I don't know, coffee, then a burning taste, then a sour taste that I don't know. All these tastes issue from his eyes; he _signals_them.

I can see his eyes now. They are very round, with perfectly black pupils, perfectly white iris, and the cornea pale blue. The sense of desolation is so acute that I keep on trying to get away from the vision{SUP:1}.

I told him that I could not understand his taste-language, so instead he set up a humming very much like a big electric plant with dynamos going.

Now the atmosphere is deep night-blue; and by the power of that atmosphere, the pillars kindle to a dull glowing crimson, and the throne is a dull, ruddy gold{SUP:2}. And now, through the humming, come very clear, bell-like notes, and farther still a muttering, like that of a gathering storm.

And now I hear the meaning of the muttering: I am he who was (footnote # 4 from page 44 continues)

Nux vomica Tonic. Geburah.
 Still more bitter.
 Lemon Mercury
 Cloves Venus --- earthy. Taurus U or V
 Rose Leaves Venus. Mercury I
 Honey E
 Dandelion Solar. Tiphereth O
 Honey E
 Salt M
 Phosphorus Sol. Leo or Geburah Th
 Honey E
 Laurel Apollo R
 Very unpleasant --- ? --- the insipidness of Mercury I

Coffee Stimulant --- wakeful. Erectile {Taurus}

Burning Scorpio N

Sour End of oxidation --- acid --- Sagittarius S

Translation: "The Earth is sick of love; with disease and death is she sick ... the natural lust, fierce as it is, is not enough; virgins, boys woman (make men) sick, weak of semen and sick. The earth shall be cured of her sickness by true Art-of-Sun, and thine own pleasures, and thou ..., shall abolish the world's woe, and bring on the Age of Righteousness.

1. Black, white, and pale blue, there is no _warmth_ in Destiny. It is intolerable to see the mere mechanism of life.
2. Now comes the warm Night-Blue of Nuit and of Ra-Hoor-Khuit. The pillars assume the crimson of Binah, and the throne, the gold of Tiphereth. Thus is it as if Ra-Hoor-Khuit were alive in the midst of the Womb of His Mother.

- page 45 -

before the beginning, and in my desolation I cried aloud, saying, let me behold my countenance in the concave of the abyss{SUP:1}. And I beheld, and lo! in the darkness of the abyss my countenance was black, and empty, and distorted{SUP:2}, that was (once) invisible and pure.

Then I closed mine eye, that I might not behold it, and for this was it fixed. Now it is written that one glance of mine eye shall destroy it{SUP:3}. And mine eye I dare not open, because of the foulness of the vision. Therefore do I gaze with these two eyes throughout the aeon{SUP:4}. Is there not one of all my adepts that shall come unto me, and cut off mine eyelids, that I may behold and destroy{SUP:5}?

Now I take a dagger, and, searching out his third eye, seek to cut off the eye-lids, but they are of adamant. And the edge of the dagger{SUP:6} is turned.

And tears{SUP:7} drop from his eyes, and there is a mournful voice: So it hath been ever: so must it ever be! Though thou hast the strength of five bulls, thou shalt not avail in this{SUP:8}.

And I said to him: Who shall avail? And he answered me: I know not{SUP:9}. But the dagger of penance{SUP:10} thou shalt temper seven times, afflicting the seven courses of thy soul. And thou shalt sharpen its edge seven times by the seven ordeals.

1. cf. the account of the beginning in the Upanishads.
2. See Eliphaz Levi's drawing of the two Countenances.
3. The Shivaite Dogma.
4. cf. the Qabalah. The Most Holy Ancient One has One Eye: Microprosophus two.
5. Shiva again. For the eyelids, see above, the 22nd Aire, the speech of the Babe Horus.
6. This minor elemental weapon is evidently useless against fundamental ideas like force and matter, of which it is itself but a trivial complex.
7. Binah, mother of Sorrow, the tears from the Great Sea, Her symbol. The first issue of Understanding is the trance of Sorrow.
8. The Bull = {Taurus} = {HEB:Vau} = V. The Motto of the Seer as in the Grade of Binah 8x =

3{square x}, is V.V.V.V.V., the five Bulls. He had already chosen this motto, through he had refused to accept the Grade when offered to him three years before by the Chiefs. We now approach those Aethyrs in which his full Initiation to that Grade was accomplished.

9. I = {HEB:Yod}{HEB:Nun}{HEB:Aleph} = 61. Know = No = {HEB:Aleph} {HEB:Lamed} = 31. Not = {HEB:Nun-final}{HEB:Yod}{HEB:Aleph} = 61. Also I know not --- I know that which is Not. Such are the roots of the Equation of Ambiguity, used often by Higher Intelligences (especially in _The Book of the Law_, q.v.) to prove their identity as Individuals separate from the Seer, and superior to him.

10. This rebukes the Seer for having tried to use the elemental Dagger. Perhaps the four sevens in the injunction refer to Netzach, Victory. For Netzach = 7; and 28 = {GRK:Sigma}1-7 as well as 4x7, 28 is a "perfect" number; its factors add up to itself.

- page 46 -

(One keeps on looking round to try to find something else because of the terror of it. But nothing changes{SUP:1} at all. Nothing but the empty throne, and the eyes, and the avenue of pillars!)

And I said to him: O thou that art the first countenance before time{SUP:2}; thou of whom it is written that "He, God, is one; He is the eternal one, without equal, son or companion. Nothing shall stand before His face{SUP:3}"; all we have heard of thine infinite glory and holiness, of thy beauty and majesty, and behold! there is nothing but this abomination of desolation.

He speaks; I cannot hear a word; something about _The Book of the Law_. The answer is written in _The Book of the Law_, or something of that sort{SUP:4}.

This is a long speech; all that I can hear is: From me pour down the fires of life and increase continually upon the earth. From me flow down the rivers of water and oil and wine. From me cometh forth the wind that beareth the seed of trees and flowers and fruits and all herbs upon its bosom. From me cometh forth the earth in her unspeakable variety. Yea! all cometh from me, naught cometh to me. Therefore am I lonely and horrible upon this unprofitable throne. Only those who accept nothing from me can bring anything to me.

(He goes on speaking again: I cannot hear a word. I may have got about a twentieth of what he said.) And I say to him: It was written that his name is Silence, but thou speakest continually.

And he answers: Nay, the muttering that thou hearest is not my voice. It is the voice of the ape{SUP:5}.

(When I say that he answers, it means that it is the same voice. The being on the throne has not uttered a word.) I say: O thou ape that speakest for Him whose name is Silence, how shall I know that thou speakest truly His thought? And the muttering continues: Nor speaketh He nor thinketh, so that which I say is true, because I lie in speaking His thoughts{SUP:6}.

1. That is the extreme horror: for Change is Life, the issue of love.
2. {HEB:Nun-final}{HEB:Yod}{HEB:Peh}{HEB:Nun}{HEB:Aleph} {HEB:Koph-final}{HEB:Yod}{HEB:Resh}{HEB:Aleph} The Great Countenance (which beheld not Countenance).
3. The Chapter of the Unity, in the Qu'ran.

4. This may refer to the Formula $0 = 2$.
5. Kether, of course, does not speak. His Nature is made apparent by Thoth, the Logos, the Creative Word. But this Word must evidently be false, since He is Silence. Thoth, however, is himself accompanied by the Cynocephalos, the dog-headed Ape, who imitates and caricatures all His actions, and misinterprets His speech.
6. The idea is that Truth may be stated by denying a falsehood. This lands us in the quagmires of "Zigzagginess", the paradox of Epaminoneas, et hoc genus omne. One great point of the Initiated Doctrine is that the Ruach (the Mechanism of Thought) is in its essential nature self-contradictory. From now on, the Angels of the Aethyrs begin to speak in the language of Neshamah; they use the logic which pertains above the Abyss. The student will, accordingly, find statements which must be reversed and reversed again and again; both are true and false at once; neither is true or false --- and so on.

- page 47 -

He goes on, nothing stops him; and the muttering comes so fast that I cannot hear him at all.

Now the muttering has ceased, or is overwhelmed by the bells, and the bells in their turn are overwhelmed by the whirring, and now the whirring is overwhelmed by the silence. And the blue light is gone, and the throne and the pillars are returned to blackness, and the eyes of him that sitteth upon the throne are no more visible.

I seek to go up close to the throne, and I am pushed back, because I cannot give the sign. I have given all the signs I know and am entitled to{SUP:1}, and I have tried to give the sign that I know and am not entitled to{SUP:2}, but have not the necessary appurtenance; and even if I had, it would be useless; for there are two more signs necessary{SUP:3}.

I find that I was wrong in suggesting{SUP:4} that a Master of the Temple had a right to enter the temple of a Magus or an Ipsissimus. On the contrary, the rule that holds below, holds also above. The higher you go, the greater is the distance from one grade to another{SUP:5}.

I am being slowly pushed backwards down the avenue, out into the wind. And this time I am caught up by the wind and whirled away down it like a dead leaf.

And a great Angel sweeps through the wind, and catches hold of me, and bears me up against it; and he sets me down on the hither side of the wind, and he whispers in my ear: Go thou forth into the world, O thrice and four times blessed who hast gazed upon the horror of the loneliness of The First{SUP:6}. No man shall look upon his face and live. And thou hast seen his eyes, and understood his heart, for the voice of the ape is the pulse of his heart and the labouring of his breast. Go, therefore, and rejoice, for thou art the prophet of the Aeon arising, wherein He is not{SUP:7}.

1. The sign of the Grades up to $7x = 4\{\text{square } x\}$.
2. the sign of $8x = 3\{\text{square } x\}$.
3. The signs of $9x = 2\{\text{square } x\}$ and $10x = 1\{\text{square } x\}$; necessary because this Vision pertains to Kether.
4. See the "Wake World" in _Konx Om Pax_.

5. See _One Star in Sight_.
6. Observe the point-of-view, so totally opposite to any ever previously set forth, about the psychology of Kether.
7. In the Ontology of the New Aeon, whose prime theorem is $0 = 2$, Kether exists only as the Child of any Marriage of one particular Hadit with one particular aspect of Nuit. There are thus as many Kethers as there are positive possibilities. More, Kether is not in any case a sole Unity, for each Marriage produces a Twin, {HEB:Heh} + {HEB:Yod} = {HEB:Heh} + {HEB:Vau}. There is a positive "Third Being", a Kether; and there is an Ecstasy, or dissolution into Nothing, by the same Event. One is the Magical, the other the Mystical, Result of an Act of Love under Will.

- page 48 -

Give thou praise unto thy lady Nuit, and unto her lord Hadit, that are for thee and thy bride, and the winners of the ordeal X{SUP:1}.

And with that we are come to the wall of the Aethyr, and there is a little narrow gate, and he pushes me through it, and I am suddenly in the desert.

The Desert, near Bou Sada{SUP:2}.

November 29, 1909. 1:30 - 2:50 p.m.

The Cry of the 20th Aethyr, Which is Called KHR{SUP:3}

The dew that was upon the face of the stone is gone, and it is become like a pool of clear golden water. And now the light is come into the Rosy Cross. Yet all that I see is the night, with the stars therein, as they appear through a telescope{SUP:4}. And there cometh a peacock{SUP:5} into the stone, filling the whole Aire. It is like the vision called the Universal Peacock, or, rather, like a representation of that vision. And now there are countless clouds of white angels{SUP:6} filling the Aire as the peacock dissolves.

Now behind the angels are archangels with trumpets. These cause all things to appear at once, so that there is a tremendous confusion of images. And now I perceive that all these things are but veils of the wheel, for they all gather themselves{SUP:7} into a

1. See _Liber AL_ III, v. 22.
2. this night I took the shew-stone to my breast to sleep, and immediately a Dhyana arose of the sun, seen more clearly afterwards as the Star. Exceeding was its brilliance.
3. KHR = {Dee}{Air}{Gemini} = {HEB:Shin}{HEB:Aleph}{HEB:Vau} = 308. (N.B. by Temurah, R.H.K. = Ra-Hoor-Khuit). 308 = 28 x 11. 28 = {HEB:Chet}{HEB:Koph} = {Cancer}{Jupiter} (Jupiter is exalted in Cancer) means Power. And 29 is the "mystic number" of Netzach, Victory, the Sephira that hangs from the Sphere of Jupiter, by the path of Jupiter, Atu X, the Wheel of Fortune. This Atu is the main subject of the vision in this Aethyr. In this Aethyr the Solar Body (Ruach --- the human consciousness) of the Seer was prepared for the Great Initiation which follows, as in the 27th Aire his Lunar Body (Nephesh --- automatic Consciousness) was purified.

4. These preliminary visions are veils.
5. The bird sacred to Juno, the feminine counterpart of Jupiter, whose Energy is about to appear.
6. The Chasmalim, "The brilliant ones", are the Chior of Angels which pertain to Jupiter.
7. This unification is necessary to all true comprehension.

- page 49 -

wheel{SUP:1} that spins with incredible velocity. It hath many colours, but all thrilled with white light, so that they are transparent and luminous. This one wheel is forty-nine wheels, set at different angles, so that they compose a sphere; each wheel has forty-nine spokes, and has forty-nine {SUP:2} concentric tyres at equal distances from the centre. And wherever the rays from any two wheels meet, there is a blinding flash of glory. It must be understood that though so much detail is visible in the wheel, yet at the same time the impression is of a single, simple object.

It seems that this wheel is being spun by a hand{SUP:3}. Though the wheel fills the whole Aire, yet the hand is much bigger than the wheel. And though this vision is so great and splendid, yet there is no seriousness with it, or solemnity. It seems that the hand is spinning the wheel merely for pleasure, it would be better to say amusement.

A voice comes: For he is a jocund and a ruddy god, and his laughter is the vibration of all that exists, and the earthquakes of the soul.

One is conscious of the whirring of the wheel thrilling one, like an electric discharge passing through one.

Now I see the figures on the wheel, which have been interpreted as the sworded Sphinx, Hermanubis and Typhon{SUP:4}. And that is wrong. The rim of the wheel is a vivid emerald snake; in the centre of the wheel is a scarlet heart; and, impossible to explain as it is, the scarlet of the heart and the green of the snake are yet more vivid than the blinding white brilliance of the wheel{SUP:5}.

1. The Wheel of Fortune (so called); Atu X is the Wheel of the Samsara whose spokes are the Three Gunas, the three fundamental Modes of Energy, Sattvas, Rajas, and Tamas. See also _Book of Lies_, Cap. 78.
2. The symbolism of the Table (see 22nd Aire) still retains its prominence. 7 is the number of the Inferiors, of the Feminine Perfection. $3 \times 49 = 147 = \{\text{HEB:Heh}\}\{\text{HEB:Vau}\}\{\text{HEB:Heh}\}\{\text{HEB:Yod}\} + \{\text{HEB:Heh}\}\{\text{HEB:Yod}\}\{\text{HEB:Heh}\}\{\text{HEB:Aleph}\} + \{\text{HEB:Aleph}\}\{\text{HEB:Lamed}\}\{\text{HEB:Gemel}\}\{\text{HEB:Aleph}\} + \{\text{HEB:Yod}\}\{\text{HEB:Nun}\}\{\text{HEB:Dalet}\}\{\text{HEB:Aleph}\} =$ the Four Names of god used in the Lesser Ritual of the Pentagram. Thus there is here the symbolism of the Fourfold Regimen (Tetragrammaton) implied in $3 \times 7 \times 7$.
3. Hand = $\{\text{HEB:Yod}\} = \{\text{HEB:Dalet}\}\{\text{HEB:Vau}\}\{\text{HEB:Yod}\} = 20 = K = 4$. But also the first is itself K. There is, however, an esoteric doctrine in this phrase. $\{\text{HEB:Yod}\}$ is the spermatozoon, the source of all Spiritual Energy, the Minute Point, Hadit, the foundation of the Alphabet, (Hebrew). But also $K = \{\text{HEB:Peh-final}\}\{\text{HEB:Koph}\} = 100 = 10 \times 10 = \{\text{HEB:Yod}\} \times \{\text{HEB:Yod}\}$; and K and P are the initials of Ketis and $\{\text{GRK:theta}\}\{\text{GRK:alpha}\}\{\text{GRK:lambda}\}\{\text{GRK:lambda}\}\{\text{GRK:omicron}\}\{\text{GRK:sigma}\}$ whose union releases {HEB:Yod}. Thus the Universe is shown as being set in motion by Love under Will. See _Book of Lies_, Cap. 43.

4. See the usual drawing of Atu X by minor initiates.

5. The symbolism here assumes the form of _Liber LXV_. It is simpler and therefore more difficult than the sevenfold. The counter charges become more frequent; the Seer is being led up to the state in which opposites are not only equal, but identical.

- page 50 -

The figures on the wheel are darker than the wheel itself; in fact, they are stains upon the purity of the wheel, and for that reason, and because of the whirling of the wheel, I cannot see them. But at the top seems to be the Lamb and Flag, such as one sees on some Christian medals, and one of the lower things is a wolf, and the other a raven. The Lamb and Flag symbol is much brighter than the other two. It keeps on growing brighter, until now it is brighter than the wheel itself, and occupies more space than it did.

It speaks: I am the greatest of the deceivers, for my purity and innocence shall seduce the pure and innocent, who but for me should come to the centre of the wheel{SUP:1}. The wolf betrayeth only the greedy and the treacherous; the raven betrayeth only the melancholy and the dishonest {SUP:2}. But I am he of whom it is written: He shall deceive the very elect.

For in the beginning the Father of all called forth lying spirits that they might sift the creatures of the earth in three sieves, according to the three impure souls. And he chose the wolf for the lust of the flesh, and the raven for the lust of the mind; but me did he choose above all to simulate the pure prompting of the soul{SUP:3}. Them that are fallen a prey to the wolf and the raven I have not scathed; but them that have rejected me, I have given over to the wrath of the raven and the wolf{SUP:4}. And the jaws of the one have torn them, and the beak of the other has devoured the corpse. Therefore is my flag white, because I have left nothing upon the earth alive. I have feasted myself on the blood of the saints, but I am not suspected of men to be their enemy, for my fleece is white and warm, and my teeth are not the teeth of one that teareth flesh; and mine eyes are mild, and they know me not the chief of the lying spirits that the Father of all sent forth from before his face in the beginning{SUP:5}.

1. All unbalanced symbols are necessarily evil. They distract the attention from the true object of Vision, and so destroy Concentration.

2. Note that no hostile force is hurtful. The enemy is always oneself.

3. The attacks are against Nephesh, Ruach, and Neshama respectively.

4. When the aspiration (Neshama), the natural protection against all lower forces, is sullied, befooled, or weakened, the wretch becomes an easy prey to grosser forms of temptation. We see in fact only too often that a man of the utmost probity and intellectual integrity, who errs in some strictly spiritual matter, lose every trace of rationality, and throw off all moral restraint, becoming the helpless victim of ludicrous and hideous temptations which had never threatened him before in his whole life. His nature is so radically corrupted that his friends believe him to have become insane. But his fall is quite logical, as a tumbling steeple may crush the perfectly sound structures beneath it.

5. It is the superficial appeal of the idea of "Jesus" to the sentimental type of aspiration (the vilest parody of Neschamah is this pollution by the least virile elements of Nephesh) that has made possible the corruption implied in the doctrines of Sin and Vicarious Atonement. From this error have sprung the putrefaction of the reasoning faculties, and the suppression of all clear thinking, and the abominations of greed, persecution and the rest.

- page 51 -

(His attribution is salt; the wolf mercury, and the raven sulphur{SUP:1}.)

Now the lamb grows small again, there is again nothing but the wheel, and the hand that whirleth it.

And I said: "By the word of power, double in the voice of the Master; by the word that is seven, and one in seven; and by the great and terrible word 210{SUP:2}, I beseech thee, O my Lord, to grant me the vision of thy glory." And all the rays of the wheel stream out at me, and I am blasted and blinded with the light. I am caught up into the wheel. I am one with the wheel. I am greater than the wheel{SUP:3}. In the midst of a myriad lightnings I stand, and I behold his face. (I am thrown violently back on to the earth every second, so that I cannot quite concentrate.)

All one gets is a liquid flame of pale gold. But its radiant force keeps hurling me back.

And I say: By the word and the will, by the penance and the prayer, let me behold thy face. (I cannot explain this, there is confusion of personalities.) I who speak to you, see what I tell you; but I, who see him, cannot communicate it to me, who speak to you{SUP:4}.

If one could gaze upon the sun at noon, that might be like the substance of him. But the light is without heat. It is the vision of Ut{SUP:5} in the Upanishads. And from this vision have come all the legends of Bacchus and Krishna and Adonis{SUP:6}. For the impression

-
1. {Salt} for Neschamah; {Mercury} for Ruach; {Sulphur} for Nephesh.
 2. N.O.X. = {HEB:Tzaddi}{HEB:Ayin}{HEB:Nun} = 210. {Earth} represents the reduction of the Dyad to Unity by Love under Will, and thence to 0 by dissolution in Nuit. It is here used by the Seer to destroy all positive symbols, for the true Wheel (apart from ornaments) is the circle, Nuit Herself.
 3. Note the above-the-Abyss-consciousness. Cf. "I who am all, and made it all, abide its separate Lord." (Bhagavad Gita)
 4. This personality-paradox is characteristic of visions of similar exaltation. It constitutes an essential difficulty of expression superadded to that natural to the description of things seen and heard, which are yet not subject to the ordinary Laws of perception.
 5. See previous note on Falutli.
 6. These are Solar, not Jupiterian deities. The Jupiter of the Wheel is that Invisible Energy, whom one can only divine from his Hand, his means of Expression. He is Amoun, the Concealed One, whose plumes are Truth, and whose Phallus is the Middle Pillar, the Shivalingam. We hind accordingly that these Solar Deities, who spring from the manifested Jupiter (as it at first sight appears) are soon recognized in their deeper nature.

- page 52 -

is of a youth dancing and making music. But you must understand that he is not doing that, for he is still{SUP:1}. Even the hand that turns the wheel is not his hand, but only a hand energized by him.

And now it is the dance of Shiva. I lie beneath his feet, his saint, his victim{SUP:2}. My form is the form of the God Phtah{SUP:3}, in my essence, but the form of the god Seb in my form{SUP:4}. And this is the reason of existence, that in this dance which is delight, there must needs be both the god and the adept. Also the earth herself is a saint; and the sun and the moon dance upon her, torturing her with delight.

This vision is not perfect. I am only in the outer court of the vision, because I have undertaken it in the service of the Holy One, and must retain sense and speech{SUP:5}. No recorded vision is perfect, of high visions, for the seer must keep either his physical organs or his memory in working order. And neither is capable. There is no bridge. One can only be conscious of one thing at a time, and as the consciousness moves nearer to the vision, it loses control of the physical and mental. Even so, the body and the mind must be very perfect before anything can be done, or the energy of the vision may send the body into spasms and the mind into insanity. This is why the first visions give Ananda, which is a shock. When the adept is attuned to Samadhi, there is but cloudless peace{SUP:6}.

This vision is particularly difficult to get into, because he is I{SUP:7}. And therefore the human ego is being constantly excited, so that one comes back so often. An acentric meditation practice like mahasatipatthana ought to be done before invocations of the Holy Guardian Angel, so that the ego may be very ready to yield itself utterly to the Beloved.

And now the breeze is blowing about us, like the sighs of love.

-
1. Change = Stability. $2x = 9\{\text{square } x\}$. See the 11th Aethyr. Again this series of paradoxes (implied in the equations $0x = 0\{\text{square } x\}$, $1x = 10\{\text{square } x\}$, etc.) is of the essence of the Aire.
 2. See any true Image of Shiva, who dances upon the Yogi, whom he has destroyed in the Union of Love.
 3. Phtah, the still and silent Creative Energy.
 4. That is, the form of the Seer is now the Earth itself, the Malkuth at the other end of the scale from, yet identical with, His Kether.
 5. See note 5, page 44. Any vision as exalted as this must obviously be indicible. The plastic form of the expression, the definite character of the shapes, colours, and numbers employed, is far better mnemonically than the vaguely beatific outbursts customary in the records usually offered by Mystics.
 6. The psychology of the previous note explained at length.
 7. In previous visions the Angel of the Aethyr has always been peculiar to his Aire. Even in ZAA, where the Angel is Luna, and the Vision represents the lustration of the Lunar Body (the Automatic Consciousness) of the Seer, He was not so wholly involved. For his normal consciousness was above that which the Aethyr affected.

- page 53 -

unsatisfied --- or satisfied. His lips move{SUP:1}. I cannot say the words at first.

And afterwords: "Shalt thou not bring the children of men to the sight of my glory{SUP:2}? 'Only thy

All this time I have been fading away. I sink. The veil of night comes down a dull blue-gray with one pentagram in the midst of it, watery and dull. And I am to abide there for a while before I come back to the earth^{SUP:4}. (But shut me the window up, hide me from the sun. Oh, shut the window!){SUP:5}

It is all dark now. I am lying exhausted{SUP:6}, with the sharp edge of the shew-stone cutting into my forehead.

November 30, 1909. 9:15 - 10:50 a.m.

1. It seems that the seer recognized in this Aethyr, the Knowledge and Conversation of His Holy Guardian Angel.
2. In the Crossing of the Abyss by the Seer ("The Temple Of Solomon the King", _Equinox_ I, No. Viii, pp. 9-13) during his Burma-China journey, he accomplished the meditation called Sammasati. He became aware of his True Will, of the purpose for which he had undertaken Incarnation. And this was expressed thus: to aid Mankind to take the Next Step. And at the time he understood this as meaning: to lead them to aspire to the Knowledge and Conversation of the Holy Guardian Angel.
3. _Liber LXV_ describes this attainment in the fullest detail. The first quotation is from _Liber VII_, Cap. VI, verse 35. The second is from _Liber LXV_, Chapter III, v. 62. (The persons are transposed --- "I" to "Thou", etc.)
4. The splendour of the Vision would have made too rapid a return a shock intolerable to human weakness.
5. It was done. --- O.V.
6. The Seer had not previously experienced so intense a Communion and had contributed his physical energy to maintain it. This was, of course, an error.

(Insert page plate)

IMMMMMMMMMMM	QMMMMMMMMMM	QMMMMMMMMMM	QMMMMMMMMMM	QMMMMMMMMMM	QMMMMMMMMMM	;
:	3	3	+	3	3	:
:	3	3	+	3	3	:
:	The	3 Alphabet	3	3	of	3 Daggers
:	3	3		3	3	:
:	3	3		3	3	:
:	3	3A		3	3	:

```

GDDDDDDDDDDDEDDDDDDDDDDDEDDDDDDDDDDDEDDDDDDDDDDDEDDDDDDDDDD6
:      3      +      3      -----+      3      X      3      |      |      |      :
:  -----+      3      |      3      +-----      3      /  X      3      |      |      |      :
:      3      |      3      -----+      3      /  /  X      3      |      |      |      :
:  -----+      3      |      3      /  /      3      /  /      3      +  |  +      :
: B      3C      3D      3E      /      3F      +      :
GDDDDDDDDDDDEDDDDDDDDDDDEDDDDDDDDDDDEDDDDDDDDDDDEDDDDDDDDDD6
:      +      3      +      3      +      3      X      3      X  X      :
:      |      3      |      3      |      3      /      3      \  /      :
:      |      3      |      3      +--      3      |      3      |      :
:      +      3      +      3      |      3      +      3      +      :
: G      |      3H      3I      +      3J      3K      :
GDDDDDDDDDDDEDDDDDDDDDDDEDDDDDDDDDDDEDDDDDDDDDDDEDDDDDDDDDD6
:      +  +  +      3      |      3      X  +  X      3      +      :
:      |      |      |      3      +      3      +--      |      3      +--      |--      :
:      |      |      |      3      /|\      3      +--      |      3      +--      |--      :
:      +-----      3      X  +  X      3      +--      +      3      /      \      :
: L      3M      3N      3O      X      X      3P      |      :
GDDDDDDDDDDDEDDDDDDDDDDDEDDDDDDDDDDDEDDDDDDDDDDDEDDDDDDDDDD6
:      3      +  X      3      |      3      +  +  +      3      X      :
:      X  X      3      \|  /      3      |      3      |      |      3      /  /      :
:      X  \|      3      \|  \      3      |      3      |      |      3      /  /  X      :
:      \|      3      |  \      3      |      3      |      |      3      X  /      :
: Q      /      3R      +  X      3S      +      3T      3U      /      :
GDDDDDDDDDDDEDDDDDDDDDDDEDDDDDDDDDDDEDDDDDDDDDDDEDDDDDDDDDD6
:      +      3      +  +  +      3      \  /      3      X  X      3      +-----      :
:      +|+      3      |||||      3      X  X      3      /  +  \      3      +-----      :
:      |||      3      |||||      3      X  X      3      /  |  \      3      +-----      :
:      |||      3      +  +  +  +      3      /  \      3      |      3      :
: V      |      3W      3X      3Y      3Z      +-----      :
HMMMMMMMMMMMMMOMMMMMMMMMMMMMMOMMMMMMMMMMMMMMOMMMMMMMMMMMMMMOMMMMMMMMMMMMMM<

```

The Cry of the 19th Aethyr, Which is Called POP{SUP:1}

At first there is a black web over the face of the stone. A ray of light pierces it from behind and above. Then cometh a black cross{SUP:2}, reaching across the whole stone; then a golden cross, not so large. And there is a writing in an arch that spans the cross, in an alphabet in which the letters are all formed of little daggers{SUP:3}, cross-hilted, differently arranged. And the writing is: Worship in the body the things of the body; worship in the mind the things of the mind; worship in the spirit the things of the spirit{SUP:4}.

(This holy alphabet must be written by sinners, that is, by those who are impure.){SUP:5}

"Impure" means those whose every thought is followed by another thought, or who confuse the higher with the lower, the substance with the shadow. Every Aethyr is truth, though it be but a shadow, for the shadow of a man is not the shadow of an ape{SUP:6}.

(_Note_. --- All this has come to me without voice, without vision, without thought.)

1. POP = {Leo}{Libra}{Leo} = {HEB:Tet}{HEB:Lamed}{HEB:Tet}. This Aire introduces the Hegemone, or leader of the Candidate through the Ceremony of Initiation. She is the Holy Guardian Angel, in the form of Isis-Urania, the Instructress. {ENO:p} is {Sun} in his Northern declination, the form of Horus in his strength of Summer. He appears in his dual form, as it were the pillars between which the Hegemone, who bears a mitreheaded wand, symbolical of the Balances, is seated. (See the Neophyte Ceremony ---_Equinox_, I, II, pp. 244-261.) She is the reconciler between all opposites. (See the Ceremony of the Equinox --- given in Equ. I, VII, pp. 372-5). Her function is to equilibrate all symbols in the sphere of the Candidate; this is the one supremely important formula of Instruction. This Aethyr contains accordingly the knowledge (somewhat fragmentary at first sight) necessary to the Aspirant to the Grade of Magister Templi. 48 is {HEB:Lamed}{HEB:Yod}{HEB:Chet}, a woman; also strength, an army. {HEB:Chet} the Bearer of the Graal; and the seed of life; {HEB:Lamed} the Balances, i.e. She bears the Seed of Life in the Holy Cup ion balance. 48 is {HEB:Mem-final}{HEB:Heh} Ham; see the sudden Revelation at the end of the Vision.

2. The Hebemone wears a Black Cross. See also 16th Aire, last paragraph.

3. The idea is that every idea, however apparently atomic, is to be analyzed.

4. Worship all things; for all things are alike necessary to the Being of the All. But keep separate the planes. Failure to do this is the most frequent Cause of error.

5. For purity means full simplification --- and the keeping of each idea in its Own true perfection, separate from all others.

6. Worship each thing in itself for its own sake, not inventing ideas.

(The shew-stone is pressed upon my forehead and causes intense pain; as I go on from Aethyr to Aethyr, it seems more difficult to open the Aethyr.

The golden cross has become a little narrow door, and an old man like the Hermit{SUP:1} of the Taro has opened it and come out. I ask him for admission: and he shakes his head kindly, and says: It is not given to flesh and blood to unveil the mysteries of the Aethyr, for therein are the chariots of fire{SUP:2}. and the tumult of the horsemen; whoso entereth here may never look on life again with equal eyes. I insist.

The little gate is guarded by a great green dragon. And now the whole wall is suddenly fallen away; there is a blaze of the chariots and the horsemen; a furious battle is raging. One hears nothing but the clash of steel and the neighing of the chargers and the shrieks of the wounded. A thousand fall at every encounter and are trampled under foot. Yet the Aethyr is always full; there are infinite reserves.

No; that is all wrong, for this is not a battle between two forces, but a mle in which each warrior fights for himself against all the others. I cannot see one who has even one ally. And the least fortunate, who fall soonest, are those in the chariots. For as soon as they are engaged in fighting, their own charioteers stab them in the back{SUP:3}.

And in the midst of the battlefield there is a great tree, like a chinara-tree{SUP:4}. Yet it bears fruits. And now all the warriors are dead, and they are the ripe fruits that are fallen -- the ground is covered with them.

There is a laugh in my right ear: "This is the tree of life{SUP:5}."

And now there is a mighty god, Sebek{SUP:6}, with the head of a crocodile. His head is gray, like river mud, and his jaws fill the whole Aire. And he crunches up the whole tree and the ground

1. See Note 1. This is the Sphere of Kokab ({Mercury}). Hence the Man of Atu IX.

2. The Chariot (Atu VII) of the Bearer of the Sangraal. (See Note 1). {HEB:Chet} depends from Binah, the sphere of the Hegemone.
3. This seems to be a Vision of the Ideas which the Alphabet of Daggers is to analyze. The confusion suggests the influence of Choronzon. It is a warning of what the Aspirant must expect if he once lose his grip on Binah.
4. One of the noblest trees of Hindustan.
5. The Tree of Life bears fruit of innumerable ideas. They are all self-destroying and valueless unless organized by Understanding.
6. The Saturnian Destroyer --- as opposed to Shiva. Time swallows up all ideas, all experiences, Life itself. That is a statement of the condition which the Exempt Adept aspires to transcend by becoming a Magister Templi.

- page 56 -

and everything.

Now then at last cometh forth the Angel of the Aethyr, who is like the Angel of the fourteenth key of Rota{SUP:1}, with beautiful blue wings, blue robes, the sun in her girdle like a brooch, and the two crescents of the moon shapen into sandals for her feet. Her hair is of flowing gold, each sparkle as a star. In her hands are the torch of Penelope and the cup of Circe{SUP:2}.

She comes and kisses me on the mouth{SUP:3}, and says: Blessed art thou who hast beheld Sebek my Lord in his glory. Many are the champions of life, but all are unhorsed by the lance of death. Many are the children of the light, but their eyes shall all be put out by the Mother Darkness. Many are the servants of love, but love (that is not quenched by aught but love) shall be put out, as the child taketh the wick of a taper between his thumb and finger, by the god that sitteth alone{SUP:4}.

And on her mouth, like a chrysanthemum of radiant light, is a kiss, and on it is the monogram I.H.S. The letters I.H.S. mean In Homini Salus and Instar Hominis Summus, and Imago Hominis deus. And there are many, many other meanings, but they all imply this one thing; that nothing is of any importance but man; there is no hope or help but in man{SUP:5}.

And she says: Sweet are my kisses, O wayfarer that wanderest from star to star. Sweet are my kisses, O householder that weariest within four walls. Thou art pent within thy brain, and my shaft pierceth it, and thou art free. Thine imagination eateth up the universe as the dragon that eateth up the moon. And in my shaft is it concentrated and bound up. See how all around thee gather my warriors, strong knights in goodly armour ready for war. Look upon my crown; it is above the stars. Behold the glow and the blush thereof! Upon thy cheek is the breeze that stirs those plumes of truth. For though I am the Angel of the fourteenth key, I am also the Angel of the eighth key{SUP:6}. And from the love of these two have I come, who am the warden of Pop and the servant of them that dwell therein. Though all crowns fall, mine shall not fall; for my plumes reach up unto the Knees of Him that sitteth upon the holy throne, and liveth and reigneth for ever and

1. She is the Angel of Binah, though in this form. For Atu XIV is Sagittarius, the house of the Huntress.
2. She keeps Love alight by patient Fidelity --- the Holy Guardian Angel awaits eternally the address of Her Charge. And she is also the Arch- harlot, always ready to seduce and to intoxicate him who lusts after Her.

3. Relations with the Seer have been established long ago.

4. The Destruction of the Universe by the Devourer of all Things is the necessary beginning of the Initiation to the Grade of Magister Templi.

5. Man is the Candidate; he partakes of the Truth of all the Gods initiating.

6. See note 2, page 55.

- page 57 -

ever as the balance of righteousness and truth. I am the Angel of the moon. I am the veiled one that sitteth between the pillars veiled with a shining veil, and on my lap is the open Book of the mysteries of the ineffable light{SUP:1}. I am the aspiration unto the higher; I am the love of the unknown. I am the blind ache within the heart of man. I am the minister of the sacrament of pain. I swing the censer of worship, and I sprinkle the waters of purification. I am the daughter of the house of the invisible. I am the Priestess of the Silver Star{SUP:2}.

And she catches me up to her as a mother catches her babe, and holds me up in her left arm, and sets my lips to her breast{SUP:3}. And upon her breast is written: _Rosa Mundi est Lilium Coeli_{SUP:4}.

And I look down upon the open Book of the mysteries, and it is open at the page on which is the Holy Table with the twelve squares in the midst. It radiates a blaze of light, too dazzling to make out the characters, and a voice says: _Non haec piscis omnium_{SUP:5}.

(To interpret that, we must think of '{GRK:Iota}{GRK:chi}{GRK:theta}{GRK:upsilon}'{GRK:sigma}, which does not conceal _Iesous Christos Theon Uios Soter_ as traditionally asserted, but is a mystery of the letter Nun and the letter Qoph, as may be seen by adding it up{SUP:6}.)

('{GRK:Iota}{GRK:chi}{GRK:theta}{GRK:upsilon}'{GRK:sigma} is only connected with Christianity because it was a hieroglyph of syphilis, which the Romans supposed to have been brought from Syria; and it seems to have been confounded with leprosy, which also they thought was caused by fish- eating.)

(One important meaning of '{GRK:Iota}{GRK:chi}{GRK:theta}{GRK:upsilon}'{GRK:sigma}: it is formed of the initials of five Egyptian deities and also of five Greek deities: in

1. See note 1, page 55. She is Isis-Urania, in Atu II. As Atu XIV she leads directly upwards to Tiphereth ({HEB:Vau}), as Atu VII directly upwards to Binah ({HEB:Heh}), and as Atu II, directly upwards to Kether (the top point of {HEB:Yod}).

2. The full title of Atu II. Note "Silver Star" as title of the Third Order. Hence she must appear as Hegemone to lead the Candidate to the first grade of that Order --- Magister Templi.

3. The Babe of the Abyss is taken to its Mother's breast. (There is a reference here to the technique of the grade.)

4. i.e.. Malkut is Binah.

5. '{GRK:Iota}{GRK:chi}{GRK:theta}{GRK:upsilon}'{GRK:sigma} = 1219 = {HEB:Taw}{HEB:Yod}{HEB:Shin}{HEB:Aleph}{HEB:Resh}{HEB:Bet}

{HEB:Resh}{HEB:Zain}{HEB:Vau}{HEB:Yod}. The Former (rock-maker) of that which was in the Beginning. It refers to {HEB:Nun} and {HEB:Qof}: to {HEB:Nun} because the Fish is "Life in the Water", i.e. the Primal Water of Thales: to {HEB:Qof} because Atu XVIII shews that Life appearing in the Waters of Midnight, Kephra in the Pool of Great Dark Sea. This is the Glyph of Birth natural to Binah. There is presumably a further mystery --- numerical --- still not found.

- page 58 -

both cases a magic formula of tremendous power is concealed{SUP:1}.

As to the Holy Table itself, I cannot see it for the blaze of light; but I am given to understand that it appears in another Aethyr, of which it forms practically the whole content. And I am bidden to study the Holy Table very intently so as to be able to concentrate on it when it appears.

I have grown greater, so that I am as great as the Angel. And we are standing, as if crucified, face to face, our hands and lips and breasts and knees and feet together, and her eyes pierce into my eyes like whirling shafts of steel, so that I fall backwards headlong through the Aethyr {SUP:2} ---and there is a sudden and tremendous shout, absolutely stunning, cold and brutal: Osiris was a black god{SUP:3}! And the Aethyr claps its hands, greater than the peal of a thousand mighty thunders.

I am back.

Bou-Sada.

November 30, 1909 10-11:45 p.m.

1. _Egyptian_:

Isis --- The Mother -- Binah

Cneph --- The Winged Egg --- Binah

Thoth --- The Moon God (measurer & of time)

{HEB:Aleph}{HEB:Mem}{HEB:Yod}{HEB:Aleph}

Uramoth --- The Water Goddess (The Great Sea)

Sebek --- The Devourer (Time)

Greek:

I.

Ch.

Themis --- the satisfied woman

Uranus --- Heaven, sphere above the Abyss.

Selene --- The Moon

All these deities represent divers forms and functions of the Idea of Binah. How to combine them in order to obtain Magical Formulae must be studied in the light of _Book 4_, Part III.

2. The Seer cannot make Union with his Guide. She is the feminine form of his Holy Guardian Angel; but the impulse to unite is only valid when it comes from above. In the 20th Aire this was the case; and so the Marriage was accomplished.

3. This, to the Seer at that time, was a Revelation of the most appalling terror. The doctrine of the Third Order had not been promulgated. He expected to unite with the Great Mother in a Mode similar to that experienced in attaining to the Knowledge and Conversation of the Holy Guardian Angel. But the attainment of the Grade of Magister Templi involves the Annihilation of the aspirant. "Osiris was a black god"; i.e. of the nature of Binah--- BLACK. The love of Binah is that of the Queen Scorpion, who devours her mate. This revelation therefore, was much as if a romantic lover of the Richard Fernal type, were suddenly made fully aware that the Maiden of his Dreams intended to conclude their First Night of Love by a Breakfast, of which he was to form the staple dish! The Doctrine implied is that one must not be the child, but the Mother.

- page 59 -

The Cry of the 18th Aethyr, Which is Called ZEN{SUP:1}

A Voice comes before any vision: Accursed are they who enter herein if they have nails, for they shall be pierced therewith; or if they have thorns, for they shall be crowned withal; or if they have whips, for with whips they shall be scourged: or if they bear wine, for their wine shall be turned to bitterness; or if they have a spear, for with a spear shall they be pierced unto the heart. And the nails are desires, of which there are three; the desire of light, the desire of life, the desire of love{SUP:2}.

(And the thorns are thoughts, and the whips are regrets, and the wine is ease, or perhaps unsteadiness, especially in ecstasy, and the spear is attachment.)

And now there dawns the scene of the Crucifixion; but the Crucified One is an enormous bat, and for the two thieves are two little children. It is night, and the night is full of hideous things and howlings{SUP:3}.

And an angel cometh forth, and saith: Be wary, for if thou change so much as the style of a letter, the holy word is blasphemed{SUP:4}. But enter into the mountain of the Caverns, for that this (how much more then that Calvary which mocks it, as his ape mocks Thoth?) is but the empty shell of the mystery of ZEN. Verily, I say unto thee, many are the adepts that have looked upon the back parts of my father, and cried, "our eyes fail before the glory of thy countenance{SUP:5}."

And with that he gives the sign of the rending of the veil, and tears down the vision. And behold! whirling columns of fiery light, seventy- two{SUP:6}. Upon them is supported a mountain of pure crystal. The mountain is a cone, the angle of the apex being sixty degrees{SUP:7}. And within the crystal is a pyramid of ruby{SUP:8}, like

-
1. ZEN = {Leo} {Virgo} {Scorpio} = {HEB:Tet}{HEB:Yod}{HEB:Nun} = 69. 69 = {HEB:Samekh}{HEB:Vau}{HEB:Bet}{HEB:Aleph}, a manger, stable, enclosure. This Aethyr describes the Place of the Preliminary Ceremony of the Initiation of the Master of the Temple. The Candidate is fortified for the Ordeal of Intimate Communion with his Holy Guardian Angel, who comes upon him unaware, and prepares him interiorly below any normal sphere of consciousness.
 2. The Exempt Adept must be freed from all attachment.
 3. The aspirant is reminded by this vision of the horror which is always ready to take the place of a True Magical Operation. Corruptio optimi pessima.

4. This warning is given directly.
5. It is repeated in detail.
6. The number of the letters of Shemhamphorash, the "Divided Name", i.e., Tetragrammaton in detail. Also, $72 = \{\text{HEB:Bet}\}\{\text{HEB:Ayin}\}$, the "Secret Nature" of Atziluth, the Archetypal World of Pure Reality.
7. The cone is a figure of Iacchus, Lord of the Highest Ecstasy. It is the Phallus. Its mathematical implications are many and important. In particular, its relations with the Great Pyramid of Cheops yield remarkable correspondences.
8. $\{\text{GRK:pi}\}\{\text{GRK:upsilon}\}\{\text{GRK:rho}\}\{\text{GRK:alpha}\}\{\text{GRK:mu}\}\{\text{GRK:iota}\}\{\text{GRK:sigma}\} = 831$ unto the Great Pyramid of Gizeh.

- page 60 -

I am entered in by the little door thereof, and I am come into the chamber of the king, which is fashioned like unto the vault of the adepts, or rather it is fitting to say that the vault of the adepts is a vile imitation of it. For there are four sides to the chamber, which with the roof and the floor and the chamber itself makes seven^{SUP:1}. So also is the pastos seven^{SUP:2}, for that which is within is like unto that which is without. And there is no furniture, and there are no symbols.

Light streams from every side upon the pastos. This light is that blue of Horus which we know, but being refined it is brilliance. For the light of Horus only appears blue because of the imperfection of our eyes^{SUP:3}. But though the light pours from the pastos, yet the pastos remains perfectly dark, so that it is invisible. It hath no form: only, at a certain point in the chamber, the light is beaten back^{SUP:4}.

I lie prostate upon the ground before this mystery. Its splendour is impossible to describe. I can only say that its splendour is so great that my heart stops with the terror and the wonder and the rapture of it^{SUP:5}. I am almost mad. A million insane images

1. Similarly, the Hexagram is attributed to the Seven Planets; for the Centre contains {Sun}.
2. Compare this whole geometrical symbolism with that given in the Ritual of Adeptus Minor.
3. Compare, in external nature, the appearance of the blue sky.
4. This very strange phenomenon is perhaps quite inadequately described. It is a general condition of most Spiritual Experience that the familiar laws of Nature do not obtain in their accustomed forms. It is only when Experience enables one to observe them with detachment that they are seen to be as uniform, simple and exact as those of normal physics.
5. Compare with this unlighted, light-radiating Pastos, the Boundless Cube in the Vision of Pure Love:

"In the morning I woke early, before 7, in an absolutely renewed physical condition. I had the clean fresh feeling of a healthy boyhood, and was alert and active as a kitten --- post talem mortem! Mentally, I woke into _Pure Love_. This was symbolized as a cube^{SUP:x} of blue-white light like a diamond of the best quality. It was lucid, translucent, self-luminous, and yet not radiating forth. I suppose because there was nothing else in the Cosmos."

- x. I say "a cube", yet its most salient property was that it was without boundaries. Experience of similar trances is necessary for the understanding of this statement, which is a perfectly proper expression of a perfectly observed fact, despite its intellectual self-contradiction.

This withdrawal from sense of the Pastos, which is the Inmost and most sacred Self of the Aspirant, is the surrender of "all that he has and all that he is" on entering the Abyss.

- page 61 -

chase each other through my brain...{SUP:1} A voice comes: (it is my own voice -- I did not know it). "When thou shalt know me, O thou empty God, my little flame shall utterly expire in thy great N.O.X.{SUP:2}" There is no answer{SUP:3}. ... (20 minutes. O.V.) ...

And now, after so long a while, the Angel{SUP:4} lifts me and

1. There is a fleeting Image of the Horror of the Abyss, as a mountaineer, leaping a Bergschrund, obtains a momentary glimpse of the Terrors beneath his airy Path. Cf. 10th Aire for these images of madness.
2. This quotation is from _Liber VII_ I, v. 40. (This Book describes in detail the whole Attainment of the Grade of Magister Templi. It had been given to the Seer, years previously; but he had not understood it, even with his Neshamah, as a coherent entity. Nor does he even yet (An XXI, {Sun} in {Cancer}) understand it with his Rauch. Incidentally the full meaning of this Book 418, as a connected account of his Initiation, is only now becoming clear to him in the process of writing this Commentary upon it. For N.O.X., see Note above, 20th Aire. Observe that although the Exempt Adept, or the Babe of the Abyss, is completely baffled by the circumstances, and in no wise understands the situation, his Chiah, the Magician in him, acts with sublime confidence and correctness.
3. The quotation, accepting annihilation, instantly destroys the myriad of insane images which hastened to occupy the vacuum created by the leap of the Exempt Adept into the Abyss. Had he faltered, he would have become --- against his will --- a "Black Brother". But this being involuntary, he would not have attempted to maintain his coherence, as the Black Brothers do. He would therefore, have been destroyed at once; that is, to outward appearance he would have become a demented babblers. Spiritists present this phenomenon, on a much lower plane, and in a diluted form; though, with them as with the average Theosophist, there is usually a certain degree of obsession by pet phantoms --- a "Chinese Guide," or "Koot Hoomi," or what not --- to lend a species of semi-organized structure to the legions of disconnected ideas that throng their disintegrated gray matter.
4. (No Angel has been mentioned. The Seer was lost to being.) In this preliminary --- and so to say, symbolic --- crossing of the Abyss, His Holy Guardian Angel comes to the rescue of the Aspirant. Contrast the unspeakable Terror of the actual Crossing, when that Angel Himself abandons the Seer (see 11th Aire, the last paragraph.) Exactly how the Angel dealt with the Seer in this 20 minutes of earthly time is impossible to say; for he has no memory soever --- nor had he even at the time --- of what took place. We may, however, deduce from the fact that the Communion took place in a sphere beyond even Neshamah. It may well have been a Quintessence of Union sufficiently intimate to have identified the Seer with his Angel so perfectly as to have given him the right to make the passage fully, in every sense; and to have ensured his safety on the way. For the Angel cometh forth from above the Abyss, and dwelleth of right in the Bosom of the Great Mother. But the Angel deals not with the little pile of dust in the City of the Pyramids, (see 14th Aethyr) but with the Star that is cast forth to give light to the Earth.

- 62 -

takes me from the room{SUP:1}, and sets me in a little chamber{SUP:2} where is another Angel like a fair youth in shining garments, who makes me partake of the sacraments; bread, that is labour; and fire, that is wit; and a rose, that is sin; and wine, that is death{SUP:3}. And all about us is a great company of angels in many-coloured robes, rose and spring-green, and sky-blue, and pale gold, and silver, and lilac, solemnly chanting without words. It is music wonderful beyond all that can be thought.

And now we go out of the chamber; on the right is a pylon, and the right figure is Isis, and the left figure Nephthys, and they are folding their wings over, and supporting Ra{SUP:4}.

-
1. This pyramid, where is the Pastos, is the Chamber of Annihilation. The Pastos contains the Essence of the Aspirant, and is in a Chamber containing the Essence of the Universe. This is all ready to be burnt up in the Energy of Aspiration to the Creative Annihilation, the Ruby Pyramid of Phallus. Finally, this Pyramid is within a Cone, a figure combining the straight line and the circle (Rose and Cross in their purest form) representing the new Universe into which the Old is to be transmuted. It is established, like all types of Universe, upon the Four Elements (divided into 72) which are the conditions of manifested Existence. (The elements are not only "material"; they include categories like "Time", "Space" and "Causality".)
 2. This is the Birth-Chamber, where the Magister Templi awakes from the Oblivion of the Abyss.
 3. These sacraments furnish him with the material of his new Life. Bread ({Spirit}) is labour, the nourishment of his being. Fire is the perception of clear understanding (Neschamah). The Rose ({Air}) is Sin, the restriction which prevents him from being dissolved in pure light (Kether) for his Oath as a Master of the Temple is to deny himself the enjoyment of that privilege, for the sake of the Love that he bears to Mankind; wherefore is that Sin fragrant with the sent of love. Finally, Wine ({Water}) is Death, the Ecstasy of transmuting all things into Joy by the Sacrament of Creative Love.
 4. Isis, Nature, and Nephthys, Perfection, preside over the Arising of the New Star. The Magister Templi is a little pyramid of dust in the City of the Pyramids (see 14th Aire) awaiting the Fire that shall burn him up to a white Ash (see 6th Aire). But the original combination of Sankharas (tendencies --- the elements of the Character of the Man) is void of the Ego. Ahamkara (the ego-making faculty) has been assimilated. The Sankharas are, however, still linked by the Karma of the Adept; for they had to be most strongly knit by him that he might be able to concentrate their whole Energies upon the Great Work of abandoning in a single gesture "all that he has and all that he is". They accordingly hold together: His Will has been accomplished, and he is free from them; but they depend upon the Elements which compose that true Will, which, _since he has_ _succeeded_, can only be that Sublime Passion for Mankind, to help it to "Conquer Space, and lastly climb the walls of Time, and by the Golden Path the great have trod, Reach up to God." A phenomenon of this nature thus appears "as a morning star, or as an evening star, to give light to them that sit in darkness, and in the shadow of death". This is then the man himself, save that his separate individuality is no longer present; it is replaced by this single passion to rescue mankind.

I wanted to go back to the King's Chamber{SUP:1}. The Angel pushed me away, saying: "Thou shalt see these visions from afar off, but thou shalt not partake of them save in the manner prescribed. For if thou change so much as the style of a letter, the holy word is blasphemed.{SUP:2}"

And this is the manner prescribed:

Let there be a room furnished as for the ritual of passing through Tuat{SUP:3}. And let the aspirant be clad in the robes of, and let him bear the insignia of his grade. And at the least he shall be a neophyte{SUP:4}.

Three days and three nights shall he have been in the tomb, vigilant and fasting, for he shall sleep no longer than three hours at any one time, and he shall drink pure water, and eat little sweet cakes consecrated unto the moon, and fruits, and the eggs of the duck, or of the goose, or of the plover. And he shall be shut in, so that no man may break in upon his meditation. But in the last twelve hours he shall neither eat nor sleep.

Then shall he break his fast, eating rich food, and drinking sweet wines, and wines that foam{SUP:5}; and he shall banish the elements and the planets and the signs and the sephiroth{SUP:6}; and then

-
1. The Seer's first impulse was to proceed with the Work on which he had been engaged when the Dissolution of his Being took place.
 2. As stated in a previous Aire, these higher visions are not to be obtained by the methods applicable to less exalted spheres.
 3. See the Book of the Dead, as adopted for modern use by the Authorities of the G{.'.} D{.'.}
 4. He must be a neophyte to have access to the Ritual of Passing Through the Tuat.
 5. See _Liber AL_, I. v. 51. The general idea is to create true appetite in a body purified by fasting and a mind clarified by meditation, so as to make certain of being perfectly intoxicated. It should be needless to say that this state of mind, like all others, should be absolutely willed, criticized and controlled.
 6. The Aethyrs pertain to an order of nature, _sui generis_. Though they possess many correspondences with the 32 Paths of Wisdom, all of these must be impartially banished; otherwise the Vacuum would be disturbed by an unequilibrated symbol sympathetic with the Aire to be invoked, which would flood the circle, and prevent the Aethyr arising in its perfect plenitude.

shall he take the holy table that he hath made for his altar; and he shall take the call of the Aethyr of which he will partake, which he hath written in the angelic character, or in the character of the holy alphabet that is revealed in Pop, upon a fair sheet of virgin vellum; and therewith shall he conjure the Aethyr, chanting the call. And in the lamp that is hung above the altar shall he burn the call that he hath written{SUP:1}.

Then shall he kneel{SUP:2} before the holy table, and it shall be given him to partake of the mystery of the Aethyr.

And concerning the ink with which he shall write; for the first Aethyr let it be gold, for the second scarlet, for the third violet, for the fourth emerald, for the fifth silver, for the sixth sapphire, for the seventh orange, for the eighth indigo, for the ninth gray, for the tenth black, for the eleventh maroon, for the twelfth russet, for the thirteenth green-gray, for the fourteenth amber, for the fifteenth olive, for the sixteenth pale blue, for the seventeenth crimson, for the eighteenth bright yellow, for the nineteenth crimson adorned with silver, for the twentieth mauve, for the twenty-first pale green, for the twenty-second rose-madder, for the twenty-third violet cobalt, for the twenty-fourth beetle-brown, blue-brown colour, for the twenty-fifth a cold dark gray, for the twenty-sixth white flecked with red, blue, and yellow; the edges of the letters shall be green, for the twenty-seventh angry clouds of ruddy brown, for the twenty-eighth indigo, for the twenty-ninth bluish-green, for the thirtieth mixed colours{SUP:3}.

-
1. This injunction has several obvious Magical advantages. The symbolic gesture is to consume the matter of the Operation in the Spirit thereof.
 2. This is by no means a gesture of supplication, the vile attitude of the unmanly devotee of the Slave-Gods. It has as specific and positive practical purpose, which should be easy for the Neophyte to divine if his Zelator have well and wisely so instructed him.

- | | |
|---|---|
| 3. I. Gold for Horus. | II. Scarlet for Babalon. |
| III. Violet for {Mercury} House of Juggler. | IV. Emerald for {Venus} Love of Virgin. |
| V. Silver for Star A{.'.} A{.'.} | VI. Sapphire for Chokmah. |
| VII. Orange for (?) | VIII. Indigo for (?) |
| IX. Grey for Binah, fertilized. | X. Black for the Abyss. |
| XI. Maroon, for Yesod the threshold. | XII. Russet for the Concealed Blood in the Cup. |
| XIII. Green-gray for Garden of Nemo | XIV. Amber for Atu VII, |
| XV. Olive for Salome, {Water} of Malkuth. | XVI. Pale Blue for (?) |
| XVII. Crimson for {Pisces}. | XVIII. Bright yellow for Holy Guardian Angel and Hegemone. |
| XIX. Crimson-silver for Binah and {Moon}. | XX. Mauve for Atu X. |
| XXI. Pale green for (?) | XXII. Rose madder for Rose of 49. |
| XXIII. Violet Cobalt for {Aquarius} Eagle. | XXIV. Beetle Brown, for {Scorpio} Love. |
| XXV. Cold dark gray for {Capricorn} | XXVI. White flecked with red, blue & yellow (edges green) for Osiris. |
| XXVII. Angry Clouds, red brown brown for smoke of cauldron. | XXVIII. Indigo for Night sky of Binah. |
| XXIX. Blue green for {Scorpio} Change. | XXX. Miscellaneous colours for original confusion of dying Aeon. |

This shall be the form to be used by him who would partake of the mystery of any Aethyr. And let him not change so much as the style of a letter, lest the holy word be blasphemed.

And let him beware, after he hath been permitted to partake of this mystery, that he await the completion of the 91st hour of his retirement, before he open the door of the place of his retirement; lest he contaminate his glory with uncleanness, and lest they that behold him be smitten by his glory unto death{SUP:1}.

For this is a holy mystery, and he that did first attain to reveal the alphabet thereof{SUP:2}, perceived not one ten-thousandth part of the fringe that is upon its vesture.

Come away! for the clouds are gathered together, and the Aire heaveth like the womb of a woman in travail. Come away! lest he loose the lightnings from his hand, and unleash his hounds of thunder. Come away! For the voice of the Aethyr is accomplished. Come away! For the seal of His loving-kindness is made sure. And let there be praise and blessing unspeakable unto him that sitteth upon the Holy Throne, for he casteth down mercies as a spendthrift that scattereth gold. And he hath shut up judgment and hidden it away as a miser that hoardeth coins of little worth{SUP:3}.

All this while the Angel hath been pushing me backwards, and now he is turned into a golden cross with a rose at its heart, and that is the red cross wherein is set the golden shewstone.

Bou-Sada.

December 1, 1909. 2:30 - 4:10 p.m.

-
1. This injunction is to be taken very seriously. I have known uninitiates made ill by the shock of seeing Adepts of too high "residual charge"; worse, thrown off their moral balance.
 2. Presumably Sir Edward Kelly. There is certainly no hint of the sublimity and profundity of such visions as the present series in the working of that adept.
 3. This peroration suggests that early working by its style. It has little definite thought contained in it; the sublimity of the language ill conceals its vagueness. Nevertheless, it is a fitting conclusion to the mystery of this Aire. The ritual, and its lyrical outburst, were doubtless necessary to let the seer down gently from the colossal exaltation of the central event of the Aethyr.

The Cry of the 17th Aethyr, Which is Called TAN{SUP:1}

Into the stone there first cometh the head of a dragon, and then the Angel Madimi{SUP:2}. She is not the mere elemental that one would suppose from the account of Casaubon. I enquire why her form is different.

She says: Since all things are God, in all things thou seest just so much of God as thy capacity affordeth thee{SUP:3}. But behold! Thou must pierce deeply into this Aethyr before true images appear{SUP:4}. For TAN is that which transformeth judgment into justice{SUP:5}. BAL is the sword, and TAN the balances{SUP:6}.

A pair of balances appears in the stone, and on the bar of the balance is written: Motion about a point is iniquity{SUP:7}.

And behind the balances is a plume, luminous, azure{SUP:8}. And somehow connected with the plume, but I cannot divine how, are these words: Breath is iniquity{SUP:9}. (That is, any wind must stir the feather of truth.)

And behind the plume is a shining filament of quartz, suspended vertically from the abyss to the abyss{SUP:10}. And in the midst is a

1. TAN = {Leo}{Taurus}{Scorpio} = {HEB:Gemel}{HEB:Vau}{HEB:Nun} = 59. This number is a prime, representing the Yoni demanding "justice". This Aethyr instructs the candidate in the formula of justice, of Equilibrium.
2. See Casaubon's edition of the Sixth book of Dr. Dee's "Conversations with some Spirits."
3. A profound truth of universal application. The master-key to any man's character is his appreciation of the universe. To one, Pan means terror and madness, to another, the All-God.
4. This is more and more the case as we progress.
5. Judgment --- the unmitigated feminine, the severity of sterility. Justice --- she is satisfied by the sword (phallus) and balances (testes) as shown in Atu XIII. The symbolism of the letter Lamed must be very thoroughly studied. It represents the flux of the universe in extension. Contrast this positive equilibrium with the negative, Aleph. The two together form AL (the title of _The Book of the Law_) which expresses the universe in its phases, 0 and 2.
6. The Enochian word for Justice used at the end of the Call of the 30 Aethyrs is BALATANU, (the 2nd A and the U merely support their consonants L and N). Bal is Hebrew for Lord, i.e. the phallus. See previous note.
7. It disturbs the simplicity, introducing a new dimension.
8. The blue feather is Maat, the Goddess of Truth.
9. Breath implies duality, vibration. It thus disturbs peace and silence.
10. The middle pillar of the Tree of Life. Quartz, perhaps as auriferous.

- 67 -

winged disk{SUP:1} of some extremely delicate, translucent substance, on which is written in the "dagger" alphabet: Torsion is iniquity{SUP:2}. (This means, that the Rashith Ha-Gilgalim is the first appearance of evil.{SUP:3})

And now an Angel appears, like as he were carved in black diamonds. And he cries: Woe unto the Second, whom all nations of men call the First{SUP:4}. Woe unto the First, whom all grades of Adepts call the First{SUP:5}. Woe unto me, for I, even as they, have worshipped him. But she is whose paps are the galaxies{SUP:6}, and he that never shall be known{SUP:7}, in them is no motion. For the infinite Without filleth all and moveth not{SUP:8}, and the infinite Within goeth indeed{SUP:9}; but it is no odds, else were the space-marks confounded{SUP:10}.

And now the Angel is but a shining speck of blackness in the midst of a tremendous sphere of liquid and vibrating light, at first gold, then becoming green, and lastly pure blue{SUP:11}. And I see that the green of Libra is made up of the yellow of air and the blue of water, swords and cups, judgment and mercy{SUP:12}. And this word TAN meaneth mercy{SUP:13}. And the feather of Maat is blue because

1. The winged disk = Hadit, i.e. any point which one chooses to consider as being the centre from which to contemplate the universe.
2. To twist one's point of view is to obtain a false idea.
3. The "Beginning of Whirling Motions" introduces duality.
4. The Demiurgos, Microprosopus, the Black Reflected Countenance, the Creator. He must be distinguished from the Logos. The difference is that the Demiurge creates on his own account; he is not like the Logos, the transmitter of Energy of Kether, and its formulation in a Word.
5. Macroposopus himself. For in the ontology of the New Aeon, he is no longer the unique and supreme Point-of-View, to which every ego is subsidiary and must conform.
6. Nuit (See Liber LXV, V, v. 65.)
7. Hadit (See AL, II, v. 4)
8. Space cannot more, being an idea invented to explain motion.
9. See Al, II, v. 7)
10. i.e. it does not matter what mode we choose to represent these ideas for if it did, we should be unable to measure phenomena at all.
11. The outburst is realized as Love (Venus = green). The green light that comes through thin lamin of gold. And this is absorbed in the true blue of Nuit --- its goal.
12. Severity and Mercy (Geburah and Chesed) are joined by the reciprocating path of Leo. This is Atu IX {WEH Note: SIC. Should be Atu XI} countercharged with Atu VIII (Libra). Thus Leo, the strength of the Sun, life itself, is one with Libra, justice; for the letter Lamed signifies the Universe in extension.
13. TAN is given in above as meaning the Balances. Thus, as shown in the previous note, the truth of Justice is Mercy. Hence, to aim at Mercy, which is an idea without measure, and therefore incommensurable with Truth, is to invoke Justice. The injunction is: Be strictly just, and you will find that you have accomplished the true Work of Love.

- 68 -

the truth of justice is mercy{SUP:1}. And a voice cometh, as it were the music of the ripples of the surface of the sphere: Truth is delight {SUP:2}. (This means that the Truth of the universe is delight.)

Another voice cometh; it is the voice of a mighty Angel, all in silver; the scales of his armour and the plumes of his wings are like mother-of-pearl in a framework of silver{SUP:3}. And he sayeth: Justice is the equity that ye have made for yourselves between truth and falsehood. But in Truth there is nothing of this, for there is only Truth. Your falsehood is but a little falser than your truth{SUP:4}. Yet by your truth shall ye come to Truth. Your truth is your troth with Adonai the Beloved one{SUP:5}. And the Chymical Marriage of the Alchemists beginneth with a Weighing, and he that is not found wanting hath within him one spark of fire, so dense and so intense that it cannot be moved, through all the winds of heaven should clamour against it, and all the waters of the abyss surge against it, and all the multitude of the earths heap themselves upon it to smother it. Nay, it shall not be moved{SUP:6}.

And this is the fire of which it is written: "Hear thou the voice of fire!" And the voice of fire is in the second chapter of _The Book of the Law_{SUP:7}, that is revealed unto him that is a score and half a score and three that are scores, and six, by Aiwass, that is his guardian, the mighty Angel that extendeth from the first unto the last, and maketh known the mysteries that are beyond. And the method and the form of invocation whereby a man shall attain to the knowledge and conversation of his Holy Guardian Angel shall be given unto thee in the proper place{SUP:8}, and seeing that the word is deadlier

-
1. See previous note. The blue is again that of Nuit. Justice is only complete when the disturbance of positive existence is annulled by absorption into the Body of Our Lady of the Stars.
 2. See _AL_, II, v.9. "Remember all ye that existence is pure joy;" et al.
 3. This silver is the queen scale of Luna, the reflection in positive material nature of the personified idea of Nuit. The angel appears in the path of Gimel uniting Tiphareth with Kether. He is Atu II. See infra.
 4. Human justice is a compromise intended to meet an admittedly false situation. Cf. Lao-tse: Benevolence and righteousness only appear when all naturalness is gone.
 5. Hence the justice of making the Attainment of the Knowledge and Conversation of the Holy Guardian Angel is the next step. The original evil is the separation from Him; so the only approximation to truth is one's oath to Him.
 6. This spark is Hadit; (hence the reference to _Lib. AL_, II) he cannot be moved because he is already in motion at the limit of velocity.
 7. The Oracle of Zoroaster says: "And when, after all the phantoms are vanished shall appear that holy and formless fire, that fire which darts and flashes throughout the depths of the universe --- hear thou the voice of the fire!" And this is the utterance of Hadit, the deepest expression of one's inmost point of view.
 8. See 8th Aire.

- 69 -

than lightning, do thou meditate straitly thereupon, solitary, in a place where is no living thing visible, but only the light of the sun. And thy head shall be bare{SUP:1}. Thus mayest thou become fitted to receive this, the holiest of the Mysteries. And it is the holiest of the Mysteries because it is the Next Step. And those Mysteries which lie beyond, though they be holier, are not holy unto thee, but only remote. (The sense of this passage seems to be, that the holiness of a thing implies its personal relation with one, just as one cannot blaspheme an unknown god, because one does not know what to say to annoy him. And this explains the perfect inefficiency of those who try to insult the saints; the most violent attacks are very often merely clumsy compliments.)

Now the Angel is spread completely over the globe, a dewy film of silver upon that luminous blue.

And a great voice cries: Behold the Queen of Heaven, how she hath woven her robes from the loom of justice{SUP:2}. For as that straight path of the Arrow cleaving the Rainbow became righteousness in her that sitteth in the hall of double truth{SUP:3}, so at last is she exalted unto the throne of the High Priestess, the Priestess of the Silver Star, wherein also is thine Angel made manifest{SUP:4}. And this is the mystery of the camel that is ten days in the desert, and is not athirst, because he hath within him that water which is the dew distilled from the the night of Nuit{SUP:5}. Triple is the cord of silver, that it may be not loosed; and three score and half a score and three is the number of the name of my name{SUP:6}, for that the ineffable wisdom, that also is of the sphere of the stars, informeth me{SUP:7}. Thus am I crowned with the triangle that is about the eye, and therefore is my number three{SUP:8}. And in me there is no

-
1. This I performed in a sort of cave upon the ridge of a great mountain in the Desert near Bou-Sada at 12-3 p.m. on Dec. 2.
 2. This blue and silver of Luna, the "queen of heaven" (in King and Queen scales) are said to be derived from the justice in her true nature. This justice refers to her point on the Tree; the troth with Adonai.
 3. The arrow = Sagittarius = blue. Its ruler = Jupiter = blue (Queen scale) = Righteousness. The plumes of Maat, are blue.
 4. Here we are asked to note a certain correspondence of ascending vibration. {HEB:Samekh} = {Sagittarius}, {HEB:Lamed} = {Libra}, {HEB:Gemel} = {Moon}. {GRK:Lambda}{GRK:Gamma}{GRK:Sigma} are the consonants of Logos. We shall see later an important doctrine drawn from this special association of these three letters. The Holy Guardian Angel appears as {HEB:Gemel} because of its position on the Tree.
 5. {HEB:Gemel} means camel. The ten days are the 7x10 years of normal life. Man can go through that desert, nourished by the Knowledge and Conversation of the H.G.A.
 6. 73 = {HEB:Lamed}{HEB:Mem}{HEB:Gemel}, a camel. Triple, for {HEB:Gemel} = 3. The cord of silver; the lunar path descending from Kether.
 7. Wisdom = {HEB:Heh}{HEB:Mem}{HEB:Koph}{HEB:Chet} = 73. Mazloth, the sphere of the Stars, pertains to Chokmah.
 - 8 The Eye --- {HEB:Ayin} = 70. 3 + 70 = 73. 73 is is here explained as the Eye in the Triangle. So Aiwass is the Eye in the Star of Hermes, the messenger, whose formula is 418 = {HEB:Chet}.

- 70 -

imperfection, because through me descendeth the influence of TARO{SUP:1}. And that is also the number of Aiwass the mighty Angel, the Minister of Silence.

And even as the shew-stone burneth thy forehead with its intolerable flame, so he who hath known me, though but from afar, is marked out and chosen among men, and he shall never turn back or turn aside, for he hath made the link that is not to be broken, nay, not by the malice of the Four Great Princes of evil of the world, nor by Choroazon, that mighty Devil, nor by the wrath of God, nor by the affliction and feebleness of the soul.

Yet with this assurance be not thou content; for though thou hast the wings of the Eagle, they are vain, except they be joined to the shoulders of the Bull. Now, therefore, I send forth a shaft of my light, even as a ladder let down from the heaven upon the earth, and by this black cross of Themis that I hold before thine eyes, do I swear unto thee that the path shall be open henceforth for evermore.

There is a clash of a myriad silver cymbals, and silence. And then three times a note is struck upon a bell, which sounds like my holy Tibetan bell, that is made of electrum magicum{SUP:2}.

I am happily returned unto the earth.

Bou-Sada.

December 2, 1909. 12:15 - 2 a.m.

The Cry of the 16th Aethyr, Which is Called LEA{SUP:3}

There are faint and flickering images in a misty landscape, all very transient. But the general impression is of moonrise at midnight, and a crowned virgin riding upon a bull{SUP:4}.

And they come up into the surface of the stone. And she is singing a chant of praise: Glory unto him that hath taken upon himself the image of toil. For by his labour is my labour accomplished.

1. TARO has 78 symbols and $78 = \{\text{HEB: Aleph}\}\{\text{HEB: Lamed}\}\{\text{HEB: Zain}\}\{\text{HEB: Mem}\}$, the influence that descends from the Most Holy Ancient One, Kether, and therefore referred to $\{\text{HEB: Gemel}\}$. The equation $78 = \text{Aiwass}$; at this time, the Seer thought that Aiwass was spelled $\{\text{HEB: Samekh}\}\{\text{HEB: Aleph}\}\{\text{HEB: Vau}\}\{\text{HEB: Yod}\}\{\text{HEB: Aleph}\} = 78$ {WEH Note: TS has "418"}, Whereas, as he found later, $\{\text{HEB: Zain}\}\{\text{HEB: Vau}\}\{\text{HEB: Yod}\}\{\text{HEB: Ayin}\} = 93$ and $\{\text{GRK: Alpha}\}\{\text{GRK: iota}\}\{\text{GRK: digamma}\}\{\text{GRK: alpha}\}\{\text{GRK: sigma}\}\{\text{GRK: sigma}\} = 418$. But 78 is actually the number of Aiwass in another way.
2. Electrum magicum is an alloy of the seven sacred metals, each being added at a moment chosen for its astrological advantages.
3. LEA = $\{\text{Libra}\}\{\text{Virgo}\}\{\text{Taurus}\}$. The waning moon, the virgin, the bull; exactly as in the second sentence; $\{\text{HEB: Chet}\}\{\text{HEB: Yod}\}\{\text{HEB: Vau}\} = 24$.
4. See previous note.

- 71 -

For I, being a woman, lust ever to mate myself with some beast. And this is the salvation of the world, that always I am deceived by some god, and that my child is the guardian of the labyrinth that hath two-and-seventy paths{SUP:1}.

Now she is gone.

And now there are Angels, walking up and down in the stone. They are the Angels of the Holy Sevenfold Table. It seems that they are waiting for the Angel of the Aethyr to come forth.

Now at last he appears in the gloom. He is a mighty King{SUP:2}, with crown and orb and sceptre, and his robes are of purple and gold. And he casts down the orb and sceptre to the earth, and he tears off his crown, and throws it on the ground, and tramples it. And he tears out his hair, that is of ruddy gold tinged with silver, and he plucks at his beard, and cries with a terrible voice: Woe unto me that am cast down from my place by the might of the new Aeon. For the ten palaces are broken, and the ten kings are carried away into bondage, and they are set to fight as the gladiators in the circus of him that hath laid his hand upon eleven{SUP:3}. For the ancient tower is shattered by the Lord of the Flame and the Lightning. And they that walk upon their hands shall build the holy place{SUP:4}. Blessed are they who have turned the Eye of Hoor unto the zenith, for they shall be filled with the vigour of the goat{SUP:5}.

All that was ordered and stable is shaken. The Aeon of Wonders is come. Like locusts shall they gather themselves together, the servants of the Star and of the Snake{SUP:6}, and they shall eat up everything that is upon the earth. For why? Because the Lord of

1. This reference is to Pasiphae and the Minotaur. All mythologies contain this mystery of the woman and the beast as the heart of the cult. Notably certain tribes on the Terai at this day send their women annually into the jungle and any half-monkeys that result are worshipped in their temples. Atu XI exhibits this mystery, and it is the subject of constant reference in the higher Aires.
2. This is the Jehovah-god of the Aeon of Osiris, on whose existence (as an offended and vengeful deity) the whole theory of Atonement depends.
3. For 10 is the stable number of the established system, which regards 11 the number of Magick (by the equation $0 = 2 = 11$, 11 being the active form of 2) as "Evil". Hence the Beast took 11 as his formula and thereby destroyed the 10.
4. See Atu XVI. The figures cast out of the Tower are in the form of the letter {HEB:Ayin}; they "walk upon their hands". They pertain to {Capricorn}; --- Set or Had, i.e. the Holy Place is to be built from within, from the "core of every star", not from above, as in the shattered tower of Theism.
5. {Capricorn} is the goat. The eye of Hoor turned to the zenith refers to a mystery of magick, practical and puissant, which the student must be left to solve for himself.
6. See _AL_ II, 21.

- 72 -

Righteousness delighteth in them.

The prophets shall prophesy monstrous things, and the wizards shall perform monstrous things. The sorceress shall be desired of all men, and the enchanter shall rule the earth.

Blessing unto the name of the Beast, for he hath let loose a mighty flood of fire from his manhood, and from his womanhood hath he let loose a mighty flood of water. Every thought of his mind is as a tempest that uprooteth the great trees of the earth, and shaketh the mountains thereof. And the throne of his spirit is a mighty throne of madness and desolation{SUP:1}, so that they that look upon it shall cry: Behold the abomination{SUP:2}!

Of a single ruby shall that throne be built, and it shall be set upon a high mountain{SUP:3}, and men shall see it afar off. Then will I gather together my chariots and my horsemen and my ships of war. By sea and land shall my armies and my navies encompass it, and I will encamp round about it, and besiege it, and by the flame thereof shall I be utterly devoured. Many lying spirits have I sent into the world that my Aeon might be established, and they shall be all overthrown.

Great is the Beast that cometh forth like a lion, the servant of the Star and of the Snake. He is the Eternal one; He is the Almighty one. Blessed are they upon whom he shall look with favour, for nothing shall stand before his face{SUP:4}. Accursed are they upon whom he shall look with derision, for nothing shall stand before his face.

And every mystery that hath not been revealed from the foundation of the world he shall reveal unto his chosen. And they shall have power over every spirit of the Ether; and of the earth and under the earth; on dry land and in the water; of whirling air and of rushing fire. And they shall have power over all the inhabitants of the earth, and every scourge of God shall be subdued beneath their feet. The angels shall come unto them and walk with them, and the great gods of heaven shall be their guests.

But I must sit apart, with dust upon my head, discrowned and desolate. I must lurk in forbidden corners of the earth. I must plot secretly in the by-ways of great cities, in the fog, and in marshes of the rivers of pestilence. And all my cunning shall not serve me. And all my undertakings shall be brought to naught. And all the ministers of the Beast shall catch me and tear out my tongue with pincers of red-hot iron, and they shall brand my forehead with the word of derision, and they shall shave my head, and pluck out my beard, and make a show of me.

1. See _Liber VII_, Cap. III, v. 20. He has manifested the insanity of the Ruach; that is his "throne"; i.e. the basis of his philosophical position.
2. See _Liber VII_, Cap. III, v. 21.
3. See _Liber VII_, Cap. III, vv. 22, 23.
4. Adaptions of the Qu'ran are to be found in this passage.

-73-

And the spirit of prophecy shall come upon me despite me ever and anon, as even now upon my heart and upon my throat; and upon my tongue seared with strong acid are the words: _Vim patior_{SUP:1}. For so must I give glory to him that hath supplanted me, that hath cast me down into the dust. I have hated him, and with hate my bones are rotten. I would have spat upon him, and my spittle hath befouled my beard. I have taken up the sword against him, and I am fallen upon it, and mine entrails are about my feet.

Who shall strive with his might? Hath he not the sword and the spear of the Warrior Lord of the Sun? Who shall contend with him? Who shall lift himself up against him? For the latchet of his sandal is more than the helmet of the Most High. Who shall reach up to him in supplication, save those that he shall set upon his shoulders? Would God that my tongue were torn out by the roots, and my throat cut across, and my heart torn out and given to the vultures, before I say this that I must say: Blessing and Worship to the Prophet of the Lovely Star{SUP:2}!

And now he is fallen quite to the ground, in a heap, and dust is upon his head; and the throne upon which he sat is shattered into many pieces.

And dimly dawning in this unutterable gloom, far, far above, is the face that is the face of a man and of a woman, and upon the brow is a circle, and upon the breast is a circle, and in the palm of the right hand is a circle{SUP:3}. Gigantic is his stature, and he hath the Uraeus crown, and the leopard's skin, and the flaming orange apron of a god. And invisibly about him is Nuit, and in his heart is Hadit, and between his feet is the great god Ra Hoor Khuit. And in his right hand is a flaming wand, and in his left a book{SUP:4}. Yet is he silent; and that which is understood between him and me shall not be revealed in this place. And the mystery shall be revealed to whosoever shall say, with ecstasy of worship in his heart, with a clear mind, and a passionate body: It is the voice of a god, and not of a man{SUP:5}.

And now all that glory hath withdrawn itself; and the old King lies prostrate, abject.

And the virgin that rode upon the bull cometh forth, led by all those Angels of the Holy Sevenfold Table, and they are dancing round her with garlands and sheaves of flowers, loose robes and hair dancing in the wind. And she smiles upon me with infinite

1. "I suffer constraint."
2. See _AL_, II, v. 79.
3. "Circle" --- a blind for "the Mark of the Beast" --- {Sun} --- which at that time it was necessary to keep secret.
4. This is a vision of the Angel of the Beast himself, as identified with the Stele of Revealing. This book in the hand of Aiwass is _The Book of the Law_.
5. The recognition of the authorship of _Liber AL_ as praeter-human, with ecstatic joy, etc. is the key to the portal of the New Aeon.

-74-brilliance, so that the whole Aethyr flushes warm, and she{SUP:1} says with a subtle sub-meaning, pointing downwards: By this, that{SUP:2}.

And I took her hand and kissed it, and I say to her: Am I not nearly purged of the iniquity of my forefathers{SUP:3}?

With that she bends down, and kisses me on the mouth, and says: "Yet a little, and on thy left arm shalt thou carry a man-child{SUP:4}, and give him to drink of the milk of thy breasts. But I go dancing.{SUP:5}"

And I wave my hand, and the Aethyr is empty and dark, and I bow myself before it in the sign that I, and only I, may know. And I sink through waves of blackness, poised on an eagle, down, down, down.

And I give the sign that only I may know.

And now there is nothing in the stone but the black cross of Themis{SUP:6}, and on it these words: Memento: Sequor. (These words probably mean that the Equinox of Horus is to be followed by that of Themis.)

Bou-Sada.

December 2, 1909. 4:50 - 6:5 p.m.

The Cry of the 15th Aethyr, Which is Called OXO{SUP:7}

There appears immediately in the Aethyr a tremendous column of scarlet fire, whirling forth, rebounding, crying aloud. And about it are four columns of green and blue and gold and silver, each inscribed with writings in the character of the dagger. And the column of fire is dancing among the pillars. Now it seems that the

1. This is Babalon, the true mistress of the Beast; of Her all mistresses on lower planes are but avatars.
2. This phrase need not be analyzed; it is the promise to give herself to the Beast.
3. The Seer was even at this time still struggling in himself with the complexes due to his heredity and early training.
4. Therion, the Logos of the Aeon.
5. This means that the Seer will soon be "Isis Rejoicing"; i.e. a Master of the Temple.
6. See the Neophyte Ritual of the G{.} D{.}, _Equinox_ Vol. I, No. 2 and _AL_, III, v. 34.
7. OXO = {Libra}{Spirit}{Libra}. The Rose of Earth on the Place of Judgment; this is the scene of the Aire. {HEB:Lamed}{HEB:Taw} {HEB:Lamed} = 460 = {HEB:Heh}{HEB:Vau}{HEB:Heh}{HEB:Yod} {HEB:Lamed} {HEB:Shin}{HEB:Dalet}{HEB:Qof} "Holy unto the Lord", and refers to the consecration (after examination) of the Exempt Adept. It is his final preparation for undergoing in consciousness the full ceremony of passing to the grade of Magister Templi.

- 75 -

fire is but the skirt of the dancer, and the dancer is a mighty god. The vision is overpowering.

As the dancer whirls, she chants in a strange, slow voice, quickening as she goes: Lo! I gather up every spirit that is pure, and weave him into my vesture of flame. I lick up the lives of men, and their souls sparkle from mine eyes. I am the mighty sorceress, the lust of the spirit. And by my dancing I gather for my mother Nuit the heads of all them that are baptized in the waters of life. I am the lust of the spirit that eateth up the soul of man. I have prepared a feast for the adepts, and they that partake thereof shall see God{SUP:1}.

Now it is clear what she has woven in her dance; it is the Crimson Rose of 49 Petals, and the Pillars are the Cross with which it is conjoined. And between the pillars shoot out rays of pure green fire; and now all the pillars are golden. She ceases to dance, and dwindles, gathering herself into the centre of the Rose.

Now it is seen that the Rose is a vast ampitheatre, with seven tiers, each tier divided into seven partitions. And they that sit in the Amphitheatre are the seven grades of the Order of the Rosy Cross. This Amphitheatre is built of rose-coloured marble, and of its size I can say only that the sun might be used as a ball to be thrown by the players in the arena. But in the arena there is a little altar of emerald{SUP:2}, and its top has the heads of the Four Beasts, in turquoise and rock-crystal{SUP:3}. And the floor of the arena is ridged like a grating of lapis lazuli{SUP:4}. And it is full of pure quicksilver{SUP:5}.

Above the altar is a veiled Figure, whose name is Pan. Those in the outer tier adore him as a Man; and in the next tier they adore him as a Goat; and in the next tier they adore him as a Ram; and in the next tier they adore him as a Crab; and in the next tier they adore him as an Ibis; and in the next tier they adore him as a Golden Hawk; and in the next tier they adore him not{SUP:6}.

-
1. This is a form of Babalon. There is a reference to the story of Salome in the lesser mysteries of the dagger and disk in the cult of "the God, John". "John" is "ON" --- Oannes, Nu, Noah, Jonah, etc., the Sun entering the watery sign of Cancer (the sign of the whale, ark, etc.) at the summer solstice.
 2. The colour of {Venus}, love. This is the basis of the act of worship.
 3. Sacred to the sphere of the stars, and to Malkuth, the sphere of Earth, respectively.
 4. The body of Nuith, the star-strewn Blue.
 5. The Universal Mercury, instrument of the constant Change and Flux which constitutes life.
 6. That is, in the lowest grade of the Second Order $5x = 6\{\text{square } x\}$, "God" is worshipped under the form of a man (Tiphareth). In $6x = 5\{\text{square } x\}$, he seems as a goat (Mendes Kahn). In $7x = 4\{\text{square } x\}$, a ram (Amoun). In $8x = 3\{\text{square } x\}$, a crab (connected with the star sponge vision). In $9x = 2\{\text{square } x\}$, an ibis (Thoth). In $10x = 1\{\text{square } x\}$ a golden hawk (Ra Hoor Khuit). Above this (Kether), He is the Negative only.

- 76 -

And now the light streameth out from the altar, splashed out by the feet of him that is above it. It is the Holy Twelve-fold Table of OIT{SUP:1}.

The voice of him that is above the altar is silence, but the echo thereof cometh back from the walls of the circus, and is speech. And this is the speech: Three and four are the days of a quarter of the moon, and on the seventh day is the sabbath, but thrice four is the Sabbath of the Adepts whereof the form is revealed in the Aethyr ZID; that is the eighth of the Aires{SUP:2}. And the mysteries of the Table shall not be wholly revealed, nor shall they be revealed herein. But thou shalt gather of the sweat of thy brow a pool of clear water wherein this shall be revealed. And of the oil that thou burnest in the midnight shall be gathered together thirteen rivers of blessing; and of the oil and the water I will prepare a wine to intoxicate the young men and the maidens{SUP:3}.

And now the Table is become the universe; every star is a letter of the Book of Enoch. And the Book of Enoch is drawn therefrom by an inscrutable Mystery, that is known only to the Angels and the Holy Sevenfold Table{SUP:4}. While I have been gazing upon this table, an Adept has come forth, one from each tier, except the inmost Tier.

And the first{SUP:5} drove a dagger into my heart, and tasted the blood, and said:

{GRK:chi}{GRK:alpha}{GRK:theta}{GRK:alpha}{GRK:rho}{GRK:omicron}{GRK:sigma} ,
 {GRK:chi}{GRK:alpha}{GRK:theta}{GRK:alpha}{GRK:rho}{GRK:omicron}{GRK:sigma} ,
 {GRK:chi}{GRK:alpha}{GRK:theta}{GRK:alpha}{GRK:rho}{GRK:omicron}{GRK:sigma} ,
 {GRK:chi}{GRK:alpha}{GRK:theta}{GRK:alpha}{GRK:rho}{GRK:omicron}{GRK:sigma} ,
 {GRK:chi}{GRK:alpha}{GRK:theta}{GRK:alpha}{GRK:rho}{GRK:omicron}{GRK:sigma} ,
 {GRK:chi}{GRK:alpha}{GRK:theta}{GRK:alpha}{GRK:rho}{GRK:omicron}
 {GRK:sigma}{SUP:6}.

And the second{SUP:6} Adept has been testing the muscles of my right arm and shoulder, and he says:
 fortis, fortis, fortis, fortis, fortis {SUP:7}.

1. This table is:

ZDDDBDDDBDD?	ZDDDDDDDBDDDDDDDDDDDDDDDDDDDDDDDDDDDDDDDDDD?
3 0 3 I 3 T 3	3 Libra 3 Sagittarius 3 Leo 3
CDDDEDDDEDD4	CDDDDDDDEDDDDDDDDDDDDDDDEDDDDDDDDDD4
3 R 3 L 3 U 3	3 Pisces 3 Cancer 3 Capricorn 3
CDDDEDDDEDD4	CDDDDDDDEDDDDDDDDDDDDDDDEDDDDDDDDDD4
3 L 3 R 3 L 3	3 Cancer 3 Pisces 3 Cancer 3
CDDDEDDDEDD4	CDDDDDDDEDDDDDDDDDDDDDDDEDDDDDDDDDD4
3 0 3 0 3 E 3	3 Libra 3 Libra 3 Virgo 3
@DDDADDDADDDY	@DDDDDDDDADDDDDDDDDDDDDADDDDDDDDDDY

2. The Seven are the inferiors, unless the reference be to Babalon, as in the table of 49 squares. Twelve refers to HUA = 12 and the Zodiac The interweaving of multiplication is to the juxtaposition of addition as is chemical combination to mechanical mixture.

3. Cf. the Zohar for 13 rivers of Holy Oil that flow down the Beard of Macroprosopus. (These are the first 13 letters.)

4. See 22nd Aire for a fuller indication of this mystery, and infra. 5. $5x = 6\{\text{square } x\}$.

6. This Adept guards Tiphareth and tests the heart (which pertains thereto) for its purity.

({GRK:chi}{GRK:alpha}{GRK:theta}{GRK:alpha}{GRK:rho}{GRK:omicron}{GRK:sigma} = pure) six times; 6 being the number of Tiphareth.

7. $6x = 5\{\text{square } x\}$.

8. Similarly the right arm (of Geburah) five times. Fortis means strong.

- 77 -

And the third{SUP:1} Adept examines the skin and tastes the sweat of my left arm, and says: TAN,
 TAN, TAN, TAN.{SUP:2}

And the fourth{SUP:3} Adept examines my neck, and seems to approve, though he says nothing{SUP:4}; and he hath opened the right half of my brain, and he makes some examination, and says: "Samajh, samajh, samajh. {SUP:5}"

And the fifth Adept examines the left half of my brain, and then holds up his hand in protest, and says "PLA . . . {SUP:6}" (I cannot get the sentence, but the meaning is: In the thick darkness the seed awaiteth spring.)

And now am I again rapt in contemplation of that universe of letters which are stars.

The words ORLO, ILRO, TULE are three most secret names of God. They are Magick names, each having an interpretation of the same kind as the interpretation of I.N.R.I., and the name OIT, RLU, LRL, OOE are other names of God, that contain magical formulae, the first to invoke fire; the second, water; the third, air; and the fourth, earth{SUP:7}.

And if the Table be read diagonally, every letter, and every combination of letters, is the name of a devil. And from these are drawn the formulae of evil magick{SUP:8}. But the holy letter I above the triad LLL dominateth the Table, and preserveth the peace of the universe{SUP:9}.

And in the seven talismans about the central Table are contained the Mysteries of drawing forth the letters. And the letters of the circumference declare in glory of Nuit, that beginneth from Aries{SUP:10}.

1. $7x = 4\{\text{square } x\}$.
2. Similarly the left arm (of Chesed) four times, for the virtue of Chesed, Mercy. (See 17th Aire).
3. $8x = 3\{\text{square } x\}$. {WEH Note: Crowley's TS only has: $8 = 3$ }
4. The neck is of Daath which is not a Sephirah, and so has no number or corresponding symbol.
5. This part of the brain is of Binah (3). Samajh means understanding. That is, he admitted the right of the seer to the grade of Magister Templi.
6. The seer was not worthy of the grade of Magus. Note that each adept uses a different language.
7. All these practical mysteries must be worked out by the student himself. Any formula given by the annotator would probably be "dead" in the hands of another man.
8. See previous note.
9. The easiest explanation of this is to suppose that the letters are not attributed as usual (i.e. I to {Sagittarius}, L to {Cancer}), but taken for their English shape: I the Middle Pillar, L the Square --- but this is far from satisfactory.
10. Note that the corner letters in this table are all B

-78-

All this while the Adepts must have been chanting as it were an oratorio for seven instruments. And this oratorio hath one dominant theme of rapture. Yet it applieth to every detail of the universe as well as to the whole. And herein is Choronzon brought utterly to ruin, that all his work is against his will, not only in the whole, but in every part thereof, even as a fly that walketh upon a beryl-stone.

And the tablet blazeth ever brighter till it filleth the whole Aire. And behold! there is one God therein, and the letters of the stars in his crown, Orion, and the Pleiades, and Aldebaran, and Alpha Centauri, and Cor Leonis, and Cor Scorpionis, and Spica, and the pole-star, and Hercules, and Regulus, and Aquila, and the Ram's Eye.

And upon a map of the stars shalt thou draw the sigil of that name; and because also some of the letters are alike, thou shalt know that the stars also have tribes and nations{SUP:1}. The letter of a star is but the totem thereof. And the letter representeth not the whole nature of the star, but each star must be known by itself in the wisdom of him that hath the Cynocephalus in leash{SUP:2}.

And this pertaineth unto the grade of a Magus --- and that is beyond thine. (All this is communicated not by voice, or by writing; and there is no form in the stone, but only the brilliance of the Table. And now I am withdrawn from all that, but the Rosy Cross of 49 petals is set upright upon the summit of a pyramid, and all is dark, because of the exceeding light behind.)

And there cometh a voice: The fly cried unto the ox, "Beware! Strengthen thyself. Set thy feet firmly upon the earth, for it is my purpose to alight between thy shoulders, and I would not harm thee." So also are they who wish well unto the Masters of the Pyramid.

And the bee said unto the flower: "Give me of thine honey," and the flower gave richly thereof; but the bee, though he wit it not, carried the seed of the flower into many fields of sun. So also are they that take unto themselves the Masters of the Pyramid for servants.

Now the exceeding light that was behind the Pyramid, and the Rosy Cross that is set thereon, hath fulfilled the whole Aire. The black Pyramid is like the back of a black diamond. Also the Rosy Cross is loosened, and the petals of the Rose are the mingled hues of sunset and of dawn; and the Cross is the Golden light of noon, and in the heart of the Rose there is the secret light that men

-
1. i.e. there are different systems of physical motion for certain groups.
 2. i.e. Thoth. The attribution of the fixed stars to the Enochian alphabet has not been worked out. It pertains to the grade of Magus, and would have no interest or meaning for those of lower grades.

-79-

call midnight.

And a voice: "Glory to God and thanksgiving to God, and there is no God but God. And He is exalted; He is great; and in the Sevenfold Table is His Name writ openly, and in the Twelfefold Table is His Name concealed."

And the Pyramid casts a shadow of itself into the sky, and the shadow spreads over the whole stone. And an angel clad in blue and scarlet, with golden wings and plumes of purple fire, comes forth and scatters disks of green and gold, filing all the Aire. And they become swiftly-whirling wheels, singing together.

And the voice of the angel cries: Gather up thy garments about thee{SUP:1}, O thou that hast entered the circle of the Sabbath; for in thy grave-clothes shouldest thou behold the resurrection.

The flesh hangeth upon thee like his rags upon a beggar that is a pilgrim to the shrine of the Exalted One. Nevertheless, bear them bravely, and rejoice in the beauty thereof, for the company of the pilgrims is a glad company, and they have no care, and with song and dance and wine and fair women do they make merry. And every hostel is their place, and every maid their queen.

Gather up thy garments about thee, I say, for the voice of the Aethyr, that is the voice of the Aeon, is ended, and thou art absorbed into the lesser night, and caught in the web of the light of thy mother in the word ARBADAHARBA{SUP:2}.

And now the five and the six are divorced{SUP:3}, and I am come again within my body.

Bou-Sada.

December 3, 1909. 9:15 to 11:10 a.m.

The Cry of the 14th Aethyr, Which is Called UTI{SUP:4}

There come into the stone a white goat, a green dragon, and a tawny bull{SUP:5}. But they pass away immediately. There is a veil of such darkness before the Aethyr that it seems impossible to pierce it. But there is a voice saying: Behold, the Great One of

-
1. Since the examination in the amphitheatre I have been a naked spirit without garments or anything; by garments he means the body.
 2. ABRAHADABRA spelt backwards, to reverse its formula, that of uniting the five with the six. See next paragraph.
 3. Because of saying ABRAHADABRA = 418, backwards.
 4. UTI = {Capricorn}{Caput Draconis}{Sagittarius} = {HEB:Ayin}{HEB:Gemel}{HEB:Samekh} = 133 = {HEB:Chet}{HEB:Lamed}{HEB:Mem}{HEB:Heh}{HEB:Mem- final}{HEB:Yod} = The Salt Sea, i.e. Binah.
 5. The bull was probably seen in mistake for a stag. Then U = {HEB:Ayin} = the goat. T = {Caput Draconis} (Caput Dranconis) = the Dragon. I = {Sagittarius}, the stag.

- 80 -

the Night of Time{SUP:1} stirreth, and with his tail he churneth up the slime, and of the foam thereof shall he make stars. And in the battle of the Python{SUP:2} and the Sphinx shall the glory be to the Sphinx, but the victory to the Python.

Now the veil of darkness is formed of a very great number of exceedingly fine black veils, and one tears them off one at a time. And the voice says, There is no light or knowledge or beauty or stability {SUP:3} in the Kingdom of the Grave, whither thou goest. And the worm is crowned. All that thou wast hath he eaten up, and all that thou art is his pasture until to-morrow. And all that thou shalt be is nothing. Thou who wouldst enter the domain of the Great One of the Night of Time, this burden must thou take up. Deepen not a superficialities{SUP:4}.

But I go on tearing down the veil that I may behold the vision of UTI, and hear the voice thereof. And there is a voice: He hath drawn the black bean. And another voice answers it: Not otherwise could he plant the Rose. And the first voice: He hath drunk of the waters of death. The answer: Not otherwise could he water the Rose. And the first voice: He hath burnt himself at the Fires of life. And the answer: Not otherwise could he sun the Rose. And the first voice is so faint that I cannot hear it. But the answer is: Not otherwise could he pluck the Rose{SUP:5}.

And still I go on, struggling with the blackness. Now there is an earthquake. The veil is torn into thousands of pieces that go flying away in a whirling wind. And there is an all-glorious Angel before me, standing in the sign of Apophis and Typhon{SUP:6}. On his Forehead is a star, but all about him is darkness, and the crying of beasts. And there are lamps moving in the darkness.

And the Angel says: Depart! For thou must invoke me only in the darkness. Therein will I appear, and reveal unto thee the Mystery of UTI. For the Mystery thereof is great and terrible. And it shall not be spoken in sight of the sun.

Therefore I withdraw myself. (Thus far the vision upon Da'leh

1. This is Saturn. He is conceived as a dragon, Theli. He is referred to Binah.
2. The Sphinx is one of the four elements referred to the path of Tau = Saturn. The Python is the great snake that surrounds and devours the Universe. This is his victory; glory is a function of the manifested existence of the Sphinx.
3. On the Middle Pillar: Kether, Dath, Tiphereth, Yesod. Thus the spine of existence itself is destroyed in this initiation.
4. An injunction of Zoroaster. It is useless to seek the soul of things beneath their surface; for their surface is their soul!
5. To accomplish the Great Work in Tiphereth, one must be an initiate of Binah, its mother.
6. He is about to destroy.

- 81 -

Addin, a mountain in the desert near Bou-Sada.{SUP:1})

December 3, 2:50-3:15 p.m.

The Angel re-appears.

The blackness gathers about, so thick, so clinging, so penetrating, so oppressive, that all the other darkness that I have ever conceived would be like bright light beside it{SUP:2}.

His voice comes in a whisper: O thou that art master of the fifty gates of Understanding, is not my mother a black woman? O thou that art master of the Pentagram, is not the egg of spirit a black egg{SUP:3}? Here abideth terror, and the blind ache of the Soul, and lo! even I, who am the sole light, a spark shut up, stand in the sign of Apophis and Typhon.

I am the snake that devoureth the spirit of man with the lust of light. I am the sightless storm in the night that wrappeth the world about with desolation. Chaos is my name, and thick darkness. Know thou that the darkness of the earth is ruddy, and the darkness of the air is grey, but the darkness of the soul is utter blackness.

The egg of the spirit is a basilisk egg, and the gates of the understanding are fifty, that is the sign of the Scorpion{SUP:4}. The pillars about the neophyte are crowned with flame, and the vault of the Adepts is lighted by the Rose. And in the abyss is the eye of the hawk{SUP:5}. But upon the great sea shall the Master of the Temple find neither star nor moon.

And I was about to answer him: "The light is within me." But before I could frame the words, he answered me with the great word that is the Key of the Abyss{SUP:6}. And he said: Thou hast entered the night; dost thou yet lust for day? Sorrow is my name, and

1. There was also an instruction to build a Temple of stone with altar and circle. There was a public sacrifice offered to the God Pan by the Rite of XI degree O.T.O. See _Equinox_ I, No. X, pp. 114-115.
2. This is the absolute negation of light, which is Binah. For she absorbs it perfectly.
3. Akasa, the Tatva (element) of Spirit is a black egg, symbolically. It is the darkness in which all things are conceived.
4. The fifty gates of Binah have been variously explained. They do not appear to be of any great importance; it is only their number which is significant. The reference is to {HEB:Nun} = 50 = {Scorpio} Atu XIII -- Death. {WEH Note: The Fifty Gates of Understanding are very well known in Orthodox Hebrew Qabalah. They consist of taking the influence of each of the lower seven Sephiroth upon each other --- $7 \times 7 = 49$. When one is perfectly harmonized in this practice, the fiftieth gate, Binah or Understanding, opens. Crowley repeatedly describes his efforts at such a harmonizing, but is ignorant of the significance of this reference to the Fifty Gates in the Cry.}
5. Reference to previous ceremonies of initiation.
6. N.O.X. = = 210.

-82-

affliction. I am girt about with tribulation. Here still hangs the Crucified One, and here the Mother weeps over the children that she hath not borne. Sterility is my name, and desolation. Intolerable is thine ache, and incurable thy wound. I said, Let the darkness cover me; and behold, I am compassed about with the blackness that hath no name. O thou, who hast cast down the light into the earth, so must thou do for ever. And the light of the sun shall not shine upon thee, and the moon shall not lend thee of her lustre, and the stars shall be hidden, because thou art passed beyond these things, beyond the need of these things, beyond the desire of these things.

What I thought were shapes of rocks, rather felt than seen, now appear to be veiled Masters, sitting absolutely still and silent. Nor can any one be distinguished from the others.

And the Angel sayeth: Behold where thine Angel hath led thee! Thou didst ask fame, power and pleasure, health and wealth and love, and strength, and length of days. Thou didst hold life with eight tentacles, like an octopus. Thou didst seek the four powers and the seven delights and the twelve emancipations and the two and twenty Privileges and the nine and forty Manifestations, and lo! thou art become as one of These. Bowed are their backs, whereon resteth the universe. Veiled are their faces, that have beheld the glory Ineffable.

These adepts seem like Pyramids --- their hoods and robes are like Pyramids.

And the Angel sayeth: Verily is the Pyramid a Temple of Initiation. Verily also is it a tomb{SUP:1}. Thinkest thou that there is life within the Masters of the Temple, that sit hooded, encamped upon the Sea? Verily, there is no life in them.

Their sandals were the pure light, and they have taken them from their feet and cast them down through the abyss, for this Aethyr is holy ground.

Herein no forms appear, and the vision of God face to face, that is transmuted in the Athanor called dissolution, or hammered into one forge of meditation, is in this place but a blasphemy and a mockery.

And the Beatific Vision is no more, and the glory of the Most High is no more. There is no more knowledge. There is no more bliss. There is no more power. There is no more beauty. For this is the Palace of Understanding: for thou art one with the Primeval things.

Drink in the myrrh of my speech, that is bruised with the gall of the roc, and dissolved in the ink of the cuttle-fish, and perfumed with the deadly nightshade.

1. It is also a phallus, which dies itself to communicate life to others.

- 83 -

This is thy wine, who wast drunk upon the wine of Iacchus. And for bread shalt thou eat salt, O thou on the corn of Ceres that didst wax fat! For as pure being is pure nothing, so is pure wisdom pure ---{SUP:1}, and so is pure understanding silence, and stillness, and darkness. The eye is called seventy, and the triple Aleph whereby thou perceivest it, divideth into the number of the terrible word that is the Key of the Abyss{SUP:2}.

I am Hermes, that am sent from the Father to expound all things discreetly in these the last words that thou shalt hear before thou take thy seat among these, whose eyes are sealed up, and whose ears are stopped, and whose mouths are clenched, who are folded in upon themselves, the liquor of whose bodies is dried up, so that nothing remains but a little pyramid of dust.

And that bright light of comfort, and that piercing sword of truth, and all that power and beauty that they have made of themselves, is cast from them, as it is written, "I saw Satan like lightning fall from Heaven." And as a flaming sword is it dropt through the abyss, where the four beasts keep watch and ward. And it appeareth in the heaven of Jupiter{SUP:3} as a morning star, or as an evening star{SUP:4}. And the light thereof shineth even unto the earth, and bringeth hope and help to them that dwell in the darkness of thought, and drink of the poison of life. Fifty are the gates{SUP:5} of understanding, and one hundred and six{SUP:6} are the seasons thereof. And the name of every season{SUP:7} is Death.

During all this speech, the figure of the Angel has dwindled and flickered, and now it is gone out.

And I come back in the body, rushing like a flame in a great wind. And the shew-stone has become warm, and in it is its own light.

Bou-Saada.

December 3, 1909 9:50-11:15 p.m.

1. I suppose that only a Magus could have heard this word. It seems to be "Inertia" or some equivalent. It is the reverse of the three Binah qualities to balance them: speech, and motion, and light.
2. $70 \vee 333 = .210$. The process of reducing the dyad to zero, which at once becomes again the dyad, is recurrent; the cycle of existence and non-existence.
3. Different M. T.'s may be cast out into different spheres. {WEH Note: In the Germer edition, this note is #7, and out of sequence. The notes have been resequenced in this version, for improved scansion}
4. The Sankharas --- the constituent elements --- of the man that has become a Master of the Temple, are reconstituted below the Abyss, so that they can function as an Exempt Adept. But their permanent function is in that grade to which their "centre of gravity" (so to speak) tends.
5. $50 = \{\text{Scorpio}\} = \{\text{HEB:Nun}\}$.
6. $\{\text{HEB:Nun-final}\} \{\text{HEB:Vau}\} \{\text{HEB:Nun}\} = 106$.
7. These seasons (in the case of the seer) to be proved lunar months.

- 84 -

The Cry of the 13th Aethyr, Which is Called ZIM{SUP:1}

Into the Stone there cometh an image of shining waters, glistening in the sun. Unfathomable is their beauty, for they are limpid, and the floor is of gold. Yet the sense thereof is of fruitlessness.

And an Angel cometh forth, of pure pale gold, walking upon the water. Above his head is a rainbow, and the water foams beneath his feet. And he saith: Before his face am I come that hath the thirty-three thunders of increase in his hand. From the golden water shalt thou gather corn{SUP:2}.

All the Aire behind him is gold, but it opens as it were a veil. There are two terrible black giants, wrestling in mortal hatred. And there is a little bird upon a bush, and the bird flaps its wings. Thereat the strength of the giants snaps, and they fall in heaps to the earth, as though all their bones were suddenly broken{SUP:3}.

And now waves of light roll through the Aethyr, as if they were playing. Therefore suddenly I am in a garden{SUP:4}, upon a terrace of a great castle, that is upon a rocky mountain. In the garden are fountains and many flowers. There are girls also in the garden, tall, slim, delicate and pale. And now I see that the flowers are the girls, for they change from one to another; so varied, and lucent, and harmonious is all this garden, that it seems like a great opal{SUP:5}.

A voice comes: This water which thou seest is called the water of death{SUP:6}. But NEMO hath filled therefrom our springs.

And I said: Who is NEMO?

And the voice answered: A dolphin's tooth, and a ram's horns, and the hand of a man that is hanged, and the phallus of a goat{SUP:7}. (By this I understand that nun is explained by shin, and he' by resh, and mem by yod, and ayin by tau{SUP:8}. NEMO is therefore called

1. ZIM = {Leo}{Sagittarius}{Aquarius}. See, in the Aire, the solar symbolism of the opening, the transmutation of the middle, and the Saturnian ending.
2. This pure pale gold is the symbol of the dawning life, arisen after passing through the night of the 14th Aire.
3. This is a parable of the illusion of matter, whose vast horror is destroyed by the moving of the wings of initiation.
4. Rather like the Alhambra.
5. There is here a memory picture of the Alhambra; or something like it. 6. The Great Sea of Binah - darkness.
7. {HEB:Nun} = Nun, the fish (dolphin): E = {Aries}, the ram; M = Atu XII = the Hanged Man; O = {Capricorn}, the goat.
8. 910 = {HEB:Taw}{HEB:Yod}{HEB:Shin}{HEB:Resh} Beginning. These attributions explain the nature of NEMO, the Master of the Temple.

- 85 -

165 = 11 x 15; and is in himself 910 = 91 Amen x 10; and 13 x 70 = The One Eye, _Achad Ayin_.)

And now there cometh an Angel into the garden, but he hath not any of the attributes of the former Angels, for he is like a young man, dressed in white linen robes.

And he saith: No man hath beheld the face of my Father. Therefore he that hath beheld it is called NEMO. And know thou that every man that is called NEMO hath a garden that he tendeth{SUP:1}. And every garden that is and flourisheth hath been prepared from the desert by NEMO, watered with the waters that were called death.

And I say unto him: To what end is the garden prepared?

And he saith: First for the beauty and delight thereof; and next because it is written, "And Tetragrammaton Elohim planted a garden eastward in Eden." And lastly, because though every flower bringeth forth a maiden, yet is there one flower that shall bring forth a man-child. And his name shall be called NEMO, when he beholdeth the face of my Father. And he that tendeth the garden seeketh not to single out the flower that shall be NEMO. He doeth naught but tend the garden.

And I said: Pleasant indeed is the garden{SUP:2}, and light is the toil of tending it, and great is the reward.

And he said: Bethink thee that NEMO hath beheld the face of my Father. In Him is only Peace.

And I said: Are all gardens like unto this garden?

And he waved his hand, and in the Aire across the valley appeared an island of coral, rosy, with green palms and fruit-trees, in the midst of the bluest of the seas{SUP:3}.

And he waved his hand again, and there appeared a valley shut in by mighty snow mountains, and in it were pleasant streams of water, rushing through, and broad rivers, and lakes covered with lilies{SUP:4}.

And he waved his hand again, and there was a vision, as it were of an oasis in the desert{SUP:5}.

And again he waved his hand, and there was a dim country with grey rocks, and heather, and gorse, and bracken{SUP:6}.

And he waved his hand yet again, and there was a park, and a

-
1. Every Magister Templi has a Work to do for the world. {WEH Note: This boy in a white robe who stands before the face of the Father is called Metatron in traditional Qabalah. Qabalah also calls Binah "Gan Eden", or "the Garden of Eden" and Chokmah "Gan", or "the Garden".}
 2. All this is to instruct the Magister Templi in his duties.
 3. Kashmir.
 4. The Sahara.
 5. The Highlands of Scotland.

- 86 -

small house therein, surrounded by yews{SUP:1}. This time the house opens, and I see in it an old man, sitting by a table. He is blind. Yet he writeth in a great book, constantly. I see what he is writing: "The words of the Book are as the leaves of the flowers in the garden. Many indeed of these my songs shall go forth as maidens, but there is one among them, which one I know not, that shall be a man-child, whose name shall be NEMO, when he hath beheld the face of the Father, and become blind."

(All this vision is most extraordinarily pleasant and peaceful, entirely without strength or ecstasy, or any positive quality, but equally free from the opposites of any of those qualities.) And the young man seems to read my thought, which is, that I should love to stay in this garden and do nothing for ever; for he sayeth to me: Come with me, and behold how NEMO tendeth his garden{SUP:2}.

So we enter the earth, and there is a veiled figure, in absolute darkness. Yet it is perfectly possible to see in it, so that the minutest details do not escape us. And upon the root of one flower he pours acid so that that root writhes as if in torture. And another he cuts, and the shriek is like the shriek of a mandrake, torn up by the roots. And another he chars with fire, and yet another he anoints with oil.

And I said: Heavy is the labour, but great indeed is the reward.

And the young man answered me: He shall not see the reward, he tendeth the garden{SUP:3}.

And I said: What shall come unto him?

And he said: This thou canst not know, nor is it revealed by the letters that are the totems of the stars, but only by the stars.

And he says to me, quite disconnectedly: The man of earth is the adherent. The lover giveth his life unto the work among men. The hermit goeth solitary, and giveth only of his light unto men{SUP:4}.

And I ask him: Why does he tell me that?

And he says: I tell thee not. Thou tellest thyself, for thou hast pondered thereupon for many days, and hast not found light. And now that thou art called NEMO, the answer to every riddle that thou hast not found shall spring up in thy mind, unsought. Who can tell upon what day a flower shall bloom{SUP:6}?

1. A certain secret house of the Great White Brotherhood. Yews, and certain other trees, as Persian Nuts, are used to indicate to passing initiates that they have there a resting place.
2. Now follow further instructions to the Master of the Temple, how he is to do his work.
3. Otherwise: "Art for art's sake".
4. See _AL_ I, 40. These are the three true grades of the Great Order.
5. This certainly happened.

- 87 -

And thou shalt give thy wisdom unto the world, and that shall be thy garden. And concerning time and death, thou hast naught to do with these things. For though a precious stone be hidden in the sand of the desert, it shall not heed for the wind of the desert, although it be but sand. For the worker of works hath worked thereupon; and because it is clear, it is invisible; and because it is hard, it moveth not.

All these words are heard by everyone that is called NEMO. And with that doth he apply himself to understanding. And he must understand the virtue of the waters of death, and he must understand the virtue of the sun and the wind, and of the worm that turneth the earth, and the stars that roof in the garden. And he must understand the separate nature and property of every flower, or how shall he tend his garden?

And I said to him: Concerning the Vision and the Voice, I would know if these things be of essence of the Aethyr, or of the essence of the seer{SUP:1}.

And he answers: It is of the essence of him that is called NEMO, combined with essence of the Aethyr, for from the 1st Aethyr to the 15th Aethyr, there is no vision and no voice, save for him that is called NEMO. And he that seeketh the vision and the voice therein is led away by dog- faced demons that show no sign of truth, seducing from the Sacred Mysteries, unless his name be NEMO.

And hadst thou not been fitted, thou too hadst been led away, for before the gate of the 15th Aethyr, is this written: He shall send them strong delusion, that they should believe a lie. And again it is written: The Lord hardened Pharaoh's heart. And again it is written that God tempteth man. But thou hadst the word and the sign, and thou hadst authority from thy superior{SUP:2}, and licence{SUP:3}. And thou hast done well in that thou didst not dare, and in that thou dost dare{SUP:4}. For daring is not presumption.

And he said moreover: Thou dost well to keep silence, for I perceive how many questions arise in thy mind; yet already thou knowest that the answering, as the asking, must be vain. For NEMO hath all in himself. He hath come where there is no light or knowledge, only when he needeth them no more.

And then we bow silently, giving a certain sign, called the Sign of Isis Rejoicing{SUP:5}. And then he remaineth to ward the

1. The seer enquires into the objectivity of the vision. These doubts arose in his mind because of the memory pictures in the earlier paragraphs.
2. D.D.S.
3. Conferred December 1906 e.v.
4. O.M. refused for three years to take the grade of $8x = 3\{square\ x\}$ after it was offered him. He thought it almost presumptuous, taking it now.
5. Giving suck to babe held in left arm.

- 88 -

Aethyr, while I return unto the bank of sand that is the bed of the river near the desert.

The River-bed near Bou-Sada.

December 4, 1909. 2:10-3:45 p.m.

The Cry of the 12th Aethyr, Which is Called LOE{SUP:1}

There appear in the stone two pillars of flame, and in the midst is a chariot of white fire.

This seems to be the chariot of the Seventh Key of Tarot. But it is drawn by four sphinxes, diverse, like the four sphinxes upon the door of the vault of the adepts, counterchanged in their component parts.

The chariot itself is the lunar crescent, waning. The canopy is supported by eight pillars of amber. These pillars are upright, and yet the canopy which they support is the whole vault of the night.

The charioteer is a man in golden armour, studded with sapphires, but over his shoulders is a white robe, and over that a red robe. Upon his golden helmet he beareth for his crest a crab. His hands are clasped upon a cup{SUP:2}, from which radiates a ruddy glow, constantly increasing, so that everything is blotted out by its glory, and the whole Aire is filled with it.

And there is a marvelous perfume in the Aire, like unto the perfume of Ra Hoor Khuit, but sublimated, as if the quintessence of that perfume alone were burnt. For it hath the richness and voluptuousness and humanity of blood, and the strength and freshness of meal, and the sweetness of honey, and the purity of olive-oil, and the holiness of that oil which is made of myrrh, and cinnamon, and galangal{SUP:3}.

The charioteer speaks in a low, solemn voice, awe-inspiring, like a large and very distant bell: Let him look upon the cup whose blood is mingled therein, for the wine of the cup is the blood of the saints. Glory unto the Scarlet Woman, Babalon the Mother of Abominations, that rideth upon the Beast{SUP:4}, for she hath spilt their blood in every corner of the earth and lo! she hath mingled it in the cup of her whoredom.

1. LOE = {Cancer}{Libra}{Virgo}. These are all aspects of Babalon.
2. The true Sangreal, of which the Christian legend is a perversion.
3. See _AL_ III, 23 - 25. The recipe for the oil is given in the _Sacred Magic of Abramelin the Mage_.
4. As in Atu XI.

- 89 -

With the breath of her kisses hath she fermented it, and it hath become the wine of the Sacrament, the wine of the Sabbath; and in the Holy Assembly hath she poured it out for her worshippers, and they had become drunken thereon, so that face to face they beheld my Father. Thus are they made worthy to become partakers of the Mystery of this holy vessel, for the blood is the life. So sitteth she from age to age, and the righteous are never weary of her kisses, and by her murders and fornications she seduceth the world. Therein is manifested the glory of my Father, who is truth.

(This wine is such that its virtue radiateth through the cup, and I reel under the intoxication of it. And every thought is destroyed by it. It abideth alone, and its name is Compassion. I understand by "Compassion," the sacrament of suffering, partaken by the true worshippers of the Highest. And it is an ecstasy in which there is no trace of pain. Its passivity (=passion) is like the giving-up of the self to the beloved.)

The voice continues: This is the Mystery of Babylon, the Mother of abominations, and this is the mystery of her adulteries, for she hath yielded up herself to everything that liveth, and hath become a partaker in its mystery. And because she hath made herself the servant of each, therefore is she become the mistress of all. Not as yet canst thou comprehend her glory.

Beautiful art thou, O Babylon, and desirable, for thou hast given thyself to everything that liveth, and thy weakness hath subdued their strength{SUP:1}. For in that union thou didst _understand_. Therefore art thou called Understanding, O Babylon, Lady of the Night!

This is that which is written, "O my God, in one last rapture let me attain to the union with the many.{SUP:2}" For she is Love, and her love is one, and she hath divided the one love into infinite loves, and each love is one, and equal to The One, and therefore is she passed "from the assembly and the law and the enlightenment unto the anarchy of solitude and darkness. For ever thus must she veil the brilliance of Her Self.{SUP:3}"

O Babylon, Babylon, thou mighty Mother, that ridest upon the crowned beast, let me be drunken upon the wine of thy fornications; let thy kisses wanton me unto death, that even I, thy cup-bearer, may _understand_.

Now, through the ruddy glow of the cup, I may perceive far above, and infinitely great, the vision of Babylon. And the Beast whereon she rideth is the Lord of the City of the Pyramids, that I beheld in the fourteenth Aethyr.

-
1. Cf. _Tao Teh King_. Also _The Book of Lies_, Cap. 4.
 2. See _Liber VII_, Cap. VII, v. 41.
 3. See _Liber VII_, Cap. VII, vv 43 - 44.

- 90 -

Now that is gone in the glow of the cup, and the Angel saith: Not as yet mayest thou understand the mystery of the Beast, for it pertaineth not unto the mystery of this Aire, and few that are new-born unto Understanding are capable thereof{SUP:1}.

The cup glows ever brighter and fierier. All my sense is unsteady, being smitten with ecstasy.

And the Angel sayeth: Blessed are the saints, that their blood is mingled in the cup, and can never be separate any more. For Babylon the Beautiful, the Mother of abominations, hath sworn by her holy cteis, whereof every point is a pang, that she will not rest from her adulteries until the blood of everything that liveth is gathered therein, and the wine thereof laid up and matured and consecrated, and worthy to gladden the heart of my Father. For my Father is weary with the stress of eld, and cometh not to her bed. Yet shall this perfect wine be the quintessence, and the elixir, and by the draught thereof shall he renew his youth; and so shall it be eternally, as age by age the worlds do dissolve and change, and the universe unfoldeth itself as a Rose, and shutteth itself up as the Cross that is bent into the cube.

And this is the comedy of Pan, that is played at night in the thick forest. And this is the mystery of Dionysus Zagreus, that is celebrated upon the holy mountain of Kithairon. And this is the secret of the brothers of the Rosy Cross; and this is the heart of the ritual that is accomplished in the Vault of the Adepts that is hidden in the Mountain of the Caverns, even the Holy Mountain Abiegnus{SUP:2}.

And this is the meaning of the Supper of the Passover, the spilling of the blood of the Lamb being a ritual of the Dark Brothers, for they have sealed up the Pylon with blood, lest the Angel of Death should enter therein. Thus do they shut themselves off from the company of the saints. Thus do they keep themselves from compassion and from understanding. Accursed are they, for they shut up their blood in their heart{SUP:3}.

They keep themselves from the kisses of my Mother Babylon, and in their lonely fortresses they pray to the false moon. And they bind themselves together with an oath, and with a great curse. And of their malice they conspire together, and they have power, and mastery, and in their cauldrons do they brew the harsh wine of delusion, mingled with the poison of their selfishness.

-
1. It is given in "The Urn". See also the Sixth Aire, wherein the seer, becoming a Magus, is himself identified with the Beast, 666.
 2. All these mysteries are taught in the O.T.O.
 3. Here is the first account of the Black Brothers of the Left Hand Path. Each a Exempt Adept must choose between the Crossing of the Abyss to become a Master of the Temple, and the building of a false tower of egoism therein.

Thus they make war upon the Holy One, sending forth their delusion upon men, and upon everything that liveth. So that their false compassion is called compassion, and their false understanding is called understanding, for this is their most potent spell.

Yet of their own poison do they perish, and in their lonely fortresses shall they be eaten up by Time that hath cheated them to serve him, and by the mighty devil Choronzon, their master, whose name is the Second Death{SUP:1}, for the blood that they have sprinkled on their Pylon, that is a bar against the Angel Death, is the key by which he entereth in{SUP:2}.

The Angel sayeth: And this is the word of double power in the voice of the Master, wherein the Five interpenetrateth the Six{SUP:3}. This is its secret interpretation that may not be understood, save only of _them that understand_. And for this is the Key of the Pylon of Power, because there is no power that may endure, save only the power that descendeth in this my chariot from Babylon, the city of Fifty Gates, the Gate of the God On [{HEB:Nun-final}{HEB:Ayin}{HEB:Lamed}{HEB:Aleph}{HEB:Bet}{HEB:Aleph}{HEB:Bet}]{SUP:4}. Moreover is On the Key of the Vault that is 120. So also do the Majesty and the Beauty derive from the Supernal Wisdom.

But this is a mystery utterly beyond thine understanding. For Wisdom is the Man, and Understanding the Woman, and not until thou hast perfectly understood canst thou begin to be wise. But I reveal unto thee a mystery of the Aethyrs, that not only are they bound up with the Sephiroth, but also with the Paths. Now, the plane of the Aethyrs interpenetrateth and surroundeth the universe wherein the Sephiroth are established, and therefore is the order of the Aethyrs not the order of the Tree of Life. And only in a few places do they coincide. But the knowledge of the Aethyrs is deeper than the knowledge of the Sephiroth, for that in the Aethyrs is the knowledge of the Aeons, and of {GRK:Theta}{GRK:epsilon}{GRK:lambda}{GRK:eta}{GRK:mu}{GRK:alpha}. And to each shall it be given according to his capacity. (He has been saying certain secret things to the unconscious mind of the seer, of a personal nature.)

Now a voice comes from without: And lo! I saw you to the end.

And a great bell begins to toll. And there come six little

1. Note that the death or love of the saints is really increased life. The formula of 156 is constant copulation or Samadhi on everything.
2. (I think the trouble with these people was, that they wanted to substitute the blood of someone else for their own blood, because they wanted to keep their personalities.)
3. ABRAHADABRA.
4. Bab = gate. Al = God. On = ON. O = 70. N = 50. ON = 120. Note that Her Name does not appear properly spelt until the 10th Aire is done. The Seer had no idea how to spell the name till he was told by the Angel.

- 92 -

children out of the floor of the chariot, and in their hands is a veil so fine and transparent that it is hardly visible. Yet, when they put it over the Cup, the Angel bowing his head reverently, the light of the Cup goes out entirely. And as the light of the Cup vanishes, it is like a swift sunset in the whole Aire, for it was from the light of that Cup alone that it was lighted.

And now the light is all gone out of the stone, and I am very cold.

Bou-Sada.

December 4 - 5, 1909. 11:30 p.m. - 1:20 a.m.

The Cry of the 11th Aethyr, Which is Called IKH{SUP:1}

